10. BORGE STATED THAT CUBA RESPECTED THE FACT THAT NICARAGUA MADE THEIR OWN DECISIONS. AT TIMES, THESE DECISIONS COINCIDED WITH CUBAN ADVICE, AND AT OTHER TIMES THEY DID NOT. THE GRN'S RELATIONS WITH THE SOVIET UNION WERE GOOD/ BUT MORE DISTANT, AND THE GRN DID NOT SEE A ROLE FOR THE USSR IN THE REGIONAL CONTEXT. TO EMPHASIZE HIS POINT OF GRN AUTONOMY, HE RECALLED THAT DURING HIS FIRST TRIP TO MOSCOW, HE HAD TOLD THE SOVIETS THAT NICARAGUA WOULD WELCOME SOVIET ASSISTANCE, BUT ONLY IF THERE WERE NO POLITICAL CONDITIONS. HE ADDED THAT WHEN THE FIRST SOVIET AMBASSADOR ARRIVED IN MANAGUA, HE WAS MIFFED THAT HE WAS NOT MET AT A HIGH LEVEL. BORGE STATED THAT HE PERSONALLY TOLD THE SOVIET ENVOY THAT IF HE WERE UNHAPPY, HE COULD "GO TO HELL". BORGE THEN NOTED THAT WHEN THE USSR HAD INVATED AFGHANISTAN, VISITING U.S. CONGRESSMEN OFFERED $70 MILLION IN AID IF NICARAGUA WOULD VOTE IN THE UN TO CONDEMN THE SOVIETS; BORGE SAID NICARAGUA WOULD NOT BE BOUGHT, AND SUBSEQUENTLY ABSTAINED. HE ASSERTED THAT THESE ANECDOTES DEMONSTRATED THAT NICARAGUA WOULD NOT PERMIT ANYONE TO DICTATE ITS POLICY.

11. BORGE THEN ARGUED THAT THE REVOLUTION WAS EXTREMELY POPULAR IN NICARAGUA AND THAT IT HAD THE SUPPORT OF THE WORKERS AND PEASANTS. KASTEN MOVED ON TO THE SUBJECT OF ELECTIONS AND SAID THAT COMANDANTE JAIME WHEELOCK HAD TOLD HIM SOME TWO YEARS AGO THAT ELECTIONS WOULD BE HELD SOON.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~ UNCLASSIFIED

DECLASSIFIED UNCLASSIFIED

KASTEN ASKED WHAT WAS CURRENTLY SCHEDULED AND WHETHER THE OPPOSITION WOULD HAVE ACCESS TO THE MEDIA. BORGE REPLIED THAT ELECTIONS WOULD TAKE PLACE IN ABOUT ONE YEAR AND THAT THE ELECTORAL PROCESS WOULD COMMENCE AT THE END OF JANUARY. HE SAID THAT A MEETING WOULD BE HELD THE FOLLOWING DAY (JANUARY 4) TO HAMMER OUT SOME OF THE DETAILS SUCH AS THE PRECISE DATE AND THE TERMS OF THE ELECTIONS. HE EXPLAINED THAT THE PROBLEM WAS NOT TO GIVE FREEDOM TO POLITICAL PARTIES, BUT HOW TO MAKE THE SYSTEM FUNCTION WHEN THE OPPOSITION PARTIES WERE ALL SO WEAK. BORGE STATED THAT MANY WERE MINISCULE AND THAT SOME HAD ONLY 10 TO 15 ACTIVISTS IN CONTRAST, THE FSLN ENJOYED WIDE POPULAR SUPPORT, BORGE ASSERTED, AND COULD TURN OUT 500,000 PEOPLE IN THE MANAGUA AREA ALONE. KASTEN PRESSED BORGE ON THE ISSUE OF ACCESS TO THE ELECTRONIC MEDIA, AND BORGE RESPONDED THAT NO DECISION HAD BEEN REACHED BUT IN PRINCIPLE HE FAVORED ALLOWING EQUAL TIME TO ALL PARTIES.

12. COMMENT: BORGE WAS HIS TYPICAL AFFABLE YET CAGEY SELF, AND THE TONE OF THE MEETING WAS CORDIAL AND OPEN. IN RESPONSE TO KASTEN'S PROBES ABOUT THE FSLN'S TIES WITH THE SALVADORAN GUERRILLAS, CUBA AND THE SOVIET UNION, BORGE DISSEMBLED ON SOME ITEMS, SUCH AS THE PRESENCE OF ADVISERS, BUT DID YIELD SOME NEW INFORMATION, PARTICULARLY THE STATUS OF THE CUBAN TEACHERS. HIS LACK OF CONCERN OVER THE PRESENCE OF U.S. ADVISERS IN THE REGION SUGGESTS HE MAY BE ON A SOMEWHAT DIFFERENT WAVELENGTH THAN OTHER COMANDANTES. HE PROBABLY WISHES TO KEEP BUBAN ADVISERS AND DOUBTS THAT ANY AGREEMENT WILL BE REACHED TRADING OFF CUBANS FOR AMERICANS.

SUBJECT: SALVADORAN RESOLUTION AT THE 44TH SESSION OF THE UN HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION (UNHRC)

REF: GENEVA 078

1. [redacted] - ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY. THE USG SEEKS A BALANCED, FACTUAL RESOLUTION ON EL SALVADOR AT THE FORTHCOMING UNHRC SESSION. ACTION ADDRESSEES SHOULD BEGIN DISCUSSIONS WITH HOST COUNTRIES (WHO, EXCEPT FOR EL SALVADOR, VENEZUELA AND PANAMA, ARE MEMBERS OF THE UNHRC) DIRECTED AT ACHIEVING THIS GOAL. A REPORT ON HOST COUNTRY RESPONSES AND ANY EMBASSY RECOMMENDATIONS ON ADDITIONAL FOLLOW UP ACTIONS IS REQUESTED BY JANUARY 30. END SUMMARY

3. THE 44TH SESSION OF T[redacted] WILL MEET IN GENEVA

El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

FEBRUARY 6-MARCH 16, 1984. ONE OF THE ITEMS ON ITS AGENDA, TO WHICH THE USG ATTACHES SPECIAL IMPORTANCE, WILL BE THE SITUATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN EL SALVADOR. THE UNHRC'S CONSIDERATION WILL CENTER UPON A REPORT WHICH

WILL BE PRESENTED BY ITS SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR, PROFESSOR PASTOR RIDRUEJO, WHO WAS REQUESTED IN THE RESOLUTION ADOPTED AT LAST YEAR'S SESSION TO REPORT ON FURTHER DEVELOPMENTS IN THE SITUATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN EL SALVADOR.

4. THE UNHRC'S RESOLUTION ADOPTED AT ITS LAST SESSION (RES. 1983/29) WAS APPROVED BY A VOTE OF 23-6, WITH 10 ABSTENTIONS. VOTING AGAINST WERE ARGENTINA, BANGLADESH, BRAZIL, PAKISTAN, USA AND URUGUAY. (CANADA, COLOMBIA AND COSTA RICA DID NOT PARTICIPATE IN THE VOTE.) AT THE 39TH SESSION THE U.S. HAD BEEN PREPARED TO SUPPORT A BALANCED, FACTUAL RESOLUTION WHICH HAD BEEN PUT FORWARD BY THE DELEGATION OF CANADA. THE RESOLUTION WHICH WAS ADOPTED BY THE UNHRC WAS THAT WHICH HAD BEEN SPONSORED BY UNHRC MEMBERS FRANCE, MEXICO AND YUGOSLAVIA, AND LATER BY NICARAGUA. IN A CLOSE PROCEDURAL VOTE (18-17-7) ON A MOTION PROPOSED BY MEXICO, THE COMMISSION DECIDED TO GIVE PRIORITY TO THE FRANCE-MEXICO DRAFT RESOLUTION OVER THE CANADIAN.

5. AT THE 40TH UNHRC IT WILL AGAIN BE OUR AIM TO PROMOTE A BALANCED, FACTUAL RESOLUTION ON THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN EL SALVADOR WHICH IS BASED UPON AN ACCURATE AND COMPLETE UNDERSTANDING OF THE EXISTING HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN THAT COUNTRY AND WHICH AVOIDS EXTRANEOUS POLITICAL ISSUES, SUCH AS NEGOTIATION WITH THE GUERRILLAS AND THE SUPPLY OF MILITARY ASSISTANCE.

6. EMBASSY OTTAWA IS REQUESTED TO FOLLOW-UP AS SOON AS POSSIBLE EARLIER CONVERSATIONS WITH GOC (STATE 332595, OTTAWA 8914, 8917) TO DETERMINE WHETHER IT WILL AGREE TO AGAIN SPONSOR A RESOLUTION ON EL SALVADOR WHICH THE U.S. COULD SUPPORT. EMBASSIES MEXICO AND PARIS ARE REQUESTED TO ASCERTAIN HOST COUNTRY PLANS FOR A RESOLUTION AND WHETHER THEY ARE AMENABLE TO DISCUSSING IT WITH US WITH A VIEW TO CONSIDERING OUR CONCERNS.

7. IN THE NEXT SEVERAL WEEKS, DEPARTMENT WILL PROVIDE ADDRESSEE POSTS WITH MATERIAL ON THE SALVADORAN HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION THAT THEY CAN USE WITH HOST GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS AND THE MEDIA. THE FIRST SUCH REPORT, ON SALVADORAN LAND REFORM, WILL BE CABLED TO POSTS THIS WEEK. A FACT SHEET ON THE SALVADORAN HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION WILL BE CABLED NEXT WEEK (A LONGER, MORE DETAILED STUDY ON THE SITUATION IN EL SALVADOR BACKING UP THE DATA IN THE FACT SHEET WILL BE POUCHED TO POSTS). BEGINNING IN LATE JANUARY-EARLY FEBRUARY, WE WILL PROVIDE POSTS WITH PERIODIC REPORTS ON THE STATUS OF THE MARCH

25, 1984, SALVADORAN PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS, INCLUDING EFFORTS BY THE SALVADORAN GOVERNMENT'S PEACE COMMISSION TO ENCOURAGE THE GUERRILLAS TO PARTICIPATE IN THIS

DEMOCRATIC PROCESS AND INVITATIONS BY THE SALVADORAN GOVERNMENT TO FOREIGN OBSERVERS TO BE PRESENT FOR THE ELECTIONS.

8. FOR ACTION POSTS IN UNHRC-MEMBER STATES. YOU SHOULD DRAW ON THE MATERIAL WE WILL BE SENDING YOU TO ESTABLISH A CLEARER HOST COUNTRY APPRECIATION OF THE OVERALL PROGRESS THAT THE SALVADORAN GOVERNMENT IS MAKING IN KEY HUMAN RIGHTS AREAS DESPITE HAVING TO PURSUE SIMULTANEOUSLY A MAJOR GUERRILLA WAR. SALVADORAN SUCCESS IN THE LAND PROGRAM IS PARTICULARLY NOTEWORTHY SINCE THERE APPEARS TO BE LITTLE INTERNATIONAL UNDERSTANDING OF THIS DYNAMIC AND SWEEPING REFORM. WHERE APPROPRIATE, ACTION POSTS SHOULD ALSO HIGHLIGHT THE USG'S OWN COMMITMENT TO SUPPORT THESE MAJOR REFORMS. AS AN EXAMPLE, THE USG HAS PROVIDED DURING THE LAST FOUR YEARS OVER DOLLARS 200 MILLION OF ECONOMIC ASSISTANCE TO SUPPORT SALVADORAN LAND REFORM.

9. FOR CARACAS AND PANAMA. ALTHOUGH NOT UNHRC MEMBERS, VENEZUELA AND PANAMA ARE INFLUENTIAL MEMBERS OF THE CONTADORA GROUP THAT IS PROMOTING A PACIFIC RESOLUTION OF THE CENTRAL AMERICA CONFLICT. AS SUCH, THEIR VIEWS ON SALVADORAN HUMAN RIGHTS PROGRESS WILL HAVE CONSIDERABLE WEIGHT WITH UNHRC MEMBERS, AND THEY SHOULD BE ENCOURAGED TO MAKE KNOWN TO UNHRC MEMBERS THEIR SUPPORT FOR THE

SALVADORAN ELECTORAL PROCESS, ETC. SPECIFICALLY, IT WOULD BE HIGHLY BENEFICIAL WERE THE VENEZUELA AND PANAMANIAN GOVERNMENTS TO INSTRUCT THEIR REPRESENTATIVES AT GENEVA TO SUPPORT A MODERATE RESOLUTION. (UNDER THE UNHRC RULES OF PROCEDURE, UN MEMBERS NOT MEMBERS OF THE UNHRC MAY SPEAK ON AND COSPONSOR DRAFT RESOLUTIONS PUT FORWARD IN THE HRC). ADDITIONALLY, WE BELIEVE THAT AS CONTADORA COUNTRIES THEY ARE IN A POSITION TO SUGGEST TO MEXICO THAT ITS PARTICIPATION IN THE CONTADORA GROUP ENTAILS THE OBLIGATION TO HARMONIZE ITS PUBLIC ACTIONS

TOWARD ANY OF THE CENTRAL AMERICAN COUNTRIES WITH THE OTHER MEMBERS. THEY SHOULD SUGGEST THAT MEXICO EITHER DROP ITS SPONSORSHIP OF THE RESOLUTION ON EL SALVADOR IN THE UNHRC OR WORK WITH THEM TO ACHIEVE CONSENSUS ON THE TEXT.

10. FOR GENEVA AND SAN SALVADOR. WE NOTE THAT UNHRC WILL NOT HAVE UP-TO-DATE INFORMATION ON THE SITUATION IN EL SALVADOR BECAUSE THE SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR'S REPORT WAS PREPARED THIS FALL PRIOR TO AGREEMENT BY THE CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY ON CONSTITUTIONAL PROVISIONS WHICH ENSURE THE CONTINUATION OF THE LAND REFORM PROGRAM. IT ALSO WILL NOT REFLECT A DECREASED LEVEL OF DEATH SQUAD VIOLENCE OR THE SALVADORAN GOVERNMENT'S RECENTLY ANNOUNCED COMMITMENT TO CONFRONT THIS HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSE. EMBASSY SAN SALVADOR AND US MISSION GENEVA SHOULD EXPLORE WITH THEIR INTERLOCUTORS THE FEASIBILITY AND/OR ADVISABILITY OF SEEKING A RETURN VISIT OF THE RAPPORTEUR TO PROVIDE AN UPDATE OF HIS REPORT IN TIME FOR THE UNHRC SESSION.

11. INFO ADDRESSEES, AT THEIR DISCRETION, MAY DRAW ON THE MATERIAL WE ARE SENDING TO INFORM HOST GOVERNMENTS ON RECENT DEVELOPMENTS IN EL SALVADOR.

12. POSTS AT UNHRC-MEMBER STATES ARE REQUESTED TO PROVIDE BY JANUARY 30 (ACTION STATE, INFO GENEVA, USUN NY AND SAN SALVADOR) AN ASSESSMENT OF THE POSITION THAT THEIR HOST GOVERNMENT WILL TAKE ON THE SALVADORAN HUMAN RIGHTS RESOLUTION. CARACAS AND PANAMA SHOULD PROVIDE BY THAT DATE THEIR ASSESSMENT OF THE HELP WE MIGHT EXPECT FROM HOST GOVERNMENTS. ADDITIONALLY, WE WOULD WELCOME

ANY SUGGESTIONS ON FURTHER ACTIONS THAT MIGHT BE TAKEN TO

ASSURE A BALANCED RESOLUTION.

13. FOR PARIS: FYI: FRENCH EMBASSY DCM CALLED ARA DAS JOHNSTONE TO THANK DEPARTMENT FOR RECENT USG EFFORTS WHICH RESULTED IN CLEARING UP OF PROBLEM FRENCH HAD IN EMBASSY IN SAN SALVADOR. JOHNSTONE TOOK OPPORTUNITY TO STRESS THAT FRENCH SHOULD THANK SALVADORANS, NOT U.S., AND THAT U.S. HOPED THAT GOF WOULD PLAY A CONSTRUCTIVE ROLE AT THIS YEAR'S UNHRC MEETING. JOHNSTONE NOTED THAT IN PAST FRENCH HAD BEEN SURPRISINGLY UNHELPFUL ON THIS ISSUE IN THIS FORUM. CHARGE TOOK POINT AND PROMISED TO CONVEY IT TO PARIS WITH (ALLEGEDLY) STRONG RECOMMENDATION THAT FRENCH BE GENUINELY HELPFUL. HE SAID HE WOULD REPORT BACK.

DEATHS IN NOVEMBER. AN UNCONFIRMED REPORT JUST RECEIVED FROM A RELIABLE SOURCE CHARGES, HOWEVER, THAT ARMY TROOPS CAPTURED EIGHTY-SEVEN CIVILIAN INDIANS IN HUEHUETENANGO THE LAST WEEK OF DECEMBER. OVERALL STATISTICS ON DEATHS WERE DOWN IN DECEMBER COMPARED WITH OCTOBER AND NOVEMBER, IF MILITARY CLASHES ARE NOT COUNTED. I WOULD CAUTION AGAINST MUCH RELIANCE ON SUCH STATISTICS, HOWEVER, GIVEN THE UNRELIABILITY OF THE DATA AND THE PROBLEM WITH DRAWING CONCLUSIONS FROM A SMALL SAMPLE.

- THE GUATEMALAN GOVERNMENT HAS FAILED TO ACT ON MOST OF THE SPECIFIC RECOMMENDATIONS GENERAL GORMAN WAS INSTRUCTED TO MAKE TO GENERAL MEJIA DECEMBER 4 IN THE HUMAN RIGHTS AREA. DESPITE AN OFFER BY THE FOREIGN MINISTER DECEMBER 20 TO PROVIDE A WRITTEN ASSURANCE THAT WORKERS IN THE AID-FINANCED BILINGUAL EDUCATION PROGRAM WOULD ENJOY GOVERNMENT PROTECTION, NO SUCH PAPER HAS BEEN PROVIDED. SIMILARLY, THE SPECIFIC POINTS ON REGIONAL COOPERATION CONTAINED IN GENERAL GORMAN'S BRIEF REMAIN TO BE IMPLEMENTED, ALTHOUGH GUATEMALAN COOPERATION IN THE CONTADORA PROCESS SHOULD BE JUDGED AS ENTHUSIASTIC AND CONSTRUCTIVE.

SECRET

- GENERAL MEJIA CONTINUES TO MOVE DELIBERATELY TOWARD ELECTIONS IN JULY FOR A CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY.

- RECENT DECISIONS BY THE ADMINISTRATION TO CERTIFY GUATEMALA FOR PARTICIPATION IN THE TRADE BENEFITS OF THE CBI, TO CONSIDER EXTENDING THE BILINGUAL EDUCATION PROJECT AND TO PROVIDE $25 THOUSAND IN RELIEF FOR DISPLACED PERSONS HAVE BEEN WELL RECEIVED BY A GUATEMALAN GOVERNMENT IN FEAR OF BEING OSTRACIZED BY ITS PRINCIPAL BENEFACTOR, WITH DESTABILIZING CONSEQUENCES FOR THE MEJIA REGIME.

3. WE HAVE MADE EVERY EFFORT TO MONITOR GUATEMALAN PERFORMANCE DURING THE PAST MONTH, TO DIVINE ANY CHANGES IN BEHAVIOR WHICH MIGHT HAVE BEEN INITIATED BY THE VISIT OF GENERAL GORMAN DECEMBER 5 OR THE VICE PRESIDENT'S MEETING WITH GENERAL MEJIA IN BUENOS AIRES. THE FOLLOWING ASSESSMENT DRAWS ON THE WISDOM AND OBSERVATIONS OF ALL RELEVANT MISSION ELEMENTS BUT, GIVEN THE SENSITIVITY OF GENERAL GORMAN'S INSTRUCTIONS AND THE TALKING POINTS PREPARED FOR THE VICE PRESIDENT, I HAVE NOT SHARED THE FOLLOWING ASSESSMENT IN ITS PRESENT FORM.

TEXT OF TELEGRAM 84STATE 011960

4. FOLLOWING THE STRUCTURE OF THE PLAN OF ACTION LAID OUT IN GENERAL GORMAN'S INSTRUCTIONS:

I. A. "PROSECUTE IN THE FUTURE ANY PERSON OR GROUP WHO ORDERS OR PARTICIPATES IN AN ILLEGAL ARREST OR ABDUCTION, CRUEL OR UNUSUAL PUNISHMENT OF A PRISONER, OR ILLICIT EXECUTION." ONE INDICATION THAT THE GUATEMALANS MIGHT BE TAKING THIS APPROACH WAS THE ANNOUNCEMENT LAST WEEK BY

THE MINISTER OF GOVERNMENT THAT SOME MEMBERS OF THE HACIENDA POLICE WOULD BE PROSECUTED IF AN INVESTIGATION HE WAS INITIATING REVEALED THAT THEY HAD ACTED IMPROPERLY IN THE ARREST AND ALLEGED BEATING OF SEVERAL HONG KONG CITIZENS WHO MAY HAVE ENTERED GUATEMALA ILLEGALLY (83 GUATEMALA 11221). THIS PROCEDURE SHOULD NOT, HOWEVER, BE CONSIDERED NOVEL IN GUATEMALA. WE HAVE SEEN AND REPORTED PREVIOUS PROSECUTIONS OF POLICE PERSONNEL FOR IMPROPER ACTIVITIES, EVEN CARRIED OUT IN CONNECTION WITH THEIR DUTIES. WHAT WOULD BE NOVEL, HELPFUL AND UNPRECEDENTED WOULD BE THE PUBLICLY-ACKNOWLEDGED PROSECUTION OF AN ARMY OFFICER RESPONSIBLE FOR VIOLATING HUMAN RIGHTS.

B. "OPEN PUBLICATION OF A GENERAL ORDER OR REGULATION MAKING YOUR POLICY EXPLICIT FOR GUATEMALANS WOULD BE USEFUL." NO SUCH GENERAL ORDER HAS BEEN PUBLISHED OPENLY OR INTERNALLY, NOR ARE WE AWARE OF ANY STATEMENT BY GENERAL MEJIA TO ANY SIGNIFICANT GROUP OF ARMY OFFICERS WHICH COULD BE CONSTRUED AS HAVING A SIMILAR EFFECT. THE FURTHEST GENERAL MEJIA HAS GONE WAS HIS NEW YEAR'S STATEMENT THAT "WE WILL SPARE NO EFFORTS TO CONTINUE IMPROVING, AND JUST AS SOME ISOLATED VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS HAVE OCCURRED RECENTLY, IT IS ALSO NECESSARY TO STRESS THAT SUBVERSIVE FORCES HAVE RESORTED TO TERRORISM AS A DESPERATE TACTIC AND HAVE TRIED TO CREATE THE IMPRESSION THAT THEIR DESPICABLE ACTIONS ARE THE WORK OF PARAMILITARY GROUPS."

C. "OPENLY INVITE ICRC AND/OR UNHCR OBSERVERS

INTO GUATEMALA." NOTHING HAS BEEN DONE TO OUR KNOWLEDGE ON THIS POINT DURING THE PAST MONTH.

D. "EXTEND YOUR AMNESTY PROGRAM." THE AMNESTY WAS EXTENDED NOVEMBER 17 FOR SIXTY DAYS.

E. "REAFFIRM SUPPORT FOR CIVIC ACTION AND RESETTLEMENT." GENERAL MEJIA AND HIS GOVERNMENT COUNT AMONG THEIR PRINCIPAL ACCOMPLISHMENTS THE REBUILDING OF THE VILLAGE OF SAN JUAN ACUL IN RECORD SPEED. THE NEW MODEL VILLAGE WAS DEDICATED DECEMBER 22 WITH HOMES AND OTHER AMENITIES FOR SOME 240 FAMILIES, ALTHOUGH THAT PROJECT HAD BEEN STARTED IN SEPTEMBER, WELL OUTSIDE THE TIME FRAME OF THIS ASSESSMENT. GENERAL MEJIA HAS UNDERSCORED HIS INTENTION TO REPLICATE IT. THE EXCEPTIONALLY HIGH FINANCIAL AND ADMINISTRATIVE COSTS OF THE PROJECT CAST SOME DOUBT, HOWEVER, ON WHETHER THE GUATEMALANS WILL BE ABLE TO REPEAT THE EXERCISE VERY OFTEN (83 GUATEMALA 11188). THE GUATEMALANS REMAIN DEDICATED TO THE GOAL OF ATTRACTING THEIR CITIZEN REFUGEES BACK FROM MEXICO BUT THE FOREIGN MINISTER TOLD US DURING AMBASSADOR STONE'S VISIT JANUARY 3 THAT THE MEXICANS WERE DRAGGING THEIR FEET ON GOVERNMENT-TO-GOVERNMENT COOPERATION TO FACILITATE THIS MOVE.

F. "YOU MAY WANT TO SET UP A GRIEVANCE COMMISSION HEADED BY A CLERIC." THE GUATEMALANS HAVE DONE NOTHING ON THIS POINT, TO OUR KNOWLEDGE.

G. "YOU KNOW BEST HOW TO ACHIEVE THE OBJECTIVE; THE IMPORTANT FACTOR IS THAT THE EXTRA LEGAL VIOLENCE STOP." GUATEMALA 0026 SHOWS THAT THE LEVEL OF POLITICAL VIOLENCE FELL SOMEWHAT IN DECEMBER

COMPARED WITH EARLIER MONTHS, IF MILITARY CLASHES ARE NOT COUNTED. THE STATISTICS ARE HELPFUL IN GAUGING TRENDS. THEY CANNOT, HOWEVER, BE READ TOO CLOSELY, ESPECIALLY WHEN IT COMES TO FIXING BLAME AND THEREBY ASSESSING GOVERNMENT PERFORMANCE.

-. MORE IMPORTANTLY, WE HAVE LEARNED, MAINLY THROUGH LIAISON AND [redacted] B1 THAT THE CHIEF OF STATE'S INTELLIGENCE UNIT, THE SO-CALLED ARCHIVOS, HAS BEEN ORDERED TO STAND DOWN ON EXTRA-LEGAL OPERATIONS. SOME OF THE ARMY OFFICERS ASSIGNED TO THAT UNIT, WIDELY ASSUMED TO BE RESPONSIBLE FOR SPECIFIC KIDNAPPINGS AND ASSASSINATIONS AGAINST GOVERNMENT OPPONENTS IN THE PAST, HAVE EVEN BEGUN TO SEEK OTHER EMPLOYMENT. DEPARTMENT DURING THE LAST WEEK OF DECEMBER. WE ARE URGENTLY SEEKING FURTHER INFORMATION.

- WE HAVE REPORTED SEPARATELY THAT THE RECENT DISAPPEARANCES OF TWO DIFFERENT PAIRS OF LABOR ACTIVITISTS MIGHT BE LINKED TO THE GOVERNMENT BUT OUR INFORMATION IS INCOMPLETE (SEE 83 GUATEMALA 10924 AND 83 GUATEMALA 11108). TWO OTHER CASES DURING DECEMBER WHICH INVOLVED AMERICAN CITIZENS SHOWED THAT THE GOG IS CAPABLE OF COOPERATING TO AVERT POTENTIALLY DISASTEROUS CONSEQUENCES. IN ONE WE WERE INFORMED BY A SENIOR ARMY OFFICER THAT CERTAIN UNNAMED OFFICERS HAD DECIDED THAT AN AMERICAN TEACHER IN THE COLEGIO ALEMAN SHOULD BE ASSASSINATED FOR ALLEGEDLY HAVING SAID THINGS TO HIS STUDENTS WHICH WERE CRITICAL OF THE GUATEMALAN ARMY'S TREATMENT OF CIVILIANS. WE WERE ABLE TO EFFECT THE TEACHER'S SAFE DEPARTURE FROM GUATEMALA (83 GUATEMALA 11049). IN THE OTHER CASE, A ROMAN CATHOLIC PRIEST WHO WAS STOPPED IN EL PETEN ALLEGEDLY WITH A GRENADE FUSE IN HIS CAR, WAS RELEASED TO HIS CHURCH AFTER QUESTIONING (83 GUATEMALA 11194).

II. A. "PROCEED WITH ARRANGEMENTS FOR ELECTIONS ON A DATE CERTAIN IN MID-1984." CONSISTENTLY DESCRIBING HIS GOVERNMENT AS "TRANSITORY AND PROVISIONAL," MEJIA RAPIDLY ADOPTED THE POLITICAL CALENDAR DEVELOPED BY RIOS MONTT AND SOON ACHIEVED A HIGH DEGREE OF CREDIBILITY THAT HE MEANT IT. THE CALENDAR CALLS FOR ELECTIONS JULY 1, 1984 FOR A CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY TO BE SEATED ON SEPTEMBER 15, 1984. IN HIS NEW YEAR'S ADDRESS, MEJIA SAID, "WE HOPE TO HOLD GENERAL ELECTIONS IN 1985," BUT THAT DATE REMAINS DEPENDENT UPON THE PACE OF WORK ON A NEW CONSTITUTION. THE NEW ELECTORAL LAW WILL BE

PROMULGATED THIS MONTH AFTER EXTENSIVE CONSULTATIONS WITH POLITICAL GROUPS.

B. "YOU CAN SUPPORT THIS WITH PUBLIC STATEMENTS INVITING OAS AND OTHER INTERNATIONAL OBSERVERS TO THE ELECTIONS." NOTHING HAS BEEN HEARD ON THIS POINT, AND I DOUBT THE GUATEMALANS WILL EVER ACT ON IT.

III. A. "COMMUNICATE TO EL SALVADOR, HONDURAS, PANAMA, AND COSTA RICA YOUR SUPPORT FOR COOPERATIVE MEASURES TO ENHANCE THE SECURITY OF ALL." WE KNOW OF NO SUCH COMMUNICATION. THE FOREIGN MINISTER AND TOP MILITARY OFFICERS HAVE REPEATEDLY EXPRESSED THEIR SERIOUS CONCERN ABOUT THE MILITARY SITUATION IN EL SALVADOR AND THERE HAS BEEN INTERNAL DEBATE OVER THE COMPETITIVE NEEDS TO DEFEND THE PETEN AND HELP EL SALVADOR WITH TROOPS ALONG THE BORDER INSIDE GUATEMALA IF NOT IN EL SALVADOR. AS REPORTED (83 GUATEMALA 10958), THE FOREIGN MINISTER GAVE ME HIS "PERSONAL OPINION" THAT GUATEMALA WOULD SEND TROOPS TO EL SALVADOR IF THEY WERE NEEDED TO SAVE THE SITUATION, BUT THIS REFLECTED NEITHER A DECISION NOR A COMMITMENT. IN HIS NEW YEAR'S SPEECH, MEJIA RECITED THE PRINCIPLE OF "NON-INTERVENTION IN THE INTERNAL AFFAIRS OF OTHER STATES, AND SELF-DETERMINATION (ALTHOUGH HE SUGGESTED NOTHING OF "NEUTRALITY," AS REPORTED IN THE INTERNATIONAL PRESS). I DO NOT BELIEVE GUATEMALA WOULD BE INHIBITED BY THESE PRINCIPLES IN ALL CIRCUMSTANCES. ANDRADE HAS, OF COURSE, BEEN ACTIVE AND HELPFUL WITH THE CORE FOUR IN THE CONTADORA PROCESS.

B. "AS A STEP TOWARD REGIONAL SELF-SUFFICIENCY,

OFFER TO SUPPLY THEM SMALL ARMS AMMUNITION AND INDICATE YOUR WILLINGNESS TO DISCUSS OTHER STEPS TOWARD STANDARDIZATION, INTER-OPERABILITY AND THE RATIONALIZATION OF DEFENSE PRODUCTION." NONE OF THIS HAS HAPPENED, TO OUR KNOWLEDGE.

C. "IF SOME REPLY, AS I SUSPECT EL SALVADOR AND HONDURAS WILL, THAT MILITARY COOPERATION MUST COME AFTER SOME POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC FRAMEWORK IS ESTABLISHED, SUPPORT THE LATTER ALSO." SUCH COOPERATION BECAME MORE REMOTE DURING DECEMBER AS GUATEMALA CLOSED ITS BORDERS WITH EL SALVADOR AND HONDURAS TO FORCE A SETTLEMENT OF TRADE DISPUTES OVER THE PAYMENT OF EXPORTS. THEY HAVE NOT YET ACHIEVED SUCH A SETTLEMENT.

5. RECENT U.S. ACTIONS. SINCE GENERAL MEJIA'S MEETING WITH GENERAL GORMAN AND VICE PRESIDENT BUSH, THE ADMINISTRATION HAS MOVED TO:

---INDICATE A WILLINGNESS TO EXTEND THE BILINGUAL EDUCATION PROGRAM IF CERTAIN SECURITY STEPS COULD BE COMPLETED,

---PROVIDE $25 THOUSAND IN DISASTER RELIEF FUNDS FOR DISPLACED PERSONS IN NEBAJ, AND

---CERTIFY GUATEMALA FOR PARTICIPATION IN THE TRADE BENEFITS OF THE CBI.

THESE STEPS HAVE PROVOKED PALPABLE RELIEF IN A GUATEMALAN GOVERNMENT AFRAID OF BEING FROZEN OUT BY ITS PRINCIPAL SUPPORTER, WITH DESTABILIZING EFFECT.

6. AT THE SAME TIME, THE GUATEMALANS HAVE ACTED

AMBIGUOUSLY ON THE MATTER OF A WRITTEN COMMITMENT TO PROTECT AID WORKERS. A COMMITMENT IN WRITING WAS FIRST OFFERED BY ANDRADE ON DECEMBER 20. IN RESPONSE, I TOLD HIM I THOUGHT SUCH A PAPER WOULD BE HELPFUL AND THEN FOLLOWED UP WITH HIM FOUR SEPARATE TIMES IN LINE WITH THE INSTRUCTIONS PROVIDED IN 83 STATE 362677. EACH TIME HE SAID HE WAS WORKING ON A NOTE AND WE WOULD HAVE IT "IF NOT TODAY, TOMORROW." HE GAVE THE SAME REPLY DECEMBER 28 AFTER I INFORMED HIM THAT THE MINISTER OF EDUCATION HAD TOLD THE AID DIRECTOR WE WOULD NOT GET ANYTHING IN WRITING. MOST RECENTLY, ANDRADE TOLD ME AFTER LUNCH WITH AMBASSADOR STONE JANUARY 3 THAT HE HAD DISCUSSED THE PAPER WITH GENERAL MEJIA BECAUSE STONE HAD RAISED IT AND WE WOULD HAVE A DOCUMENT "IF NOT THIS AFTERNOON, TOMORROW." To: Senators/Congressmen Baker, Kennedy, Helms, East, Warner, Sasser, Moynihan, Tsongas, Heflin, Pascell, Barnes, Bonker, Duncan, Gore, Boucher, and Zablocki:

1. The State Department has asked the erbassy to respond to Senator Jim Sasser's letter of November 9, 1983 concerning th case of Jack Ross Shelton.

2. Embassy has received a letter dated December 14 from Mercedes Pascual translated as follows:

"I have just received your search notice but I am sorry to reply in the negative. I did cross the border between Mexico and Guatemala in July, 1981, but I do not remember this face, having had several problems regarding the crossing and because of these, I was obliged to make requests of the Guatemalan consulate (We assume she means in Mexico prior to entering Guatemala). I really regret not being able to be helpful and I hope that yuou will succeed in your attempt to find this individual."

3. Embassy has not yet received any response to our latest letters to Alips and Pedelabat-Lrtigau, which were worded with a strong appeal for some answer, even a negative one, in order to assure the Shelton family that all possible leads had been explored. We hope the family will be more successful in their efforts at direct contact with Alips and P-L. Department will be informed immediately if replies ar received. Maresca.

I. INTRODUCTION: RECONFIRMING OUR JOINT RESOLVE

On November 30, 1983, the President withheld approval of H.R. 4042, an enrolled bill that would have made the provision of most assistance to El Salvador dependent upon two presidential certifications regarding El Salvador in 1984.

In announcing this decision, the White House spokesman gave particular emphasis to the President's continued commitment to the protection of human rights, economic and political reform, the holding of elections and progress in prosecuting the cases of murdered U.S. citizens.

Referring to Ambassador Pickering's November 25 speech condemning the actions of the violent right, the White House spokesman said:

> "Working with he leadership of the Government of El Salvador, we will reconfirm our joint resolve to take whatever action is necessary to help the Government of El Salvador to end the reprehensible activities of the violent right as well as the violent left (emphasis added)."

This report, the first that the President has directed be provided periodically to the Congress and the American public, is an assessment of the situation in El Salvador and a public accounting of our efforts to give tangible meaning to this reconfirmation of our joint resolve.

It addresses all the elements previously required under Section 728 (d) and (e) of the International and Security and Development Cooperation Act of 1981: Salvadoran efforts to comply with internationally recognized human rights; to improve control over its armed forces; to make progress on land and other economic and political reforms; to conduct elections and dialogue to achieve a political settlement; and to investigate the murders of U.S. citizens and bring to justice those responsible.

In order to provide the Congress and the United States public a comprehensive, current assessment of all aspects of the situation in El Salvador affecting U.S. foreign policy objectives, the report also covers:

-- the historical, social, economic and political sources of conflict;

-- Cuban and Nicaraguan activities;

-- guerrilla terrorism;

-- Salvadoran efforts to reform the criminal justice system and U.S. support for the administration of justice;

-- the current economic situation and U.S. assistance programs; and

-- the security situation, including military activity, requirements for external assistance and the impact of war on refugees and displaced persons.

II. A LEGACY OF VIOLENCE AND SOCIAL INEQUITY

In the late 1970's, El Salvador began to experience increasingly intense civil disturbances and violent political protest. The proximate cause, against the background of El Salvador's long legacy of economic underdevelopment and social inequity, was arrested democratic development, aggravated by destabilizing activities and events originating in Cuba and Nicaragua.

The catalyst was the absence of democratic institutions capable of responding to popular aspirations for social, economic and political change. Popular demands for change grew throughout the 1960's and 1970's not because there was no economic progress, but for the opposite reason -- because rapid economic growth placed overwhelming demands upon traditional social and political relationships.

From the establishment of the Central American Common Market in 1960 until 1979, the economy of every country in Central America grew faster than in the United States. Annual real growth rates averaged from 4.4 percent in Honduras to 6.3 percent in Costa Rica. In El Salvador, growth averaged 5.3 percent. Real per capita growth was nearly 2 percent per year. Capital formation in relation to gross domestic product rose from 10.5 percent in the 1950's, to 13 percent in the 1960's, to near 20 percent in 1970-78. Although substantial underemployment existed in both rural and urban areas, unemployment was low. For twenty years prior to the 1973 oil shock, inflation averaged about 1 percent a year.

For three reasons, however, this rapid growth coincided with increased social and political tensions in El Salvador, providing a fertile basis for exploitation by those who favored a Marxist-Leninist approach:

-- Control of the economy by a numerically small elite kept the fruits of growth from being widely shared;

-- the army's rejection of the results of the 1972 presidential elections conveyed a message that peaceful political change was not possible; and

-- recourse to violence became deeply ingrained on both the political left and right.

Policies to address these causes of conflict in El Salvador -- social inequity, political underdevelopment and violence -- are central to U.S. efforts to help El Salvador develop peaceful solutions to its problems.

A. The Political Background: 1932-1979

On January 22, 1932, a violent uprising enflamed by Augustin Farabundo Marti and his embryonic Communist Party led to a chain reaction of massacres and brutalities in which almost ten thousand people died. The savagery of 1932 was interpreted by Salvadoran authorities to mean that only strong governments could maintain order. The Army became El Salvador's strongest institution; military commanders, almost all of middle class or more humble origins, dominated succeeding governments in concert with the landed wealthy.

During the 1940's, 1950's and 1960's, political violence was rare. Sustained economic growth (averaging more than 5 percent a year) stimulated urban growth and new political parties. In 1964, Jose Napoleon Duarte, one of the founders of the Christian Democratic Party (PDC), was elected Mayor of San Salvador. After additional electoral success in 1968, Duarte ran in the 1972 presidential elections. Guillermo Manuel Ungo of the small social-democratic National Revolutionary Movement (MNR) was his running mate. Most observers believed Duarte had won the vote, but the candidate of the governing National Conciliation Party (PCN), Col. Arturo Armando Molina, was proclaimed President. After an attempted opposition coup within the army failed, Duarte was arrested, tortured, and sent into exile.

Molina increased public services and in 1976 attempted a minor land reform by expropriating 56,000 hectares in Usulutan, but he failed to overcome conservative resistance to change. Unemployment and income maldistribution were exacerbated by rising energy costs, unstable coffee prices, and a severe drought.

The Roman Catholic Church, which after Vatican Council II had become increasingly committed to work among the underprivileged, began to call for greater social justice. Archbishop Oscar Arnulfo Romero regularly detailed abuses against the poor in statements during Sunday mass.

Political strains increased during the mid-seventies. The validity of the election of Gen. Carlos Humberto Romero as President in 1977 was disputed. That year, Foreign Minister Mauricio Borgonovo was murdered by leftists; Father Rutilio Grande, a priest known for his support of working-class causes, was assassinated by rightists. Opposition parties boycotted the 1978 National Assembly elections. Violence and counterviolence escalated steadily thereafter. ORDEN, a largely rural organization with close ties to the local security forces and to the White Warriors Union, a clandestine group of far rightists, assassinated teachers and priests.

On the extreme left, youthful radicals denounced the electoral approach of the Moscow-line Communist Party of El Salvador (PCES) and broke away to seek an armed path to power. In the late 1970's, these breakaway groups carried out several spectacular embassy seizures and kidnapped or murdered Salvadoran, U.S., European and Japanese businessmen, as well as the Swiss Charge d'Affaires and the Ambassador of South Africa. Terrorism and kidnappings enabled the violent left to obtain $50-100 million in ransom and protection payments.

The growing militancy of the violent left moved Archbisop Romero to warn in August 1979:

> "When I returned from Rome in April, I found their bombs in the Cathedral. Our popular groups have been taken over by the far left. They want the Church to support ever thing, not only justice but all their strategies."

The largest of the radical left groups was the Popular Liberation Forces (FPL). It was founded in 1970 by Salvador Cayetano Carpio, the Cuban-trained former Communist Party Secretary General, who is said to have committed suicide in April 1983, in Managua, after admitting that he had ordered the murder of a key lieutenant.

While the FPL advocated violence as part of a "prolonged war" strategy, the People's Revolutionary Army (ERP), a group of young Maoists and Castroites headed by Joaquin Villalobos, called for attacks on public officials to spark an immediate popular revolution. A tactically different perspective was embodied in the Armed Forces of National Resistance (FARN), which splintered from the ERP in 1975, again based on internal party disagreements.

The FPL helped to organize a broad coalition of worker, student, and teacher groups into the Popular Revolutionary Bloc (BPR). The FARN attracted several peasant organizations and unions into the United Popular Action Front (FAPU). The 28 February Popular League (LP-28) organized by the ERP began as and remained a largely student-based organization.

El Salvador's violent left received a major psychological boost in July 1979 when the Nicaraguan National Guard dissolved under pressure, the Somoza dynasty collapsed and the Sandinistas assumed power. Unlike Somoza's guard, El Salvador's professional Army was dedicated to protecting the nation, not the particular regime in power (as was shown by the October 1979 coup d'etat). Nonetheless, what before only a few had believed possible -- that the Salvadoran Army could be openly attacked and defeated -- appeared suddenly to the extreme left as an historic possibility. Moreover, having backed the Sandinistas with men and money, the FPL and the ERP were now to receive Nicaraguan support for an escalated armed struggle in El Salvador.

As the 1970s drew to a close, traditional political and social relationships were disintegrating and El Salvador fragmented into armed camps. The economic elite was split between advocates of harsh repression and moderate reform. Gen. Romero had neither the will to impose nor the credibility to undertake reforms. Except for scattered individuals like the still exiled Duarte, there was an acute absence of credible or willing alternative leadership.

B. The Social Background: Concentration of Land Ownership and Population Growth

Until the late 19th century, large haciendas existed, but rural land tenure was predominantly communal. With the introduction of coffee during the 1880's, private landowners (with government concurrence and assistance) began to absorb communal lands, creating a large class of landless peasants. Most became migrant workers who were fully employed only during the harvest season. Better-off peasants owned or rented small plots for growing their own food needs, or found permanent employment as sharecroppers. This consolidation into fewer units continued during the 20th century. A phenomenon of the mid-1960's, for example, was the expansion of large-scale livestock raising for both domestic and export markets. As meat prices rose and credit became more widely available, many large farm owners allocated more land to grazing, instead of relying on confined feeding to fatten their animals, thereby putting additional pressure on the land.

In 1971, about 40 percent of the total land was concentrated in the hands of about one percent of the owners. Seventy percent of all farmers were sharecroppers, laborers or owned fewer than 5 hectares (12.5 acres) of land. By 1980, the numbers of farms with holdings in excess of 500 hectares (1,240 acres) had grown.

This century-long trend toward the concentration of land into large holdings occurred as El Salvador's population increased from 783,000 in 1900, to 2.6 million in 1960, to 3.5 million in 1970, and to a level in 1982 of about 4.8 million. Population density reached 225 persons per square kilometer, or 580 per square mile, three times the figure for any other Latin American country. The pressure on the labor market has grown and will grow into the foreseeable future. Salvadoran migration into relatively land-abundant Honduras was a major factor leading to the 1969 war between the two countries.

Urbanization has not been as rapid in El Salvador as elsewhere in Latin America, but it is nonetheless pronounced. The urban population increased from 25 percent of the total in 1950 to 39.5 percent in 1980. Total urban population is expected to increase from 1.9 million in 1980 to 3.2 million by 2000.

Demographic pressures also caused immense pressure on El Salvador's resource base. Soil loss, deforestation, pesticide runoff and water pollution are serious problems. In metropolitan San Salvador, more than half the total population live in overcrowded inner city tenements or in illegal peripheral subdivisions. Even in urban areas only 49 percent of the population has access to piped water; less than 2 percent of the rural population has access to sewerage. In 1977, for example, water-related diseases caused 4,200 deaths and the economic incapacitation of 150,000 people.

C. The Explosion: 1979-1982

On October 15, 1979, a group of reformist military officers overthrew the Romero government. A broadly representative coalition government was created, but failed to function. In January 1980, the Armed Forces and the Christian Democratic Party formed a government together which, with some reshuffling, governed until elections for a Constituent Assembly took place in March 1982.

This period saw the initiation of a major land reform, a banking nationalization, nationalization of the marketing abroad of coffee and sugar, development of stronger campesino organizations in farming areas and, most importantly, reactivation of political parties and the holding of free and honest elections.

But it was also to witness levels of violence unknown since the 1930's. Violence against civilians, already on the increase, crested. The growing military strength of the guerrillas, expressed in violence and terrorism, provoked a strong reaction. At the same time, the sweeping reforms begun in March 1980 brought some of the extreme right to respond with violence against the government, moderates and the left.

During 1980 and 1981, Cuban and Soviet bloc assistance channelled through Nicaragua permitted the Salvadoran groups on the extreme left to coordinate their activities, accumulate massive supplies of war materiel and upgrade their fighting capability. In January 1981, the guerrillas launched a "final offensive" consisting of combined military operation and a call for a popular uprising. The appeal for popular support was generally ignored and the Salvadoran Armed Forces beat back the guerrillas' military initiative in short order. Following this setback, the guerrillas returned for a time to skirmishing and night-time bombings.

In May 1981, the guerrillas began a strategy of "guerra prolongada" (prolonged war), which included a gradual build-up of strength and materiel supplied through Nicaragua, concentration of military action in rural districts punctuated by high-profile sabotage operations, and increased targeting of factories, bridges, agricultural installations, the transportation system, the electrical system, water pumping stations and other economic infrastructure. This military strategy continues today, complemented by a political/diplomatic effort calling for power-sharing negotiations with the Salvadoran government.

D. Nicaraguan and Cuban Activity

Havana gave support and counsel but relatively little tangible assistance to revolution in El Salvador before the July 1979 Sandinista take-over in Nicaragua. However, the overthrow of Somoza led the Cubans to reevaluate the chances for a successful insurgency elsewhere in Central America. The Sandinista victory suggested to Havana that a national army could be beaten by an armed uprising; and, perhaps more importantly, Nicaragua also provided Cuba with a base from which to begin supplying regional guerrilla movements. The Sandinistas began training guerrillas from El Salvador and other Central American countries. This was the beginning of a steadily expanding partnership between Cuba and the Sandinistas in exporting subversion to El Salvador.

While the Sandinistas were consolidating their hold in Nicaragua, Havana focused increased attention and resources on El Salvador. Castro urged that the separate leftist groups join forces in return for Cuban and Soviet bloc support.

In December 1979, to overcome differences over tactics, Castro hosted the leaders of the leftist terrorist groups and the Salvadoran Communist Party in Havana. This meeting produced agreement to form a coordinating committee, as was announced publicly in January 1980. It was also at this meeting that Castro reportedly outlined his strategy: El Salvador and Guatemala would be "next," with Honduras to be used as a corridor for the transit of guerrillas and arms.

Having achieved the unified command for the extreme left, a communist-led "broad coalition," and some noncommunist international support, Cuba moved to increase the military strength of the Salvadoran guerrillas with full but discreet support from the Soviets. In April 1980, Salvadoran guerrilla representatives met in the Hungarian Embassy in Mexico City with representatives of Cuba, the USSR, Bulgaria, East Germany, Poland and Vietnam. In June and July 1980, the Secretary General of the Salvadoran Communist Party went to Moscow and then with Soviet endorsement visited East Germany, Bulgaria, Vietnam and Ethiopia -- all of which promised military and other support.

The Cuban/Soviet bloc military supply operation used western weapons (some from Vietnam) for "cover" and covertly shipped weapons through Cuba and Nicaragua to arm the Salvadoran guerrillas for their intense but unsuccessful "final offensive" in January 1981.

Although the offensive failed, it led President Carter to authorize U.S. military aid for arms, ammunition and equipment for the first time since 1977 to "support the Salvadoran government in its struggle against left-wing terrorism supported covertly with arms, ammunition, training, and political and military advice by Cuba and other communist nations."

Throughout 1981, Cuba, Nicaragua and the Soviet bloc aided in rebuilding, rearming and improving the Salvadoran guerrilla forces, which expanded their operations in the fall. The FMLN headquarters in Nicaragua evolved into an extremely sophisticated command-and-control center -- more elaborate in fact, than that of the Sandinistas against Somoza. Guerrilla planing and operations are guided from this headquarters, where Cuban and Nicaraguan officers are involved in command and control. The FMLN headquarters in Nicaragua also coordinates propaganda and logistical support for the insurgents, including food, medicines, clothing, money and -- most important -- weapons and ammunition.

In December 1981, after meetings in Havana with Salvadoran guerrilla leaders, Castro directed that external supplies of arms to FMLN units be stepped up to launch an offensive to disrupt the elections. During the first three months of 1982, arms shipments into El Salvador surged. Cuban-Nicaraguan arms flowed through Honduras into El Salvador by sea, air, and overland routes.

In addition to vitally-needed ammunition, these supply operations included greater quantities of more sophisticated heavy weapons. Deliveries in 1982 included M-60 machine guns, M-79 grenade launchers and M-72 antitank weapons, significantly increasing the guerrillas' firepowr. One guerrilla unit received several thousand sticks of TNT and detonators from Nicaragua (only five sticks are needed to blow up an electrical pylon). Individual units regularly received tens of thousands of dollars for routine purchases of supplies on commercial markets and for payments (including bribes) to enable the clandestine pipeline to function. On March 15, 1982, the Costa Rican Judicial Police announced the discovery in San Jose of a sizable cache of arms, explosives, uniforms, passports, documents, false immigration stamps from more than 30 countries, and vehicles with hidden compartments -- all connected with arms smuggling through Costa Rican territory, and through Nicaragua or via third countries, to the Salvadoran guerrillas.

Following their manifest repudiation in the 1982 elections, the FMLN leaders reacted as they had after their failed 1981 "final offensive." They consulted with Nicaraguan and Cuban officials to plan strategy and to obtain more and better military equipment for their forces. For the next six months, they continued terrorist harassment and economic sabotage. In mid-October 1982, they used their expanded capabilities to begin a new series of military attacks. By early 1983 the guerrillas had controlled about a dozen towns for more than two months, and their morale recovered as continued Cuban, Nicaraguan and Soviet bloc support enabled them to sustain operations despite their rejection by the Salvadoran people. During 1982, guerrilla operations resulted in about 2,500 government troops wounded and 1,300 killed.

Recent press reports contain Sandinista claims that they are modifying their relationship with the Salvadoran guerrilla groups. Some guerrilla representatives are said to have departed Nicaragua, implying reduced support for the fighting in El Salvador. In addition, Sandinista leaders recently have proposed a regional agreement to halt arms trafficking, albeit without proposals for verification.

It is too early to determine conclusively whether the Sandinistas are in fact reducing their support for Salvadoran guerrilla forces. Our observations of this covert support have not borne out a sense of important changes. As of late December, there was no evidence that command-and-control operations had been transferred from Nicaragua. Sandinista public gestures, such as providing several thousand Cuban teachers with year-end leaves and extensively publicizing their departure follow familiar patterns. They appear to be more tactical maneuvers to improve the Sandinista political position than a fundamental change in policy.

Cuba's and Nicaragua's record of false denials of assistance to guerrillas in El Salvador, and the covert nature of their assistance, place the burden of credibility on them. The United States will remain alert to any indication of genuine movement and is prepared to respond accordingly.

Because of the covert nature of Cuban and Nicaraguan assistance for the Salvadoran guerrillas, confidential intelligence sources and methods must be relied upon for much of our information. As a result, relatively little of the accummulated data can be made public. Three major instances of external military support for the Salvadoran guerrillas can be cited, however, because they do not relate to continuing operations or because the information was developed through non-intelligence channels.

The use of Papalonal airfield is a example of the smuggling of weapons from Nicaragua to guerrillas in El Salvador. Papalonal is a commercially-underdeveloped area 23 miles north of Managua. The airfield is accessible only by dirt roads. In late July 1980, the airfield was an agricultural dirt airstrip approximately 800 meters long, but by early 1981 the strip had been lengthened by 50 per cent to approximately 1,200 meters. Hangars were constructed to stockpile arms for the Salvadoran guerrillas. C-47 flights from the airbase were confirmed by photographic evidence and unidentified aircraft were frequently sighted in El Salvador. Several pilots who regularly flew the route into El Salvador have been identified in Nicaragua. This particular route has been closed down, but air infiltration over new routes continues to this day.

On September 21, 1983, the Washington Post carried a wire service article about the fishing village of Estero de Padre Ramos, on the Gulf of Fonseca, only a short distance by boat from southeastern El Salvador. The article began: "A radio-equipped warehouse and boat facility disguised as a fishing cooperative on an island in northwestern Nicaragua, has served for three years as a transshipment point for smuggling arms to El Salvador, numerous residents say." Village residents told the reporter of a 14-boat fleet, including large dugout canoes capable of carrying "thousands of pounds of cargo," which made regular bi-weekly trips to El Salvador. The island had been off-limits to local residents for years and "reporters could find no evidence that it had ever been used for fishing."

A third example relates either to the on-going military build-up in Nicaragua, or to the continued provisioning of the Salvadoran guerrillas, probably both. It also illustrates that Cuba is not the only nation supplying arms to anti-democratic forces in Central America, and indicates how each expansion paves the way for further "revolutionary internationalism." On April 18, 1983, the Brazilian Government seized three Libyan aircraft ostensibly ferrying medical supplies to Nicaragua; in reality the planes were loaded with arms, explosives, military spare parts, and other military equipment. In addition to this clear evidence of clandestine arms shipments to Central America, it is noteworthy that, had the airfield on Grenada been completed, the Libyan cargo plans would not have had to refuel in Brazil, so the shipment would have proceeded without impediment.

The House Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence, which has extensively reviewed intelligence data on Central America, wrote in its report published on May 13, 1983 that the guerrillas in El Salvador "are well trained, well equipped with modern weapons and supplies, and rely on the use of sites in Nicaragua for command and control and for logistical support.

The intelligence supporting these judgements provided to the Committee is convincing." III. POLITICAL DEVELOPMENT

The 1979 coup d'etat by reformist military officers broke traditional oligarchical control of the government, and El Salvador has since witnessed a rapid political evolution. This section explores some of the steps taken and the problems that remain in the process of developing the requisite climate and institutions for a more democratic and just society within El Salvador.

A. The March 1982 Elections

The March 1982 elections were a key milestone in El Salvador's political evolution. Representing the potential vigor of participatory democracy, they marked the initial consolidation of the political center which began to emerge around the 1979 coup and the 1980 reforms. On March 28, 1982, some 1.5 million Salvadorans went to the polls to elect deputies to the Constituent Assembly. The political front of the guerrilla movement had been invited to field candidates in the elections, but claimed that the proper conditions did not exist. Although the guerrillas attempted to disrupt the elections by violence, six parties ran candidates and roughly eighty percent of eligible voters cast their ballots. Over 200 international observers and some 700 members of the international press attended. There was general agreement that the elections were fair and honest.

Following the March elections, the Junta transferred authority to a provisional government named by the Constituent Assembly. The Provisional President, Alvaro Magana, selected as a consensus candidate, is a political independent. Three vice-presidents represent the three parties receiving the most votes: the Christian Democratic Party (PDC), the Republican National Alliance (ARENA), and the Party of National Conciliation (PCN).

Except for the Democratic Action Party, all of the political parties that had won seats in the Constituent Assembly signed the Pact of Apaneca of the "Government of National Unity" on August 3, 1982. The pact establishes goals for the government under headings of pacification, human rights, economic recuperation, reforms, confidence and security, and strengthening El Salvador's international position. The pact also called for the formation of Political, Peace, and Human Rights Commissions, all of which are now functioning. Subsequently, a joint government-private sector Commission for Economic Reactivation was established.

The period since elections has not been without setbacks -- including a renewal of death squad activity in September-November of 1983 -- but its accomplishments have been substantial:

-- a new, more liberal constitution was drafted and approved by the Constituent Assembly and put into force on December 20, 1983;

-- an amnesty for guerrillas and political prisoners was carried out to the benefit of more than 1,100 individuals;

-- the land reform program has witnessed further consolidation and progress, to the benefit of more than 500,000 Salvadorans. The new constitution protects the reform and provides for action for the first time in Phase II. Phase III has again been extended with support from the President, military, and legislature.

-- a dialogue was begun with the guerrilla opposition and its political front. Although presently interrupted, the government is willing to renew the dialogue at any time;

-- the government's case against persons charged in the murder of four U.S. citizen churchwomen has gone to the trial stage, and a key arrest has been made in the case of murdered U.S. labor advisers;

-- the political parties and the democratic political process have been significantly revitalized, providing an increasingly strong framework for the holding of presidential elections now set for March 25, 1984; and

-- the government has intensified efforts to reduce and eliminate the infrastructure and activities of the violent right.

B. Institutional Evolution

The new constitution, completed on December 20, 1983, strengthens the rights of the individual; establishes safeguards against excessive provisional detention and unreasonable searches; establishes a republican, pluralistic form of government and strengthens the legislative and judicial branches. The constitution also increases guarantees for labor, particularly rural workers. In an effort to curb violence by extremists, the Assembly outlawed the existence of any armed group except for the government's Armed and Security Forces (and followed up with a strong public denouncement of terrorists of both the left and the right).

The process of drafting and promulgating the new constitution raised a variety of contentious issues to the surface of Salvadoran political life. One such issue, the future of the country's land reform, was eventually resolved with an agreement that protected two ongoing phases of the reform while enacting a compromise version of a third segment. During the debate over the articles covering the land reform, the Assembly was lobbied intensely by both campesino groups favoring the reform and private sector and other interests opposed to it.

The Assembly responded positively to the Archbishop of San Salvador on such matters as education and religious freedoms under a state of emergency. The Supreme Court and lawyers' association members were active in discussion of provisions relating to the legal system. Following a deadlock of several weeks over the death penalty, the Assembly's President and another key conservative changed their votes and it was abolished in all but one unusual circumstance.

In several cases, as can be expected in any democratic exercise, the resulting constitutional provision was not wholly satisfactory to everyone. But in the final analysis, the political parties proved their capacity to operate and reach legitimate compromise on a full spectrum of political issues, and they did so under close public scrutiny.

Concurrent with the drafting of the constitution -- which includes basic legal provisions concerning elections -- the Central Elections Council has been preparing an electoral law and an electoral register. The Legislative Assembly is expected to deal with the electoral law in the near future. Under the proposed law, elections will be open to all registered political parties. Any party, regardless of its ideology, that wishes to participate peacefully in the nation's political life will be allowed to register, providing it meets the technical administrative requirements established by the Central Elections Council. Efforts are underway to prepare an electoral register, with the assistance of the United States Agency for International Development, that could give an extra measure of integrity to the elections.

On November 22, 1983, the Constituent Assembly decreed that presidential elections will be held on March 25, 1984. All six of the parties represented in the Legislative Assembly now have chosen presidential candidates and a vigorous campaign is underway. Following the ratification of the new constitution, the Constituent Assembly was disbanded by President Magana and reconstituted -- with the same membership -- as the Legislative Assembly. Transitory articles in the new constitution stipulate that Legislative Assembly deputies and mayors will remain in their offices until April 30, 1985. Elections for these offices are thus expected to take place in the early part of 1985.

Participation of El Salvador's far left in elections remains problematical. El Salvador's Peace Commission has offered to discuss with the armed left and its political associates the modalities of participation in free elections, including physical security for candidates and access to media, but its offers have not been accepted. In two meetings held outside of El Salvador, guerrilla representatives have rejected participation in the elections. The guerrillas have been unable to show that they have a sizeable popular constituency, as demonstrated by their inability to disrupt the 1982 elections and their failure to match their military prowess with political gains. Many informed observers, including the Catholic Church, have publicly commented on the guerrillas' lack of a popular base. Nevertheless, it would clearly be best for El Salvador's institutional development if the far left were to accede to competition at the polls, participate fully in the national dialogue represented by the electoral process, and reflect the sentiments of its supporters through the mechanisms of representative democracy. The Administration will continue to foster this participation.

C. Human Rights

Many factors, some cultural and historical, others directly related to current political conflicts, have made violence endemic in El Salvador, which even before the beginning of the recent period of civil strife and terrorism was known for having the highest per capita rate of homicide in Central America. The uncertain security situation works against resolution of what was already a complicated problem. It should be noted, for example, that some crimes attributed to death squads probably actually involves common criminal activity disguised as political terrorism. Nevertheless, important progress has been made on the several fronts related to human rights.

1. A Decline in Violence against Civilians?

The number of press-reported civilian deaths attributable to political violence continues at an unacceptably high rate, but has dropped significantly. The number of disappearances reported in the press remained stable throughout the year except for an increase in September, the same month death squads began openly targeting university professors and trade union leaders suspected of "leftist" sympathies.

The last six months of 1983 saw a sharp decline in press-reported civilian deaths attributable to political violence. The average number of such deaths fell from 177 per month during the first half of 1983 to 104 per month during the last six months of 1983, a 41 percent decrease. The average for all of 1983 was 140 deaths per month compared to 219 in 1982 and 444 in 1981. Moreover, for four of the last six months in 1983 the number of press-reported deaths per month fell below 100 for the first time in recent years.

Statistics published by various private human rights organizations conflict with each other, some indicating a increase, some a decrease and some no change in civilian deaths. Monthly averages for the first six months of 1983, compared with the monthly average for July-November reported by these groups, are as follows: Human Rights Commission of El Salvador (CDHES): 378/414; Socorro Juridico Cristiano: 470/510: Oficina de Tutela Legal: 428/427; the Universidad Centroamericana's (UCA) Center for Documentation and Information: 188/106 (for July-October). Eleven-month totals for civilian deaths, by source, are: CDHES: 4342; Socorro Juridico Cristiano: 5373; Oficina de Tutela Legal: 4705; UCA: 1555 (10 months). (It should be noted that private human rights groups include as "civilian deaths" all battlefield casualties other than those suffered by the military.)

2. Right-Wing Violence

The overall decline in the number of civilian deaths attributable to political violence occurred despite a significant increase in death squad activity against prominent individuals, especially academics and labor leaders. The resurgence, which began in the second half of the year, appears to be a reaction to a number of significant political developments in El Salvador, including the ongoing, albeit limited, dialogue with the left; the upcoming presidential elections; labor-organized political strikes and intensive lobbying of the Constituent Assembly by unions in support of the land reform program; and an increasing concern on the part of the extreme right that it is losing influence in El Salvador.

Many right-wing death squads operate in El Salvador. They engage in kidnappings and assassinations and are characterized by their opposition to ongoing reform programs and by their targeting of persons with what they see as leftist sympathies. Most of these squads appear to have been operating for several years, but with varying degrees of openness and publicity. In July, the Secret Anti-Communist Army, joined in September by the Maximiliano Hernandez Martinez Brigade, began demanding and getting front-page coverage by newspapers and other media, which were often threatened with reprisals for failure to publicize the squads' communiques. Both of these groups have publicly claimed responsibility for kidnappings and murders. The squads sometimes attach placards or messages to the bodies of their tortured victims before dumping them in public places. Less publicity-hungry death squads operate in rural areas, kidnapping, torturing, and murdering their victims without claiming responsibility for these acts.

Since early September 1983, death squads have claimed responsibility for bombing the homes or establishments of persons and organizations thought by the right to have leftist sympathies, and for the kidnapping and murder of a number of university professors and labor leaders. Archbishop Rivera y Damas and Auxiliary Archbishop Rosa Chavez have been threatened. Political leaders have also received threatening phone calls. The Secret Anti-Communist Army has claimed to have captured three guerrilla leaders and offered to exchange them for three Salvadoran Army officers being held by the guerrillas.

The United States Government reacted strongly against the resurgence of death squad activity. Both President Reagan and Vice President Bush vigorously condemned the death squads. On November 25, 1983, Ambassador Pickering delivered a major speech in San Salvador calling for action by the government and a national consensus to repudiate the death squads. (Text at Appendix A)

Salvadoran government officials have also spoken out forcefully against this attempt by the extreme right to disrupt the political process, and some unprecedented initial actions have been taken to bring the death squads under control.

On September 23, 1983, El Salvador's Ministry of Defense issued a statement repudiating "all terrorist actions from whatever source because they constitute violations of human rights." On December 2, Minister of Defense Vides Casanova pledged "to bring before the law the members of these terrorist bands -- whoever they may be and whatever reasons they might give to justify their illegal activity" (text at Appendix B). On December 15, the High Command of the Salvadoran Armed Forces and commanders of the military and the Public Security Forces issued a statement endorsing the position of the Minister of Defense and pledging "to fight the death squads and the terrorist groups with all the means at our disposal until they are definitively eradicated from our country" (text at Appendix C). President Magana, in his December 23rd Christmas message to the nation, also spoke forcefully against the death squads, saying that to permit such activity is to promote a return to the law of the jungle. The President underscored his commitment and that of the Armed Forces' commanders to ensuring the physical security of the citizenry. The government's Political Commission and the Constituent Assembly have also spoken out forcefully against terrorists, including the death squads, as have political parties with a wide range of political philosophies.

In consonance with these statements, several officers who had been linked to the death squads were transferred to other posts in late November. In December, some of them were also ordered transferred to posts out of the country. On December 2, the National Police announced the arrest on charges of kidnapping of three members of the Constituent Assembly's security force. The arrests were made within 48 hours of the crime, and the suspects have since been consigned to the courts. The chief of that force, who has often been linked in the public mind with death squad activity, left his position with the change in Assembly leadership in late December. On December 18, the Minister of Defense announced that a specialized investigative unit would be organized to investigate and combat the death squads. The unit is expected to be operational in early 1984.

3. Government Forces

Elements of the Security Forces are believed to have been involved in or responsible for many disappearances. The number of press-reported civilian disappearances remained at 39 per month during the last six months of 1983, the same level as during the first half of the year. Two private human rights organizations report a decline in disappearances. Their monthly averages for January-June and July-November are as follows: CDHES: 34/22; Tutela Legal: 77/38.

It is not apparent to what extent government forces were involved in disappearances. In some cases of reported disappearances, the individuals were later found to be legally in government custody; in other cases, rightist and leftist terrorist groups are believed to have been responsible.

Charges of indiscriminate and politically-motivated violence have been leveled against the the Armed Forces. Investigations are still underway on the incident at Las Hojas where there is evidence that an army unit killed at least 18 unarmed campesinos in February, 1982. The local judge has completed his investigation into the February 1983 killings and expects to move the case to trial in the next few months. (The government's Human Rights Commission carried out its own investigation and delivered its report to President Magana.) In Zaragoza, La Libertad Department, there are indications that a civil defense force was involved in the November, 1982, kidnapping of seven men and two pregnant women later found dead in a ravine. This incident is under investigation. The Government of El Salvador has thus far not taken any action to investigate and bring to justice those responsible for the killings that occurred at Santa Elena and La Florida in 1982.

Some of the charges against government forces, such as those leveled against the Atlacatl Battalion in a November 3 action near Cinquera in Cabanas Department, appear to be exaggerated, misleading and probably false. In this particular case, after the alleged massacre was publicized by the guerrillas' Radio Venceremos, journalists visited the village of San Nicolas near Copapayo, where government troops were accused of herding 20 civilians into a house and then murdering them. Although the facts are still far from clear, there was apparently no evidence of gunfire within the house where the bodies were found, giving credibility to the government's account of a major military engagement in a nearby area from which bodies may have been brought to the house.

Salvadoran soldiers continue to be convicted and punished for common crimes including flagrant and violent abuse of authority. However, the Salvadoran government has not taken sufficient action to bring to justice those responsible for the incidents of major human rights abuse discussed above. To the Department's knowledge, no members of the Salvadoran armed forces have been convicted for any politically-inspired human rights abuse. However, on December 19, the National Police arrested Captain Eduardo Avila, who was wanted for questioning concerning the 1981 murder of two AIFLD officials and the head of the Salvadoran land reform agency.

Minister of Defense Vides Casanova has spoken out forcefully on the need to respect human rights, and he has taken some actions to demonstrate his determination in this matter. In November, he spoke to El Salvador's Command and General Staff College graduates. In his speech, he made an appeal for their assistance in strengthening the Armed Forces. He highlighted seven major points which have the solid support of the High Command, including support for the democratic process; maintaining the apolitical nature of the Armed Forces; and stressing the obligation of all members of the Armed Forces to fully respect the human rights of the people. The Minister of Defense has asked members of the Armed Forces and Security Forces to seek out all information available to develop evidence on any abuses committed by the uniformed services. As a follow-up to his points on the democratic process and the role of the Armed Forces, Gen. Vides directed on January 3 that the Armed Forces remain apolitical and non-partisan in the ongoing electoral campaigning being waged by the political parties. He ordered regional commanders to prepare regional plans to guarantee the electoral process and to cooperate as appropriate with elections officials.

On December 14, 1983, Gen. Vides issued a general order requiring Security Force members to be in uniform in virtually all cases when conducting arrests, to identify themselves while making the arrest, and to notify the Armed Forces Chiefs of Staff, the ICRC, the government's Human Rights Commission and the detainee's relatives. The order permits incarceration only in officially recognized places of detention and outlaws the use of torture.

The government's Human Rights Commission has continued both to investigate reports of human rights abuses and to speak to units of the Salvadoran Armed and Security Forces on the importance of respecting human rights. It has regular channels of communication to the military and Security Forces. From July to December 20 the Commission received 413 new complaints or inquiries, which were resolved as follows: 47 received protection from the Commission; 5 were found to have been kidnapped by the FMLN/FDR; 127 were under custody of the security forces; 18 were amnesty law beneficiaries; 11 were found to have been assassinated; and 205 cases remain under investigation. The Salvadoran government is now processing the Commission's request for additional funds to open, furnish and staff three new regional offices in Santa Ana, San Miguel and San Vicente and to expand the central office in San Salvador. At the Commission's instigation, local newspapers now carry regular features and columns on human rights issues in an effort to broaden public awareness of their importance. Minister of Defense Vides Casanova and Commission member Monsignor Fredy Delgado have visited various military instalations to speak about human rights, and National Police Director and Commission member Col. Lopez Nuila has presided over a conference on human rights and also addressed the National Salvadoran Indian Association on the topic.

Dr. Angel Ibarra, whose arrest in April 1983 by the National Police received extensive publicity in the United States, was released from custody on October 26 by order of President Magana. Other cases have been concluded by release of the detainee, including the extensively publicized cases of Dr. Ricardo Calderon of the University of El Salvador and Mardoqueo Carranza, a Protestant minister.

The Department of State continued to receive during 1983 reports that some prisoners held by the National Police have been subjected to torture either as arbitrary punishment or in an effort to extract information. Forms of alleged mistreatment include electric shock, beatings, and deprivation of food, water and sleep. In general, however, conditions at Salvadoran prisons are relatively decent, routine visits of the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC -- which also has access to National Police jails) are permitted, and there have been no recent allegations of mistreatment once a prisoner is remanded to prison. Measures to revitalize the legal system (Part D of this Section), along with the ongoing effort by the Salvadoran High Command to exert meaningful control over its forces, address some of the fundamental deficiencies underlying mistreatment of prisoners.

4. The Guerrillas

The guerrillas continue to be responsible for significant human rights violations, including murders. At least two labor leaders were killed by leftists this past year. Former CNT (ARENA Labor Front) Director Salvador "Bobby" Jimenez Molina died in Houston, Texas in December, 1983, of surgical complications following an assassination attempt by two presumed FPL terrorists. The FPL also claimed responsiblity in June, 1983, for the assassination of ARENA Deputy and former labor leader Rene Barrios Amaya. Barrios, along with Bobby Jimenez, was one of the founders of the CNT. Several retired and active duty officers have been gunned down on the streets of San Salvador, away from battle areas. In some instances, the guerrillas have taken credit for these attacks.

Guerrilla units also stage kidnappings for ransom. Because the families of kidnap victims generally try to avoid publicity in order to negotiate their release, these guerrilla kidnappings receive little media coverage. In addition to the 41 civilian deaths directly attributable to them by press reports during the July-November period, the guerrillas are also responsible for the deaths of a significant if indeterminate number of civilians who were forcibly recruited by the guerrillas and then used as a shield against government forces in combat situations. The guerrillas have conducted attacks on buses in which non-combatants, including minors, have been killed. They also interfere with the military's battlefield communications to redirect fire from military to civilian targets. Their responsibility for civilian casualties resulting from hostilities against the government is also obvious.

The guerrillas view political instability and economic chaos as key to their strategy of assuming power, and have proven adept at denying an atmosphere conducive to reform and democratic development. Because of guerrilla attacks against the economy, supplies of potable water are far worse than normal, pharmaceuticals are often in short supply, and unemployment has increased. Seasonal employment during the year-end harvest has been disrupted, particularly in the East, by guerrilla harassment. The guerrillas have fired on crop-dusting planes and in several cases wounded the pilots in an effort to prevent successful cultivation and harvest of crops. Guerrillas have vigorously attempted, with significant success, to disrupt the resettlement of displaced persons and refugees in their homes. The FPL was responsible for the massacres of two groups of military prisoners in 1983 and the murder of LT. Commander Albert Schaufelberger (below).

5. Murders and Disappearances of U.S. Citizens

There have been no reports of U.S. citizen disappearances since July, 1982, and no U.S. citizen is known to have been killed in El Salvador since the assassination of Lt. Commander Schaufelberger on May 25, 1983.

The Churchwomen

The case against ex-National Guardsmen accused of the December 1980 murder of four U.S. citizen churchwomen has continued to move through the Salvadoran judicial system and now seems likely to reach completion in early 1984. The ex-guardsmen remain in detention.

In December of 1982, the Salvadoran investigating judge eleva ed the case against the five ex-National Guardsmen to the plenario or final stage of the trial. The defense attorneys for the ex-guardsmen promptly appealed the judge's ruling. On March 11, 1983, an appellate court confirmed that the judge had properly elevated the case to the plenario with respect to the murder charges, but returned the case for further clarification concerning certain ancillary crimes such as theft. (Under Salvadoran law, a defendant must be tried simultaneously for all crimes committed during a criminal act.) This remand created the opportunity to admit into the record certain evidence analyzed by the FBI, such as ballistics tests, that had not been previously admissible because of the requirement of Salvadoran law that all such tests be conducted in El Salvador. With the help of an FBI ballistics expert, the National Police were also able to link a second defendant directly to the crime through examination of a rifle not available to the FBI during its initial tests. This evidence has been legally admitted and considerably strengthens the case against the defendants.

In response to congressional suggestions, the Secretary of State invited Judge Harold G. Tyler, a former Deputy Attorney General, to conduct a review of all materials available to the United States Government concerning this case and to recommend any further actions that the United States government might take to be helpful in these prosecutions. Judge Tyler has submitted his report, which the Department has provided to the Foreign Affairs Committee in the House and the Foreign Relations Committee in the Senate. The report has not been publicly released out of concern for its possible effect on the trial. The Government of El Salvador has accepted and substantially accomplished all of the recommendations made by Judge Tyler.

On October 28, 1983, the investigating judge once again elevated the case to plenario. The defense has now appealed the elevation and the Department expects a decision from the Court of Appeals early this year. If, as is hoped, the court sustains the elevation, the plenario stage will continue. It should take two to two-and-a-half months to complete the plenario stage, which ends with the vista publica, or presentation of the case to the jury for a verdict.

The American Institute for Free Labor Development (AIFLD) Consultants

The Salvadoran Attorney General is continuing to pursue the prosecution in the murders of Michael Hammer and Mark Pearlman, which has been plagued by adverse rulings by the Salvadoran courts. Last April 29, the Appellate Court in San Vicente denied the Attorney General's appeal of the investigating judge's decision to dismiss provisionally charges against Lt. Rodolfo Lopez Sibrian and to dismiss definitively the charges against Ricardo Sol Meza and Hans Christ. Unless overturned by the Supreme Court, this decision closes judicial proceedings against Sol Meza and Christ. Although the court ordered the charges against Hans Christ dismissed for lack of evidence, there remain unanswered questions concerning the extent of his involvement in the murders.

The dismissal of charges against Lopez Sibrian was a major setback, particularly because of the substantial body of evidence indicating that Lopez Sibrian ordered two guardsmen to commit the murders. Given the substance of the available information, the Department believes that, in the interest of justice, the extent of the alleged participation of Lopez Sibrian and Christ in the murders should be determined by a full trial on the merits. In an effort to reverse the Appellate Court decision, the Attorney General has appealed that decision to the Supreme Court, claiming that substantial procedural errors were committed by the courts below. If the Supreme Court concurs with the Attorney General, the case against Sibrian, Christ and Sol Meza could be returned to the trial court and the merits of the substantive case reopened. The Department remains hopeful that the Supreme Court's decision will be rendered soon. Even in the Supreme Court rules against the Attorney General, until April 1984 he may exercise a legal right to introduce new evidence against Lt. Lopez Sibrian. After that time, the case against him will be definitively closed.

In a positive devopment in a companion case, the Appellate Court affirmed a lower court decision to commence full trial proceedings against the two ex-guardsmen who have confessed to being directly responsible for carrying out the murders. Under Salvadoran procedural rules, the trial of the ex-guardsmen cannot take place, however, while the remainder of the murder case is before the Supreme Court. If the Court upholds the dismissal of charges against Sol Meza and Christ, then the trial of the ex-guardsmen can proceed. If, however, the Supreme Court strikes down the decision to dismiss charges, the trial will have to wait the outcome of further proceedings against Sol Meza and Christ.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights

The arrest of Capt. Avila in December, 1983, is a major development in this case. He had been charged with an infraction of military discipline which carries a penalty of 30 days' detention. The Attorney General intends to take advantage of his arrest to question him concerning his role in this case. According to the testimony of the confessed gunmen, Avila and Lopez Sibrian provided them with the weapons they used to murder the AIFLD advisers.

In spite of threats, intimidation, and adverse judicial rulings affecting the prosecution of the AIFLD murder case, the Salvadoran executive branch continues to make a good faith effort to bring to justice those responsible.

John Sullivan

John J. Sullivan was killed in El Salvador, apparently during the night of December 28, 1980. His body, mutilated beyond recognition, was found near Nuevo Cuscatlan on the morning of December 29, 1980, and buried the following day. Based on an anonymous tip, the Salvadoran authorities located Mr. Sullivan's body in June 1982, and it was positively identified in the United States in February 1983. The American medical examiner was unable to determine the cause of Mr. Sullivan's death, nor was he able to find any forensic evidence that might assist in finding the killers. The anonymous tip indicating the location of Sullivan's grave came from a man who chanced to pick up local gossip while passing through Nuevo Cuscatlan. The Salvadoran authorities continue to investigate the circumstances surrounding Sullivan's death, but they have been able to make little progress in learning the identity of his killers.

Michael Kline

Salvadoran soldiers shot and killed Michael Kline on October 13, 1982. He had been traveling through El Salvador by public bus en route to Costa Rica. The soldiers stopped his bus at a checkpoint. Apparently, the soldiers decided that there was something suspicious about Mr. Kline, so they took him off the bus and put him on a truck with the intention of taking him to their headquarters at San Francisco Gotera. The soldiers killed Mr. Kline before they got to San Francisco Gotera, claiming that he tried to grab a gun and, failing that, tried to escape. Although the soldiers originally stated that they shot Mr. Kline from a distance during an escape attempt, an autopsy revealed that the shots were fired at close range.

The Salvadoran military began an investigation into the killing. The Salvadoran Minister of Defense turned the three soldiers present at the shooting over to the civilian courts. Currently the three soldiers remain under detention on suspicion murder. The judge in San Francisco Gotera who was conducting his own investigation of the killing was transferred. A new judge was very recently named, and has already begun to implement the steps necessary to complete the investigative stage of case. The new judged stated that he was told by the Supreme Court to give top priority to this case.

Lt. Commander Albert Schaufelberger

Lt. Commander Albert Schaufelberger, Deputy Commander of the U.S. Military Assistance Group in El Salvador, was killed on the campus of the University of Central America in San Salvador on May 25, 1983. The Popular Liberation Forces (FPL), an extreme left-wing guerrilla faction, and the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front (FMLN), the umbrella organization of the five guerrilla organizations, claimed responsibility for the murder. Salvadoran authorities arrested and obtained a confession from an FPL member, Daniel Alvarado Rivera. However, after an investigation involving polygraphic examinations and a comparison of the confession with the physical evidence, the United States Government has concluded that the accused was not involved in the murder and that he had confessed to the crime under duress. Additional leads are now being developed and investigated.

Patricia Cuellar

Patricia Cuellar, a dual Salvadoran-American citizen, disappeared from her residence in San Salvador on July 18, 1982. Twenty-four hours later her Salvadoran father, an executive director of a major businessmen's association, and his maid, also disappeared. An eyewitness interviewed by the National Police and polygraphed by the FBI was unable to offer any information that would have identified the abductors. President Magana and then-Defense Minister Garcia assured the Embassy that no branch of the Government of El Salvador was involved in the abductions. There are still no leads as to Ms. Cuellar's whereabouts. The Salvadoran Government investigators are continuing their investigation into the case.

D. The Legal System

At the heart of any free society are legal institutions with popular confidence and respect. Where the system of justice is slow, uncertain, open to influence or closed to the poor, the respect for law and order which must lie at the base of any democratic system will corrode.

El Salvador's leaders have gradually come to accept that the need for a major renovation of their legal system can be openly and freely discussed, and is allied with, not hostile to, the democratic values and objectives under attack from political extremes.

1983 saw a major shift in attitude toward legal reform and the first tangible steps to address the problems plaguing the administration of justice. It has been just over a year since then-Ambassador Deane Hinton, in an address to the American Chamber of Commerce in San Salvador on October 29, 1982, forcefully reviewed the failures of the legal system and challenged Salvadorans to admit these flaws and come to terms with them. The reaction then was to bristle at "foreign intervention" in domestic affairs, and there are factions that continue to find the disabilities of the judicial system to be in their own interest. A consensus is slowly forming, nonetheless, that changes are overdue. The United States stands ready to lend assistance to this process. Legal authorities and funding available for ongoing initiatives to support legal reform activities have just been expanded by the U.S. Congress. Discussions with Salvadoran authorities are underway.

The Challenges to the Legal System

The roots of current problems in El Salvador are historical and political and have resulted in a theoretical structure voided by a lack of respect for and faith in the law. The courts have suffered from lack of independence in matters of political importance and from a chronic indifference toward the resource and other needs of an effective judicial system. The recent cycle of political violence and economic depression has brought about strains that even a more healthy judicial system would have difficulty accommodating. In the case of El Salvador, the result has been the effective collapse of the administration of criminal justice in cases with political overtones.

The renovation of the legal system is directly tied to the success or failure of democracy in El Salvador. The host of problems facing the legal system have practical manifestations, but practical solutions addressed to particular resource, training or structual problems alone cannot suffice in themselves. Beyond that, there must be a change of societal will to construct a fair and effective legal system that will defend order and convict perpetrators of violence. It must be recognized that this will take time. The acute deficiencies that Salvadoran legal reform must address touch all parts of the legal process and are fundamentally interrelated:

-- The judicial career, below the level of the Supreme Court, is not prestigious. The independence of the judiciary has been limited by political appointments, short tenure, and a lack of authority to make constitutional law with effect beyond the particular case before the courts. Cases of subversion, terrorism, and political crimes covered by state of emergency Decree 507 have been removed from the jurisdiction of the civilian the regularly-constituted military courts.

-- The resources of the court system are minimal. Salaries are very low, judges earning half or less of what they might expect to earn in private practice. Outside practice is the norm, thus giving rise to possible conflicts of interest. The court system's budget, which is 1.2 percent of normal government revenues, permits only part-time operation. Some courts of first instance have only five dollars per month for overhead. The legal system is plagued by the unavailability of basic legal materials. There is no training program for judges or staff. In fact, local justices of the peace not only are untrained in the law, but often are uneducated. The Supreme Court's medical examiners lack trained personnel and the equipment to perform their functions.

-- The budget and other resources of the Fiscal, or Solicitor General, responsible in the Executive Branch for prosecution of all criminal cases in the country, likewise are severely constrained. Like the courts, the Fiscalia works half-days at low salaries. There are only 30 lawyers on its staff; most of the work is done by the approximately 60 law students in its employ. Training is acquired on the job.

-- At present, El Salvador has no effective ability to conduct sophisticated criminal investigations. The National Police have some trained investigators and a modest criminal laboratory capability. But there is much reliance on confessions obtained under questionable circumstances, which are routinely thrown out by the courts. Neither the Fiscalia, nor the courts (charged in the civil law system with investigation and preparation of evidence for trial) have the trained personnel or the technical resources to conduct adequate criminal investigations, and they do not have jurisdiction over Security Force investigations. The inability of police to cogently investigate a case, the Fiscalia to prosecute it effectively, and the courts to remedy investigative defects or produce convictions contributed, with the special strains of a guerrilla war, to the rise of extra-legal means of action by Security Forces and others in the society.

--The Judiciary, the Fiscalia and police are all competitors in the acquisition of the technical means to conduct modern criminal investigation. This competition among decentralized players makes the process of introducing sophisticated investigative techniques all the more difficult, and remedial measures are under study. Many advanced civil law systems in the region have fashioned their own responses through such devices as the judicial investigative organ of the Costa Rican Supreme Court, a possible model for El Salvador.

-- The poor rate of convictions in criminal cases -- and the slow pace of procedure -- are glaring. These problems are most acute in politically sensitive cases, particularly cases of abuse of authority by members of the Security Forces, cases of murder of U.S. citizens, and cases falling under Decree 507. While any discussion based on available Salvadoran statistics must be highly qualified, of over 1,100 such proceedings initiated in the courts in the past three years only a handful have resulted to date in a full trial and conviction. Almost all abuse-of-authority cases referred to the civilian courts have been routinely dismissed.

As Americans well know from watching developments in the cases of murdered U.S. citizens, proceedings move slowly. A 1978 case has just resulted in a verdict of guilty against six ex-National University policemen accused of murdering a dean, a student and two others during campus disturbances. This case illustrates that when murders with any political overtones are prosecuted at all, prosecution is difficult and time-consuming. Even in politically, less-sensitive cases of murder and other felonies, the rate of conviction is estimated at only 10-20 percent.

-- The problem of intimidation is subtle. Any outspoken or prominent person in El Salvador is subject to great personal risk. Incidents of attacks on judges or their families have been relatively infrequent. Overt threats are also rare. Although inicdents of attack or explicit threat are fewer than most Americans would imagine, the intimidation factor works more pervasively and less visibly. Adjudication of a complaint against a Security Force member, for example, would simply be assumed to court a risk of retaliation, even if unstated. In this climate, physical security measures for participants in sensitive cases -- judges, lawyers, jurors, witnesses -- are necessary and urgent. There are now none. Because of the risks to personal safety, and the low income from court appointments, there are few competent defense lawyers in the country, and fewer still willing to take on particularly sensitive cases.

-- The emergency Decree 507, as amended by Decree 943, has failed to assure due process to political and terrorist detainees, and, in the absence of virtually any trial activity, has become a system of preventive detention. Of over 565 Decree 507 detainees release by presidential action or amnestied this year, none had ever been in court. The civilian court system has limited power to intervene in Decree 507 cases, but the Supreme Court may review cases under the Writ of Exhibicion Personal (personal exhibition) -- analogous to habeas corpus and order the release of deatinees. A constitutional challenge to the emergency law has been pending before the Supreme Court since early 1983.

-- Salvadoran codes and procedures require modernization in a number of areas, despite the relatively recent date of the criminal and criminal procedure codes. Evidentiary rules are cumbersome and outdated, and still emphasize eyewitness and documentary testimony. There are frequent opportunities for interlocutory appeals, which have greatly delayed the progress of cases such as that of the American churchwomen.

-- Legal educational standards have fallen. The former seven-year curriculum for law students has been shortened to five. Libraries are poor. The five law schools in the country have varying reputations; but in general the Salvadoran bar considers the quality of today's law school graduates to be low.

-- The bar itself is also part of the problem. It has resisted creation of a mandatory, unified bar organization, and has been reluctant until this year to engage in lobbying on issues of concern to it. There are five, largely social associations of lawyers with no role in legal education or providing basic services to bar members, enforcement of professional standards or judicial selection.

Salvadoran Initiatives

President Magana, himself a former law professor, has taken the lead in fostering steps to address the systemic failure of the administration of justice. He constituted a Judicial Reform Study Commission in the spring, composed of representatives of the Supreme Court, the Constituent Assembly Legislative and Constitutional Committees and Executive Branch agencies. This commission was charged with laying the groundwork for the current public phase of legal reform activity, and with preparation of a revision of Decree 507. A revision was drafted, designed to afford greater due process to detainees and more timely procedures; but futher action on replacing Decree 507 was deferred to await completion of work on the constitution.

The preparatory work led to the announcement of creation of two commissions to carry on legal reform work. On September 26, 1983, President Magana signed Decree 81 establishing the Revisory Commission on Penal Legislation, subsequently re-styled the Revisory Commission for the Judicial Criminal System, the Criminal Code, and the Criminal Procedural Code. The Decree takes note of the need for "complete revision of the present legislation regarding investigation, trial and sentencing of criminal acts" and for complementary changes in "systems or procedures to guarantee its efficient application." The Revisory Commission, which was sworn in on December 21, is composed of seven members, led by a former deputy foreign minister and representing a variety of public and private institutions. The Revisory Commission is charged with a broad mandate to recommend to the President codal and procedural reforms in the criminal justice field, and legal or regulatory changes to improve the judical system generally. The recommendations of the law faculties and private bar groups will be sought by the new commission, which will report within six months.

The Supreme Court, on September 9, 1983, created a Commission on Penal Reform, composed of three Supreme Court justices headed by Justice Samuel Cardenas, an appellate judge, and two private attorneys experienced in the field of criminal law. The creation of the Supreme Court commission reflects the formal role of the Court under the 1962 Constitution in proposing legislation, a feature curtailed in the new Constitution (see below). The two Commissions plan to work independently but will collaborate wherever possible.

The Constitution that went into effect on December 20, 1983 addressed certain critical problems in the Articles on the Judiciary. Among the changes:

-- A new Constitutional Law Chamber of the Supreme Court was created composed of five justices, with the power of constitutional review of all laws (at present, Supreme Court decisions on the constitutionality of laws affect only the particular case before it); this Chamber will also process Writs of Personal Exhibition which is expected to accelerate disposition of these cases.

-- The Supreme Court's previous power to initiate bills along with the Executive and the Legislature is limited. This power will henceforth be confined to proposing laws relating to the Judiciary and notarial functions. There was concern that expanded powers to review the constitutionality of laws could involve potential conflicts of interest in cases in which the Court had proposed the legislation under attack.

-- The Supreme Court is empowered to prepare its own budget presentation, and the Executive must transmit it to the legislature without change as part of the general budget.

-- Judges of the second instance (appellate level), as well as first instance and justices of the peace will now be named by the Supreme Court instead of being elected by the Legislature.

-- A National Council of the Judiciary will be established to propose individuals for first and second instance judgeships and to oversee their performance. Implementing legislation will decide the membership of the Council, but the purpose is to include the various lawyers' associations in the process along with judicial officials.

-- Supreme Court terms have been lengthened to five-year renewable terms; the entire Supreme Court will be elected by the Legislature pursuant to these provisions.

-- Judges of the first and second instance will be appointed to three-year terms, which are to be automatically renewed unless the incumbent is removed for professional or ethical reasons.

-- The long-deferred law on the judicial career is to be enacted, regulating judicial qualifications and standards of performance.

-- The constitution provides that the Fiscal may organize and direct an Office of Criminal Investigation. The precise functions of this office and its relationship with the investigative function of the Security Forces is now clear.

The Articles relating to the Judiciary were approved with relatively little controversy in the Constituent Assembly, but saw for the first tinme in recent years vigorous public discussion and lobbying by the Bar associations and the Judiciary. This activism itself is a very positive development.

On balance, the changes point toward greater judicial independence and provide a basis on which further reform activity can be built. The actions of the Constituent Assembly, and the attendant lobbying, are encouraging signs that the necessity of legal reforms has been recognized and accepted.

U.S. Actions

Existing funding authorities for certain legal reform activities under the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, as amended have been helpfully expanded by the Congress in order to permit the United States to more actively assist the Salvadoran Government in critical areas. The FY-1984 Continuing Resolution earmarks not less than $3,000,000 of economic support fund monies for programs and projects in El Salvador to promote the creation of judicial investigative capabilities, protection for key participants in pending judicial cases, and modernization of penal and evidentiary codes. These programs may be funded notwithstanding the provisions of Section 660 of the Act, which otherwise prohibits assistance to law enforcement forces."

The Continui.g Resolution has opened the possiblity of significant support for the activities of the Legal Reform Commissions, and discussions have begun about possible areas of assistance. Pursuant to this authority, the United States is working with the Salvadoran Government on development of a pilot project to provide protection for participants in the judicial process. A team of U.S. Marshals traveled to El Salvador last July to discuss United States programs and practices in this area, and will return to El Salvador in January, 1984, to help refine a concrete proposal. The United States will assist with technical advice, professional training, and needed detection and other equipment. Similar efforts are underway to provide the Judiciary with a professional investigative capability. As noted previously, creation of such a capability raises difficult bureaucratic questions which the Salvadoran Government has yet to resolve.

The Administration has signaled its great concern about renovation of the Salvadoran legal system in a series of visits, including that of Attorney General Smith last April, and a number of working-level and technical delegations. Senator Arlen Specter has visited Salvador twice this year to reinforce congressional concerns about progress in legal reforms and the pending case of the murdered U.S. churchwomen. Successful conclusion of this case will be an important achievement, for both countries, and would be evidence in itself of the revival of Salvadoran legal institutions.

A number of ongoing U.S. initiatives, in El Salvador and regionally, are also making a contribution. Under a grant to the Latin American Institute for the Prevention of Crime and Treatment of Offenders (ILANUD), based in San Jose, Costa Rica, an expert team will visit El Salvador, as well as other countries in the region, to meet with the Legal Reform Commission and other groups, and to develop specific, cooperative proposals for further action. An ILANUD team is expected to visit El Salvador in February, 1984. In July and August, 1983, seven Salvadoran lawyers participated in a four-week, international-visitors grant program in the United States, and another Salvadoran attorney was able to attend an international conference on the independence of the judiciary held on Montreal (this attorney is now Executive Secretary of the Revisory Commission). The United States has provided a list of specialized U.S. Government training courses open to qualified candidates, and has funded a regional conference, to be held by the Costa Rican Bar Association in March, 1984, on the role of bar associations in Central America. A graduate scholarship program in criminal, agrarian and administrative law to be held by the University of Costa Rica Law School will include Salvadorans. Other initiatives, such as a regional judicial training course for judges, are under development. Given the similar range of problems affecting the legal systems of Central American and Caribbean Basin countries, whose legal systems are based on civil rather than common law, cooperative programs by national institutions and regional organs such as the OAS (which is developing a legal reform assistance program with U.S. encouragement) and ILANUD are a potentially important complement to bilateral programs.

E. Dialogue

The Government of El Salvador has undertaken a major initiative to promote a peaceful, democratic political solution to the armed conflict in that country. The government and the political parties of which it is composed agree that the political future of El Salvador should be determined through democratic elections in which the entire population can express its political preferences. They are opposed, however, to a division of political power on the basis of a deal without popular elections (i.e., the guerrillas' demand for power-sharing).

In order to establish fair conditions for democratic elections, the Salvadoran Peace Commission (composed of a prominent businessman and party leader, a leading bishop, and an ex-foreign minister) was created by the government's Political Commission to serve as a vehicle for dialogue with the armed and unarmed elements in opposition to the government. The Peace Commission reports directly to the authoritative Political Commission (a group composed of the President, three Vice Presidents, Defense and Foreign Ministers, and representatives of the major parties).

The Administration fully supports El Salvador's determination to allow its population to decide its own political future. To this end, President Reagan has charged his Special Envoy for Central American Negotiations, Ambassador Richard B. Stone, with the task of supporting and facilitating dialogue between the Salvadoran Peace Commission and opposition elements. Ambassador Stone is also tasked with consulting with participants in the Contadora process -- a regional diplomatic effort designed to advance peace, democratization and economic cooperation in the region.

UNCLASSIFIED DECLASSIFIED RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights

Internal Dialogue

On July 9, 1983, pursuant to a request of the Salvadoran Political Commission, Ambassador Stone sought to meet in San Jose, Costa Rica with representatives of the guerrilla FMLN coalition and the FDR political coalition which has allied itself with the guerrillas. The purpose of the San Jose contact was to facilitate a meeting between the FMLN/FDR and the Peace Commission. The Stone meeting, however, did not take place because of unacceptable pre-conditions posed by the FMLN/FDR for what was supposed to be a meeting without conditions.

On July 31, 1983, Ambassador Stone, with the authorization of the Salvadoran Political Commission, held a preliminary contact in Bogota, Colombia with the representative of the FMLN/FDR. As a result of this meeting, the FMLN/FDR dropped its earlier pre-conditions for a more formal meeting.

Accordingly, on August 30, 1983, Ambassador Stone met with an FMLN/FDR delegation in San Jose, Costa Rica to discuss the establishment of direct contact between the FMLN/FDR and the Peace Commission. Simultaneously, on August 29, 1983, in Bogota, Colombia, the Peace Commission held its first preliminary contact with the FMLN/FDR to work out procedures for a substantive meeting.

The substantive meeting of the Peace Commission and the FMLN/FDR was held in Bogota, Colombia on September 29, 1983. The Peace Commission offered to begin discussions with the FMLN/FDR on all relevant issues (such as candidates' security and access to mass media) related to the holding of democratic elections. The FMLN/FDR rejected the offer and responded with its view that it should be given an immediate share of political power. Moreover, it demanded that its guerrilla fighters be integrated intact into the Salvadoran Armed Forces while reserving for itself the right to purge and reorganize the government's military. The leftists' demands were considered completely unacceptable and antithetical to the democratic process which began with the election in 1982.

With the exception of informal communications, there have been no further meetings of Ambassador Stone or the Peace Commission with the FMLN/FDR. The Salvadoran Peace Commission has indicated, however, that it is ready to resume dialogue as soon as the FMLN/FDR alters its current opposition to discussion of elections and the ongoing democratic process.

The Contadora Process

The Government of El Salvador has been an active participant in the Contadora process along with its four Central American neighbors (including Nicaragua) and the Contadora group (Mexico, Venezuela, Colombia, and Panama). The United States has supported such participation, and Ambassador Stone has consulted repeatedly with the Salvadoran and other governments on the Contadora process. In these consultations and the Contadora ministerials and technical group meetings, the Government of El Salvador has produced a number of constructive suggestions for facilitating progress.

The Government of El Salvador approved the Document of Objectives which emerged from the Contadora Ministerial of September 7-10, 1983. Under the 21 points included in the document, the Salvadoran Government and the other governments of Central America commit themselves to agreed on verifiable measures to end subversion of one state by another, limit arms and foreign advisors, and promote democratization and national reconciliation.

Currently, the Government of El Salvador is participating in efforts within the Contadora process to elaborate a treaty or treaties comprehensively implementing the 21 objectives. At the January 7-8, 1984 meeting of the Contadora group, El Salvador and the other Central American states agreed on the establishment of three working groups to develop specific recommendations to implement and verify commitments on political, security, and socio-economic issues. The Administration has fully supported, through the Stone mission and in other forums, comprehensive implementation of the Contadora 21 objectives on a regional basis. The Administration views such a regional, comprehensive, peaceful formula as the best formula for ensuring long-term stability in the area.

IV. ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

The preceding section on political development addresses fundamental issues regarding an individual's right to a voice in the conduct of government, to freedom from repressive measures against body and mind, and to an effective and equitable system of institutional justice. The failure of Salvadoran society to provide adequately for these rights has played a major role in creating the problems now faced by the country. Equally important, however, has been the historical pattern of economic injustice, a pattern not easily ended, but now being aggressively tackled by the Salvadoran government. Along with the problems inherent in reversing old societal structures are the more current problems of guerrilla sabotage of the economic infrastructure and an international climate that is not conducive to growth in El Salvador's traditional fields of economic endeavor. This section discusses the economic obstacles to improving the lot of Salvadorans as well as the steps and reforms being taken to overcome them.

A. Economic Overview

Before 1960, the economy of El Salvador was depended mainly on a few subsistence crops and coffee. However, the creation of the Central American Common Market (CACM) stimulated the development of the manufacturing sector. This helped El Salvador to achieve average real growth during the 1960s and 1970s of more than 5 percent a year. At the same time, however, population increased from 2.6 million in 1960 to 4.8 million in 1980. Industry was unable to provide jobs for most new entrants into the labor force, and the country's limited size and concentration of land ownership stifled opportunities for the growing campesino population to become independent landholders.

The military leadership installed by the October 1979 coup supported -- and in some cases directly implemented -- a series of sweeping economic reforms, including expropriation of agrarian lands and nationalization of the financial system and of coffee and sugar marketing operations. The reformist junta led by Jose Napoleon Duarte (March 1980-May 1982) and the Government of National Unity in power since May 1982 have subsequently faced the problems of a rapidly deteriorating economy amidst violence from both the extreme left and extreme right.

Since 1979, gross domestic product (GDP) has fallen by about 25 percent in real terms, exports have dropped by 40 percent, and unemployment and chronic underemployment may be as high as 40 percent. The violence has triggered large-scale capital flight, reduced public and private investment by 48 and 74 percent respectively, interfered with production and exports, and generated fear and uncertainty in the private sector. Depressed commodity prices, declining CACM and developed country demand for manufactured goods, high interest rates and the sharp oil price increases of 1979-80 have been costly to the Salvadoran operations and maintaining public and social services also has contributed to a growing and increasingly onerous debt burden.

Short-term economic prospects for El Salvador remain poor. Although GDP is not expected to decline again in 1983, the economy has stagnated at an intolerably low level of activity. Urban unemployment remains high and has been exacerbated by large numbers of displaced persons from the regions affected by the fighting. Inflation is not yet a major problem, but at 10-13 percent and climbing, it is high by Salvadoran standards. Recovery is hampered by the financial and economic effects of fighting an ongoing guerrilla war.

The economic fall-out of the guerrilla violence is a concern of the first order for the Government of El Salvador. Indeed, the guerrillas themselves acknowledge that economic deterioration is a key ingredient in their strategy to bring down the government. The attacks by guerrillas on the basic infrastructure, especially the transportation and electrical energy sectors, have been persistent, successful and extremely costly. Direct damage to the economy from guerrilla sabotage is estimated to be more than $800 million since 1979. Recently the guerrillas have, with disturbing success, increased their attacks on the agricultural sector, which accounts for a quarter of GDP, nearly half of employment, and two-thirds of the country's exports.

In addition, Salvadoran economic recovery is prevented by a scarcity of foreign exchange. Political and security uncertainties caused foreign private credit to contract by about $250 million between 1978 and 1982; this contraction has had a particularly depressing effect on imports on spare parts, machinery and raw materials. At the same time, the unrest has led to a further reduction of foreign exchange availabilities through capital flight.

To ameliorate the foreign exchange problem and help El Salvador toward economic stabilization, a one-year International Monetary Fund standby credit for $47.4 million was put in place during 1982. A $36.2 million compensatory financing facility was approved at the same time. The performance of the Salvadoran Government in meeting the IMF-imposed targets was good, and all IMF funds were disbursed. Negotiation of a new standby for 1984 is expected to begin once a new Salvadoran Government has been elected.

Additional balance of payments support from the U.S. Agency for International Development is discussed below.

B. Land Reform

The Government of El Salvador continues to make documented progress on implementing the agrarian reform program. Over the past three and a half years, much has been accomplished through land reform despite efforts of extremists on both the left and the right to obstruct the program. Under the land reform's two currently active phases, landless farm laborers and tenant farmers are purchasing the land they have tilled while payments are being made to former owners by the Salvadoran Government. A new stage of the reform will make additional land available for the landless.

Approximately 23 percent of the country's land in farms has now been handed over to campesinos and cooperatives. As of the end of November 1983, some 90,951 farmers had received land through the land reform program, as compared to 83,183 in June 1983. Including their families, more than 545,000 people -- some 18 percent of the rural population -- are now benefitting from the reform. This is an increase of 45,000 over the June 1983 total.

Phase I: Under Decree 154 (dated March 5, 1980), individual land holdings in excess of 1,235 acres (500 hectares) and some smaller properties voluntarily offered for sale have been taken by the government and turned into cooperatives of former workers and tenants. Fifteen percent of the country's farmland has been affected by Phase I, and 317 cooperatives have been formed. Most will soon begin their fourth year of operation. These cooperatives have 31,359 members or about 188,000 beneficiaries when family members are included.

With the exception of sugar and rice, yields of basic grains and export crops are higher than the national average. Phase I farms recorded increases in yields per hectare for the important crops of coffee and cotton in 1983 compared to 1982 harvests. However, there was a drop of 15 percent in area planted from 1982 to 1983 because of continued low world market prices for exports and violence in the countryside.

The quality of farm management is a critical factor in the success of agrarian reform cooperatives. ISTA, the GOES agency responsible for the implementation of Phase I, has inaugurated a program to strengthen the managerial capacity of the agrarian reform cooperatives. Toward this end, in cooperation with lending institutions and campesino organizations, a list of 105 qualified and approved farm managers and 45 accountants has recently been developed. As of November 16, 1983, twenty-three farm managers had been placed, and twenty-one additional requests for farm managers were being processed. One farm accountant has been placed.

Phase II: The original agrarian reform law provided for transfer of ownership of all farms over 247 acres (100 hectares) not covered by Phase I. The administrative complexity and economic costs of such a massive dislocation soon forced even the reform's authors to concede the unworkability of Phase II under that definition. After more than two years of national discussion, and extended debate in the Constituent Assembly, the new constitution, promulgated December 20, 1983, contains an article which will restructure and revive Phase II. Under Article 105, owners of more than 605 acres (245 hectares) will be required to sell the excess within three years to campesinos, their associations, or other small farmers. Failure to comply will permit the government to immediately expropriate the land without prior compensation. Although the new cutoff is higher than that sought by campesino groups, it represents a major compromise by El Salvador's more conservative factions, and is a clear step forward from the state of limbo in which Phase II had previously languished.

The farms to be affected under Phase II are medium-sized and among El Salvador's most productive. Observers estimate that the amount of land to be affected will range from 30,000 to 70,000 acres. By relying on private market sales, Phase II should escape much of the political rancor surrounding the other two Phases. It is too early to comment on implementation of the redefined Phase II, but the new structure is fully consistent with the goals of the land reform to reduce the concentration of agricultural production in a few hands and to open the land to new ownership. The new Phase II will also serve to resolve owner uncertainty and free all Phase II lands for sale immediately, which whould stimulate agricultural production and investment in the short term.

Phase III: Under Decree 207 of April 28, 1980, former tenant farmers and shareholders are entitled to purchase the land they worked at a price determined by the implementing agency of the Salvadoran Government, FINATA. Compensation is to be based on the former owner's assessment of the value of the land in his 1976-1977 tax declarations. In the absence of these tax declarations, a fair value is computed based on the soil characteristics of the land. Implementation of Phase III follows three basic steps:

(1) Acceptance by FINATA of the beneficiary's application. This gives provisional title to the applicant, user rights and certain provisional legal rights of ownership. In effect, this represents de facto implementation of the reform, since the beneficiary no longer owes rent and can cultivate the land as his own.

(2) A field inspection by FINATA agents develops a land survey and provides most of the information necessary to final titling.

UNCLASSIFIED DECLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

(3) Payment of compensation and issuance of final title represents de jure implementation and completes the process of transferring ownership.

Numerous problems have surfaced between the initial issuance of a provisional title and the final determinations necessary for final titling. Some delays are based on resistance by former owners, who can impede the process by suing for higher compensation. Guerrilla attacks and threats against FINATA inspectors have impeded the land surveys necessary.

But, as of mid-December 1983, 60,366 persons had filed petitions for land, or 53 percent of those estimated to be eligible by the Government of El Salvador. This ratio stood at 43 percent in June, 1983. Including family members, more than 357,000 Salvadorans are now moving under Phase III toward ownership of the land they work. The number of property owners compensated stood at 480 in November, an increase of 375 during 1983.

In July 1983, FINATA, the Phase III implementing agency, began a mobile campaign to increase the number of applicants as well as to speed up the compensation process and the granting of definitive titles. During the period July 25, 1983, when the campaign began, to December 9, 1983:

-- 9,246 farmers filed title petitions for 10,624 parcels of land.
-- 11,458 provisional titles were issued.
-- 2,170 definitive titles were completed.
-- 176 landowners were compensated.

Evictions: Illegal evictions of and violence against Decree 207 beneficiaries by disgruntled former owners continue to be a problem. As the criteria for Phase III land transfers involve the way owners used land, as opposed to the size of their holdings, many who have lost land under Phase III are not wealthy. There is some evidence that most violence and illegal evictions come from the former owners of the smallest, not largest, Phase III farms. The Armed Forces have shown strong support for Phase III through their actions to reinstall beneficiaries on their new land.

Defining an evictee as anyone for whatever reason who is unable to work land to which he feels entitled, some peasant organizations have claimed that over ten thousand farmers have been evicted. In an effort to get an accurate measure of the dimensions of the eviction problem, the Government of El Salvador's Office of Agrarian Reform Evaluation (PERA) undertook a survey in June 1983. The study obtained estimates of the number of Phase III beneficiaries who had been illegally evicted from their lands by interviewing as many campesinos as possible on 330 properties chosen at random throughout the country. (Evictees are defined by FINATA as those who had filed a Decree 207 application and subsequently been denied access to the property.) PERA's study indicated that 11.0 percent of Phase III benificiaries had been evicted.

Evictions of Decree 207 beneficiaries and legal "oppositions" by former owners are still a problem, and the upcoming election campaign followed by the planting season will likely aggravate the situation. Close monitoring and continued quick action by FINATA and the Armed Forces in making reinstallations will be required to minimize the devestating effect on the program. Since clear title to the land for beneficiaries is tied to compensation to former owners, a key issue in reducing illegal evictions and violence is the provision of sufficient resources to the Government to speed up the compensation process.

Compensation: The Salvadoran government continues to honor its obligation as provided for in agrarian reform legislation to compensate former owners of land affected by the agrarian reform. Compensation in Phase I of the reform is in long-term, interest-bearing bonds for land, and a mix of cash and short-term bonds for livestock, machinery, and equipment. As of November 1983, compensation paid totaled the equivalent of $120.1 million including $9.1 million in cash and $111 million in bonds. Interest payments on Phase I bonds now stand at $14.9 million. The government is current in its interest payments due on agrarian reform bonds.

Cash compensation paid under Phase III is now the equivalent of $2,262,200 plus $321,200 in interest payments. (The compensation schedule on Phase III transactions is 50 percent cash and 50 percent bonds for affected properties under 100 hectares. For properties over 100 hectares, the compensation schedule is 25 percent cash and 75 percent in bonds.) Phase III compensation as of December 1983 in both bonds and cash totaled the equivalent of $9.62 million.

The Salvadoran Government has indicated that its 1984 budget will include the equivalent of $20,353,240 for agrarian reform compensation. The government continues efforts to make bonds a more attractive instrument of payment. Interest coupons can be used to pay some taxes and are traded (at a discount) on a secondary market. In cooperation with the private sector, the government is investigating ways in which the bonds would be directly traded in exchange for shares in businesses now publicly owned. Section 620(g) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, as amended, precludes the use of U.S. assistance for the purpose of land reform compensation.

C. Other Reforms:

The other principal reforms consist of banking and commodity marketing nationalization.

On March 7, 1980 El Salvador's eleven domestic commercial banks and eight savings and loan associations were nationalized. As previously organized, ownership of these institutions was concentrated in the hands of a small group of wealthy families and individuals -- largely the same group that owned the largest landholdings -- and these owners tended to allocate a disproportionate amount of credit to themselves. Decree 158 of 1980 resulted in the government's expropriation of all shares of the banks and savings and loan institutions with a commitment to sell 49 percent of the shares back to the public. Former owners were compensated with five-year, 9 percent bonds. No individual may hold more than 1 percent ownership of any financial institution.

The principal goals of the nationalization were fourfold:

-- to improve access to credit for a large majority of Salvadoran individuals and firms;

-- to assure credit access for agrarian reform beneficiaries;

-- to direct domestic savings toward productive investments to improve overall development prospects; and

-- to improve income distribution through the increased participation of ordinary Salvadoran citizens in the ownership of the financial institutions.

These basic goals are fundamentally political and social in nature, and there was no pretense that economic efficiency would necessarily be improved.

Judged against social criteria, the results of nationalization have been mixed, but with clear successes. Commercial banks are now financing roughly half of the agrarian reform while savings and loan institutions have increased their financing of low and middle-income housing by almost 25 percent over pre-reform levels. It is premature to judge whether commercial credit will in fact expand into other productive sectors, such as light industry. Business attitudes toward expansion, and the general public's view of new ventures, are wary at best. The test of increased accessibility to the banking system will have to await an overall improvement of the investment climate. The objective of distributing the ownership of financial institutions suffers from the same lack of investor confidence, perhaps coupled with overpricing of the shares offered. The Central Reserve Bank estimates that $56.8 million worth of shares are available for sale to the public, but applications for only about $120,000 have been received. (This may also reflect unfamiliarity with public share offerings in a country that does not have a stock market.)

El Salvador: Human Rights

Judged against financial efficiency, the results are less good. Until the business climate improves, it will be difficult to assess what impact -- if any -- the reform has had on banking efficiency. Deposit growth has been relatively strong, but has not been matched by loan growth. Profitability has fallen. It is impossible, however, to lay blame for these negative indices exclusively on the reform. The business climate is not conducive to aggressive lending or borrowing. World markets for traditional exports are weak, and foreign exchange is difficult to obtain even for inputs necessary for production. Foreign credit lines to Salvadoran commercial banks have dropped precipitously. Although there has been some recovery since a 1980 low, banks are also faced with a heightened level of non-performing loans, due both to market conditions and guerrilla destruction of productive enterprises and their supporting infrastructure.

Reforms in the marketing of two major export crops have affected the financial sectors as well as the agricultural sector. Early in 1980, the Salvadoran government nationalized the marketing of coffee and sugar and established two state-owned companies, INCAFE and INAZUCAR, to promote the marketing of coffee and sugar abroad and domestically, to administer El Salvador's obligations under international commodity agreements, to purchase the raw production from the farmers, and in some cases to manage crop processing. The removal of private commodity exporters from the scene has left them without an incentive to provide production credits, and the commercial banking system has had to fill the gap.

An initial purpose of the marketing reforms was to give the government control over the flow of foreign exchange receipts from commodity exports. Coffee growers in particular are unhappy with the new arrangement, and would like to see a return to private sector marketing. Part of the problem stems from weak international prices for coffee and International Coffee Organization quotas which severely limit export possibilities. There are, however, specific internal complaints. INCAFE pays growers based upon the world price calculated in U.S. dollars, but the Central Bank transfers receipts to INCAFE at the official rate of 2.5 colones to the dollar. The resulting price paid growers (in colones) is often not remunerative. There can also be delays in purchasing growers' crops because INCAFE already carries a large surplus stock. Finally, quality premiums earned by private exporters are no longer available. Many growers believe they can do better through private marketing mechanisms. Sugar producers, though initially opposed to the reform on principle, are being paid renumerative prices by INAZUCAR and are relatively satisfied.

D. Organized Labor:

The work force of El Salvador is largely agricultural. In addition, the number of workers in manufacturing, construction and service industries has declined steadily over the past five years. The world economic recession and El Salvador's guerrilla war have taken their toll on the nation's economy. As a result, organized labor in El Salvador has been required to devote much of its attention to easing the effects of a three-year old wage freeze law, a continuing high rate of layoffs, missed government salary payments, and the high rate of unemployment. Rapid population growth will exert even more pressure on the economy's limited ability to provide jobs (see section F, below). These problems, however, have apparently strengthened union cohesion.

Total union membership peaked in 1977, with over 76,000 registered members, and dropped to a low of 55,200 the following year. Membership had climbed back to 71,000 by 1980, and to 74,000 by 1983.

There are three major political umbrella groups for labor. Largest and most important of these is the Popular Democratic Unity (UPD), which brings together independent federations of slightly differing but democratic political tendencies into a centrist coalition lobby for union and political rights. Although not a legally recognized trade union confederation (becuase the previous constitution did not permit agricultural workers the right to organize formally), the UPD represents the point of view of the moderate center-left democratic urban unions and campesino associations. The AFL-CIO has worked with some UPD affiliates for years and, through the American Institute for Free Labor Development (AIFLD), is a strong supporter of the UPD. The urban federation members of the UPD have been hard hit by the unemployment crisis, and the UPD campesino associations are vigorously pushing the agrarian reform process.

Further to the right is an informal alliance of the General Confederation of Unions (CGS) and the National Confederation of Workers (CNT). The CGS, which is much smaller than the UPD, was affiliated with the Inter-American Regional Organization of Workers (ORIT), an arm of the International Confederation of Free Trade Workers (ICTFU), until expulsion in 1979 on charges of corruption and domination by the military-oriented National Conciliation Party (PCN). The CGS is trying to recover and still maintains some contact with AIFLD. The newer and smaller CNT is yet further to the right.

The third umbrella association is the left-leaning Unitary Labor and Brotherhood Movement of El Salvador (MUSYGES), a loose grouping of unions with an assortment of philosophies on both politics and labor activism. Also operating within the labor left are groups -- some underground -- with close ties to the armed, violent left. They are collectively not representative of more than 13,000 workers and campesinos. Leadership is often political rather than trade union oriented.

There is general agreement that the labor code of El Salvador is outmoded and ineffective in supporting meaningful labor-management relations. It is particularly weak where workers' rights are concerned. Collective bargaining is virtually non-existent. The weak labor code and the wage freeze law (which severely limits salary increases for public and most private employees) effectively hinder labor negotiations. Moreover, claims of worker harassment and union busting efforts by management are very common, as is the claim that the Ministry of Labor has been unable to assume a definitive role in protecting against these practices.

The Ministry of Labor recently formed a tripartite (business, labor and government) commission to study the labor code and recommend reform measures. The commission's report and recommendations should soon be presented to the Legislative Assembly for discussion and approval now that the new national constitution has been adopted. Labor's view is that labor-related articles in the new constitution fail to provide sufficient worker protection. Labor leaders hope that the labor code commission will be able to strengthen workers' rights through additional labor code legislation.

U.S. Government relations with organized urban and campesino labor in El Salvador are indirect: the American Institute for Free Labor Development (AIFLD) is funded jointly by the U.S. Government and the AFL-CIO. Although it has recently decided to pay more attention to urban labor, during the past three or four years AIFLD has been primarily engaged in supporting agrarian reform and the campesino movement.

Recent AIFLD objectives have been to help develop competent trade union leadership, to impart technical training to Phase I agrarian reform cooperatives, and to help ensure the success of the reform's Phase III. The latter is accomplished through assisting promotional campaigns for the registration of remaining potential Decree 207 land reform beneficiaries and supplying other technical and financial assistance. AIFLD's program include leadership training, seminars, scholarship to the George Meany Center for Advanced Labor Studies and community development projects. In addition to the traditional workers' representation role, El Salvador's major democratic labor confederations have increased their political involvement in recent months. In order to combat the political involvement of leftist unions that have been more plitical than unionist in their orientation, the UPD and others have begun to assert political muscle. Demonstrations and lobbying for such issues as the land reform have become increasingly common and will likely continue as the elections approach.

In a significant precedent, the Christian Democratic Party-backed General Confederation of Workers (CGT) organized a two-day conference in November 1983, to discuss the general situation in El Salvador, the status of its democratic experiment and the prospects for peace. The conference was a well-attended success and clearly showed a greater openness to labor/campesino views of the nation's problems and a more courageous outspokenness about obstacles to peace.

Reactions from the left and the right have sometimes been extreme. Abductions and murders of labor leaders have been a serious problem. Nine union leaders disappeared or were murdered this past year, and a number of other labor activists suffered a similar fate.

E. U.S. Economic Assistance:

1. Economic Support Funds (ESF)

ESF has become the single most important element of our economic assistance package for El Salvador, accounting for over 50 percent of our total bilateral economic assistance in fiscal years 1982 and 1983, with the same relationship planned for FY 1984. From FY 1981, when we began providing significant amounts of ESF for balance of payments support, through the end of FY 1983, our main purpose in providing ESF has been to stabilize the economy by arresting the precipitate four-year decline in GDP.

The principal use of ESF has been to finance imports from the U.S. of raw materials, intermediate goods, and parts and equipment needed to maintain private business activity and employment. Our strategy has been partially successful; the provision of $220 million over FY1982/83 as emergency cash transfers to address the balance of payments crisis is expected to permit El Salvador to record no GDP decline in 1984. However, since the economy contracted by 25 percent between 1978-1982, stabilization at the current low levels of economic activity is not a satisfactory result. Our immediate objective is to achieve positive real growth by providing increased balance of payments support and by encouraging the Government of El Salvador to implement policy changes conducive to increased production, employment and exports.

UNCLASSIFIED DECLASSIFIED

Special Project (1993)

A secondary but vitally important use of ESF in El Salvador has been to finance the restoration and replacement of vital infrastructure. Thus far, $28 million has been used for the repair of the electrical distribution system, roads and bridges, railroads, telecommunications, and municipal water systems damaged or destroyed by guerrillas. This assistance covers only a fraction of the total amount of infrastructure damage, but, because it is quickly disbursed, it allows the Salvadoran government to address quickly its most urgent infrastructure priorities.

2. AID Development Strategy

In recent years, Agency for International Development (AID) financial support has provided key assistance in arresting the decline of the Salvadoran economy. The decline continued through 1982; 1983 may be the first year since 1979 without a decline. Lack of security, low commodity prices and lack of business confidence present formidable obstacles to achieving significant measurable growth in El Salvador's economy.

Preliminary projections indicate that the Salvadoran government will require about $310 million in balance of payments support to achieve 3 percent GDP growth in FY 1985. U.S. economic support funds and P.L. 480 concessional credits for food imports will satisfy only part of this requirement. AID's strategy is to combine this balance of payments support with promotion of macroeconomic policies that encourage production, employment, foreign exchange generation, industrial stabilization and recovery, and continued support for the agrarian reform programs.

AID also will directly support the agrarian reform programs as well as the gradual extension of the Salvadoran government's combined security and development program initiated in San Vicente Department and designed to bring security, reactivate the economy, and restore basic services. Given the levels of AID support requested by the Administration, increases in the level of assistance provided by the International Monetary Fund and World Bank, somewhat better prices for Salvadoran export crops, an improved world economy, and, above all, some improvement in the security situaton and in the investment climate, significant positive growth is an achievable goal.

Deteriorating social services require immediate attention, particularly in the health and education sectors. AID assistance is essential to help strengthen the Salvadoran Government's presence at the grass-roots level, to provide for the basic human needs of the majority of Salvadorans, to arrest further institutional deterioration, and to protect prior investments in these sectors. AID's strategy is to deal immediately with the symptoms (e.g., absence of medicines and supplies, closed schools and lack of textbooks) while strengthening weak points of the systems (e.g., health logistics and education administration.)

AID thus proposes to combine a program which reverses the process of economic deterioration with initiatives to improve the quality of social services. While this program takes effect, AID intends to expand and improve current humanitarian assistance programs, including the restoration of strife-torn areas and the resettlement of displaced persons.

Economic stabilization and recovery: As the current economic crisis in El Salvador threatens social and political stability, the AID program is designed to direct resources to maintain and expand economic activity. Specifically, the program is designed to:

-- maintain or increase imports which support agricultural and industrial production;

-- guarantee food stocks;

-- restore damaged infrastructure;

-- encourage development of exports and expanded production of private businesses, both small and large, emphasizing enterprises which contribute to foreign exchange earnings and generate employment;

-- utilize the special opportunities presented by the Caribbean Basin Initiative; and -- support public sector efforts in employment, agrarian reform, services restoration, and humanitarian efforts.

Humanitarian Assistance. While supporting efforts to address the immediate problem of human suffering, AID-supported programs provided $10.5 million in both FY1982 and '83 for emergency relief for the displaced. AID programs seek to:

-- provide emergency food and health care to the poor or displaced who cannot provide for themselves or their families;

-- provide work for displaced and unemployed heads of households on projects of importance to the communities in which they reside or which improve the health and sanitation of refugee camps or settlements; and

-- help displaced persons take advantage of opportunities for permanent resettlement by providing for food, loans, basic tools and equipment, access to land, and low-cost housing materials.

AID's strategy also emphasizes expanded participation of private voluntary organizations (PVOs) to help address problems of displaced persons. Further information on relief efforts for the displace is contained later in this report.

Social Development. El Salvador is faced with the need to correct historical imbalances in its economic and social structure. The country's high population density and continued high fertility rates (see section F below), its dependence on a few export crops, skewed income distribution, and a lack of natural resources present a formidable challenge to successful social development.

The AID strategy thus supports programs which:

-- restore health and education systems and infrastructure in areas where guerrilla action has destroyed or jeopardized the viability of existing systems, and restore the quality and efficiency of those systems throughout the country to pre-conflict levels or better;

-- provide access to maternal health and family planning services;

-- improve housing and community services for people whose access to start-up capital has been limited; and

-- strengthen democratic institutions, such as the Central Elections Council.

In FY 1983, AID provided $16.7 million for a Health Systems Revitalization Project and $1.8 million for a demographic grant for family planning purposes. An education systems revitalization program is currently being designed.

AID also supports Salvadoran efforts to assure the poor a greater stake in the economy through:

-- consolidation of the land reform program designed to give farmers the opportunity to own the land they farm and to farm on a cooperative basis large tracts (of 500 hectares or more) formerly owned and operated by individual landowners;

-- credit programs which provide capital to small farmers and businessmen who are participating, often for the first time, as full partners in the private enterprise economy;

-- training and extension support to increase the access of poor people to appropriate modern technologies;

-- development of infrastructure, such as small irrigation systems and access roads, to improve yields and market access for new landowners; and

-- marketing efficiencies which make local producers more competitive. (AID's Small Producer Development Project received over $2 million in funding during FYs 1982-83.)

AID's development strategy in El Salvador utilizes the experience and assistance of U.S. and local private voluntary organizations. These agencies bring to the development effort technical skills and program approaches well adapted to this society, and they provide an access to the perspectives and aspirations of elements of the society which formal government relationships cannot provide.

3. Caribbean Basin Initiative

The Caribbean Basin Economic Recovery Act, which came into effect on January 1, 1984, eliminates duties on virtually all U.S. imports if they originate in designated Caribbean Basin countries. The President designated El Salvador as a beneficiary on December 29, 1983.

The immediate benefits of the Act for El Salvador will be modest. Salvadoran producers of presently dutiable exports to the U.S. will receive higher revenues as a result of the duty elimination. However, of the products which El Salvador now exports ($310 million in 1982), most ($217 million in 1982) already enter the U.S. free of duty under either the general provisions of the U.S. tariff schedule (i.e. MFN -- most favored nation) or the special provisions for developing countries (GSP -- the Generalized System of Preferences).

Over the longer-term, the effects of this trade benefit could be significant. The objective of this program is to stimulate new investment and production, and hence create new jobs. Thousands of products not now produced in or exported from El Salvador have become duty-free. Salvadoran investors must now identify which new products they can export efficiently to the U.S., given local circumstances. For the full effect of this trade incentive to be realized, other conditions relevant to investment decisions (e.g. reasonable political stability, appropriate governmental investment, economic and labor policies, etc.) would also have to be positive. It is clear, however, that important new opportunities have been opened up for El Salvador, particularly in the areas of horticulture, processed agricultural goods and light manufacturing.

F. Population Growth

El Salvador, with 225 people per square kilometer, is the most densely populated non-insular country in the hemispere. Its population of 4.8 million is growing rapidly (2.6 percent annually), and at the current rate of growth, it would reach 7.8 million by the year 2000. Continued high growth in population will exacerbate social and political tensions and undermine development efforts. Government goals to provide public services, classrooms, housing, and basic health care are made increasingly difficult by the growing numbers. Gains in agricultural production, for example, are not expected to keep pace with the rapid growth in demand for food. Likewise, increasing demand for firewood will add to the depletion of forests and detract from commercial lumber uses. Perhaps most dramatic is the growth in the labor force. With nearly half of El Salvador's population under age 15, growth of the labor force will be rapid. The resulting unemployment, urbanization, and migration are potential sources of political and economic instability.

Rapid growth also affects the health of mothers and children. Child spacing, maternal age, and number of births per mother are all related to infant mortality. In El Salvador, infant mortality ranges from 60 to 80 deaths per thousand live births for the first four children. For the fifth and subsequent births, the infant mortality rate more than doubles to 160 deaths per 1,000 live births. On average, El Salvador's women have over six children.

Since the early 1970s, Salvadoran leaders have recognized the impact of rapid population growth on development. Ambitious government programs have been launched through the Ministry of Health, but have been plagued by implementation problems and political disruptions.

In recent years, the private sector, led by the Salvadoran Demographic Association (the International Planned Parenthood affiliate), has greatly strengthened its program, despite the civil strife. However, even with the success and the continuity of both the public and private sector's effort, only about 35 percent of married women of childbearing age use family planning methods. The picture is somewhat more positive in urban areas where approximately 50 percent of women in the same group are using family planning methods.

U.S. population assistance, through AID, began in 1966. Bilateral assistance, which equalled about $1.8 million in 1983, is expected to increase in FY 1984. In addition, non-governmental organizations receive multilateral population assistance from the UN Fund for Population Activities (to which the U.S. is a major contributor).

V. SECURITY

In order for democratic and economic development to take place, the Armed Forces of El Salvador (ESAF) must be capable of establishing a secure environment within which the Salvadoran people can peaceably implement socio-economic reform and resolve their political differences through democratic and pluralistic processes. In pursuit of this goal, the Armed Forces and Security Forces of El Salvador face a formidable challenge from an array of guerrilla groups differing somewhat in ideology and methods but united under the umbrella of the FMLN.

The ultimate goal of the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front (FMLN) is to bring down the existing government of El Salvador through guerrilla warfare and a coordinated political strategy to gain international recognition and support.

The FMLN's military strategy amounts to a war of attrition against the Salvadoran economy and Armed Forces. The guerrillas have targeted key installations and lines of communication (bridges, highways, processing plants, telecommunications and electrical infrastructure) as well as export crops and commercial transport vehicles. Their military targets have been small, isolated military and Security Force outposts and, most recently, larger and better trained, but unseasoned, government units and garrisons. They have also frequently overrun better defended areas. In September and December, guerrillas attacked the capitals of San Miguel and Chalatenango Departments. The ultimate aim is to bring down the government through either total economic collapse or disintegration of the military from the bottom up.

The FMLN's political strategy and actions have consisted of attempting to discredit the electoral process and force power-sharing with the current government. They have agreed to negotiate with the government, but insist on power-sharing rather than participation in the elections as the condition for a negotiated settlement. This is probably designed as a delaying tactic to gain time for the military effort and to promote an image that the democratic Salvadoran and U.S. governments are intransigent. Power-sharing is likely seen as a prelude to the consolidation of power by the FMLN.

The success of the FMLN political strategy is dependent upon successes on the battlefield sufficient to force Salvadoran government officials into power sharing as their only chance for survival. The FMLN's ability to use propaganda effectively to create pressure on allies of the Government of El Salvador is integral to this strategy.

A. Military Situation

Salvadoran government strategy since June 1983 has centered on a National Campaign Plan, especially in the area of current national priority -- San Vicente and Usulutan. Primary missions in this strategy have been to dislodge the guerrillas from strongholds, disrupt their logistic networks, secure the guerrilla-controlled areas, and, in coordination with civilian agencies, initiate a civic action program to rebuild the social and economic infrastructure. This program consists of reopening schools, road building, establishing public health and vaccination programs, distribution of food, conduct of outreach and amnesty programs, and training local civil defense forces to protect themselves following the departure of the military.

When the military has conducted aggressive patrolling, it has had success. When this has not occurred, the FMLN guerrillas have been able to mass and move uncontestedly. The command and control system has exhibited some coordination breakdowns and a lack of detailed planning and timely responsiveness at the general staff and departmental level. Other shortfalls exist in the areas of mobility and transport, medical care, and operational and logistic planning.

The military strategy of the guerrillas has seriously damaged the Salvadoran economy. Although morale within the Salvadoran military has fluctuated with the erratic performance on the battlefield, the Armed Forces are not in any danger of disintegrating.

During the summer and early fall of 1983, the Armed Forces acted with initiative and vigor on the battlefield and saw a great measure of success from the National Campaign Plan in San Vicente. This was due in large part to active patrolling and a visible military presence throughout the countryside. Beginning in early September, the guerrilla forces mounted a counteroffensive lasting through November which did meet with limited success and encouraged a propensity by the military to adopt a "defend and respond" posture, giving up the initiative.

The overall result on the battlefield has been a stalemate. Government forces, while able to deploy anywhere in the country, have not been able to deal a decisive blow to the guerrillas. Recent key command and staff changes, and improved government command and control by the General Staff,have begun to facilitate more vigorous operations under new and aggressive commanders in the eastern part of the country.

The recent successful guerrilla attack on the Fourth Military Brigade headquarters at the garrison near El Paraiso in Chalatenango Department, and the destruction of the Cuscatlan Bridge across the Lempa River on the borders of San Vicente and Usulutan Departments, were setbacks for the government forces. They were, however, localized in both time and impact. They do not indicate any new capability of the guerrillas either to extend the area of their influence or to control areas they strike. Two other major guerrilla attacks launched in Chalatenango simultaneously with that on the Fourth Military Brigade were repulsed by government defenders with a marked display of courage and tenacity. If the concern and effort by the present military staff can make itself felt on the tactical level, the government forces should be able to retake the initiative and keep the guerrillas off balance.

The organization of the Salvadoran military for unconventional warfare is still admittedly inadequate. Existing forces will be increased in 1984 by two additional U.S.-trained immediate reaction battalions and by eight new light infantry, "counter-subversion" battalions.

Even with improved organization, at the present level of manning and support, the Salvadoran Armed Forces can do little more than maintain a stalemate with the guerrillas. The growth in the overall strength has not been accompanied by an attendant increase in the upper levels of the officer corps. The U.S. training of over 950 cadets has begun to alleviate the problems associated with a lack of junior officers. However, the shortage of field grade officers to run staff and logistics activities continues to be acute. With major expansion of the Army, the percentage of field grade officers in the military has declined from about five percent in 1979 to about one percent currently.

At present, Salvadoran guerrilla strength is estimated at 9,000-11,000 armed insurgents, including militia. Guerrilla capabilities have improved greatly since 1981, particularly in such areas as communications and in demolition. Many guerrillas, however, would be vulnerable to an effective psychological warfare program, and would be expected to return to land or jobs in government-controlled areas if their personal security could be assured. Additional force expansion and training of government forces is still needed to continue to improve the government's military posture and achieve a more favorable force ratio to prosecute successfully this type of war.

B. Assistance Requirements

The FY-1984 military assistance program has been designed to assist the Salvadoran Armed Forces in their goals of

UNCLASSIFIED DECLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED DECLASSIFIED

El Salvador: Human Rights Special Project (1993)

destroying the guerrillas' will and capability to fight, while protecting the economic infrastructure and reestablishing public order. The economic recovery of El Salvador has been complicated by the guerrillas' sabotage campaign, which is designed to destroy the country's economic infrastructure and perpetuate a climate of fear, uncertainty, and loss of confidence in the government among the populace.

Proposed acquisitions, with U.S. assistance, of military materiel and services would have a direct impact on the economy by improving security and protecting the economic infrastructure from attack. In addition, by contributing to establishing a secure environment conducive to development, military assistance helps the government continue the process of social, political and economic reform.

The program is intended to help correct substantial deficiencies which currently prevent the Armed Forces from securing all of the economically important and populated areas of the country on a sustained basis. The Armed Forces are fully committed to a promising new Salvadoran-designed strategy to take the war to the guerrilla and pacify the countryside in order to allow the nation to redevelop along democratic lines. Since 1979, the Armed Forces have tripled in strength and comprise the following: an Army of approximately 26,000; a Navy of about 500 (including a Naval Commando company); and an Air Force of some 500 personnel. The Public Security Forces (National Guard, National Police, and Treasury Police) number approximately 10,000 in total strength. During FY-83 alone, the Armed Forces increased by nearly 7,000 men and in FY-84 the projected increase is about 6,500. These increases will permit the establishment of 36 highly mobile, small (350 men) "counter-subversion" battalions. A sufficient level of security assistance is essential if these goals are to be achieved. The Administration is currently reviewing its requests to Congress in light of recent assessments of the military picture and the ESAF's requirements.

The specific objectives to be served by Military Assistance Programs are to:

-- provide resources necessary to maintain a viable fighting force;

-- continue to modernize, standardize and professionalize the force;

-- deny the FMLN a military victory in El Salvador;

-- enable El Salvador's government to maintain the edge over the guerrillas, receive technical and professional military training, and to purchase needed defense articles.

UNCLASSIFIED

DECLASSIFIED

-- help the military to project successfully the National Campaign Plan to the entire country through continued force expansion, increased operational capabililty, effectiveness and efficiency; and

-- provide the sufficent supplies of ammunition and other materiel to enable the ESAF to maintain troops actively patrolling in the field rather than in a defensive posture.

During a period of expansion of the campaign plan into the eastern departments of El Salvador, resupply of ammunition, spare parts and consumables needed for heavily committed combat troops could take priority over training and humanitarian services such as medical equipment and supplies. During FY-83, ammunition usage alone was $22.8 million.

The quick reaction capability of the ESAF could suffer from insufficient funding for the acquisition of helicopters, small troop transport aircraft and vehicles. These factors are of considerable importance to maintaining command and control over troops in the field, with implications for both the counter-guerrilla effort and the effort to control human rights abuses.

C. Refugees and Displaced Persons

Military strife in El Salvador continues to displace large portions of the population. An estimated 58,000-67,000 Salvadorans have taken refuge outside their country. This is approximately 42 percent of the total refugee population in Central America and roughly equal to the number of Nicaraguan refugees. 18-20,000 Salvadorans have crossed the border into Honduras; 10-12,000 are in Mexico; 15-18,000 are in Costa Rica, and 15-17,000 are in Nicaragua.

An estimated additional 465,000 Salvadorans, or nearly ten percent of the population, are internally displaced. Most of the displaced persons reside with friends and relatives away from areas of conflict. Others have built temporary settlements on unoccupied land throughout the country. Some live in special camps administered by the Roman Catholic Church or other organizations. Approximately seventy-five percent of the estimated displaced population receives assistance from the Government of El Salvador through its National Commission for Displaced Persons (CONADES). Private local as well as international contributors are helping these displaced. The International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) assists displaced persons in areas inaccessible to other relief organizations because of the conflict.

UNCLASSIFIED DECLASSIFIED

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

The living conditions of the displaced persons vary greatly, depending on factors such as their willingness to register for assistance with CONADES, their economic well-being prior to displacement, and the public infrastructure in the area where they have settled. Similarly, infrastructure and available management help explain some of the differences even among camps run by the same group. In general, however, the living conditions of the Salvadoran displaced persons are considered to be as bad as for any of the groups uprooted by the conflict in Central America.

The Administration, through the Department of State and A.I.D., has been working to improve conditions in the camps and contributed $10.5 million for this purpose during FYs 1982-83. Congress has earmarked $10 million of FY 1984 funds for the displaced persons of El Salvador. Working through the UN World Food Program, CONADES and international and local private voluntary organizations, the U.S. Government has provided some of the basic necessities for the refugee population which is registered with CONADES.

The principal U.S. humanitarian assistance effort is the Emergency Health and Jobs for Displaced Persons Project of AID and the Department of State's Refugee Bureau. This project provides preventive health and other medical assistance and cash employment in small community and camp improvement projects. PL 480 commodity assistance provides basic food supplements to displaced persons participating in the work programs. World Food Program also provides PL 480 commodities to persons residing in camps throughout the country.

The ultimate goal of Administration policy remains the speedy and voluntary return of refugees and displaced persons to their homes. In this respect, efforts of the Government of El Salvador toward democratization and ending the guerrilla threat are important requirements for establishing a climate of peace and development in those areas from which the displaced and refugees have fled.

In the shorter term, much remains to be done to improve health facilities, to provide employment, to reach those people who do not currently receive adequate assistance, and to improve the delivery of basic commodities to displaced persons.

Specific initiatives currently being pursued by the U.S. are:

-- to help develop effective public health programs in the areas where displaced persons have settled.

-- to encourage coordination among the 26 different groups providing assistance to displaced Salvadorans, and

-- to encourage an international organization or a private non-government group to assume the role of overall coordinator of the programs for Salvadoran displaced persons. (The local PVO Coordination Committee has begun to meet and discuss coordination issues.)

The U.S. Government will continue to work through international organizations such as the UN and the ICRC, and through private voluntary organizations to ameliorate the situation of refugees and displaced persons by addressing their overall living conditions.

Thomas R. Pickering
United States Ambassador to El Salvador
Address before the American Chamber of Commerce in San Salvador
November 25, 1983

I am pleased to follow a Salvadoran tradition by making my first general address to the American Chamber of Commerce. I hope my remarks are as interesting and stimulating to you as those of my predecessor proved to be.

Since I have arrived, my new Salvadoran friends have frequently asked me how I like El Salvador. I like it very much. This is a beautiful country. The people are friendly, hard-working and courageous.

But I think what they really are asking is this: How do I see the current situation? How do I see the future? And, perhaps most importantly, does my presence mean American policy has changed?

A new Ambassador in a country of El Salvador's importance makes these questions obvious and natural. This speech will try to answer them.

The policy question is perhaps the easiest.

The truth is there is no change.

Last April President Reagan outlined our policy before a joint session of Congress. It is clear, straightforward and easy to remember because of the four "Ds" describing the four pillars of our policy: democracy, development, diplomacy, and defense.

Permit me to begin with defense, because without an adequate defense none of the other areas of the policy can survive. But even a perfect defense, a "military victory," assures neither long range security nor the basic goals of political and economic change shared by El Salvador and the United States.

So, with the caveat that our policy cannot rest on defense alone, I would like to share my views on the military situation with you.

Your armed forces have demonstrated great valor in confronting an elusive enemy under difficult circumstances. Their real accomplishments have too often been ignored while at times they have been harder hit on the front pages of the newspapers than they have by the guerrillas.

The truth is that over the past three years the armed forces have greatly advanced as a fighting force. Even so, both the armed forces and the U.S. still recognize there is a considerable distance to go. For example, just over 20 percent have received U.S. training.

Since June the Salvadoran military has been constantly in the field, beginning first in San Vicente Department, where three months of steady effort have laid a solid foundation for the National Plan.

The plan was designed to provide security, followed by rebuilding the infrastructure, resettling refugees, and finally by instituting and continuing the economic development of the country. The plan is working. It is working despite the fact that nothing of this magnitude has ever been attempted here and much has had to be learned. It is working despite the new guerrilla offensive.

As for the long-predicted guerrilla offensive, the capacity of the guerrillas to initiate frequent actions against small and weakly-defended or undefended villages and towns is inherent in the nature of the struggle. Warfare in El Salvador has been so in the past, and until training and equipment can turn the balance, it is likely to remain so.

The army's reaction to the offensive has been much better than commonly assumed. They have managed to relieve or retake more than 75 towns attacked by the guerrillas within 6 to 36 hours. They have stayed in the field. They have improved their capacity for patrolling, conducted several counteroffensives, and are steadily improving their communications, air support, and the use of intelligence.

While the Army has gotten stronger and improved and consolidated its position, the guerrillas, too, continue to be strong. It is clear that the guerrillas have received good training and considerable foreign advice and support. They have good communications systems and a good intelligence network.

But for all that, and in spite of not having to defend fixed installations or bases, the guerrilla victories have been those of propaganda rather than of military effect. They have not significantly enlarged their control over the population, the economy or the national territory. Their offensive has cost them blood and war materiel. They are short on supplies in some key areas and there are signs the offensive may be winding down.

For the future, the carrying of the San Vicente operation into its next stage in Usulutan and retaking the initiative nationwide are vital. We are convinced that the government and the armed forces intend and have the capability to do so.

One unknown element in the future of the military conflict is the question of how successful we will be in persuading the Congress to provide the funds for continued assistance and training. But this is a point I will discuss in connection with human rights. First I would like to discuss economic development.

We are beginning to see some small, early signs of positive change in the economy. It is far too early to be even guardedly optimistic. But it is soon enough to begin to point out some of the favorable signals.

While all the results are not in, it appears that the disastrous decline in the real growth rate -- 25 percent in the past four years -- will be arrested this year. For the future, we intend to change our approach and target our assistance programs on the positive growth we believe possible.

-- Recent estimates of agricultural production indicate that earlier predictions were too low.

-- There have been some imaginative suggestions made on reviving Salvadoran industry.

-- The Caribbean Basin Initiative -- the Reagan Plan -- provides a new door which is open to large and increasing American markets. We are encouraged by the fact that in spite of the tough conditions which must be met, Salvadorans are taking a hard and energetic look at how to compete in the world's richest market. Progress in taking advantage of the initiative in the coming year would do much to restore faith and dynamism to the economy. This is a clear challenge to you in the private sector to combine support for the country with personal enterprise.

-- There is animated, and I hope serious, discussion about agricultural diversification.

-- The economic part of the national plan is moving ahead, albeit slowly and with growing pains.

-- Other signs, however small, are also encouraging. The U.S. economy and parts of the world economy are improving. Coffee quotas and prices are up slightly. Salvador has received a larger share of the U.S. sugar quota. The housing market in San Salvador is firmer, and there are other indications of internal economic strengthening.

There are also indications that the long, bitter debate on agrarian reform may be coming to an end. As you know, support for agrarian reform remains a cornerstone of U.S. policy since we believe it essential to social and economic progress. So we are heartened when, in our discussions with each of the political parties, we find broad consensus on the fundamentals of agrarian reform. All of the parties seem to agree that:

-- Phases I and III should be completed and perfected. They cannot and should not be reversed.

-- There should be greater equity in land tenure and reasonable limits on the amount of land that any individual or family can hold. Since the Government of El Salvador does not now have the wherewithal to carry out Phase II, a market mechanism which takes into account the needs of campesinos should be implemented in order to achieve these ends by a given date.

We believe that an effective compromise on agararian reform in the Constituent Assembly is well within reach. Such an action on the agrarian reform would further solidify U.S. support for El Salvador. It would also "unfreeze" Phase 11 lands. It would permit investment and productive development for the future, while providing new opportunities for landless campesinos to enjoy the benefits of holding their own farms.

Finally, we support a balanced budget, new taxes required to cover deficits, and then increase in government austerity so that essential expenditures can be covered. The government deserves congratulations and support for its steps in this direction.

For all of this, we must not forget what remains to be done:

--- To rebuild what is destroyed;

--- To generate new sources of employment and production;

--- To expand humanitarian relief for refugees;

--- To improve foreign exchange reserves;

--- To rebuild the regional common market;

--- And, perhaps most importantly, to renew efforts to improve the lives of the poor through nutrition, education, access to health facilities and decent housing.

Strengthening democracy here in El Salvador presents the toughest and the most important challenge. President Reagan listed this aspect before all others in his address last April.

As with headline writers, we are all too often tempted to focus only on sensational events or the bad news, while the small quiet steps that add up to progress are overlooked.

Let's look at the signs. The Assembly has become the nations's arena for healthy and vigorous public debate. This is as it should be. The Assembly has been much maligned for taking too long to resolve issues before it. But I would counsel patience. What we are witnessing is a phenomenon that is new for El Salvador -- open debate in a body where there is no permanent majority, and where the outcome is not a foregone conclusion.

Coalitions form around specific issues only to break up and coalesce in different shapes. The Assembly has shown its mettle by taking on controversial issues such as a painful but necessary tax package, the extension of Phase III of the land Reform and the amnesty program. The Constituent Assembly has set presidential elections for March 25, 1984, thereby fulfilling the goal of the Pact of Apaneca. These elections are essential for establishing a constitutional democracy with a mandate to govern effectively.

The United States Government unreservedly supports these elections and applauds the Assembly's action. We remain firmly committed to helping the Salvadoran government hold free and honest elections such as those of March 1982, which won the respect of democratic governments the world over. We are already providing $3.4 million in assistance to the Central Elections Council.

Democracy has registered gains in other areas:

-- The executive and judicial branches of Government have recognized the serious need for judicial reform and both have named commissions to deal with the problem and recommended changes.

-- The democratic labor movement has begun to lobby forcefully but peacefully on issues it considers of vital importance. Such activity is intrinsic to any truly democratic society. It is a tribute to the growing maturity of Salvadoran democracy that the government has allowed peaceful demonstrations of labor's growing strength to take place.

— The Peace Commission has held initial contacts with the representatives of the guerrillas. While the guerrilla's rejection of election participation has been discouraging, the democratic forces in El Salvador have made it clear that the door remains open to those who wish to resolve the nation's problems through the democratic process. There is room for moderates on both sides to come together.

But for all these signs of progress, the essential stumbling block to democracy in El Salvador remains extremist terror.

In the last few months this terror has once again surged. This terror can undo all the progress which has been made. It can destroy democracy in El Salvador.

— I don't care what their ideology is, my government and I are opposed to terrorism, be it terrorism of the left, terrorism of the right, or simple criminal terror which knows no ideology.

The important thing is that the terrorists are murderers, torturers and kidnappers. As such they deserve nothing less from society than open and honest punishment for such crimes.

There is information available to many of us about some of the personalities involved. I am keenly aware that much of that information may not at present be sufficient for a court of law. My deep concern is that no one seems to be trying to develop evidence which would stand up in court. There is now a starting point. We are certain that these individuals are as well known to the security forces as they are to those of us who have been in the country only a short time. In fact, information has been recently published in the foreign press repeating much of what is already known about death squad activities.

There has been little doubt of the commitment of the authorities to dealing with terror by the FMLN. There may be lack of means, but there is no lack of resolve. What has distressed my government is the lack of parallel action against those who murder and kidnap university professors, doctors, labor leaders, capesinos and government workers. We know by their selection of victims and other information that the Maximiliano Hernandez Martinez Brigade and the secret Anti-Communist Army are not guerrilla organizations. It is another case of fascists serving the Communist cause and this is all the more reason why the investigations must take place.

None of us can afford to continue in the self-deluding belief that nothing is really known about the shadowy world of these individuals and, therefore, nothing can be done. The cost is too great for both our nations.

The costs indeed are real. The U.S. Congress has reduced this year's military aid to El Salvador by $22 million and conditioned the remainder. (Our President's request for $86 million in military aid has yielded only $64 million.) There is little doubt that the reappearance of death squad activities was the cause.

What does the loss of $22 million mean?

-- It means that your homes, farms and businesses will have less protection than they otherwise would have.

-- It means that the army will expand by several thousand troops less than it otherwise would have.

-- It means that the troops who are fighting for your country in the hills right now will have to get along with less and that surely more officers and men will be wounded and die as a result.

But more than $22 million in bullets and helicopters and training is at stake. The future of your society is at stake. No one wants to live in a country where no efforts are made to find out who dumps bodies in gas stations and parking lots. No one wants his children to grow up in fear that almost anything his children say may be taken as "subversive."

Just over a year ago, in this very forum, my predecessor focused his remarks on this same topic. I am sorry to say that while there has been increased recognition of the problems of the judicial system here, too little has changed.

It was said by some that his remarks did not reflect Washington's views on the matter. But I say this is clearly not so. The White House, the Department of State, and Department of Defense have all spoken out condemning the actions of the death squads. The President of El Salvador, the Political Commission and the Minister of Defense have all condemned the death squads.

RELEASED

Some day, and today is not too soon, Salvadorans will have to begin to create the national consensus that such actions are not only reprehensible merely as a matter of rhetoric, but are issues on which they and their fellow citizens must be heard. What is wrong should not only be called wrong, there should be a national consensus that it is wrong.

I am surprised that the consensus has not emerged. Less than three weeks ago nine strangled bodies stuffed into sacks were found in Zaragoza. Among the dead were two obviously pregnant women. Is there anyone in this room who can find any pretext, any excuse, to justify this? Where are the condemnations? Why hasn't the private sector, which regularly issues statements on political matters, publicly condemned such outrages? Why haven't the daily papers done so? Is the condemnation of murder the business only of human rights organizations, some government leaders, the Roman Catholic Church and the U.S. Government and its embassy? The whole world noted, how, this October 21, one million Spaniards in over 40 cities peacefully demonstrated their repudiation of violence.

Failure to take the necessary steps now risks turning El Salvador over to anarchy in the short run and later to the Communists who will benefit most from the anarchy.

For the moment those in a fool's paradise may cite examples of places where terror supposedly turned the tide in favor of stable, but autocratic, governments. A neighboring state comes to mind, but its condition is no less perilous today for such actions. These short range successes have almost always engendered long-range disasters and it is most often the left that enters with its own form of tyranny as a result. While the events of 1932 may have engendered some years of stability, they form part of the background for the problems of today.

Several times during the last century the United States has itself had to deal with the murderous excesses of secret terror squads like the Ku Klux Klan. Even now shabby remnants of that hate-filled organization continue to exist. The struggle to break the power of the Klan organization was long and painful. Brave men and women lost their lives in that fight. The struggle was difficult for many of the same reasons that your struggle is difficult. The organizations are secret. They do not hestitate to intimidate or kill those who oppose them. And perhaps most importantly, too many "decent people" refuse to recognize that these terrorists are not espousing any social or political order worth upholding. You can be certain that my government will continue to cooperate with the Government of El Salvador to isolate and punish such criminals.

My words on these issues are no easier for me to say than they are for you to hear -- especially since I count myself a friend of El Salvador. Even though I have been here only a short time, I believe the time has come for me to say, as a friend, what I believe to be true and to say what must be said.

And what I have said here has been said to me in turn by many Salvadoran friends. Out of fear or other emotion they have not said so publicly. However, I can do no better, and certainly no worse, than to repeat for you here and now, as I just have, the clear meaning of these discussions with friends.

It is clear that the perilous and depressed times in which El Salvador and Central America now find themselves, provide the leaders of the region with extraordinary challenges. We do not focus enough on the historically unprecedented opportunities which these times also provide.

The common heritage and common geographic conditions of the region have frequently offered not a case for unity but a cause for competition, even armed competition. Likewise, there has at times been a lack of a sense of shared purpose with their great neighbor to the north, with Mexico, and with the equally dynamic nations to the south, Panama, Colombia, and Venezuela.

The coming together of the five Central American nations with their four neighbors in the Contadora process is an important development in the search for a solution to regional problems. It is unfortunate that the proximate cause of this unprecedented diplomatic event is the tension injected onto the Central American mainland by Nicaragua. Nonetheless, the reliance on diplomacy through the Contadora process is a milestone in the development of relations among the countries of the region.

The common adversity faced by the democratic countries of Central America has strengthened regional solidarity. The principles developed by the Central American Democratic Community at San Jose provide not only a formula of peace for the region but also a basis for solidarity. We support and welcome the skillful diplomacy of the leaders of the democratic nations of Central America. Particularly we salute President Alvaro Magana and Foreign Minister Fidel Chavez Mena for their efforts toward regional solidarity.

The increasing level of political cooperation in Central America provides a framework for cooperation and future progress. First and foremost this is true in the economic arena. The free enterprise systems of the four countries have shown remarkable resilience in dealing with a series of economic blows that would have crippled many states, including those with the centrally directed economies of the communist world. We in the United States are now pledged to help through the Caribbean Basin Initiative, through support for the Common Market and through long-range development plans being studied by the Bipartisan Commission and others.

Markets are essential to this effort. We must all recognize that the small, fragmented markets of the individual Central American countries will not by themselves be able to provide sufficient economic growth in the years ahead. Maximum advantage must be taken of the 17 million-person regional market. The integration of this market contributed to real growth of well over five percent a year in all Central American Common Market member countries during the 1960's. But, of even more fundamental importance, the countries of the region should increasingly reach out to the great markets of the United States, Europe and Japan. Competing in these markets, however, requires more than simple production. It requires the sort of environment towards which El Salvador is striving -- one in which businessmen, laborers, and campesinos have confidence in the security of the enterprises to which they dedicate themselves. One in which there is respect for their rights under the law -- both personal rights and property rights. When the rights of anyone are treated recklessly, then all have reason to fear and the very environment which is essential to future prosperity is destroyed.

To close my thoughts tonight, it may well be that in years to come historians will look back on this time of great challenge to Central America as a decisive period in the region's history. A period when the nations under challenge responded by strengthening their democratic and pluralistic institutions, developing new levels of economic dynamism, and a new sense of how best to protect their own security.

This will also be, I hope, a period when Central America enhances its cooperative relationships with its nearest neighbors. This is the hope of my country for the region and for El Salvador.

I am glad to be joining you all in this endeavor, an effort based on our respect for one another as individuals and on our Nations' respect for one another as sovereign independent states.

STATEMENT BY THE MINISTER OF DEFENSE OF EL SALVADOR
GENERAL CARLOS EUGENIO VIDES CASANOVA
San Salvador, November 2, 1983

(Excerpt)

...Our people have been treacherously attacked by the Marxist forces of Nicaragua, Cuba and Russia, with the complicity of others. These forces have burned our crops destroyed our infrastructure and industry, and murdered our people. However, despite the terrorist tactics employed against them, the Salvadoran people have not faltered and have continued their struggle to fight for the cause of freedom. The armed forces of our country are fighting alongside the people to protect and defend them from these criminal attacks. Although they face many problems in their war for a fervently desired peace, our forces are still sufficiently strong and they retain their unshakeable determination to support a democracy that will enable us to fully exercise our rights as citizens in complete and unrestricted freedom.

Democracy is a political system for which no equal has yet been found, or even a comparable replacement. Moreover, it is the most human system of government because it allows for the full realization of personal potential, equality among people, and the satisfaction of individual and collective needs. Accordingly, we are happy to note that the National Constituent Assembly has finished the long and necessary study it conducted for approval of our Constitution. With this document, the aspirations of all Salvadorans have become reality, and we have become a nation under the rule of law, a necessary step if our society is to enjoy peaceful coexistence and a rule to which the free peoples of the world voluntarily submit. We were among the first to consider what this new charter of liberties should contain, and we will be the most ardent defenders of its continued existence and observance, because we are convinced that his document will give reason to our lives.

I have clearly stated our unwavering determination to combat terrorist acts and organizations, whenever and wherever they occur, and regardless of their political persuasion, because no such acts or organizations are justifiable; they are, rather, aberrant expressions of the excessive and selfish ambitions of certain persons who seek political power at any cost.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

The death squads must disappear forever to prove our determination to combat them and our faith in the democratic process. All Salvadorans must oppose and denounce them so that they will not only be illegal but condemned by everyone. As one voice we must proclaim that no cause can justify their existence.

Those persons who resort to ignoble activities do so because they have lost their moral force and are attempting to subdue us through physical force and terror. The fact that the enemy is using perfidious, illegal methods does not in any way authorize anyone to ignore legal and moral precepts and attempt to impose their own will through fear.

In view of the foregoing I would like everyone to be fully aware that the armed forces are determined to make the members of those terrorist bands answer to the law, regardless of their identity or any reasons they may give to justify their illegal activities. We will do this in order to fulfill our commitment to the Salvadoran people, the only power to which we have an obligation.

There is no such thing as democracy through terror because one negates the other. Either there is respect for the individual and the legal system or else we sink into the depths of the law of the jungle, in which case we may very well destroy democracy and cease to exist as a freedom-loving people.

The only reason for an armed force to exist is to protect the people, and therefore abuses of authority should never occur. Such abuses would be contrary to the essence of the armed forces' mission. In order to prevent such a situation from arising there are regulations that clearly and fully govern the conduct of the armed forces and cover the various situations in which our prestige, our mission, and our sincerity could be compromised. All members of the military must therefore abide by those regulations.

I have read articles in some publications that were authorized by the death squads in which attempts are made to justify illegal actions and the Ministry of Defense is warned not to interfere with their ominous goals. I would like to respond to them by stating that I will never approve of the inhuman, illegal methods that they are attempting to use and that I am very well aware of the duties and responsibilities imposed upon me by my position and no person or force can prevent me from performing my duty.

I have strong convictions and I will fight for them now and always regardless of the price I have to pay, because I will never betray our people's noblest aspirations or the honor of the armed forces.

Declaration of the Salvadoran Armed Forces on the Issue of Death Squads

The High Command of the Armed Forces of El Salvador and the commanders of the military and public security forces of the country in a meeting held on December 13 of the current year unanimously declare:

1. Their absolute endorsement of the declarations and decisions made by the Minister of Defense and Public Security General Carlos Eugenio Vides Casanova regarding the "death squads", since they reflect the thinking and sentiments of all the members of the Armed Forces.
2. Call on the Salvadoran people to provide to the competent authorities any information that contributes to the identification and capture of the death squads.
3. Reiterate our firm decision to fight the death squads and the terrorists groups with all the means at our disposal until they are definitively eradicated from our country.
4. Urge the judicial system to apply the maximum force of the law to these terrorist groups, whether they be of the left or of the right, reiterating again their total support.

FAMILY HAD BEEN ADMITTED AS A PARTY TO THE MILITARY COURT PROCEEDING AND THAT ATTORNEYS FOR THE FAMILY HAD CLAIMED THEY HAD NEW EVIDENCE ON THE INVOLVEMENT OF THE INDICTED ARMY OFFICERS. ALTHOUGH NO SUCH EVIDENCE HAD BEEN PRODUCED, THEMILITARY COURT HAD BEEN INSTRUCTED BY THE SUPREME COURT TO KEEP THE CASE OPEN. AFTER RECALLING THAT THE GOC HAD COOPERATED WITH THE US DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE AND HAD TURNED OVER MICHAEL TOWNLEY, WHO WAS THE KEY WITNESS FOR THE PROSECUTION, CALDERON SAID THAT IN HIS VIEW THE GOC HAD TAKEN ALL THE APPROPRIATE STEPS UNDER CHILEAN LAW TO PURSUE THE CASE AND THAT THE USG COULD SO CERTIFY THAT POINT.

BRIEFINGS TO CODEL AND PROVIDED IT WITH NUMEROUS STATISTICAL AND POLICTY DOCUMENTS (BEING POUCHED SEPARATELTY TO STAFF AIDE RICHARD BUSH). THE MAIN POINTS OF THE BRIEFING CENTERED ON THEIR CLAIM THAT THE SITUATION HAD DETERIORATED IN 1983. BOTH GROUPS OPPOSED CERTIFICATION AS UNJUSTIFIED BY THE OBJECTIVE CONDITIONS, HELD THAT IT SHOULD BE CONSIDERED ON CONCRETE IMPROEMENTS IN HUMAN RIGHTS MATTERS, AND EMPHASIZED IMPORTANCE OF US OPINION TO GOC AS A LEVER FOR IMPROVEMENT AND THE RESTORATION OF DEMOCRACY. IN A SEPARATE MEETING WITH PRESIDENT OF JEWISH COMMUITY IN CHILE, REP. SOLARZ WAS TOLD THAT THERE WAS NO GOVERNMENT DISCRIMINATION AGAINST JEWS.

7. DEMOCRATIC POLITICAL OPPOSITION: CODEL MET ALIANZA DEMOCRATICA LEADER MARIO SHARPE, PRESIDENT FOR JANUARY, WHO PROVIDED A DETAILED DISCUSSION OF GOC/AD MEETINGS TO DATE. CODEL ALSO MET WITH NUMEROUS OTHER OPPOSITION GROUPS SEPARATELY, INCLUDING THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATS, THE SOCIAL DEMOCRATS, MAPU AND THE CHRISTIAN LEFT AND THE SOCIALISTS, ALTHOUGH A SCHEDULED MEETING WITH A COMMUNIST PARTY LEADER, UNDER THE AUSPICES OF A LEFTIST THINK-TANK, FELL THROUGH WHEN THE CP LEADER FAILED TO ATTEND THE MEETING. WHILE ALL GROUPS WERE EMPHATIC IN THE REASONS

FOR THEIR OPPOSITION TO THE CURRENT REGIME, THEY WERE LESS CLEAR ON THEIR PLANS FOR SOCIAL MOBILIZATION AND ITS POSSIBLE EFFECTS IN 1984. THEY WERE EVEN LESS CONVINCING IN THEIR SUGGESTED SOLUTIONS TO CHILE'S ECNOMIC PROBLEMS. THE OPPOSITION GROUPS DID NOT OFFER ANY CRITICISMS OF CURRENT US POLICY TOWARDS CHILE.

9. VISITS TO SOCIALPROJECTS: THE VISIT CONCLUDED WITH A VISIT TO A NEWLY ESTABLISHED SQUATTERS VILLAGE ON THE OUTSKIRTS OF SANTIAGO, WHERE THE ENTIRE CODEL WAS ABLE TO DISCUSS WITH THE VILLAGE'S LEADER HIS IDEAS (COMMUNIST), THE LEVEL OF ORGANIZATION (I PRESSIVE) AND SOURCES OF FINANCIAL HELP (CONSIDERABLE, NATIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL, AND FUNNELED THROUGH THE CATHOLIC CHURCH). EARLIER MRS. SOLARZ HAD VISITED A SOCIAL PROJECT FOR CHILDREN, MODELED ON THE US HEAD START PROGRAM, WHCH IS JOINTLY SPONSORED BY CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY, THE INTER-AMERICAN FOUNDATION AND THE MUNICIPALITY OF LA FLORIDA.
10. PRESS COVERAGE: TO DATE, THE ONLY MENTION OF THE CODEL VISIT TO SANTIAGO WAS A SHORT ARTICLE IN "LA TERCERA" ON JAN 15, WHICH DESCRIBED MRS SOLARZ' VISIT TO THE SOCIAL PROJECT FOR CHILDREN (SEE PARA 9 ABOVE). REP SOLARZ MADE NO PUBLIC STATEMENTS. A PLANNED PRIVATE DEPARTURE INTERVIEW WITH RICHARD BOUDREAU OF AP FAILED TO MATERIALIZE AS MR. BOUDREAU DID NOT KEEP HIS APPOINTMENT.

ROME FOR VATICAN

E.O. 12356: DECL: OADR
TAGS: PTER, SHUM, VT, CI
SUBJ: ACCUSED MIRISTAS SNEAK INTO NUNCIATURA IN ASYLUM ATTEMPT

1. (U) AT 7:30 A.M., THURSDAY, JANUARY 16, FOUR HEAVILY ARMED INTRUDERS CLIMBED OVER THE WALL OF THE RESIDENCE/OFFICE OF THE PAPAL NUNCIO AND ASKED FOR ASYLUM. THE FOUR WERE SUBSEQUENTLY IDENTIFIED AS JOSE HECTOR AGUILERA SUAZO, JAIME ROLANDO YOVANOVICH PRIETO, ELBA DUARTE VALLE AND PAMELA DEL CARMEN CORDERO CORDERO.
2. (U) ACCORDING TO A GOVERMENT REPORT ISSUED BY DINACOS LATER IN THE DAY, THE FOUR BELONG TO THE PROSCRIBED FAR LEFT TERRORIST GROUP, MIR, AND, THREE OF THEM ARE SUSPECTED OF PARTICIPATING IN THE ASSASSINATION OF AUGUST 30, 1983 OF MAJOR GENERAL (R) CAROL URZUA, THE SANTIAGO REGIONAL INTENDANT, AS WELL AS IN OTHER TERRORIST ACTS. TWO OF THE OUR, JAIME ROLANDO

YOVANOVICH PRIETO AND ELBA DUARTE VALLE, WERE THE SUBJECTS OF DECREES ISSUED IN 1981 PROHIBITING THEIR ENTRY INTO CHILE. THEIR PRESENCE, ACCORDING TO THE DINACOS STATEMENT, PROVES THE EXISTENCE OF "PLAN RETURN," UNDER THE AUSPICES OF WHICH EXTREMISTS WERE SUPPOSED TO RETURN SECRETLY TO CHILE IN ORDER TO CARRY OUT TERRORIST ACTIVITIES. PRESS REPORTS BASED ON POLICE SOURCES CLAIM THAT DUARTE FIRED AGAINST URZUA AND HIS GUARDS AND THAT YOVANOVICH DROVE ONE OF THE VEHICLES USED IN THE ATTACK.

3. THE PAPAL NUNCIO, MONSIGNOR ANGELO SODANO, CALLED IN ALEJANDRO GONZALEZ, THE HEAD OF THE LEGAL DEPARTMENT OF THE CATHOLIC CHURCHES VICARIATE OF SOLIDARITY, TO CONSULT ON THE REQUEST FOR ASYLUM, GONZALES TOLD THE PRESS ON LEAVING THAT, ALTHOUGH THE HOLY SEE HAD NOT SIGNED ANY AGREEMENT ON ASYLUM WITH CHILE, THE NUNCIO WOULD TREAT THE FOUR IN ACCORDANCE WITH "DIPLOMATIC PRACTICES." HE ADDED THAT THERE HAVE BEEN PREVIOUS CASES IN WHICH PEOPLE HAD TAKEN REFUGE IN THE NUNCIATURA AND HAD LATER OBTAINED SAFE CONDUCT FOR LEAVING THE COUNTRY. SPECIFICALLY, THE NUNCIO ARRANGED A SAFE CONDUCT IN 1975 FOR NELSON GUTIERREZ, A MIR LEADER WHO HAD ALSO SOUGHT REFUGE. THE ONLY PUBLIC STATE-MENT FROM THE NUNCIATURA SAID THAT FOUR INDIVIDUALS WITHOUT AUTHORIZATION HAD ENTERED THE DIPLOMATIC MISSION AND SOUGHT ASYLUM AND THAT THE NUNCIO, WITH THE MINISTER OF FOREIGN RELATIONS, WAS SEEKING A SOLUTION TO THE PROBLEM.

4. (C) COMMENT: THE ASYLUM ATTEMPT FROM HEAVILY ARMED APPARENT TERRORISTS WILL POSE SENSITIVE ISSUES FOR THE GOC AND THE VATICAN, NOT LEAST BECAUSE FOREIGN MINISTER DEL VALLE LEAVES IN A FEW DAYS FOR ROME AND AN IMPORTANT MEETING ON THE BEAGLE CHANNEL MEDIATION ALTHOUGH THE SECURITY FORCES

MAY WANT THE GOVERNMENT TO TRY TO GET THE NUNCIATURA TO TURN THE FOUR OVER FOR TRIAL, WE RECALL THAT ON AT LEAST ONE PRIOR OCCASION THE GOC PERMITTED AN ACCUSED TERRORIST TO LEAVE THE COUNTRY AFTER TAKING REFUGE IN THE FRENCH EMBASSY. (FYI: THE EMBASSY HAS NO INFORMATION IN ITS FILES THAT WOULD CONFIRM THAT THE FOUR HAVE BEEN INVOLVED IN TERRORIST ACTIVITIES OR ARE MEMBERS OF THE MIR. IN A TELEPHONE CONVERSATION WITH THE AMBASSADOR, HOWEVER, THE NUNCIO SAID THAT HE BELIEVED THE FOUR WERE MIRISTAS.)

5. (C) AS THIS CABLE WAS BEING FINISHED, WE LEARNED THAT EACH INTRUDER CARRIED A SUB-MACHINE GUN, A PISTOL AND NUMEROUS ROUNDS OF AMMUNITION. THEY ALSO CARRIED HAND GRENADES AND BOMB-TYPE EXPLOSIVES. THE WEAPONS AND MUNITIONS WERE TURNED OVER BY THE NUNCIATURA TO THE CHILEAN SECURITY POLICE (CNI).

SUBJ: CHILEAN FOREIGN MINISTER ON US CERTIFICATION POLICY

REF: STATE 003484 (NOTAL)

1. (S)-ENTIRE TEXT.
2. DURING A MEETING WITH THE AMBASSADOR ON JANUARY 17, DURING WHICH THE PAPAL MEDIATION AND POLICY PLANNING CONSULTATIONS WERE DISCUSSED (SEE SEPTELS), FOREIGN MINISTER DEL VALLE EXPRESSED HIS DEEP CONCERN ABOUT HA ASSISTANT SECRETARY ABRAMS' LETTER OF DEC 23 TO THE WASHINGTON POST. THE FOREIGN MINISTER SAID THAT THE ABRAMS LETTER RAISED THE QUESTION WHETHER THERE HAD BEEN A CHANGE IN US CERTIFICATION POLICY. IN RESPONSE TO DEL VALLE'S REQUEST, THE AMBASSADOR OUTLINED US POLICY ON CERTIFICATION.
3. THE AMBASSADOR TOLD DEL VALLE THAT THE REAGAN ADMINISTRATION WOULD CERTIFY CHILE AS SOON AS THE SITUATION PERMITTED THE LEGAL REQUIREMENTS TO BE MET. HE EXPLAINED THAT A RETURN TO DEMOCRACY, WHICH THE USG SUPPORTED, WAS NOT A LEGAL CONDITION FOR CERTIFICATION.

PROGRESS TOWARDS DEMOCRACY OBVIOUSLY WOULD BE HELPFUL IN MAKING A CASE FOR CERTIFICATION BUT THAT THE INSTALLATION OF A DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENT WAS NOT A PRIOR CONDITION FOR RE-ESTABLSHMENT OF US MILITARY RELATIONS WITH CHILE. THE AMBASSADOR ADDED THAT THE USG COULD HAVE CERTIFIED ARGENTINA, SINCE ARGENTINA MET THE CERTIFICATION

CONDITIONS, PRIOR TO THE INAUGURATION OF THE NEW GOVERNMENT OF DECEMBER 10. ONCE THE CERTIFICATION CONDITIONS WERE MET, THE TIMING OF THE CERTIFICATION ANNOUNCEMENT WAS A TACTICAL MATTER.
4. DEL VALLE SAID THAT HE WAS REASSURED THAT THERE HAD BEEN NO CHANGE IN US CERTIFICATION POLICY BUT THAT THE ABRAMS LETTER HAD RAISED QUESTIONS WITHIN THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT REGARDING US INTENTIONS.
5. COMMENT: THE ABRAMS LETTER TO THE WASHINGTON POST, COMING AFTER VICE PRESIDENT BUSH'S REMARKS ON CHILE TO REPORTERS IN BUENOS AIRES DURING THE ALFONSIN INAUGURATION, HAS FED SPECULATION ABOUT US POLICY AND INTENTIONS TOWARD CHILE. THE SPECULATION AND CONFUSION ARE OF CONCERN ESPECIALLY BUT NOT ONLY TO THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT. MANY CHILEANS EITHER FEAR OR HOPE THAT THE USG MAY BE MOVING TOWARD IMPOSING A NEW CONDITION, THE RE-ESTABLISHMENT OF DEMOCRACY, FOR CERTIFICATION OF CHILE AND THE NORMALIZATION OF BILATERAL MILITARY TIES. IN OUR EFFORTS TO EXPLAIN AND ADVANCE THE FULL RANGE OF US POLITICAL, SECURITY, ECONOMIC AND OTHER INTERESTS IN CHILE, WE CONDINTUE TO POINT OUT THAT NOWHERE DOES THE STATUTORY HISTORY OR LANGUAGE CALL FOR PROGRESSS TOWARD DEMOCRACY OR ELECTION OF A NEW GOVERNMENT AS NECESSARY PRIOR CONDITIONS FOR 1 LIFTING THE PROHIBITION ON MILITARY SALES AND ASSISTANCE. SINCE OBIVIOUS, OF COURSE, AND SO WE UNDERSTAND THE RESPONSE BY VICE PRESIDENT BUSH TO PRESS QUERIES,THT PROGRESS TOWARD DEMOCRACY WILL ALLOW THE ADMINISTRATION TO MAKE A STRONGER CASE FOR CERTIFICATION AND FOR GREATER COOPERATION WITH CHILE. GIVEN THE SENSITIVITY OF THIS ISSUE AND THE NEED TO AVOID ANY CONFUSION REGARDING US POLICY, WE REQUEST AGAIN THAT THE DEPARTMENT CONSULT WITH THE EMBASS ON ALL PUBLIC COMMUNICATIONS ON US POLICY TOWARD CHILE, WITH THE OBVIOUS EXCEPTION OF OCCASIONS WHEN AN ADMINISTRATION SPOKESMAN RESPONDS TO SPONTANEOUS PRESS INQUIRIES.

1. SUMMARY: A PRELIMINARY LOOK AT THE ISSUE OF THE ABUSE OF AUTHORITY AND HUMAN RIGHTS BY THE MILITARY INDICATES THAT THE GOES IS TAKING SOME ACTION TO IDENTIFY AND PUNISH THE GUILTY. END SUMMARY.

2. REF A CITED THREE CASES IN WHICH THE GOES APPEARED TO BE MOVING AGAINST MILITARY ABUSES OF POWER AND ASKED FOR EMBASSY'S EVALUATION OF THIS APPARENT DEVELOPMENT. WE WERE ALREADY STUDYING THIS ISSUE AND MADE INQUIRIES WITH VARIOUS GOES OFFICIALS TO FOLLOW UP ON SEVERAL CASES (INCLUDING THE THREE MENTIONED IN REF A). FOLLOWING IS A SUMMARY OF THE REPORTED FACTS OF EACH CASE AND THE ACTIONS TAKEN TO DATE BY THE GOES.

3. ZARAGOZA MURDERS: REF B REPORTED THAT THE NATIONAL GUARD HAD COMPLETED ITS INVESTIGATION INTO THE KILLINGS. NATIONAL GUARD DIRECTOR COL. MONTES CONFIRMED TO POLOFF THAT HE HAD SUBMITTED THE REPORT TO MOD VIDES CASANOVA. WE WILL CLOSELY MONITOR THE PROGRESS IN THIS CASE.

4. SEGUEDA BROTHERS: THE TWO MEJICANOS MUNICIPAL POLICEMEN AND THE TAXI DRIVER CHARGED WITH THE MURDERS OF JUAN ANTONIO AND FRANCISCO OCTAVIO SEGUEDA ON JULY 12, 1983, ARE IN MARICHA PRISON AWAITING THE CONCLUSION OF THE COURT'S INVESTIGATION. THE COURT SECRETARY ADVISES AS WE ARE WELL AWARE THAT THIS INVESTIGATIVE STAGE CAN TAKE MANY MONTHS TO CONCLUDE. ACCORDING TO PRESS REPORTS, THE THREE MEN CONFESSED TO THE NATIONAL POLICE THAT THEY HAD ASSAULTED OTHER PERSONS AS WELL. WE HAVE NO INFORMATION TO INDICATE IF THIS CASE IS LINKED IN ANY WAY TO THE MEJICANOS KILLINGS REPORTED IN REF C.

5. SANTA ANA DOCTOR (REF D): HOSPITAL DIRECTOR DR. FELIX MAGANA DE PAZ, DR. CORDOVA MENJIVAR, AND MUNICIPAL POLICEMEN ANGEL DE JESUS CRUZ CASTILLO, MARIANO DE JESUS FUENTES CARRERA, AND MANUEL DE JESUS MEJIA LINARES WERE ARRESTED BY SANTA ANA NATIONAL POLICE ON NOVEMBER 9, 1983, FOR ARRANGING AND CARRYING OUT THE ARREST ON FALSE CHARGES OF JULIO LINARES RAMIREZ. THE JUDGE INFORMS US THAT ALL FIVE WERE RELEASED ON NOVEMBER 11 FOR LACK OF SUFFICIENT EVIDENCE.

6. SANTA ANA FARMERS: IN REF E, USIS REPORTED THE ARREST OF FIVE MEMBERS OF THE CIVIL DEFENSE OF GUARNESIA, SANTA ANA DEPARTMENT FOR THE MURDER OF DECEMBER 13, 1983 OF FARMERS MIGUEL FRANCISCO, MENENDEZ AND JUAN FERMIN SANCHEZ. WITNESSES CLAIMED THAT THE BAND, PASSING THEMSELVES OFF AS GUERRILLAS, HAD CARVED OUT SEVERAL MURDERS, RAPES, AND OTHER ASSAULTS. THE MODUS OPERANDI USED BY THE FIVE IN THE FARMERS' MURDERS CERTAINLY RESEMBLES DEATH SQUAD ACTIVITY AND THE MEN SUPPOSEDLY CONFESSED TO THE POLICE THAT THE FARMERS WERE KILLED BECAUSE THEY COLLABORATED WITH THE GUERRILLAS. HOWEVER, THIS GROUP IS CLEARLY NOT A DEATH SQUAD OF THE MORE OPENLY IDEOLOGICAL "SECRET ANTI-COMMUNIST ARMY" TYPE AND THIS CASE ILLUSTRATES THE VARIETY OF CRIMINAL ACTIVITY CURRENTLY LABELLED "DEATH SQUAD."

7. SAN VICENTE: ALL THE AFOREMENTIONED CASES HAVE BEEN REPORTED IN THE PRESS. FOR SAN VICENTE WE HAVE THREE PRESS REPORTED CASES AND INFORMATION ON THREE ADDITIONAL CASES WE OBTAINED FROM THE ESTADO MAYOR AND WHICH, TO OUR KNOWLEDGE, WERE NOT PUBLICIZED.

-- A) IN LATE MARCH 1983, THREE SOLDIERS OF THE FIFTH INFANTRY BRIGADE WERE EXPELLED FROM THE SERVICE AND CONSIGNED TO THE CIVIL COURT FOR THE RAPE, TORTURE AND MURDER OF MODESTA MERINO ON MARCH 16 IN CANTON SAN JUAN

DE MERINO, APOSTEPEQUE. THE PRESS ARTICLE DESCRIBED THE ACTION TAKEN AGAINST THE ACCUSED AS A DEMONSTRATION OF "THE VALUE OF JUSTICE AND THE RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS" IN EL SALVADOR. WE WILL FOLLOW-UP ON STATUS OF THE CASE.

-- B) REF F RECOUNTED A DECEMBER 8, 1983 PRESS REPORT OF THE CONVICTION OF TWO SOLDIERS FOR THE RAPE OF AN 11-YEAR OLD GIRL IN CANTON SAN FELIPE. THE COURT INFORMS US THAT THE SOLDIERS REMAIN UNDER ARREST IN THE SAN VICENTE PRISON, AWAITING SENTENCING.

-- C) THE EL MUNDO OF JANUARY 14, 1984 REPORTED THAT THE FORMER COMMANDER OF THE MILITARY PATROL IN BARRIO SAN JUAN DE DIOS, IN THE CITY OF SAN VICENTE WAS SENTENCED TO 23 YEARS IN PRISON FOR THE DECEMBER 30, 1982 MURDER OF SEAMAN JOSE ISRAEL MEJIA LEMUS AND THE WOUNDING OF PETRONA SANTOS RODRIGUEZ HERNANDEZ. THE ARTICLE SAYS THAT THE COMMANDANTE, ACCOMPANIED BY SUBORDINATES TOOK THE VICTIM OUT OF HIS HOUSE AND SHOT HIM ON THE PATIO IN FRONT OF HIS WIFE. NO MOTIVE WAS MENTIONED.

-- D) (THIS AND THE FOLLOWING TWO CASES APPARENTLY WENT UNREPORTED IN THE PRESS.) IN SEPTEMBER 1983, THE SANTO DOMINGO, SAN VICENTE CIVIL DEFENSE COMMANDER AND THREE OF HIS MEN WERE ARRESTED AND CONSIGNED TO THE CIVIL COURT ON CHARGES OF EXTORTING MONEY FROM TRAVELLERS ON THE PAN AMERICAN HIGHWAY. THE COURT INFORMS US THAT THE ACCUSED WERE RELEASED FOR LACK OF EVIDENCE.

-- E) ON OCTOBER 4, 1983, THE MAN WHO HAD REPLACED THE SANTO DOMINGO CIVIL DEFENSE COMMANDER DISCHARGED IN CASE D WAS HIMSELF CHARGED, ALONG WITH EIGHT OF HIS MEN, WITH THE MURDER OF A WOMAN, AND THE THEFT OF HER OXEN, IN CANTON EL PARAISO, SAN SEBASTIAN. THE COMMANDER ESCAPED, THE OTHER EIGHT CIVIL DEFENSE MEMBERS ARE UNDER ARREST AND AWAITING TRIAL.

-- F) IN SEPTEMBER 1983, A SOLDIER WAS ARRESTED AND CHARGED WITH STEALING A WATCH AND THREATENING THE LIFE

SAN SA 00928 02 OF 03 262045Z 6194 ARA4529
OF THE OWNER. THE SOLDIER IS CURRENTLY UNDER ARREST WHILE THE INVESTIGATION IS UNDERWAY.

-- G) ON DECEMBER 26, 1983, JOANNE BERNAL, A U.S. TOURIST, AND HER RESIDENT ALIEN HUSBAND WERE STOPPED, BEATEN WITH RIFLE BUTTS AND THREATENED WITH "DISAPPEARANCE" BY MEMBERS OF THE CIVIL DEFENSE FORCE WHILE DRIVING BY THEIR HEADQUARTERS LOCATED AT SOYAPANGO, EL SALVADOR. MINISTER OF DEFENSE VIDES CASANOVA LAUNCHED AN IMMEDIATE INVESTIGATION, FINDING THE LOCAL COMMANDER OF THE CIVIL DEFENSE GUILTY OF ABUSIVE CONDUCT. HE HAS BEEN SENTENCED TO 30 DAYS ARREST. THE THREE OTHER MEMBERS OF THE CIVIL DEFENSE FORCE INVOLVED IN THE INCIDENT ARE BEING HELD FOR CIVIL TRIAL BY THE JUDGE OF PEACE OF SOYAPANGO ON THE CHARGES OF "ABUSE OF AUTHORITY."

8. THESE CASES OF MILITARY CRIMINAL ACTIVITY RUN THE GAMUT FROM SIMPLE THEFT TO MURDER. A NUMBER OF THE MURDER CASES CERTAINLY FIT THE GENERAL PATTERN OF DEATH SQUAD ACTIVITY, IN THE SENSE THAT A GROUP OF ARMED MEN SUMMARILY SEIZED AND EXECUTED THEIR VICTIMS. HOWEVER, THE MOTIVES, THE LEADERSHIP, AND THE POLITICAL SIGNIFICANCE BEHIND THESE CRIMES, FACTORS THAT SURELY MUST BE CONSIDERED IN LABELLING A KILLING A DEATH SQUAD ACT, ARE UNCLEAR.

9. THE QUESTION, RAISED IN REF A, OF WHETHER THE GOES IS MOVING AGAINST SUCH ABUSES OF AUTHORITY IS DIFFICULT TO ANSWER WITH ANY CERTAINTY AT THIS POINT THOUGH THE EARLY SIGNS ARE ENCOURAGING. THERE IS NO DOUBT THAT MORE OF THESE CASES ARE APPEARING IN THE PRESS BUT WE HAVE NO IDEA YET WHETHER THIS IS BECAUSE THERE ARE, INDEED, MORE INSTANCES OF THE ARREST AND TRIAL OF THE MILITARY FOR CRIMINAL ACTIVITY OR WHETHER THE PRESS IS SIMPLY REPORTING MORE OF THESE INCIDENTS. NONETHELESS, EVEN IN THE LATTER CASE, GREATER PUBLIC AWARENESS OF THE PUNISHMENT OF ABUSES OF AUTHORITY MAY ENCOURAGE PEOPLE

1. CONFIDENTIAL ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY: ARENA PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE MAJOR ROBERTO D'AUBUISSON HAS CHARGED THAT "FOREIGN INTERESTS, HIDING BEHIND THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATS" WERE TRYING TO MANUFACTURE EVIDENCE AND TESTIMONIES INVOLVING HIM IN "ACTS (DEATHS AND MURDERS) IN WHICH I HAVE NEVER TAKEN PART" IN ORDER TO SABOTAGE HIS ELECTION PROSPECTS. END SUMMARY.

3. IN TV BROADCAST JANUARY 24, D'AUBUISSON ALLEGED THAT [redacted]

FOREIGN INTERESTS ARE FUNNELING A LARGE AMOUNT OF DOLLARS TO THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC PARTY (PDC) AND TO THE SALVADORAN GOVERNMENT TO PAY FOR THE TESTIMONY OF FALSE WITNESSES. HE SAID THEY ARE TRYING TO DEVELOP A CASE AGAINST HIM WHICH WOULD BE USED TO PREVENT HIS INSCRIPTION AS A PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE IN THE UPCOMING NATIONAL ELECTIONS. D'AUBUISSON ALSO SAID THAT "BAD NORTH AMERICANS, OF THE ILK OF (EX-U.S. AMBASSADOR) ROBERT WHITE, ARE BEHIND THIS INTRIGUE. THEY ARE ACTING

JUST LIKE THE NEFARIOUS DEPARTMENT OF STATE UNDER PRESIDENT CARTER. THEY ARE SEEKING TO IMPOSE A GOVERNMENT OF PUPPETS OPERATED BY CARTER-LIKE MANIPULATORS. I HAVE DEFINITE PROOF OF THIS AND, AT THE APPROPRIATE TIME, I WILL DEDICATE A FULL TV PROGRAM TO EXPOSE THIS THING."

4. D'AUBUISSON'S STATEMENTS, UTTERED DURING A JAN 22 CAMPAIGN SPEECH IN THE MELARA COOPERATIVE FARM IN LA LIBERTAD, WERE TELECAST OVER CHANNEL 2, A COMMERCIAL T STATION ON THE EVENING OF JANUARY 24. THE 30-MINUTE PROGRAM, PAID FOR BY ARENA, ALSO INCLUDED EXCERPTS OF OTHER CAMPAIGN SPEECHES BY D'AUBUISSON AND ARENA VICE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE HUGO BARRERA. D'AUBUISSON'S MAIN THEME THROUGHOUT WAS AN INCESSANT ATTACK AGAINST NAPOLEON DUARTE AND THE PDC BRANDING THEM AS THE CORRUPT DESTROYERS OF THE SALVADORAN ECONOMY AND FORMER ASSOCIATES OF THE PRESENT GUERRILLA LEADERSHIP. IN A MORE CONSTRUCTIVE VEIN, HUGO BARRERA DEFENDED THE AGRARIAN REFORM AND PROMISED HIS PREDOMINANTLY CAMPESI LISTENERS THAT ARENA WOULD DO NOTHING TO REVERSE THE REFORM PROCESS.

IN THIS CASE, THEY HAVE LINKED THE "WHITE COMMISSION" CHARGES OF D'AUBUISSON'S INVOLVEMENT WITH DEATH SQUAD ACTIVITY TO HIS VISA DENIAL AND THE EMBASSY'S FORTHRIGHT DENUNCIAT OF DEATH SQUAD ACTIVITY. TO D'AUBUISSON'S WAY OF THINKING, AND THAT OF HIS CLOSEST FOLLOWERS, THESE INCIDENTS ARE PART OF A PLOT -- ABETTED BY UNRECONSTRU CARTERITES HIDDEN IN THE CURRENT ADMINISTRATION -- TO DENY HIM THE PRESIDENCY. EL SALVADOR

Salvador is a democratic republic governed by a multiparty overnment of National Unity which was named by a Constituent Assembly elected freely in 1982. Democracy in El Salvador continues to be limited by the state of siege which suspends some constitutional rights in a response to the military mergency resulting from guerrilla attacks. The armed forces emain a significant political force in the country, and the xtreme left does not participate in the political system. In tober 1979 a right-wing military government was overthrown by roup of reformist military officers. This military junta s replaced in January 1980 by a joint Christian Democratic rty-Armed Forces government. After decades of social equality and repression, this Government initiated major conomic and political reforms. These reforms continue to rogress although their benefits have been reduced by violent esistance from the extreme right and by relentless guerrilla rfare from the extreme left abetted by Cuba and Nicaragua. 1983 El Salvador adopted a new constitution drafted by the onstituent Assembly in preparation for a presidential election n March 1984. With this election, the democratic structure nvisaged by the coup of 1979 will be in place.

he Salvadoran Government's authority is currently being ontested by the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front FMLN)--a coalition of Marxist/Leninist-led guerrilla rganizations. The political affiliate of this organization, he Revolutionary Democratic Front (FDR), includes elements of cial democratic origin. One of the strategies of the FMLN volves the destruction of the Salvadoran economic nfrastructure. Also targeted are municipal and national overnment installations, military personnel, and alleged overnment collaborators. The guerrillas and the FDR have blished a general public program for a future government ich includes a mixed economy and maintenance of certain dividual liberties. In internal documents and speeches to eir own organizations, FMLN leaders embrace the concepts of ictatorship of the proletariat, of the vanguard role of the evolutionary movement with regard to the rest of society, and f democratic centralism or disciplined adherence to decisions assed down by leaders. Political decisionmaking within the uerrilla movement takes place in some cases by bargaining mong the leaders of its constituent factions, in other cases y intimidation and assassination. During 1983 one FMLN ader, Comandante Ana Maria (Melinda Amaya Montes) was dered on the orders of another guerrilla leader Cayetano lo, who committed suicide when his involvement in the der was discovered.

use of human rights remains a central problem, despite forts of the government to end violence from right-wing death uads, some of which have links to the security forces, and om its own security forces, as well as from the guerrilla ft. The level of political violence remains high, but oncombatant deaths have declined steadily since a peak in 80. The number of disappearances in 1983 remained at about e same level as in 1982. Elements within the Government curity forces are still believed to use torture as arbitrary nishment or to extract information from suspected leftists.

Individuals can be and are arrested without warrants, detained for investigation, sometimes for long periods before charges are brought, and, if charged with such crimes as sedition and treason, rarely brought to trial.

All human rights conditions in El Salvador are strongly affected by the ongoing civil strife. As is common during civil strife, the achievement of a public order that would protect each person's rights has been disrupted by military operations, partisan hatreds, acts of revenge, the satisfaction of personal grudges, pervasive fear, and a prevailing uncertainty dominated by violence. This situation contributed to, and is complicated by, the near-paralysis of the judicial system, which is caused in part by corruption and intimidation and which is most evident when crimes of a political nature are being considered.

The allocation of responsibility for specific crimes done by certain rightist elements or by the members of the security forces associated with them has been difficult. It is characteristic of Salvadoran society that personal loyalties to relatives or locally powerful individuals are strong and often compete with loyalties to legal superiors within the organizations of the Government or to officers within the military chain of command. Thus, it is often difficult to know whether, in taking a given action, a member of the security force is obeying orders handed down through a military or government chain of command, carrying out the wishes of some local patron, or acting on his own.

The most profound recent change has been the opening up of the political system and the restoration of government accountability through elections. This new political dynamic began with elections for a Constituent Assembly in March 1982. Some 1.5 million Salvadorans voted; only the extreme left refused to participate. The March 1982 elections produced an Assembly in which no party held an absolute majority but which proved capable of drafting and approving a modern, liberal constitution. A multiparty Government of National Unity, named by the Constitutent Assembly, has functioned slowly but successfully by consensus.

The new Constitution, which entered into force on December 20, 1983, establishes a republican, pluralistic form of government; strengthens the legislative branch and enhances judicial independence; improves safeguards for individual rights; establishes safeguards against excessive provisional detention and unreasonable searches; and protects the legal bases of land reform.

Presidential elections will be held on March 25, 1984. Six candidates are actively campaigning for the presidency. Legislative and mayoral elections are planned for early 1985.

The Government of El Salvador is seeking a political solution to the armed conflict through a dialogue on democratic elections within El Salvador and participation in the regional Contadora process. El Salvador's Peace Commission remains prepared to meet with the armed left and its political associates to discuss their participation in free elections, including physical security for candidates and access to the media.

In 1980 the civilian-military junta enacted a wide-sweeping program of land reform to transfer land ownership from a small number of large holders to farmers who had previously worked the land as laborers, renters, or sharecroppers. Although plagued by problems including illegal evictions of beneficiaries, difficulties in compensating former owners, and violence, the land reform is making steady progress.

Major efforts are underway to ensure more effective functioning of the criminal justice system, including provision of greater judicial independence under the new Constitution and the creation of two legal reform commissions. The Government of El Salvador is developing programs to improve investigative capacities and protection for participants in the legal process and to modernize penal and evidentiary codes.

RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS

Section 1 Respect for the Integrity of the Person, Including Freedom from:

a. Unlawful or Arbitrary Deprivation of Life

El Salvador continues to suffer from politically motivated violence engendered in part by continuing political polarization, as well as a traditional recourse to violence in disputes of any nature (political, economic, or even private feuds). Extremists of the right and left are guilty of politically motivated civilian deaths as are some members of the Armed Forces. The climate created by the guerrilla violence has further depreciated the value of human life.

Extremists of both sides employed assassination to eliminate perceived enemies, to intimidate, and to make their political points. Catholic Archbishop Rivera y Damas has appealed to the Government and the Armed Forces to put an end to the repression caused by the security forces, the paramilitary bands, and fanatic organizations.

Far right death squads, some of which have had links with elements in the security forces, assumed a higher profile during the last half of 1983 by targeting prominent individuals and forcing the media to carry their communiques. The "Maximiliano Hernandez Martinez Anti-Communist Brigade," which had been relatively quiet since the March 1982 Constituent Assembly elections, resurfaced in September 1983 and claimed responsibility for a series of kidnappings and murders. Another group, the "Secret Anti-Communist Army," claimed responsibility for the murder of two civil servants in late June and for the torture and murder on September 10 of two Ministry of Education literacy campaign workers. More secretive squads operate in rural areas, kidnapping, torturing, and murdering their victims without claiming responsibility for these acts.

Some units and individuals of the Armed Forces (which include the army, the security forces, and the civil defense) have committed violent abuses. On February 22, at least 18 farmers at the Las Hojas farm cooperative were killed, apparently by elements of a Salvadoran army unit. The judge has completed his investigation and expects to move the case to trial in the next few months. (The Government's Human Rights Commission carried out its own investigation and delivered its report to President Magana.) In Zaragoza, La Libertad Department, there are indications that a civil defense force was involved in the November 1983 kidnapping of seven men and two pregnant women later found dead in a ravine. This incident is under investigation.

Some of the charges against government forces appear to be exaggerated, misleading, or false, such as those leveled against the Atlacatl Battalion in a November 3, 1983, action near Cinquera in Cabanas Department. In this particular case, after the alleged massacre was publicized by the guerrillas' Radio Venceremos, journalists visited the village of San Nicolas near Copapayo, where government troops were accused of herding 20 civilians into a house and then murdering them. Although the facts are still far from clear, there was apparently no evidence of gunfire within the house to support the allegation of a cold-blooded murder. This lends credibility to the Government's account of a major military engagement in a nearby area from which bodies may have been brought to the house.

Once a member of the military has been charged with a civil crime, he is dismissed from military service and tried in a civilian court as a civilian. In the first eight months of 1983, 127 members of the Armed Forces were turned over to civilian courts for trial. For example, in August, 1983, Sergeant Jose Mario Solozano, Commander of the civil defense in Verapaz, San Vicente Department, was sentenced to 30 years imprisonment for the murder of a seminary student in November 1981. Several members of the security forces are now facing trial for politically motivated human rights violations, but none has yet been convicted.

The Government has stepped up its campaign against death squad activity in response to the upsurge in killings claimed by death squads of the extreme right. On September 23, 1983, El Salvador's Ministry of Defense issued a statement repudiating "all terrorist actions from whatever source, because they constitute violations of human rights." On December 2, Minister of Defense Vides Casanova pledged "to bring before the law the members of these terrorist bands--whoever they may be and whatever reasons they might give to justify their illegal activity." On December 15, in an unusual act, the High Command of the Salvadoran Armed Forces and commanders of the military and the public security forces issued a statement endorsing the position of the Minister of Defense and pledging "to fight the death squads and the terrorist groups with all the means at our disposal until they are definitively eradicated from our country." President Magana, in his December 23 Christmas message to the nation, also spoke forcefully against the death squads, saying that to permit such activity is to promote a return to the law of the jungle. The President underscored his commitment and that of the Armed Forces' commanders to ensure the physical security of the citizenry. The Government's Political Commission and the Constituent Assembly have also spoken out forcefully against terrorists, including the death squads, as have political parties with a wide range of political philosophies.

In addition to the civilian deaths which the press directly attributed to the guerrillas, the guerrillas are also responsible for the deaths of a significant, if indeterminate, number of civilians who are forcibly used as a shield against government forces in combat situations. The guerrillas have interfered with the Armed Forces battlefield communications to redirect military fire from the guerrillas themselves to civilian targets.

Sources of information on political violence include newspapers, the armed forces, court records, human rights organizations, leftist organizations, and personal testimonies. Each of these is subject to limitations and/or biases. The four press dailies do report on violence. Although access to some rural areas is limited, press reports of deaths are considered a valid basis for data on political violence in rural areas. The armed forces have increased the release of information to the public, including casualty figures. Government information on guerrilla casualties, however, is subject to exaggeration. Court records list victims of violence identified by justices of the peace throughout the country. Such reports yield little additional information in cases of political violence, since witnesses rarely come forward. However, they are useful to determine trends.

...organizations which report on violence, besides the ...Government's Human Rights Commission, include the Legal Aid ...Office of the Archdiocese Commission for Justice and Peace ...(Tutela Legal), Christian Legal Aid (Socorro Juridico ...Christiano), the Committee of Mothers and Relatives of ...Political Prisoners and the Disappeared, and the El Salvador ...Human Rights Commission. In addition, the Center of ...Investigation and Documentation of the Jesuit-run University of ...Central America is a human rights information clearing house. These groups rely primarily on newspaper reporting, supplemented by other sources such as announcements by guerrilla groups and personal testimony. In an effort to overcome what many in the Government feel is the leftist bias of these human rights groups, President Magana created the Human Rights Commission, composed of leaders of the church, labor, private sector, and the National Police. The Commission monitors and analyzes the human rights situation.

According to these groups, the monthly averages for such deaths in the first six months of 1983 varied from 161 to 470. According to press reports, the monthly average was 177, compared to 269 in the first half of the previous year. During the last six months of 1983, the monthly average dropped to 104, a 41 percent decrease. The average for all of 1983 was 140 deaths per month compared to 219 in 1982 and 444 in 1981. Moreover, for four of the last six months of 1983 the number of press-reported deaths per month fell below 100 for the first time in recent years. Tutela Legal's figures on civilian deaths, mostly of guerrilla supporters (masas) that occur during military engagements or operations, now account for almost 80 percent of Tutela Legal's overall total of civilian victims of political violence. When civilian battlefield-related deaths are subtracted, Tutela Legal's violence figures for the last six months of 1983 are remarkably similar to the number of civilian deaths attributable to political violence reported in the Salvadoran press.

b. Disappearance

The number of press-reported civilian disappearances averaged 39 per month in 1983. This compares with 160 per month in 1981 and 38 per month in 1982. Disappearances occur under a variety of circumstances. Newspaper and eyewitness accounts often describe "armed men in civilian dress" as the perpetrators of the seizures. Some persons reported to have disappeared are later found assassinated; others may actually be in hiding; still others subsequently are found to have been arrested under state of seige provisions and detained in security force facilities.

Many of the disappearances of private citizens are attributed to government forces. Counterinsurgency units of the different security forces routinely practice arbitrary arrest and clandestine detention, the former legally permitted by the broad provisions of the state of siege Decree 507. The police can legally hold a prisoner for only up to 72 hours before bringing charges; in practice, prisoners are frequently held for longer periods. Family members of individuals detained in this way often make inquiries at the different security force headquarters to find out where their relatives are being held. In late 1983 "disappearances" often turned into reappearances within the criminal enforcement system.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights Special Project (1993)

On December 14, 1983, the Minister of Defense issued a general order requiring security force members to be in uniform in virtually all cases when conducting arrests, to identify themselves while making the arrest, and to notify the Armed Forces Chiefs of Staff, the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC), the Government's Human Rights Commission and the detainees' relatives. The order permits incarceration only in officially recognized places of detention and reinforces the prohibition against the use of torture.

Guerrilla units stage kidnappings for ransom. Because the families of kidnap victims generally try to avoid publicity in order to negotiate their release, these guerrilla kidnappings receive little media coverage. In his January 8, 1984, homily during Sunday mass at San Salvador's Metropolitan Cathedral, Auxiliary Archbishop Rosa Chavez publicly called upon the guerrilla leadership to release the people they had kidnapped. He made particular reference to Luis Ernesto Meardi Borlasca, who has been held by the guerrillas since November 23, 1983, and who is blind and suffering from heart problems. There are continued reports that guerrillas have kidnapped civilians in order to recruit them.

c. Torture and Cruel, Inhuman, or Degrading Treatment or Punishment

During 1983, elements within the security forces used psychological and physical torture as arbitrary punishment or to extract information from those suspected of assisting the armed guerrilla movement. It is believed that torture almost exclusively occurred during the initial stages of detention. Electric shock, severe beatings, and deprivation of food, water and sleep are the most frequently mentioned types of coercion. There is evidence that the use of torture often has been prolonged and extreme. It is not possible to establish the prevalence of torture because valid and systematic means for documenting cases do not exist.

d. Arbitrary Arrest, Detention, or Exile

Decree 507 permits arrest without a warrant, and people are commonly taken from their homes at night by armed men in civilian clothes who refuse to identify themselves. Arrests are often made on the basis of another person's denunciation of the suspect's alleged subversive links. In fact, the real motive for denunciation may be different, such as a purely personal dispute or for personal gain. People have given testimony of being held in clandestine jails before being transferred to one of the security force headquarters.

Decree 507, as amended by Decree 943, allows the Armed Forces to detain an individual for investigation, without charges, for up to 15 days. Then they are required either to release the person or remand him to the military tribunal. Once remanded to a tribunal, individuals may be held for up to 180 days during a preliminary investigation period, which the tribunal may extend. Security forces often hold prisoners, particularly those they do not acknowledge holding, much longer for investigation. As of mid-September 1983, Mariona Prison had 376 Decree 507 prisoners; Ilopango Prison had 52 Decree 507 prisoners. The National Police headquarters in San Salvador is the largest security force detention center, holding up to 250 individuals. A person acting on behalf of someone who has disappeared can file a writ of "personal exhibition" with the Supreme Court, which has jurisdiction over all such petitions. The Court then names a "Judge Executor" who tries to locate the individual. If successful, the "Judge Executor" analyzes for the Supreme Court the validity of the legal grounds necessary for continued detention. However, if security forces do not acknowledge a person's detention, the writ is of little value because of the difficulty of locating the person. During 1983, the Supreme Court reviewed 1048 such writs and ordered the release of the prisoner in over 10 percent (112) of the cases.

Conditions in the penal centers are generally good. Visitors to Mariona and Ilopango confirm that these facilities, where political prisoners, along with common criminals, are kept, are clean and well-run and provide the basic necessities. There have been no recent complaints of ill-treatment by prisoners once they are confined within these prisons. The National Police have recently allowed representatives from the Archdiocese's Legal Aid Office (Oficina de Tutela Legal) unimpeded access to the detention facilities.

e. Denial of Fair Public Trial

After four years of civil war, the historically weak and ineffective criminal justice system in El Salvador is in a state of near collapse. Delays of two to three years or longer in the prosecution of criminal cases are common. In one recent case, six former university policemen were convicted of murders which occurred in 1978. Regardless of the type of crime, judges, lawyers, witnesses, and jury members have been subject to bribery, threats, and intimidation.

In addition to the promulgation of the Constitution, there were two developments of major significance to the justice system in El Salvador in 1983: the amnesty program and the movement toward judicial reform. On May 4 the Constituent Assembly unanimously passed an amnesty law drafted by the Government's Peace Commission. Under the program, which was in effect from May 16 to August 15, the Government offered amnesty to:

- (1) Salvadorans in armed rebellion against the government;
- (2) Prisoners detained under Decree 507 who were charged with crimes, the penalties for which did not exceed four years, and who had spent at least six months in prison; and
- (3) Prisoners already sentenced under Decree 507 whose sentences did not exceed four years.

An Amnesty Board along with the Government's Human Rights Commission and the Intergovernmental Committee for Migration (ICM) assisted some beneficiaries and family members to resettle abroad. The Committee also assisted those beneficiaries wishing to remain in El Salvador to settle on government-owned farms.

hen the program ended on August 15, 1,159 individuals had enefitted from the amnesty; 562 were political prisoners eleased from prison and 597 were persons who turned themselves) and were processed as amnesty beneficiaries. Amnesty Board mbers believe that 60 to 70 percent of the men in the second roup were actual guerrilla combatants. At the end of 1983 here were 494 political prisoners being held by the Government.

Major efforts are underway to ensure more effective functioning f the criminal justice system. In June, President Magana appointed a Judicial Reform Study Commission composed of government officials. The Commission proposed that Decree 507 be revised to eliminate prolonged detention and to ensure a greater measure of due process. A follow-on commission on reform of the criminal justice system was created by President Magana on September 26 and is charged with a broad mandate to recommend to the President code and procedural reforms and legal or regulatory changes to improve the judicial system generally.

In a related development, the Supreme Court announced on September 9 the formation of its own Penal Reform Commission on revision of criminal laws, which will be composed of three justices and two private lawyers expert in criminal law.

Most political cases are dealt with under Decree 507 by the military and not by the civilian courts. Most crimes against the state, such as treason and sedition, and associated crimes related to subversion or terrorism are subject to trial by military tribunals. Once remanded to the tribunals, individuals may be held for up to 180 days during a preliminary nvestigatory period, which the tribunals may extend. Most of : political prisoners are in this extended status. They are t permitted legal representation during this period, nor are awyers permitted access to evidence. The tribunals have uthority to determine admissibility of evidence, including xtrajudicial confessions and denunciations. Identities of the embers of the tribunals, who are active duty military fficers, are secret. The Supreme Court has the authority to verturn decisions taken by these tribunals; however, this is arely the case.

f. Arbitrary Interference with Privacy, Family, Home, or Correspondence.

The Government of El Salvador does not interfere in personal life except in matters it considers related to the guerrilla war, although this exception has had a considerable impact on rivate life. Little is known of guerrilla behavior within their own organizations. Both the Government and the guerrillas utilize networks of informers. Phone numbers for making denunciations to the armed forces are publicized, and security forces rely on these informers and anonymous enunciations about alleged criminal and subversive activities.

ecree 507 authorizes search and seizure without a warrant, and members of the Armed Forces regularly use forced entry to carry ut arrests and investigations. The Government's Human Rights Commission reported 45 cases of forced entry into a home or orkplace the first six months of 1983.

The National Telephone Company has the ability to monitor telephone conversations.

The constitutional provision protecting the inviolability of correspondence is suspended under the state of siege. Postal officials have the authority to inspect correspondence, and it is believed they do so on occasion.

Section 2 Respect for Civil Rights, Including:

a. Freedom of Speech and Press

State of siege Decree 507 suspends the constitutional rights of freedom of speech and press, but the greatest impediments to free expression and speech are violent political polarization and fear of reprisals, which have made many Salvadorans afraid to express their views.

Most San Salvador newspapers reflect a conservative point of view, and criticism of the Government from the right is common and often quite vigorous. News of a controversial nature is almost always provided by international wire services rather than by local reporters. Opinion from the left is limited by the newspapers themselves, but to varying degrees they accept paid advertisements from organizations loosely associated with the left. Spirited and often acrimonious debates are conducted through paid ads from groups across the political spectrum. In 1983, newspapers were not the target of terrorist bombings, as in the past, but radio stations have been bombed and attacked by both rightist and leftist armed groups. News from the major radio stations tends to be the most balanced and thorough. Foreign correspondents regularly file reports without censorship or delays and find the country and its leaders and citizens very accessible.

The only prominent 1983 example of active government control of the media occurred during the mutiny of Lt. Colonel Sigfriedo Ochoa, who in January announced that he would not obey orders from the Minister of Defense. After several days the Government forbade the publication in the local media of any information on the subject of the Ochoa mutiny which did not come from an official source. Agents were placed at all newspapers, radio stations, and television news organizations to ensure compliance. The international press was not affected by this order and continued to send uncensored accounts out of the country.

In spite of pervasive fear of extremist reprisals, a number of sources publish dissenting opinions. Most prominent are the frequent news release from Salvadoran organizations denouncing human rights abuses. The Jesuit-run University of Central America (UCA) publishes a bimonthly journal which often supports the guerrilla point of view and which advocates negotiations for power sharing with the guerrillas. A recent edition was dedicated entirely to the subject of "U.S. intervention" in Central America. The UCA also publishes a weekly analysis of national and international events with a leftist perspective. National University and Archdiocese publications are also critical, although the Archdiocese in its publication criticizes the guerrillas as well as the Government.

Academic freedom is constitutionallly guaranteed. Although the National University campus has been closed and occupied by the military since 1980, it continues to operate in a number of rented locales. There are over 25 private universities in El Salvador. While the Government puts no formal restrictions on academic freedom, virtually all universities control or limit the teaching of subjects which could be considered controversial. Political activity is prohibited by statute at most of the major private universities, and only one university offers a degree in political science. In September, three law professors from the National University were kidnapped and one law professor from the same university was assassinated. A right-wing death squad claimed responsibility for two of the kidnappings.

b. Freedom of Peaceful Assembly and Association

Decree 507 suspends the constitutional right to free assembly and association. Beginning with the 1982 Constituent Assembly election campaign, however, the Salvadoran Government reinstated the right of assembly for political parties and peaceful organizations, including the Catholic Church and democratic labor groups, but not for the organizations of the revolutionary left.

Salvadoran unions are independent and free from government control. There is no government-sponsored labor federation. The Salvadoran Labor Code recognizes labor's right to strike, organize, and negotiate. The right to strike, however, is limited in part by Decree 296, which prohibits labor activity with potential repercussions on the economy. Although public employees are not allowed by the Constitution to organize as unions, there were, in fact, a number of well-organized public sector strikes in 1983 which elicited no significant reaction from the Government.

Less than 20 percent of the work force belongs to any labor organization, including peasant organizations which are not recognized formally as labor unions. El Salvador's labor organizations maintain close relations with most of the important international labor movements. The relative weakness of the organized labor movement in El Salvador during the past three years is due primarily to the catastrophic state of the economy and to political violence. Recent public labor demonstrations are an indication that labor strength is again on the rise.

The Popular Democratic Unity (UPD), a federation of farmer organizations and labor unions, on March 1, 1983, held a mass demonstration in support of the extension of the third phase of the agrarian reform. On September 27, the UPD held another, larger demonstration in support of agrarian reform.

The strength of the organized leftist labor federations has dissipated in recent years, and the continuing political crisis and terrorism have driven some leftist labor leaders and organizations underground. Nonetheless, they still exist as legal organizations and have been recently successful in convincing some democratic labor groups to join their common front, the Movement of Labor Union Unity (MUSYGES). MUSYGES held its May Day Congress at which participants, protected by the Armed Forces, criticized the Government.

Reaction from the left and the right to union activity has sometimes been extreme. Abductions and murders of labor leaders have been a serious problem. Nine union leaders of both leftist and rightist orientation disappeared or were murdered during 1983, and a number of other labor activists suffered a similar fate.

c. Freedom of Religion

Freedom of religion is guaranteed under the Constitution. The Catholic Church, headed by Archbishop Arturo Rivera y Damas, is one of El Salvador's most influential institutions. The hierarchy continues to speak out against human rights abuses by all parties, including the army and the security forces, and to call for a dialogue between the left and the Government.

The Church expressed its views on articles in the draft Constitution which related to religion and the role of the Church and succeeded in obtaining some of the changes it sought.

The clergy generally was no longer as much a target of rightist violence as it was before 1982. However, the "Secret Anti-Communist Army" did claim responsibility for the bombing without casualties in September of the residence of the Jesuits who run the University of Central America. The Archbishop and Auxiliary Bishop Rosa Chavez have also received threatening phone calls. Church lay workers at times were suspected by the Government of aiding or collaborating with the guerrillas. In July, six laymen who worked with the Archdiocese's refugee program were arrested by the National Police on suspicion of membership in a guerrilla group. Two of the six have been released for lack of evidence. The other four were in prison pending submission of their cases to a military court under Decree 507.

Foreign missionaries were able to enter the country to proselytize. Fundamentalist Christian groups continued to attract new members.

d. Freedom of Movement within the Country, Foreign Travel, Emigration, and Repatriation

Although the state of siege decree formally suspended the constitutional right to free movement, this suspension continued to have little effect in practice. The continuing civil strife displaced an estimated 465,000 persons within El Salvador, primarily in the northern and eastern departments. Another 58,000 to 67,000 displaced Salvadorans lived in camps outside El Salvador, primarily in Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, and Mexico. Governments, including that of El Salvador, international organizations, and private voluntary organizations assisted the displaced.

There were no restrictions on emigration. The Government assisted those amnesty beneficiaries who wished to leave the country to resettle elsewhere.

Salvadorans who were deported back to or, for other reasons, returned to El Salvador were not subject to any official penalties, harassment, or reprisals. They were free to resume their lives in the country. Claims have been made repeatedly

El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (19[illegible]) that Salvadorans returned from the United States were being singled out for persecution, primarily because they had been in the United States. All efforts to find evidence to support these claims have been unsuccessful.

Section 3 Respect for Political Rights: The Right of Citizens to Change Their Government

El Salvador is a country in transition to multiparty democracy. In 1982 four of the parties in the Constitutent Assembly signed the Pact of Apaneca establishing the "Government of National Unity" and setting common goals for government. The pact also established the Political Commission composed of the President, a political independent; the three vice presidents, each representing one of the three major parties; and the ministers of defense and foreign affairs. The Political Commission acts in effect as the Government's executive committee. The Armed Forces, which have historically dominated the Salvadoran political scene, wield considerable power in key decisions. Six parties are represented in the 60-member Constituent Assembly, elected in 1982. Presidential elections are scheduled for March 25, 1984. A new contitution was promulgated on December 20, and with its approval the Constitutent Assembly became the Legislative Assembly.

The new Constitution strengthens the rights of private citizens. Presumption of innocence pending proof of guilt is codified in the Constitution for the first time. Measures have also been taken to strengthen the judiciary. The Attorney General is to be appointed by the legislature, rather than by the executive, and will have new investigatory powers. The Supreme Court's budget will be incorporated unchanged into the Government's general budget. There is also provision for enhanced judicial review of legislation.

The Government is also attempting to incorporate all Salvadorans into the democratic electoral process. The Government's Peace Commission met twice with representatives of the guerrilla organizations and their political allies in 1983 to discuss participation in the upcoming elections and the ongoing democratic process.

Section 4 Governmental Attitude Regarding International and Non-governmental Investigation of Alleged Violations of Human Rights

The Government has been forthcoming with visiting human rights missions, providing information, making its officials available for discussion, and permitting the inspection of detention centers. In recognition of the situation in El Salvador, the Government created an official Human Rights Commission to represent individual citizen interests vis-a-vis the security forces and justice system.

The United Nations Human Rights Commission's Special Representative visited the country in 1983 for the third consecutive year and received substantial cooperation from the Government. Representatives of Americas Watch and Amnesty International made factfinding visits, as did a group cosponsored by the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the International League for Human Rights. Other private organizatons also sent delegations to report on El Salvador's human rights situation; each has been received and briefed at the highest levels.

The International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) continued to be active in El Salvador with the cooperation of the Government. The ICRC visited prisoners held in the country's prisons and detention facilities and provided medical assistance in areas not under the control of the Government of El Salvador.

Within El Salvador, there are five nongovernmental organizations which have the defense of human rights as their stated objective: The Archdiocese's Oficina de Tutela Legal (the Legal Protection Office); Socorro Juridico Cristiano (Christian Legal Aid); the El Salvador Human Rights Commission; the Committee of Mothers and Relatives of Political Prisoners and the Disappeared; and the University Center for Investigation and Documentation at the Jesuit-run University of Central America.

Generally these groups accept inquiries in individual human rights cases, file writs of personal exhibition on behalf of the disappeared, and publish statistics. These organizations are highly critical of government policy; they denounce both the Government and the Armed Forces for human rights violations but normally do not criticize the guerrillas for similar abuses. These groups generally are not harassed by the Government. However, the nongovernmental Human Rights Commission was attacked in the press by the Armed Forces Press Committee this summer for alleged links to the guerrillas.

During 1983 the Salvadoran Government created an official Human Rights Commission. Its members include lawyers, a peasant leader, a representative of the Roman Catholic Church, and the Director of the National Police. The official Human Rights Commission initiates investigations within 24 hours after receipt of an inquiry or complaint. The Commission played an important role in denouncing and then investigating the Las Hojas massacre in February. During 1983, the Commission received 917 complaints or inquiries. Included in this total were 45 people under detention by the military who were freed; 218 people reported to have disappeared who were found to be under military detention; 83 persons who received protection from the Commission; 14 persons reported as missing who were found dead and for whom investigations were requested; and 18 amnesty beneficiaries. The Commission aided 152 amnesty beneficiaries in emigrating from El Salvador to Canada, Australia, the U.S., and Belgium. The Commission received increasing cooperation from the security forces in responding to inquiries.

ECONOMIC, SOCIAL, AND CULTURAL SITUATION

El Salvador has a per capita Gross National Product of approximately $717. Production is largely based on agriculture. Guerrilla attacks on the economic infrastructure, increasing population pressure on scarce land, and investment uncertainties have curtailed production and growth. Civil strife during the last four years, however, has disrupted development, particularly in rural areas. Leftist guerrillas have targeted the economic infrastructure, attacking the power grid, bridges, roads, railroads, bases, the telephone system, and crop processing and storage facilities.

El Salvador's economy faces severe structural problems with an extremely high population density for an agriculturally-based economy, high unemployment and underemployment, a lack of mineral wealth, and an inadequate health and education infrastructure.

lvador's estimated population of five million has a growth f 2.9 percent per year which places constant pressure on ...rds of living and on meager government revenues. The 1980 infant mortality rate was 78 per 1,000 live births. Roughly 10 percent of the population has an inadequate caloric intake. Some 53 percent of the population has easy access to potable water.

Literacy has risen to 62 percent of the total adult population. Some 82 percent of all primary school-age children are enrolled in school, with virtually no discrimination on the basis of sex.

n March of 1980, El Salvador instituted sweeping social and onomic reforms designed in part to transfer ownership of lands from the small number of large landholders to those o worked the land. Under Phase I of the Land Reform Program, l farms of more than 500 hectares (1,235 acres) were nverted into worker cooperatives to be managed jointly by the embers themselves and the Government Land Reform Institute ntil the cooperatives are able to manage themselves; at that oint the Government would withdraw and the cooperatives would become autonomous. The number of beneficiaries under Phase I is 31,359 (or about 188,000 beneficiaries when family members are included). Phase II is clarified in the new Salvadoran Constitution by establishing a ceiling of 245 hectares (605 cres) that an individual may own and giving affected owners three years to sell property in excess of that limit to peasants or peasant organizations. The state can expropriate without prior compensation any excess land not disposed of during the three-year period. Under Phase III of the land reform process, farms previously rented or sharecropped can be claimed in parcels of up to seven hectares (17.3 acres) by the former renters or sharecroppers. Potential beneficiaries under this phase are estimated to number as many as 117,000, excluding family members. By late December 1983, some 60,733 persons had filed petitions for land under Phase III, over 50 percent of those estimated to be eligible. Including family members, more than 364,000 Salvadorans are now moving under Phase III toward ownership of the land they work. The number of property owners compensated now stands at 499, an increase of 394 in 1983.

Landowners affected by Phase III have resisted strongly, often with violence and forced eviction of beneficiaries. Many who have lost land are not wealthy, and there is some evidence that most violence and illegal evictions come from the owners of the smallest, not largest, farms. Many landowners have filed "oppositions" with the Government, thus contesting the peasant's claim and keeping the applicant from the land until the case is resolved. Peasant organizations have complained that the adjudication process takes too long and is too often decided in favor of the landlord.

Although the Government of El Salvador has traditionally supported and continues to support private property rights, compensation of former owners has been partial and paid very slowly, principally because of lack of funds. To date 203 Phase I properties out of 426 have been compensated.

Women are active in almost all aspects of political activity. There are six women deputies in the Assembly, 10 percent of the membership, including one who served in 1[illegible] as a vice president of the Assembly. Women are also active in political [illegible] leadership outside the Assembly and occupy municipal as [illegible] national government offices. There are several

SUBJECT: ARCHBISHOP ORDERS TWO PRO-LEFT HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICES OUT OF THE ARCHBISHOPRIC'S GROUNDS

REFS: (A) SAN SALVADOR 0571; (B) SAN SALVADOR 0048

1. (LOU) WE HAVE LEARNED THAT ARCHBISHOP RIVERA Y DAMAS HAS ORDERED THE COMITE DE MADRES AND THE NON-GOVERNMENTAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION OF EL SALVADOR (CDHES) PHYSICALLY OUT OF THEIR OFFICES IN THE ARCHBISHOPRIC'S BUILDING. THE COMITE DE MADRES IS AN ORGANIZATION OF MOTHERS AND RELATIVES OF DISAPPEARED PERSONS WHICH, LIKE CDHES, IS VULNERABLE TO FAR LEFT POLITICAL MANIPULATION. BOTH GROUPS HAD BEEN SHARING OFFICE SPACE WITH THE ARCHBISHOPRIC'S HUMAN RIGHTS [redacted]

ORGANIZATION, CALLED TUTELA LEGAL, WHICH PROVIDES ASSISTANCE TO VICTIMS OF HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATION AND COMPILES STATISTICS ON ALLEGED ABUSES. IT IS ALSO STRONGLY OPPOSED TO THE GOES.

2. (LOU) DURING A FEBRUARY 1ST VISIT TO THE ARCHBISHOPRIC, EMBOFF LEARNED THAT BOTH THE MOTHERS' COMMITTEE AND CDHES WERE NOW CONDUCTING BUSINESS UNDER A TREE ON THE ARCHBISHOPRIC GROUNDS. MS. MARITZA RUIZ OF THE MOTHERS' COMMITTEE TOLD EMBOFF THEY BELIEVE THAT MONS. RIVERA IS UNDER PRESSURE FROM THE BISHOPS' CONFERENCE TO DISTANCE HIMSELF FROM THESE CONTROVERSIAL ORGANIZATIONS. HOWEVER, RUIZ SAID THAT THE ARCHBISHOP HAD EXPLAINED THAT HIS DECISION WAS MOTIVATED BY THE NEED TO TAKE GREATER PRECAUTIONS REGARDING THE PHYSICAL SAFETY OF THE BUILDING, NOW THAT HE IS ABOUT TO MOVE HIS LIVING QUARTERS TO THE ARCHBISHOPRIC.

3. (U) DURING HIS JANUARY 15TH HOMILY, ARCHBISHOP RIVERA Y DAMAS SAID THAT HE HAD LEARNED THAT THE MOTHERS' COMMITTEE PUBLISHED A PAID AD IN MEXICO ON DECEMBER 13 ACCUSING HIM OF TURNING HIS BACK ON THE PEOPLE BECAUSE HE HAD ASKED THE COMMITTEE TO MOVE THEIR OFFICES FROM THE ARCHBISHOPRIC'S GROUNDS. HE EXPLAINED AT THAT TIME THAT THIS ACTION DID NOT MEAN HE WAS NO LONGER CONCERNED WITH THEM OR WHAT HAPPENS TO THEM. RIVERA Y DAMAS DID NOT, HOWEVER, GO INTO THE REASONS FOR HIS DECISION IN THE HOMILY.

4. (U) IN A BROADCAST ON JANUARY 31, RADIO FARABUNDO MARTI ALLEGED THAT AMBASSADOR PICKERING REFUSED TO HEAR THE DEMANDS OF THE MOTHERS OF THE POLITICAL PRISONERS AND THE MISSING. THE OBVIOUS REFERENCE [redacted]

WAS TO AN OCTOBER 31ST LETTER TO AMBASSADOR PICKERING IN WHICH THE COMITE DE MADRES REQUESTED TO MEET WITH HIM ON NOVEMBER 4. THE COMITE WAS EVIDENTLY PLANNING TO COORDINATE THE HOLDING OF THE MEETING WITH THE AMBASSADOR WITH A DEMONSTRATION THEY ACTUALLY HELD IN FRONT OF THE EMBASSY ON THAT SAME DAY. THE COMITE IGNORED THE AMBASSADOR'S OFFER OF NOVEMBER 3RD (REFTEL B) TO HAVE THE DCM MEET WITH THEM EARLIER ON NOVEMBER 4 THAN THEY HAD SPECIFIED.

5. (LOU) COMMENT: WHILE THERE APPEAR TO BE MOTHERS OF [redacted]

REAL DISAPPEARED PERSONS AMONG THIS GROUP, THE COMITE DE MADRES IS MORE INCLINED TO SERVE AS A TOOL OF FMLN DISINFORMATION THAN AS A BONA FIDE HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION. ARCHBISHOP RIVERA Y DAMAS MAY HAVE COME TO THIS JUDGMENT AS WELL. END COMMENT. PICKERING

SUMMARY.

2. (U) THE RULING REVOLUTIONARY INSTITUTIONAL PARTY (PRI), THE NATIONAL ACTION PARTY (PAN), AND THE MEXICAN DEMOCRATIC PARTY (PDM), IN A RARELY SEEN JOINT ACTION, CALLED LAST WEEK FOR INVESTIGATION OF THE ACTIVITIES OF FORMER SECRETARY OF NATIONAL PATRIMONY JOSE ANDRES DE OTEYZA, WHO ALLEGEDLY CHANNELED NUCLEAR INDUSTRY WORKERS' UNION (SUTIN) FUNDS TO THE SALVADORAN GUERRILLAS (REF B)R AS WELL AS TO THE SANDINISTAS. THE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE OF THE MEXICAN CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES HAS DECIDED TO OPEN AN INVESTIGATION OF THIS ALLEGED FUNDING, SAYING THAT SUCH AN ACT ACOULD PUT IN DOUBT THE VERY PRINCIPLES OF NON-INTERVENTION UPON WHICH MEXICAN FOREIGN POLICY STANDS. THE CONGRESS REPORTEDLY CONSIDERS IT INDISPENSIBLE THAT OTEYZA, PRESENTLY AMBASSADOR TO CANADA, ANSWER THE ALLEGATIONS INVOLVING HIM BY SUTIN LEADER ARTURO WHALEY. WHALEY REPORTEDLY SUBSEQUENTLY DENIED THAT THE UNION HAD BEEN ENGAGED IN ANY ILLEGAL ACTIVITY, SAYING THAT ONLY TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE WAS GIVEN BY THE NUCLEAR WORKERS AND ONLY TO THE SANDINISTAS.

3. (U) THE CONGRESS HAS REQUESTED THAT THE COMPTROLLER [redacted]

GENERAL AND THE ATTORNEY GENERAL INITIATE A COMPLETE INVESTIGATION OF OTEYZA, WHO IS DESCRIBED IN SOME PRESS REPORTS AS ALWAYS HAVING HAD "CLEAR MARXIST TENDENCIES." IF THE CHARGES ARE SUBSTANTIATED, OTEYZA WILL ALSO REPORTEDLY BE ASKED TO EXPLAIN WHY HE AUTHORIZED FUNDS TRANSFERS AT A TIME WHEN MEXICO WAS HAVING SUCH FINANCIAL DIFFICULTIES.

4. [redacted] AT A LUNCH IN HONOR OF VISITING HAVANA CONFERCH AT THE AMBASSADOR'S RESIDENCE ON FEBRUARY 2, CHAIRMAN OF THE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE OF THE CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES, LUIS DANTON RODRIGUEZ, TOLD EMBOFFS THAT THE INVESTIGATION OF OTEYZA WOULD BE RIGOROUSLY PURSUED UNTIL THE TRUTH IS KNOWN AND MADE PUBLIC. DANTON RODRIGUEZ TOLD THOSE PRESENT THAT WHILE INDIVIDUALS WERE FREE AND ENTITLED TO GIVE FUNDS TO WHOMEVER THEY WISHED, THE GOM COULD NOT LEGALLY ASSIST ANY NON-GOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATION OR INSURGENT GROUP. DANTON RODRIGUEZ WENT ON TO MENTION THE DEPARTURE OF A "BRIGADE OF VOLUNTEERS" OF 48 MEXICAN PROFESSIONALS WHO PLAN TO SPEND SIX MONTHS DOING SOCIAL RECONSTRUCTION WORK IN NICARAGUA, SAYING THAT SUCH GROUPS WERE FORMED OF PRIVATE INDIVIDUALS ACTING ON THEIR OWN AND HAD NO OFFICIAL STATUS.

DESPITE THIS POSSIBILITY, OTEYZA PLAYED A KEY ROLE IN THE DISASTROUS ECONOMIC DECISIONS OF THE LAST TWO YEARS OF THE 1976-82 LOPEZ PORTILLO ADMINISTRATION. HE HAS FEW FRIENDS IN THE DE LA MADRID ADMINISTRATION AND WE DOUBT THAT ANYONE OF POLITICAL SIGNIFICANCE WOULD STAND UP FOR HIM IF AN INVESTIGATION RESULTED IN DAMAGE TO HIS REPUTATION.

SUBJECT: SEVEN CIVIL DEFENSE MEMBERS BEING TRIED FOR MURDERS IN SANTA ANA

1. LOCAL DAILIES HAVE REPORTED SEVERAL CRIMINAL CASES INVOLVING A GROUP OF SEVEN MEMBERS OF THE SANTA ANA DEPARTMENT CIVIL DEFENSE FORCE WHO ARE NOW BEING TRIED FOR THE MURDERS OF CAMPESINOS. SOME CASES GO BACK TO 1979, OTHERS ARE AS RECENT AS JANUARY 13, 1984.

2. DR. BENJAMIN CESTONI, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF THE GOES HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION, TOLD POLOFF THAT HIS ORGANIZATION'S INVESTIGATION OF THE SANTA ANA CASE REVEALED THAT THE CAMPESINO KILLINGS PROBABLY STEM FROM MOTIVES OF THEFT OR PERSONAL GRUDGES. CESTONI POINTED OUT THAT THERE WAS ONLY ONE PROBABLE DEATH SQUAD CASE: THE KIDNAP AND MURDER OF ONE OF THE CAMPESINOS. ALL THE REST, HE SAID, WERE COMMON CRIMES.

3. THE FEBRUARY 1ST ISSUE OF EL SALVADOR DAILY EL DIARIO DE HOY REPORTS THAT "ACCORDING TO WITNESS TESTIMONY VENGEANCE OR OTHER PERSONAL REASONS HAVE BEEN THE MOTIVATION FOR THESE CRIMES; THE VICTIMS WERE PERSONALLY KNOWN TO THEIR KILLERS." OTHER PRESS REPORTS INDICATE THAT THE ACCUSED CUSTOMARILY BEHAVED AS COMMON CRIMINALS, DISGUISING THEMSELVES AT NIGHT TO GO OUT TO ROB, RAPE AND PILLAGE.

4. COMMENT: MEMBERS OF PARAMILITARY GROUPS INCLUDING THE CIVIL DEFENSE AND THE CANTONAL GUARDS, HAVE BEEN INVOLVED IN KILLINGS SUCH AS THOSE OF LAS HOJAS (SONSONATE) AND LA FLORIDA (SANTA ANA). INDEED, THE SEVEN CD MEMBERS RECENTLY ARRESTED RECENTLY COULD CONCEIVABLY HAVE PARTICIPATED IN THE LA FLORIDA KILLINGS OF DECEMBER 1982. THE MURDERS FOR WHICH THEY ARE BEING TRIED NOW WERE ALL COMMITTED AGAINST CAMPESINOS. THIS MAY INDICATE THAT THE PERPETRATORS CASUALLY PERCEIVED CAMPESINOS AS VICTIMS TO BE ELIMINATED WITH IMPUNITY, WHATEVER THE MOTIVE. THE ARREST AND TRIAL OF THESE SEVEN OFFENDERS IN SANTA ANA MAY HELP ERODE A SENSATION OF IMPUNITY IN THE MINDS OF CRIMINALLY INCLINED MEMBERS OF

SUBJECT: FMLN-FDR CALLS FOR ESTABLISHMENT OF PROVISIONAL
- GOVERNMENT IN EL SALVADOR.

1. SUMMARY: IN A WIDELY-COVERED INTERNATIONAL PRESS CONFERENCE IN MEXICO CITY FEBRUARY 9, FMLN-FDR LEADERS UNGO, ZAMORA, MARTINEZ AND AGUINADA PROPOSED THE FORMATION OF A BROADLY BASED PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT IN EL SALVADOR. CALLING FOR DIRECT AND UNCONDITIONAL TALKS BETWEEN THE FMLN-FDR AND THE GOES AND A U.S. REPRESENTATIVE, THE SALVADORAN INSURGENTS LAID DOWN 20 MEASURES TO RESOLVE THE MILITARY, SECURITY, POLITICAL, ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL PROBLEMS OF EL SALVADOR. THE STATED OBJECTIVE OF THE PROPOSALS IS TO RESCUE NATIONAL SOVEREIGNTY, DESTROY REPRESSION, ATTEND THE URGENT NEEDS OF THE PEOPLE, REACH A PEACEFUL CONCLUSION TO THE CONFLICT AND HOLD ELECTIONS. THE FMLN-FDR'S MEASURES WOULD ABOLISH THE 1983 CONSTITUTION, LEGITIMIZE THE POWER OF THE INSURGENTS, PURGE THE ARMY, DISSOLVE THE SECURITY AND PARAMILITARY FORCES, BAN THE ARENA PARTY, JUDGE AND PUNISH CIVIL AND MILITARY PERSONNEL

INVOLVED IN POLITICAL CRIMES, DECLARE A MORATORIUM ON SMALL INDUSTRY DEBT, ETC. THE PROPOSALS CALL FOR AN EVENTUAL BILATERAL UNDERSTANDING WITH THE U.S. BANNING ANY FOREIGN MILITARY INSTALLATIONS (E.G. MISSILES) IN EL SALVADOR IN EXCHANGE FOR AN AGREEMENT NOT TO SEEK DESTABILIZATION OF THE NEW GOVERNMENT.

CONFERENCE TO:THE MEXICO CITY INTERNATIONAL PRESS CORPS FEBRUARY 9, 1984. THE SALVADORAN INSURGENTS CALLED FOR THE FORMATION OF A BROADLY BASED PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT IN EL SALVADOR, SIMILAR TO OCTOBER-DECEMBER 1979 COALITION, WHICH FAILED "BECAUSE IT COULD NOT CHANGE THE POWER STRUCTURE." EMBASSY IS POUCHING FULL TEXT TO DEPARTMENT AND SAN SALVADOR.

3. THE FORMATION OF A PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT WOULD BE BROUGHT ABOUT THROUGH A NEGOTIATION WHICH WOULD INCLUDE MEDIATORS NOMINATED BY THE VARIOUS PARTIES TO THE NEGOTIATION. THE PROCESS WOULD ALSO INCLUDE INTERNATIONAL WITNESSES SUCH AS REPRESENTATIVES OF THE CONTADORA GROUP AND OTHER DEMOCRATIC COUNTRIES. THE STEPS OF THE NEGOTIATION WOULD BE 1) DIRECT DIALOGUE, 2) DIRECT NEGOTIATION, 3) COMPROMISE AND FINAL AGREEMENT, INCLUDING THE SIGNATURES OF THE WITNESSES AS GUARANTORS. THE ENTIRE PROCESS WOULD CULMINATE WITH THE ORGANIZATION OF A SINGLE NATIONAL ARMY MADE UP OF THE INSURGENTS AND THE GOES FORCES (PURGED), BOTH OF WHICH WOULD RETAIN THEIR WEAPONS.

4. THE PROPOSAL FOR A PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT CONTAINS 20 IMMEDIATE MEASURES TO RESOLVE THE MILITARY, SECURITY [redacted]

POLITICAL, ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL PROBLEMS OF EL SALVADOR AS WELL AS A FOREIGN POLICY PROGRAM.

5. THE PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT'S OBJECTIVES WOULD BE TO: 1) RESCUE THE NATIONAL SOVEREIGNTY; 2) DESTROY THE "REPRESSIVE APPARATUS"; 3) ATTEND THE MOST URGENT NEEDS OF THE POPULAR MAJORITY; 4) ESTABLISH THE CONDITIONS FOR A PEACEFUL SOLUTION OF THE WAR; 5) REALIZE ELECTIONS. THE POLITICAL MEASURES TO BE TAKEN ARE: 1) ABOLISH THE CONSTITUTION OF 1983, 2) ABOLISH THE STATE OF SIEGE AND ALL THE GOES DECREES SINCE 1980 LIMITING DEMOCRACY AND LIBERTY; 3) GUARANTEE THE RIGHTS OF THE UNIONS; 4) LEGITIMIZE THE POPULAR POWER OF THE INSURGENCY.

6. THE SECURITY MEASURES PROPOSED ARE: 1) DISSOLVE THE SECURITY AND PARAMILITARY FORCES AND THE ARENA PARTY; 2) INCORPORATE THE REBEL FORCES IN THE GOES ARMY AFTER A THOROUGH PURGE OF UNDESIRABLE ELEMENTS; 3) INVESTIGATE AND PASS JUDGEMENT ON ALL CIVIL AND MILITARY PERSONNEL RESPONSIBLE FOR GENOCIDE, POLITICAL CRIMES, TORTURE, DISAPPEARANCES, AND ILLEGAL DEPRIVATION OF INDIVIDUAL LIBERTY.

7. THE RECONSTRUCTION MEASURES ARE: 1) RETURN OF THE EXILES AND REFUGEES; 2) ASSISTANCE TO THE DISPLACED, 12. COMMENT: LATEST FMLN-FDR PRESS CONFERENCE DIFFERS IN SEVERAL RESPECTS FROM LAST MAJOR ONE WE CAN RECALL IN MEXICO CITY, WHICH TOOK PLACE ON 5 OCTOBER 1982 (82 MEXICO 14670). CONFERENCE SEEMED TO PRESS OBSERVERS TO ADD SOME IMPORTANCE TO THE EVENT. SECOND, THE CONTENT OF THE DOCUMENT IS MUCH MORE SPECIFIC AND COVERS INSURGENTS' PROPOSALS IN MUCH GREATER DETAIL. 1982 DOCUMENT MERELY CALLED FOR AN OPEN DIALOGUE BETWEEN FMLN/FDR ON ONE SIDE AND SALVADORAN EXECUTIVE/CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY/ARMED FORCES ON THE OTHER, TO BE JOINED EVENTUALLY BY OTHER SECTORS IN EL SALVADOR. DEMAND FOR OUTSIDE OBSERVERS TO WITNESS THE GOOD FAITH OF THE PARTIES HAS NOT CHANGED.

13. COMMENT OF ONE EXPERIENCED PRESS SOURCE MAY BE WORTH PASSING ON. IN HIS VIEW, WHAT FMLN/FDR REALLY WANTS IS A PRE-ELECTION COUP IN EL SALVADOR THROUGH WHICH MODERATES WOULD EFFECTIVELY SIDELINE D'AUBUISSON AND ARENA. THIS THEY BELIEVE WOULD RESULT IN A GOVERNMENT WITH WHICH THEY COULD NEGOTIATE IN GOOD FAITH. SOURCE ADMITTED THAT ISOLATING ARENA MAY BE WISHFUL THINKING OF FDR/FMLN'S PART. SAME SOURCE, WHO RECENTLY VISITED FMLN/FDR OFFICES IN MEXICO, GAVE US HIS IMPRESSION THAT NEW OFFICES ARE BETTER-EQUIPPED AND MORE PERMANENT THAN PREVIOUS TRANSIENT ONES, AND PERHAPS BETTER STAFFED. HE DID NOT HAVE AN IDEA, HOWEVER, WHETHER MORE "OPERATIONAL" FMLN PERSONNEL HAD IN FACT MOVED TO MEXICO FROM NICARAGUA. END COMMENT.

SUBJECT: CODELS DECONCINI AND ASPIN: ARCHBISHOP'S COMMENTS ON HUMAN RIGHTS, THE GUERRILLAS AND PEACE
1. C - ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY: IN A MEETING WITH JOINT CODELS FEB 16, ARCHBISHOP RIVERA Y DAMAS SAW POSSIBLY PERMANENT IMPROVEMENT IN THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION, OPINED THAT THE GUERRILLAS HAD FAILED TO WIN POPULAR SUPPORT, DEMANDED THE GOES TRY HARDER TO ACHIEVE A POLITICAL SOLUTION AND OFFERED TO MEDIATE IF ASKED BY BOTH SIDES. HIS VIEWS REFLECT A MODEST NEW OPTIMISM THAT ENDORSES OUR BELIEF THAT GOES IS ON THE RIGHT TRACK. HOWEVER, WE BELIEVE THAT A MEDIATION EFFORT BY THE CHURCH RISKS EXPLOITATION BY THE FDR/FMLN TO THE DISADVANTAGE OF [redacted]

THE GOES. END SUMMARY.

3. AFTER AN EXCHANGE OF PLEASANTRIES, SEN. DECONCINI AND REP. ASPIN TOOK TURNS ASKING THE ARCHBISHOP QUESTIONS. IN REPLY TO A QUESTION AS TO WHETHER THE GOVERNMENT IS IMPROVING ITS HUMAN RIGHTS RECORD, THE ARCHBISHOP SAID THAT THERE HAS BEEN PROGRESS IN THE TREATMENT OF ARRESTEES SINCE THE RED CROSS IS NOW NOTIFIED WITHIN ONE DAY. REGARDING THE DEATH SQUADS, THERE HAS BEEN A NOTABLE DIMINUTION IN THE NUMBER OF CRIMES IN RECENT MONTHS. ONE REASON FOR THE DECLINE IN VIOLENCE HAS BEEN PRESSURE FROM THE USG. IN ADDITION, THERE HAS BEEN A GROWING CONSENSUS WITHIN THE GOES, THE MILITARY, LABOR, THE PRIVATE SECTOR, ETC. OF THE NEED TO DEAL SERIOUSLY WITH THIS PROBLEM. THIS CONSENSUS INDICATES THAT THE IMPROVEMENT MAY BE A REAL AND PERMANENT ONE, BUT THE DEATH SQUADS HAVE YET TO BE ERADICATED. SENATOR DECONCINI AND REPRESENTATIVE ASPIN BOTH APPLAUDED THE ARCHBISHOP'S PUBLIC EFFORTS IN THIS AREA AND ASKED ABOUT PROGRAMS TO EDUCATE THE MILITARY FORCES ON HUMAN RIGHTS. THE ARCHBISHOP REPLIED THAT THE MILITARY HAS ASKED FOR HELP FROM THE CLERGY IN EDUCATIONAL EFFORTS WITHIN THE MILITARY. HE OPINED THAT THE ARMY'S EFFORTS WERE IN GOOD FAITH, BUT NATURALLY THE PRESENT OVERALL CLIMATE OF FEAR AND TENSION AND VIOLENCE MADE THE EFFORT DIFFICULT: THE TROOPS BEING EDUCATED SAW THEMSELVES AS THE TARGETS OF VIOLENCE FROM THE GUERRILLAS. IT WOULD BE AN EASIER TASK IN A PEACEFUL ATMOSPHERE, BUT THE EFFORT IS IMPORTANT.
4. WHEN ASKED ABOUT THE CHANGES IN ATTITUDE, STRATEGY, AND TACTICS OF THE GUERRILLAS, THE ARCHBISHOP REPLIED THAT, HE COULD NOT COMMENT ON MILITARY ASPECTS, BUT THAT THE GUERRILLAS' EFFORTS TO WIN THE HEARTS AND MINDS OF THE PEOPLE HAVE NOT BEEN SUCCESSIUL. THE GUERRILLAS [redacted]

HAD ONLY ADDED TO ECONOMIC HARDSHIPS AND THUS THEY DID NOT HAVE THE SUPPORT OF THE PEOPLE. THE ARCHBISHOP NOTED IT IS DIFFICULT FOR INDIVIDUAL GUERRILLAS TO ABANDON THE STRUGGLE BECAUSE OF REPERCUSSIONS AGAINST THEMSELVES AND THEIR FAMILIES. SOME DID TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THE AMNESTY, BUT MOST FELT THAT CONDITIONS DEMANDED THAT THEY LEAVE THE COUNTRY.
5. ASKED ABOUT THE CHURCH'S WORK WITH REFUGEES, RIVERA Y DAMAS SAID THERE IS A THREE PART PROGRAM: (1) CARE FOR THE DISPLACED PEOPLE, (2) THE EFFORT TO HUMANIZE THE WAR AND ENCOURAGE A PEACEFUL SOLUTION, AND (3) SPREADING THE MESSAGE OF SOCIAL REFORM (I.E., A MORE JUST DISTRIBUTION OF WEALTH). REFORMS ARE THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE GOVERNMENT, BUT THE CHURCH'S ROLE IS TO "PUSH" THE GOVERNMENT. ASKED WHETHER THE CHURCH NEEDS MORE ASSISTANCE, THE ARCHBISHOP SAID THAT THE CHURCH GETS AID FROM THE GOVERNMENT, FROM SISTER CHURCHES OVERSEAS, FROM THE EUROPEAN COMMUNITY, AND FROM THE USG, CHANNELED THROUGH CATHOLIC RELIEF SERVICE. THE CHURCH NEEDS MORE ASSISTANCE BUT SEES THIS AS A TEMPORARY MEASURE: THE ANSWER LIES IN REOPENING TO CULTIVATION ON THE LANDS ABANDONED BECAUSE OF THE WAR.

6. IN REPLY TO A QUESTION ABOUT THE STATUS OF THE CHURCH TODAY IN EL SALVADOR AND THE ATTITUDE OF VARIOUS GROUPS WITHIN IT TOWARD THE GOVERNMENT, THE ARCHBISHOP ACKNOWLEDGED THE SITUATION IS COMPLEX BECAUSE OF DIFFERENT ATTITUDES AT DIFFERENT LEVELS WITHIN THE CHURCH. THE ATTITUDES AT UCA (THE JESUIT UNIVERSITY) ARE DIFFERENT FROM THOSE OF CATHOLICS AT OTHER UNIVERSITIES, WHO ARE MORE CONSERVATIVE. IN GENERAL, THE CLERGY TAKES AN EVEN-HANDED APPROACH: SOME FAVOR THE EXTREMES, BUT MOST SEEK PEACE AND SOCIAL/ECONOMIC IMPROVEMENT. IN

THE ARCHBISHOP'S VIEW, THE GOVERNMENT HAS NOT PUSHED HARD ENOUGH TO SEEK A POLITICAL SOLUTION TO THE CONFLICT. HE DID RECOGNIZE, THOUGH, THAT THE WAR IS NOT JUST AN INTERNAL ISSUE, AND HE CLEARLY IMPLIED THAT INTERVENTION THROUGH NICARAGUA MADE A POLITICAL SOLUTION MORE DIFFICULT. HE RESPONDED TO A QUESTION ABOUT THE LEVEL OF HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS IN NICARAGUA BY SAYING THAT THE BISHOPS IN NICARAGUA ARE CONCERNED BECAUSE OF THE RADICALIZATION OF THE SITUATION THERE, EVEN THOUGH THERE HAVE BEEN SOME POSITIVE CHANGES IN THE AREA OF JUSTICE FOR THE PEOPLE. THEY ARE WORRIED ABOUT THE PRESENCE OF FOREIGN ADVISERS AND THE MILITARIZATION OF SOCIETY. THEY ARE ALSO CONCERNED ABOUT THE LIMITATIONS PLACED ON FREEDOM OF GUERRILLAS IN EL SALVADOR, THE ARCHBISHOP SAID HE COULD NOT FORESEE ANY SOLUTION OTHER THAN "DIALOGUE LEADING TO NEGOTIATIONS IN WHICH EACH SIDE WOULD GIVE AND RECEIVE SOMETHING." IT WAS NOT UP TO THE CHURCH TO DEFINE OR RECOMMEND THE ACTUAL SHAPE OF A POLITICAL SOLUTION, AS THAT WAS UP TO THE POLITICIANS ON THE TWO SIDES. IF ASKED BY BOTH SIDES, COULD NOT HYPOTHETICALLY APPROVE THE EVENTUAL USE OF US FORCES IN EL SALVADOR SINCE THAT WOULD BE AN INDICATION THAT THE CONFLICT HAD DETERIORATED GRAVELY. HE MADE IT CLEAR HE COULD NOT DEAL WITH A HYPOTHESIS IN WHICH A SERIOUS EFFORT TO ACHIEVE A PEACEFUL SOLUTION HAD BEEN ABANDONED.

8. COMMENT: THE ARCHBISHOP'S ATTITUDE WAS ONE OF MODEST OPTIMISM BUT IT WAS CLEARLY AND SUBSTANTIALLY MORE UPBEAT THAN AT ANY TIME WE CAN RECALL. PARTICULARLY IMPORTANT, WE NOTE, WAS HIS DESCRIPTION OF A GROWING NATIONAL CONSENSUS ON THE DEATH SQUADS, EVEN AMONG THE MILITARY, AND HIS SENSE THAT THIS MAY SIGNIFY A PERMANENT IMPROVEMENT IN THE SITUATION. THIS ACCORDS WITH OUR OWN ANALYSIS. IT IS WORTH POINTING OUT, HOWEVER, THAT THE ARCHBISHOP'S VIEWS ARE DECIDEDLY NOT SHARED BY MARIA JULIA HERNANDEZ, THE HEAD OF THE OFFICIAL ARCHBISHOPRIC HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION (TUTELA LEGAL), OR BY THE BASQUE BORN RECTOR OF THE JESUIT RUN CENTRAL AMERICAN UNIVERSITY, FATHER IGNACIO ELLACURIA, S.J. BOTH PERSONS DISMISS THE DROP IN DEATH SQUAD ACTIVITY AS (1) REFLECTIVE OF A TEMPORARY SECURITY FORCES PLOY TO PROVIDE COVER TO THE REAGAN ADMINISTRATION'S PROPOSAL FOR INCREASED MILITARY ASSISTANCE, AND (2) INDICATIVE OF A SHIFT OF THE ARMED STRUGGLE TO THE RURAL AREAS WHERE, THEY CLAIM, THE ARMY'S USE OF TERROR AGAINST THE POPULATION NOT ONLY CONTINUES UNABATED, BUT IS VIEWED BY THE ARMY AS ABSOLUTELY ESSENTIAL TO EFFORTS TO CLING TO POWER. WHILE NEITHER HERNANDEZ NOR ELLACURIA HIDE THEIR PRO-FDR/FMLN BIAS, THEIR VIEWS DO REPRESENT A VOCAL MINORITY OF SALVADORAN CHURCH THINKING.

9. THE ARCHBISHOP'S PREVIOUS HINTS ABOUT MEDIATION HAVE NOW BECOME EXPLICIT. THE CHURCH MAY INDEED BE ABLE TO PLAY A HELPFUL ROLE, BUT WE BELIEVE A SERIOUS RISK WOULD ALSO BE INVOLVED. WHILE RIVERA Y DAMAS SEEMS TO BELIEVE THAT NEITHER SIDE HAS MADE A GOOD FAITH EFFORT TO COME TO TERMS, THEY MAY BE INCLINED TO READ POTENTIAL UTILITY IN FDR/FMLN "PROPOSALS" WHERE WE AND GOES MAY SEE NONE AT ALL. WE WOULD THEN FACE THE POSSIBILITY THAT THE SALVADORAN CHURCH WOULD FIND ITSELF JOINING THE GUERRILLAS IN CALLING FOR MOVEMENT FROM AN "UNRESPONSIVE" GOES. THE FDR/FMLN COULD NATURALLY BE EXPECTED TO EXPLOIT THE CHURCH IN SUCH A PROCESS AS IT NOW DOES IN FREQUENT PROPAGANDA USE OF CHURCH FIGURES ON HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. IN SUM, WE BELIEVE AN EFFECTIVE MECHANISM FOR A DIALOGUE ALREADY EXISTS. WHAT IS MISSING IS SERIOUS INTEREST FROM THE GUERRILLA SIDE AND WE DOUBT IT WOULD APPEAR FROM WITHIN THE PANDORA'S BOX THAT SALVADORAN CHURCH MEDIATION WOULD OPEN UP.

2. SUMMARY: REPORTS IN ULTRACONSERVATIVE PRESS CA LIM ARCHBISHOP RIVERA Y DAMAS AND OTHER CLERICS ARE SIDING WITH THE FDR GUERRILLAS MORALLY AND ACTIVELY. HIS PUBLISHED REBUTTAL DENIES THIS BUT HINTS AT INTERNAL PROBLEMS WITH CHURCH GROUPS THAT MAY IN FACT BE SYMPATHETIC TO THE FDR/FMLN. WE BELIEVE HE IS ATTEMPTING TO DEAL WITH THESE PROBLEMS IN HIS OWN WAY AND IN THE CONVICTION THAT HIS ROLE ABOVE ALL DEMANDS HE REFRAIN FROM EXACERBATING SOCIAL AND POLITICAL DIVISIONS. THERE REMAINS THE PROBLEM OF INCITEMENT TO VIOLENCE PRESENTED BY THE PRESS REPORTS, WHICH WE WILL NOTE TO THE GOES WHILE [redacted]

EXPRESSING ANEW OUR EXPECTATION THAT HE AND HIS [redacted] COLLEAGUES WILL BE PROTECTED. END SUMMARY.

3. BACKGROUND: ARCHBISHOP ARTURO RIVERA Y DAMAS IS A LIBERAL THINKER WHO HAS ONLY RECENTLY BEGUN TO BE A BIT OPTIMISTIC ABOUT GOES SERIOUSNESS IN DEALING WITH NATIONAL PROBLEMS RANGING FROM A SEARCH FOR A PEACEFUL SOLUTION TO DOMESTIC SOCIAL JUSTICE. THAT HAVING BEEN SAID, RIVERA Y DAMAS HAS BEEN EXTREMELY CAREFUL TO AVOID EXACERBATING THE NATIONAL CONFLICT. HE AND HIS SUBORDINATES, IN ADDRESSING THE FAITHFUL, HAVE NOT FAILED TO CONDEMN GUERRILLA ABUSES, WHEN THEY CAN DO SO ON THE BASIS OF RELIABLE INFORMATION, NOR FAILED TO NOTE THAT THE GUERRILLAS DO NOT HAVE THE SUPPORT OF THE PEOPLE. HE ALSO CALLS THE GOVERNMENT AND THE SECURITY FORCES TO TASK WHEN HE BELIEVES THEY MERIT THIS ATTENTION. THE GOES UNDERSTANDS THAT HE IS A MAN OF MODERATION AND NON-VIOLENCE AND FOR THIS REASON HAS CULTIVATED AN INCREASINGLY MORE OPEN AND PRODUCTIVE RELATIONSHIP WITH HIM, ONE ABOUT WHICH THE ARCHBISHOP HAS SPOKEN WITH REASONABLE SATISFACTION. HIS RESERVE OF SKEPTICISM MAY BE UNDERSTANDABLE, BUT HIS VIEWS AND APPROACH TO THE SALVADORAN SITUATION, AS EXPRESSED, FOR EXAMPLE, TO CODELS DECONCINI AND ASPIN (SENT FEBRUARY 16 SEPTEL) STRIKE US AS UNEXEPTIONABLE. IN THE MAIN, THEY ARE HELPFUL TO OUR OWN POSITIONS ON THE HUMAN RIGHTS AND POLITICAL SITUATIONS.

4. NOW, THE ARCHBISHOP IS COMING UNDER SHARP PUBLIC ATTACK FROM THE RIGHT. THE ULTRACONSERVATIVE, OFTEN IRRESPONSIBLE DAILY, DIARIO DE HOY, HAS TWICE CARRIED REPORTS (SEPTELS SENT FEB 15 AND 17) WHICH IT CLAIMS ARE UNIMPEACHABLY SOURCED, THAT RIVERA Y DAMAS IS [redacted]

ACTIVELY SUPPORTING THE GUERRILLAS. THE DIARIO DESCRIBED A RELIGIOUS GATHERING AT ZACAMIL LOCAL PARISH WHERE RIVERA Y DAMAS LED PRAYERS FOR GUERRILLA SUCCESS, BEGGED FORGIVENESS FOR LACKING THE COURAGE TO SIDE WITH THE GUERRILLAS OPENLY, AND COLLECTED MONEY, FOOD AND MEDICINES TO PASS TO THE REBELS. OTHERS PRESENT ALLEGEDLY INCLUDED MSGR. RICARDO URIOSTE (A SENIOR MEMBER OF THE HIERARCHY) AND BELGIAN PRIESTS CLOSE TO GUERRILLA CURATE ROGELIO PONCEL, ALONG WITH OTHER PRIESTS AND NUNS. RIVERA Y DAMAS PERSONALLY DISMISSED THE

REPORTS AS LIES IN PRIVATE CONVERSATION WITH US (SEPTEL SENT FEB 16) AND TOLD US HE WOULD SEND AN OPEN LETTER OF DENIAL TO THE DIARIO. THE PAPER DULY PUBLISHED THE ARCHBISHOP'S REBUTTAL BUT THE REPLY WAS SUFFICIENTLY AMBIGUOUS TO LEAD US TO BELIEVE THE SCANDAL WILL NOT QUICKLY FIZZLE.

3. RIVERA'S FIVE PART REPLY WENT THUSLY:

-- A GATHERING WAS HELD WITH THE APPROVAL OF THE ARCHBISHOPRIC) THE CENTRAL FEATURE WAS A MASS CELEBRATED BY THE ARCHBISHOP HIMSELF.

-- THE CHURCH HAS THE TEXT OF ALL REMARS MADEON THE OCCASION BY THE ARCHBISHOP AND OTHERS; TAPE RECORDINGS WERE MADE, WHICH REVEAL THAT QUOTATIONS CONTAINED IN THE DIARIO REPORT ARE FABRICATIONS. THE DIARIO REPORT IS ALSO "INEXACT" WITH REGARD TO THE COLLECTION OFFERINGS MADE AFTER THE SERMON AT THE MASS.

-- THE ARCHBISHOPRIC, IN ACCORDANCE WITH GUIDELINES ISSUED BY THE PAPACY HAS THE RESPONSIBILITY TO FOSTER THE WORK OF CLERICAL/LAY COMMUNITY ACTION GROUPS "TO THE EXTENT TO WHICH THESE CONDUCT THEMSELVES IN

WHO ALSO REPORTED MANIFESTATIONS OF SOLIDARITY WITH CHILE AND NICARAGUA AND WHO CHALLENGED THE ARCHBISHOPRIC TO PUBLISH AND BROADCAST THE TAPE RECORDINGS OF THE PROCEEDINGS.

. APPARENTLY, THE BISHOP'S LETTER SUGGESTS SOMETHING NON-KOSHER TOOK PLACE ON THE MARGINS OF HIS MASS, AND THAT IT EXCEEDS THE BOUNDS OF AUTHORIZED POLITICAL ACTIVITY THAT HAVE BEEN ARTICULATED UNDER THE PAPACY OF JOHN PAUL II. WE INFER THAT HE IS TRYING TO DEAL WITH THE PROBLEM (WHICH DOUBTLESS IS NOT CONFINED TO ZACAMIL PARISH) AS AN INTERNAL CHURCH AFFAIR WHICH NEITHER CAN NOR SHOULD BE APPROACHED AS A STATE SECURITY MATTER. THIS WOULD BE COMPLETELY CONSISTENT WITH THE APPROACH HE TAKES TO SALVADOR'S NATIONAL PROBLEMS--THE CHURCH MUST NEVER EXACERBATE DIVISIONS, IT MUST SEEK TO RECONCILE THEM; IT MUST, IN THE SERVICE OF A HIGHER CAUSE, BE TRULY "SUPER PARTES."

8. IT IS INCONCEIVABLE TO US THAT THE ARCHBISHOP HAS SYMPATHY FOR THE POLITICAL ACTIVISM, AS OPPOSED, PERHAPS, TO THE POLITICAL IDEALS, OF CATHOLIC LEFTISTS OR "LIBERATION" THEOLOGIANS. FOR EXAMPLE, RIVERA Y DAMAS AND HIS ECCELSIASTICAL SUBORDINATES RARELY MAKE A PUBLIC STATEMENT WITHOUT REFERENCE TO THE WISDOM AND AUTHORITY OF JOHN PAUL II. THE UNCOMMON FREQUENCY OF THESE REFERENCES IS STRIKING. IN THE LATIN AMERICAN CONTEXT, IT CLEARLY REPRESENTS A REJECTION OF LIBERATION THEOLOGY AND ITS POLITICAL IMPLICATIONS, AND EL SALVADOR HAS IN FACT BEEN SPARED THE EMERGENCE OF A "POPULAR CHURCH" AS HAS DEVELOPED ELSEWHERE. AT THE SAME TIME, HE HAS NEVER DENIED THE EXISTENCE OF FACTIONS WITHIN

THE CATHOLIC COMMUNITY THAT RANGE FROM THE OBVIOUS PRO-FDR/FMLN SYMPATHIES OF THE UCA JESUITS TO THE OBSCURANTISM OF SOME OF THE SENIOR NATIVE PRELATES. HE DEPLORES SUPPORT FOR THE EXTREMES BUT, AGAIN, INDICATES THAT HE IS WORKING TO RECONCILE THEM.

9. UNFORTUNATELY, THE ARCHBISHOP'S LETTER WILL NOT END THE SCANDAL, AND MAY INDEED EXTEND IT. IN THE MANNER USED BY DIARIO, THE SCANDAL BORDERS ON AN INCITEMENT TO VIOLENCE, WHICH IS ESPECIALLY WORRISOME SINCE RIVERA Y DAMAS AND HIS AUXILIARY GREGORIO ROSA CHAVEZ HAVE ALREADY RECEIVED THREATS FROM THE DEATH SQUAD

1. ~~SECRET~~ - ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY. I TOLD PRESIDENT PINOCHET THAT DOMESTIC ACTIONS, SUCH AS THE STATE OF SIEGE ARE REINFORCING CHILE'S EXTERNAL ENEMIES WHO ARE, IN TURN, INCREASING THEIR SUPPORT TO PINOCHET'S OPPOSITION. MOSCOW AND HAVANA ARE GENUINELY CONTENT WITH THE PROPAGANDA VICTORY HANDED TO THEM. I EMPHASIZED THAT SUCCESSFUL POLITICAL TRANSITIONS WERE MARKED BY EQUAL ATTENTION TO THE ADVANCES TOARD DEMOCRACY AND SECURITY. PINOCHET REPEATED HIS STANDARD PHRASES BUT SEEMED TO BE ENGAGED BY THE NOTATION THAT HIS INTERNAL ACTIONS HAVE EXTERNAL REPERCUSSIONS THAT MANIFEST THEMSELVES IN GREATER INTERNAL PRESSURE ON HIM. THOUGH HE LOOKED FIT, ADMIRAL MERINO SAID PINOCHET IS ILL. THE TONE OF MY THREE HOURS WITH PINOCHET WAS FRANK AND CONSTRUCTIVE. I HAVE LAID DOWN A MARKER FOR HIM OF OUR INTEREST IN

SEEING THAT THE MILITARY FULFILL THEIR COMMITMENT TO RETURN CHILE TO DEMOCRACY. I THINK THE WAY IS NOW OPEN FOR OTHER CONSTRUCTIVE STEPS WITH OUR UK AND FRG ALLIES, TO JOINTLY PRESS PINOCHET AND OPPOSITION TO GET ON WITH THE POLITICAL TANSITION. END SUMMARY.

3. I HAD A ONE-HOUR PRIVATE MEETING WITH PRESIDENT PINOCHET, ON FEBRUARY 18, AT HIS OFFICE IN LA MONEDA PALACE, ACCOMPANIED BY AMBASSADOR THEBERGE. PINOCHET THEN HOSTED A TWO-HOUR LUNCHEON FOR ME ATTENDED BY THE VRIOUS CABINET MINISTERS. FOREIGN MINISTER JAIME DEL VALLE AND GENRAL STANTIAGO SINCLAIR, PRESIDENTIAL SECRETARY AND CHILE'S AMBASSADOR TO THE US, WERE PRESENT AT THE PRIVATE TALK. FOLLOWING BRIEF INITIAL PLEASANTRIES, PINOCHET FIRED THE FIRST SALVO BY SAYING QUOTE FIRST OF ALL I WANT YOU TO KNOW THAT CHILE IS NOBODY'S COLONY. WE ARE NOT A COLONY OF THE UNITED STATES, OR ANY OTHER COUNTRY. I ACCEPT NO ADVICE, NO INSTRUCTIONS AND NO LECTURES. US-CHILEAN RELATIONS HAVE NEVER BEEN GOOD. YOU HAVE ALWAYS INTERFERED IN OUR INTERNAL AFFAIRS STARTING WITH THE INDEPENDENCE REVOLUTION. WE ALMOST WENT TO WAR OVER AN INCIDENT IN VALPARAISO UNQUOTE. I REPLIED THAT I RECOGNIZED CHILE WAS NOT A COLONY, HAD NO ADVICE TO GIVE HIM AND THAT HE DID NOT DISAPPOINT ME WITH IS INITIAL COMMENTS. GOOD FRIENDS HAD PREDICTED HIS OPENER ALMOST WORD FOR WORD. AFTER THIS INITIAL SKIRMISH WE GOT DOWN TO BUSINESS.

4. I EXPLAINED TO PINOCHET THAT THE PURPOSE OF MY VISIT TO CHILE WAS TO LISTEN AND LEARN ABOUT CHILEAN REALITY (I LATER LEARNED HE HAD BEEN GIVEN THE WASHINGTON POST REPORT OF MY VISIT AN ACCUSED HIS AMBASSADOR IN WASHINGTON OF SETTING HIM UP WITH ANOTHER FOREIGN INSPECTOR.) I SAID THAT THE UNITED STATES WAS INDEBTED TO THE PRESIDENT FOR PREVENTING A COMMUNIST

TAKEOVER OF CHILE IN 1973. THIS SENTIMENT WAS SHARED BY PRESIDENT REAGAN. IT WAS A VICTORY NOT ONLY FOR CHILE BUT ALSO FOR THE WHOLE WORLD. I ALSO EXPRESSED U.S. APPRECATION FOR CHILE'S SUPPORT ON GRENADA, IN THE OAS AND ON ISSUES OF IMPORTANCE TO THE USG AT THE UNITED NATIONS. I RECALLED OUR SUPPORT FOR CHILE IN THE UN ON THE HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUE. I NOTED THAT WE WERE AWARE THAT THE U.S. POSTURE TOWARDS CHILE OVER THE YEARS HAD NOT BEEN ALTOGETHER AGREEABLE, MENTIONING CERTIFICATION VOTES IN THE IFIS, AND OTHER MEASURE. BUT THE REAGAN ADMISTRATION WAS NOT RESPONSILE FOR WHAT WENT ON BEFORE IT TOOK OFFICE. I CITED CHILE'S ECONOMIC POLICY DECISION IN THE 1970'S WHICH CORRECTED DISTORTIONS IN THE ECONOMY AND ESTABLISHED A FREE MARKET SYSTEM DESPITE THE SERIOUS ECONOMIC CRISIS IN 1982-83, LARGELY DUE TO EXTERNAL FACTORS. CHILE HAS PASSED FROM ECONOMIC ADJUSTMENT TO ECONOMIC RECOVERY, MET ITS INTERNAL DEBT OBLIGATIONS AND KEPT INFLATION DOWN BETTER THAN MOST LATIN AMERICAN COUNTRIES. THE ECONOMIC CRISIS CONFRONTED CHILE WITH RISING SOCIAL DISCONTENT, AND TERRORISM INCREASED FIVEFOLD IN TWO YEARS. AS A RESULT, THE FORCES OPPOSED TO A RETURN TO A DEMOCRACY IN CHILE HAVE BEEN GROWING STRONGE. I INDICATED RECOGNITION THAT THE GOVERNMENT HAS BEEN ABLE TO MAINTAIN ORDER BUT SOME OBSERVERS BELIEVE THAT CONTROL IS EXCSSIVE. PINOCHET INTERRUPTED AND SAID THAT WAS A DISPUTABLE ARGUMENT. I CONCLUDED BY POINTING OUT THAT CHILE WAS IN SOME WAYS THE VICTIM OF INTERNATIONAL CIRCUMSTANCES. CHILE WAS ATTRACTING MOST ATTENTION NOW BECAUSE OF THE STATE OF SIEGE, AND THE DEMOCRATIC TREND IN THE REST OF LATIN AMERICA.

5. PINOCHET ADMITTED THAT THE STATE OF SIEGE ALARMED SOME PEOPLE. HE SAID THAT IT IS NOT A WAR WORD, BUT A LEGAL ONE. IT DESCRIBES A LEGAL STATUS, ONE WITH A LONG HISTORY IN CHILE. CHILEANS BELIEVE IN THE LAW AND MEASURES TAKEN UNDER THE STATE OF SIEGE ARE LEGAL. THANKS TO THE STATE OF-SIEGE, SANTIAGO IS NOW SAFER THAN WASHINGTON, D.C. IN WASHINGTON, D.C. YOU CAN'T GO OUT AT NIGHT IN SOME PARTS OF THE CITY. HERE IT IS SAFE.

6. I REPLIED THAT THE STATE OF SIEGE WAS NOT SOMETHING TO BE DISMISSED LIGHTLY. IT HAS DRAWN CRITICAL INTERNATIONAL MEDIA ATTENTION, AND THE MEDIA HAVE LITTLE KNOWLEDGE OF CHILE. PINOCHET INTERRUPTED TO SAY THAT THE INTERNATIONAL MEDIA ARE WELL-PAID TO TELL LIES ABOUT CHILE. THE INTERNATIONAL PRESS HAS BEEN UNJUST FROM THE VERY FIRST DAY. I RESPONDED THAT SUCH CRITICISM GOES WITH THE OFFICE. BUT MORE IMPORTANT, THERE IS A SMALL GROUP OF PERSONS IN THE UNITED STATES AND IN EUROPE WHO ARE NOT INTERESTED IN THE RESTORATION OF CHILEAN DEMOCRACY. THEY ARE INTERESTED IN REVENGE FOR ALLENDE OR BLOOD FOR LETELIER. WHAT THEY WANT TO DO IS OVERTHROW PINOCHET. THE QUESTION TO BE FACED IS HOW CAN THIS SMALL HOSTILE GROUP BE PREVENTED FROM GAINING STRENGTH. THAT IS SOMETING THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT MUST CONSIDER SINCE DOMESTIC ACTIONS OF THE GOVERNMENT AFFECT THE STRENGTH OF THESE FOREIGN GROUPS,

WHICH IN TURN, PORIVDE SUPPORT AND FINANCING FOR LOCAL GROUPS HOSTILE TO THE GOVERNMENT. THEREFORE, IT IS IMPORTANT HOW THE GOVERNMENT ACTS AT HOME BECAUSE IT WAS CONSEQUENCE NOT ONLY ABROAD BUT ALSO IN CHILE THROUGHA FEEDBACK PROCESS.

7. I NOTED THAT THE US HAS A WIDE RANGE OF INTERESTS IN CHILE OF A COMMERICAL, ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL NATURE, EXPLAINING THAT THESE INTERESTS LEAD TO CONCERNS WHICH RISK BEING INTERPRETED AS INTERFERENCE IN CHILE'S INTERNAL AFFAIRS. I ADDED THAT WE INTENDED TO AVOID CROSSING OVER THAT LINE THAT DIVIDES INTEREST AND INTERFERENCE. CHILEANS ARE THE MASTERS OF THEIR DESTINY, NOT THE UNITED STATES OR THE EUROPEAN COUNTRIES. NEVERTHELES, IT WAS IMPORTANT FOR THE USG TO HAVE A CLEARER IDEA ABOUT CHILEAN GOVERNMENT PLANS FOR THE 1985-89 PERIOD. I DREW HIS ATTENTION TO WIDESPREAD OPPOSITION TO RESTRICTIONS ON FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION IN THE UNITED STATES AND AMONGST CHILEAN I HAD SPOKEN TO.

8. PINOCHET REPLIED THAT THERE WAS NO FREEDOM OF THE PRESS. THERE NEVER WAS. WHATEVER WAS PUBLISHED IN CHILE WAS ALWAYS DONE AT THE ORDER OF THE NEWSPAPER OWNERS. WITH RESPECT TO THE REMAINING YEARS OF HIS PRESIDETIAL TERM WHICH ENDS IN 1989. PINOCHET SAID THAT THE LAWS IMPLENENTNG THE CONSTITUTION ARE BEING PREPARED. NOT JUST THE POLITICAL LAWS BUT THE OTHERS AS WELL. WORK WILL CONTINUE ON THEPOLITICAL LAWS IN 1985. JUST AS PLANNING TROOP MOVEMENTS TAKES

TIME TO BE ABLE TO MOVE TROOPS IN ONE DAY. SO IT IS THE SAME FOR THE CONSTITUTIONAL LAWS. HE SAID THAT PEOPLE MUST UNDERSTAND THAT THE CHILEAN MILITARY LEADERS AND GOVERNMENT LEADERS, ARE SERIOUS MEN. THE CONSTITUTIONAL TRANSITION WILL BE COMPLTED IN STRICT ACCORDANCE WITH THE LAW. CHILE IS A SERIOUS COUNTRY, PERHAPS THE MOST SERIOUS IN LATIN AMERICA. IN 1989, THERE WILL BE ELECTIONS. THE ELECTORAL REGISTER LAW WILL BE ISSUED THIS YEAR. THE POLITICAL PARTY LAW WILL COME LATER: OTHERWISE THERE WILL BE POLITICAL PARTIES AND NO CONGRESS.

9. I RETURNED TO THE THEME OF FINDING WAYS TO WEAKEN THAT SMALL NON-DEMOCRATIC GROUP HOSTILE TO PRESIDENT PINOCHET. FOCUS ON CHILE IS SHARPENED BY THE TRNED TOWARDS DEMOCRACY INTHE REGION WHICH TRANSLATE TO INCREASING CRITICISM OF CHILE AND PINOCHET'S REACTONS STRENGTHEN THE COMMUNISTS. ATTENTION IS FOCUSED ON CHILE. PINOCHET RESPONDED BY SAHING HE HAD THE IMPRESSION THAT PERU COULD BE BURNING AND CHILE WOULD STILL BE THE MAIN TARGET OF INTERNATIONAL COMMUNISM AND CRITICISM.

I STATED THAT THE USG HAS INFORMATION THAT MOSCOW AND HAVANA ARE HAPPY ABOUT THE STATE OF SIEGE. PINOCHET WAS SKEPTICAL AND ASKED IF THAT HAPPINESS IN MOSCOW WAS GENUINE? I POINTED UT THAT THE CUBAN GOVERNMENT IS EFFECTIVE IN SUPPORTING TERRORISM AND ENCOURAGING AUTHORITARIAN GOVERNMENTS TO TAKE REPRESSIVE ACTIONS AGAINST THE POPULACE SO AS TO INCREASE SOCIAL RESENTMENT AND ANTI-GOVERNMENT OPPOSITION. MOSCOW KNOWS

HOW DAMAGING THE STATE OF SIEGE IS TO CHILE'S INTERNATIONAL POSITION, AND HOW EFFECTIVE IT CAN BE IN MOBILIZING OPINION AGAINST THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT.

10. PINOCHET STATED THAT ONLY THE APPLICATION OF FORCE STOPS THE COMMUHISTS. THEY ARE NOT RESPONSIVE TO PERSUASION. THEY RESPECT ONLY FORCE. THEY ARE VERY CLEVER. THEY ARE MASTERS OF INFILTRATION. THEY HAVE INFILTRATED THE CHURCH AND THE ARMED FORCES. I ASKED

WHETHER IT IS FEASIBLE TO CONTINUE TO USE FORCE TO REPRESS TERRORISM WHILE HOLDING OFF ON THE TRANSITION TO DEMOCRACY. IT HAS BEEN THE U.S. EXPERIENCE THAT SUCCESSFUL DEMOCRATIC TRANSITIONS ARE THOSE THAT COMBAT TERRORISM AND ADVANCE TOWARDS DEMOCRACY AT THE SAME TIME: PINOCHET INTERRUPTED AND STATED QUOTE I DID NOT SAY THAT. YOU ARE MAKING PROJECTIONS. THE CONSTITUTION WILL BE IMPLEMENTED AND PLEBISCITE WILL BE HELD IN 1989, AND WE WILL CONTINUE TO FIGHT TERRORISM. UNQUOTE. I ASKED HOW IT IS POSSIBLE TO OBTAIN SUPPORT OF THE PEOPLE FOR THE POLITICAL LAWS UNLESS THE PEOPLE PARTICIPATE IN SHAPING THEM. PINOCHET REPLIED BY SAYING THAT CHILE'S POLITICALLY ACTIVE SECTOR IS VERY SMALL IN CHILE. LESS THAN TEN PERCENT OF THE VOTING POPULATION ARE POLITICALLY ACTIVE. ALLENDE WAS ELECTED BY A MARGIN OF ONLY 40,000 VOTES. THE ONLY COUNTRY WHERE THE COMMUNISTS GAINED POWER BY THE VOTE. HE SUGGESTED THAT THE UNITED STATES KEEP ITS EYES ON NICARAGUA, ON CENTRAL AMERICAN WHICH IS THREATENED BY A COMMUNIST TAKEOVER, AND MEXICO WHICH WILL BE A MAJOR FUTURE POLITICAL PROBLEM. WATCH MEXICO BE CONCERNED ABOUT MEXICO, NOT CHILE. THAT IS YOUR REAL PROBLEM HE SAID.

11. PINOCHET WAS CONVINCED THAT INTERNATIONAL PUBLIC OPINION IS NEVER GOING TO BE FAVORABLE TO CHILE, NO MATTER WHAT HE DOES. HE SAID THAT INTERNATIONAL COMMUNISM SPENDS MILLIONS ON ANTI-CHILEAN PROPAGANDA.

CHILE IS A POOR COUNTRY AND CAN'T SPEND THE MILLIONS OF DOLLARS NEEDED TO ATTEMPT TO COMPLETE. NO MATTER WHAT WE DO HE SAID. SUCH AS ALLOW EXILES TO RETURN AS HENRY KISSINGER AND OTHER VISITORS ASKED US TO DO. WE WILL BE CRITICIZED BY THE INTERNATIONAL LEFT. WHAT MATTERS IS WHAT HAPPENS AT HOME NOT OVERSEAS. WE WILL DEFEAT OUR ENEMIES AT HOME. OUTSIDE WE ARE CONDEMNED. HE ADDED THAT CHILE RECEIVED NO HELP FROM THE UNITED STATES TO DEFEAT THE MARXISTS. NOTHING. WE THREW THEM OUT BY OURSELVES, HE SAID. NOBODY HELPED US. HE ENDED BY ASKING WHAT COUNTRY BECAME DEMOCRATIC AFTER RECEIVING U.S. ADVICE. NOT A SINGLE COUNTRY, HE SAID. HE ASKED WHAT COUNTRY BECAME DEMOCRATIC AFTER WAR. HE EXPECTED ME TO SAY CHILE. I SAID GRENADA. HE SAID, WHAT OTHER COUNTRY.

12. COMMENT: PINOCHET WAS TANNED AND HEALTHY LOOKING (ADMIRAL MERINO, WITH WHOM WE MET SEVERAL HOURS LATER SAID THAT PINOCHET'S HEALTH WAS POOR). HIS OPENING AND SUBSEQUENT REMARKS WERE VINTAGE PINOCHET; TOUGH, UNYIELDING, ON THE OFFENSIVE, AND GENERALLY SHREWD. THIS PROVOCATIVE EXCHANGE WAS DONE IN A FRIENDLY YET SERIOUS SPIRIT. HE HADE CLEAR THAT WORK WOULD PROCEED ON THE POLITICAL LAWS IN 1985 AND SUBSEQUENTLY, AND THAT THE CONSTITUTIONAL TRANSITION PLAN WOULD BE IMPLENTED WHILE SIMULTANEOUSLY COMBATTING TERRORISM. HE ASKED NOTHING FROM THE UNITED STATES AND WANTED TO BE LEFT ALONE. I LEFT HIM WITH AN IDEA THAT SEEMED TO INTEREST HIM: NAMELY THAT DOMESTIC ACTIONS NOT ONLY PROVOKED FOREIGN REACTION BUT ALSO COULD STRENGTHEN DOMESTIC ANTI-PINOCHET GROUPS WITH RESOURCES BOTH PHYSICAL AND PYSCHOLOGICAL. THIS APPARENTLY WAS NOT A NOTION HE HAD SERIUSLY ENTERTAINED BEFORE, AND IT

CLEARY LEFT HIM WITH SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT. WHETHER IT WILL CONTINUE TO CAUSE HIM TO MODERTE HIS EXCESSES OR REMOVE THE AMBIGUTY ABOUT THE POLITICAL TRANSITION WILL HAVE TO BE SEEN. THIS CONVERSTION REAFFIRMED A NUMBER OF FAMILIAR PINOCHET VIEWS. PINOCHET APPARENTLY HAS SOME IDEA, IF NOT A CONCRETE PLAN, CONCERNING THE ORDER AND PACE WITH WHICH THE POLITICAL (AND OTHER) LAWS WILL BE ISSUED DURING THE 1985-1989 PERIOD. THE ELECTORAL REGISTRY LAW SEEMS TO BE NEAR THE TOP OF THE LIST FOR PROMULGATION IN 1985 AND THE POLITICAL PARTY LAW LATER IN THE PERIOD. PRESUMABLY CLOSER TO 1989. THE PRESIDENT AND THE

SUBJECT: Foreign Assistance Act of 1985 - Chilean Certification Requirement

ISSUE FOR DECISION

Whether to seek substitution/amendment/deletion of the Chilean certification requirement (Section 726 of the International Security and Development Cooperation Act of 1981) in the Foreign Assistance Act of 1985.

ESSENTIAL FACTORS

There has been no Foreign Assistance Act (FAA) since 1981 when the Argentine and Chilean certification requirements were established (Tab 1). In response to concerns that the Administration would certify Argentina, Rep. Barnes proposed to amend the certification requirements for both Chile and Argentina in the FY 1984 FAA to prohibit FMS and security assistance until elections were held (Tab 2). The Administration, at that time, was forced to take a position on strengthening the certification requirements and did not raise the possibility of deleting the requirements (Tab 3). However, the Foreign Assistance Act of 1984 was never passed and the issue of reformulating the certification requirements was thus rendered moot. H believes that there is a better than even chance that there will be a Foreign Assistance Act for FY 85 and that Rep. Fascell will push strongly for such a bill as a mark of his new tenure as Chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee. The House has begun drafting of the new legislation. Mark-up in the Senate is expected in late March. Such legislation raises the question of what to do about the Chile certification requirement.

DISCUSSION OF OPTIONS

We see four basic courses of action which may be taken:

(1) oppose strongly the incorporation of any certification requirement for Chile as a matter of principle.

If there is a Foreign Assistance Act in 1984 for FY-85, the Administration will be forced to take a position on the Chile certification requirement. If we take no action, the legislation will stand and the Administration will, in effect, have accepted the requirement. Such acquiescence would be contrary to stated Administration policy concerning country specific requirements, conflict with the precedent of the President's veto of the El Salvador certification requirement, and carry negative connotations for our relationship with the GOC.

(2) take no action and permit the incorporation of the 1981 language into the new bill (risking that the 1983 language might also be incorporated in which case we could put up a formal, but not spirited, objection, i.e. do not make an issue of it in an election year).

H believes that the Administration does not have the required support in the House to delete the certification requirement. An attempt to do so could provoke a counteraction designed to revive the 1983 Barnes "elections" requirement. The possibilities on the Senate side are better, but still marginal. If an approach were made to the Senate, any eventual differences would have to be resolved in conference. The real question is whether the Administration, in an election year, desires to make an issue of the Chile certification requirement, risking not only losing, but perhaps, making the certification requirements more difficult. On the other hand, if an attempt is not made, the Administration would undermine the rationale for its position on El Salvador certification and risk establishing a damaging double standard that will totally undermine what remaining leverage we have to push Pinochet toward a transition to democracy.

(3) seek to amend the 1981 requirements perhaps by deleting the Letelier/Moffitt requirement (but risking the insertion of the 1983 Barnes "elected civilian government" requirement) or by inserting a Presidential waiver of the certification requirement.

In his November 22, 1983 letter to Ambassador Theberge, Elliott Abrams stated that "his position has been that human rights progress in Chile might permit us to persuade Congress that the time has come to remove the Letelier/Moffitt provision...internationally recognized principles of human rights include free elections and representative government." In the past, HA as well as ARA have admitted privately that such an approach could be construed by opponents as a tacit admission of failure on our part to elicit further cooperation from the GOC in the Letelier/Moffitt case. It would also raise questions of definition, i.e. how much democracy, etc. and still leave us with the issue of human rights progress to be certified. A complicating factor in this approach is that our 1983 Human Rights reports notes GOC human rights backsliding. We have not, therefore, built a strong case that the Leteleir/Moffitt requirements should be dropped because of human rights improvements (even broadly defined to include progress toward democratic government).

A variation on the "amending approach" would be to leave the certification language intact but to insert a waiver provision giving the President the discretion to set aside the requirement for certification if such action were deemed to be in the national interest. This approach is unlikely to impress those who favor certification since it would be viewed as a transparent canard designed to eliminate the certificaton requirement while leaving the statutory requirements intact. A waiver provision solves little in policy terms and any attempt to waive certification would be just as controversial as a "premature" certification of Chile.

(4) put forward a new proposal which would eliminate certification but establish a partnership with Congress in the sense of a line item Congressional veto over all Munitions Control export license applications, FMS sales and security assistance programs with the GOC.

A new, totally different certification requirement would, again, conflict with the principal of opposition to such country specific legislative requirements. Were the Administration to put forward its own certification requirement we would have given in on a major point of principle with far-reaching consequences. The issue is how to put formward a legislative initiative that at once is not "certification" but carries out the intent of Congress that our relationship should be keyed to certain political requirements.

Attached at Tab 4 is a proposed reformulation of the certification concept. Under this proposal, the Administration would put forward (in a positive gesture) legislation which would permit the reestablishment of FMS, security assistance and export of Munitions Control licensable items to the GOC on the basis of Presidential confirmation that each and every transaction meets the criteria of U.S. national interest (i.e. drawn from the existing certification requirement) and progress toward democracy (i.e. drawn from Barnes 1983 language). These letters of confirmation would be delivered to the Congress which would have, say, 30 days to express a negative view. Such an approach would establish, in effect, a Congressional line item veto authority over each transaction permitting the Congress, together with the Administration to shape the nature and extent of a reestablished security relationship with the GOC. In return for abolishing the certification requirement we would concede to Congress a strong hand in shaping this relationship. In presenting this legislative initiative to Rep. Barnes and Senator Kennedy we could indicate that our leverage is diminishing (Chile is establishing a security relationship with the U.K.) and that if we are able to offer inducements to Pinochet such as would be possible under this proposal we might be able to encourage progress toward democracy. It could also be pointed out that, in the final analysis, it is only through democracy that the current certification requirements are going to be met, including the Letelier/Moffit requirement and that the current punitive certification requirement offers no positive inducements for good behavior.

None of the alternatives is particularly attractive. Argentina's return to democracy made it possible to avoid these tough questions with regard to the Argentine certification requirement. Now, however, Chile stands alone and there are, honestly speaking, no realistic prospects of certifying Chile in the near future. Therefore, unless we are prepared to seek to amend/modify/delete or replace the certification requirement, we must be prepared to live with the possibilty that there will no no security relationship with Chile anytime in the foreseeable future.

Any attempt to modify the current certification requirements will meet with strong opposition from entrenched domestic interest groups and from Chilean opposition political groups. Were we to oppose the certification requirement on principle, it would be negatively construed in Chile as support for Pinochet. Similarly, amending or deleting the current requiremensts would be similarly interpreted with negative consequences for our future relationship with these groups who, for there own reasons, will choose to ignore the point of principle.

RECOMMENDATION

On balance, our first preference is Option 1, to oppose, on principle, any certification requirement. Realistically speaking, however, we do not think this course of action is viable. There will be too much at stake in the FAA, not the least of which will be the Central American initiative. We cannot count on the President's veto of the FAA simply to eliminate the Chilean certification requirement.

Therefore, we believe we should put forward the legislative proposal outlined in Option 4. This proposal will require laying careful groundwork and commitment from H, HA, ARA and the Seventh Floor. We must be seen to be serious about the proposal and not trying to dodge certification. Personal approaches to Barnes and Kennedy will be required. Key Senatorial Republicans should support the concept.

An initiative to delete Section 726, to oppose any new certification requirement, and to substitute a Presidential confirmation/Congressional veto appproach is consistent with Administration policy and best serves U.S.-Chilean relations. We accept that the prospects for succeeding are poor and that this effort will be made against an uncertain background of political unrest in Chile. Nevertheless, we think it inappropriate and inconsistent for the Administration to acquiesce, even tacitly, in the continuation of the current certification requirement which, with Argentina's certification, now leaves Chile subject to such singular, and unwarranted, scrutiny.

AT A MEETING IN HOUSTON IN EARLY FEBRUARY, THE PARTIES OF THE RIGHT FAILED TO CREATE A COALITION BY THEMSELVES. 2. SUMMARY: IN CODEL ASPIN'S MEETING WITH JUNTA MEMBER SERGIO RAMIREZ FEBRUARY 13, ASPIN RAISED QUESTIONS ABOUT GRN INTENTIONS AND EXPRESSED U.S. CONCERNS REGARDING: GRN RELATIONS WITH THE U.S.; THE GRN'S VIEW OF DEMOCRACY; THE GRN'S PLAN FOR ELECTIONS; THE PROSPECTS FOR SUCCESS THROUGH CONTADORA; NICARAGUA'S CUBAN/SOVIET ALIGNMENT; AND NICARAGUAN SUPPORT FOR THE SALVADORAN GUERRILLAS. RAMIREZ EXPRESSED THE GRN'S VIEW ON CONTADORA AND OTHER PROPOSALS. HE DESCRIBED THE UPCOMING NICARAGUAN ELECTIONS AS "TRADITIONALLY LATIN AMERICAN." IF THE NICARAGUAN PEOPLE DID NOT ELECT THE SANDINISTAS, THE FSLN WOULD ACCEPT ITS DECISION. HE SAID NICARAGUAN DEMOCRACY, WHEN FACED WITH A THREAT OF WAR, COULD NOT BE PROPERLY COMPARED WITH AMERICA'S WELL-DEVELOPED SYSTEM.

3. RAMIREZ CITED NICARAGUA'S U.N. VOTING RECORD AS INDICATIVE OF ITS NON-ALIGNMENT, AND ADMITTED 4,000 CUBAN ADVISERS WERE IN NICARAGUA, OF WHOM NO MORE THAN 200 WERE MILITARY. THE GRN WOULD DISCUSS THE REMOVAL OF ADVISERS AND NICARAGUAN

REGIONAL AGREEMENT. CONTADORA PROSPECTS FOR PEACE DEPENDED ON THE U.S. HE HOPED NICARAGUAN-U.S. RELATIONS WOULD IMPROVE, BUT INSISTED THAT FIRST THE U.S. HAD TO LEARN NOT TO B AFRAID OF CHANGE. END SUMMARY.

4. CODEL ASPIN MET WITH JUNTA MEMBER SERIO RAMIREZ MERCADO ON FEBRUARY 13, PROVIDING ASPIN THE OPPORTUNITY TO HEAR DIRECTLY FROM THE SANDINISTA LEADERSHIP. THE AMBASSADOR AND ACTING FOREIGN MINISTER VICTOR TINOCO WERE ALSO IN ATTENDANCE. AFTER INTRODUCTORY PLEASANTIRES ASPIN SAID THAT HE HAD NEVER VISITED CENTRAL AMERICA BEFORE. HE HAD MANY QUESTIONS, AND WANTED TO EXPRESS HIS VIEWS ON SOME ISSUES TO THE GRN. HE ASKED WHAT RELATIONSHIP THE GRN WANTED TO HAVE WITH THE U.S. RAMIREZ SAID THE GRN WAS TRYING TO DEVELOP A FRAMEWORK FOR COMMUNICATIONS BETWEEN THE TWO COUNTRIES THROUGH CONTADORA AND THROUGH ITS OWN PROPOSALS TO THE USG. THE GRN HAD ALSO ATTEMPTED TO ADDRESS U.S. SECURITY CONCERNS. THE GRN DID NOT WANT ISOLATION FROM THE U.S. IN THE FUTURE. ON THE OTHER HAND, NICARAGUA WANTED TO MAINTAIN ITS INDEPENDENCE. RAMIREZ SAID THAT NICARAGUA COULD NOT CHANGE THE FACT THAT THE U.S. WAS SO CLOSE AND SO POWERFUL. AT THE SAME TIME THE U.S. MUST REALIZE THAT NEITHER COULD IT CHANGE NICARAGUA'S SITUATION; NOT THROUGH THE CIA, THROUGH SUBVERSION OR THROUGH FUNDS TO THE CONTRA.

5. ACCORDING TO RAMIREZ, THE ELECTORAL PROCESS WOULD COME ABOUT SONNER THAN ANTICIPATED. HE DID NOT ELABORATE. IF PEOPLE CHOSE SOMEONE OTHER THAT THE SANDINISTAS, HE SAID, THE FSLN WOULD HAVE TO ACCEPT ITS DECISION. BUT THAT WAS NOT THE SAME AS BEING FORCED TO CHANGE BY USE OF MILITARY FORCE. NOBODY THOUGHT THE NATIONAL GUARD (GN), WHICH HAD BEEN GIVEN ARMS BY THE CIA, WAS A VIABLE POLITICAL ALTERNATIVE. BESIDES,

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

THE CIA'S MONEY WAS NOT JUST BEING USED TO BUY ARMS. "MANY NEW FORTUNES" WERE BEING BORN AS WELL. TWENTY-EIGHT TO FORTY-EIGHT MILLION DOLLARS WAS A LOT OF MONEY. ASPIN REMARKED THAT IF THAT WAS WHAT THE MONEY WAS BEING USED FOR THE GRN DIDN'T HAVE TO WORRY. RAMIREZ RETORTED THAT WITH THAT MONEY, THE U.S. HAD KILLED 1,000 NICARAGUANS IN THE POST YEAR. ECONOMIC LOSSES WERE AS MUCH AS $250 MILLION, A GREAT DEAL OF MONEY FOR NICARAGUA. EQUAL TO ABOUT ONE HALF OF ITS EXPORTS.

6. ASPIN THEN ASKED RAMIREZ IF HE CONSIDERED THE CONTRAS AS ALL

FORMER SOMOCISTA NATIONAL GUARDSMEN(GN). RAMIREZ ANSWERED, "PRINCIPALLY, YES." HE SAID THAT OPERATIONAL DECISIONS WERE TAKEN BY THE FDN AND CIA OFFICIALS. THE HEADS OF THE TASK FORCES WERE EX-GN AND USED TO BE JUNIOR OFFICERS UNDER SOMOZA. WHEN ASKED ABOUT OPPOSITION IN THE SOUTH, RAMIREZ SAID THE FORCES THERE WERE NOT AS INTEGRATED AS THE FDN, WHICH WAS MORE UNIFIED BECAUSE THE CIA HAD GIVEN IT DISCIPLINE. IN THE SOUTH THERE WERE NOW 4-5 GROUPS RATHER THAN THE ORIGINAL UNIFIED FORCE, AND THEY WERE SHORT OF MONEY. PASTORA WAS A DIFFICULT PERSON AND THE CIA COULD NOT WORK WITH HIM.

7. ASPIN SAID THAT PEOPLE LIKE PASTORA RAISED QUESTIONS IN THE U.S. ABOUT THOSE WHO WERE ORIGINALLY SUPPORTERS OF THE REVOLUTION BUT WHO LATER MOVED TO THE OPPOSITION. THIS CAUSED POEPLE TO WONDER ABOUT THE REASONS FOR THEIR CHANGE OF HEART. IN GENERAL, ASPIN CONTINUED, U.S. PUBLIC OPINION ON NICARAGUA WAS IN A STATE OF FLUX. MANY PEOPLE DID NOT KNOW ENOUGH ABOUT IT TO MAKE INFORMED DECISIONS. ASPIN SAID THERE WAS A GROUP OF DEMOCRATS IN CONGRESS WHICH WAS VEY SUPPORTIVE OF THE SANDINISTA REVOLUTION, BUT THAT GROUP CARRIED LITTLE INFLUENCE. U.S. PUBLIC SUPPORT FOR THE ACTION IN GRENADA WAS AN EXAMPLE OF THAT.

8. THE GRN WAS NOT AFRAID OF AN ARMED OPPOSITION, ACCORDING TO RAMIREZ. THERE WAS NO GOVERNMENT IN THE WORLD WITHOUT SOME TYPE OF OPPOSITION. YES, THE GRN HAD DAMAGED THE INTERESTS OF SOME. THE REVOLUTION HAD NEVERTHELESS CHANGED THE DISTRIBUTION OF WEALTH FROM THE FEW HAVING ALL, TO THE MANY HAVING SOME. SOME HAD MOVED TO THE OPPOSITION CAMP IN DISAGREEMENT WITH THE SANDINISTAS, BUT THAT DID NOT GIVE THEM THE RIGHT TO SEEK FUNDS TO MOUNT AN ARMED OPPOSITION. IN THE PROCESS OF DEVELOPMENT THE GRN WOULD MAKE MANY ERRORS. SOME PEOPLE IN NICARAGUA THOUGHT THAT THINGS SHOULD BE LIKE THEY USED TO BE UNDER SOMOZA. THEY HAD TAKEN ADVANTAGE OF THE NICARAGUAN PEOPLE UNDER SOMOZA AND BENEFITED JUST AS HE HAD. THEY WERE NEVERTHELESS NOT NOW TYING TO OVERTHROW THE GRN AND

LEARN TO UNDERSTAND THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN OPPSOITION AND THE COUNTERREVOLUTION.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~ UNCLASSIFIED

9. ASPIN SAID THERE WAS NO SUPPORT IN THE U.S. FOR A RETURN OF SOMOZA. WHAT THERE WAS SUPPORT FOR WAS THE IDEA OF COMPETITION FOR VOTES. PERHAPS RAMIREZ HAD A DIFFERENT IDEA OF DEMOCRACY THAN DID THE U.S. RAMIREZ SAID HE KNEW ABOUT DEMOCRACY IN THE U.S., AND HE KNEW ITS MECHANI FOR EXAMPLE, HE KNEW HOW DIFFICULT IT WAS FOR A THIRD PARTY TO MAKE ANY HEADWAY IN THE SYSTEM. SOME SPOKE OF A NATURAL SELECTION OF POLITICAL FORCES, THE IDEA OF SURVIVAL OF THE FITTEST. IN NICARAGUA NOW THERE WERE ABOUT FIFTEEN DIFFERENT PARTIES (SIC). THE ELECTIONS WOULD BE A PROCESS OF NATURAL SELECTION TO SEE WHO WOULD SURVIVE. NICARAGUA WAS GOING TO ELECT A CONSTITUTIONAL ASSEMBLY AND EXECUTIVE AUTHORITIES WITH CONSITITUTIONAL POWERS, AS ALL LATIN AMERICAN COUNTRIES HAD DONE. THE GRN WOULD SELECT A SUPREME ELECTORAL COUNCIL INDEPENDENT FROM THE GOVERNMENT TO RESOLVE PROBLEMS IN THE ELECTORAL PROCESS. NICARAGUA WOULD H PLURALIST SOCIETY CHARACTERISTIC OF WESTERN EUROPEAN COUNTRI

10. RAMIREZ REITEREATED THAT NICARAGUA WAS NOT TRYING TO BREAK WITH LATIN AMERICAN TRADITIONS. IT WAS PART OF THE LATIN AMERICAN HISTORICAL CONTEXT AND WOULD REMAIN SO. ASPIN QUESTIONED THE GRN'S REAL INTENT, BEYOND THE FORMAL STEP OF HOLDING ELECTIONS, TO CREATE A TRULY PLURALISTIC SOCIETY WITH FREEDOM OF THE PRESS, ETC. THE U.S. FAVORED COMPETITION OF INTERESTS WITCH WERE EXPRESSED THROUGH ORGANIZED POLITICAL FORCES.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

THREAT, AND ANOTHER IN CIRCUMSTANCES WHICH GAVE IT A REAL CHA IF HE, RAMIREZ, COULD CONSTRUCT THE IDEAL SCENARIO, THEN THE AND GRN WOULD SIGN AN AGREEMENT TO RID THE AREA OF ALL MILITARY ADVISERS AND MILITARY AID. AFTER THAT, IF THE GRN DID NOT HOLD FREE ELECTIONS, DID NOT PUT AN ASSEMBLY IN PLACE, AND STILL CENSORED THE PRESS, THEN THAT WOULD BE ANOTHER STORY. IT WAS NOT FAIR TO COMPARE THE U.S. SYSTEM, WHICH FUNCTIONED IN PEACE, WITH THAT IN NICARAGUA WHICH WAS FIGHTING A WAR. RAMIREZ ASKED HOW THE U.S. WOULD BE AFFECTED IF IT HAD 100,000 ARMED MEN ATTACKING FROM MEXICO EVERY DAY. PUTTING THINGS IN PERSPECTIVE, INSTEAD OF $250 MILLION

DAMAGE, HOW WOULD $2.5 BILLION AFFECT THE U.S.?

12. ASPIN ASKED WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF THE CONTRAS WERE NOT SUPPORTED, AND DID NOT EXIST. WOULD THERE BE COMPLETE FREEDOM OF THE PRESS WITH NO CENSORHIP? RAMIREZ ANSWERED THAT THERE WOULD. "NOT ONLY THAT, BUT EVEN WITH THE SOMOZA GUARD(I.E., THE CONTRAS) WE WILL FULFILL THE MINIMUM RULES FOR FREE ELECTIONS." ASPIN POINTED OUT THAT THIS WOULD HAVE TO HAPPEN SOON ENOUGH FOR THE OPPOSITION PARTIES TO HAVE A CHANCE. HE SAID THERE WERE REASONS TO PUT LIMITS ON DEMOCRACY, CITING THE U.S. CIVIL WAR. THE U.S. CONCERN WAS THAT THOSE REASONS NOT BECOME AN EXCUSE TO CONTINUE OPPRESSION. HE WONDERED WHEN SOUTH KOREA WOULD OPEN UP ITS DEMOCRACY, FOR THE GOVERNMENT ALWAYS POINTED TO THE THREAT FROM THE NORTH. IT SEEMED THAT SUCH THINGS WERE OFTEN SPOKEN ABOUT IN PRINCIPLE, BUT SEEMINGLY WERE ALWAYS POSTPONED.

13. ASPIN MOVED TO OTHER AREAS. WHAT FOREIGN POLICY GOALS DID NICRAGUA HAVE? RAMIREZ SAID IT HAD VERY CLEAR GOALS AND IT WAS NON-ALIGNED AND TRIED TO FUNCTION AS SUCH, EVEN THOUG THAT CLASHED WITH TRADITION. NICARAGUA HAD PASSED FROM NEVER HAVING VOTING AGAINST THE U.S. UNDER SOMOZA TO VOTING AGAINS U.S. MANY TIMES, BUT NOT ALWAYS WITH THE SOVIET UNION. IN DECIDING ITS VOTE, THE GRN FIRST EXAMINED ITS OWN INTERESTS. AFTER ONE YEAR ON THE U.SN. SECURITY COUNCIL, THE GRN HAD A RECORD OF INDEPENDENT VOTING. IT HAD EXCELLENT RELATIONS WITH WESTERN EUROPEAN NATIONS AND HAD CREATED BALANCE IN ITS FOREIGN POLICY.

14. ASPIN ASKED BOUT THE SOVIET UNION/CUBA CONNECTON. RAMIREZ SAID THOSE RELATIONS COULD NOT CHANGE. THE GRN HAD GOOD RELATIONS WITH THE SOVIET UNION, RESPECTFUL ONES. ITS RELATIONSHIP WITH CUBA WAS MUCH CLOSER. HE EXPALINED THAT WHILE CUBA WAS A SOCIALIST COUNTRY, IT WAS ALSO A LATIN AMERI COUNTRY WITH STRONG TIES TO NICARAGUA. THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN THE TWO COUNTRIES REFLECTED THOSE TIES, BUT THAT WAS NOT TO SAY THAT CUBA DICTATED NICARAGUAN POLICY.

15. TO ASPIN'S QUESTION ON THE NUMBER OF CUBAN ADVISERS IN NICARAGUA, RAMIREZ REPLIED THAT THERE WERE ABOUT 4,000 TOTAL. THESE INCLUDED 2,000 PRIMARY SCHOOL TEACHERS, 800 DOCTORS AND TECHNICIANS IN RAILROAD, HIGHWAY AND AGRICULTURAL DEVELOPMENT

AND NO MORE THAN 200 MILITARY ADVISERS. ASPIN TURNED TO THE TRAINING OF NICARAGUAN PERSONNEL ABROAD. " DO YOU ALWAYS HAVE TO SEND THEM TO CUBA? WHY NOT OTHER COUNTRIES?" RAMIREZ CLAIMED CUBA MADE MORE OFFERS, AND TRAINING COULD BE GOTTEN IN DIVERSE FIELDS THERE. THERE WERE NEVERTHELESS MANY STUDENTS STUDYING IN MEXICO AS WELL AS IN OTHER COUNTRIES. THE GRN WOULD ACCEPT ASSISTANCE FROM ANY COUNTRY. IT ALSO HAD ADVISERS FROM THE U.S., WEST GERMANY, HOLLAND AND SPAIN. THERE WERE PERHAPS SOME 2,000 FROM WESTERN EUROPE. ASPIN INTERJECTED THAT QUESTIONS LIKE THE NUMBER OF CUBAN/SOVIET ADVISERS WERE CAUSE FOR CONCERN IN THE UNITED STATES. RAMIREZ SAID THAT PEOPLE WERE NOT WELL INFORMED. NICARAGUA PRODUCED EXCELLENT TOBACCO, AND VERY GOOD CIGARS WERE MADE FROM IT BY CUBANS LIVI HERE WHO WERE NOT FIDELISTS.

16. ARCHIE BARRETT, WHO ACCOMPANIED ASPIN, SAID THAT RAMIREZ HAD NOT MENTIONED ANOTHER PROBLEM, THAT OF NICARAGUA'S SUPPORT FOR THE GUERRILLAS IN EL SALVADOR. RAMIREZ SAID THE GRN HAD PLACED ALL ITS CARDS ON THE TABLE ON THIS SUBJECT IN OCTOBER. THE GRN WAS WILLING TO REACH AN AGREEMENT ON THE MATTER AND ON THE WITHDRAWAL OF CUBAN ADVISORS, BUT ONLY AS A PART OF A GLOBAL SOLUTION, AND AS LONG AS OTHER MILITARY ADVISERS LEFT THE REGION. THE AGREEMENT WOULD ALSO HAVE TO INCLUDE SUSPENSION OF ALL ARMAMENTS FLOWING INTO CENTRAL AMERICA. BARRETT TOLD RAMIREZ THAT HE THOU THOSE CONDITIONS WOULD BE UNACCEPTABLE TO THE U.S. THEREFORE, THE GRN SEEMED TO HAVE PLACED PROPOSITIONS ON THE TABLE WHICH W NON-NEGOTIABLE. THE U.S. WAS HELPING THE GOES BECAUSE IT WANTED ASSISTANCE. RAMIREZ RETORTED THAT THE GRN COULD LIKEWISE SAY TH WANTED CUBAN ASSISTANCE. BARRETT ASKED RAMIREZ IF HIS CONCLUSION WAS THAT IF THE U.S. COULD NOT ACCEPT THE GRN'S PROPOSALS, THEN THE GRN WOULD CONTINUE TO SUPPORT THE SALVADORA GUERRILLAS? RAMIREZ REPLIED ONLY THAT THE GRN WAS WILLING TO DISCUSS THE MATTER AS PART OF A REGIONAL AGREEMENT. HE ADDED THAT THE LARGEST FLOW OF ARMS TO THE GUERRILLAS WAS FROM THE GOES. THE U.S. COULD NOT ASK THE GRN TO MAKE UNILATERAL CONCESSIONS AND THEN ATTEMPT TO PUNISH NICARAGUA FOR NOT DOING SO.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

17. ASPIN ASKED ABOUT CONTADORA'S CHANCES FOR SUCCESS. RAMIREZ SAID IT DEPENDED UPON THE U.S. THE MEMBER NATIONS HAD GOOD WILL, AND COMMISSIONS WERE WORKING ON CONCRETE ISSUES. WHAT WOULD HAPPEN, HE ASKED, ONCE HONDURAS SIGNED AN AGREEMENT WHICH REQUIRED IT TO TAKE ALL THE GN OUT OF A

DEMILITARIZED ZONE? THEN THE USG WOULD HAVE TO TAKE DIRECT RESPONSIBILITY FOR SUPPORTING THE CONTRAS. THE GRN WAS IN AGREEMENT WITH ALL OF THE CONTADORA PROPOSALS AND PARTICIPATED IN ALL THE COMMITTEES. ASPIN SAID THE CONTADORA PROPOSALS WOULD BE HARD TO VERIFY. RAMIREZ AGREED. THE GRN ALSO HAD ADDRESSED THAT PROBLEM IN ITS PROPOSALS.

18. ASPIN SAID HE WANTED TO KNOW FOR HIMSELF IF THE DIFFERENCES BETWEEN THE US AND THE GRN WERE REAL OR SEMANTIC: WERE THE DIFFERENCES FUNDAMENTAL, PRECLUDING AGREEMENT, OR WERE THEY JUST PROCEDURAL? RAMIREZ ESPLAINED THAT FOR THE FIRST TIME NICARAGUA WAS WORKING INDEPENDENTLY OF THE U.S., WHICH HAD NOT WANTED A CHANGE FROM SOMOZA. SOMOZA'S TIME HAD PASSED. IT WOULD TAKE TIME FOR NICARGUA TO FORGET THE SUPPORT THE U.S. HAD GIVEN HIM. IN THE MEANTIME, THE GRN WAS GOING TO KEEP A WARY EYE ON THE U.S. THE GRN WOULD NOT ACCEPT U.S. ARROGANCE IN ITS RELATIONSHIP WITH NICARAGUA.

19. ASPIN SAID THAT AN OUTSIDE OBSERVER, JUDGING FROM THE RHETORIC ALONE, WOULD BELIEVE IT WAS NEARLY IMPOSSIBLE FOR THE U.S. AND NICARAGUA TO HAVE GOOD RELATIONS. WAS THERE SOMETHING BEYOND THE RHETORIC WHICH RAMIREZ BELIEVED COULD MAKE POSSIBLE A DECENT RELATIONSHIP? RAMIREZ REPLIED THAT THERE WAS, BECAUSE THERE WERE NO FEELINGS OF ANTI-AMERICANISM IN THE NICARAGUAN PEOPLE, ONLY ANTI-INTERVENTIONISM. NICARAGUA CARRIED WITH IT MUCH FROM U.S. CULTURE, AND THOSE TIES COULD NOT BE BROKEN. HE SAID THE SANDINISTAS WERE NOT RADICAL FANATICS. THE GRN WANTED CONDITIONS IN WHICH U.S. CULTURE AND INDUSTRY COULD HELP NICARAGUAN DEVELOPMENT.

20. ASPIN ASKED RAMIREZ HOW THE NICARAGUAN REVOLUTION DIFFERED FROM CUBA'S, WHOSE HISTORY WAS SIMILAR AND WHERE STRONG ANTI-U.S. RHETORIC WAS ALSO THE BYWORD. RAMIREZ SAID THE BAY OF PIGS HAD CAUSED A PROFOUND CHANGE IN U.S.-CUBAN RELATIONS. IN NICARAGUA, HOWEVER, AMERICANS COULD WALK THE STREETS IN PEACE. THERE WERE REGULAR FLIGHTS TO THE U.S. AND MUCH TRAVEL BETWEEN THE TWO COUNTRIES. ASPIN ASKED IF RAMIREZ WAS SAYING THAT BARRING A BAY OF PIGS, THE U.S.-NICARAGUAN RELATIONSHIP WOULD DEVELOP LIKE THAT OF THE U.S. AND BRITAIN. RAMIREZ SAID THAT WAS HOW THEY SHOULD BE. HOWEVER, THE U.S. HAD TO LEARN ONE IMPORTANT THING; NO TO BE AFRAID OF CHANGE . THERE WOULD BE MANY MORE PROFOUND CHANGES IN LATIN AMERICA, AND THE U.S. COULD HAVE TO LEARN

WORKING HIS WAY FROM POINT TO POINT, CONTROLLED THE DIRECTION OF THE CONVERSATION AND BROUGHT RAMIREZ BACK TO SPECIFICS WHEN HE STARTED TO WANDER. OF PARTICULAR SIGNIFICANCE WERE RAMIREZ' ATTEMPTS TO PORTRAY THE NICARAGUAN ELECTORAL PROCESS AS TRADITIONALLY LATIN AMERICAN. HE SAID IF THE SANDINISTAS WERE NOT ELECTED, THEY WOULD ACCEPT THE DEFEAT AND SURRENDER POWER. THE GRN DOES NOT EXPECT TO LOSE, AND SUCH STATEMENTS ARE SAFE FOR RAMIREZ OR OTHERS TO MAKE. WHILE RAMIREZ CITED ECONOMIC LOSSES OF $250 MILLION, OUR BEST ESTIMATES SHOW ACTUAL DIRECT LOSSES TO BE ABOUT ONE-TENTH OF THAT FIGURE. RAMAIREZ STOOD FIRM ON THE GRN'S PROPOSAL TO DISCUSS MILITARY ADVISERS AND SUPPORT TO THE SALVADORAN GUERRILLAS ONLY IN CONJUNCTION WITH A REGIONAL AGREEMENT.

BEGIN TEXT:

MR. ELIOT: MR. SECRETARY, I'VE TRIED TO SAVE THE EASIEST QUESTION FOR THE LAST. WHY DO WE ALWAYSEND UP ON THE WRONG SIDE IN CENTRAL AMERICA, IN LEBANON, IN THE PHILIPPINES, AND ELSEWHERE IN THE WORLD? (APPLAUSE)

SECRETARY SHULTZ: I THINK WE'RE ON THE RIGHT SIDE. (APPLAUSE) WE'RE ON THESIDE OF DEMOCRACY, WE'RE ON THE SIDE OF FREEDOM, WE'RE ON THE SIDE OF ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT. (APPLAUSE) THERE IS A FEVER OF DEMOCRACY

RUNNING THROUGH OUR HEMISPHERE. IT'S EXCITING. I JUST SPENT ABOUT EIGHT DAYS IN CENTRAL AMERICA, IN SOUTH AMERICA, IN THE CARIBBEAN, AND PEOPLE, PARTICULARLY PEOPLE LIVING IN COUNTRIES THAT HAVE EXISTEDUNDER DICTATORSHIP, WHEN YOU TALK WITH THEM, THEY'RE SO EXCITED. OR NOT ONLY IN THE AREA THAT I MENTIONED -- TAKE PORTUGAL AND SPAIN. I DON'T KNOW WHETHERANY OF YOU HAVE VISITED AND TALKED TO PEOPLE THERE. THEY'RESO EXCITED. THEY SAY, "WE HAVE FREEDOM. IT'S WONDERFUL;"

I DON'T THINK WE AMERICANS HAVE ANYAPPRECIATION OF WHAT IT MEANS TO HAVE FREEDOM. IT'S LIKE THE AIR WE BREATH TO US, BUT TO PEOPLE WHO HAVEN'T HAD IT, IT'S WONDERFUL. AND BY THIS TIME WE CAN SAY THAT IN OUR HEMISPHERE THERE ARE LIVING UNDER CONDITIONS OF DEMOCRACY OR STATES WHICH ARE MOVING INEXORABLY TO DEMOCRACY OVER 90 PERCENT OF THE UNCLASSIFIED

3. SECRETARY'S RESPONSE PARALLELS LANGUAGE IN 1983 COUNTRY REPORTS ON HUMAN RIGHTS PRACTICES WHICH READS AS FOLLOWS:

BEGIN TEXT: A TIME OF CHOICE FOR DEMOCRATIC NATIONS

....ONE OF THE MOST HOPEFUL DEVELOPMENTSIN RECENT YEARS -- THE MARCH OF DEMOCRACY INLATIN AMERICA -- HAS GONE LARGELY UNNOTICED. THE RECENT INAUGURATION OF PRESIDENT ALFONSIN OF ARGENTINA IS ONLY THE LATEST IN A SERIES OF VICTORIES FOR DEMOCRACY IN LATIN AMERICA. APART FROM CUBA, SURINAME, HAITI, GUYANA ANDPARAGUAY, THE OTHER

TWENTY SEVEN NATIONS OF LATIN AMERICAAND THE CARIBBEAN ARE EITHER BASICALLY DEMOCRATIC, ORAT LEAST NOMINALLY EMBARKED ON THE TRANSITION TO FULL DEMOCRACY. THIS PROCESS HAS ACCELERATED OVER THE LAST THREE YEARS. BETWEEN 1976 AND 1980, ONLY ONE LATIN AMERICAN NATION, ECUADOR, ELECTED A CIVILIAN PRESIDENT TOREPLACE THE MILITARY. SINCE 1980, HOWEVER, NINE LATIN AMERICAN NATIONS HAVE EITHER HELD FREE ELECTIONS, OR DECLARED THEIR INTENTION OF DOING SOSOON: ARGENTINA, BOLIVIA, BRAZIL, EL SALVADOR, GUATEMALA, HONDURAS, PANAMA, PERU AND URUGUAY. EVEN THE GOVERNMENT OF NICARAGUA, HAVING RENEGED ON EARLIER PROMISES TO HOLD FREE ELECTIONS, NOW

CLAIMS TO BE PLANNING THEM FOR 1985.

4. INTRODUCTION SECTION OF HUMAN RIGHTS REPORT DID NOT MENTION CHILE BY NAME. IT WAS INTENDED THAT CHILE WOULD BE INCLUDED AMONG THOSE TWENTY-SEVEN LATIN AMERICAN NATIONS NOMINALLY EMBARKED ON A TRANSITION TO FULL DEMOCRACY.

5. IN RESPONDING TO CHILEAN CONCERNS ABOUT THE SECRETARY'S REMARKS QUOTED IN PARA TWO ABOVE, EMBASSY MAY POINT OUT THE HUMAN RIGHTS REPORT'S DISTINCTION BETWEEN NON-DEMOCRATIC COUNTRIES AND THOSE IN TRANSITION TO FULL DEMOCRACY. THE SECRETARY'S WORDS ("VERY DIFFERENT COUNTRIES, BUT LEAVE THAT TO THE SIDE") ALSO INDICATE DISTINCTIONS. YOU MAY ASSURE THE CHILEANS THAT THE HUMAN RIGHTS REPORT IS OUR OFFICIAL POSITION. 1. (U) IN THE PAST WEEK, THE GOC HAS ANNOUNCED THAT IT WILL ALLOW THE TEMPORARY RETURN OF TWO FORMER UNIDAD POPULAR (UP) LEADERS. ON FEBRUARY 17, UNDERSECRETARY OF INTERIOR LUIS SIMON FIGUEROA ANNOUNCED THAT SERGIO BITAR, MINISTER OF MINES UNDER THE UP GOVERNMENT, WOULD BE ALLOWED TO RETURN TEMPORARILY TO CHILE. SUBJECT: REPORTED COMMENT BY SECRETARY DRAWS QUICK GOC REACTION

1. (U) SANTIAGO PRESS OF FEBRUARY 18 CARRIED BRIEF AP ITEM DATELINED WASHINGTON WHICH REPORTED THAT SECRETARY SHULTZ, IN THE COURSE OF A MEETING IN BOSTON ON FEBRUARY 15, HAD SAID THAT CHILE "WAS OUT OF TUNE WITH" THE DEMOCRATIC SPIRIT BEING FELT THROUGHOUT LATIN AMERICA. THE INITIAL GOC REACTION WAS VOICED BY MFA UNDER SECRETARY LT. COL. HUMBERTO JULIO, WHO RESPONDED TO REPORTERS REQUESTS FOR COMMENTS ON FEBRUARY 20 TO THE EFFECT THAT SECRETARY SHULTZ COULD SAY WHAT HE LIKED, AS COULD THE GOC, BUT THAT THE REMARK APPEARED TO BE A PERSONAL OPINION.

2. (U) LATER ON FEBRUARY 20, INTERIOR MINISTER JARPA WAS CONFRONTED WITH THE SAME QUESTION AND GAVE A MORE EXTENSIVE RESPONSE. ACCORDING TO THE FULLEST PRESS ACCOUNT, CARRIED IN EL MERCURIO OF FEBRUARY 21, JARPA SAID: "WE SHOULD NOT BE GUIDED BY PEOPLE WHO DO NOT KNOW CHILE OR THE CHILEAN REALITY, GIVEN THAT MANY OF THE PROBLEMS THAT WE HAD IN THE 1960'S AND 70'S WERE DUE TO LISTENING TO FOREIGN RECOMMENDATIONS. I BELIEVE THAT THERE ARE MANY PEOPLES OF THE WORLD WHO REGRET HAVING FOLLOWED FOREIGN RECOMMENDATIONS.

3. (C) COMMENT: JARPA'S RESPONSE WAS MORE POINTED THAN THE INITIAL MFA RESPONSE, PROBABLY IN PART BECASUE JARPA

IS MORE PREPARED TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THE ISSUE OF POSSIBLE FOREIGN INTERVENTION IN CHILE'S INTERNAL AFFAIRS IN ORDER TO COUNTER OPPOSITION POLITICAL PRESSURES. HIS REFERENCE TO CHILEAN PROBLEMS IN THE 60'S AND 70'S CAUSED BY OUTSIDE ADVICE WILL BE UNDERSTOOD BY MANY AS A REMINDER OF THE CONTROVERSIAL AGRARIAN REFORM PROGRAMS LAUNCHED BY THE FREI GOVERNMENT AND PURSUED WITH A VENGEANCE BY ALLENDE; AGRARIAN REFORM IN CHILE IS WIDELY IDENTIFIED AS A PET PROJECT OF THE ALLIANCE FOR PROGRESS. JARPA'S READINESS TO PICK UP ON A PASSING REFERENCE TO CHILE BY USG AUTHORITIES ILLUSTRATES THE SENSITIVITY TO POSSIBLE USG PRESSURES ON THE GOVERNMENT. THEBERGE

SUBJECT: ARENA: COALITIONS, GOVERNMENT PROGRAM, FUTURE RELATIONS WITH U.S.

1. [redacted] ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY

DURING LONG CONVERSATION EARLY FEBRUARY [redacted], DURING WHICH HE PREVIEWED ARENA'S GOVERNMENT PROGRAM, [redacted] TOLD POLOFF THAT A COALITION WITH PAISA AND THE PPS IS ALMOST CERTAINLY TO BE FORMED IN THE NEXT FEW DAYS. HE DESCRIBED ARENA CAMPAIGN ORATORY AGAINST THE U.S. AS ONLY TACTICAL RHETORIC; IF ELECTED HIS PARTY

WOULD SEEK GOOD RELATIONS WITH USG AND ITS CONDUCT IN OFFICE WOULD DEMONSTRATE CONVINCINGLY THAT FEARS AND ATTACKS AGAINST ARENA ARE UNJUSTIFIED. IF IT SUCCEEDS IN FORMING THE COALITION, ARENA WILL BOOST ITS CHANCES FOR TAKING SECOND PLACE IN THE FIRST ROUND VOTING. END SUMMARY.

3. COALITIONS

[redacted] CONFIRMED MUCH OF THE SPECULATION CIRCULATING ABOUT A JOINT ARENA-PAISA-PPS SLATE FOR THE FIRST ROUND IN THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION. ACCORDING TO THE ELECTORAL LAW, THE SLATE MUST BE REGISTERED WITH THE CENTRAL ELECTIONS COUNCIL BY FEBRUARY 26. [redacted] SAID HE WAS CONVINCED IT WOULD GEL BY THAT TIME DESPITE SOME LAST MINUTE BARGAINING TACTICS BY THE PPS. HE SHOWED POLOFF A WELL-DRAFTED, TENTATIVE LOGO FOR THE SLATE IN WHICH THE ARENA SYMBOL WOULD HAVE PAISA WRITTEN ACROSS ITS TOP, PPS ALONG ITS BOTTOM, AND THE SYMBOLS OF THESE TWO PARTIES ON EITHER SIDE. IN RETURN FOR SIGNING ON, [redacted] SAID, EACH OF THE OTHER TWO WOULD RECEIVE AN UNSPECIFIED SLICE OF THE EVENTUAL GOVERNMENT PIE. THIS WAS NOT MUCH OF A CONCESSION, [redacted] SAID, BECAUSE ARENA HAD LONG PLANNED TO INCLUDE ALL THE CONSERVATIVE PARTIES IN ITS GOVERNMENT EVEN IF IT WERE TO RUN AND WIN ALONE.

4. [redacted] CLAIMED TO BE SERENE ABOUT THE PCN'S REFUSAL TO JOIN A FIRST ROUND COALITION. HE RECOUNTED THAT PCN CHIEF CHACHI GUERRERO HAD PROPOSED A COALITION OVER TWO MONTHS AGO IN WHICH D'AUBUISSON WOULD HEAD THE TICKET AND THE PCN TAKE THE SECOND SLOT. ARENA REPORTEDLY TURNED THIS OFFER DOWN WITH THE RETORT THAT [redacted]

IT EXPECTED TO RECEIVE THREE-TIMES AS MANY VOTES AS THE PCN AND WOULD THEREFORE EXPECT A UNITED ARENA EXECUTIVE TO BE FORMED. GUERRERO, ACCORDING TO [redacted] THEREUPON SUGGESTED A RENEGOTIATION AFTER THE FIRST ROUND VOTES WERE COUNTED. [redacted] SAYS THAT AT THIS POINT IN THE GAME, CHACHI IS PUSHING THE NOTION THAT HE WOULD BE ABLE TO CAST HIS LOT WITH THE POC AT SOME POINT. NEVERTHELESS, ARENA BELIEVES THIS TO BE A TOTALLY SPURIOUS OPTION SINCE, WERE GUERRERO TO RALLY EVENTUALLY TO THE POC, HE WOULD BE UNABLE TO DELIVER HIS BASE,

WHICH IS "NATIONALIST" LIKE ARENA AND WOULD TRANSFER ITS VOTES EN MASSE TO THE LATTER.

5. GOVERNMENT PROGRAM

[redacted] SAID ARENA WAS ON THE VERGE OF ANNOUNCING ITS PROPOSED PROGRAM FOR GOVERNMENT ON TELEVISION, BUT WANTED TO MAKE THE GESTURE OF LETTING THE EMBASSY BE THE FIRST OUTSIDE OF ARENA TO SEE IT. THE PROGRAM IS "FOUNDED" ON THE ELEVEN POINTS QUOTED BELOW:

-- THE HUMAN PERSON IS THE BASE OF THE FAMILY, OF THE SOCIETY AND OF THE STATE; AS SUCH, IT IS THE RAISON D'ETRE AND THE END OF ALL POLITICAL ACTIVITY.

-- THE HUMAN PERSON HAS RIGHTS AND LIBERTIES THAT ARE INHERENT IN THE PERSON AND WHICH MUST BE RECOGNIZED AND RESPECTED.

-- FOR THE RESPECT OF THESE RIGHTS AND LIBERTIES, THE INDIVIDUAL MUST HAVE ACCESS TO LEGAL MECHANISMS THAT ARE SWIFT AND EFFICIENT IN PROTECTING HIM AGAINST INJUSTICE AND OPPRESSION.

IS THE BASIS FOR STIMULATING PROGRESS AND IS THE GUARANTEE OF THE WELLBEING OF THE INDIVIDUAL THE FAMILY; IT CONTRIBUTES AS WELL TO THE WEALTH OF THE NATION.

-- PEACE IS THE MOST PRECIOUS RIGHT AND ATTRIBUTION OF SOCIETY; WHEN IT IS LOST, IT IS THE DUTY OF ALL TO MAKE THE SUPREME SACRIFICE TO RECOVER IT.

-- IT IS POLITICAL DEMAGOGY TO USE DECREE-LAWS (READ LAND, BANK, AND FOREIGN COMMERCE REFORM) AS AN INSTRUMENT OF PLUNDER AND DESTRUCTION AND IT IS AS DAMAGING AS TERRORISM AND THE MACHINE GUN.

-- REPRESENTATIVE DEMOCRACY IS THE BEST SYSTEM OF GOVERNMENT AND THE MOST RATIONAL INSTRUMENT FOR THE FULL DEVELOPMENT OF THE SOCIETY.

-- EL SALVADOR, AS A STATE AND AS A NATION, HAS THE INALIENABLE RIGHT TO LEGAL EQUALITY AMONG STATES, INCLUDING THE RIGHT TO GOVERN ITSELF WITH DIGNITY AND WITHOUT FOREIGN INTERVENTION.

6. THESE PRINCIPLES ARE FLESHED OUT IN A 12-PART DOCUMENT THAT RANGES FROM THE SYSTEM OF JUSTICE, TO THE ECONOMY, AGRARIAN REFORM, HEALTH, EDUCATION, PUBLIC SERVICES, FOREIGN AFFAIRS, ETC., THAT WE WILL ANALYSE SEPTEL AND POUCH IN ORIGINAL FORM FOR DEPARTMENT'S EXAMINATION.

7. RELATIONS WITH THE U.S.

[redacted] SAID HE WAS AWARE THAT POLOFF HAD RECENTLY SUGGESTED THAT THE MERITS OF THE NBCCA REPORT WERE OBVIOUS AND DID NOT DESERVE TO BE ASSAULTED PUBLICLY BY ARENA CAMPAIGN SPEAKERS. HE ASKED THAT WE UNDERSTAND THAT SOME ARENA SPEAKERS WERE YOUNG, PASSIONATE AND EAGER TO DEMONSTRATE THEIR UNALLOYED NATIONALISM. REGRETTABLY THEY WERE OFTEN ILL-PREPARED FOR PUBLIC ORATORY AND THE PARTY COULD NOT HOPE TO REGULATE ALL THEIR REMARKS. [redacted] SAID HE UNDERSTOOD THE MERITS OF THE NBCCA REPORT. MORE BROADLY, NEITHER [redacted] D'AUBUISSON HARBORED REAL ILL-WILL TOWARD THE U.S. ON THE CONTRARY, THEY BOTH ADMIRED THE U.S. GREATLY AND INTENDED ALWAYS TO HAVE EXCELLENT RELATIONS WITH US DESPITE THE IRRITANTS THAT OCCASIONALLY AROSE.

8. [redacted] SAID THAT MUCH OF ARENA'S PUBLIC COMMENTARY ABOUT THE U.S. HAD TO BE SEEN AS TACTICAL RHETORIC. ARENA WAS A NATIONALISTIC PARTY AND IN ORDER TO AWAKEN NATIONALIST SENTIMENTS FULLY IT HAD TO SET UP A SCHEME OF MAJOR ENEMIES. THERE WERE ONLY TWO OUTSIZED, POTENTIAL ENEMIES AVAILABLE-- THE U.S. AND THE SOVIET UNION; THE LATTER WAS TOO REMOTE CULTURALLY, GEOGRAPHICALLY AND HISTORICALLY TO MAKE GOOD USE OF IN A CAMPAIGN. NEVERTHELESS, HE STATED, THE U.S. WOULD BE ASTONISHED AND GRATIFIED TO SEE HOW ARENA WOULD CONDUCT ITSELF IN THE PRESIDENCY, AND IT WOULD SEE THAT THE DOUBTS AND ANTAGONISM IT HAS HARBORED TOWARDS ARENA ARE COMPLETELY UNJUSTIFIED.

SUBJECT: ARENA: COALITIONS, GOVERNMENT PROGRAM,

[redacted] ALSO PROVIDED AN EXPLANATION OF ARENA'S EFFORT TO OBTAIN A RULING AGAINST THE VALIDITY OF MAURICIO ALVERGUE'S NOMINATION AS PDC VICE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE. IN THE FIRST PLACE, ARENA THOUGHT IT EXTREMELY UNFAIR FOR ALVERGUE TO REFUSE TO RESIGN AS SERVING VICE PRESIDENT WHEN HE ACCEPTED THE NOMINATION. BY DOING SO, HE WAS SEEKING TO CLUTCH TO AND ABUSE THE PERQUISITES OF OFFICE FOR THE DURATION OF THE CAMPAIGN. WHETHER A LEGAL OBLIGATION OR NOT, ALVERGUE SHOULD HAVE HAD THE DIGNITY TO RESIGN AS HAD ALL OTHER CANDIDATES. IN ANY EVENT, [redacted] SAID, ALVERGUE'S NON-RESIGNATION VIOLATED

THE LETTER AND SPIRIT OF THE ELECTORAL LAW AND THE CONSTITUTION. IT WAS DANGEROUS AS A PRECEDENT, SINCE IT EMASCULATED THE NEW CONSTITUTIONAL PRINCIPLE AGAINST SELF-SUCCESSION IN POWER, WHICH HAD LED TO MANY OF EL SALVADOR'S HISTORICAL ABUSES AND PROBLEMS. IN ADDITION, [redacted] NOTED, THE CONSTITUTION (ART. 211) OBLIGES THE ARMED FORCES TO ENFORCE RESPECT FOR THE PRINCIPLE OF ALTERNATION (I.E., NON-SELF SUCCESSION) IN POWER. ALVERGUE'S ELECTION OR EVEN CANDIDACY WOULD GIVE THOSE IN THE ARMY WHO WANTED TO STAGE A COUP THE PRETEXT FOR ACTION: THE LAST THING EL SALVADOR NEEDED NOW WAS ANOTHER COUP D'ETAT. [redacted] OPINED THAT THE CCE'S DECISION IN FAVOR OF THE REGULARITY OF ALVERGUE'S CANDIDACY (DECIDED 3-2 FEBRUARY 19) HAD BEEN ILL CONSIDERED AND IN DUBIOUS FAITH. NONETHELESS, HE SAID, ARENA DID NOT PLAN TO TRY TO BRING THE MATTER UP BEFORE THE SUPREME COURT.

10. COMMENT

AS FAR AS WE CAN SEE, ARENA'S ARGUMENTATION ABOUT THE ALVERGUE CANDIDACY WAS INEPT. THE CANDIDACY APPARENTLY COMPLIED WITH THE LETTER OF THE LAW, WHICH IN FACT AND INEXPLICABLY EXEMPTED ONLY THE VICE PRESIDENTS FROM OBLIGATORY RESIGNATION IN ORDER TO RUN. IN ADDITION, THE CONSTITUTION'S DISCUSSION OF ALTERNATION IN POWER CLEARLY REFERS ONLY TO THE PRESIDENCY OF THE REPUBLIC, EVEN THOUGH THE POINT IS NOT SPECIFICALLY RECAPITULATED IN ART. 211. ARENA HAD A GOOD GO AT GETTING EVEN WITH THE PDC FOR RUMOR-MONGERING ABOUT D'AUBUISSON'S OWN CANDIDACY BEING IN DANGER, AND IT EVEN FORCED THE PDC TO TAKE AN HOUR OF TV TIME FEBRUARY 21 TO EXPLAIN TO THE NATION WHY THE ARENA ALLEGATION 'TAINT SO, BUT THE [redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

MATTER SEEMS TO HAVE COME TO AN END.

11. ON THE MORE IMPORTANT MATTER OF THE COALITIONS, ARENA STANDS TO MAKE TWO GAINS IF IT SUCCEEDS IN THE NEXT DAYS IN FORGING A JOINT SLATE WITH PAISA AND THE PPS. FIRST, IT WILL ISOLATE THE PCN BETWEEN THE TWO REAL POLES IN EL SALVADOR. SOME OBSERVERS BELIEVE THIS WILL ACTUALLY MAKE CHACHI A GIFT OF THE POLITICAL CENTER AND ENHANCE HIS CHANCES. HOWEVER, THERE IS NO SUBSTANTIAL EVIDENCE THAT A CENTER YET EXISTS HERE IN PROPORTIONS LARGE ENOUGH TO DETERMINE THE OUTCOME OF THE VOTE.

12. SECOND, A THREE-PARTY SLATE -- ALBEIT INCLUDING TWO MINOR PARTIES -- IS ALMOST SURE TO INCREASE BOTH THE VOTE ARENA COULD GET BY ITSELF AND THEREFORE THE LIKELIHOOD OF EDGING OUT THE PCN FOR SECOND PLACE.

13. FINALLY, [redacted] COMMENTS ABOUT YOUNG ARENA SPEAKERS GETTING CARRIED AWAY IN THEIR COMMENTS ABOUT THE U.S. ARE OBVIOUS BALONEY. WE HAVE NO DOUBT THAT D'AUBUISSON COULD SHAPE ARENA ORATORY ANY WAY HE WANTS TO AND IT PROBABLY SERVES HIS PURPOSE TO HAVE THE HARSHEST COMMENTS ABOUT U.S. INTERVENTIONISM, SOFTNESS ON THE LEFT, ETC. TO COME FROM LESS THAN FULLY AUTHORITATIVE SPEAKERS. IN PART, NO DOUBT, THIS RHETORIC IN THE MOUTHS OF D'AUBUISSON AND OTHERS IS PARTLY TACTICAL. IN LARGER PART, IT IS ABSOLUTELY HEARTFELT. [redacted] INTENTIONS ABOUT EXCELLENT RELATIONS WITH THE U.S. ARE PROBABLY REAL, BUT THEY WILL HAVE TO SURMOUNT ARENA'S HEALTHY RESERVE OF RESENTMENT ABOUT THE CONDUCT OF THE U.S. ROLE WITH REGARD TO BOTH EL SALVADOR AND D'AUBUISSON HIMSELF. THEY FELT IT SERVED US INTEREST TO MAINTAIN A MILITARY SALES AND TRAINING PROGRAM WITH COUNTRIES LIKE CHILE. ~~AT LEAST ONE MEMBER OF CONGRESS~~ THEY ALSO FELT THAT THE REAGAN ADMINISTRATION, IF PRESIDENTIAL LEADERSHIP IS EXERCISED, COULD ~~BEGIN~~ NORMALIZE US MILITARY RELATIONS WITH CHILE AND DEFEAT EFFORTS BY THE VOCAL MINORITY OPPOSED TO ~~THE~~ CHILEAN CERTIFICATION TO REIMPOSE NEW RESTRICTIONS ON US ARMS SALES SALES AND TRAINING. TAGS: PREL, SHUM, CI
SUBJECT: CHILEAN DEMARCHE ON UNHRC TREATMENT OF CHILE

1. (C) - ENTIRE TEXT.

2. ON FEBRUARY 24, THE MFA INITIATED A LOBBYING EFFORT REGARDING THE TREATMENT OF THE CHILE ITEM ON THE AGENDA OF THE UN HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION (UNHRC) FOR ITS CURRENT SESSION IN GENEVA. REPRESENTATIVES OF THE FRG, CANADIAN, FRENCH AND US EMBASSIES WERE INVITED TO A BRIEFING SESSION BY LUIS EUGENIO CADIZ, ACTING DIRECTOR FOR MULTILATERAL AFFAIRS, WHO SAID THAT THE MFA WISHED TO REINFORCE DEMARCHES THAT HAD BEEN MADE IN VARIOUS CAPITALS TO EXPLAIN THE GOC POSITION.

3. CADIZ GAVE EMBASSY REPRESENTATIVES AN AIDE MEMOIRE (COPY POUCHED ARA/SC/CH) WHICH RESTATED STANDARD GOC POSITION AS FOLLOWS:
A) TREATMENT OF ISSUE HAS BEEN CHARACTERIZED BY "SELECTIVITY

CONFIDENTIAL

AND POLARIZATION, WHICH HAS NOT CONTRIBUTED TO OBTAINING THE COOPERATION OF CHILE."
B) "CHILE HAS REPEATEDLY EXPRESSED THAT IT WILL NOT COOPERATE WITH THE SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR AND WILL NOT SUBMIT TO ANY SPECIAL AND IRRELEVANT PROCEEDING". "ECOSOC, THROUGH RESOLUTION 1503, ESTABLISHED A UNIVERSAL PROCEDURE FOR THE EXAMINATION OF COMMUNICATIONS RELEVANT TO VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS" WHICH REQUIRES THE CONSENT OF THE STATE FOR THE COMMISSION TO UNDERTAKE AN INVESTIGATION.

C) "THE GOVERNMENT OF CHILE GAVE ITS CONSENT FOR AN AD-HOC WORKING GROUP TO VISIT ITS TERRIROTY" IN KEEPING WITH RESOLUTION 8 (XXXI) IN 1975 OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION. IN THIS RESOLUTION, IT STATES THAT ONCE THE MISSION IS COMPLETED, THE WORKING GROUP WILL CEASE TO EXIST. "THE WORKING GROUP CARRIED OUT ITS MISSION IN 1978 AND THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT DID EVERYTHING TO FACILITATE ITS TASK." IN KEEPING WITH THE ABOVE RESOLUTION, THE MANDATE OF THE WORKING GROUP EXPIRED AND THE GENERAL PROCEEDING SHOULD HAVE BEEN APPLIED.
D) "NEVERTHELESS, THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY AND THE HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION, WITHOUT THE CONSENT OF THE GOVERNMENT OF CHILE, REPLACED THE WORKING GROUP WITH THREE NEW PROCEEDINGS OF THE SAME CHARACTER . . . OF WHICH ONLY THE SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR FOR CHILE REMAINS."
E.) THE BUDGET FOR THE SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR FOR CHILE IS HIGHER THAN FOR OTHER SPECIAL RAPPORTEURS.
F.) "THE RESOLUTION ADOPTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY, PARTICULARLY THAT OF THE LAST PLENARY REUNION, IS NOTABLE FOR ITS LACK OF SERIOUSNESS, IMPARTIALITY AND REALISM. IT DOES NOT RECOGNIZE ADVANCES AND PROGRESS MADE BY THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT ON THE INSTITUTIONAL LEVEL. IT LIMITS ITSELF TO REPEATING SENTENCES AND CONCEPTS FROM REOLUTIONS ADOPTED IN PREVIOUS YEARS."
G.) CHILE CATEGORICALLY REJECTS THE INTERVENTION OF OTHER STATES IN ITS INTERNAL AFFAIRS.

H.) "THE GOVERNMENT OF CHILE WILL AGAIN COLLABORATE WITH THE HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION OR THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY WHEN THESE ORGANS OF THE UN TERMINATE THE SPECIAL AND DISCRIMINATORY PROCEEDINGS".

4. FRG AND US POLOFFS RESPONDED THAT THEIR RESPECTIVE GOVERNMENTS WERE ALSO OPPOSED TO SELECTIVE AND DISCRIMINATORY TREATMENT OF HUMAN RIGHTS PROBLEMS, AS ILLUSTRATED BY THEIR UNWILLINGNESS IN PAST UNHRC SESSIONS TO SUPPORT EXTENSION OF THE SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR ON CHILE. FRG POLOFF POINTED OUT THAT CHILEAN ISSUE WAS A HARDY PERENNIAL IN THE UNHRC AND IN THE UNGA, AND THAT ANY EFFECTIVE EFFORT TO CHANGE THE OUTCOME WOULD PERFORCE HAVE TO BE LONG-TERM AND SUSTAINED, RATHER THAN A FLURRY OF ACTIVITY SHORTLY BEFORE A RESOLUTION WAS VOTED. US POLOFF NOTED THAT USUAL CO-SPONSORS OF HOSTILE RESOLUTIONS WERE ABLE TO PRESENT THEIR CASE AN AN ALL-OR-NOTHING PROPOSITION, AND THE CHILEAN POSITION, WHILE UNDERSTANDABLE, HAD THE SAME PRACTICAL EFFECT. HE SUGGESTED THAT MFA CONSIDER WHETHER THERE MIGHT BE SOME CONCRETE INTERMEDIATE STEPS THAT COULD BE TAKEN TO BRIDGE THE GAP BETWEEN THE PRESENT UNSATISFACTORY SITUATION AND THE APPLICATION OF NORMAL PROCEDURES WHICH CHILE SAID IT COULD ACCEPT. CADIZ AGREED THE FRG AND US OBSERVATIONS WERE SENSIBLE AND THAT MFA WOULD CONSIDER THEM CAREFULLY. FRENCH POLOFF AND CANADIAN AMBASSADOR BULLIS DID NOT COMMENT.

SUBJECT: CHILEAN GOVERNMENT REACTION TO SECRETARY'S COMMENTS ON CHILE AT BOSTON WORLD AFFAIRS COUNCIL

REFS:A) SANTIAGO 1341; B) STATE 051849

1. SECRET-ENTIRE TEXT.

2. AS REPORTED IN REFTEL A, WE MET WITH FOREIGN MINISTRY UNDERSECRETARY HUMBERTO JULIO REYES ON FEBRUARY 27 IN LA MONEDA AT HIS REQUEST. IN ADDITION TO THE AGREMENT REQUEST, HE RAISED THE QUESTION OF THE SECRETARY'S COMMENTS ON CHILE AT THE BOSTON WORLD AFFAIRS COUNCIL. WE EXPLAINED TO THE UNDERSECRETARY THAT IT WAS OUR UNDERSTANDING THAT THE SECRETARY DID NOT INTEND TO EQUATE CHILE WITH MARXIST-LENINIST GOVERNMENTS IN CUBA AND NICARAGUA, OR SURINAME, IN WHICH THERE WAS NO INTENTION WHATSOEVER OF ESTABLISHING WESTERN-STYLE DEMOCRACIES. WE ADDED THAT THE OFFICIAL USG POSITION IS OUTLINED IN THE INTRODUCTORY SECTION OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS REPORT RECENTLY SUBMITTED TO THE US CONGRESS IN WHICH CHILE, WHILE NOT MENTIONED BY NAME, WAS INCLUDED AMONGST THOSE TWENTY SEVEN LATIN AMERICAN NATIONS NOMINALLY EMBARKED ON A TRANSITIOO TO FULL DEMOCRACY. HE REPLIED THAT IT WAS REGRETTABLE THAT

THE SECRETARY HAD PUBLICLY MENTIONED CHILE IN THE CONTEXT OF THOSE PARTICULAR COUNTRIES BECAUSE IT HAD AROUSED A GREAT DEAL OF MEDIA ATTENTION AND SPECULATION IN CHILE AND ELSEWHERE. HE ENDED BY SAYING THAT HE FULLY UNDERSTOOD THE US POSITION, AND THAT THE MATTER WAS CLOSED AS FAR AS HIS GOVERNMENT WAS CONCERNED.

3. WE TOLD THE UNDERSECRETARY THAT THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT IS PARTLY RESPONSIBLE FOR ANY CONFUSION ABOUT THE LOCATION OF CHILE ON THE PATH OF THE DEMOCRATIC TRANSITIONS IN LATIN AMERICA. LAST AUGUST, THE POLITICAL OPENING CONVEYED THE IMPRESSION THAT THE GOVERNMENT WAS EMBARKED ON AN ACCELERATION OF THE TRANSITION PROCESS, WITH CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS AHEAD OF TIME. SIX MONTHS LATER THERE ARE UNDERSTANDABLE DOUBTS AMONGST CHILEANS, AND NOT JUST THE POLITICAL OPPOSITION, AS WELL AS IN THE UNITED STATES AS TO THE COMMITMENT OF THE GOVERNMENT TO AN ACCELERATED TRANSITION PLAN. EVEN CHILEANS FRIENDLY TO THE GOVERNMENT ARE CONCERNED ABOUT THE LIMITED NATURE OF THE POLITICAL OPENING AND THE ABSENCE OF A CONSTRUCTIVE DIALOGUE ON A PEACEFUL TRANSITION. IT WAS CLEAR THAT THE MAJORITY OF THE CHILEAN PEOPLE WANTED TO BRING TO AN END GOVERNMENT BY THE ARMED FORCES AND TO REESTABLISH A STABLE DEMOCRACY BEFORE 1989. WE POINTED OUT THAT ONLY THE MOST EXTREME, ANTI-DEMOCRATIC SECTORS, LIKE THE COMMUNIST AND MARXIST SOCIALISTS, STAND TO BENEFIT FROM POLITICAL IMMOBILITY.

4. COMMENT: THIS CONVERSATION, LIKE THE QUICK CHILEAN REACTION IN QUITO TO CRITICAL PUBLIC REMARKS BY A U S EMBASSY OFFICER (QUITO 1850) ILLUSTRATES THE DEEP SENSITIVITY OF THE GOC TO USG CRITICISM. THE MOST RECENT COMMENTS PRODUCED THREE STATEMENTS BY SENIOR

CHILEAN OFFICIALS, TWO FROM UNDER SECRETARY JULIO AND ONE FROM INTERIOR MINISTER JARPA, THE REACTION OF JARPA BEING THE SHARPEST AND MOST NATIONALISTIC. SUCH REACTIONS CAN BE EXPECTED, AND NEED NOT ETER US FROM OCCASIONAL PUBLIC CRITICISM IF OUR COMMENTS FORM PART OF A DELIBERATE STRATEGY FOR INFLUENCING THE COURSE OF EVENTS HERE OR CLARIFYING U S POSITIONS. BUT WE SHOULD USE THIS BLUNT INSTRUMENT SPARINGLY AND WITH A CLEAR PURPOSE, SO THAT WE DO NOT NEEDLESSLY REDUCE OUR ABILITY TO PURSUE THE SAME OBJECTIVES IN PRIVATE CONTACTS WITH THE GOC.

2. ALLEGATIONS THAT THE SALVADORAN ARMED FORCES (ESAF), AND THE AIR FORCE (FAS) IN PARTICULAR, HAVE TARGETED CIVILIAN POPULATIONS FOR MILITARY ACTION HAVE BEEN MADE TO THE EMBASSY IN RECENT WEEKS. TEE OF THE RED CROSS (ICRC). IN HIS FEBRUARY 13 RESPONSE, THE AMBASSADOR EXPLAINED THAT THE EMBASSY HAD NO INFORMATION ON SUCH ATTACKS AND THAT OUR SOURCES HAVE BEEN UNABLE TO VERIFY NEIER'S CLAIMS. ON FEBRUARY 14, NEIER MET WITH POLCOUNS AND SAID THAT AN ICRC SOURCE TOLD HIM THAT THE FAS HAD BOMBED AN ICRC MEDICAL DISPENSARY IN A CONFLICTIVE AREA OF MORAZAN DEPARTMENT WHERE CIVILIANS WERE GATHERED SHORTLY AFTER A SWISS ICRC DELEGATE HAD LEFT THE AREA. NEIER DID NOT PROVIDE A DATE AND/OR PLACE FOR THE ALLEGED ATTAC. HE ALSO CHARGED THAT THE ESAF DELIBERATELY TARGETS CIVILIANS IN CONFLICTIVE ZONES, WHERE THE ESAF BELIEVES CIVILIANS HAVE SHELTERED OR OTHERWISE ASSISTED GUERRILLAS. NEIER SAID THE TARGETED CIVILIANS WERE NOT "MASAS" (GUERRILLA CAMP FOLLOWERS WHO PROVIDE LOGISTICAL AND OTHER SUPPORT) BUT SIMPLY CIVILIANS FOUND IN TOWNS THE GUERRILLAS OCCUPY AND THEN LEAVE WHEN THE ESAF SHOW UP.

3. ON FEBRUARY 15 THE AMBASSADOR MET WITH TWO SWISS DELEGATES FROM THE LOCAL ICRC AND ASKED THEM ABOUT ALLEGATIONS OF ESAF USE OF THE ICRC TO LOCATE GUERRILLA SUPPORTERS AMONG THE CIVILIAN POPULATION. THE DELEGATES SAID THAT DURING THE END OF 1983, THERE WERE INSTANCES IN WHICH THE FAS BOMBED AREAS NEAR WHERE AN ICRC MEDICAL TEAM WAS WORKING OR HAD JUST LEFT. THESE INCIDENTS OCCURRED IN SOUTHERN USULUTAN DEPARTMENT, NEAR JIQUILISCO, AND IN THE GUAZAPA AREA (DEPARTMENTS OF SAN SALVADOR AND CUSCATLAN). WHILE THE DELEGATES DECLINED TO STATE CATEGORICALLY THAT THEY BELIEVED THAT THE NOTIFICATION THE ICRC ALWAYS PROVIDES THE ESAF OF THEIR FIELD TRIPS IS BEING USED TO TARGET CIVILIANS, THE DELEGATES CAUTIOUSLY AND SOMEWHAT RELUCTANTLY ADMITTED THAT THEY FELT THAT THE BOMBINGS COULD NOT BE COINCIDENTAL. THE AMBAS-SADOR OFFERED TO TAKE THIS MATTER UP WITH THE GOES, IF THE ICRC WISHED. THE DELEGATES THANKED HIM FOR THE OFFER BUT, TO DATE, HAVE NOT REQUESTED EMBASSY ASSISTANCE NOR REPORTED ANY NEW INCIDENTS.

4. THE ICRC AND AMERICAS WATCH CLAIMS RUN CONTRARY TO EMBASSY UNDERSTANDING OF AND EXPERIENCE WITH ESAF POLICY. THE FAS COMMANDER, WHILE ADMITTING THAT ERRORS CANNOT ALWAYS BE AVOIDED, MAINTAINS THAT HIS PILOTS ARE UNDER ORDERS NOT REPEAT NOT TO BOMB TOWNS IN WHICH GROUND

TROOPS HAVE MADE CONTACT WITH GUERRILLAS AND, IN THEIR TARGETING IN GENERAL, TO AVOID BOMBING IN POPULATED AREAS. WE KNOW FOR A FACT THAT THE FAS HAS CALLED OFF AIR STRIKES FOR FEAR OF BOMBING CIVILIANS OR OF BOMBING IN AREAS WHERE THE EXACT ENEMY LOCATION IS NOT CLEAR.

3. WITH REGARD TO ESAF ATTACS ON CIVILIAN POPULATIONS IN TOWNS PREVIOUSLY HELD OR OCCUPIED BY THE GUERRILLAS, OAO AND MILGP PERSONNEL ARE PROHIBITED FROM ACCOMPANYING ESAF ON OPERATIONS AND THEREFORE HAVE NO FIRST-HAND KNOWLEDGE OF ARMY BEHAVIOR IN CAPTURED TOWNS. HOWEVER, OUR PERCEPTION IS THAT COMMANDERS ARE GENUINELY INTERESTED IN WINNING OVER CIVILIAN POPULATIONS RATHER THAN TAKING PUNITIVE ACTION AGAINST THEM. THE ESAF GENERAL STAFF IS WELL AWARE THAT ITS OBSERVANCE OF HUMAN RIGHTS IS UNDER CLOSE SCRUTINY, AND WE BELIEVE IT IS SINCERELY COMMITTED TO IMPROVING THE SITUATION. IN OUR VIEW, IT WOULD NEITHER COUNTENANCE NOR TOLERATE SUCH BEHAVIOR.

Washington, D.C. 20520

MARCH [illegible], 1984

Dear Senator Kennedy:

This is in response to your letter of January 16, enclosing correspondence from Mr. Hernan Ortega of the Chilean Socialist Party in Mexico concerning the cases of Rafael Ruiz Moscutelli, Andres Nicolas Galanakis Tapia, Gustavo Francisco Zepeda Camiliere, Victor Barcelli, Luis Enrique Lopez Mora, Ramon Moreira Barahona and Jose Morales Lisana.

Ruiz, Galanakis and Zepeda were arrested by Chilean authorities on December 28 and charged with violations of Chile's internal security laws including organizing an armed group and carrying out several of the terrorist attacks which have occured recently. Press reports indicate that a quantity of weapons and ammunition were discovered in the possession of the three individuals at the time of their arrests. Galanakis was acquitted in 1983 of other separate charges of violating internal security laws. At the time of his earlier arrest on January 8, 1983 Galanakis suffered a gunshot wound from which he apparently subsequently recovered.

Ruiz, Galanakis and Zepeda are alleged members of "La Chispa" which is known to be a pro-Cuban marxist-leninist socialist faction. La Chispa is not affiliated with the Socialist Bloc, an organization of six socialist factions and five Christian socialist groups, which is a member of the Democratic Alliance, the main Chilean democratic opposition movement. In addition to the Socialist Bloc, the Democratic Alliance includes members of the Christian Democratic, Radical, Social Democratic and Republican Right parties. The Socialist Bloc's rejection of La Chispa reportedly relates to the latter's advocacy of violence and Cuban-style communism.

Victor Barcelli was arrested on December 16, 1983 together with three other individuals and was also charged with violation of Chile's internal security laws.

According to the Catholic Church human rights organization, the Vicariate of Solidarity, Ruiz, Galanakis, Zepeda, and Barcelli remain under detention. They are not eligible for bail while the investigating judge completes the pre-trial inquiry, a process that may take several weeks. The Department has received no information alleging mistreatment.

SUBJECT: CHURCHWOMEN CASE MOVES TO THE NEXT STAGE IN - TRIAL PROCESS

1. (U) DR. GERONIMO CASTILLO, GOES CHIEF PROSECUTOR FOR THE CHURCHWOMEN'S MURDER CASE, REPORTED TO POLOFF 3/6/84 THAT THE "PROBATORY PHASE" OF THE TRIAL WAS OFFICIALLY TERMINATED ON 3 MARCH 1984. THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE RECEIVED OFFICIAL NOTIFICATION ON MARCH 6. NEXT STEP IN THE TRIAL PROCESS IS PREPARATION AND PRESENTATION OF THE PROSECUTION'S "ALEGATO" (LEGAL BRIEF). CASTILLO EXPECTS TO DELIVER HIS BRIEF TO THE COURT IN ZACATECOLUCA NO LATER THAN MARCH 10, 1984.

2. (C) JUDGE RAUDA CONFIRMED BY TELEPHONE FROM ZACATECOLUCA THAT THE PROBATORY PHASE OF THE CASE ENDED ON 3/3/84. HE HAS CLOSED THE COURT RECORD TO ALL ADDITIONAL EVIDENCE EXCEPT FOR DEFENSE MINISTER VIDES CASANOVA'S POSSIBLE DECLARATION. RAUDA REPORTS THAT HE OFFICIALLY NOTIFIED VIDES OF THE REQUESTED DECLARATION PRIOR TO CLOSING THE PROBATORY PHASE AND WILL THEREFORE ACCEPT HIS STATEMENT ANY TIME BEFORE THE CASE GOES TO THE JURY.

3. (C) COMMENT. SO FAR, THE CHURCHWOMEN MURDER TRIAL PROCESS IS WITHIN ONE DAY OF THE TIMETABLE WORKED OUT BY CASTILLO AND EMBASSY LEGAL ADVISER MENDEZ LAST WEEK. THE SALVADORAN CODE OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURES DOES NOT ALLOW FOR ANY ADDITIONAL APPEALS UNTIL AFTER THE JUDGE HAS PRONOUNCED FINAL SENTENCE. FURTHER DELAYS WOULD BE PRACTICAL IN NATURE (ILLNESS, CIVIL DISTURBANCES, INABILIT OR REFUSAL TO PREPARE DOCUMENTS ON TIME, AND INABILITY TO IMPANEL A JURY). CASTILLO'S ALEGATO/LEGAL BRIEF IS APPARENTLY ALREADY PREPARED. HE PLANS TO TURN IT OVER TO LEGAL ADVISER MENDEZ ON MARCH 7 FOR REVIEW AND REVISION. PICKERING

SUBJECT: VISIT OF ANSELMO SULE TO CHILE

REF: A) MEXICO 3185; B) SANTIAGO 1222

1. CONFIDENTIAL - ENTIRE TEXT.

2. ANSELMO SULE, INTERNATIONAL SECRETARY OF THE RADICAL PARTY AND VICE PRESIDENT OF THE SOCIALIST INTERNATIONAL, RECENTLY COMPLETED HIS EIGHT DAY VISIT TO CHILE FOR THE FUNERAL OF HIS SISTER. HIS REQUEST FOR AN EXTENSION OF THE EIGHT DAYS WAS REJECTED. HE DID NOT CONTACT ANY EMBASSY OFFICERS DURING HIS STAY IN CHILE.

3. FYI: APROPOS OF COMMENTS CONTAINED REF A ON THE MODERATION OF SULE AND THE POSSIBILITY THAT HE WILL PLAY A CONSTRUCTIVE ROLE IN THE FUTURE POLITICAL LIFE OF CHILE WHEN IT RETURNS TO CIVILIAN RULE, THERE FOLLOWS A SUMMARY OF COMMENTS HE MADE ON HIS RELATIONS WITH THE MIR, THE MOST IMPORTANT TERRORIST GROUP IN CHILE, IN A NEWSPAPER INTERVIEW PUBLISHED MARCH 4, SOON AFTER HIS DEPARTURE FROM CHILE:

CONFIDENTIAL

--"AT THIS TIME, THE MIR IS NOT MY ENEMY, NOR IS IT MY ADVERSARY; AT THIS TIME, THE MIR DOES NOT CREATE ANY PROBLEM FOR ME IN THE STRUGGLE FOR RECOVERING DEMOCRACY IN CHILE. THUS, AT THIS TIME, I DO NOT HAVE TO WORRY ABOUT THE MIR."

UNCLASSIFIED

--"WHAT CONCERNS ME IS TO SEARCH FOR THE MOST AMPLE AND UNIFIED MEANS TO RECOVER DEMOCRACY. WHEN DEMOCRACY IS RECOVERED, I AM GOING TO MAINTAIN ALL THE ELEMENTS WHICH PERMIT THE PERMANENCE OF DEMOCRACY. AND, IF I HAVE TO JOIN WITH THE MIR IN THE DEFENSE OF THIS DEMOCRACY, IN AN ATTITUDE OF STRUGGLE, I WILL DO IT. NOW, WHAT I WANT TO MAKE CLEAR IS THE FOLLOWING: THE MIR IS AN OPPOSITION PARTY WHICH HAS STATED ITS METHODOLOGY IN A VERY CLEAR FORM. NEITHER THE RADICAL PARTY NOR THE OTHER POLITICAL PARTIES AGREE WITH THIS METHODOLOGY. CONSEQUENTLY, THE BEST THAT WE CAN DO AT THIS TIME IS TO BASE THE GRAND COALITION (FRENTE AMPLIO) ON THE METHODOLOGICAL UNITY OF THE PEACEFUL PATH".

--SULE THEN WENT ON TO EXPLAIN THAT HE HAD JOINED WITH THE MIR IN MEXICO IN 1981 BECAUSE THE AGREEMENT HELPED TO CREATE A WIDE OPPOSITION FRONT AT THAT TIME AND THAT HIS STANCE HAD BEEN SUPPORTED BY THE CHILEAN PEOPLE. NOW THAT A WIDER OPPOSITION FRONT, BASED ON THE POLITICAL PARTIES (DEMOCRATIC ALLIANCE) AND SUPPORTED BY THE CHILEAN PEOPLE, HAD BEEN ESTABLISHED, HE AGREED WITH THE EXCLUSION OF THE MIR FROM THAT OPPOSITION FRONT.

4. COMMENT: THE LONG, REVEALING INTERVIEW CITED ABOVE SHOWS SULE [redacted] AS [redacted] DESPITE HIS HALF-HEARTED EXCLUSION OF THE MIR FROM THE DEMOCRATIC

ALLIANCE (AD), FOR EXAMPLE, HE CONTINUES TO FAVOR AN ALLIANCE BETWEEN THE COMMUNIST-DOMINATED POPULAR DEMOCRATIC MOVEMENT (MDP), WHICH INCLUDES THE MIR, AND THE ANTI-COMMUNIST AD. IN FACT, AS THE INTERVIEW MAKES CLEAR, SULE IS PREPARED TO COOPERATE WITH ANY GROUP -COMMUNIST, MIR OR OTHER EXTREMIST REVOLUTIONARY FORCE-- NOT ONLY TO OVERTHROW THE DICTATORSHIP, BUT AFTER THE RESTORATION OF DEMOCRACY AS WELL, IF IT SUITS HIS OWN POLITICAL PURPOSES.

WHICH IT AGREED TO APPOINT A SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR ON THE SITUATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN CHILE, AND ITS RESOLUTION 1983/38 OF 8 MARCH 1983 IN WHICH IT DECIDED TO EXTEND FOR ONE MORE YEAR THE MANDATE OF THE SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR, AS WELL AS GENERAL ASSEMBLY RESOLUTIONS 33/173 OF 20 DECEMBER 1978 ON DISAPPEARED PERSONS, AND 38/102 OF 16 DECEMBER 1983 IN WHICH THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY AGREED, INTER ALIA, TO INVITE THE COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS TO EXTEND THE SAID MANDATE OF THE SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR,

EXPRESSING AGAIN ITS PROFOUND CONCERN AT THE PERSISTENCE IN GENERAL OF THE SERIOUS SITUATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN CHILE, AS STATED BY THE SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR, WHICH HAS NOT ONLY FAILED TO IMPROVE BUT SHOWS A DETERIORATION AND THAT THE REPEATED APPEALS OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY AND THE COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS TO RE-ESTABLISH HUMAN RIGHTS AND FUNDAMENTAL FREEDOM HAVE BEEN IGNORED BY THE CHILEAN AUTHORITIES, WHICH CONTINUE TO REFUSE TO CO-OPERATE WITH THE COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS AND ITS SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR,

1. THE SURVEY IS WELL UNDERWAY. WE HAVE HIRED THREE ADDITIONAL PERSONS TO ASSIST WITH THE FIELD INTERVIEWS. ONE IS AN ATTORNEY AND TWO ARE LAW SUTDENTS. WE ARE PAYING EACH THE EQUIVALENT OF DLS. 150.00 USC PER 40 HOUR WORK WEEK. TRANSPORTATION WAS A PROBLEM AND SO WE ARE PAYING TWO OF THESE EMPLOYEES AN ADDITIONAL EQUIVALENT OF DLS. 25.00 USC PER DAY FOR THE USE OF THEIR PERSONAL VEHICLES. ONE OF THEM DOES NOT HAVE A VEHICLE AND WE ARE FURNISHING HIM WITH A TAXI AND DRIVER FOR THE SAME AMOUNT OF THE EQUIVALENT OF DLS. 25.00 USC PER DAY. IN BOTH THESE INSTANCES THE COST IS LESS THAN RENTING CARS AS WE ARE PAYING A FLAT RATE AND DO NOT HAVE TO PAY MILAGE.

2. THE PARTIAL SURVEY CONDUCTED BY THE EMBASSY WHICH WAS [redacted]

SURVEY AND WILL NOT BE REFERRED TO IN THE FUTURE. COMBINING THE TWO LIST (THE FIRST OF 139 NAMES AND THE SECOND OF 145 NAMES) HAS GIVEN US A RAW NUMBER OF 284 PERSONS TO BE SURVEYED. WE HAVE BROKEN THE RESULTS DOWN INTO (1) LOCATED. (2) WELFARE ESTABLISHED. THIS IS WHERE WE ARE SATISFIED THE PERSON'S WELFARE HAS BEEN ESTABLISHED (THROUGH CONTACT WITH A RELATIVE OR NEIGHBOR) SUFFICIENTLY WELL FOR US TO CLOSE THE CASE. (3) WELFARE U.S. THIS IS WHERE WE HAVE NOT ONLY ESTABLISHED TO OUR SATISFACTION THE WELFARE OF THE PERSON BUT ADDITIONALLY WE HAVE BEEN INFORMED THEY HAVE RETURNED TO THE UNITED STATES. (4) UNKNOWN. THIS IS THE CATEGORY WHERE WE HAVE GONE TO THE ADDRESS GIVEN AND EITHER IT IS FICTICIOUS BY BEING NON-EXISTANT OR THE PERSON IS COMPLETELY UNKNOWN TO THE RESIDENTS OF THE AREA. WE ARE COUNTING LETTERS RETURNED BY THE POST OFFICE FROM THE CONFLICTED AREAS AS UNKNOWN. (5) CONFLICT ZONE. THESE ARE THOSE AREAS WHICH WE CANNOT ENTER DUE TO THE DANGER FROM GUERRILLA ACTIVITIES. (6) CONFLICT ZONE CONTACTS. THESE ARE THE PERSONS WHO THOUGH LOCATED IN A CONFLICT ZONE HAVE RESPONDED TO A CALL IN LETTER OR IN SOME OTHER MANNER WERE ACCOUNTED FOR IN SUCH A WAY AS TO ALLOW US TO CLOSE THE CASE. (7) ASSIGNED. THESE ARE THOSE CASES WHICH HAVE BEEN ASSIGNED TO OUR FIELD EMPLOYEES WHERE THERE IS A CHANCE THE SOUGHT PERSON MAY BE LOCATED.

3. IT IS IMPORTANT TO KNOW THAT A LETTER HAS BEEN MAILED TO EVERY LISTEE WHO HAD SUFFICIENT INFORMATION TO ADDRESS AN ENVELOPE. IT IS THOUGHT THESE PERSONS MAY WELL CONTINUE TO WANDER INTO THE EMBASSY FOR LITERALLY WEEKS AFTER WE LEAVE.

4. TO DATE, NOT ONE PERSON INTERVIEWED HAS MADE ANY ALLEGATION OF HAVING BEEN MISTREATED AS A RESULT OF HAVING LEFT EL SALVADOR; HAVING GONE TO THE UNITED STATES; OR HAVING BEEN CAUGHT AND SUBSEQUENTLY RETURNED BACK HERE. ONLY ONE HAS EVEN MENTIONED AN ACT OF VIOLENCE AND THIS WAS A PERSON WHOSE FATHER WAS ALLEGEDLY KILLED BY UNKNOWN PERSONS DURING HIS ABSENCE IN THE UNITED STATES. THIS ACT SEEMS TO BE COMPLETELY UNRELATED TO THIS PERSON'S TRIP TO THE U.S.

5. THE INS DETAIL WILL REMAIN IN EL SALVADOR FOR SO LONG AS IT TAKES TO ATTEMPT TO CONTACT EVERY PERSON IN THIS SURVEY. WE WILL RETURN TO OUR RESPECTIVE STATIONS, REQUESTING THE EMBASSY TO FORWARD ANY INTERVIEW SHEETS FROM PERSONS WHO WANDER IN THEREAFTER. THOSE PERSONS NOT SATISFACTORILY ACCOUNTED FOR IN THE LOCATED OR WELFARE CATEGORIES WILL BE RUN THROUGH THE LIST OF PERSONS WHO DIED AT THE HANDS OF "DEATH SQUADS" IN THIS COUNTRY. IS REPORTED WITHIN THE BODY OF THIS CABLE. IT IS, SUPPOSEDLY, VASQUEZ'S RELATION OF HIS CAREER WITHIN THE FEDERATION OF SALVADORAN WORKERS (FENASTRAS) AND OF HIS PAST AND PRESENT ACTIVITIES AS A MEMBER OF THE FARN GUERRILLA GROUP.

2. (S) LABOFF MET ON APRIL 3 WITH THE DIRECTOR OF THE NATIONAL POLICE, COL. REYNALDO LOPEZ NUILA, TO INQUIRE ABOUT THE MARCH 27 ARREST OF CARLOS ERNESTO VASQUEZ, THE SECRETARY GENERAL OF SETA, THE UNION OF EMPLOYEES OF ANDA, THE WATERS AUTHORITY. LOPEZ NUILA SHOWED LABOFF AN ENTRY IN THE PN'S ARREST LOGBOOK NOTING VASQUEZ'S DETENTION FOR SUSPICION OF BEING A MEMBER OF THE FARN GUERRILLA GROUP. LOPEZ NUILA ALSO GAVE LABOFF A COPY OF A DOCUMENT ISSUED BY THE PN'S CRIMINAL INVESTIGATIONS UNIT (CIC), WHICH DOCUMENT IS, PURPORTEDLY, VASQUEZ'S DETAILED AND UNFORCED CONFESSION RELATING SUBVERSIVE ACTIVITIES AND CONTACTS WITHIN THE FARN. THERE FOLLOWS AN ABRIDGED TRANSLATION OF THIS DOCUMENT:

3. (U) BEGIN TEXT. CARLOS ERNESTO VASQUEZ SOMETA SAID HE HAS BEEN A MEMBER OF THE FARN TERRORIST ORGANIZATION SINCE DECEMBER, 1980. HE IS PRESENTLY THE SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE WATERS AUTHORITY WORKERS UNION (SETA) AND THE SECRETARY OF ORGANIZATION OF THE NATIONAL FEDERATION OF SALVADORAN WORKERS (FENASTRAS). VASQUEZ FURTHER STATED THAT HE HAS FUNCTIONED BOTH AS A LABOR AND POLITICAL ACTIVIST WITHIN SETA, FENASTRAS AND THE FARN. HE STATED THAT HIS MISSION IS TO INDOCTRINATE AND ORIENT THE SETA RANK AND FILE ON THE SOCIAL, POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC GOALS OF THE FARN'S PLANS, WHICH INCLUDE THE EVENTUAL IMPLEMENTATION OF A PROVISIONAL FMLN GOVERNMENT IN EL SALVADOR.

4. (U) VASQUEZ INFORMED THAT HE BEGAN TO WORK FOR ANDA IN 1978, AND ALSO JOINED SETA AT THAT TIME. IN OCTOBER, 1979, HE MET MARIO CABRERA, CODE NAME "BRIGIDO," A PROMINENT FARN LEADER (NOTE: CABRERA IS THE SECRETARY GENERAL OF FENASTRAS). ONCE HE JOINED THE FARN, VASQUEZ WAS CHOSEN TO REPRESENT FENASTRAS IN SEVERAL INTERNATIONAL EVENTS, INCLUDING RED "SUMMIT" MEETINGS IN HAVANA AND PRAGUE.

5. (U) VASQUEZ FURTHER INFORMED THAT A FELLOW MEMBER OF SETA, FRANCISCO ANTONIO ROMERO MARTINEZ, HAS LINKS WITH THE CAYETANO CARPIO REVOLUTIONARY WORKERS' MOVEMENT (MOR), A HARD-LINE SPLINTER GROUP OF THE FPL GUERRILLA ORGANIZATION. THIS SAME ROMERO RECENTLY URGED SETA MEMBERS TO JOIN THE MOR AND TO AGITATE FOR THE RELEASE OF THE 9 FSR MEMBERS ARRESTED BY THE NATIONAL POLICE ON JANUARY 18, 1983 (SEE REFTEL B). ANOTHER SETA MEMBER, CIRILO HUEZO, A MIDDLE ECHELON MEMBER OF THE FARN, IS THE FENASTRAS LABOR/POLITICAL ADVISOR TO THE SETA WORKERS. HUEZO IS ALSO FENASTRAS' SECRETARY OF LABOR DISPUTES.

7. (U) VASQUEZ DECLARED THAT FENASTRAS RECEIVES FUNDS FROM THE MOSCOW-DOMINATED WORLD FEDERATION OF TRADE UNIONS (WFTU) AND FROM THE FDR. THESE FUNDS ARE SENT FROM MEXICO THROUGH A MEMBER OF THE PCES WHO SERVES AS A COURIER, ONE JORGE MENDOZA. MENDOZA IS ALSO A MEMBER OF THE FUSS, THE PCES' LABOR FRONT IN EL SALVADOR. VASQUEZ GAVE THE CODE NAMES (ROLANDO, SOFIA AND MICHELLE) OF MEMBERS OF THE NON-GOES HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION WHO HAVE ACTIVE LINKS TO THE FARN. VASQUEZ

TAGS: OREP, PGOV, MILI, HO
SUBJECT: CODEL JOHNSTON: CALL ON MINISTER OF THE PRESIDENCY

1. CONFIDENTIAL - ENTIRE TEXT
2. SUMMARY: MINISTER OF THE PRESIDENCY FLORES DID NOT BREAK NEW GROUND IN HIS 18 APRIL CONVERSATION WITH CODEL JOHNSTON. HE BELIEVES THE UPCOMING ELECTIONS IN NICARAGUA WILL BE CONTROLLED BY THE SANDINISTAS. HE CAUTIONED AGAINST CUTTING OFF ASSISTANCE TO THE ANTI-SANDINISTA REBELS FOR FEAR THAT IT WOULD AROUSE LATENT CONCERNS AMONG LATIN AMERICAN FRIENDS ABOUT UNITED STATES RELIABILITY. FLORES CONSIDERED MEXICO TO BE A STUMBLING BLOCK WITHIN THE CONTADORA GROUP AND SAID THAT HONDURAS IS AGAINST POWER-SHARING WITH THE FMLN IN EL SALVADOR. FLORES ALSO EXPRESSED THE HOPE JOSE NAPOLEON DUARTE WILL WIN THE RUN-OFF ELECTIONS IN THAT COUNTRY IN MAY. END SUMMARY.

3. SENATORS J. BENNETT JOHNSTON (D-LA) AND LAWTON CHILES (D-FLA) CALLED ON MINISTER OF THE PRESIDENCY CARLOS FLORES FACUSSE MORNING OF 18 APRIL. IMMEDIATELY FOLLOWING THEIR CALL ON GEN. WALTER LOPEZ REYES (SEPTEL), AMBASSADOR AND STAFFERS COLLINS, OLIN AND BRUCKNER WERE

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~ UNCLASSIFIED

CALL ON GEN. LOPEZ. THIS CONVERSATION WAS ALSO IN ENGLISH

4. IN RESPONSE TO QUESTIONS POSED BY THE SENATORS, FLORES MADE THE FOLLOWING POINTS:

5. ON NICARAGUA:

THE SANDINISTAS HAVE NOT ONLY BETRAYED THE REVOLUTION AT HOME BUT HAVE BECOME A DANGER TO NEIGHBORING COUNTRIES BY SUPPORTING REBELS AND TERRORISTS ELSEWHERE IN THE REGION AND BY THE INORDINATE SIZE OF THEIR ARMED FORCES. THE SANDINISTAS LACK THE SUPPORT OF THE MAJORITY OF THE NICARAGUAN PEOPLE BUT THEY ARE IN POWER THANKS TO THE BACKING OF NICARAGUA'S ARMED FORCES. HONDURAS COULD LIVE WITH A SOCIALIST NEIGHBOR, BUT NOT A COMMUNIST ONE. THE PLANNED ELECTIONS WILL BE A FARCE BECAUSE THE OPPOSITION CANNOT EXPRESS ITS VIEWS FREELY: "JUST THE WAY SOMOZA USED TO HOLD ELECTIONS AND ALWAYS WON THEM."

6. ON THE ANTI-SANDINISTA REBELS:

THE ANTI-SANDINISTAS ARE NOT THE ONLY ONE PROBLEM INSIDE NICARAGUA. THE NICARAGUAN PEOPLE WANT DEMOCRACY. THEY DID NOT OVERTHROW SOMOZA TO HAVE ANOTHER DICTATORSHIP TAKE HIS PLACE. THE REBELS HAVE FAILED TO OUST THE SANDINISTAS, BUT HAVE SERVED TO DISTRACT THEM FROM CAUSING PROBLEMS ELSEWHERE. THEY ARE AN ELEMENT OF PRESSURE. BEFORE THE ANTI-SANDINISTAS BECAME ACTIVE, THE SANDINISTAS DIDN'T WANT TO NEGOTIATE. BUT NOW THEY DO, THANKS TO THE PRESSURES. A CUT-OFF OF USG ASSISTANCE TO THE REBELS WILL GENERATE THE SAME ADVERSE REACTION FROM LATIN AMERICAN ALLIES AS AFTER BAY OF PIGS.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

---

7. ON CONTADORA PROCESS:

MEXICO IS A STUMBLING BLOCK WITHIN THE CONTADORA GROUP DESPITE ALL THE ASSISTANCE IT RECEIVES FROM THE USG. MEXICO FAVORS NICARAGUA, SOMETIMES EVEN OPENLY. THE PROBLEM WITH MEXICO IS THAT IT IS CONSERVATIVE DOMESTICALLY AND RADICAL IN ITS FOREIGN RELATIONS. MEXICO MAY BE BUYING "INSURANCE" FROM CUBA. ITS PETROLEUM WORKERS ARE LEFTIST AND COULD CAUSE THE MEXICAN GOVERN-

DECLASSIFIED UNCLASSIFIED

MENT TROUBLE IF IT WERE TO CHANGE ITS FOREIGN POLICY. CONTADORA IS LOOKING FOR MECHANISMS TO EFFECT INTERNA. RECONCILIATION IN EL SALVADOR. NICARAGUA HAS PROPOSED A GOES-FMLN DIALOGUE AS A STEP TO RECONCILIATION. HONDURAS HAS SUGGESTED A DIALOGUE CONDITIONED ON PARTICIPATION IN THE ELECTIONS. HONDURAS DOES NOT BELIEVE IT IS POSSIBLE FOR A GOVERNMENT TO SHARE POWER WITH TERRORISTS. THE FMLN WANTS TO DIVIDE THE ARMY IN HALF. "IF DUARTE FINDS IT POLITICALLY DIFFICULT TO GET ALONG WITH D'AUBUISSON, IMAGINE HOW DIFFICULT IT WOULD BE FOR THE GOES ARMY TO GET ALONG WITH THE GUERRILLAS."

---

8. ELECTIONS IN EL SALVADOR

IT APPEARS THAT DUARTE WILL WIN THE UPCOMING RUN-OFF. FLORES HOPES DUARTE CAN BRING THE NATION TOGETHER.

9. COMMENT: AS THE LIKELIHOOD OF CONGRESS CUTTING OFF AID TO THE ANTI-SANDINISTAS HAS INCREASED, FLORES HAS BECOME MORE VOCAL IN HIS ARGUMENTS IN FAVOR OF CONTINUED

SUBJECT: POLITICAL GROUPS IN CHILE: UNIFICATION OF RADICAL AND SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC PARTIES AND FORMATION OF SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC FEDERATION

REF: 83 SANTIAGO 1266

1. ~~CONFIDENTIAL~~ ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY: ON DECEMBER 20, 1983, THE RADICAL AND SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC PARTIES AGREED ON A DECLARATION OF UNITY. THE GENERAL TENOR OF THE UNITY DECLARATION WAS MODERATE IN TONE AND SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC IN IDEOLOGY. THE UNIFICATION WILL HAVE TO BE RATIFIED BY THE FULL MEMBERSHIP OF BOTH GROUPS AT THEIR CONCURRENT NATIONAL CONVENTIONS IN JUNE. ALTHOUGH ~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

BOTH GROUPS BRING USEFUL STRENGTHS TO THE MERGER, SERIOUS PROBLEMS REMAIN, SUCH AS CAUDILLISMO, IDEOLOGICAL AND GENERATIONAL DIVISIONS, AND INFLUENCE OF LEFTIST EXILES. ON APRIL 6, THE UNITY EFFORT WENT A STEP FURTHER WHEN THE RADICAL AND SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC PARTIES AGREED ON THE FORMATION OF A SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC FEDERATION

WITH THE POPULAR SOCIALIST UNION, WHILE CONTINUING THEIR OWN EFFORTS TOWARD FULL INTEGRATION. ALTHOUGH THE REUNIFIED PARTY, AS WELL AS THE LOOSER FEDERATION. WILL PROBABLY INITIALLY APPEAL TO ONLY 10-15 PERCENT OF THE ELECTORATE, IT OFFERS A POTENTIALLY IMPORTANT ALTERNATIVE FOR THE FUTURE AND SHOULD HELP TO REINFORCE THE CHILEAN CENTER WHICH IS NEEDED FOR A SUCCESSFUL TRANSITION TO DEMOCRACY AND ESSENTIAL FOR EFFECTIVE AND STABLE GOVERNMENT THEREAFTER. END SUMMARY.

3. INTRODUCTION: JUST AFTER THE 120TH ANNIVERSARY IN DECEMBER OF THE FOUNDING OF THE RADICAL PARTY, CHILE' OLDEST PARTY, THE TWO MAIN FACTIONS OF THAT LONG-DIVIDED GROUP AGREED UPON A REUNIFICATION DECLARATION. THE DECLARATION, SIGNED ON DECEMBER 20 BY SIX OF THE TOP LEADERS OF THE TWO FACTIONS, WAS THE CULMINATION OF A LONG AND LABORIOUS PROCESS. REUNITED BY THE DECLARATION WERE THE PARTIDO RADICAL (PR) AND THE PARTIDO SOCIAL DEMOCRATA (PSD). THE DEMOCRACIA RADICAL (DR), A VERY SMALL, LARGELY PRO-GOVERNMENT GROUP, STILL REMAINS OUT-SIDE THE FOLD AND IS UNLIKELY TO BE REINCORPORATED ANY TIME SOON.

4. REUNIFICATION DECLARATION: THE JOING DECLARATION CONTAINED SIX ARTICLES AS FOLLOWS:
--THE TWO GROUPS COMMIT THEMSELVES TO CONFRONT JOINTLY THE GRAVE PROBLEMS OF THE COUNTRY ON THE BASIS OF SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC DOCTRINES.

--THEY AGREED TO INITIATE A UNITY PROCESS TO BE CONCLUDED UPON RATIFICATION BY THE APPROPRIATE INTERNAL ORGANS.
--THEY REAFFIRM THEIR OPPOSITION TO THE MILITARY GOVERNMENT AND ASSUME THE OBLIGATION TO ACT TOGETHER FOR A PROMPT RETURN TO INSTITUTIONALIZED DEMOCRACY.
--TO CARRY OUT THEIR ACTIVITIES, A JOINT COORDINATING COMMISSIO , WITH THREE HIGH LEVEL MEMBERS FROM EACH GROUP, WILL BE FORMED.
--THEY WILL NOT ACCEPT WITHIN THEIR RANKS ANYONE WHO HAS COLLABORATED, PARTICIPATED IN OR POLITICALLY HELPED THE DICTATORSHIP.
--THEY CALL UPON ALL WHO SHRE THEIR HUMANIST, SOCIALIST AND DEMOCRATIC IDEALS TO JOIN IN THIS NEW POLITICAL ALTERNATIVE.

5. PATH TO UNITY: ALTHOUGH THE IMPULSE TO REUNIVY THE PARTY HAS BEEN PRESENT SINCE THE FIRST RUPTURE IN THE LATE 1960'S SERIOUS EFFORTS BEGAN ONLY IN LATE 1982. THE FIRST STEPS WERE TAKEN BY A FORMER RADICAL PARTY MINISTER OF STATE, ALEJANDRO RIOS VALDIVIA, ACTING THROUGH THE MASONS, WHO HAVE LONG SERVED AS A RALLYING POINT FOR THE RADICALS, JUST AS THE ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH HAS DONE FOR THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATS. THE MOST IMPORTANT STEP WAS THE ELECTION OF THE WIDELY-RESPECTED ENRIQUE SILVA CIMMA AS PRESIDENT OF THE PR IN AUGUST 1983, REPLACING ANSELMO SULE'S MAN IN CHILE, AND SILVA'S ENDORSEMENT OF A MODERATE DECLARATION OF PARTY PRINCIPLES. LATER STEPS INCLUDED SILVA'S ASSERTION OF FULL CONTROL OVER THE EXTERNAL, AS WELL AS THE INTERNAL DIRECTION OF THE PARTY, THUS BREAKING ANSELMO SULE'S TEN-YEAR CONTROL OVER THE PARTY'S EXTERNAL RELATIONS, ALTHOUGH THE STRUGGLE STILL

CONTINUES BENEATH THE SURFACE. ALSO STEPS WERE TAKEN TO DISCIPLINE THE PR'S YOUTH WING, ENDING IN THE SUSPENSION OF THE YOUTH LEADERSHIP FROM THE PARTY FOR 18 MONTHS, AS WELL AS OTHER FAR LEFTIST ELEMENTS

WITHIN THE PARTY STRUCTURE. WITHIN A SHORT TIME, THE PSD RESPONDED TO THIS NEW MODERATION BY THE PR AND TALKS CONCERNING REUNIFICATION BEGAN, CULMINATING IN THE DECLARATION OF DECEMBER 20. DURING THE PROCESS, A SMALL GROUP OF INTELLECTUALS CALLING THEMSELVES THE UNION SOCIALISTA DEMOCRATICA (USD) JOINED THE PSD AND WILL CONTINUE WITHIN THE REUNITED PARTY. THE USD LEADER, LEVIAN MUNOZ, BECAME SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE PSD.

6. STRENGTH IN UNITY: THE REUNIFICATION OF THE RADICAL PARTY, IF APPROVED BY THE PARTY FAITHFUL AT CONCURRENT NATIONAL CONVENTIONS IN JUNE, WILL STRENGTHEN BOTH GROUPS AND BRING THE RADICAL PARTY BACK TO A NATIONAL ROLE IN CHILE. BOTH GROUPS BRING IMPORTANT ASSETS TO THEIR NEW UNITY. THE PR BRINGS ITS LARGER BASE OF SYMPATHIZERS AND ITS DEEPER ROOTS IN THE PROVINCESA, AS WELL AS TRADITIONAL TIES OF LOYALTY TO THE LONG HONORED NAME OF THE PARTY. INTERNATIONALLY, ITS STANDING IS ENHANCED BY ITS MEMBERSHIP IN THE SOCIALIST INTERNATIONAL. THE PSD, ON THE OTHER HAND, TODAY ENJOYS A MORE RESPECTABLE AND MODERATE IMAGE BACAUSE OF ITS PPOSI-TION TO THE ALLENDE GOVERNMENT, A MORE MODERAN INTELLECTUAL APPROACH TO POLITICS, AND GREATER ACCESS TO THE MEDIA IN SANTIAGO. IN ADDITION TO FUSING THESE STRENGTHS, THE RE-UNIFICATION SATISFIES A DEEP AND LONG-HELD DESIRE FOR UNITY ON THE PART OF THE PARTY FAITHFUL, PARTICULARLY IN THE PROVINCES, WHERE COOPERATION BETWEEN THE TWO GROUPS OVER THE PAST TEN YEARS HAS BEEN THE NORM RATHER THAN THE EXCEPTION. HOWEVER, EVEN THOUGH THE REUNIFICATION CONSIDERABLY STRENGTHENS

BOTH GROUPS AND OFFERS CHILEAN YET ANOTHER POLITICAL ALTERNATIVE, THE REUNIFIED RADICAL PARTY WILL REMAIN A RELATIVELY MINOR BUT POTENTIALLY IMPORTANT PLAYER ON THE CHILEAN POLITICAL SCENE FOR THE FORSEEABLE FUTURE, AS IT PROBABLY APPEALS TO 10-15 PERCENT OF THE ELECTORATE AT BEST.

7. REUNIFICATION PROBLEMS: ALTHOUGH THE PR AND PSD HAVE FINALLY ANNOUNCED THEIR LONG-EXPECTED REUNIFICATION, ONE WHICH STILL MUST BE RATIFIED BY THE PARTY CONVENTIONS IN JUNE, SIGNIFICANT PROBLEMS REMAIN:
--CAUDILLO TENDENCIES, ALTHOUGH MORE MUTED IN CHILE THAN IN OTHER PARTS OF LATIN AMERICA, COULD PRESENT A PROBLEM IN THE MONTHS AHEAD AS THE TWO GROUPS DO NOT APPEAR TO HAVE CLEARLY WORKED OUT THE NEW LEADERSHIP STRUCTURE, THUS LEAVING OPEN THE POSSIBILITY OF TWO SETS OF LEADERS JOCKEYING FOR POSITION.

--CONCNUED DISAFFECTION OF ELEMENTS OFTHE TRADI-TIONAL RADICAL PARTY-SUCH AS THE DR ON THE RIGHT AND THE YOUTH ON THE LEFT-MIGHT STIMULATE OTHER DISCONTENTED ELEMENTS AND UNDERMINE THE STILL FRAGILE PRAGMATIC CON-SENSUS FOR UNITY. A NUMBER OF IDEOLOGICAL DIFFERENCES HAVE BEEN PAPERED OVER WITH THE DECLARATION OF UNITY AND MAY WELL COME BACK TO HAUNT THE PARTY IN THE MONTHS AHEAD, ALTHOUGH BOTH GROUPS HAVE TAKEN STEPS TO PURGE SOME OF THE MORE DISAFFECTED ELEMENTS. (SOME OF THOSE JUST PURGED BY THE PSD HAVE REVIVED THE FORMER MOVIMIENTO SOCIAL DEMOCRATA (MSD), BUT THEY APPEAR TO REPRESENT ALMOST NO ONE BUT THEMSELVES.)

--FINALLY, GENERALTIONAL CONFLICTS ARE ENDEMIC IN BOTH THE PR AND THE PSD, AS THEY AREIN ALMOST ALL CHILEAN POLITICAL PARTIES, AS A FRUSTRATED YOUNGER GENERATION STRIVES TO PUSH ASIDE AN OLDER GENERATION WHICH HAS CLUNG TO PARTY LEADERSHIP FOR OVER TWENTY YEARS IN MOST CASES.
~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

IT IS THIS GENERATIONA CONFLICT, TOGETHER WITH THE NEED TO COUNTER GOC CLIAMS, THAT IS DRIVING THE PR AND THE PSD TOWARD MORE OPEN AND DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONVENTIONS IN JUNE. WHILE IT IS UNLIKELY THAT THE YOUNGER GENERATION WILL SUCCEED IN PUSHING THE OLDER GENERATION ASIDE IN JUNE, THE CONFLICTS MAY FURTHER INFLAME PASSIONS, THUS MAKING FULL UNITY THAT MUCH MORE DIFFICULT.

--THE ABOVE SOURCES OF POTENTIAL CONFLICT, COMBINED WITH THE RELATIVE SMALLNESS OF A REUNIFIED RADICAL PARTY, MAY WELL MAKE IT VULNERABLE TO SLIPPAGE TOWARD OTHER LARGER GROUPS, PARTICULARLY IF THE SOCIALIST PARTY WERE TO UNITE AND IF IT CAN OVERCOME ITS EXTREMIST IMAGE AND OFFER A NON-VIOLENT APPROACH.

8. SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC FEDERATION: THE DANGER OF A PARTIAL ABSORPTION BY A REUNITED SOCIALIST PARTY IS SOMEWHAT LESSENED, HOWEVER, BY THE FORMATION OF THE NEW SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC FEDERATION, UNITING THE PR AND THE PSD IN A FEDERATION WITH THE POPULAR SOCIALIST UNION (USOPO). ALTHOUGH THIS WILL BE A LOOSE FEDERATION OF PARTIES, WHICH WILL KEEP THEIR SEPARATE IDENTITIES BUT WILL COORDINATE THEIR POSITIONS THROUGH AN EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF SIX PERSONS (TWO FROM EACH OF THE THREE GROUPS), IT REPRESENTS AN IMPORTANT ATTEMPT TO OPEN THE FORMER RADICAL PARTY RANKS TO A POSSIBLE INFUSION OF MODERATE AND DEMOCRATIC SOCIALISTS. AS THE APRIL 6 DECLARATION WHICH ACCOMPANIED THE ANNOUNCEMENT OF FEDERATION STATED, THE FEDERATION IS OPEN TO ALL INTERESTED DEMOCRATIC GROUPS AND WILL OFFER A SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC ALTERNATIVE FOR CHILE. LEADERS OF THE THREE PARTIES HAVE SINCE DESCRIBED THE FEDERATION AS REPRESENTING ONE OF THE FOUR OR FIVE MAJOR CURRENTS OF POLITICAL OPINION IN CHILE AND AN IMPORTANT STEP FORWARD IN FORMING A CENTER-LEFT PARTY FOR THE FUTURE.

9. FUTURE PROSPECTS: WHILE ACCEPTANCE OF PR AND PSD UNIFICATION BY THE RANK AND FILE IN JUNE IS LIKELY, AND

THE FORMATION OF THE SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC FEDERATION IS ALREADY A FACT, PROSPECTS FOR THE NEW GROUPINGS ARE FAR FROM CERTAIN. STILL TO BE OVERCOME ARE THE PROBLEMS OF DIVIDING POWER IN THE REDUCED HIERARCHY OF THE NEW PARTY AND BURYING HISTORICAL AND IDEOLOGICAL DISAGREEMENTS. EVEN IF UNIFICATION SUCCEEDS IN PRACTICE, THE RADICAL TRADITION CAN PROBABLY SUPPORT ONLY A MINORITY PARTY UNDER PRESENT HISTORICAL CONDITIONS AND HAS LITTLE CHANCE OF RECOVERING ITS FORMER GLORY DAYS WHEN IT WAS ABLE TO ELECT FOUR CHILEAN PRESIDENTS IN SUCCESSION BETWEEN 1938 AND 1952. STILL, A UNIFIED PR, TOGETHER WITH A LARGER FEDERATION, WILL HELP TO SERVE AS AN IDEOLOGICAL COUNTERWEIGHT TO MORE DOGMATIC MARXIST INFLUENCES AND TO STRENGTHEN THE CENTRIST FORCES SO NECESSARY TO A SUCCESSFUL TRANSITION TO DEMOCRACY IN CHILE AND TO MAINTAINING THAT DEMOCRACY ONCE IT IS RESTORED.

E.O. 12356: DECL: OADR
TAGS: PGOV, CI
SUBJECT: COUNCIL OF STATE GIVES DRAFT OF POLITICAL PARTY LAW TO PRESIDENT PINOCHET FOR APPROVAL

REF: SANTIAGO 0806

1. (U) DRAFT GIVEN TO PRESIDENT: ON APRIL 24, THE COUNCIL OF STATE GAVE ITS FINAL DRAFT OF THE POLITICAL PARTY LAW TO PRESIDENT PINOCHET FOR HIS APPROVAL. MIGUEL SCHWEITZER, PRESIDENT OF THE COUNCIL OF STATE, SAID THAT ONLY MINOR REVISIONS HAVE OCCURRED IN DRAFT MADE AVAILABLE FOR PUBLIC COMMENT IN LATE JANUARY (REFTEL). IN A BRIEF CONVERSATION WITH JOURNALISTS, PRESIDENT PINOCHET INDICATED HE WOULD SEND THE DRAFT TO THE LEGISLATIVE JUNTA WITHIN TEN DAYS FOR ITS REVIEW AND APPROVAL. SCHWEITZER ALSO INDICATED THAT THE FINAL DRAFT OF THE ELECTORAL TRIBUNAL LAW WOULD BE GIVEN TO THE PRESIDENT SOMETIME DURING THE WEEK OF APRIL 30.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

2. (U) ONLY SIGNIFICANT CHANGE: AS SCHWEITZER HIMSELF NOTED, THE ONLY SIGNIFICANT CHANGE FROM THE ORIGINAL DRAFT MADE PUBLIC ON JANUARY 31 IS THE INCLUSION OF TITLE VIII DEALING WITH SANCTIONS. BELOW TITLE VIII, ARTICLES 41 TO 56 ENUMERATE A SERIES OF SANCTIONS TO BE APPLIED IN SPECIFIC INSTANCES, THE MOST IMPORTANT OF WHICH ARE SUMMARIZED BELOW:

--THE ARTICLES ESTABLISH A SYSTEM OF FINES AND/OR SUSPENSION FROM POLITICAL ACTIVITIES FOR BOTH INDIVIDUALS AND PARTIES, AS WELL AS THE POSSIBLE DISSOLUTION OF THE ENTIRE PARTY, FOR VIOLATIONS OF THE RULES GOVERNING PARTY ORGANIZATION REGISTRATION AND FINANCES. THE APPLICATION OF SANCTIONS WILL BE THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE DIRECTOR OF THE ELECTORAL SERVICE (CURRENTLY APPOINTED BY THE JUNTA BUT EVENTUALLY TO BE APPOINTED BY THE SENATE WHEN ONE EXISTS), ALTHOUGH SANCTIONS MAY ALSO BE REQUESTED BY THE MINISTRY OF INTERIOR, THE CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES OR ANOTHER POLITICAL PARTY. THE LAW ALSO PROVIDES FOR AN APPEAL OF THE DIRECTOR'S DECISION TO AN AS-YET UNFORMED CERTIFICATION TRIBUNAL WHICH PRESUMABLY WILL BE PROVIDED FOR IN THE ELECTORAL TRIBUNAL LAW DUE OUT NEXT WEEK.

3. (C) COMMENT: DESPITE DIRE OPPOSITION PREDICTIONS TO THE CONTRARY, THE POLITICAL PARTY LAW SEEMS WELL ON ITS WAY TO RAPID ENACTMENT. ALTHOUGH THE OPPOSITION PUBLICLY CONTINUES TO DENOUNCE THE LAW AS UNSATISFACTORY AND TO INSIST THAT THEY WILL NOT PARTICIPATE UNDER IT, MOST OF THEM ADMIT PRIVATELY THEY WILL HAVE TO GO ALONG WITH IT IN ORDER TO OPERATE FULLY. FURTHERMORE, THE CENTER-RIGHT DEMOCRATIC PARTIES APPEAR WILLING TO ORGANIZE UNDER THE NEW POLITICAL LAW. THE PASSAGE OF ANY REASONABLE POLITICAL PARTY LAW REPRESENTS A SIGNIFICANT ADVANCE TOWARDS RESTORING LEGAL POLITICAL PARTY ACTIVITY. IT IS IMPORTANT TO REMEMBER C~~ONFIDENTIA~~L

THAT LESS THAN A YEAR AGO, PRESIDENT PINOCHET WAS STILL INSISTING THAT A POLITICAL PARTY LAW WOULD BE ONE OF THE LAST STEPS OF THE TRANSITION.

4. (U) WE ARE POUCHING TO ARA/SC/CH THE FULL TEXT OF THE DRAFT, AS PUBLISHED IN THE GOVERNMENT-OWNED NEWSPAPER "LA NACION". THEBERGE

ESTABLISHED GUERRILLA GROUPS HAVE CLAIMED AUTHORSHIP OF SEVEN ASSASSINATIONS SO FAR THIS YEAR, AS OPPOSED TO THREE DURING THE WHOLE OF 1983. WE HAVE RECEIVED INFORMATION THAT ONE SUCH GROUP (THE MOR) AND POSSIBLY THE COMANDO SUICIDA ARE MADE UP OF UNRECONSTRUCTED FORMER FMLN MEMBERS AND MAY BE RESPONSIBLE FOR SOME OF THE KILLINGS DESCRIBED IN REFTELS AS "POLITICAL DEATHS BY UNKNOWN ASSAILANTS." ALTHOUGH THIS IS A POSSIBILITY DIFFICULT TO DOCUMENT FULLY AT PRESENT, IT COULD BE CONSIDERED A FACTOR AFFECTING THE FIGURES IN THIS CATEGORY.

4. ANOTHER FACTOR WHICH MAY HELP CLARIFY THE HIGH NUMBER OF POLITICAL DEATHS BY UNKNOWN ASSAILANT IS THE ELECTION PERIOD. BEFORE THE MARCH 1982 ELECTIONS THERE WAS ALSO JUST SUCH AN ABNORMAL INCREASE IN THE NUMBER OF CIVILIAN POLITICAL DEATHS. SOME OF THIS IS DUE TO POLITICAL DISAGREEMENTS ESCALATING TO THE LEVEL OF PERSONAL VIOLENCE, OFTEN THE EXPRESSION OF AGE OLD DISPUTES REINFLAMED AS ELECTIONS APPROACH. HOWEVER, IT

SUBJECT: D'AUBUISSON SAYS ARENA PLOT TO ASSASSINATE AMBASSADOR IS FALSE

1. ARENA LEADER ROBERTO D'AUBUISSON CALLED A PRESS CONFERENCE AT 1500 HOURS ON MAY 18 AND TOLD JOURNALISTS HE WAS WARNED BY AN ASSISTANT TO SENATOR JESSE HELMS THAT ARENA WOULD BE BLAMED FOR AN ALLEGED PLOT TO ASSASSINATE U.S. AMBASSADOR PICKERING. THERE FOLLOWS AN INFORMAL ABRIDGED TRANSLATION OF D'AUBUISSON'S STATEMENTS TO THE PRESS.

DENOUNCE. LAST NIGHT, AROUND MIDNIGHT, I RECEIVED A TELEPHONE CALL FROM AN ASSISTANT TO SENATOR HELMS IN WASHINGTON. THE INFORMATION HE GAVE ME WAS THAT THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES HIMSELF HAD TOLD SENATOR HELMS THAT AN ATTACK AGAINST AMBASSADOR PICKERING WOULD BE STAGED BEFORE SATURDAY, IN SAN SALVADOR. PRESIDENT REAGAN ASKED THAT HELMS AND HIS ASSISTANTS TRY TO CONTACT US (ARENA) RIGHT AWAY. THEY FIRST SPOKE WITH HUGO BARRERA (ARENA VEEP). THEY WERE NOT ABLE TO CONTACT ME UNTIL LATE AT NIGHT. THE HELMS OFFICE TOLD ME THAT AMBASSADOR PICKERING HAD BEEN NOTIFIED OF THIS MATTER; BUT THEY ALSO WARNED ME THAT THE DANGER WAS THAT ARENA WOULD BE ACCUSED OF ANY ATTACK AGAINST THE AMBASSADOR. THAT IS, IF SOMETHING WERE TO HAPPEN TO THE AMBASSADOR, THE IDEA WAS TO BLAME ARENA FOR IT AND ACCUSE US AGAIN OF LEADING THE DEATH SQUADS.

IN 1980, WHEN I WAS LIVING IN GUATEMALA, THE EMBASSY WAS FIRED UPON AND ACTING AMBASSADOR CHAPIN TOLD THE PRESS THAT THE ATTACK ON THE EMBASSY WAS CARRIED OUT IN "D'AUBUISSON'S STYLE." THE ERP (AN FMLN GUERRILLA GROUP) FINALLY TOOK CREDIT FOR THIS ATTACK. THAT STATEMENT BY CHAPIN, HOWEVER, MADE THE INTERNATIONAL HEADLINES. OTHER ERP ATTACKS WERE ALSO BLAMED ON ME. THIS NEW MACHINATION IS DESIGNED TO DRAW ATTENTION AWAY FROM CHARGES OF U.S. INTERVENTION IN THE SALVADORAN ELECTORAL PROCESS, WHICH WE HAVE DENOUNCED. WE HAVE DENOUNCED SOMETHING REALLY WRONG AND FACTUALLY ASCERTAINABLE IN THE ELECTORAL PROCESS. THEREFORE, THEY HAD TO INVENT CHARGES AGAINST US WHICH ARE JUST AS BIG AND DANGEROUS, TO BE ABLE TO DRAW ATTENTION AWAY FROM OUR ACCUSATIONS.

I SPOKE WITH AN EMBASSY OFFICER, VITTORIO BROD, AND TOLD HIM SOMETHING ABOUT THIS. VITTORIO HAD CALLED ME UP TO TELL ME THAT GENERAL VERNON WALTERS WILL ARRIVE THIS AFTERNOON AND WOULD LIKE TO MEET WITH ME. VITTORIO SAID HE KNEW NOTHING OF THE THREAT (AGAINST THE AMBASSADOR). I SAID I WOULD GLADLY MEET WITH GENERAL WALTERS. I ALSO WARNED COL. BLANDON (ESAF CHIEF OF STAFF) AND HE ASSURED ME THAT AMBASSADOR PICKERING WOULD BE WELL PROTECTED. BECAUSE BESIDES EXPRESSING CONCERN ABOUT THE THREAT AGAINST THE AMBASSADOR, I AM ALSO CONCERNED THAT MORE MANEUVERS SUCH AS THESE WILL BE RESORTED TO IN ORDER TO DISCREDIT OUR PARTY. END TEXT.

3. MARIA JULIA: IT'S INTENTIONAL

IN THYDEN'S DISCUSSION WITH MS. HERNANDEZ ON THE BOMBING QUESTION MAY 17, SHE HAD SAID THAT THE FAS WAS DELIBERATELY BOMBING INNOCENT CIVILIANS IN THE ZONE BETWEEN THE GUAZAPA VOLCANO (A NOTORIOUS GUERRILLA STRONGHOLD IN CUSCATLAN DEPARTMENT, ABOUT 20 MILES NORTHEAST OF SAN SALVADOR), AND A NEW LAKE (SUCHITLAN), FORMED BY THE DAMNED UP LEMPA RIVER. ACCORDING TO MS. HERNANDEZ, THE OBJECTIVE OF THIS BOMBING WAS TO SEPARATE THE CIVILIANS FROM THE GUERRILLAS, THEREBY ISOLATING THEM "FROM THE PEOPLE." SHE ACKNOWLEDGED THAT THE GUERRILLAS OFTEN MOVE THROUGH THIS AREA, AND THAT SOME PEOPLE LIVING THERE HELP THEM. BUT IN THE MAIN, SHE INSISTED, THE CIVILIANS ARE SIMPLY LOCAL FOLK WHO REFUSE TO ABANDON THEIR HOMES AND HEARTHS FOR THE UNCERTAINTY AND ALIENATION OF THE SHANTYTOWNS OF SAN SALVADOR. HOWEVER, THOSE WHO REMAIN ARE FORCED TO LIVE IN HOLES (LIKE ANTS) MOST OF THE TIME TO AVOID THE FAS BOMBS AND ARE FEARFUL OF EVEN WASHING AND DRYING THEIR CLOTHES TO AVOID ATTRACTING THE ATTENTION OF THE PLANES. MS. HERNANDEZ SAID SHE HAD EYE WITNESS ACCOUNTS TO THE DEATH AND DESTRUCTION SOWN BY THE FAS ATTACKS. IN RESPONSE TO A QUESTION, SHE SAID THE VICTIMS ARE NOT "MASAS" OR GUERRILLAS. HOW DID SHE KNOW THIS? "THE PEOPLE DO NOT LIE TO THE CHURCH. IF THEY SUPPORT THE GUERRILLAS, THEY SAY SO."

[redacted]

4. REGRADING BOMBING OF ICRC DISTRIBUTION POINTS IN CONFLICTIVE ZONES, MS. HERNANDEZ SAID THERE WAS NO PATTERN OF BOMBING OF THESE SITES BUT MAINTAINED IT HAD HAPPENED "A FEW TIMES" BEFORE MARCH 25. SINCE FEBRUARY, SHE SAID, THE FAS BOMBINGS HAD BEEN MUCH MORE PRECISE THAN PREVIOUSLY, AND HIT THE VERY HOLES IN WHICH THE PEOPLE HAD TAKEN SHELTER. DID THIS MEAN, SHE WAS ASKED, THAT THE FAS HAD IN FACT BEEN HITTING LEGITIMATE MILITARY TARGETS AFTER ALL? "NO," SHE RESPONDED, THIS ONLY MEANT THAT THE FAS HAD MERELY BEEN

7. COMMENT: THE DIVERGENCE IN THESE VIEWS IS OF ITSELF FASCINATING. WE WOULD PRESUME THE ARCHBISHOP'S TO BE THE MORE AUTHORITATIVE, ALTHOUGH THAT IS NOT NECESSARILY UNEQUIVOCALLY TRUE. HOWEVER, HIS CONCERN ABOUT THESE ISSUES IS NOT IN DOUBT, AND WE ARE CONVINCED HIS ANALYSIS IS BASED ON A SINCERE EFFORT TO INFORM HIMSELF ABOUT EVENTS IN EL SALVADOR. WE HAVE NOTED IN THE PAST HIS DISCOMFORT WITH TL'S APPROACH TO COMPILING AND DOCUMENTING HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS.

SUBJECT: EMBASSY STATEMENT AND GUIDANCE ON VERDICT

1. IN RESPONSE TO QUERIES THE EMBASSY HAS ISSUED THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT:

2. THE SUCCESSFUL PROSECUTION OF THESE MURDERERS SHOWS THAT THE SALVADORAN CRIMINAL JUSTICE SYSTEM CAN BE MADE TO WORK. THE INVESTIGATION, PREPARATION OF THE PROSECUTION, AND THE TRIAL REQUIRED DEDICATED AND PERSISTENT EFFORTS ON THE PART OF MANY PEOPLE. WE PARTICULARLY NOTE THE EFFORTS OF JUDGE RAUDA, PROSECUTOR CASTILLO, PRESIDENTS MAGANA AND DUARTE, AND DEFENSE MINISTER VIDES CASANOVA. WE WILL CONTINUE TO SUPPORT THE EFFORTS OF THE SALVADORANS TO ACHEIVE A MORE EFFECTIVE JUSTICE SYSTEM SO THAT THOSE WHO HAVE KILLED OUR CITIZENS AND OTHERS CAN BE PUNISHED.

3. (IF ASKED) Q: WHY DO YOU PRAISE VIDES CASANOVA WHEN THE TYLER REPORT SUGGESTS HE MAY HAVE TRIED TO COVER UP?

4. A: SINCE THE POSSIBLE IDENTITIES OF THE SUSPECTS BECAME KNOWN WE HAVE FOUND VIDES CASANOVA'S EFFORTS TO BE ESSENTIAL AND CONTINUOUS.

5. (IF ASKED) Q: WHAT IS THE STATUS OF THE OTHER AMCIT CASES?

6. A: THE KLINE CASE IS PENDING APPEAL OF ELEVATION TO PLENARIO. THE CONFESSED KILLERS IN THE SHERATION CASE ARE AWAITING TRIAL AND WE EXPECT TO SEE THOSE WHO ORDERED THE KILLINGS PUNISHED AS WELL.

7. (IF ASKED) Q: FAMILY LAWYERS SAY THAT U.S. OFFICIALS HAVE ASSSURED THEM THAT THE QUESTIONS OF A COVER UP RAISED BY THE TYLER REPORT WILL BE PURSUED. CAN YOU CONFIRM THIS?

8. A: THE TYLER REPORT, WHICH WAS PREVIOUSLY CLASSIFIED, WAS ONLY MADE AVAILABLE TO THE GOES ON THE MORNING OF 24 MAY. THEY ARE NOW AWARE OF THE SPECIFIC CONCLUSIONS AND INFERENCES OF JUDGE TYLER AND HIS COLLEAGUES AND AT THIS POINT WE BELIEVE QUESTIONS ARE BEST DIRECTED TO THEM.

SUBJECT: MEDIA TREATMENT: CHURCHWOMEN'S CASE

1. PERHAPS THE MOST SIGNIFICANT DEVELOPMENT IN COVERAGE OF THE TRIAL OF THE FOUR NATIONAL GUARDSMEN ACCUSED OF THE MURDERS OF THE FOUR U.S. CHURCHWOMEN IS THAT TWO OF THE COUNTRY'S FOUR MOST IMPORTANT NEWS RADIO STATIONS --YSU AND YSKL--ARE TRANSMITTING THE TRIAL LIVE AND IN ITS ENTIRETY. THIS IS THE FIRST TIME IN THE HISTORY OF EL SALVADOR THAT A TRIAL HAS BEEN TRANSMITTED LIVE OVER THE RADIO.

2. MODERATE AFTERNOON DAILY TABLOID EL MUNDO HEADLINE ITS 5/23 EDITION "JURY INSTALLED IN NUNS' CASE," WITH STAFF WRITTEN STORY AND COURTROOM PHOTO OF ALL FIVE SUSPECTS OCCUPYING REST OF FRONT PAGE. STORY IS A FACTUAL ACCOUNT OF BACKGROUND OF CASE AND BLOW-BY-BLOW ACCOUNT OF MORNING'S EVENTS.

3. CONSERVATIVE AFTERNOON DAILY TABLOID "DIARIO LATINO" ALSO CARRIES BANNER HEADLINE "JURY INSTALLED FOR FIVE EX-GUARDS." REPORT IS CARRIED INSIDE PAGE 3 WITH STAFF-WRITTEN ACCOUNT STRESSING THE STRICT SECURITY AND LARGE NUMBER OF SPECTATORS. REPORT INCLUDES BACKGROUND OF CASE AND CONCENTRATES HEAVILY (10 COLUMN INCHES) ON TESTIMONY GIVEN BY CARLOS JOAQUIN CONTRERAS PALACIOS. THE GUARDSMEN WHO HAD PREVIOUSLY CONFESSED TO THE MURDERS. "LATINO" RELIES EXCLUSIVELY ON CONTRERAS PALACIOS'S STATEMENT TO RECONSTRUCT MURDER. ONE PARAGRAPH OF DIARIO LATINO ACCOUNT PREDICTS GUILTY VERDICT, SAYING: "THE TESTIMONY IS VOLUMINOUS AND ACCORDING TO PERSONS KNOWLEDGEABLE OF JUDICIAL MATTERS, THERE IS NO DOUBT THAT A GUILTY VERDICT COULD BE PRONOUNCED, SINCE STATEMENTS EXIST WHICH SERIOUSLY IMPLICATE THE FIVE EX-GUARDSMEN WHO COMMITTED THE ACT." ACCOUNT OF CONTRERAS PALACIOS STATEMENT FOLLOWS.

4. MORNING PAPERS OF 5/24 WENT TO BED BEFORE ANNOUNCEMENT OF VERDICT AND GIVE LESS PROMINENT PLAY TO TRIAL STORY. CONSERVATIVE "LA PRENSA GRAFICA" CARRIES PHOTO OF COURTROOM AND FIVE ACCUSED GUARDSMEN ON FRONT PAGE WITH BOLD TICKLER TO STORY ON PAGE THREE: "JURY DEVELOPS IN CASE OF THE FOUR NUNS." UPPER RIGHT CORNER PAGE 3 CARRIES STAFF WRITTEN ARTICLE ON TRISL WHICH BEGINS: "IN THE MIDST OF POPULAR EXPECTATION, WORRY ON THE PART OF JUDICIAL AUTHORITIES AND EXTREME NERVOUSNESS OF THE SECURITY FORCES THAT KEPT ORDER..." UP TO THE LAST MINUTE THE JUDICIAL AUTHORITIES FEARED THAT THE TRIAL WOULD BE FRUSTRATED BY THE ABSENCE OF THE JURY. THIS WAS DISCARDED WHEN THE TEN CITED PERSONS APPEARED." PAGES TWO AND THREE (NATIONAL NEWS) CONTAIN SEVEN TRIAL RELATED PHOTOS: ONE OF THE FIVE ACCUSED, ONE OF THE TWO PROSECUTORS, ONE OF THE JUDGE, ONE OF THE PRESS SCENE OUTSIDE THE COURTROOM, ONE OF MARYKNOLL SISTERS HELEN O'SULLIVAN AND BERNICE KITA, WHO ATTENDED THE TRIAL, AND TWO OF THE PRISONERS BEING ESCORTED INTO THE COURTROOM BY ARMED GUARDS.

5. ULTRACONSERVATIVE "EL DIARIO DE HOY" CARRIES NO MENTION OF TRIAL ON FRONT PAGE, HEADLINING INSTEAD THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY'S REFUSAL TO ALTER SHRIMP FISHING REGULATIONS. UPPER INSIDE CORNER OF PAGE TWO CONTAINS STAFF WRITTEN REPORT UNDER HEADING: "THREE MEN AND TWO WOMEN ON JURY IN ZACATECOLUCA." STORY IS STRAIGHTFORWARD ACCOUNT THAT INCLUDES FOLLOWING SENTENCE: "IT WAS SAID YESTERDAY THAT GIVEN THE QUALITY OF THE JURORS, WHICH INCLUDE TEACHERS, IT CAN BE EXPECTED THAT THEY WILL ANNOUNCE A GUILTY VERDICT." ONLY TWO TRIAL-RELATED PHOTOS APPEAR, ONE OF LOCAL RESIDENTS AWAITING ARRIVAL OF JURORS OUTS'. COURTROOM, THE OTHER OF THE FIVE ACCUSED IN THE COURTROOM.

LAST-MINUTE REPORTS INDICATE THAT THE UNION HAS DECIDED TO CONTINUE THE STRIE THROUGH JUNE 7, WHEN THERE WILL BE ANOTHER MEETING AT THE MINISTRY OF LABOR. APPARENTLY, THE UNION WANTS TO WAIT UNTIL THE INAUGURATION OF DUARTE BECAUSE IT PROFESSES TO BELIEVE THAT DUARTE INTENDS TO TURN OVER CONTROL OF THE FACTORY TO THE WORKERS. ACCORDING TO MANAGEMENT, THE STRIKE WILL BE DECLARED ILLEGAL BY THE LABOR JUDGE ON MAY 31. SUBJECT: Declassification of the Tyler Report

The Department has classified Judge Tyler's Report dated December 2, 1983 [Tab 1] because the release of this document during the legal proceedings in El Salvador could have been prejudicial to the outcome of the trial of those charged with murder of four American churchwomen.

At this time, ARA and L have reviewed the full text of Judge Tyler's Report and have completed consultations with the FBI. Subject to the reductions noted below, the report is now declassified pursuant to 5 FAM 922 and cleared for release to the public.

On pages 1, 67, 73, 74, 75, footnotes 69, 123, 126, 127, 157, 162 and appendix names of FBI agents and persons who provided information under a request for anonymity, are indicated on pages at Tab 2.

THE CHURCHWOMEN MURDERS:

A REPORT TO THE SECRETARY OF STATE

INTRODUCTION

In the early days of December, 1980, four American churchwomen, Ita Ford, Maura Clarke, Dorothy Kazel and Jean Donovan, disappeared and were later found murdered in the Central American Republic of El Salvador. Occurring at a time of increasing concern about the growing violence in that country, the killings and the resulting criminal investigations have provoked intense interest, frequent frustration and occasional dismay in the United States as the citizens of this country have observed the workings of the Salvadoran justice system as it first investigated, and eventually sought to prosecute, those responsible for the killings.

From the outset, the handling of the case by Salvadoran authorities has been caught up in Congressional deliberations about the larger questions of American military, diplomatic and economic involvement with the Republic of El Salvador. But many of the questions, in Congress and out, focused on this case: Have the true killers been identified? Were higher-ups involved? Was there an attempt to cover-up the crime or conceal the murderers? Do the Salvadoran authorities have the will and the capacity to handle the prosecution of this and similar crimes of violence involving members of the security forces?

By the spring of 1983, five National Guardsmen had been accused of the crime, but their detention for over two years did not make the prospect of a speedy trial seem propitious. Increasingly, members of Congress, the families of the murdered churchwomen and other citizens asked with legitimate concern whether the Salvadoran government was serious about prosecuting the responsible parties and whether the United States was doing as much as it could to encourage the prosecution.

On April 26, 1983, the Secretary of State reported to the Chairman of the Foreign Operations Subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee that he had directed an "independent and high-level review of all the evidence available to the United States government pertaining to the churchwomen's case."[1/] By a letter dated May 23, 1983, Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American Affairs James H. Michel, on behalf of the Department of State, requested that I conduct this review.[2/] Mr. Michel, and thereafter, the Deputy Secretary of State, Kenneth Dam, pledged the full cooperation of all concerned Federal agencies.

Together with my colleagues, Togo D. West, Jr. and Gregory L. Diskant, I have reviewed the evidence. In the process, we have received the cooperation that was pledged to us. Since May, we have had access to pertinent State Department files, both classified and unclassified, including the numerous cables that had been transmitted between the State Department and the United States Embassy in San Salvador on this matter. We have had similar access to the classified and unclassified files of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), and of other pertinent agencies as well. No documents necessary to our inquiry have been withheld from us.

We have talked extensively with present and former government officials of both countries who have been involved in the various investigations of this unfortunate tragedy. The State Department and the Federal Bureau of Investigation have been especially helpful in bringing their personnel from locations far removed from the cities of Washington, D.C. and New York, our principal bases of operations, for whatever interviews we have deemed necessary. Our discussions have included interviews with personnel presently assigned to the United States Embassy in San Salvador and with those who were assigned to that Embassy during the time of the earlier investigations into the murders. We have consulted with Salvadoran prosecutors, with Salvadoran attorneys in and out of government, and with representatives of the Catholic Church in both this country and El Salvador.

For obvious reasons, we have sought to maintain a particularly close liaison with the representatives of the families of the victims. Our conversations with those representatives, the Lawyers' Committee for International Human Rights Under Law, and with members of the Maryknoll Order, have been characterized by candor and cooperativeness on the part of those who met with us. These groups have made their files available to us and have patiently assisted us in our efforts to determine how we could increase the likelihood that the perpetrators of these crimes will be brought to justice.

Our mission has had both sobering and heartening aspects. To an extent that is impossible to detail in this report, the criminal justice system in El Salvador is in a state of disrepair.[3/] A handful of inexperienced, undereducated, and occasionally corrupt prosecutors represent a society that seems to have lost its will to bring to justice those who commit serious crimes against it. Intimidation and corruption of prosecutors, judges and juries are widespread, and a rigid legal system renders successful prosecutions all the more difficult. The military exerts a pervasive influence over the nation and, as will be documented herein, has sought to shield from justice even those who commit the most atrocious crimes.

There are some bright spots. Some Salvadorans, most notably Judge Bernardo Rauda Murcia and Lieutenant

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

Colonel Jose Adolfo Medrano, have exhibited the courage, independence and fortitude to pursue an unpopular investigation of the crime in a country where the price for such vigilance is all too often sudden and brutal death. Representatives of United States Government agencies, particularly the Department of State and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, have been vigorous and effective in pressing the Salvadorans to investigate and prosecute this crime and, when the prosecution was finally underway, in rendering critical investigative and technical assistance. At least one United States Government officer has repeatedly exposed himself to great personal danger to obtain evidence crucial to the investigation. We believe the American public, and the families, can ask no more than that from their representatives.

SUMMARY

Five former members of the El Salvador National Guard are now in custody and charged with the murder of the four churchwomen: Luis Antonio Colindres Aleman, Carlos Joaquin Contreras Palacios, Francisco Orlando Contreras Recinos, Daniel Canales Ramirez and Jose Roberto Moreno Canjura. Perhaps our most important conclusion is that these men in fact committed the crime and that the evidence of their guilt is overwhelming. Not all of the evidence is admissible in the Salvadoran courts, but that which is remains compelling. The admissible evidence consists of partially incriminating statements by the defendants themselves, including one complete confession; statements by their former colleagues in the National Guard, including those who participated in the abduction of the women and those to whom the defendants made incriminating statements following the crime; statements of other third-party witnesses; and technical evidence developed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation in the form of ballistics tests linking two of the defendants' weapons to the crime.

Special Project (1993)

The inadmissible evidence renders the guilt of the defendants even more clear. This consists of polygraph examinations that the defendants failed, a fingerprint of Subsergeant Colindres Aleman found on the van in which the churchwomen were traveling, and highly confidential information collected by the United States Embassy through the efforts of an Embassy official at great personal risk. The reliability of this information has been proved certain, but we are convinced that lives would be endangered by public revelation of this evidence or its sources. (We shall refer to this information in our report as "special Embassy evidence.") With respect to each category of inadmissible evidence, we have explored whether in some manner it could be introduced as part of the prosecution case. In each instance, although with varying degrees of certainty, we have concluded that the evidence cannot be used.

The evidence taken as a whole shows irrefutably that the five defendants, following the orders of Subsergeant Colindres Aleman, kidnapped the women at a checkpoint outside the El Salvador Airport on December 2, 1980. They rode through the countryside to a remote location some fifteen miles from the airport, where they raped and murdered the women. Thereafter, the National Guardsmen drove the churchwomen's van to another remote location and set it afire.

The first reaction of the Salvadoran authorities to the murder was, tragically, to conceal the perpetrators from justice. Evidence available to the United States, including the special Embassy evidence, shows beyond question that Colindres Aleman confessed his involvement in the crime to ranking members of the National Guard within days of the murder. They responded by concealing this fact from the outside world, and ordering the transfer of the killers from their airport posts and the switching of their weapons to make detection more difficult.

At a minimum, then Major Lizandro Zepeda Velasco, the National Guard officer in charge of the Guard's internal investigation, was aware of the identity of the killers and participated in these acts. Sergeant Dagoberto Martinez, Colindres Aleman's immediate superior, has admitted that he also knew of Colindres Aleman's guilt. We believe it is probable that Colonel Roberto Monterrosa, head of the government's official investigation of the crime, was aware of the identity of the killers and, further, that he participated in the cover-up by purposely failing to provide Colindres Aleman's fingerprints to the United States for analysis. We believe as well that it is quite possible that Colonel Carlos Eugenio Vides Casanova, then head of the National Guard and now a General and Minister of Defense, was aware of, and for a time acquiesced in, the cover-up.

The cover-up was shattered in April, 1981, when officials of the United States Embassy identified the killers through their own investigation. This effort, although significantly assisted by ballistics and fingerprint work performed by the FBI, came principally by the development of the special Embassy evidence by an Embassy officer. The special Embassy evidence first provided identification of the perpetrators to the United States. When the Embassy learned the defendants' names, it pressed Salvadoran authorities to arrest them. At that point, Colonel Vides Casanova, the Director of the Salvadoran National Guard, ordered the arrest of the men.

Thereafter, Salvadoran prosecution efforts continued to stall, although the men were at least incarcerated. Finally, in December, 1981, a year after the killings and again responding to United States pressure, the Salvadoran government undertook a serious investigation of the crime. National Guard Major (now Lieutenant Colonel) Adolfo Medrano led a group of detectives from the Salvadoran

National Police and others in the first concentrated gathering of evidence by the Salvadoran authorities. With technical assistance from the FBI, the Medrano working group collected statements of witnesses tying the defendants to the crime, including reports of extrajudicial confessions by Colindres Aleman. This evidence supported the discharge of the accused guardsmen from the National Guard in February, 1982, so that they could be tried in the civilian courts and their remand to the custody of the civilian trial judge. The evidence gathered by the Medrano working group remains the principal evidence against the accused.

The technical support provided the Salvadoran authorities by the FBI has been simply outstanding. Fingerprint and ballistics tests by Bureau personnel provided initial corroboration of the special Embassy evidence and directly linked the defendants to the crime. Beyond technical expertise, however, Bureau agents in the United States thoroughly interviewed relevant witnesses and obtained significant information. By the artful use of the polygraph as an investigative tool, the Bureau obtained a statement from Colindres Aleman's former superior reporting a critical confession by Colindres. The FBI sent polygraph examiners to El Salvador, who interviewed the defendants and other witnesses and, again by using the test as an investigative tool, produced important incriminatory statements.

The question whether Colindres Aleman was ordered to commit this crime by higher-ups is a troubling one. To the extent the Salvadoran authorities have investigated this matter, their inquiry is not nearly as complete as we would have liked. There is some evidence suggesting the involvement of higher-ups: most importantly, two low ranking guardsmen have testified that, in ordering them to participate, Colindres Aleman told them he was acting on higher orders.

On the other hand, there is evidence to the contrary, which we tend to credit. As we set forth in detail below, the circumstances of the crime itself and Colindres Aleman's behavior during its commission are, in our view, inconsistent with an assault on the churchwomen ordered from above. Post-murder statements by Colindres Aleman to his colleagues and his superior, along with the special Embassy evidence, provide what we believe to be additional compelling evidence of lack of higher involvement. Although it is unlikely that a dispositive answer will ever be known, we record here our best judgment: on the basis of the evidence available to us, we believe that Colindres Aleman acted on his own initiative.

Although the evidence of the defendants' guilt is, in our view, substantial, we cannot be certain that the case will be successfully prosecuted. In October, 1983, the case was finally elevated to the plenario, essentially the trial stage, after over a year and a half in the sumario or investigative stage. This means that, at best, we can expect a trial by the spring of 1984. The newly-assigned senior prosecutor is a veteran attorney and, based on our discussions with him, appears competent to present the prosecution's case.

Nonetheless, the prosecutor must convince a majority of a jury of five, and in El Salvador juries have, understandably, been routinely subject to intimidation. Moreover, we are told that corruption of both juries and judges is an everyday event. Finally, if the system were not already weak enough, we are under the impression that this case is a relatively rare effort to prosecute members of the Salvadoran military in the civilian courts for crimes committed on duty. For these reasons, we view the likelihood of a conviction of the defendants by a jury of Salvadoran citizens to depend substantially on whether the jurors can be assured that they can vote their consciences without fear.

Under current Salvadoran procedures, the jurors must be publicly identified and hear the evidence in public. These procedures are, of course, desirable in a stable society, but hardly leave a jury with any sense of security in the Salvadoran system. We have pressed the Salvadoran authorities to undertake a variety of novel means to protect the jury or guarantee their anonymity. Unfortunately, for whatever reasons, the authorities have not yet looked with favor upon the introduction of unprecedented methods into their system of jury selection and protection. Thus, we must reluctantly close on a discouraging note: unless the jury can be safeguarded, we would be foolhardy to predict the conviction of these defendants.

I. THE MURDERS

As in any criminal prosecution, the facts of the crime are disputed, at least by the defendants. Although one of the defendants has confessed, the remaining accused killers maintain their innocence and present a joint alibi. In analyzing the facts of the crime, we have weighed all of the information available to us, whether or not admissible under the Salvadoran system and whether or not public. We have rejected the alibis of the non-confessing defendants as self-serving fabrications. We set forth below what we believe actually happened, resolving differences in the testimony by giving greater weight to the witnesses whose reliability we believe to have been proven. Significant differences between the facts stated herein and the testimony of other witnesses are indicated in the footnotes.

In the fall of 1980, El Salvador was suffering through a period of severe political volatility. Increasing violence by both right-wing and left-wing groups had heightened tensions. Terrorist acts were being committed against government officials, ministry buildings, foreign embassies, universities, churches and factories with growing regularity. Thousands of Salvadorans had been murdered as part of a vicious reign of terror, the majority allegedly by rightist elements.[4/]

On November 27, 1980, yet another outbreak of political killing occurred. Six leaders of the Salvadoran opposition, the Democratic Revolutionary Front (FDR), were tortured and murdered after their abduction from a school in San Salvador by a band of several hundred men. The bodies of the slain leaders lay in state at the Cathedral in San Salvador for several days, and their funeral was to be held on December 3, 1980.[5/] Their supporters urged a large turnout for the funeral, and many in the Salvadoran government and military feared an outburst of public violence, possibly as great as that experienced during the funeral of Archbishop Oscar Arnuldo Romero in March, 1980. The country was gripped by palpable tension and fear.

On November 26, 1980, the day before the FDR assassinations, Sisters Ita Ford and Maura Clarke of the Maryknoll Order had traveled from their station at Chalatenango, El Salvador, to an annual gathering of Central American Maryknolls in Managua, Nicaragua.[6/] Upon their return to El Salvador on December 2, 1980, the day before the FDR funerals, they, along with two other Maryknoll nuns (Sisters Madeline Dorsey and Teresa Alexander), were to be met at the airport by Sister Dorothy Kazel, an Ursuline nun, and Ms. Jean Donovan, a lay volunteer.[7] Sisters Ford and Clarke, returning to El Salvador from Nicaragua in the midst of unprecedented tension throughout El Salvador, never reached their destination; nor did their escorts, Sister Kazel and Ms. Donovan.

From the available evidence, events unfolded on that tragic December 2 as follows. Some time after midday, Sister Kazel and Ms. Donovan drove to the International Airport to meet the four Maryknoll nuns in a white Toyota "Hiace" van.[8] They parked in the parking lot in front of the main passenger terminal at about 2:00 p.m.[9] Their arrival was noticed by a Salvadoran National Guardsman patrolling in front of the terminal, Margarito Perez Nieto.[10] His attention, he later stated, was attracted by the fact that one of the churchwomen had returned to the vehicle to retrieve a large bag capable of carrying a weapon, and by their apparently watchful attitude toward him. Perez Nieto mentally recorded their arrival and returned to his patrol.

Inside the terminal, the Lanica flight that Sister Kazel and Ms. Donovan were to meet arrived at 2:30 p.m., carrying only two of the four nuns expected, Sisters Madeline Dorsey and Teresa Alexander.[11] Sister Kazel and Ms. Donovan determined that they would drive the two nuns to La Libertad and return later to meet the remaining two Maryknoll nuns.[12] Guardsman Perez Nieto observed their departure in the white

Toyota van at about 3:15 p.m. He telephoned his detachment commander at the airport, Subsergeant Luis Antonio Colindres Aleman, to report that he suspected the women of having weapons in their travel bags. Colindres Aleman told Perez Nieto to be careful.[13]

Sister Kazel and Ms. Donovan returned to the airport to meet Sisters Ford and Clarke, the remaining two Maryknoll nuns, sometime between 4:30 and 6:00 p.m.[14] Sisters Ford and Clarke arrived on a COPA (Campania Panamena de Aviacion, the Panamanian Airlines) flight at about 6:30 p.m.,[15] and were met by Sister Kazel and Ms. Donovan. At some point, the churchwomen were again observed by Guardsman Perez Nieto, who apparently notified Subsergeant Colindres Aleman again of their activities.[16] Perez Nieto's tour of duty ended at 7:00 p.m. and at that time (or earlier) he returned to the National Guard barracks. He reported his observations in greater detail to Colindres Aleman.[17]

At this point, we believe, Colindres Aleman decided that he would stop the churchwomen. Although there is no evidence that he knew their identities, he apparently believed, based on his guard's observations, that they were "subversives." Although in our system these observations would usually not be enough even to justify an airport stop for questioning, in El Salvador in 1980, particularly on the eve of the burial of the FDR leaders, these grounds for suspicion were more than adequate. If Colindres Aleman could obtain evidence that the women were carrying weapons, or even "subversive" literature, his status in the Guard would be enhanced.

There is no reason to believe that Colindres Aleman necessarily had murder on his mind from the outset. At a minimum, however, he knew he was up to no good. He ordered five guardsmen, Carlos Joaquin Contreras Palacios, Francisco Orlando Contreras Recinos, Daniel Canales Ramirez, Jose Roberto Moreno Canjura, and Salvador Rivera Franco, to change out of their uniforms into civilian clothes. He instructed the five men to accompany him with their service rifles and ammunition.[18] Shortly after 7:00 p.m., Colindres Aleman, the five guardsmen in civilian attire and Perez Nieto, in uniform, drove in a National Guard jeep to the traffic checkpoint near the airport entrance.[19]

At the checkpoint, Colindres Aleman instructed Perez Nieto to stop all traffic at the checkpoint for approximately ten minutes, but to allow the "white van" carrying the churchwomen to pass without hinderance.[20] Colindres Aleman left Perez Nieto at the checkpoint, along with the uniformed guardsmen already on duty there, Luis Napoleon Cornejo Cubas, Jose Vidal Cruz Piche, and Jose Luis Monterrosa.[21] After rounding a bend in the airport-access road, and nearing the first toll station for the as yet unfinished highway between San Salvador and the airport,

Colindres Aleman and the five guardsmen, all in civilian clothes, took up positions on the road and awaited the arrival of the white van.[22]

Meanwhile, at the airport, the four churchwomen retrieved the luggage of Sisters Ford and Clarke and left the terminal in their white van. At the airport traffic checkpoint, Guardsman Perez Nieto, following instructions, allowed the van to pass through. He detained all other traffic for about ten minutes,[23] and then returned to the National Guard headquarters.

Passing the checkpoint, the churchwomen arrived at Subsergeant Colindres Aleman's position. They were stopped and ordered to vacate the van.[24] The guardsmen searched the van and questioned the women. Thereupon, Colindres Aleman ordered them back into the van together with Guardsmen Contreras Recinos, Canales Ramirez and Moreno Canjura.[25] Contreras Recinos drove the van and, with Colindres Aleman and Guardsmen Contreras Palacios and Rivera Franco following in the National Guard jeep,[26] the small convoy started its journey fifteen miles into the hills of El Salvador.

Shortly thereafter the jeep developed engine trouble. After a brief stop for temporary repair, the two vehicles made it to the National Guard command post at the town of El Rosario La Paz.[27] There, Subsergeant Colindres Aleman telephoned the airport and instructed his second in command, Corporal Isabel Aquino Giron, to send another vehicle to El Rosario to retrieve them.[28] The jeep was then left at the Guard post, with Guardsman Rivera Franco to guard it.[29]

The five other guardsmen crowded into the small van with the four churchwomen and proceeded in the direction of Zacatecoluca. At the intersection of the road to San Pedro Nonualco, the van left the main road and drove for another six kilometers, finally turning off onto a dirt lane.[30] At a deserted site along the lane, Subsergeant Colindres Aleman directed Guardsman Contreras Recinos to bring the van to a halt, and ordered the women out of the van.[31] The guardsmen sexually assaulted the women. Then, at Colindres Aleman's orders, they shot the women dead with their service rifles, leaving the bodies along the roadside as they fell.[32] The guardsmen, upon completion of their grisly mission, then returned to El Rosario La Paz in the van.

In the interim, Corporal Giron had sought from the commander of the Customs Police at the airport, Juan de Dios Barrera Rivera, a vehicle with which to pick up Colindres Aleman and his men.[33] Barrera Rivera assigned Victor Melgar Garay to drive a blue Customs Police pick-up truck[34] to El Rosario La Paz, where, accompanied by Guardsman Julio Cesar Valle Espinoza, Melgar Garay found Guardsman Rivera Franco guarding the disabled jeep.[35] The three were waiting when Subsergeant Colindres Aleman and the other guardsmen returned without the women at approximately 11:00 p.m.[36]

Climbing into the cab of the truck, Subsergeant Colindres Aleman instructed Melgar Garay to drive back onto the highway in the direction of La Libertad.[37] Followed by the white Toyota Hiace van, the truck proceeded along the coast road until ordered by Colindres Aleman to stop.[38] After the guardsmen had removed several items from the van to the blue Customs pick-up truck,[39] Guardsman Contreras Recinos opened the middle door of the van and, with the help of Contreras Palacios and Moreno Canjura, poured aviation fuel on the inside and outside of the van and set it afire.[40]

Near midnight, Subsergeant Colindres Aleman and his men returned to the airport in the blue pick-up truck.[41] Upon his return, Colindres Aleman took the van's spare tire and jack, and several articles of women's clothing to the barracks.[42] Later, several of the guardsmen, with Colindres Aleman, burned this clothing and certain other articles taken from the churchwomen.[43] On December 3, Colindres Aleman took the spare tire and jack to a nearby farm camp and left them there with a friend for safekeeping.[44]

Early in the morning of December 3, 1980, villagers from Santiago Nonualco, a remote village fifteen miles northeast of the airport, found the bodies of the four churchwomen sprawled along the roadside.[45] One of the villagers contacted the local Militia Commander, Jose Dolores Melendez, to report the discovery.[46] Shortly thereafter, two National Guardsmen and three Civil Guardsmen arrived at the scene, and ordered the preparation of a common grave.[47] The local Justice of the Peace, Juan Santos Ceron, was summoned by the Militia Commander, and authorized the immediate burial of the women as "unknowns," an unfortunate practice that had become common in El Salvador.[48]

When Sister Kazel and Ms. Donovan failed to return to La Libertad, Father Paul Schindler, an American priest working in La Libertad, contacted the United States Consul in San Salvador, Patricia Lasbury (now Patricia Lasbury Hall), on December 3.[49] Ms. Lasbury then informed the Chief of National Police of the women's disappearance. Salvadoran Defense Minister Garcia was also notified.[50] A nationwide search was promised.

In an attempt to locate the women himself, Father Schindler set out to search along the coastal road leading from La Libertad to the airport. On the evening of December 3, he found the burned-out shell of the churchwomen's van where it had been abandoned along the coastal road.[51] Its license plates were missing, and the van could be identified only by the serial numbers on the engine block.[52]

Meanwhile, word began to circulate in the community that four female Caucasian "unknowns" had been found dead and buried in Santiago Nonualco. A local parish priest heard the news and informed the Vicar of the San Vicente diocese. In turn, the Vicar notified the United States Embassy that the bodies of the American churchwomen had been found.[53]

Upon learning the news, United States Ambassador Robert White went immediately to the murder site, where he found Father Schindler, who also had been notified by the parish priest of the discovery of the bodies.[54] The Secretary of the Justice of the Peace arrived and gave permission for the removal of the bodies from the grave.[55] All four women had been shot in the head; the face of one had been destroyed.[56] The underwear of three of the women was found separately, along with bloody bandanas.[57] Brief medical examinations were performed that day, but no autopsies.[58] Sisters Ford and Clarke were buried in Chalatenango; Sister Kazel and Ms. Donovan, in the United States.[59]

II. THE INVESTIGATIONS

Despite the numbing regularity with which innocents in El Salvador have been subjected to crimes of violence, the rape and murder of the four American churchwomen provoked immediate international outrage. The Salvadoran government responded by publicly promising a full investigation, and the United States pledged its complete assistance. The actions of the United States and its representatives to investigate the crime and to bring the perpetrators to justice have been remarkable. Quite simply, we believe that the killers would never have been identified and the evidence of their guilt never properly assembled had it not been for the efforts, often courageous, of United States personnel.

The efforts of Salvadoran officials, on the other hand, have been mixed. Despite the public promise of a full and complete investigation, the actual initial Salvadoran government response appears to have been to do everything possible to conceal the perpetrators of the crime. The identities of the killers were known to officials of the Salvadoran National Guard within days of the murders. Nonetheless, the official response to this information ranged from indifference to active cover-up. It was only after a year had passed, and the killers had been identified by the United States, that a competent group of Salvadoran officials undertook a thorough investigation of the crime and assembled the evidence that forms the basis for the prosecutions. The men who performed that task, led by Major Medrano, and the judge who inherited the case and completed the investigation, Judge Bernardo Murcia Rauda, performed difficult work under the most dangerous of circumstances. They deserve the praise and gratitude of all those who have sought to see justice done in this case.

A. The Zepeda and Monterrosa Investigations

Within days of the murders, Salvadoran authorities commissioned two investigations, one public and one private, both with apparently the same objective: to create a written record absolving the Salvadoran security forces of responsibility for the murders. The public investigation was in the form of a commission headed by Colonel Roberto Monterrosa, then director of the Armed Forces Studies Center and later commander of the Salvadoran Navy. The private investigation, commissioned by the National Guard itself, was headed by Major Lizandro Zepeda Velasco. In his interview with us, Colonel Monterrosa was surprisingly candid about his purpose. He stated that his investigatory commission had flatly rejected the possibility that security forces were involved in the murder, not because of the absence of evidence, but because their involvement, if proved, would cause serious consequences for the armed forces "from a political point of view."[60/]

The failure of either Zepeda or the Monterrosa Commission to pursue a serious investigation is obvious, for the evidence of the defendants' culpability was readily available for gathering. As we will note below, the murderers made no attempt whatever to conceal their culpability from other National Guardsmen. Not only had several guardsmen witnessed the churchwomen's abduction, but the defendants repeatedly conceded their guilt to their colleagues following the killing. For instance, at a meeting called by Colonel Vides Casanova within days of the murders to ask whether any National Guardsmen were responsible, Subsergeant Colindres Aleman approached his immediate supervisor, Sergeant Dagoberto Martinez and reported that, "the problem regarding the nuns is me." Martinez advised Colindres Aleman to be silent about the crime, but to admit his role if questioned by a National Guard officer.[61]

The National Guard officer assigned in December, 1980 to investigate the crime was Major Zepeda.[62] Zepeda interviewed Colindres Aleman, as well as other guardsmen on duty at the airport on the night of December 2.[63] Although all the witnesses whom Zepeda purportedly interviewed had at least partial knowledge of the facts of the crime--knowledge that they later confessed to Major Medrano--Zepeda blithely reported that no one remembered anything out of the ordinary about that evening. His perfunctory written report, turned over to the United States many months later, concludes "[i]t is not proven in this report that elements of the National Guard had any participation in the death of the four North American religious [sic]."[64]

In fact, the written Zepeda report was a sham. Indeed, it made so little an impression on Major Zepeda himself that, when we interviewed him in September, 1983, he insisted that his reporting had been oral only.[65] He persisted in this position even when we told him that we had seen copies of written reports. Zepeda may have remembered only an oral report because it was undoubtedly only orally that he would have communicated his true findings: that, National Guardsmen led by Colindres Aleman had committed the murders.

Information derived by the United States Embassy from the special Embassy evidence shows unequivocably that Subsergeant Colindres Aleman followed precisely Sergeant Martinez' recommendation. When Major Zepeda questioned Colindres Aleman in the days following the crime, he confessed his role in the murders to the National Guard investigating officer.

Major Zepeda did not betray Subsergeant Colindres Aleman's trust. Rather, he undertook a course of action in the winter and spring of 1981 to protect Colindres Aleman and the other killers. Of course, he issued a written report absolving the guardsmen of blame. Moreover, according to the special Embassy evidence, Major Zepeda caused the murderers to be transferred away from their airport post, thus making it more difficult for outsiders to determine who had been in a position to undertake the killings or to interview military witnesses at the airport. Knowing that the FBI had performed ballistics tests on shells and casings associated with the crime, Major Zepeda also, according to the special Embassy evidence, ordered the killers to switch their rifles with others so as to make detection more difficult. (This effort did not ultimately prevent linking the murder weapons with the defendants. Major Zepeda either failed to, or could not, alter the Salvadoran military's written records identifying which rifles were assigned to the defendants.)

Although we have no direct proof, we think it is quite possible that Major Zepeda informed his superior, then Colonel Vides Casanova, of his activities. Vides Casanova appointed Zepeda, and Zepeda reported directly to him. It seems unlikely that a mid-level officer like Zepeda would have undertaken the obstructive actions he did without approval or encouragement from someone higher. Moreover, when we interviewed now General Vides Casanova, we found him evasive; he professed a disturbing lack of knowledge of Zepeda's investigation, despite evidence that he was aware of and received reports concerning Zepeda's efforts throughout the investigation.[66/] In his answers to us, General Vides Casanova attempted to distance himself as completely as possible from all investigations of the crime.

We believe it probable that Major Zepeda informed Colonel Monterrosa of his findings. Indeed, in his discussion with us, Colonel Monterrosa asserted that he was responsible for Zepeda's appointment as investigating officer. Certainly the activity undertaken by the Monterrosa Commission--or, more accurately, its inactivity--suggests the absence of any serious interest in identifying the killers. Nonetheless, for the first few weeks of its existence, the commission managed to suggest to the outside world that it was undertaking a serious mission.

The commission's appointment was announced on December 8, 1980.[67/] On that day the members of the commission received United States Ambassador Robert White and a team of distinguished Americans sent by President Carter to investigate the crime.[68/] The commissioners purported to welcome investigative assistance from the United States, including technical expertise and assistance in planning the investigation. The Ambassador willingly agreed. A team of FBI technicians flew to El Salvador and gathered various evidence for laboratory analysis, including fingerprints and debris taken from the white van, and items of clothing found at the gravesite.[69/]

Over the next few days the commission requested that autopsies be performed on the two churchwomen buried in the United States;[70/] it visited the murder site and questioned residents of the area;[71/] it took a statement from a Salvadoran priest, Father Britto,[72/] who had been stopped at a military checkpoint near the airport on the evening of December 2, 1980; and it requested the assistance of the United States in locating six Canadians who had also been stopped at that checkpoint with Father Britto.[73/]

Despite its initial show of activity, the Monterrosa Commission soon slowed its pace. On December 20, 1980, the commission adjourned for the traditional three-week Christmas recess,[74/] and when the commission eventually resumed its "investigation" in January, 1981, its efforts were unimpressive. Consistent with Colonel Monterrosa's statement to us that the commission had no serious interest in connecting

Special Project (1993)

El Salvador: Human Rights

security forces with the crime, the commission obtained and relied upon false exculpatory statements from guardsmen on duty substantially identical to those collected by Major Zepeda.[75]

Although the United States was, as requested, providing investigative assistance, that assistance was largely ignored. United States suggestions that the most elementary investigative steps be taken were greeted with distrust or disinterest. Thus, the United States repeatedly requested, to no avail, that guardsmen at the checkpoint and the burial site be fingerprinted; that airport guardsmen be vigorously questioned about the events of December 2; that the weapons of guardsmen at the airport be confiscated for testing; and the like.[76] When pressed to explain his reason for failing to fingerprint the potential suspects, Colonel Monterrosa lamely explained, "one must understand the political situation in El Salvador."[77] He later claimed that the commission did not have the authority to fingerprint the men in question.[78]

Thereafter, in February, 1981, Colonel Monterrosa began the first of his many efforts to conclude the commission's activities.[79] One might be tempted to conclude that the Monterrosa Commission's failure to uncover useful information was the result of mere indifference or fear. We conclude that it is more probable that Major Zepeda informed Colonel Monterrosa of Colindres Aleman's guilt and that Colonel Monterrosa purposely chose to conceal the truth. According to Monterrosa himself in his discussion with us, Zepeda reported everything he knew to him.

More telling than the lines of authority, however, was an event that occurred on February 26, 1981. On that date, after much prodding from the United States, Colonel Monterrosa delivered to an Embassy official fingerprints and palm prints of three of the four guardsmen from whom the commission had taken written statements: Jose Luis Monterrosa, Luis Napoleon Cornejo Cubas, and Vidal Cruz Piche, all guardsmen stationed at the airport checkpoint on the day of the murders.[80] Of course, since none of these men was involved in the murders, their fingerprints were essentially meaningless. The significant event of that day, however, was Colonel Monterrosa's pointed failure to produce the fingerprints of the fourth guardsmen who had given a statement: Subsergeant Colindres Aleman.

A month and a half later, after the special Embassy evidence had provided the Embassy an indication of Subsergeant Colindres Aleman's guilt, but before the Embassy had revealed that knowledge to the Salvadorans, an Embassy official asked Colonel Monterrosa why Colindres Aleman had not been fingerprinted.[81] Colonel Monterrosa immediately became defensive and claimed he had taken fingerprints only from those persons requested by the Embassy. From all the circumstances, however, we believe that Colonel Monterrosa did not provide Colindres Aleman's fingerprints because he knew--since Major Zepeda had told him--that Colindres Aleman was responsible for the murders. Monterrosa feared that providing Colindres Aleman's fingerprints would enable him to be identified.

El Salvador: Human Rights

In the period between January and April, 1981, frustrated at the inaction of the Monterrosa Commission, and still uncertain that a purposeful cover-up was underway, Embassy officials continued to apply direct and indirect pressure upon Colonel Monterrosa. They asked the ruling junta to press Monterrosa to conduct a meaningful inquiry.[82] President Jose Napoleon Duarte, whom we interviewed and who appeared to have a sincere interest in the prosecution of this case, complied with the various requests of the United States, and repeatedly instructed Colonel Monterrosa to undertake pertinent investigative steps: to identify all security force personnel near the airport; to fingerprint those personnel; and to collect, secure and test their weapons.[83] Despite instructions from his civilian superior, Colonel Monterrosa did as little as possible throughout the early spring of 1981. Taken together, the Monterrosa and Zepeda investigations provide distressing evidence of the willingness of the Salvadoran military to protect their own, no matter what the cost.

El Salvador: Human Rights

B. The Cover-Up Is Defeated

Distressed at the apparent inability of the Monterrosa Commission to make substantial progress, and unaware of the cover-up engineered by Major Zepeda, officers of the United States Embassy determined to do what they could to identify the killers. In February, 1981, an Embassy officer developed information that promised eventual discovery of the identity of the killers. Over the next two months, this special Embassy evidence was proven reliable. The Embassy learned the identity of the killers; of other witnesses who could prove the killers' identity in court, most notably Sergeant Dagoberto Martinez; and obtained convincing evidence of the cover-up.

A significant piece of corroboration came from FBI analysis of two cartridge casings and three spent bullets provided to the Embassy by the Salvadoran government on March 2, 1981.[84] On March 17, 1981, the FBI laboratories identified the casings and bullets as coming from Heckler and Koch G-3 assault rifles,[85] standard issue to the Salvadoran security forces. Other corroborating evidence cannot be set forth here because it would tend to disclose and thus endanger the nature and sources of the special Embassy evidence. In any event, after several months of testing, through the use of corroborating evidence, the Embassy was convinced that the special Embassy evidence was both genuine and sound.

By April, 1981, the Embassy had concluded that only extraordinary pressure would result in the arrest and prosecution of the killers, and it determined to inform the Salvadoran authorities of the information it had learned, but not its source. On April 21, 1981, the Embassy identified Subsergeant Colindres Aleman to President Duarte. Several days later the Embassy named to Defense Minister Garcia five other guardsmen identified by the special Embassy evidence.[86/] The United States demanded that the killers be arrested. Upon learning this news, Colonel Vides Casanova ordered the arrest of the guardsmen who had been identified. The men were taken into custody on April 29, 1981.[87/]

The arrest of the guardsmen enabled the FBI to complete the scientific tests it had begun some months before. On April 30, the FBI obtained the defendants' fingerprints and shortly thereafter matched a thumbprint of Subsergeant Colindres Aleman with a print found on the churchwomen's van.[88/] On May 1, the weapons of the guardsmen were seized,[89/] and by May 17, the FBI reported that one of the seized weapons, which later was identified as belonging to Guardsman Moreno Canjura, had fired a cartridge found at the murder site.[90/]

Although the cover-up had been thwarted, and evidence of the defendants' guilt produced, the military apparently remained ambivalent about the extent to which it would cooperate in the prosecution. Major Zepeda remained in charge of the National Guard's internal "investigation," and the disclosure of the true facts apparently did little to deter him from his course of concealment. In the period following the arrests, Zepeda took two more written statements from Subsergeant Colindres Aleman.[91/] In the first, Colindres Aleman again denied participation in the murders. In the second, recorded after the FBI had linked his fingerprint to the nuns' van, Colindres Aleman claimed that he might have touched the van in the airport parking lot and again denied his guilt. Major Zepeda also interviewed Guardsman Moreno Canjura, who blandly claimed that his rifle could not have been involved in the murder because he had possessed it continuously and he had not been involved in the murder.[92/]

On July 1, 1981, Major Zepeda submitted a second report to Colonel Vides Casanova.[93/] He still concluded that he could not determine the guilt of the guardsmen because of the "difficulty" in resolving a case so "delicate." He concluded that only the civilian courts could make a determination of guilt and that he had exhausted the resources at his disposal. Other than Major Zepeda's meager efforts, Salvadoran attempts to investigate and prosecute the guardsmen were virtually nonexistent throughout the summer and fall of 1981.

C. The Medrano Working Group

By the fall of 1981, the United States Embassy recognized that the Salvadoran authorities were evidently content to let the defendants remain in prison while doing nothing to prosecute the crime. The Embassy determined to press all the harder for a serious investigation, which, for political reasons, would have to come under the aegis of the Monterrosa Commission.

On December 4, 1981, the Commission agreed to the appointment of a working group, composed of professional investigators and backed by technical assistance from the United States, to conduct the investigation.[94] On December 7, 1981, the Fiscal General (the chief Salvadoran prosecutor) and his deputy agreed to this concept as well.[95] The working group was formally established on December 9 by order of Colonel Vides Casanova.[96] National Guard Major Jose Adolfo Medrano was appointed to head the group.

The work of the Medrano working group is one of the encouraging chapters in the Salvadoran handling of the churchwomen murders case. It stands in sharp contrast to the previous two investigations described herein, and was pursued with thoroughness and persistence. The Medrano working group was the first successful attempt by an agency of the Salvadoran government to investigate the murders in a systematic and determined way. In two months time, the working group, under the able leadership of Major Medrano, was able to question more than a dozen important witnesses, gain a confession, and gather valuable physical evidence.

One of the reasons the Medrano working group was so successful was that, with its establishment, ongoing technical assistance was provided by the FBI at every step. Similarly, Embassy personnel were present for every session of the Medrano working group. Thus, the Medrano working group became an organized, joint effort by Major Medrano of the National Guard, detectives of the National Police, the FBI Regional legal attache and his FBI colleagues who appeared from time to time to carry out special activities such as polygraphing, ballistics, or fingerprint analysis, and representatives from the United States Embassy. Representatives from the office of the Fiscal General also participated in working group sessions.

Within days of his appointment on December 9, 1981, Major Medrano had interviewed two of the airport fuel workers who were on duty on the day of the murders concerning the dispensing of airplane fuel possibly used by the guardsmen in their jeep;[97] Jose Vidal Cruz Piche, one of the guardsmen stationed at the airport;[98] the four guards of Hector Herrera's estate, who witnessed the van passing back and forth to the murder site that evening[99] and Jose Luis Monterrosa, another guardsman stationed at the airport.[100] These interviews were crucial to the case. They provided the first public evidence of the facts surrounding the crime.

The first important break for Major Medrano was his interview on December 11 of Guardsman Cruz Piche.[101] Cruz Piche, whom Major Medrano had known previously[102] and who apparently felt comfortable with the investigator, confided that on the night of the murders he had seen Colindres Aleman, Contreras Recinos, Moreno Canjura, Canales Ramirez, and two others depart the airport in the post's Toyota jeep shortly after 7:00 p.m., passing through the checkpoint where Cruz Piche was stationed with Guardsmen Luis Monterrosa and Cornejo Cubas. Cruz Piche said that when he returned to the detachment headquarters at the end of his tour, he found that the six who had left earlier were drunk and appeared nervous.[103]

Medrano reinterviewed Guardsman Cruz Piche on December 15, 1981.[104] Cruz Piche amplified his previous statement, saying that Subsergeant Colindres Aleman ordered Guardsman Perez Nieto to remain at the checkpoint to detain all airport traffic for the next ten minutes, and that Perez Nieto had allowed a white microbus to pass without inspection. Cruz Piche reported that he later overheard Colindres Aleman say "What's done is done," and, "If fate is against us, we will have to pay," or words to that effect. This testimony was the first public revelation that Colindres Aleman had ever acknowledged his guilt.

Guardsman Cruz Piche also testified that three days later he heard a guardsman say that he had been told by guardsmen who had accompanied Colindres Aleman that the victims were "subversive nuns," that "we took subversive propaganda from them," and that another guardsman had somehow obtained 5,000 dollars or colones. He said that eight days later he saw Subsergeant Colindres Aleman selling ladies' watches in the airport area.

Guardsman Jose Luis Monterrosa confirmed Cruz Piche's statement to the Medrano group and named the six guardsmen he saw depart the airport: Colindres Aleman, Jose Elias Sanchez, Francisco Orlando Contreras Recinos, Jose Roberto Moreno Canjura, Adrian Ramirez, and Daniel Canales Ramirez.[105] Two days after the murders, Luis Monterrosa saw Colindres Aleman with a large amount of money purchasing a television set, furniture, and other items, as well as selling a tape recorder, watches, rings, and eyeglasses. Luis Monterrosa testified that he overheard guardsmen say that "they were subversive nuns and had subversive propaganda," and that Colindres Aleman said "It happened today: if our turn comes up, we'll have to pay for it."

During this period the Medrano group also took statements of Luis Napoleon Cornejo Cubas, the third guardsman at the airport checkpoint, Corporal Isabel Aquino Giron, the deputy commander of the airport National Guard detachment, and Guardsman Perez Nieto, who had been on patrol at the terminal and had spotted the nuns. Taken together, the statements significantly tightened the chain of evidence of guilt and provided a fairly complete picture of the events of December 2, 1980.

In his December 17, 1981 statement,[106] airport Guardsman Luis Napoleon Cornjeo Cubas confirmed the statements of Guardsman Cruz Piche and Luis Monterrosa, and revealed that he had learned that on the night of the murders Colindres Aleman brought back a spare tire, which a few days later he gave to a friend at the nearby "Macondo" cotton plantation. He also saw Colindres Aleman and his five companions burn women's clothing behind the National Guard command post several days after the killings.

Corporal Giron testified that about 5:30 p.m., he overheard Subsergeant Colindres Aleman talking by telephone with Perez Nieto, who was in the airport terminal.[107] Thereafter, Giron swore, Colindres Aleman ordered five guardsmen to dress in civilian clothes, and they departed with him in the detachment jeep at about 7:00 p.m. Giron testified that later that evening he received a telephone call from Colindres Aleman, asking for a replacement vehicle. Giron borrowed a blue pickup truck and a driver from the commander of the airport Customs Police, and directed the driver to proceed to El Rosario La Paz to meet Colindres Aleman.

Giron further stated that he saw the pickup truck return with the guardsmen shortly before midnight, observed the guardsmen remove a tire and several cartons from the truck, and later heard that Subsergeant Colindres Aleman took the tire to a friend at the "Macondo" cotton plantation the next day. Finally, Giron said that on or about December 7, 1980, Colindres Aleman told him that "they were subversive women. I do not think there will be a problem.". This implicit acknowledgment of guilt by Colindres Aleman constitutes his third extrajudicial confession in the record.

On December 22, 1981, Margarito Perez Nieto, the guardsman on patrol in front of the airport terminal who had identified the nuns, gave a deceptive statement.[108] Although Perez Nieto acknowledged reporting to Subsergeant Colindres Aleman that two "suspicious looking foreign women were in the airport terminal," he claimed that Colindres Aleman only ordered him to go to the checkpoint to search all out-going traffic, which he claimed he did for five or ten minutes without singling out any particular vehicle. He stated that one of the three white vans he remembered seeing may have been driven by one of the women he had seen earlier in the terminal. At this initial interview, Perez Nieto failed to reveal that he had seen Colindres Aleman depart with five other guardsmen in civilian clothes to stop the white van. He likewise only obscurely alluded to Colindres Aleman's instructions to him to hold all traffic except for the white van, and his compliance with those instructions.

On December 23, the Medrano working group interviewed the airport Customs commander.[109] He corroborated Corporal Giron's statement that at about 11:00 p.m. the night of the murders, Giron asked him to loan the Customs Police vehicle in order to pick up Colindres Aleman and the others. He said that he sent his vehicle and driver to get the guardsmen and that his driver later informed him that the guardsmen had put bloodstained women's clothing in the truck. The following day, Christmas Eve, the Medrano group interviewed Mariana Realejeno, the maid at the National Guard airport barracks,[110] who testified that in late December, 1980, a guardsman gave her a woman's skirt as a gift.

Early in January, 1982, the Medrano working group interviewed Victor Melgar Garay, the Customs Police duty driver who had picked up the group of guardsmen in El Rosario La Paz on the night of the murders.[111] Melgar Garay described the unloading and burning of the white microbus on the highway to La Libertad, and testified that he had been warned to keep silent about what he had seen. In the same period, the Medrano group began to amass the physical evidence that linked the six guardsmen to the crime. The wheel, tire, and jack stolen from the church-women's van were recovered by the working group from the nearby plantation where they had been taken by Colindres Aleman.[112]

The working group interviewed Adrian Ramirez Palacios and Jose Elias Sanchez Guzman, guardsmen detained together with the killers, on January 11 and 12, 1982. Each confirmed that he had seen Subsergeant Colindres Aleman and his group depart from the airport on the night of December 2, 1980, and that Colindres Aleman had later possessed personal articles from the van.[113]

Sanchez Guzman added critical incriminating statements he had heard from the defendants during his period of incarceration with them.[114] He stated that while in prison Guardsman Moreno Canjura had admitted that after the women were shot, Moreno Canjura saw that one of them was still alive and that he had used his own rifle to kill her. Sanchez Guzman swore as well that he and Ramirez Palacios were threatened by the defendants that they would be killed if they talked about the case after they were released. Finally, Sanchez Guzman provided an important clarification about the culpability of Guardsman Rivera Franco, which later enabled the prosecution to use Rivera Franco as a witness against the killers: although Rivera Franco had participated in the kidnapping of the women, he was not one of the killers; he had stayed behind with the disabled jeep at Rosario La Paz.

The various witnesses' statements had regularly identified one guardsmen not in custody, Carlos Joaquin Contreras Palacios, as among the six men who had abducted the churchwomen and, at the same time, had generally omitted mention of one guardsmen in custody, Adrian Ramirez Palacios. This evidence, together with the similarity in names, led the working group to conclude by late December that Ramirez Palacios was not involved in the murders.[115] During the first week in January, 1982 the Medrano working group had located Contreras Palacios for questioning.[116]

On January 14, 1982, the working group received a major break: Contreras Palacios confessed to his participation in the murders.[117] Because Contreras Palacios had been belatedly identified and had not been incarcerated with the other five defendants, he apparently had not been subject to group pressure to present a joint alibi. Rather, remorseful over having raped and murdered women who he later learned were nuns, Contreras Palacios, when apprehended, provided the first participant account of the crime.

Under Salvadoran law (common in many civil law countries), the testimony of a participant in the crime cannot be used against the others.[118] Thus, Contreras Palacios' confession was, technically, admissible only against him. It was significant nonetheless. First, it provided full corroboration of the evidence initially provided by the special Embassy evidence and thereafter painstakingly developed by the FBI and the Medrano working group. Second, the confession would be admissible against Contreras Palacios at the joint trial of all the defendants.

Thus, although it was technically of limited admissibility, it would still have a significant psychological effect on the jurors, assuring them of the defendants' guilt.

Contreras Palacios swore that he and the others, dressed in civilian clothes, left the airport command post at 7:00 p.m., and stopped and searched the churchwomen's van about a half mile from the airport.[119] He said that they then drove with the van towards El Rosario La Paz, but that they had engine trouble with the jeep, forcing them to leave it in El Rosario, with a guardsman (Rivera Franco) to safeguard it. Thereafter, they drove to a deserted spot several miles southwest of San Pedro Nonualco, where Colindres Aleman ordered them to stop and the churchwomen to get out.

The guardsmen proceeded to rape the women and then, at Colindres Aleman's orders, shot and killed them. They then returned to El Rosario, picked up the guardsman left there, and drove down the coastal highway, where they burned the van. Contreras Palacios stated that he did not know of any other orders that the women be killed and that only Colindres Aleman ordered them to kill the "subversive" nuns. (When Contreras Palacios was reinterviewed, partially at our suggestion, in October, 1983, he altered this last testimony and claimed that Colindres Aleman told him he had been ordered to kill the women, but that Colindres regularly used such explanations to justify his orders.)

On the same day that the working group obtained Contreras Palacios' confession, it began the process of administering polygraph examinations to the suspects. Although polygraph evidence is inadmissible in El Salvador, as it is in the United States, the working group recognized, at the urging of United States representatives, that the skilled use of the polygraph can be an important investigative tool. It can provide a basis for evaluating the credibility of witnesses. More importantly, many a witness, confronted with an impending polygraph examination or the fact that he has failed one, decides to tell the truth. This happened three times during the course of the polygraph examinations in this case, all of which were administered by an experienced Spanish speaking FBI polygrapher.

Three of the suspects did not alter their testimony concerning the murders either before or after the polygraph exam: Guardsman Francisco Orlando Contreras Recinos,[120/] Guardsman Daniel Canales Ramirez[121/] and Guardsman Jose Roberto Moreno Canjura.[122/] Nonetheless, the FBI polygrapher concluded that all three--and a fourth, Subsergeant Colindres Aleman[123/]--were lying when they denied involvement in the crime. During the polygraph examination, Colindres Aleman was also asked whether he had been ordered by anyone to commit the crime. Significantly, the polygrapher concluded that his denial of receiving higher orders was truthful.[124/]

Although Subsergeant Colindres Aleman did not confess during the course of his polygraph examination, he did alter his previous testimony in an incriminating way.[125/] Prior to the polygraph examination, Colindres Aleman had consistently claimed that he and his men were on duty at the airport on the night of December 2. During the course of the pre-examination interview, Colindres Aleman altered his testimony to concede significant incriminating details. For the first time, Colindres Aleman admitted receiving a telephone call from Perez Nieto at about 3:00 p.m. on December 2, 1980, reporting two suspicious persons at the airport, thus conceding he was on notice of the churchwomen's presence at the airport.

Subsergeant Colindres Aleman also altered his testimony to link all the suspects together. He admitted that at about 7:00 p.m. he ordered Francisco Orlando Contreras Recinos, Daniel Canales Ramirez, Carlos Joaquin Contreras Palacios, Salvador Rivera Franco and Jose Roberto Moreno Canjura, the remaining suspects, to change into civilian clothes so that they could all drive into El Rosario La Paz. Despite this critical concession, Colindres Aleman claimed that the purpose of the trip was only to get gas for the unit stove, and that they returned at about 10:00 p.m.

Margarito Perez Nieto, the airport guardsman who called Subsergeant Colindres Aleman to report to him the movements of the churchwomen from the airport, had significantly understated his knowledge at his initial interview.

In January, 1982 he took and failed a polygraph, and then elected to tell the truth.[126] On January 15, 1982 Perez Nieto confessed that he had been ordered by Subsergeant Colindres Aleman to allow the churchwomen's van to pass through the checkpoint, and that he had done so. He added that he had had no previous instructions to look for the churchwomen at the airport and that he was unaware of any such instructions to anyone in the National Guard unit at the airport.

Salvador Rivera Franco, the guardsman who accompanied Subsergeant Colindres Aleman and the churchwomen to El Rosario La Paz, where he remained behind to guard the jeep, also provided significant additional information upon being confronted with the polygraph.[127] Initially, Rivera Franco had offered no useful evidence in the investigation. At the commencement of the polygraph session, however, Rivera Franco indicated that he wished to make a statement, and did so. Rivera Franco thereupon identified the guardsmen who had accompanied Colindres Aleman and the nuns from the airport access road; described the search of the churchwomen's van on the airport access road; described the return from El Rosario La Paz after the murders along the coastal road to the spot where the van was burned; and stated that several of the suspects had confessed to him that they had killed the women.

Finally, a polygraph examination helped to exonerate another of the earlier accused, Guardsman Jose Elias Sanchez Guzman. Like Ramirez Palacios, he had been imprisoned as one of the original six accused, but then was released upon the development of exonerating evidence, including the confession of Contreras Palacios and the statements of various witnesses excluding Sanchez Guzman from the group of six guardsmen who had abducted the women. As a final test, Sanchez Guzman was submitted to a polygraph examination, which he passed. Thereupon, the working group concluded that his continued denial of participation in the murders was truthful.[128]

On February 9, 1982, the Medrano working group having completed its activities, Major Medrano forwarded the investigative file to General Vides Casanova.[129] General Vides Casanova, in turn, forwarded the file, with the jack, tire, and skirt seized during the investigation, to the First Penal Judge in Zacatecoluca on February 10. At the same time, he consigned to the court Colindres Aleman, Contreras Recinos, Moreno Canjura, Contreras Palacios, Canales Ramirez and Rivera Franco, stating that they had been discharged from the National Guard and arrested for their participation in the deaths of the four churchwomen.[130]

D. The Civil Investigation

The evidence assembled by the Medrano working group remains the principal evidence of the defendants' guilt. Nonetheless, as the civil authorities created their own record to support the prosecution during the ensuing months, several significant pieces of additional evidence were developed.

Perhaps most important of these was the evidence of Subsergeant Colindres Aleman's confession to his superior, Sergeant Dagoberto Martinez. The special Embassy evidence identified Sergeant Martinez in 1981 as one to whom Colindres Aleman had confided his guilt. By January, 1982, Martinez was living in Los Angeles, having left El Salvador and the National Guard in January, 1981. He was located there and interviewed by the FBI, but he denied any knowledge whatsoever about the events of the murder.[131/]

When the FBI reported these results back to El Salvador, Embassy officials knowledgeable about the special Embassy evidence were unsatisfied. They suggested that the FBI reinterview Sergeant Martinez with the assistance of a polygraph examination.[132/] Once again, the threat of the lie detector provoked a change in testimony. Faced with the test, Martinez confessed that, shortly after the killings and during a meeting of the National Guard called by Colonel Vides Casanova to ask whether any guardsmen were responsible, Subsergeant Colindres Aleman approached Martinez and conceded that he was responsible for the "problem regarding the nuns."[133/] Martinez explained that he had advised Colindres Aleman to keep that information to himself for the moment, but to confess it to the Director of the National Guard in accord with the Director's request.

Another significant piece of additional evidence was obtained in July, 1983. Judge Rauda had refused, under Salvadoran law, to admit into the trial record evidence obtained outside the territorial boundaries of El Salvador or outside his supervision.[134/] For this reason, he rejected the admissibility of both the ballistics and fingerprint evidence obtained by the FBI. As the case was readied for trial in the summer of 1983, and in part at our suggestion, the FBI agreed to transport its ballistics equipment to El Salvador and train a Salvadoran national in the testing process.[135/] When this was done, Judge Rauda was able to produce two more weapons, previously unknown, attributable to the defendants. The ballistics test linked one of these newly discovered weapons, that of Contreras Palacios, to the crime, thereby providing another direct link between the defendants and the murder.[136/]

Unfortunately, it was impossible to replicate the fingerprint evidence linking Subsergeant Colindres Aleman to the nuns' van. The original fingerprint had been obtained by an FBI technician in December, 1980, shortly after the killings, and processed in Washington.[137/] According to Judge Rauda, it was inadmissible for two reasons: (1) the fingerprint had been taken from the van without the authority of the investigating judge; and (2) it had been analyzed by a non-Salvadoran.[138/] In 1983, an effort was made to duplicate the process in an admissible fashion.[139] The Salvadoran authorities had done nothing, however, to preserve the van and, not surprisingly, the fingerprint could no longer be located some two and one-half years later.

During our trip to El Salvador, we attempted to explore ways in which the fingerprint obtained by the FBI could nonetheless be used. Both the prosecutors and private attorneys retained by the Embassy persuaded us that the fingerprint would not be admitted during the investigatory stage of the proceedings.[140] It is possible, however, as we shall explain below, that the fingerprint could nonetheless be used in the argument section of the trial, when otherwise inadmissible evidence may be presented to the jury.

III. INVOLVEMENT OF HIGHER AUTHORITIES

Since the day the bodies of the churchwomen were found, there has been a widely held suspicion, at least in the United States, that higher officers in the Salvadoran security forces were involved in the murders. Indeed, at the outset of our mission, we shared that suspicion. We frankly doubted that an enlisted National Guard member would have undertaken on his own initiative the rape and murder of four North American women, even in a society as violent as El Salvador. For this reason, we considered it an important part of our mission to do what we could to help resolve the question. The Salvadorans had done little to address it directly. It had taken enough American effort simply to persuade the prosecutors to pursue the murders themselves, and we saw little hope that a full-fledged investigation of possible higher involvement would ever be undertaken, at least absent concrete evidence of the sort used to force the investigation of Subsergeant Colindres Aleman and guardsmen under his command.

We resolved, therefore, to do what we could to urge the prosecuting authorities to gather evidence relevant to the question of higher involvement, while at the same time carefully reviewing the evidence available to us in an attempt to resolve the question for ourselves. In particular, we wished the Salvadorans to reinterview guardsmen Perez Nieto and Contreras Palacios. Perez Nieto had first spotted the churchwomen at the airport and his conversations with Colindres Aleman apparently led to their abduction. We did not believe he had been sufficiently questioned about these subjects. We hoped that new questioning would illuminate Colindres Aleman's specific motivation. Unfortunately, we learned that, after giving his statement to Judge Rauda, Perez Nieto had been reported missing in action since January, 1983.[141]

We asked that Contreras Palacios be reinterviewed because, as the sole confessing guardsman, he was in a position to shed light about what, if anything, Colindres-Aleman had said about his orders, a subject on which we believed Contreras Palacios had been insufficiently questioned earlier. Contreras Palacios did give new testimony in which he expanded, and contradicted, his earlier testimony by stating that Colindres Aleman had indeed claimed, in directing the guardsmen to kill the women, that the orders came from higher up.[142/] Contreras Palacios added that Colindres Aleman regularly used this sort of justification with his troops. For reasons set out below, we ultimately discounted the significance of this testimony, but it served further to underscore the importance of a resolution of the higher-up question.

El Salvador: Human Rights Special Project (1993)

We also asked the Salvadoran authorities to investigate links between the killers and security forces in Chalatenango and La Libertad, where the churchwomen had lived and worked. We sought to clarify, to the extent possible, whether any of the defendants had contacts with those cities that would suggest their participation in a conspiracy to murder, or whether officers in those cities had had contacts with the airport that would suggest the same. At the same time, we asked that fingerprints of guardsmen in Chalatenango be obtained so that they could be compared with fingerprints found on documents that threatened the churchwomen in Chalatenago. Although fingerprints have now been obtained from the security forces commanders at Chalatenango and analyzed without positive results, to the best of our knowledge, other security forces personnel stationed there have yet to be fingerprinted.

Thus, the record from which we have had to work is not as complete as we would have liked, or as would have been assembled for a comparable murder investigation in the United States. Nonetheless, we deem the issue too important to leave without discussion. We have undertaken to weigh the evidence available to us as best we can. We have analyzed the testimony of the witnesses and the circumstances under which the testimony was taken. We have made judgments about the credibility of particular witnesses. We have applied our various experiences as prosecutors and judge to the facts of this case. And, contrary to our initial supposition, we have concluded that, from the evidence now available to us, it is unlikely that Subsergeant Colindres Aleman received higher orders to commit this crime. We believe that he acted on his own initiative.

An analysis of the higher orders question begins with a definition of terms. In the broadest sense, higher orders could simply mean an understanding among the security forces in El Salvador, fostered by their superiors, that crimes of violence, no matter how outrageous or unjustified, would not be prosecuted. We do not believe that is what concerns those who believe Subsergeant Colindres Aleman was ordered to commit this crime. Nonetheless, the existence of

El Salvador: Human Rights Special Project (1993)

RELEASED

this atmosphere is important in resolving the more particular question, for it is clear to us that in El Salvador in 1980, and perhaps still today, there was a general tolerance of crimes of violence by the military. At the time of this crime, so far as we are aware, few, if any, national guardsmen had ever been civilly prosecuted for murder, even though estimates of murdered civilians ran up to 40,000, many allegedly at the hands of the military. Thus, we conclude that officers of the Salvadoran military forces, whether by direction, inactivity or tolerance, encouraged the notion that their troops were above the law.

This brings us to the more direct higher-up questions. Did some higher officer (or officers) order Subsergeant Colindres Aleman to murder the women he had abducted at the El Salvador airport, either after hearing of Guardsman Perez Nieto's suspicions or because he had previously planned to murder some or all of the women, knowing that they would be at the airport on the night of December 2?

The most direct evidence that some higher officer ordered the killing comes from the statements of Guardsmen Contreras Palacios and Valle Espinosa. Contreras Palacios has testified in his second interview that, in directing the guardsmen to shoot the women, Subsergeant Colindres Aleman said he was doing so because of superior orders.[143/] In addition, Valle Espinosa has testified that Colindres Aleman said substantially the same in ordering him to participate in the roadblock.[144/]

In addition to the direct testimony of Contreras Palacios and Valle Espinosa, there is certain circumstantial evidence as well. To some American observers at least, it seems unlikely that Subsergeant Colindres Aleman would abandon his duty post at the airport, together with five of his troops, unless he had authorization to do so. More generally, there is evidence of hostility between the military and the church in El Salvador and, in particular, between the military and church workers in Chalatenango. Our interviews with Salvadoran officers reinforced this conclusion; their animosity towards the church was obvious. Colonel Monterrosa was perhaps most blunt. He openly speculated that the churchwomen were probably subversives, and that the military might well have wished them dead.[145/]

This hostility manifested itself directly with respect to churchworkers in Chalatenango, where Sisters Ford and Clarke were based. Military personnel stationed there regularly harassed churchworkers by, for example, blocking entry to the church with their cars and haranguing them about their alleged subversive activities.[146/] By the fall of 1980, this hostility had become even more threatening.

In November, 1980, a sign was posted on the parish door in Chalatenango that could be read to threaten the lives of those working with the church there.[147/] On December 2, the day of the murders, Father Efrain Lopez, the parish priest in Chalatenango, reportedly received a letter

El Salvador: Human Rights Special Project (1993)

threatening those working for the church in Chalatenango.[148] Later on December 2, the sacristan of the Chalatenango church allegedly was approached and shown a list of people to be killed that included the names of Sisters Ford and Clarke.[149]

Moreover, a possible opportunity existed for the military to learn that the churchwomen would be at the airport on December 2. In November, 1980, Maryknoll nun Madeline Dorsey sent a telegram to Sister Ita Ford describing her travel plans to the Managua Conference and suggesting that Sisters Ford and Clarke return with her to El Salvador on December 2.[150] If the telegram were intercepted by Salvadoran intelligence officers, the possibility existed for arranging an ambush.

Ominous though the above recital may sound, it is nonetheless quite a ways distant from direct proof of higher involvement. More importantly, upon analysis, we believe some of this evidence is more ambiguous than it may seem, and supports the theory that Subsergeant Colindres Aleman acted on his own initiative as readily as the theory that he received higher orders. The remaining evidence, we believe, is both of dubious probative value and substantially outweighed by the evidence inclining against higher involvement.

First, we believe the testimony of Guardsman Contreras Palacios and Valle Espinosa to be, upon analysis, neutral. Although both have testified that, in the course of ordering them to participate, Subsergeant Colindres Aleman told them that he had "superior orders" and although we have no reason to disbelieve this testimony, it is not conclusive of anything. It would not be surprising if a non-commissioned guardsman of inferior rank like Colindres Aleman used the guise of "superior orders" to motivate his troops, whether he had such orders or not, particularly when asking his men to commit a blatantly illegal act. Indeed, Contreras Palacios's own statement supports this conclusion. He observed that Colindres Aleman regularly justified his orders on such a basis, and speculated that Colindres Aleman had done so this time so that he would not have to bear the full responsibility for his order. Thus, the testimony of Contreras Palacios and Valle Espinosa does not necessarily support an inference either way.

We also conclude that the general animosity between the church and the military does not necessarily support a conclusion of higher-up involvement. The belief, tolerated and even encouraged by officers of the security forces, that the Church and its workers were subversive could well lead lower-ranking soldiers to believe that church workers were fair game for harassment or worse. Thus, we believe the animosity serves as well to explain Colindres Aleman's own motives for the crimes--and his own belief that his acts were justified--as it does to suggest that his superiors were necessarily involved.

Colindres Aleman's willingness to abandon his airport post also does not support an inference either way. His action was, we believe, consistent with the structure within the National Guard at the time. As we learned in the course of our mission, Subsergeant Colindres Aleman had wide latitude in the daily functions of the unit he commanded.[151/] His superiors visited his post only occasionally, and this lack of command control was and is a major concern of the Salvadoran high command. Until recently, the number of officers was quite low in proportion to the number of posts and guardsmen to supervise.[152/] Moreover, transportation and communication facilities were limited, making it difficult for officers to control men in the field.

We also do not accord much weight to Sister Dorsey's telegram as providing an opportunity for the military to learn about the churchwomen's travel plans. As we learned, the intelligence network in El Salvador is quite primitive.[153/] There is no reason to believe that the telegram was intercepted and, if it had been, we doubt that it would have been read by anyone with a particular interest in Sisters Ford and Clarke. Moreover, even if the telegram were intercepted and routed to a person interested in securing the demise of the nuns, the telegram did no more than suggest that they travel on December 2. It was, it seems to us, an insufficient basis on which to construct a plan to abduct and murder the women.

Finally, we conclude that there is no likely connection between the Chalatenango death threats and the murders. The threats were not directed at Sisters Clarke and Ford in particular, and thus suggest no reason why those nuns would be singled out for detention and murder at the airport, some distance from Chalatenango. Moreover, if the threats were serious, we see no reason why they would not have been implemented in Chalatenango--where they would have the maximum deterent effect on the local church workers--rather than in another, far away part of the country. Implementing the threats in a distant military district would have required a level of coordination and cooperation that we have neither observed nor understood to be present in the Salvadoran security forces. At the same time, if such coordination were arranged, it would have necessarily involved additional guardsmen in the killings and thus needlessly increased the chances that the conspirators would be exposed.

If the threats were causally connected with the killings, Subsergeant Colindres Aleman would necessarily have had to be on the alert for the churchwomen. The evidence of Perez Nieto, which we credit and discuss further below, however, demonstrates that Colindres Aleman was not anticipating the arrival of the churchwomen. Finally, in our experience, death threats rarely lead so directly to murder, at least without their authors leaving sufficient time for the threat to have its desired intimidating effect.

If the authors of the death threats truly intended immediately to kill the churchwomen, there was no reason to issue the threats.

In sum, much of the evidence allegedly supporting higher involvement in the murder is, in our view, actually neutral and supports either conclusion. The remaining evidence is of dubious probative value. More importantly, however, there is substantial evidence that, we believe, points the other way.

First, there is the evidence of Subsergeant Colindres Aleman's behavior during the crime itself. In this regard, the testimony of Perez Nieto, the airport guard, is crucial. As an initial matter, we regard his testimony as truthful because of the manner in which it was given: an initial deception, followed by significant revelations after failing a polygraph examination. If truthful, his testimony is inconsistent with higher orders. Were there a prearranged plan to abduct the women, it is inconceivable to us that Colindres Aleman would not have warned Perez Nieto to be on the alert for them. Not only did Perez Nieto affirmatively deny any such orders, but he also simultaneously provided a plausible and independent explanation for why the churchwomen were stopped: because he believed they were suspicious. Perez Nieto's report to Colindres Aleman of his suspicions is likewise inconsistent with higher orders. If Colindres Aleman in fact were awaiting the arrival of the women, but for some reason had neglected to warn Perez Nieto of that fact; Perez Nieto's report of their arrival would likely have provoked a more forthcoming response than merely "be careful."

Second, Subsergeant Colindres Aleman's statements to his colleagues after the murder are, in our view, inconsistent with higher involvement. The premise for this conclusion is that, if he had been ordered to commit the crime, Colindres Aleman would have felt secure thereafter that his actions would be protected from prosecution. His statements following the crime show no such security. On December 4, 1980, Colindres Aleman told Cruz Piche that "what's done is done" and "if fate is against us, we will have to pay,"[154/] or words to that effect. On December 5, 1980, Colindres Aleman told Guardsman Luis Monterrosa "if our turn comes up, we will have to pay for it."[155/] On December 7, 1980, Colindres Aleman told Corporal Giron that "they were subversive women. I don't believe there will be any problem."[156/] These are not the words of a felon secure in the protection of his patrons. If he acted at the order of superiors, Colindres Aleman would, we believe, not have been so concerned about "fate," having to "pay," or whether he would have a "problem."

Third, Colindres Aleman's confession to Sergeant Dagoberto Martinez is inconsistent with the view that superiors were involved. If Colindres Aleman were ordered

DECLASSIFIED

El Salvador: Human Rights Special Project (1993)

RELEASED

to kill the women by a superior, there was simply no reason for him apprehensively to confess his guilt to his immediate supervisor, a sergeant. Or, if he had felt the need to confess, we believe it likely that he would have explained that the "problem" he had created was ordered from above. In making this analysis, like our analysis of Perez Nieto's evidence, we necessarily treat as credible Sergeant Dagoberto Martinez's testimony, and for like reasons.

Fourth, the information obtained from the special Embassy evidence is consistent with the information from Sergeant Dagoberto Martinez. According to the special Embassy information, Subsergeant Colindres Aleman confessed his guilt to Major Zepeda without implicating any higher-ups. This, again, does not seem to us to be a likely course of events if Colindres Aleman's superiors were in fact involved. More definitively, the special Embassy evidence also provided direct proof, which unfortunately we are unable to reveal without endangering lives, that Colindres Aleman has conceded acting on his own.

Fifth, the evidence of the Zepeda/Monterrosa cover-up, which we have outlined above, shows, we think, a clear attempt to cover up a crime committed by lower-ranking soldiers, and no effort that we can discern to prevent the identification of higher-ups.

Sixth, we are convinced that, in light of all the evidence, the polygraph results are worth crediting.

Subsergeant Colindres Aleman was asked directly, during his polygraph exam, whether the assault had been ordered from above. The polygraph examiner deemed his denial to be truthful. Some critics have suggested that the question was too narrowly phrased to encompass all possible higher orders. After review of the question and careful questioning of the polygrapher, we conclude this criticism is not well-founded. During the pre-examination interview, Colindres Aleman was clearly informed of the scope of the question and, as we understand it, would have indicated an emotional response to the question if there had been any such orders, even if the question were inartfully put.[157]

Taken as a whole, we think the evidence of lack of higher involvement is persuasive and the evidence to the contrary largely, if not entirely, speculative. As we noted at the outset, the investigation of this question has not been commensurate with its importance, and all the facts are not known. We welcome the development of further information on this important issue, and would view new evidence with an open mind. Nonetheless, we believe it would be a disservice not to record here our view, based on the evidence now available, that Subsergeant Colindres Aleman acted at his own initiative.

Before we leave the subject of the involvement of others, we should note that there is some indication in the special Embassy evidence that Colindres Aleman may have had

DECLASSIFIED

El Salvador: Human Rights Special Project (1993)

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights Special Project (1993)

communications about the churchwomen with the National Police in La Libertad at some point prior to the murders. This evidence suggested not that higher-ups in La Libertad had ordered the killings, but rather that the police in La Libertad had advised Subsergeant Colindres Aleman of some of the churchwomen's involvement in alleged "subversive" activities.

We have done what we could, with the limited resources available to us, to verify this allegation. We have found nothing to confirm it, and some evidence to refute it. In particular, the special Embassy evidence contains an unsubstantiated suggestion that the churchwomen might have been previously arrested by the National Police. All those who worked with Ms. Donovan and Sister Kazel in the period prior to their murder, and who would have known of such an arrest, denied to us that any such event had occurred.[158/] Thus, we record some reason to doubt the allegation, but cannot consider it disprpved. Nonetheless, from all the evidence known to us, if such a communication occurred, it would have been in the course of an exchange of intelligence information and would not have amounted to orders--higher or otherwise--to kill the women.

IV. FALSE LEADS

We believe that in the course of the investigations described above a coherent picture has emerged of the events of the night of December 2, 1980. Even so, in virtually every investigation, and particularly in a well-publicized one such as this, a substantial number of leads, tips, rumors, and apparent facts arise that must be explored, even though the vast majority turn out to be immaterial, incapable of confirmation or refutation, or simply wrong. These are the proverbial "red herrings."

The investigations of the churchwomen's murders have grown their own crop of these issues. Many questions have been resolved by the Salvadoran investigations, with the assistance of the United States Government. Others may be explained by this report. A few undoubtedly will never be explained. In order to reach the conclusions set forth in the preceding sections, we have had to analyze each such false lead as completely as possible. We discuss them below in light of the available evidence.

A. Thomas Bracken

On December 17, 1980, Thomas N. Bracken, a United States citizen, was killed in a shoot-out in the streets of San Salvador. Just one week prior, on December 11, 1980, Bracken had gone to the United States Embassy in San Salvador to offer information about the churchwomen murders. The proximity of the two events has caused some speculation as to whether Bracken's appearance at the Embassy and his subsequent murder were causally connected.

DECLASSIFIED

El Salvador: Human Rights Special Project (1993)

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights Special Project (1993)

We have found no such connection. Bracken was interviewed at the Embassy prior to his death, and had no specific evidence concerning the crimes.[159] He offered the theory that the murders had been committed by a right-wing splinter group, but had no evidence to support the charge. Bracken's stated purpose in coming forward was to trade his vague rumors for dismissal of a criminal warrant outstanding against him in El Paso, Texas. It seems to us clear that his offer of information was merely the act of a desperate man trying to find a way to return to the United States.

An inventory of Bracken's quarters, after his death, revealed twenty-five molotov cocktails, wiretapping equipment, handguns, ammunition and military manuals. He had told the Embassy that he was employed as an instructor for the Salvadoran National Police. It was in this capacity that he appears to have met his death. Bracken accompanied several National Police officers who were chasing armed suspects and, in the process of attempting to make the apprehension, was shot dead by one or more of the suspects. In turn, the National Police shot and killed two of the suspects.[160] Based on these facts, we find no connection between Bracken's contact with the Embassy and his death.

B. The Canadians

A group of six Canadians together with a Salvadoran priest, Father Britto, was stopped at a military checkpoint outside the San Salvador International Airport on December 2, 1980, between about 6:30 p.m. and 7:00 p.m. Because they provided the first evidence of military activity around the airport, their testimony and the interpretation of the guardsmen were initially thought to be significant. We conclude that their evidence is of little consequence to an understanding of the facts.

The Canadians came to El Salvador to attend the FDR funerals to be held on December 3. At the airport, they met briefly with Sister Kazel and Ms. Donovan, who were awaiting the arrival of Sisters Ford and Clarke. The Canadians then left the terminal, before the arrival of Sisters Ford and Clarke, with Father Britto and the others from the Archdiocese, and an American, Heather Foote, to whom they offered a ride.[162]

Down the road from the airport, near a traffic control post, they were stopped by several uniformed, armed guardsmen, who briefly questioned them and searched the vehicles.[163] Because the guardsmen were in uniform, it is fairly certain that they were not Subsergeant Colindres Aleman and his civilian-attired accomplices. Likewise, because the stop occurred prior to the arrival of Sisters Ford and Clarke and before Colindres Aleman's orders were issued to stop traffic at the checkpoint (except for the white van) the stop was not connected with the abduction of the churchwomen. Rather, we conclude that the stop was one

SECRET

undertaken by guardsmen at the traffic control checkpoint, consistent with the heightened tension in the area on the night prior to the FDR funerals. It otherwise has no significance to this case.

C. The Hacienda Police

Father Paul Schindler, the American priest who worked with Sister Kazel and Ms. Donovan in La Libertad and who found the burned out van, has alleged that the Hacienda Police may have been involved in the crime because (1) the Canadians were stopped at a roadblock near the turnoff for a local Hacienda Police station, and (2) there is evidence that a red pickup truck belonging to the Hacienda Police was used during the abduction.[164/]

The first point, we conclude, is based on a misapprehension of the facts. The guardsmen have uniformly placed the location of the checkpoint at which traffic was stopped for 10 minutes at a position on the main access road to the airport, near the reinforced concrete guard post (which is permanently maintained in the broad median strip of the access road to provide security for nearby electrical installations). This location is some distance removed from the turnoff to the Hacienda Police station at San Juan Talpa. To verify the guardsmen's testimony, we contacted Patricia Lasbury Hall, at the time of the events in question, United States Consul in El Salvador.[165/] Together with

Ambassador White, Ms. Hall drove the Canadians to the airport on the day after they were stopped. At that time, Ms. Hall told us, the Canadians identified for her the location of the checkpoint. It was, she said, just as the guardsman had it: near the existing concrete guard post in the median strip of the airport access road.

The claim that a police pickup truck was involved is based on the alleged correlation of a fresh smear of red paint on the burned out van with a red Toyota pickup truck of the same shade at the Hacienda Police station in San Juan Talpa on the day after the murders. Father Schindler noticed the red paint smear on the left front bumper of the van when he found it on the roadside on December 3, 1980. Because he was the person responsible for the maintenance of the church vehicles in La Libertad, he was familiar with the condition of the van and is confident that the smear had not been there before December 2.

In his subsequent search for the women, Father Schindler visited a nearby Hacienda Police station in San Juan Talpa where he saw a red Toyota pickup truck. Although he was unable to inspect the truck thoroughly for paint damage and although none was visible to him, he concluded that the pickup truck and the paint smear were of the same color. As a result, he suggested that the Hacienda Police from that station might have been involved in the church-women murders. We cannot draw that conclusion.

On December 12, 1980, FBI technicians took scrapings of the paint smear.[166] These scrapings were analyzed in the FBI Laboratory, which concluded that none of the paint particles were of a kind used for the original paint finish on any motor vehicles.[167] Because Father Schindler had identified the pickup truck as a Toyota, the Maryknoll Order sent a copy of the FBI analysis to Toyota. Toyota responded specifically that the paint was not used on their vehicles.[168]

Father Schindler told us that he believes the Toyota pickup truck had been repainted, so that it is possible that a non-standard paint was used. Even if that were so, however, it is likely that particles from the underlying original coat of paint would have been present in the red smear as well. None was found.

We find the connection between the red smear and the red pickup truck to be based entirely on supposition. Moreover, it is inconsistent with testimony that we believe to be truthful from several of the participants in the abduction (Guardsman Rivera Franco and Contreras Palacios), and with the testimony of those who witnessed the activities of December 2. We have found no credible evidence that the Hacienda Police were involved in the murders.

D. Money and Valuables

In the days following the murders, several of the accused were seen with money and valuables.[169] Guardsman

Cruz Piche reported that another guardsman claimed that Canales Ramirez was seen with 5,000 dollars or colones.[170] The allegation, albeit second hand, is of concern because possession of such a large sum of money, in excess of any amounts conceivably taken from the churchwomen, might suggest that the guardsmen had been paid by some unknown party for participation in the murders.

To clarify the allegation, we asked that Guardsman Cruz Piche be reinterviewed on the subject. At the time of writing this report, Cruz Piche cannot be located by Salvadoran authorities. Nonetheless, based on the evidence available to us, we believe that the churchwomen's missing personal property has been satisfactorily traced to Colindres Aleman and the guardsmen, and that it probably accounts for any perceived increase in Colindres Aleman's personal wealth.

When the nuns left the airport, they had with them the personal belongings of Sisters Clarke and Ford, including clothing and books. Sister Ford was carrying some cash (originally thought to be $900, now apparently only $175)[171] and three checks, two for $1,800 each (to help buy a new jeep to replace one lost earlier that year) and one for $243 (to be used to pay local accounts).[172]

According to several witnesses, the books were burned by the accused soon after the murders, along with articles of clothing and some jewelry.[173] Several witnesses testified that Subsergeant Colindres Aleman was seen

DECLASSIFIED

El Salvador: Human Rights Special Project (1993)

El Salvador: Human Rights

selling women's watches, rings, eyeglasses and a tape recorder, and buying a television set and furniture.[174] One of the other accused, Guardsman Contreras Palacios, gave Guardsman Sanchez Guzman eighty dollars to exchange into colones for him, and Canales Ramirez offered to sell Sanchez Guzman a woman's watch.[175] The checks were never negotiated and, according to the Embassy's special evidence, were destroyed by Colindres Aleman.

Other than the second hand accounts crediting Guardsman Canales Ramirez with 5,000 dollars or colones, there is no evidence attributing an amount of money to any of the guardsmen in excess of the cash and valuables possessed by the churchwomen. We conclude from this evidence in the record that Colindres Aleman and others of the accused looted the churchwomen's belongings after the murders, taking what they believed to be valuable and burning the rest. There is no credible evidence that Colindres Aleman, Canales Ramirez, or anyone else received payment from an unknown source for his role in the murders.

E. The Moran Letter

Perhaps no red herring has been so patently fabricated as the Moran letter. In the late spring of 1983, the Maryknoll Order received, through an anonymous source, a copy of a letter, purportedly written by Lt. Colonel Antonio Moran, the Chief of the Hacienda Police, to Colonel Vides

Casanova, the Director of the National Guard, on January 5, 1981.[176] The letter states that six individuals--not the defendants--had been detained by the police and were being referred to Vides Casanova for the murders of the churchwomen. If true, the letter would cast immediate doubt on the validity of the entire prosecution.

The letter is, however, a crude forgery, obviously created by unknown third parties--whether of the right or the left--with an interest in disrupting the prosecution. Colonel Moran has testified he never sent the letter,[177] and Vides Casanova that he never received it.[178] Moreover, the signature and seal are forgeries, according to handwriting experts appointed by Judge Rauda,[179] and the letter does not bear either the code numbers or the formal salutation that a genuine piece of Treasury Police correspondence would include.

F. Moran and Cortez

In September, 1981, an annonymous letter addressed to the United States Congress was received by the State Department.[180] The letter, dated July 21, 1981, stated that the writer was a witness to the killings of the churchwomen, and that if Congress were interested in the identity of the assassins, it should place an advertisement in several Mexican newspapers. The State Department placed the advertisement in late September, which led to a meeting between

DECLASSIFIED

El Salvador: Human Rights Special Project (1993)

RELEASED

two United States Embassy officials and Ingeniero Juan Jose Moran, a former city manager of San Salvador.[181] Moran said that he had no direct information concerning the murders. He identified the author of the letter to Congress as one Cesar Cortez, allegedly a driver employed by Hans Crist, a suspect in the January, 1981, murders of the American Institute of Free Labor Development workers. He said that Cortez had fled El Salvador several months before, passing through Mexico City on his way to the United States. On October 6, Moran told the Embassy in Mexico City that Cortez had written to him from Chicago, but that he still had no address for him.

On October 15, 1981, John McAward, Executive Director of the Unitarian-Universalist Service Committee, reported to the State Department that he also had met Moran in Mexico City.[182] According to McAward, Moran claimed that a Cesar Cortez had approached him in Mexico City and described the murders. Cortez allegedly told Moran that he had been instructed by his employer to drive a pickup truck from "the Hacienda" with two Hacienda guards to La Libertad, where he was to pick up three guardsmen, and then proceed to the airport "to do a job"--the abduction of the churchwomen. Moran stated that Cortez denied participation in the rapes and murders, but claimed to have seen what happened.

Thereafter, the State Department and the FBI pursued a number of false leads in attempting to trace the mysterious Cortez.[183] Finally, responding to a suggestion from Representative Mary Rose Oakar, the State Department sought to submit Moran to a polygraph examination concerning Cortez.[184] Despite repeated requests and assurances of safety, Moran repeatedly refused to submit to a polygraph examination.[185] With Moran's refusal, the effort to locate Cortez and to verify his story reached a dead end.

We are convinced that the Moran/Cortez episode has no bearing on our understanding of the facts. Cortez' alleged story, as described by Moran through McAward, is inconsistent with the facts outlined above. It may be that Moran fabricated the story in an attempt to gain a visa to the United States.[186] Whatever Moran's motivation, Cortez' alleged story, unsupported even by the existence of Cortez and contradicted by the facts, is of no apparent validity.

G. The Radio Message

In December 1980, it was reported that a witness had overheard a radio transmission at the airport between members of the security forces.[187] There is conflicting information about what was said. According to one version, a guardsman was heard stating, "we missed them on this flight."[188] According to another version, the conversation focused on the fact that the churchwomen were carrying a large amount of money.[189] Any such conversation, if true, would be significant because it could suggest that the

DECLASSIFIED
El Salvador: Human Rights Special Project (1993)
RELEASE
El Salvador: Human Rights Special Project (1993)

National Guard was awaiting the arrival of the churchwomen, and thus that a prearranged plot was in effect.

Although the source of the information was fairly quickly identified, he resisted several attempts by Embassy officials to persuade him to come forward and make a formal statement. President Duarte finally prevailed upon the witness to submit to an interview, attended by Embassy officials, in mid-March 1982 by Deputy Fiscal General Benjamin Cestoni.[190/] The witness said that he was in the airport terminal on December 2, 1980, awaiting an incoming flight. While there, he claimed he overheard a telephone--not radio--conversation of a uniformed guardsman speaking from a pay telephone in the lobby. He said that the gist of the conversation was "we missed them on this flight." The witness said that he then saw the arrival of two women he believed to be two churchwomen, who were greeted by two others and who departed at about 4:00-4:30 p.m. in a white van. He averred that he was sure about the time because he himself left shortly after 4:30 p.m.[191/]

Although Cestoni and the Embassy officials all believed that the witness was not purposely attempting to deceive them, they unanimously concluded that his recollection was nonetheless confused and highly unreliable. Under close questioning, the witness offered varying accounts of what he had heard, at different times claiming that the communication was by radio or by telephone, and that it concerned either money in the churchwomen's possession or their delayed arrival. Indeed, at one point, in the course of three interviews with Embassy personnel, the witness stated that he had only seen a radio being used and had not heard what was said.[192/] Moreover, if true, the witness's testimony means that at least Guardsman Perez Nieto and Cruz Piche are lying in giving their accounts of Perez Nieto's telephone conversation with Subsergeant Colindres Aleman. Because of all of this, we discount the report of the witness.

H. Abduction at the Airport

Father Schindler has suggested to us that the churchwomen had been abducted at the airport, not at the roadblock manned by Subsergeant Colindres Aleman and his guardsmen.[193/] He said he believed this had happened because witnesses to whom he spoke had said they were the last to leave the airport and the white van remained behind. He further told us that Ms. Hall had indicated to him that a secret Embassy source had confirmed that the abduction was actually at the airport. Ms. Hall denied to us making any such statement.[194/] Moreover, our review of the Embassy files and our conversations with Embassy officials convinces us that no such source or information exists. Finally, the allegation is completely contrary to all the existing evidence in the case with respect to the location of the abduction.

I. The .22 Magnum

When the bodies of the churchwomen where taken to a local funeral home in San Salvador on December 4, 1980, a Maryknoll priest, Father John Spain, was present to witness the post-mortem examination.[195] Father Spain heard the funeral home attendant say that the wounds of at least one of the women were caused by a .22 magnum, allegedly a favorite weapon of the Salvadoran death squads. Father Spain observed that the wounds of Sisters Ford and Clarke were small, did not disturb their facial features and were in other respects different from those of Sister Kazel and Ms. Donovan. The physician and judge present were noncommittal about the wounds, and the subsequent autopsies performed on the churchwomen drew no condlusions about the caliber of the weapons used.

We can give little weight to the opinion of the funeral home attendant. The theory that a small caliber weapon was used does not comport with the confession of Guardsman Contreras Palacios, who testified that he and the others had used their service weapons. It is likewise inconsistent with the ballistics analysis of those shells and casings that were recovered. It is, of course, possible that a guardsman may have had a .22 magnum pistol, and could have used it to kill one or more of the women. Even if such a weapon were used, however, it does not add any evidence one way or the other about the involvement of others in the murders.

J. Sister Maria Rieckelman

On the night of murders, Sister Maria Rieckelman, a Maryknoll nun who attended the Managua conference together with Sisters Ford and Clarke, was questioned by uniformed Salvadorans when her plane landed at the International Airport in El Salvador.[196] This event had led some to conclude that some coordinated harassment of churchwomen was underway on the evening of December 2, 1980. We do not share that conclusion.

Without more, the questioning of passengers aboard a plane just arrived from Sandinista Nicaragua, suppliers of the rebels fighting the Salvadoran government, on the night before the FDR funeral, does not seem to us extraordinary. Rather, like the stop of the Canadians, it seems to us simply to be further proof of the heightened tensions of the time, tensions that may have caused Colindres Aleman to believe he could abduct and murder the churchwomen.

K. Sister Maura Clarke and the Nicaraguan Connection

Sisters Maura Clarke and Ita Ford were returning from an annual gathering of Central American Maryknolls in Nicaragua at the time of their murder. During our visit to El Salvador, we heard allegations that the Catholic Church, and specifically the Maryknoll Order, are linked in the minds of the military in El Salvador with support of leftist and revolutionary causes in Central America, especially as amplified by Maryknoll links to the Sandinista government in Nicaragua. When we learned that a former Sandinista intelligence officer, Major Miguel Bolonas, had testified to at least one subcommittee of Congress (Senator Jeremiah Denton's Subcommittee on Security and Terrorism of the Senate Judiciary Committee) that Sister Maura Clarke had a role in those alleged links, we felt obliged to interview Major Bolonas.[197] We did so not because his allegations against a murdered woman could justify such a senseless and wanton act, but to determine whether such charges were likely to have been made known to Subsergeant Colindres Aleman or his superiors. We found our interview with Major Bolonas largely unhelpful.

Major Bolonas claimed that he met Sister Maura Clarke when she was working in Managua with other Maryknolls and a priest known as Father Miguel in a poor area of the city called "Open Three" in the period 1974-1975. Later in 1979, Bolonas claimed, during his work as an intelligence officer both prior to the revolution in Nicaragua and thereafter for the Sandinistas, he learned from another intelligence officer that Sister Clarke and other Maryknolls, along with Father Miguel, were routinely helpful to the Sandinistas both in their charitable activities and in clandestine activities. Major Bolonas stated that at the time of the murder of the nuns in El Salvador, when news of their deaths and their identities was reported in the Nicaraguan press, stories appeared pointing out Maura Clarke's role in assisting the Sandinista revolution.

We have not had an opportunity to discuss Major Bolonas' charges with members of the Maryknoll Order, although we have learned from the State Department that the Maryknolls believe Major Bolonas to be mistaken in his information. We have been told that Maryknoll records indicate that Sister Maura Clarke was not in Nicaragua during the period 1976-1980, but rather was in Boston. It is our view, in any event, that the truth or falsity of Major Bolonas' charges is irrelevant for our purposes. What could be relevant is whether these charges were known to and believed by the Salvadoran government, and became such a concern that Salvadoran officials, believing that they knew Sister Maura Clarke to be a Sandinista ally, ordered her execution.

We do not believe that this occurred. First, although Major Bolonas' credibility is apparently high with United States intelligence agencies, we have received no other confirmation of his charges. Second, we have no indication that these alleged activities of Sister Maura Clarke were ever brought to the attention of the Salvadoran government or that they became the kind of common knowledge among the Salvadorn security forces that Major Bolonas claimed existed within the intelligence circles of the Sandinistas in Nicaragua. Third, as described in our "Higher-Ups" section, we have concluded that Subsergeant Colindres

Aleman probably acted on his own initiative. With this in mind, it does not appear likely that he somehow became aware of these allegations and decided to carry out the removal of four churchwomen in order to protect the Republic of El Salvador from infiltration by Sister Maura Clarke.

V. PROSPECTS FOR A SUCCESSFUL PROSECUTION

El Salvador is a civil law state. Virtually every step of a criminal investigation and prosecution is specified in the Salvadoran code, and we found the procedures to be formalistic and largely inflexible.

In an effort to understand how the prosecution is likely to unfold, we held discussions with Judge Rauda, Fiscal General Riyera, Dr. Castillo, the coordinating prosecutor, and former Deputy Fiscal General Benjamin Cestoni. We talked as well with members of the private bar in San Salvador, including the Salvadoran legal advisor to the United States Embassy. Finally, we discussed this matter with representatives of the United States Department of Justice, and with lawyers in the office of the Legal Adviser of the United States Department of State.

As we learned, the trial, or plenario, stage of this case will be quite unlike an American trial. There will be no live witnesses. Rather, the evidence will be read to the jury from the written statements taken from the witnesses during the investigatory, or sumario, stage.

Thereafter, the lawyers will argue their respective sides to the jury based on the written record. During this argument stage, the lawyers may refer to any documents they wish, even if they are not part of the record.

We believe that a successful prosecution of this case must include at least the following elements:

(1) a carefully prepared record that demonstrates the guilt of the defendants and negates their defenses;

(2) a capable prosecutor willing to pursue vigorously members of the Salvadoran security forces;

(3) a courageous and astute judge;

(4) a jury well insulated from the potential for corruption or intimidation; and

(5) freedom from efforts by other Salvadorans, whether in or out of government, to interfere with the proceedings of the trial.

A. The Record

In the course of detailing the investigations of this case, we have already catalogued the principal evidence now in the record against Subsergeant Colindres Aleman and the other guardsmen. During the sumario, or investigatory, phase, Judge Rauda took testimony from the five accused and at least twenty-five other witnesses.[198/] He admitted into idence the spare tire and jack taken from the churchwomen's n and the ballistics evidence linking the guardsmen to the ell casings at the murder site. We believe that the vidence is substantial, and sufficient to convict the five accused guardsmen. We will not recount it again here.

Dr. Castillo, the chief prosecutor, advised us that he anticipates the defendants will rely on two principal defenses. First, he believes they will challenge the prosecution's reliance on extra-judicial confessions, rather than those given before a judge. In El Salvador, prosecutions that do not feature a confession by the defendant to the investigating judge are relatively rare. Although this is a sad commentary on the state of justice in El Salvador, it nonetheless presents a reality: Salvadoran juries are unused to balancing conflicting accounts of a crime.

Salvadoran law permits the admission of a defendant's extra-judicial confession, but only if it is corroborated by another witness. As we understand it, the two witness rule does not mean two witnesses to the same confession, but only two witnesses each reporting a confession. The record should adequately meet this requirement. Of course, there is Subsergeant Colindres Aleman's direct confession to Sergeant Dagoberto Martinez. That confession should be adequately supported by Colindres Aleman's implicit confessions to Guardsmen Cruz Piche ("If fate is against us, we will have to pay"), Aquino Giron ("They were subversives.

I do not think there will be a problem."), and Luis Monterrosa ("Today it happened; if our time is up, we will have to pay.").

Second, Dr. Castillo believes the defense will argue that there was excessive American involvement in this prosecution. In essence, the argument will be an appeal to nationalism and a suggestion that there has been undue influence from a foreign power. It was for this reason that the prosecutors were anxious to have Salvadoran witnesses even for evidence actually developed in the United States. It is also for this reason that the prosecutors were hesitant to urge aggressively the admission of the fingerprint and the polygraph evidence, when admission of those tests would not be ordinary under Salvadoran law and would only underscore the influence of the United States on this prosecution. In our discussions with Dr. Castillo, he seemed to be cognizant of the problem and able to deal with it effectively in argument.

A third defense suggested by some is that the defendants were acting on higher orders. As Dr. Castillo advised us, such a defense is not available under the Salvadoran code when the order is to commit an illegal act. The depravity of the crime, amply documented in the record, will provide a basis for a strong argument that no guardsman could have thought such an order was justified. We doubt, in any event, that the argument will be seriously pressed because it will necessarily involve an admission of the crime and a disavowal of the defendants' prior sworn statements.

No experienced prosecutor can confidently predict that an accused's defenses will necessarily be rejected by the jury. We are convinced, however, that there is sufficient evidence in the record from which the prosecutors can argue that the defenses should be disregarded.

B. The Prosecutors

As the sumario stage of the case neared its conclusion, serious questions were raised about the experience and competence of the prosecutors handling the preparations for trial. In September, 1983, in part at the urging of the United States, an experienced prosecutor, Dr. Juan Geronimo Castillo, was assigned to coordinate the prosecution.

We spoke with Dr. Castillo and were, in general, favorably impressed. Dr. Castillo seemed in command of the case and at ease with the tasks he would have to undertake to complete the preparations for the plenario phase. He responded knowledgably to our questions about tactics and about Salvadoran procedures. We believe that Dr. Castillo is capable of doing a competent job in prosecuting the case.

As we describe below, during our visit to El Salvador, we made a number of suggestions concerning the reinterviews that might be necessary to complete the investigation of this case and its preparation for trial. Although we have received reports concerning the follow-up on those suggestions by Dr. Castillo and his team, we do not have a complete picture of how thoroughly he has completed his investigation. From the reports we have seen, however, most of the investigatory work appears to be near completion.

We understand as well that the Embassy legal advisor, a professor of law and member of the private criminal bar in San Salvador, will assist Dr. Castillo in the preparation of the case. The Embassy legal advisor has advised the United States Embassy about Salvadoran law and procedures throughout the investigation. We believe this cooperation will provide important support for Dr. Castillo's efforts.

C. The Presiding Judge

Judge Rauda has presided over the sumario phase of the churchwomen murders case for most of its life, and has been reasonably thorough about the collection of evidence. Judge Rauda has thrice referred the case to the plenario stage, to be twice overruled by the appeals court. The two reversals resulted from technical difficulties (the first, a failure to give sufficient notice to the defense attorneys and, the second, a concern about additional evidence in support of the theft charges) and in its ruling on the first appeal, the appeals court specifically indicated that there was sufficient evidence to support the murder charges. The judge took the opportunity of each reversal to add more evidence into the trial record. There has been an appeal of Judge Rauda's most recent decision to refer the matter to plenario, and we are advised by a variety of local lawyers that the appeal is likely to be decided quickly because the same appellate court has heard the two previous appeals and is familiar with the facts.

Judge Rauda has shown himself to be a man of considerable courage, capable of resisting pressures brought to bear on him from either side of the case. He is also a diligent worker, and during our visit with him, displayed an encyclopedic knowledge of the contents of the trial record.

D. The Jury

The trial will be held before a jury of five, with a majority vote necessary to convict. Whether a jury can be assembled in El Salvador today that will have the courage to convict five former National Guardsmen of murder is an open question, and one that has concerned us greatly.

The selection of the jury does not differ substantially from our system. The trial judge will chose, from a large body of potential jurors, a panel of twelve whose identities he will (or should) keep secret until the day of trial. Under Salvadoran law, we were told the identities of the jurors will then be made public, although their addresses may be kept secret (if they do not leak out). At the beginning of the trial, defense counsel and the prosecutor may each exercise one peremptory challenge against the panel, and two challenges for cause. Challenges for cause are rarely granted, and there should thus be no difficulty in selecting five jurors from the panel of twelve.

What will be more difficult, we believe, is guaranteeing the jurors security from intimidation or corruption so that they will be able to vote their consciences without fear. We believe that the notoriety of this case will make the jury (as well as the judge and prosecutor) fair game for those who wish to see the prosecution thwarted, whether because they do not believe the guardsmen should be prosecuted for murder or because they wish to demonstrate that the Salvadoran system is incapable of policing itself. For these reasons, we have discussed at length with the Embassy possible mechanisms to protect the jury.

Our recommendations in this regard have been set forth in detail in an earlier memorandum to the Department of State, and need only be summarized here. Our principal recommendation is that the jurors be accorded anonymity, as is sometimes done with notorious prosecutions in this country where a threat of jury intimidation exists. We have also suggested shielding the jurors, but not the trial, from public view; selecting jurors from a remote province for a trial in another province; offering to relocate the jurors,

El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights

whether in or out of the country, after trial; providing physical protection to the jurors, and perhaps their families, during the trial and for a reasonable time thereafter; and sequestering the jury during the trial.

This is hardly an exhaustive list of possibilities, but we have not been heartened by the resistance to these ideas by the Salvadoran authorities. The Salvadoran system simply must be flexible enough to adopt novel means when its very integrity is at stake. We must state in the strongest possible terms that we do not believe a successful conviction can occur without the adoption of some adequate means of protecting the jury, and we hope that the Salvadoran authorities continue to consider ways to protect the integrity of the jury system and the physical well being of the jurors themselves.

E. Freedom From Outside Interference

Skeptics have told us that a successful prosecution depends entirely upon the will of the military in El Salvador. In this view, if the military thinks it is to its advantage for the defendants to be convicted, they will be convicted; if the military thinks otherwise, they will be acquitted or never go to trial. Whether that view is correct or not, we must acknowledge that there are many Salvadorans unhappy about this prosecution and, further, that there already have been attempts to influence its outcome.

Major Medrano, we were told, has received multiple threats upon his life for his active role in pressing the investigation. In more recent months, we have learned that a Deputy of the constituent assembly suddenly appeared to observe the proceedings in Judge Rauda's courtroom, an event viewed by Embassy observers as ominous. At the same time, we learned that the Acting President of the Supreme Court may have interceded with Judge Rauda to direct that he not complete his investigation aimed at disproving the bogus Moran letter. To date, Judge Rauda has been remarkably courageous in resisting such efforts at intimidation.

We do not believe that there is much that the United States can do to prevent such internal efforts at disrupting the prosecution. We can only advise the Salvadoran leadership, as others have done, that the ability of its system to prosecute this case will be seen by many as a test of the system's ability to right itself after too many years of lawlessness.

VI. RECOMMENDATIONS

We were asked to determine whether the Salvadoran and United States Governments have done as much as could be done to assure a successful prosecution. If not, we were asked to suggest what might be done. Many of our recommendations have been set forth above. In each case, we have passed them along to the Department of State immediately without waiting for the completion of this report, so that there would be time for action to be taken. To the extent that our conclusions and recommendations have not already been set forth, we include them in this section.

DECLASSIFIED

1. An Accusador Particular. In El Salvador, as in many civil law countries, it is possible for the family of the victim of a crime to hire its own lawyer, an accusador particular, to prosecute the case in addition to the government attorney. The device is obviously a desirable one where, as here, there have been doubts regularly expressed about the competence and willingness of the government prosecutors to pursue the case. Accordingly, we have endorsed the State Department's recommendation that the families hire an accusador particular. We have urged that view in several meetings with the families and their representatives and promised the families that, if they agreed, we would press the State Department to pay for the services of the accusador.

To our regret, the families have consistently refused taking this step. As we understand their reasoning, they are distrustful of participating in the Salvadoran system itself and further doubt that a suitable attorney could be obtained. While we understand their reservations, the device provides a rare opportunity for Americans sincerely interested in the prosecution to have direct influence over the way the case is presented in the courtroom.

Thus, we regret the families' refusal to participate in this proposal.

On the other hand, as matters now stand, we think the loss is less serious than it might have been. As noted above, we are generally impressed with Dr. Castillo and believe him to be more competent than some of his predecessors. Moreover, Dr. Castillo has forged a solid working relationship with the Embassy's legal advisor. Through the legal advisor, American views about the prosecution can readily be transmitted to the prosecutor, even if the families lack a direct voice in court.

2. A Special Prosecutor. Rather than hiring an accusador particular, the families and the Lawyers Committee for International Human Rights under Law have suggested the United States persuade the Salvadoran government to name a special prosecutor to handle the churchwomen murders case. We do not endorse this suggestion. We do not believe that, in the Salvadoran system, the label the prosecutor bears is of any significance to his effectiveness or to his freedom from interference. Moreover, in a real sense, Dr. Castillo is essentially a special prosecutor. He was especially reassigned from his duties as head of a separate section of the prosecutor's office to prosecute this case.

3. An American Prosecutor. None of the American Embassy officials in San Salvador with responsibility for this case is a practicing attorney, much less an experienced prosecutor. While these officials have been diligent, successful and often courageous in pushing the Salvadorans to prosecute the defendants, as the case approaches trial it is apparent to us that American views could more usefully be presented by an experienced criminal prosecutor. Such a prosecutor could deal more effectively with the Salvadoran attorneys involved in the case in terms of making useful suggestions, understanding the problems of the prosecution and analyzing the tactics used by both sides. We have therefore suggested that a Spanish speaking Justice Department prosecutor be made available to assist the Embassy during the plenario proceeding.

4. The Fingerprint Evidence. Because the analysis of Colindres Aleman's fingerprint, taken from the churchwomen's van, was done outside of Salvadoran territorial limits and not under the supervision of the trial judge, the Salvadoran code prohibits its introduction into evidence. We were frankly surprised at this result and, because the evidence was so important, sought to explore ways to obtain its admission. Our every suggestion was unavailing, and we ultimately concluded, as Dr. Castillo and the Embassy legal advisor both told us, that we could not expect to achieve formal admission of the fingerprint into the record.

Although the fingerprint will not be part of the trial record, it still may be used at the trial. During the vista publica, or public presentation, stage of the proceedings, lawyers may display to the jury and rely upon any documentary evidence, even from outside the record. Thus, it is possible for the fingerprint evidence to be used. Because Dr. Castillo expects the defense to be based upon excessive American involvement in the prosecution, he was nonetheless reluctant to use the fingerprint in this way unless absolutely necessary. An argument based upon a fingerprint taken by United States personnel and inadmissible under Salvadoran law will only reinforce the point that Dr. Castillo expects the defense to make. Thus, he will wait until his reply argument to determine whether the defense is indeed attacking American involvement and whether the fingerprint will be useful. We concur in this analysis.

5. Ballistics Evidence. The initial ballistics tests taken by the FBI were inadmissible for the same reasons as the fingerprint evidence. We encouraged the FBI, as recounted above, to transport its equipment to El Salvador and train a Salvadoran national to duplicate the tests. This was done with success, as set forth above. This proof is a substantial link in the chain of evidence against the accused.

6. Sergeant Dagoberto Martinez' Testimony. Although the record of the trial consists entirely of sworn written statements of the witnesses, the sworn statement of Sergeant Dagoberto Martinez, obtained by the FBI in Los Angeles and sworn to in the Salvadoran Consulate office in that unit, was deemed inadmissible by both the judge and the prosecutor. The statement's flaw was that it was not sworn to before the investigating judge. We recommended, as did others, that Sergeant Martinez be flown to El Salvador at American expense so that his statement could be duplicated before Judge Rauda. This was done successfully in July, 1983, and forms another important part of the trial record.

7. Polygraph Evidence. Although the polygraph evidence is inadmissible in both El Salvador and the United States, we believe that such evidence is useful, when taken together with other available evidence and obtained by a skilled examiner. We considered whether an effort should be made to persuade the court to admit the evidence, and ultimately concluded that this was not the case in which to press El Salvador to accept evidence that would be inadmissible in the United States.

We are told that the polygraph examinations could be used in the vista publica in the same manner as the fingerprint evidence. Dr. Castillo has told us that he will await his reply argument before making a decision with respect to whether to use them. We agree with this decision, but would generally be inclined against using this evidence.

8. The Special Embassy Evidence. The special evidence developed by the United States Embassy is directly probative of the defendants' guilt and, as well, extremely important in explaining our conclusions about the cover-up and the question of higher-up involvement. Accordingly, we believed it desirable, if at all possible, to present this evidence to the court.

At our suggestion, the State Department carefully considered this issue, including contacting those whose lives would be put at risk by disclosure. Based on the information thus collected, both we and the State Department concluded that the risk of loss of life that would result from public release was too great. We also note that the information has already been highly useful to the United States since, without it, we doubt the prosecution would ever have been undertaken.

9. The Cover-up. As we have detailed above, it is clear to us that elements of the Salvadoran military undertook an initial attempt to protect the perpetrators of the crime. In El Salvador such an effort, at least by the active participants, could constitute a separate crime and some have urged that a criminal investigation be initiated. We believe that it would be dangerous to initiate such an investigation prior to a successful resolution of the underlying murder case. The cooperation that the United States has achieved to date with Salvadoran authorities has been hard to win, and could be easily lost. A cover-up investigation would necessarily threaten several high ranking Salvadoran officials. If these officials feel personally threatened, they may well attempt to scuttle the underlying prosecution on the theory that there could be no cover-up prosecution if the defendants were not found guilty. We believe this poses an unacceptable risk to the success of the murder prosecution, and thus have recommended that any effort to pursue the cover-up be delayed.

10. Additional Interviews. To flush out various gaps or inconsistencies in the record, we recommended last summer that several additional interviews occur:

(a) Margarito Perez Nieto, the National Guardsman who first noticed the nuns at the airport, to obtain more detail about his conversations with Colindres Aleman, and his spotting of the women.

(b) Carlos Joaquin Contreras Palacios, the confessed participant, about details that might reflect or discredit the fact of premeditation.

(c) Salvador Rivera Franco, the guardsman who watched over the malfunctioning jeep, for greater details that might reflect premeditation.

(d) The two guardsmen at the guardpost at El Rosario, La Paz, to determine whether they discussed the women with Subsergeant Colindres and whether he informed them about his plans for the women.

(e) Isabel Aquino Giron, Colindres Aleman's second in command at the airport, for further detail about the substance of his phone conversation late on the evening of December 2.

(f) Jose Luis Monterrosa, who according to the special Embassy evidence, knew more than he had said about the guilt of Colindres Aleman.

In our discussions with the United States Embassy in San Salvador, and with the Department of State, we also agreed that certain other interviews or reinterviews would be appropriate: Colonel Pena Arbaiza, the Army commander in Chalatenango; Second Lieutenant Daniel Mejia Rivas, the officer who was the acting company commander with overall responsibility for the Airport National Guard detachment; and Lieutenant Colonel Oscar Armando Carranza, an officer currently assigned to National Guard Headquarters staff. We also agreed that additional guardsmen who had been on duty at the airport that night, Jose Vidal Cruz Piche, Rafael Antonio Cornejo, Jose Elias Sanchez Guzman, Julio Cesar Valle Espinoza, Adrian Ramirez Palacios, and Orantes Menjivar, should also be interviewed or reinterviewed.

We have been informed that the two guardsmen at the Guard post at El Rosario have been interviewed, but we have not seen their statements. Guardsman Margarito Perez Nieto has been missing in action for almost ten months, and Corporal Isabel Aquino Giron is dead, killed while on active duty. We also understand, for a number of practical reasons, that the Salvadoran prosecutors have determined that they would not at this time reinterview Salvador Rivera Franco.

DECLASSIFIED

El Salvador: Human Rights Special Project (1993)

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights Special Project (1993)

Colonel Pena Arbaiza, Lieutenant Mejia Rivas and Lieutenant Colonel Armando Carranza have also been interviewed, as have Guardsmen Contreras Palacios and Luis Monterrosa. Their testimony adds very little to the available evidence concerning the murders. Guardsmen Jose Elias Sanchez Guzman and Jose Vidal Cruz Piche have not been reinterviewed, because they cannot be located, and a planned "confrontation" by the Fiscal General between Julio Cesar Valle Espinoza and Adrian Ramirez Palacios to resolve apparent discrepancies in their testimonies has not occurred because of a refusal by Valle Espinoza to cooperate further. Guardsman Orantes Menjivar, whose reinterview had been planned, is dead, and it has been determined that Lieutenant Antonio Cornejo, whose interview had been planned, was not on duty at the airport on the crucial night.

11. Reinterview of Colindres Aleman. Colindres Aleman, more than any other person, knows whether he is protecting higher officers by his silence. Thus, securing his cooperation would be a key step in any possible higher-up investigation. We suggested that efforts be made in that direction when we returned in September, 1983, from our trip to El Salvador. So far as we were aware at the time of our suggestion, no military or civilian authorities involved with the investigation of the case had spoken with Colindres Aleman since his polygraph examination in January, 1982. We suggested that, if Colindres Aleman heard the totality of the evidence now accumulated against him, he might decide it was in his interest to cooperate.

At first, we were told that Salvadoran procedures do not encourage such reinterviews. The prosecutors agreed, however, that there could be reinterviews for the purpose of clearing up ambiguities in testimony or otherwise explaining previous testimony. On October 11, 1983, Colindres Aleman was reinterviewed and we have reviewed the English language translation of his statement. Unfortunately, we do not find in the reinterview statement the cooperativeness for which we had hoped, nor any further information that would be helpful to us on the issue of the involvement of higher-ups. In his reinterview, however, Colindres Aleman did provide a further indication of his guilt by admitting his discussion with Perez Nieto concerning the churchwomen and by providing a wholly incredible explantion of his whereabouts on the night of the murders.

12. Change of Venue. For some time, the prosecutors have been giving serious consideration to requesting a change of venue to San Salvador for the plenario stage of the trial. We have supported a change of venue. Judge Rauda's small and rustic courtroom in Zacatecoluca has struck us as a less than desirable location for a trial involving a substantial risk of jury intimidation. Moreover, the more cosmopolitan San Salvador jury pool, we have thought, presents a far better opportunity for assembling a

El Salvador: Human Rights Special Project (1993)

RELEASED

jury that could resist such intimidation. If the trial were to be transferred to San Salvador, however, we are told that it would be unlikely, if not impossible, for Judge Rauda to preside over the trial.

Thus, a transfer to San Salvador would necessitate a change of trial judge, which necessarily presents some risk. We were told by both Dr. Benjamin Cestoni and the Embassy's Salvadoran legal advisor that only three San Salvador judges would be desirable, from the standpoint of experience, competence and sophistication, to preside over the plenario stage. Selection of another, less qualified judge could cause problems for the prosecution, although they might be minimized by the extremely low-profile role that the judge plays in the plenario proceeding. On balance, we would have some concern that the selection of the trial judge might be politicized. The selection would be made by the Salvadoran Supreme Court, at least one member of which, we were told, has already tried to restrict Judge Rauda's investigation.

We have learned most recently that Dr. Castillo is leaning against seeking a change of venue because of a growing belief in El Salvador that the United States is interfering unduly in the internal judicial affairs of the country, a feeling that could result in sympathy for the accused as scapegoats, and thus distract the jury from issues of guilt or innocence. In view of this concern and of the conflicting factors outlined above, we are inclined to rely on

Dr. Castillo's on-the-spot resolution of this sensitive issue of local trial tactics.

See, e.g., Letter from Sister Helene O'Sullivan, M.M., to The Honorable William H. Webster, Director, FBI (July 29, 1982), wherein Sister O'Sullivan states that Sister Kazel and Ms. Donovan returned to the airport at about 6:00 p.m. Perez Nieto stated that the women returned at about 5:00 p.m., with two men, in a coffee-colored car, and the van was driven by a man alone. We believe that Perez Nieto was confused by the arrival of Father Britto and his group, who arrived at the airport to meet the Canadian delegation to the FDR funerals in a jeep and a white van. However, Colindres Aleman's second in command, Aquino Giron, swore that Colindres Aleman received a call from Perez Nieto at about 5:30 p.m. (his subsequent court testimony put the time at between 4:30 p.m. and 5:00 p.m., see Appellate Court Decision at 16) concerning suspicious women in the airport. This suggests that there may have been a second call. If Giron was confused as to the times, of course, there may have been only one call, but we do not regard the number of calls from Perez Nieto to be of critical importance.

17/ Medrano Report at 43, 44 (Perez Nieto Statement). Perez Nieto returned to the barracks at some point prior to or at the end of his scheduled duty (7:00 p.m.). Retired Guardsman Julio Cesar Valle Espinoza, in his testimony of August 9, 1982 (see Cable from United States Embassy, San Salvador, to Secretary of State, Washington, D.C. (September 22, 1982)), stated that he was part of another checkpoint between the traffic control post (which probably was the Cornejo Cubas/Luis Monterrosa/Cruz Piche checkpoint) and Colindres Aleman's position. He testified that several guardsmen boarded the churchwomen's van at the traffic control post, and then drove to his location, where he and two more guardsmen boarded the van. He said that the van proceeded to Colindres Aleman's site, where he (Valle Espinoza) and the other guardsmen in the van left the churchwomen and returned to the airport on foot. Although this testimony is consistent with the churchwomen's abduction by Colindres Aleman, its description of the mechanics of the kidnapping is contradicted by statements of the guardsmen at the checkpoint, and by the two guardsmen with Colindres Aleman who have admitted their roles in the abduction and murders. We thus reject this testimony as, whatever Valle Espinoza's motivations, inaccurate.

143/ Second Contreras Palacios Statement. We are also aware of a statement from an anonymous political prisoner who claims to have been imprisoned with Colindres Aleman between April 7 and 29, 1982. He said that Colindres Aleman had followed the movements of the churchwomen from the time they left El Salvador, and that Colonel Vides Casanova gave instructions concerning the capture of the churchwomen. We have no means of evaluating the veracity of this statement. It was taken by the Maryknoll Order from a Salvadoran who is a political refugee in Mexico, and whose identity was kept secret from us. According to Michael Posner from the Lawyers' Committee on International Human Rights, it is difficult to judge the veracity of such statements. Given this, the source's apparent bias, and the absence of supporting evidence, we cannot accept this hearsay statement as probative.

1. CONFIDENTIAL - ENTIRE TEXT.

2. ROBERTO D'AUBUISSON TELEPHONED CHARGE FROM MEXICO JUNE 24 OSTENSIBLY TO GIVE HIS TRAVEL PLANS FOR VISITING THE U.S. (SEPTEL). HOWEVER, MOST OF THE CONVERSATION WAS DEVOTED TO HIS COMPLAINT THAT THE U.S. EMBASSY FAILED TO DELIVER A LETTER TO HIM FROM PRESIDENT REAGAN AND THAT THE VOICE OF AMERICA WAS BROADCASTING SCURRILOUS CHARGES ABOUT HIM. D'AUBUISSON SAID THAT HE THOUGHT THAT HE AND GENERAL WALTERS HAD ARRIVED AT AN UNDERSTANDING THAT THE U.S. GOVERNMENT WOULD NOT ATTACK HIM IN PUBLIC AND THAT HE WOULD DESIST FROM HIS CHARGES OF U.S. INTERFERENCE IN THE ELECTIONS. THE CLEAR IMPLICATION WAS THAT U.S. VIOLATION OF THIS AGREEMENT FREED HIM FROM THE QUID PRO QUO.

3. THE CHARGE EXPLAINED THAT HE UNDERSTOOD THAT AMBASSADOR WALTERS HAD PERSONALLY DELIVERED THE SENSE OF THE MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT TO HIM AND THAT WASHINGTON DETERMINED THEREFORE THAT A WRITTEN TEXT WAS NOT REQUIRED. THE CHARGE ALSO SAID HE HAD NOT HEARD [redacted]

THE CHARGE SAID THAT THE EMBASSY HAD DECLINED TO MAKE ANY COMMENT ON THE STORY AND THAT HE HAD GIVEN FIRM INSTRUCTIONS THAT THERE WAS TO BE ABSOLUTELY NO DISCUSSION OF IT WITH THE PRESS. 4. RICARDO VALDIVIESO TELEPHONED THE CHARGE SOMEWHAT LATER ON SUNDAY EVENING AND RECOVERED ESSENTIALLY THE SAME GROUND IN A FRIENDLY AND NON-CONFRONTATIONAL MANNER. THE CHARGE INFORMED HIM THAT IN THE INTERIM HE HAD ALREADY ASKED THE ACTING PUBLIC AFFAIRS OFFICER TO ADVISE VOA WASHINGTON OF THE MAJOR'S OBJECTIONS.

SUBJECT: Congressional Concern Regarding Continued Abuses by Salvadoran Security Forces

The indiscriminate killings by Salvadoran security forces continue and are further eroding public and Congressional support of the Administration's policies in El Salvador. If the Administration is to arrest this erosion of support, Administration initiatives must be undertaken to end such killing.

With that objective in mind and in order to shore up Congressional support for the present policy, I would suggest that consideration be given to sending to San Salvador a senior Administration official who could speak with the authority of the President and of the Secretary and whose mission would be to convince the Salvadoran High Command to undertake the necessary measures to end the indiscriminate killings. As you know, General Vernon Walters has in recent weeks been sent as the Secretary's personal emissary on similarly sensitive diplomatic missions to Argentina, Haiti and Mexico. He will be going shortly to Guatemala to discuss with General Lucas abuses by the Guatemalan military and the possibility of renewed American military assistance if such abuses are ended.

Given mounting Congressional and public concern with continued security force abuses, I would suggest that a similar visit by General Walters to San Salvador is called for. President Duarte--as well meaning as he may be-- does not have the wherewithal to control the security forces. A Walters' mission therefore should be addressed to the High Command, especially Defense Minister Garcia, National Guard Commander Casanova and Treasury Police Commander Moran.

As an alternative emissary one might consider Deputy Defense Secretary Frank Carlucci whose extensive diplomatic experience and whose present position would seem to eminently commend him as the candidate to undertake such a special mission.

I would welcome any reaction you might have to this proposal or any alternative suggestions you may have which would deal effectively with this problem.

In their March 1988 report, Labor Rights in El Salvador, Americas Watch documents nine assassinations and five disappearances of members and leaders of unions and associations from December 1986 - March 1988. They place responsibility for most of these on members of the armed forces or civil patrols.

Documented Assassinations

1. On April 16, 1987, Antonio de Jesus Hernandez Martinez, the National Association of Agricultural Workers' (ANTA) Secretary General of the Departmental Council of San Miguel, was traveling to a coop near San Gerardo when he was captured by soldiers of the Cuscatlan Battalion. A May 18 petition filed by government prosecutor Carlos Antonio Elias Barrios alleged that Hernandez was arrested, and the body had been found with bullet holes. Villagers who found Hernandez's mutilated body on April 20 reported that he had been detained by soldiers of the Cuscatlan Battalion, and they had been warned not to touch the body or they would suffer the same fate.

Following a judicial order, the body was exhumed on May 25. According to the exhumation report, the remains were destroyed and could not be identified as Hernandez, as there appeared to be bones from several persons in the coffin. The remains were again removed on May 2, by ANTA leaders who were unable to locate part of his skull. Soldiers said that they had killed a guerilla. The Reagan Administration has cited the question of the identity of the remains as evidence that Hernandez had not been killed at all. Americas Watch reports, however, that if the remains are not Hernandez's, it is still the responsibility of the Salvadoran Government to produce Hernandez if still in custody, or prosecute those responsible if he was killed. pp. 21

2. Jose Raul Henriquez, a promoter for ANTA and former Secretary for Agrarian Matters for the Avicola poultry worker's union, was abducted from his home in Canton Malacoff, Tonacatepeque on June 29, 1987. He was taken by two members of the civil defense of Las Delicias and a National Guardsman stationed in San Martin, in the presence of his wife. His wife and other ANTA members found his body more than a month later. The local Justice of Peace had been informed of the circumstances of the capture and murder and apparently threatened by the same civil defensemen, as he recognized Henriquez's body but refused to sign the death certificate. Following the denunciation of the killing by ANTA, one of the civil defensemen appeared at the home of the widow and threatened her, after which she moved out of the area. pp. 22

3. According to sworn testimony given Tutela Legal, the human rights office of the Archdiocese of San Salvador, Rene Andrade Ponce, a leader of a peasant group affiliated with the National Peasants Association (ANC), was taken from his house on July 8, 1987, by five uniformed men. With them was a man seen earlier in town with National Guardsmen from Oratorio. The next day children found the body on a road between Palacios and San Jose Guayabal. He had been shot seven times in the face. According to ANC officials, Ponce's wife and children witnessed his abduction and recognized his captors, but have been too frightened to denounce the case in the courts and seek legal action. pp. 22

4. According to the National Association of Indigenous Salvadorans (ANIS), Eulalio Antonio Martinez Vasquez, a member of ANIS, was killed by three civil defensemen in Canton La Nueva, Acajutla on August 16, 1987. pp. 22

5. According to Ricardo Soriano, Secretary General of the pro-government Construction Industry and Transport Trade Union Federation (FESINCONSTRANS), Jose Gilberto Perez Ramos, leader of an affiliate union at the factory of Arcitex, in Guazapa, was killed by several men dressed in olive green, carrying M-16 rifles, on December 6, 1987. The union was apparently on the verge of signing a collective contract with the employer when Perez Ramos was killed. pp. 36

6. Juan Jose Mejia, who had recently been dismissed from the Mike-Mike leather goods factory in San Salvador, was found shot to death in Cojutipeque. The Cotton and Synthetics Textile Industry Workers Union (STITAS) has been (as of when this report was drafted) involved in a labor dispute with Mike-Mike management since November, 1987. There is no mention of whether Jose Mejia was a member of STITAS, an organization accused of being linked to the FMLN by Mike-Mike management. pp. 37

7. On the morning of December 18, 1987, Medardo Ceferino Ayala was murdered 100 meters from his home in Zacamil, San Salvador, while waiting for a bus to work. Ayala was an active member of the Association of Salvadoran Telecommunications Workers (ASTTEL). His assassins were armed men in civilian clothing who fired bullets into the air to scatter those who stood in line with him. pp. 68

8. Another participant in ASTTEL activities, Victor Manuel Hernandez Vasquez, was shot six times in the face and chest at close range by two men in civilian clothing on January 13, 1988. Vasquez was employed by the Torre Roble Facility of the national telephone and telegraph service (ANTEL), where he had begun receiving threats after he had made demands for better working conditions (according to Vasquez's family). pp. 68

9. On April 8, 1987, two armed men entered the San Carlos Cooperative in Canton San Francisco Los Reyes, Zacatecoluca. They raped several young girls and threw a grenade into the home of Daniel Ortiz, the treasurer of the cooperative. The grenade severely wounded Ortiz and his child, and killed three other adults. Ortiz later died from his wounds.

The Army arrested two reportedly former members of the armed forces, however, according to "La Prensa Grafica", the names of the four victims were included in a list prepared by the Army press office of victims of FMLN mines. pp. 23

Documented Disappearances

1. On May 1, 1987, three young men were abducted at a bus station as they returned from a May Day union march in Menendez Park, Santa Ana. Two of the men, Luis Armando Lemus Urrutia and Edwin Ernesto Vargas Aguilar, were members of the coffee processing workers' union (SICAFE), from the Montealegre plant in Chalchuapa. The other man, Julio Ernesto Garcia Lucero, was a member of the bakers union and the brother of a SICAFE official. Witnesses at the bus station identified their captors as soldiers from the Second Brigade in Santa Ana, including an Army official who is a death squad member, Mauricio Mario, known as "Chele Maria".

The men's mother's published an open letter in newspapers denouncing the Second Brigade for the abduction. The head of the Second Brigade, Colonel Ocsar Casanova Vejar, met the mothers and promised to investigate the case, but ordered them to stop denouncing the brigade. Later the mothers reported that they saw the actual vehicle used in the abduction when meeting with Colonel Casanova Vejar. The mothers gave all the information on the case to the Special Investigative Unit, a U.S. -funded police unit charged with investigating human rights abuses. pp. 37

2. On September 1, 1987, Jorge Salvador Ubau, Secretary General of the Coordinating Council of University Workers, was captured by five heavily armed plainclothes men and forced into a white pick-up. pp. 69

3. On September 16, 1987, soldiers from the First Brigade captured Jose Angel Lopez Portillo, leader of a cooperative in Suchitoto. (couldn't find in text)

1. (U) THE FREQUENCY WITH WHICH TUTELA LEGAL IS BEING CITED BY CRITICS OF THE SALVADORAN GOVERNMENT AND OF U.S. POLICY INDICATES THAT IT HAS BECOME THE PRINCIPAL AND MOST WIDELY CREDIBLE SOURCE OF ALLEGED HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES BY THE ARMED FORCES. DEBATE, AS IT APPEARS FROM OUR PERSPECTIVE, HAS SHIFTED ITS FOCUS FROM DEATH SQUAD MURDERS; NOW, AS CONG. BARNES HAS NOTED, THE ALLEGED GRATUITOUS USE OF VIOLENCE BY THE MILITARY AGAINST INNOCENT CIVILIANS HAS BECOME THE FULCRUM OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS DEBATE. TUTELA LEGAL (TL) PUBLISHES A MONTHLY LIST OF VIOLENT DEATHS OF WHICH THE OVERWHELMING MAJORITY ARE WITHOUT QUALIFICATION ATTRIBUTED TO THE ARMED FORCES. ON THIS LIST RESTS MUCH OF THE CASE AGAINST THE GOES AND THE ARMED FORCES--ARMY (ESAF) AND AIR FORCE (FAS).

2. (C) IN THE PAST, WE HAVE LOOKED CRITICALLY AT TL STATISTICAL REPORTING AND HAVE FOUND IT AT BEST MARGINALLY USEFUL AS AN ANALYTICAL TOOL FOR DEALING WITH EL SALVADOR'S REAL HUMAN RIGHTS PROBLEMS. ONE PART OF THE DIFFICULTY IS DIMENSIONAL: TL FIGURES CANNOT BE DEEMED TO DEFINE THE ACTUAL LEVEL OF THE PROBLEM. THE OTHER IS DEFINITIONAL: HUMAN RIGHTS ARE GROSSLY ABUSED IN EL SALVADOR -- BY THE STANDARDS OF AN ENLIGHTENED WESTERN DEMOCRACY -- BUT THE [redacted]

FUNDAMENTAL ABUSES ARE NOT NECESSARILY THOSE SUGGESTED BY TL'S UNSUPPORTED COMPILATIONS OF ALLEGED ARMED FORCES MURDER.

4. (C) NEVERTHELESS, AN ANALYSIS OF TL REPORTS DEMONSTRATES THAT THIS IS NOT THE CASE. TL REPORTS ARE THE NUMERICAL DESCRIPTION OF A WAR IN SOME UNREAL WORLD: IN WHICH A CONVENTIONAL ARMED FORCE REGULARLY TAKES HEAVY LOSSES BUT SLAYS ONLY INNOCENT CIVILIANS ON THE BATTLEFIELD; IN WHICH THE GUERRILLAS, BY THEIR OWN PROPAGANDA ACCOUNTS, MOUNT A SUSTAINED MILITARY CAMPAIGN BUT THEMSELVES MANAGE TO SLAY NONE OF THE INNOCENT CIVILIANS ON THE BATTLEFIELD; IN WHICH, IN THE PREPONDERANCE OF CASES, A TOTAL ABSENCE OF ANY CONCRETE SUPPORTIVE EVIDENCE IS ALLOWED TO STAND AS AN INDICTMENT OF INDIVIDUALS AND INSTITUTIONS.

OF THIS YEAR CLAIM OVER 600 POLITICAL DEATHS (NONE OF GUERRILLAS) OF WHICH ONLY 10 WERE CAUSED BY THE GUERRILLAS (7 GUERRILLA-CLAIMED ASSASSINATIONS AND THREE BYSTANDERS KILLED IN AN ATTACK ON THE DEFENSA CIVIL.) ALL OF THE REST, EXCEPTING DEATH SQUAD MURDERS, ARE ATTRIBUTED TO THE ARMED FORCES. THE TWO TYPICAL REPORTS FOR THE MONTHS OF MARCH AND APRIL BOIL DOWN TO THE FOLLOWING:

-- MARCH

TOTAL CIVILIAN DEAD: 414

BY DEATH SQUAD:	46	AGE UNKNOWN:	383
BY NATIONAL POLICE:	1	NAME UNKNOWN:	382
BY GUERRILLAS:	7	SEX UNKNOWN:	308
BY MILITARY:	360
- (327 ARMY; 33 AIR FORCE)

-- APRIL

TOTAL CIVILIAN DEAD: 232

BY DEATH SQUAD:	34	AGE UNKNOWN:	196
BY DEFENSA CIVIL:	14	NAME UNKNOWN:	198
BY GUERRILLAS:	3	SEX UNKNOWN:	160
BY MILITARY:	181
- (NONE BY AIR FORCE)

6. (U) ONE ITEM IN THE APRIL REPORT, ACCOUNTING FOR TEN OF THE APRIL DEATHS, IN FACT MENTIONS UNIDENTIFIED PEOPLE, "KILLED ON VARIOUS OCCASIONS, FROM 1981 TO DATE..." AND LISTS THE DEFENSA CIVIL AS RESPONSIBLE ON AN UNEXPLAINED BASIS. IT BEARS NOTING THAT TL ANNOUNCES DEATH STATISTICS FOR A GIVEN MONTH WITHOUT DRAWING ATTENTION TO THE FACT THAT A PART OF THEM, TYPICALLY UNDOCUMENTED, MAY ACTUALLY BE ATTRIBUTABLE TO AN EARLIER PERIOD. THIS METHOD OBVIOUSLY INTRODUCES A DISTORTION (E.G., THE TL CLAIM OF 83 DEATHS CITED IN THE JUNE 17 HOMILY, REFTEL A).

7. (U) TL FREQUENTLY POINTS OUT THAT EMBASSY VIOLENCE REPORTING DRAWS (AS AN INDICATOR OF VIOLENCE LEVELS) ONLY ON MEDIA ACCOUNTS OF DEATHS, AND IT ASSERTS THAT ITS OWN DEATH FIGURES ARE BASED ALMOST TOTALLY ON "EYEWITNESS TESTIMONY." DESPITE THIS CLAIM, HOWEVER, WE NOTE THAT THIS EYEWITNESS TESTIMONY FAILS TO FURNISH EVEN THE SEX OR AGE, MUCH LESS THE IDENTITY, OF THE OVERWHELMING MAJORITY OF ALLEGED VICTIMS. IT SHOULD BE RECOGNIZED THAT THE MEDIA MAY NOT REPORT ALL VIOLENT DEATHS IN THE COUNTRY, BUT IT DOES REPORT ALL THE DEATHS IT HEARS ABOUT, WHICH INCLUDES ESAF (COPREFA) REPORTS OF GUERRILLA CASUALTIES.

8. (U) BY NOW, IT IS CLEAR TO US THAT TL, DESPITE ITS CLAIM TO THE CONTRARY, IN FACT USES PRESS REPORTS FOR A SUBSTANTIAL PORTION OF ITS VIOLENCE FIGURES. THIS INCLUDES REPORTED MILITARY OPERATIONS WITH GUERRILLA CASUALTY FIGURES. A COMPARISON OF TL MONTHLY REPORTS WITH PRESS REPORTS COVERING THE SAME PERIOD MAKES THIS CONCLUSION IMPOSSIBLE TO REFUTE. THE DIFFERENCE IS THAT TL TAKES ANNOUNCED GUERRILLA CASUALTY FIGURES AND PUBLISHES THEM AS CIVILIAN DEATHS. A KEY POINT TO NOTE

10. (U) THE COMPARISON OF THE TL AND MEDIA REPORTS THAT FOLLOWS LISTS NUMEROUS INCIDENTS SINCE THE BEGINNING OF THE YEAR THAT CHART THE "COINCIDENCE" BETWEEN THESE REPORTS. WE NOTE THAT TL HAS LISTED THE DATE AND LOCATION OF AN ENGAGEMENT AS PUBLISHED EARLIER IN THE MEDIA, AND, IN NEARLY ALL CASES, THE IDENTICAL FIGURES FOR GUERRILLA DEATHS, BUT DESCRIBED THEM INSTEAD AS CIVILIANS. THE MOST STRIKING EXAMPLE IS THE FIRST: THE NEW YEAR'S EVE ENGAGEMENT AT EL PARAISO, CHALATENANGO. TL SAYS THE ARMY KILLED 250 UNIDENTIFIED CIVILIANS. IN FACT, THE EVENTS OF DECEMBER 31, CONSISTED OF AN ATTACK BY SEVERAL HUNDRED ARMED GUERRILLAS AGAINST THE ISOLATED FOURTH BRIGADE ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN EL PARAISO, TAKING ADVANTAGE OF DECREASED NEW YEAR'S EVE ALERTNESS. IN THE PROCESS OF OVERRUNNING THE GARRISON, AND HOLDING IT FOR OVER 24 HOURS, THE GUERRILLAS KILLED 75 SOLDIERS AND CAPTURED OVER ONE HUNDRED. NO CIVILIANS WERE ATTACKED BY THE ARMY, WHICH WAS UNABLE EVEN TO LEAVE ITS

DEFENSES, MUCH LESS HOLD ON TO THEM, OR MOUNT A COUNTERATTACK, AND WHICH SUFFERED A DEVASTATING DEFEAT. IN ITS SUBSEQUENT PRESS RELEASE, THE ARMY GREATLY EXAGGERATED IN CLAIMING IT HAD KILLED 250 GUERRILLAS DURING THE ENGAGEMENT. THE POINT, HOWEVER, IS THAT TL TOOK A PREVIOUSLY PUBLISHED ARMY FIGURE OF ALLEGED GUERRILLA CASUALTIES AND SUBSEQUENTLY LISTED IT AS AN ARMY ATROCITY AGAINST CIVILIANS, ALL IN A PURELY MILITARY ACTION IN WHICH NO CIVILIANS WERE INVOLVED ON EITHER SIDE. IT REMAINS UNASKED BY TL, PERHAPS BECAUSE UNANSWERABLE, HOW ONLY ARMY BULLETS COULD HAVE FOUND

SUBJECT: SAM-7 FUROR - DUARTE JUMPS INTO FRAY;
- FMLN RESPONDS

1. DURING AN IMPROMPTU PRESS CONFERENCE AT THE PRESIDENTIAL PALACE FOLLOWING HIS MEETING WITH HARRY SHLAUDEMAN JULY 5, PRESIDENT DUARTE WAS ASKED ABOUT RECENT PRESS REPORTS ON GUERRILLA POSSESSION OF SAM-7 MISSILES. DUARTE USED THE OCCASION TO BLAST THE GUERRILLAS' EXTERNAL SUPPORT APPARATUS.

2. DUARTE STATED THAT WHILE HE DID NOT KNOW IF THE GUERRILLAS HAD SAM-7'S, IT WAS NO SECRET THAT FOREIGN SHIPMENTS OF WEAPONS, TRAINING AND SUPPORT FOR THE GUERRILLAS HAD CONTINUED UNABATED DURING THE PAST FOUR YEARS. HE REFERRED TO THE WHITE PAPER OF THREE YEARS AGO, WHICH POINTED TO COMMITMENTS UNDERTAKEN BY SALVADORAN COMMUNIST PARTY LEADER SHAFICK HANDAL TO [redacted]

OBTAIN OVER 800 TONS OF MILITARY SUPPLIES FROM THE USSR, CUBA, VIETNAM, LIBYA, AND CERTAIN ARAB COUNTRIES. DUARTE ALSO CHARGED THAT THE PLO HAD TRAINED PERSONNEL, INCLUDING NICARAGUANS, IN CUBA TO CARRY OUT ATTACKS AGAINST IMPORTANT SALVADORAN POLITICAL PERSONALITIES. HE STATED THAT GUERRILLA ACQUISITION OF SAM-7'S, IF TRUE, REPRESENTED A STEP-UP IN THE LEVEL OF SOPHISTICATION AND TECHNOLOGY OF ARMAMENT IN THE HANDS OF THE GUERRILLAS. SUCH EXPENSIVE HARDWARE, HE SAID, REFLECTS

THE MASSIVE AID BEING RECEIVED FROM EXTERNAL SOURCES, FAR OVERSHADOWING THE MODEST ASSISTANCE THAT THE GOES RECEIVES. WITH OR WITHOUT MISSILES, DUARTE VOWED, EL SALVADOR WOULD CHARGE ON WITH ITS DEMOCRATIC PROCESS. "THIS IS WHAT REALLY COUNTS. WE WILL SEEK PEACE AND WE WILL ACHIEVE IT."

3. THE FMLN, APPARENTLY SMARTING FROM THE RECENT PRESS REPORTS ON SAM-7'S, HAS ISSUED A STRONG DENIAL THAT IT HAD ANY SUCH WEAPONS. IN A RADIO FARABUNDO MARTI BROADCAST JULY 8, THE FMLN STATES: "ATTENTION, SALVADORAN PEOPLE, LOCAL AND FOREIGN PRESS. WE WANT TO CALL YOUR ATTENTION TO THE FALSE REPORTS MADE BY THE CHIEF OF THE GRINGO MILITARY ADVISERS IN OUR COUNTRY WHO SAID THAT OUR FMLN HAS PURCHASED LAND TO AIR SOVIET SAM-7 MISSILES...THE FMLN WISHES TO STATE THAT IT IS NOT TRUE..." THE BROADCAST CLAIMS THAT THE REPORT COMES AT A TIME WHEN THE "SALVADORAN PUPPET ARMY" HAS SUFFERED ONE OF THE HARDEST BLOWS SINCE THE WAR BEGAN, PRESUMABLY REFERRING TO THE CERRON GRANDE ATTACK ON JUNE 28. THE FMLN CHARGES THAT "FALSE" REPORTS OF SAM-7'S ARE PART OF AN EVIL U.S. STRATEGY TO ESCALATE THE WAR, TO INCLUDING THE SENDING OF U.S. [redacted]

TROOPS.

4. COMMENT: REUTERS CORRESPONDENT IN EL SALVADOR TOLD PAO THAT SOURCES OF INFORMATION ON SAM-7'S WERE FDR/FMLN OFFICIALS IN MEXICO. USMILGROUP COMMANDER HAS NEVER RPT NEVER CLAIMED EXISTENCE OF SAM-7S. IT IS PROBABLY MORE THAN COINCIDENTAL THAT FMLN SOUGHT TO FLOAT EXISTENCE OF SAMS AFTER ESAF'S MOST SUCCESSFUL AIRLIFT TO DATE, PERHAPS IN EFFORT TO DEFLATE EUPHORIA OVER SUCCESS OF OPERATION. DUARTE'S COMMENT NOW SENDS THEM SCURRYING TO COVER THEIR TRACKS. THE GUERRILLAS POSSIBLY FEAR THAT, LEFT UNANSWERED, THE SAM-7 CHARGE COULD LEAD A HARDLINE DUARTE TO UP THE ANTE. END COMMENT.

INTERNAL SECURITY LOG - JULY 1-7, 1984

NFOIA R

--Four extremists engaged in a confrontation with CNI agents at the Macul rotunda. Two of the terrorists died and the other two escaped in a stolen car. The CNI believes that one of the dead men led the attack on the army intelligence center on June 29.

--In Concepcion, six masked terrorists bombed and seriously damaged a building being constructed for Carabinero barracks in Chiguayante. One of the terrorists, Pedro Eduardo Vasquez Soto, was arrested.

July 4

--The CNI conducted raids on three buildings in metropolitan Santiago. Six people were arrested (only one name--that of Jorge Poblete Gonzalez--has been released) and arms, explosives and literature belonging to the Manuel Rodriguez Patriotic Front were seized.

--Fabiola Letelier, head of CODEPU, claims that her organization has proof that Patricio Sobarzo a CODEPU employee) was murdered and has asked the Supreme Court to investigate his death on July 3.

--The Court of Appeals has ordered the CNI to present arrestees Silvia Bustillo Calderon and Humberto Vargas Calderon before the tribunal within 24 hours. They were arrested, along with Luis Alvarado Bustillo, during raids by the CNI on July 3. Investigating judge Raquel Camposano went to the Hospital Militar to attempt to visit Luis Alberto Belmar Erices.

--In Valparaiso, three bombs seriously damaged two Navy buildings and the private employees social security fund building.

July 5

--A recurso de amparo has been presented to the Santiago Court of Appeals on behalf of Max Berru Carrion, Jorge Teofilo Coulon Larranaga, Horacio Duran Vidal and Jose Luis Francisco Seves Sepulveda, members of the Inti-Illimani band who have been living outside of Chile since July 1973 and who wish to reenter the country.

--Enrique Silva Cimma, Juan de Dios Carmona, Julio Subercaseaux and Luis Angel Santibanez have rejected the so-called people's "right of rebellion" proclaimed by the Communist Party.

July 6

--A group of Christian Democratic lawyers (including Enrique Krauss, Alberto Jerez, Guillermo Yungue, Jaime Castillo Velasco, Eduardo Novoa, Esteban Tomic, Jose Antonio Viera Gallo, Marcos Sanchez and Jose Galiano) has sent a letter to Foreign Minister del Valle calling for the publication in the Diario Oficial of the UN Declaration of Civil and Political Rights, to which they say Chile is a signatory.

--The so-called "Comando Salvador Allende" sent a threatening note to Raul Gonzalez Alfaro, which was printed in "Las Ultimas Noticias."

--The Mexican government denounced as "arbitrary and illegal" the Chilean government decision to refuse extradition of Jesus Chavarria Garcia, a former PEMEX employee accused of fraud.

--Socialist ex-parliamentarian Eric Schnacke, currently in exile in Spain, attended a closed conference of the Socialist Party in Santiago on July 1. He entered Chile secretly and remained for three days.

--Gen. (R) Gustavo Leigh Guzman, former Air Force commander and former member of the Junta de Gobierno, appeared before the Court of Appeals, was informed of the encargadoria de reo against him, and paid the 5,000 peso bail that the Court had fixed.

--"La Tercera" editorial on the recent statements of Hugo Rosende in referring to the case against Jaime Insunza and Leopoldo Ortega, Minister of Justice, in which Rosende declared that there could never be a conflict of authority between the Executive and Judiciary. The editorial calls for the rapid resolution of that case.

--"El Mercurio" editorial calling for the use of provisions of the 1980 Constitution to protect democracy from the MDP and other Marxist organizations.

July 7

--"El Mercurio" editorials on ADENA and the transition to democracy, and the "open letter" by four Communist former parliamentarians on a possible new "Ley de Defensa de la Democracia."

SUBJECT: THE CHURCH AND THE GUERRILLAS: OPEN CRITICISM

REF: (A) SAN SALVADOR 7341, (B) SAN SALVADOR 7293

1. SUMMARY: THE FMLN'S "HANDS OFF" POLICY TOWARD THE CHURCH WAS BROKEN LAST WEEK WITH A VITRIOLIC CRITICISM OF THE CHURCH, AND PARTICULARLY OF AUXILIARY BISHOP [redacted]

MONS. GREGORIO ROSA CHAVEZ, WHICH WAS BROADCAST OVER [redacted] RADIO YENCEREMOS. THE ATTACK BY RADIO YENCEREMOS CAME IN RESPONSE TO INCREASINGLY HARSH AND FREQUENT CRITICISM OF GUERRILLA ACTIONS BY THE CHURCH FROM THE PULPIT OF THE NATIONAL CATHEDRAL AND IN THE PAGES OF THE DIOCESAN WEEKLY NEWSPAPER "ORIENTACION." (REFTELS) END SUMMARY.

2. THE CHURCH HAS CONSISTENTLY TAKEN CARE TO CRITICIZE ABUSES BY BOTH LEFT AND RIGHT IN EL SALVADOR, PARTICULARLY SINCE THE VISIT OF POPE JOHN PAUL II IN MARCH 1983. BUT THE CHURCH HAS GONE BEYOND MERE CRITICISM OF ABUSES TO CRITICISM OF ANY SYSTEM THAT DOES NOT UPHOLD THE DIGNITY AND WORTH OF THE INDIVIDUAL, FOLLOWING UP ON A THEME RAISED REPEATEDLY BY THE PONTIFF DURING HIS VISIT. IN THIS FRAMEWORK, THE CHURCH HAS CONDEMNED BOTH EXPLOITATIVE BRANDS OF CAPITALISM AND "MATERIALISTIC" COMMUNISM, WHICH TREATS THE INDIVIDUAL AS A COMMODITY IN THE SERVICE OF THE STATE.

3. ON JUNE 17, ROSA CHAVEZ DEVOTED THE MAJOR PART OF THE "EVENTS OF THE WEEK" PORTION OF HIS HOMILY TO A CONDEMNATION OF FORCED RECRUITMENT BY THE GUERRILLAS. HE ALSO EXPRESSED THE FEAR THAT WORKERS' LEGITIMATE GRIEVANCES WERE BEING EXPLOITED FOR POLITICAL AND EVEN PERSONAL ENDS IN THE STRIKES AT THE POST OFFICE, ANDA (WATER AND SEWER AUTHORITY), AND THE TELEPHONE COMPANY.

4. ON JUNE 24, GUERRILLA FORCED RECRUITMENT AND THE RECENT BURNING OF BUSSES AND TRUCKS BY GUERRILLAS SPARKED STERN CRITICISM FROM THE EDITOR OF "ORIENTACION," WHO ASKED THE QUESTION OF EXACTLY HOW THE GUERRILLAS COULD CLAIM TO BE STRUGGLING FOR THE [redacted]

PEOPLE WHILE ATTACKING THE ECONOMY, PREYING ON SMALL BUSINESSMEN, AND ROBBING TRAVELERS ON THE ROAD UNDER THE TRANSPARENT GUISE OF COLLECTING WAR TAXES. THESE ACTIONS, SAYS THE CHURCH, ALL HURT THE COMMON PEOPLE, THE VERY PEOPLE WHOSE INTERESTS THE GUERRILLAS CLAIM TO CHAMPION. "ORIENTACION" SAYS IT WILL BE "VERY DIFFICULT FOR THE PEOPLE TO FORGIVE" THE GUERRILLAS. THIS CRITICISM FITS INTO THE CHURCH'S BASIC CRITICISM OF THE MARXISTS, I.E., THAT THEY DO NOT VALUE THE INDIVIDUAL AT ALL' THEY ONLY CLAIM TO SUPPORT A VAGUE [redacted]

5. ROSA CHAVEZ'S COMMENTS WERE CARRIED EXTENSIVELY BY ALL LOCAL NEWSPAPERS AND RADIO STATIONS, AND "ORIENTACION'S" EDITORIAL WAS CARRIED IN THE MODERATE AND CREDIBLE DAILY "EL MUNDO." EVEN BEFORE THE PUBLIC CHURCH CRITICISM BEGAN IN EARNEST, HOWEVER, THE GUERRILLAS RESPONDED TO GENERAL PUBLIC REVULSION BY CALLING OFF THEIR BUS AND TRUCK BURNING ON JUNE 22, STATING THAT THEY WOULD DESTROY ONLY THOSE VEHICLES BELONGING TO BIG BUSINESSES.

6. JUNE 24 WAS CORPUS CHRISTI, AND THE HOMILY IN THE CATHEDRAL WAS DEDICATED TO STRICTLY SPIRITUAL CONCERNS. IT WAS "ORIENTACION" THAT TOOK UP CRITICISM OF THE GUERRILLAS IN BOTH EDITORIAL AND NEWS ANALYSIS (REFTELS), PERHAPS COMPENSATING FOR THE AUXILIARY BISHOP'S NEED TO ADDRESS STRICTLY RELIGIOUS ISSUES FROM THE PULPIT.

ROSA CHAVEZ ASKED RHETORICALLY IN HIS HOMILY, "IN WHOSE FAVOR ARE THE GUERRILLAS FIGHTING" WHEN IN THE END IT IS THE PEOPLE WHO BEAR THE CONSEQUENCES OF SABOTAGE ON THE ECONOMY AND A CRUSHING WAR THAT FORCES THOUSANDS OF CAMPESINOS TO FLEE THEIR HOMES.

8. APPARENTLY CALLING OFF ITS UNSPOKEN TRUCE WITH THE CHURCH, RADIO YENCEREMOS SAID ROSA CHAVEZ "TORE UP HIS VESTMENTS IN HIS HOMILY WHEN HE REFERRED TO THE TAKING OF THE CERRON GRANDE DAM BY THE FMLN." CALLING HIM "REACTIONARY AND PARTIAL," YENCEREMOS SAID ROSA CHAVEZ "WANTS TO SIT AT THE TABLE WITH BOTH RICH AND POOR, AND THAT IS NOT POSSIBLE." THEY THEN INVOKED THE MEMORY OF MONS. OSCAR ROMERO, WHO THEY SAID WAS "ON THE SIDE OF THE POOR."

9. IN AN INTERVIEW OVER LOCAL RADIO ON 7/5/84, ROSA CHAVEZ REPLIED TO THE GUERRILLA CHARGES BY SAYING THEY WERE "NOT BASED ON MY ARGUMENTS, BUT INSTEAD TOOK THE FORM OF WHAT WE COULD CALL A PERSONAL ATTACK." HE WENT ON TO STATE, "SOME MONTHS AGO, I WAS THREATENED WITH DEATH FOR SIDING WITH THE LEFT. THIS IS AN INDICATION OF THE INDEPENDENCE OF THE CHURCH. THIS IS THE MOST SERIOUS ASPECT OF OUR WORK: THAT WE CANNOT SEEK THE APPROVAL OF ONE PARTICULAR SECTOR OR FULFILL COMMITMENTS TO A PARTICULAR SECTOR, BUT THAT WE SEEK, ABOVE ALL, THE BENEVOLENCE OF GOD."

10. ROSA CHAVEZ MADE NO MENTION OF GUERRILLA CHARGES

AGAINST HIM IN HIS HOMILY OF JULY 8, BUT THE ISSUE OF "ORIENTACION" RELEASED THE SAME DAY AND SOLD IN ALL THE CHURCHES TOOK UP THE BANNER. THE HEADLINE READ "GUERRILLAS CANNOT JUSTIFY THEIR ACTIONS," WITH KICKER HEAD, "THE PEOPLE SUFFER," REFERRING TO THE TEXT OF THE PREVIOUS WEEK'S HOMILY. (FYI: THE TEXT OF THE PAST WEEK'S HOMILY IS ALWAYS CARRIED IN THE PAPER.) THE EDITORIAL, TITLED "RADIO YENCEREMOS IS ANGRY," WAS A CLEAR DEFENSE OF THE CHURCH'S POSITION AS REPRESENTED BY ROSA CHAVEZ. IT BEGINS, "ONE SIGN OF CREDIBILITY FOR THE CHURCH IS THE FACT THAT IT IS IMPOSSIBLE FOR IT TO MAKE EVERYONE HAPPY WHEN IT MAKES A STATEMENT OR ADOPTS AN ATTITUDE." IT ENDS WITH THE STATEMENT, "THE GUERRILLAS DO NOT WANT TO BELIEVE THAT THEY ARE NOT RIGHT IN THEIR METHODS AND THAT THE PEOPLE ARE NOT WITH THEM." (FULL TEXT SENT SEPTEL).

11. COMMENT: SINCE THE ELECTIONS, THE CHURCH HAS BEEN MORE OUTSPOKEN IN ITS CRITICISM OF THE LEFT, EFFECTIVELY DISTINGUISHING THE GUERRILLAS FROM THE LEGITIMATE MAINSTREAM IN THE EYES OF THE FAITHFUL. BY ALL ACCOUNTS, ROSA CHAVEZ'S CRITICISMS HAVE DRAWN LONG, LOUD APPLAUSE IN THE CATHEDRAL, JUST AS HIS CRITICISMS OF THE EXTREME RIGHT DO. THE STERN CRITICISM FROM THE PULPIT SEEN OVER THE PAST THREE WEEKS LAGS SOMEWHAT BEHIND THE NEWSPAPER "ORIENTACION," WHICH HAS BEEN VOCAL IN ITS VERY SPECIFIC CRITICISM AND CONDEMNATION OF THE GUERRILLAS AND THEIR FOR COUNTERPARTS FOR MOST OF 1984. THE NEWSPAPER HAS SERVED AS A STALKING HORSE FOR THE CRITICAL LINE: IT IS READ AND NOTICED, AND IS EDITED

THOSE SPOKEN BY THE ARCHBISHOP OR THE AUXILIARY BISHOP AT SUNDAY'S 8:00AM MASS. WHILE IT IS TOO EARLY TO TELL WHAT PUBLIC POSITIONS MAY EVENTUALLY BE DRAWN, IT IS CLEAR THAT THE CHURCH IS PUTTING PRESSURE ON THE GUERRILLAS AND LENDING ITS PRESTIGE TO A MODERATE SOLUTION FOR EL SALVADOR AND TO SUPPORT OF THE ELECTED GOVERNMENT. IT STILL CALLS FOR RECONCILIATION ON AN UNDEFINED BASIS, BUT HAS DISPELLED ANY IMPRESSION THAT IT CONSIDERS GOES AND FDR/FMLN AS MORAL EQUIVALENTS. CURIOUSLY, ROSA CHAVEZ HAS BEEN LESS HARSH IN HIS PAST CRITICISM OF THE GUERRILLAS THAN ANY OF THE CHURCH'S OTHER MAIN SPOKESMEN, THE ARCHBISHOP, FATHER ROBERTO TORRUELLA, AND FATHER JESUS DELGADO. BUT IN CRITICIZING MATERIALISTIC COMMUNISM AND VIOLENCE, AND BY DESIRING "TO SIT AT THE TABLE WITH THE RICH AND POOR," ROSA CHAVEZ AND THE OTHER CHURCH SPOKESMEN ARE FOLLOWING IN THE POPE'S STEPS. THE POPE, IN HIS VISIT TO EL SALVADOR, SPECIFICALLY TOLD THE CLERGY THAT ITS JOB WAS TO SERVE ALL OF THE PEOPLE, INCLUDING THE RICH MAN WHO MAY BE POOR IN SPIRIT. IN HIS RADIO INTERVIEW CITED PARA 9, ROSA CHAVEZ REFERS SPECIFICALLY TO THE POPE'S MESSAGE TO CENTRAL AMERICAN BISHOPS IN SAN JOSE. INVOKING THE MEMORY OF ARCHBISHOP ROMERO WON'T AID THE GUERRILLAS IN SILENCING THE CHURCH, EITHER, SINCE THE POPE ALSO SPECIFICALLY WARNED ALL FACTIONS NOT TO USE ROMERO'S MARTYRDOM FOR THEIR POLITICAL ENDS.

Dear Mr. Daniel:

Thank you for your letter of June 19 requesting, on behalf of Mrs. Kathryn R. Shelton, an update on the disappearance in Guatemala of her son, Mr. Jack Ross Shelton.

Since we last wrote in January 1983, two officers from our Embassy in Guatemala on June 9, 1983 traveled the road from La Mesilla (where Mr. Shelton crossed from Mexico into Guatemala on July 12, 1981) to the provincial capital of Huehuetenango. This trip was not possible earlier because of guerrilla activity. The Embassy officers discovered that Mr. Shelton left the Rutas Lima bus at Huehuetenango and registered at the Hotel Central for the night of July 12. Mr. Shelton signed the Hotel Central's register and gave his passport number. Unfortunately, the register indicated no onward destination. The Embassy officers checked with the local police, funeral home, hospital, and tourist spots for information about Mr. Shelton, without results. The hotel register showed that four other people (two Guatemalans, a Frenchman and a Mexican) checked into the hotel the same day as Jack Shelton. One of the Guatemalans could not be located. We were, however, able to contact the other Guatemalan and the Frenchman, but, unfortunately, neither remembers Mr. Shelton. We understand Mr. Shelton's father has just recently located the Mexican.

On June 24, 1983, the Charge d' Affaires and the Consul of our Embassy in Guatemala called on the Minister of the Interior to discuss the case of Mr. Shelton. The Minister said that he would give the case special attention and commend it to the National Police Director, who is directly under the Minister.

In April, 1984, the Spanish Consulate in Guatemala provided the U.S. Embassy, on a confidential basis, with a copy of a letter signed by an alleged Guatemalan soldier and sent to the sister of a Spanish priest who disappeared in Guatemala City around the time of Mr. Shelton's disappearance. The letter contains statements about the disappearances of both the priest and Mr. Shelton. The U.S. Embassy is attempting to verify the statements in the document. In the meantime, Mrs. Shelton has been informed of its contents.

Dan Daniel,
House of Representatives.

Both the Embassy in Guatemala and the Department of State profoundly regret that Mr. Shelton has not been located. We will continue to encourage active investigation by Guatemalan authorities of any leads into Mr. Shelton's disappearance.

I hope this information is helpful to you in responding to Mrs. Shelton. Please let me know if I can be of further assistance.

REPORT ON THE SITUATION IN EL SALVADOR

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Jose Napoleon Duarte, the first democratically elected President of El Salvador in fifty years, was inaugurated on June 1, 1984. The election that he won on May 6, was the third free and open balloting in two years and was a watershed in strengthening the institutional framework for political reform in El Salvador.

President Duarte faces formidable challenges: the country's violent history, a dedicated Marxist insurgency with strong ties to and material support from Nicaragua and the Cuban/Soviet bloc, a severely depressed economy and weak institutions for public administration and the administration of justice. The new government has committed itself to work actively to end violence from the far right and far left, to strengthen the rule of law, to promote dialogue within the democratic process and to restore economic growth while protecting social reforms.

The downward trend in incidents of politically-motivated violence experienced over the past three years continued during the first half of 1984. The average for the first five months of 1984, as compiled from press reports, was 93 per month compared with an average of 140 violent deaths per month in 1983. Strong efforts will be needed to reduce further the incidence of political violence in El Salvador. In particular, the process of establishing an effective system of justice in El Salvador requires a sustained commitment over the years ahead. Building on the May conviction of the murders of the American churchwomen, President Duarte has moved forcefully to assign respected officers to head the nation's security forces, to established centralized control over those forces and to disband the Treasury Police's long suspect intelligence unit. A Judicial Protection Unit, with some initial U.S. training, carried out its first major task in protecting the judge and jurors in the churchwomen's case, and efforts are underway to strengthen investigative institutions and professional skills in order to develop evidence for the prosecution of rightist and leftist terrorists.

The Salvadoran Armed Forces have demonstrated growing professionalism and an improved aggressiveness in combat. Their success rate since January has been impressive. Loss of military equipment to the insurgents is well within tolerable levels. But the guerrillas, despite their lack of popular support (which has resulted in stepped up forced recruitments), continued to receive sizeable foreign assistance and retain a capacity to conduct sporadic spectacular assaults. There are indications of a major guerrilla offensive later this year. Without increased U.S. military assistance, the prolonged stalemate between the military and the guerrillas is likely to continue, with the latter emphasizing their strategy of destruction to the Salvadoran economy.

Throughout his campaign for the presidency and since, President Duarte affirmed his willingness to talk with representatives of the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front/Revolutionary Democratic Front (FMLN/FDR). But, he will not accept giving the guerrillas a share of political power as an alternative to their competition in the democratic process.

El Salvador experienced in 1983 its first recent year without an absolute economic decline. But the economy remains severely depressed -- gross domestic product is down more than one-third from mid-1970 levels and severe levels of unemployment are exacerbated by war damage. An added burden is the number of displaced persons fleeing the conflict and guerrillas' forced recruitment drives. Efforts continue to increase the managerial expertise in, and the productivity of Phase I land reform cooperatives. Applicants for land under Phase III ("Land to the Tiller") were guaranteed that their pending applications would not be affected by the expiration of the period for filing new applications under this program on June 30. With the appointment of senior campesino representatives as Vice-Minister of Agriculture and head of the Agrarian Reform Institute, campesino groups have achieved the ability to affect directly the institutions which can improve and consolidate agrarian reform.

This report is intended to provide the Congress and the American public with a comprehensive assessment of the situation in El Salvador. It addresses all of the specific elements cited in P. L. 98-332: elections, freedom of association, administration of justice, land reform, the development of a medical evacuation and training system, the training of the armed forces, weapons and combat support equipment losses (quantified), ammunition expenditure (quantified in a separate classified submission), acquisition of support and tactical communications, and rate of spare parts usage. To give breadth to those elements, it also:

-- addresses general human rights considerations;

-- reviews the status of U.S. - citizen murder cases;

POLITICAL DEVELOPMENT

A. ELECTIONS

On October 15, 1979, a group of reformist military officers overthrew the government of General Carlos Humberto Romero and, together with civilian leaders, pledged themselves to implement a series of major reforms; including land reform, banking reform, nationalization of foreign marketing of commodities, development of stronger peasant organizations in farming areas, curtailing political violence and, most importantly, reactivation of political parties and the holding of free and honest elections. Although the original members of the junta did not long remain in government, their agenda of reform has guided the policies of their successors over the past four years.

On March 28, 1982, following four months of political campaigning, some 1.5 million Salvadorans went to the polls to elect sixty deputies to form a Constituent Assembly. This elected body was authorized to develop a new national constitution and also to serve as an interim legislature. The 1982 elections were the first free elections to be held in El Salvador in over fifty years. The Central Elections Council, over 200 international observers and more than 700 members of the international press, reported that the elections were fair and honest.

Following the 1982 elections, executive authority was peacefully transferred to the provisional president selected by the Constituent Assembly, Dr. Alvaro Magana. Political debate in the Assembly and between the Assembly and the provisional government was often divisive, but the parties demonstrated that they were capable of reaching important compromises and successfully authored a new constitution. Controversial issues, such as land reform and amnesty, were heatedly debated and resolved by votes in the Assembly.

On December 20, 1983, upon promulgation of the new constitution by the Constituent Assembly, the Assembly was formally constituted as the Legislative Assembly. The Assembly was also charged with responsibility for scheduling presidential, legislative and municipal elections. The Assembly opted to conduct the electoral process in two parts, and presidential elections were scheduled for March 25, 1984. Legislative and municipal elections will be held in early 1985.

The new constitution provided the legal framework for elections, and the Transitory Electoral Law, passed on February 10, 1984, defined the procedures. It specified the rights and duties of all participants, stipulated a duty to vote, the use of an electoral register, the use of indelible ink to mark voters' fingers and presentation of national identity cards to identify voters at polling places. It also allowed each political party contesting the election to name one representative to monitor the municipal and departmental electoral commissions and the Central Elections Council (CCE), as well as one poll watcher for each voting table and ballot box and a computer technician to monitor activities involving the computer.

Eight parties contested the first round of elections held on March 25, 1984, following a prolonged and active period of campaigning. Despite discouraging administrative foul-ups, some 1.4 million votes were cast, representing more than 75 percent of the electorate of 1.8 million. Less than 3 percent of the ballots were blank, and the high vote count, in the face of guerrilla threats and frustrating procedural impediments, demonstrated Salvadoran enthusiasm for and commitment to a democratic system of government. As no party obtained an absolute majority of the votes, a second round between the two most successful parties, the Christian Democrats (PDC) led by Jose Napoleon Duarte and the National Republican Alliance (ARENA) of Roberto D'Aubuisson, was scheduled for May 6, 1984.

On May 6, over 1.5 million Salvadorans, more than 80 percent of the electorate, turned out to vote despite guerrilla threats and calls for a boycott. Procedurally, the election went more smoothly than the first round, with only a few Salvadorans unable to cast their vote due to administrative problems. Jose Napoleon Duarte, with 54 percent of the popular vote, emerged as the victor in the second round.

The Salvadoran Government invited more than sixty nations and international organizations to observe the March 25 elections and verify their honesty. Approximately thirty nations, which had sent observers to the first round, were invited to return to El Salvador for the second round. The U.S. sent an official delegation composed of Members of Congress, Administration officials and prominent private citizens to each round.

Most first round observers noted that there were numerous administrative problems stemming primarily from misunderstandings about and from minor errors in the new national voter registry. However, all observers commented on the fairness of the elections. There were relatively few administrative problems during the second round, and the U.S. delegation noted that, "This election was fair and honest, and ...it provided a clear and undeniable mandate to whichever candidate is elected to begin to grapple with the manifold problems that confront this country after five years of turmoil and unrest." (See Appendix C)

No candidates representing the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front/Revolutionary Democratic Front (FMLN/FDR) participated in El Salvador's 1984 presidential elections. In both election rounds, guerrillas sought to disrupt the vote. Before the first round, they assassinated political leaders and announced their policy: "No to the electoral farce, yes to the people's war." During the first round, guerrillas successfully blocked delivery of electoral materials to some voting locations, stole thousands of identity documents to prevent citizens from voting, and destroyed electrical switching stations on election eve so that, in some cases, electoral materials had to be delivered in the dark, resulting in missing registry pages and other problems. Because of guerrilla actions, voting could not take place in 58 of El Salvador's municipalities. Since many of these towns are small or partially abandoned, only a tiny percentage of the electorate was unable to vote because of the guerrilla effort.

During the second round, the guerrillas set off bombs in San Salvador, again stole identity documents and launched a major attack on San Miguel, the country's third largest city. The Salvadoran Army thwarted the attack and voting proceeded normally in San Miguel and almost all of the rest of the country. Only 53 small municipalities were unable to vote because of guerrilla activity.

Before the elections, El Salvador's Minister of Defense, General Eugenio Vides Casanova, ordered the military to remain strictly apolitical and non-partisan. Although permitted to vote by the constitution, the Armed Forces High Command ordered military personnel not to vote in order to prevent any hint of favoritism. Regional commanders were ordered to offer "all (possible) support within the framework of the law" to the Central Elections Commission to guarantee an electoral process which was "free, legitimate and pure."

There were charges of political favoritism, but by and large the military lived up to its promise of neutrality. Extensive offensive operations to prevent the guerrillas from massing for a major disruption were conducted and, on both occasions, the strategy proved effective although it exacted a toll of over 100 deaths of military personnel.

On June 1, 1984, Jose Napoleon Duarte was inaugurated as president. His inauguration represented a watershed in El Salvador's efforts to build democratic institutions and the culmination of a political process that, during the past two years, had witnessed three vigorously contested elections. The high voter turnout on all occasions, active participation of the political parties and the military's efforts to protect the electoral process are clear indicators of the strength of the commitment of the Salvadoran Government and people to democracy.

B. ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE

President Duarte has made clear his Administration's commitment to improving the administration of justice in El Salvador. This will be a lengthy and difficult process involving a number of basic changes. He recognizes that the development of more effectiveness and greater equity in the system of justice is necessary for developing a more just society. By progressively strengthening the rule of law, the Duarte government intends to further diminish the violence which had long plagued El Salvador and which, although significantly reduced, continues at an unacceptable level.

During its first month in office, the new government has faced the task of integrating the measures on judicial reform taken under President Magana with its own ideas and proposals in this area. Among the principal judicial administration efforts undertaken by President Magana was the establishment of the Presidential Penal Legislation Revisory Commission. This is a commission of eminent lawyers from private practice, government ministries, the judiciary and the law faculties, tasked with conducting an in-depth study of the criminal justice system in El Salvador. Its mandate is far broader than its title; the Commission is to identify the problems, whether legislative, procedural or administrative, which prevent the judicial system from effectively administering justice and to identify solutions to those problems.

President Duarte also proposes to establish a presidential commission which would oversee investigations into extraordinary crimes. Specifically included in its mandate would be crimes committed by extremists both of the right and left; the activity of death squads would be among the principal investigative targets. As envisioned by the previous government, the Commission would direct the activities of a special unit capable of conducting successful investigations and thus directly support the Salvadoran courts in prosecuting cases involving terrorist activities. Training of personnel has begun. While the final form of the special commission hasnot been determined, President Duarte is committed to the creation of an effective investigative capability to combat the extremist terrorism which has plagued his country.

Protection of the judicial system is necessary to counter potential intimidation of judges, juries and witnesses. A judicial protection unit has been formed and charged with protecting participants in the judicial process. The first steps in establishing this unit have already been taken with sixty prison guards from the Ministry of Justice selected for training in the U.S. The course which they attended at the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center in Glynco, Georgia, was directed by the U.S. Marshal Service, with support from other agencies. In its first major assignment upon its return to El Salvador, the unit provided security at the trial of the five defendants accused of the 1980 murder of four U.S. churchwomen.

El Salvador is participating in regional initiatives, supported by the U.S., to strengthen the administration of justice. Representatives of Salvadoran lawyers associations participated in a March conference of Central American Bar Associations. In June, the Salvadoran Minister of Justice and representatives of the president's Penal Legislation Revisory Commission joined their colleagues from the region in meeting with the Latin American Institute for the Prevention of Crime and Treatment of Offenders, a UN-affiliated regional organization, to discuss and evaluate specific proposals for national actions.

C. CURTAILING DEATH SQUAD ACTIVITIES

The Salvadoran Government has taken several steps aimed specifically at curtailing the activities of death squads.

-- In December, several officers with alleged ties to the death squads were ordered transferred to posts out of the country and another was relieved of his command and suspended without pay.

-- On December 2, the National Police announced the arrest of three members of the Constituent Assembly's security force on charges of kidnapping. The arrests were made within 48 hours of the crime, and the suspects have since been consigned to the courts.

-- The chief of that force, who had often been linked in the public mind with death squad activity, lost his position with the change in Assembly leadership in late December.

-- New rules on arrests, discussed below, were established in December 1983 to prevent abuse, disappearances and death squad-related activities.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

-- On December 18, the Minister of Defense announced that a specialized investigative unit would be organized to investigate and combat the death squads. Training of an initial core group of investigators has begun. The future of this unit will be decided as part of the comprehensive program now being developed by President Duarte.

-- During the last week in May, several officers whose activities had been suspect were transferred abroad or removed from their posts.

-- Since coming into office June 1, President Duarte has taken important steps to assert control over the security forces, such as: establishing a Vice-Minister of Defense for Public Security, charged with monitoring security forces' activities; and the naming of two well-respected military officers untainted by allegations of human rights abuses as new Directors of the National Police and Treasury Police.

-- In the second week in June, the new Director of the Treasury Police disbanded the 110-member intelligence unit, considered by many an enclave of death squad plotting, and dispersed its members to units throughout the country.

Clearly, much remains to be done, but these steps demonstrated a renewed determination on the part of Salvadoran authorities to deal with the death squad spectre. While Salvadoran authorities generally cannot establish direct links which would stand up in court between the individuals transferred and death squad activities, its actions since January correlate with a perceptible decline in terrorist actions for which death squads have claimed responsibility or which can be reasonably attributed to them. In the past six months, the Maximiliano Hernandez Martinez Brigade has not claimed responsibility for any assassinations or other terrorist actions. The Secret Anti-Communist Army has claimed responsibility for several bombings and one assassination but has been less active in early 1984 than in late 1983.

D. FREEDOM OF ASSOCIATION AND GENERAL HUMAN RIGHTS CONSIDERATIONS

The right to freedom of association has been suspended by law in El Salvador for approximately the past five years except for periods of political campaigns and elections. This suspension has not been enforced, however, and in any event does not legally affect the right of assembly for religious, cultural, athletic and economic purposes. Political rallies were common even before the campaign period. The anti-government "Committee of Mothers of the Disappeared" held periodic protest rallies and large scale Salvadoran Peasant Union and Popular Democratic Unity (UCS/UPD) demonstrations were also held without incident. Despite these legal restrictions, the overall situation has continued to improve in 1984. Violence against civilians for their association with organizations perceived by some to be politically dangerous, such as trade unions, political parties and academic institutions, has declined significantly this year. No religious or trade union leaders or prominent academic figures have disappeared or been killed by death squads in 1984. Two union members did disappear in 1984, however, and both Archbishop Arturo Rivera y Damas and Auxiliary Bishop Gregorio Rosa Chavez received death threats in late 1983. The guerrillas have claimed responsibility for the assassinations of several prominent politicians, including members of the Legislative Assembly.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights

This improvement in the overall situation notwithstanding, the polarization that is both a cause and an effect of the ongoing guerrilla conflict has combined with legal restrictions to limit effectively the full exercise of freedom of association. People are still killed each month because they are perceived to be associated with the extreme left or right. Others receive death threats because of their membership in organizations considered suspect by the extreme right or extreme left.

Salvadoran trade unions are independent and free of government control. The right to strike, organize and negotiate is recognized by the constitution and the Salvadoran labor code. The government does prohibit labor activity with potential repercussions on the national economy, but this has not been strictly enforced in the private sector. Public employee unions have no legal status but are organized and have strong de facto influence. There have been a number of calmly resolved public sector strikes in 1984.

Three members of the National Assembly from rightist and centrist political parties were assassinated in 1984. Guerrilla groups have claimed responsibility for two of them and are believed by Salvadoran authorities to be responsible for the third. Guerrillas are also believed responsible for the murder of two prominent members of the ARENA party.

To protect the rights of persons suspected of state-of-emergency or other crimes, the Minister of Defense established new rules for making arrests in December 1983, requiring arresting officers to be in uniform or properly identified. Arresting officers must advise the detainee's family, the Human Rights Commission and the International Committee of the Red Cross. Initial reports indicate that the new guidelines are being followed. The new directors of the National and Treasury Police say they will be firmly enforced.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights

On February 24, 1984, El Salvador's Legislative Assembly unanimously passed Decree 50, a procedural law applicable to certain offenses during periods in which constitutional guarantees have been suspended, such as the current state of emergency. A proposed revision of the criminal code is intended to make Decree 50 explicitly applicable to death squad murders. Under the present code, Decree 50 procedures apply to crimes against the state such as treason, sabotage and rebellion.

Cases brought under Decree 50, are tried in the military courts. Suspects can be held under administrative detention for 15 days. Suspects have no right to counsel while being detained administratively, but can retain counsel as soon as the military investigatory judge orders provisional detention for further investigation. The military investigatory judge may hold a suspect no more than 60 days before he must send the case to the trial court.

Decree 50 replaced an earlier emergency law, Decree 507, and is intended to provide increased protection for those arrested. The periods of permissible detention before a defendant must be charged have been cut in half. If security forces hold a suspect in violation of his rights under the new decree, they can be prosecuted for false imprisonment. Extra-judicial confessions obtained by the security forces are not admissible unless they meet the requirements of the Salvadoran code of criminal procedure. Among other things, two witnesses to such a confession must swear to the military investigatory judge that no coercion was used in obtaining the confession.

Decree 50 courts were established immediately after the decree came into effect, but logistical and bureaucratic considerations continue to hinder their ability to operate. There are currently four instructional judges working on Decree 50 matters who are charged with conducting investigations in Decree 50 cases. From the beginning, these judges have been charged specifically with reducing the backlog of cases generated under Decree 507. Because the procedural terms of Decree 50 now control Decree 507 cases, the backlog has already been reduced, and an effort is underway to eliminate the backlog entirely and ensure that judicial proceedings conform to the timetable mandated by Decree 50. To date, more than 250 persons held under Decree 507 have been released from custody through operation of the Decree 50 courts. Remaining Decree 507 detainees, numbering approximately 500, are now being processed through the system in accordance with the terms of Decree 50.

El Salvador: Human Rights

While all statistics on civilian deaths in El Salvador are unreliable except as indicators of trends, the U.S. Embassy in San Salvador has kept systematic records on published reports of political violence in El Salvador since September of 1980. For consistency's sake, these statistics are culled only from the information in the Salvadoran press. Other organizations offer other statistics which differ among themselves and with the Embassy's estimates. Tutela Legal, for example, includes in its statistics claimed civilian deaths that occur during military engagements; these comprise nearly 80 percent of Tutela Legal's total of civilian deaths. (The basis for these claims is sometimes questionable. For example, when the Salvadoran Army claimed it had inflicted 250 guerrilla casualties during the New Year's Eve attack on Fourth Brigade Headquarters in El Paraiso, Chalatenango, Tutela Legal recorded 250 civilian deaths at the hands of the armed forces. In fact, the army's claim appears to have been exaggerated and we are unaware of any civilian deaths in that engagement.) Much of Tutela Legal's data appears to be culled from the press, as evidenced in the comparison at appendix F of newspaper reports of guerrilla casualties with Tutela Legal's civilian casualty claims.

Despite the unavoidable inaccuracies, all sources indicate a positive downward trend. That is confirmed by other sources. While the Embassy's press methodology cannot record every death attributable to political violence, the figures do reflect a steady decline: an average of 93 per month in the first five months of 1984, or a total of 465. This compares with an average of 139 per month in 1983 (total for the first five months was, however, double that of 1984, or 928. The monthly average was 298 in 1982, 444 in 1981 and, over 800 when counting began in 1980).

E. U.S. CITIZEN MURDER CASES

The Churchwomen: On May 24, Subsergeant Luis Colindres Aleman and four other ex-National Guardsmen charged with the December 1980 murders of four American churchwomen, Ita Ford, Dorothy Kazel, Maura Clarke and Jean Donovan, were found guilty by a Salvadoran jury. On June 18, all of the five were sentenced to thirty years in prison with no possibility of parole, the maximum sentence allowable under Salvadoran law. The conviction provided clear evidence that the Salvadoran judicial system can work and is a significant potential milestone in the establishment of an effective, functioning system of criminal justice, in which the rule of law can help to restrain and displace the political violence that has plagued El Salvador for so many years.

The AIFLD Murders: The case against the two gunmen charged with the murders of Mark Pearlman and Michael Hammer was raised to plenario, the final stage of Salvadoran judicial proceedings, on March 29, 1984. It is clear, however, that the gunmen did not act alone -- others were involved. Prosecution efforts to bring the others to trial with the gunmen have encountered difficulties. On April 27, 1983, the court provisionally dismissed charges against one of those alleged higher-ups, Lieutenant Lopez Sibrian. That dismissal was appealed by the prosecution, but in November of 1983, the appellate court ruled that the provisional dismissal was correct. Under the terms of the Salvadoran code, new evidence must be produced within one year of the effective date of dismissal. Because the provisional dismissal of the charges against Lopez Sibrian was not resolved until November 30, 1983, prosecutors believe that they have until November 30, 1984, to produce new evidence against Lopez Sibrian. But, on April 27, 1984, Lopez Sibrian's attorney requested that the original provisional dismissal granted on the same date in 1983 be declared final. The court granted the motion. Prosecutors appealed the judge's ruling on the motion, but on June 29, the appeals court upheld the lower court's definitive dismissal of charges. Prosecutors now plan to file an appeal before the Supreme Court. Coincident with the appeals action, prosecutors will continue efforts to obtain testimony from a potentially key witness, Captain Eduardo Avila.

Michael Kline: Salvadoran soldiers shot and killed Michael Kline on October 13, 1982. Mr. Kline had been travelling through El Salvador by public bus en route to Costa Rica. The soldiers stopped his bus at a checkpoint. Apparently, they believed there was something suspicious about Mr. Kline, so they took him off the bus and put him on a truck, reportedly to take him to their headquarters in San Francisco Gotera.

Michael Kline was killed before reaching San Francisco Gotera. The soldiers escorting him first claimed that he had tried to grab a gun and, failing that, tried to escape. They stated that they shot him from a distance as he fled. Autopsy evidence, however, revealed that Mr. Kline had been shot at close range. The three soldiers subsequently confessed to the murder, and the case against them was raised to plenario. Defense attorneys have appealed the judge's decision to elevate the case to plenario, and in a June ruling, the appeals court remanded the case to the Court of First Instance for further investigation. The accused remain under detention while the investigation continues. The compilation of evidence to bring this case to trial is now being carried out under the direction of Dr. Juan Geronimo Castillo, who successfully led the prosecution team in the case of the four murdered American churchwomen.

John Sullivan: Mr. Sullivan was killed in El Salvador, apparently during the night of December 28, 1980. His body, mutilated beyond recognition, was found near Nuevo Cuscatlan on the morning of December 29, 1980, and buried the following day. Based on an anonymous tip, Salvadoran authorities located Mr. Sullivan's body in June 1982, and it was positively identified in the United States in February 1983. The American medical examiner was unable to determine the cause of Mr. Sullivan's death, nor was he able to find any forensic evidence that might assist in finding the killers.

Salvadoran authorities continue to investigate the circumstances surrounding Mr. Sullivan's death but have been unable to learn the identity of his killers.

Lieutenant Commander Albert A. Schaufelberger, III: The Deputy Commander of the U.S. Military Assistance Group in El Salvador, Lieutenant Commander Albert Schaufelberger was murdered on the campus of the University of Central America in San Salvador on May 25, 1983. The Popular Liberation Forces (FPL), an extreme left-wing guerrilla faction, and the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front (FMLN), the umbrella organization of the five guerrilla organizations, claimed responsibility for the murder. Salvadoran authorities, in the fall of 1983, arrested and obtained a confession from an FPL member, Daniel Alvarado Rivera. However, after an investigation involving polygraphic examinations and a comparison of the confession with the physical evidence, the United States Government concluded that the accused was not involved in the crime and that he had confessed under duress. Salvadoran authorities discontinued pursuing the assassination charge but continued to detain Alvarado on other terrorist charges. In May his case was raised to plenario. Additional leads to Lieutenant Commander Schaufelberger's killers are now being sought.

Patricia Cuellar: Ms. Cuellar, a dual Salvadoran-American citizen, disappeared from her residence in San Salvador on July 18, 1982. Later the same day, her Salvadoran father, an executive director of a major businessmen's association, and his maid, also disappeared. An eyewitness interviewed by the National Police and polygraphed by the FBI was unable to offer any information that would have identified the abductors. There are no new leads in the case.

Linda Cancel: U.S. citizen Linda Cancel was killed early this year by guerrilla gunfire while she and her husband and two children were travelling in their vehicle on the Pan American Highway to Honduras.

John Hoagland: U.S. photographer, John Hoagland, was also killed earlier this year when the guerrillas opened fire on the Salvadoran Army unit with which he was travelling.

F. DIALOGUE

Throughout his presidential campaign and since, President Duarte repeatedly has stated his support for and openness to a dialogue with the FMLN/FDR. He has stressed his conviction that the integration of all segments of Salvadoran society into the democratic process is fundamental to achieving peace and social equity. President Duarte has also stated that he will work to forge a climate of security and confidence which will allow all elements of society which truly believe in democratic government the opportunity to seek their goals freely and openly through democratic means. At the same time, he has made it clear that he will not engage in power sharing negotiations without elections and that he will discuss the issues only with a guerrilla political leadership that can demonstrate its control over its armed factions.

While the FMLN/FDR has emphasized its flexiblity and sought to increase pressure on Duarte to accept its own agenda for dialogue, it has not modified its demand for a share of governmental power as a precondition to addressing specific programs that would lead to elections.

SECURITY

A. THE MILITARY SITUATION

There are an estimated 9,000-11,000 guerrillas in five insurgent bands unified under the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front (FMLN) umbrella organization: the Revolutionary Party of Central American Workers (PRTC); the People's Revolutionary Army (ERP), the Armed Forces of National Resistance (FARN); the Armed Forces of Liberation (FAL); and the Farabundo Marti Popular Liberation Forces (FPL). In addition, the urban terrorists of the Clara Elizabeth Ramirez Front (CERF) have splintered from the FPL and are not part of the FMLN. The insurgent forces are able to conduct hit and run operations and economic sabotage in areas where the Salvadoran Armed Forces cannot maintain constant control due to a lack of manpower and mobility. Since the fall of 1983 these groups have operated in larger units and are better able to coordinate action, but cannot hold their positions in the face of a concerted government effort.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights

Over the last five months, the guerrillas have claimed responsibility for or are strongly suspected of eight assassinations of politicians and retired military officers. Guerrillas have also dramatically escalated their forced recruitment tactics. Salvadoran authorities estimate that between March 1 and June 9 at least 1,500 young men were abducted by the guerrillas, while human rights organizations report that refugees fleeing into Honduras assert that they are doing so to escape guerrilla recruitment drives.

Since mid-January, the Armed Forces are more than holding their own against the guerrillas. The November 1983 restructuring of the Armed Forces has placed more competent and aggressive commanders in key posts and has streamlined command and control. The military protected the elections of March 25 and May 6, honored the results, and remain apolitical. After the June 1 inauguration, the military once again initiated a large counterinsurgency operation throughout the country, supplemented by small unit patrolling. The military strategy has been to apply pressure to rebel supply routes in order to control subversive activity, thereby keeping insurgent forces off-balance and impeding their preparation for a new offensive expected later this year.

The June 28, 1984 guerrilla attack on Cerron Grande Dam, El Salvador's largest hydroelectric plant, points up the Salvadoran military's increased effectiveness in reacting to a concerted guerrilla effort. The guerrillas attacked the dam at 2:30 am, June 28. By 3:30 am the General Staff had assembled and was coordinating the response. Between 6:00 am and first light, 600 troops of the Airborne Battalion were transported to the dam using repeated trips with only 10 helicopters. Other troops were ambushed by the guerrillas as they moved by road to the dam.

At 10:30 am, President Duarte was briefed by the General Staff and ordered Chief of Staff Blandon to retake the dam at all costs. Moments later the Airborne Battalion reported they had penetrated the perimeter and were slowly moving floor by floor through the powerhouse. By noon the entire facilty was under the control of government forces.

While the attack on the dam reflected a lapse of security, the quick response by the Salvadoran Armed Forces and President Duarte prevented greater damage by the guerrillas who threatened to blow the dam. Duarte's role as commander-in-chief at the General Staff and later at the dam itself was impressive and in many respects unprecedented.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights

President Duarte has said that, as Commander-in-Chief of the Armed Forces, he will explore with the military the possibility of further reorganization and improvement of the military in order to enhance professionalism and inculcate full respect for human values. He has asked General Vides Casanova to remain as Minister of Defense and oversee the initial efforts of the new administration.

B. OVERVIEW OF U.S. MILITARY ASSISTANCE

The FY-1984 and 1985 military assistance program has been developed to assist the Salvadoran Armed Forces in gaining and maintaining the initiative over the guerrillas, while protecting the economic infrastructure and re-establishing public order. The Salvadoran Armed Forces have developed and are committed to a strategy designed to take the war to the guerrillas and to reassert governmental authority in rural areas, thus allowing the government to expand its reformist programs to areas which suffer from continued instability and destruction.

U.S. provided military materiel and services will directly benefit the economy by improving internal security and protecting the economic infrastructure. Furthermore, the establishment of a secure environment conducive to investor and consumer confidence will further the government's ability to address social, political and economic issues. A major component of U.S. security assistance is to provide training that stresses professionalism, discipline and respect for the fundamental rights of civilians.

Since 1979, the Armed Forces have tripled in strength and comprise the following elements: an army of approximately 29,500; a navy of about 500 (including a naval commando company); and an air force of some 500 personnel. The Public Security Forces (National Guard, National Police, and Treasury Police) number approximately 10,000 in total strength. President Duarte has centralized the command of the Security Forces under a Vice-Minister directly responsible to the Defense Minister.

Specific objectives of U.S. military assistance are to:

-- provide the resources necessary to field and sustain a professional fighting force;

-- continue the modernization and standardization of the force;

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

-- enable the Salvadoran Government to gain and maintain the initiative over the guerrillas;

-- assist the military to extend successfully the National Campaign Plan throughout El Salvador by means of continued force expansion, increased operational capability, effectiveness and efficiency; and

-- allow the Salvadoran military to continue field operations rather than adopt a defensive strategy.

The capability of the military to react quickly to sudden developments suffers from continued equipment shortages of such items as helicopters, transport aircraft, communications equipment and vehicles. These factors are of major importance in maintaining command and control over troops in the field, with implications for both the counter-guerrilla effort and the effort to curb human rights abuses.

C. ASSISTANCE REQUIREMENTS

1. Development of a Medical Evacuation and Training System

Considerable progress has been made in assisting the Salvadoran Armed Forces to develop an effective medical evacuation and training system. From June 1983 to the present, a humanitarian medical mobile training team (MTT) has been assisting and training the military's medical corps. The MTT has trained 466 combat medics, 46 medical service officers, 20 intensive care nurses, and 5 biomedical technicians. Additionally, 4 medical evacuation helicopters and 10 battlefield ambulances have been provided as the nucleus of an effective battlefield evacuation system.

2. Training of the Armed Forces of El Salvador

Training has progressed at an acceptable rate with the exception of some training in Panama deferred due to a lack of funds. The combination of training battalions at the Regional Military Training Center (RMTC) in Honduras and in El Salvador, and training individual officers and NCOs in the United States and Panama has begun to show results as demonstrated by protection/control operations during the two rounds of presidential elections.

3. Ammunition, Weapons and Combat Support Equipment Losses and Expenditures

In all insurgencies, guerrilla and terrorist forces exert considerable effort to capture arms and materiel from the government they oppose. The U.S. Government has sold some 36,000 items of ordnance (rifles, grenade launchers, machine guns, mortars) to the Government of El Salvador. Of these ordnance items, under 2,500 of them have been recorded as battlefield losses, reported as stolen, or listed as missing. Even if it were assumed they all were in guerrilla hands, this would represent only about 7 percent of the ordnance items provided by the U.S. Government to El Salvador. The Salvadoran guerrillas continue to rely heavily on outside support for their weapons and supplies -- mainly transiting from Nicaragua.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights

Because release of statistics on expenditures of ammunition could compromise the ammunition supply system of the Salvadoran Armed Forces, this information is being supplied in a separate classified submission to the Congress.

4. Acquisition and Support of Tactical Communications

The U.S. security assistance program has recently provided 1000 sets of PRC-77 radios to assist the Salvadoran Armed Forces tactical and national strategic communications network, and the establishment of a secure command telephone network has been established enabling the General Staff and major field commanders to communicate using secure voice. With additional funds, the Armed Forces are planning to acquire an additional 600 PRC-77 radios. When additional funds become available, they also will be purchasing High Frequency (HF) PRC-70 radios for direct communications between the General Staff, the brigades and battalions operating in the field, as well as support equipment and supplies needed at their depot and organizational repair facilities. It is estimated that approximately $4 million will be required.

5. Rate of Spare Parts Usage

Based on current use and past performance, the annual rate of usage of spare parts for the past year is estimated at $12 million. We estimate that with the infusion of new equipment and with an expected rise in the level of hostilities, this rate will double in the coming year.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

A. OVERVIEW

El Salvador's economy is traditionally centered on coffee, sugar, cotton and subsistence crops (corn and beans). Development of the Central American Common Market during the

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

1960's and 1970's encouraged manufacturing industries, which led El Salvador's 5 percent average annual real growth from 1961 to 1978.

Despite a series of sweeping economic reforms since 1979, successive Salvadoran governments have faced the problems of a rapidly deteriorating economy buffeted by civil violence. Between 1978 and 1983, GDP fell by about 25 percent in real terms, exports dropped 40 percent, and unemployment increased to an estimated one-third of the work force. The violence triggered large-scale capital flight, reduced public and private investment, interfered with production and exports, and generated fear and uncertainty in the private sector. Depressed commodity prices, declining export demand for Salvadoran manufactures, high interest rates and a sharply rising oil bill exacerbated the declin-. Foreign borrowing to finance security operations and maintain vital services has led to a growing and increasingly burdensome public debt.

Recovery has been hampered by an ongoing insurrection and its financial and economic effects. Attacks by guerrillas on production facilities and the basic infrastructure, particularly transport and electrical transmission facilities, are estimated to have cost the Salvadoran economy more than $800 million since 1979. U.S. and other donor assistance is essential for recovery, aided by economic policy reforms, recently improving markets for Salvadoran exports, and progress on the political and security fronts. The decline in GDP was arrested in 1983, and El Salvador may register modest real economic growth in 1984.

Nevertheless, the Salvadoran economy faces recovery from an extremely low base. Urban unemployment remains high, and the estimated 14-16 percent inflation rate is unusually high for El Salvador. Most significant for the prospects for growth, the Salvadoran economy is crippled by a scarcity of foreign exchange to purchase needed imports of spare parts, machinery and raw materials. Continued U.S. economic assistance ($198.6 million in FY-1984, plus the legislative request of $134 million in supplemental funding for FY-1984 and $341.1 million for FY-1985) should help El Salvador achieve economic stabilization and some modest growth. The revitalization of El Salvador's private sector would benefit greatly from enactment of the requested legislative authority for short-term trade credit guarantees. In addition, the newly-installed Duarte Administration is expected to begin discussions shortly with the International Monetary Fund on a new standby arrangement, which would be an additional positive development toward stabilization and economic recovery.

B. LAND REFORM

El Salvador's four-year effort to bring about a more equitable distribution of land ownership and agricultural wealth has made significant progress towards its overall goals. Over 93,000 Salvadorans have received land either individually or as members of cooperatives. Including families, more than 560,000 people have benefitted from the agrarian reform, and some 23 percent of El Salvador's total farmland has been transferred to those who previously worked the land but did not own it. More than 12 percent of El Salvador's total population and perhaps 25 percent of the rural poor have benefitted.

A great deal has been accomplished to resolve both the current and the long-term problems confronting the agrarian reform program. This has been done despite depressed world agricultural prices, bad weather, the destruction of the guerrilla war and the violent opposition of the far left and far right. Continued constant attention, technical expertise, devotion of resources, and hard work will be necessary if El Salvador is to continue the momentum of the past four years.

Phase I

The first step of Phase I has been completed. All farm holdings over 500 hectares have been transformed into cooperatives by the government. The Salvadoran Institute for Agrarian Transformation (ISTA), the main implementing agency for Phase I, now has co-management responsibilities for 317 cooperatives (with 31,359 members and 188,000 beneficiaries including family members) encompassing some 426 properties. About 40 of these cooperatives have been abandoned due to violence in the countryside. Well over half of the abandoned farms are located in the departments of San Vicente and Usulutan. However, since the initiation of the National Campaign Plan, a major civilian-military effort to provide security and restore needed social services, five cooperatives have been reactivated in San Vicente. Others are seeking loans to resume planting which had ceased because of the violence. The National Plan area was extended to the department of Usulutan in February of this year.

Because the Phase I cooperatives are large, complex businesses that require an extensive knowledge of credit flows, financial management, accounting procedures, world commodity markets and basic agricultural methods, management is an essential ingredient and important priority in the Phase I effort. Obtaining managerial expertise has been a problem, but farm management capability is slowly improving. In Usulutan

Department six cotton-growing cooperatives, which last year planted only some 10 percent of their available land, will soon receive the managerial assistance and credit required to increase significantly plantings and production during the current crop year. Other remaining problems include compensation to former owners, completion of titling and increasing profit margins. All these areas require significant additional resources. Those cooperatives which have been abandoned because of the fighting must be made secure from guerrilla attacks and reopened.

Compensation in Phase I of the reform consists of long-term interest-bearing bonds for land, and a mix of cash and short-term bonds for livestock, machinery and equipment. As of May 30, 1984, compensation paid on 249 of the 426 properties totaled the equivalent of $165 million, including $13.6 million in cash and $151.3 million in bonds. Cumulative interest payments on Phase I bonds now stand at $14.9 million.

Phase II

The Salvadoran constitution promulgated on December 20, 1983, establishes a ceiling of 245 hectares (605 acres) on the amount of land that a corporation or individual may own. It gives affected owners up to three years to sell property in excess of the limit to campesinos or campesino associations. The land may not be sold to close relatives by either blood or marriage, and any purchaser is subject to the same constitutional ceiling on cumulative ownership. The state is empowered to expropriate without prior compensation any excess land not disposed of by the owner within the three-year period. Observers estimate the amount of excess land affected by the new Phase II ceiling to be between 20,000 and 70,000 acres.

With the constitutional clarification of the status of land affected by Phase II, it is anticipated that production on farms in this category will increase significantly. Previously, owners of medium-sized forms were often reluctant to invest in their land due to uncertainty over the amount they would be able to retain. More importantly, after four years of controversy, El Salvador has defined its Phase II objectives by a democratic process, and thus Phase II can now be implemented.

Phase III

The Salvadoran Government continued to support Phase III during the past five months:

-- 2,122 farmers filed applications for over 7,302 acres;
-- 854 provisional titles were issued;
-- 2,544 definitive titles were granted.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

Applications in the relatively peaceful parts of the country have fallen off in recent months, suggesting that a significant percentage of the beneficiary population has applied for or received land.

The legal authority for continued Phase III land applications expired on June 30, 1984. The deadline had been thrice extended beyond its original April 1981 expiration date, and the Legislative Assembly determined that a fourth extension was not called for. Nevertheless, persons who have filed their initial applications, but not completed all of the required eligibility documents, will be allowed to complete the application process. Nearly 10,000 campesinos fall into that category. President Duarte has also noted that a special effort would be made, consistent with the constitution, to develop land ownership programs for peasants in the contested areas who have not had an opportunity to apply under Phase III because of violence and dislocation.

Throughout the country farmers are now on their way to owning the land they previously sharecropped or rented. Over the past four years, some 62,692 persons have filed title petitions. A total of 56,141 provisional titles and 10,356 definitive titles have been issued, with nearly 5,000 of the definitive titles issued since late December 1983. Some 235,711 acres, nearly seven percent of the farm land has been affected by the Phase III program.

Phase III cash compensation is now the equivalent of $5,113,058, and $554,335 in interest payments on Phase III bonds has been paid. As of May 4, 1984, the number of compensated property owners stood at 645, an increase of 146 since December 1983. (The compensation schedule on Phase III transactions is 50 percent cash and 50 percent bonds for affected properties under 100 hectares. For properties over 100 hectares, the compensation schedule is 25 percent cash and 75 percent in bonds.) Phase III compensation as of May 4, 1984, totaled the equivalent of $12.3 million in bonds and cash, and the 1984 central government budget includes the equivalent of $13.9 million for agrarian reform compensation. The government continues efforts to make bonds a more attractive instrument of payment. Interest coupons can be used to pay some taxes, and are traded (at a discount) on a secondary market. In cooperation with the private sector, the government is investigating ways in which the bonds would be directly traded in exchange for shares in businesses now publicly owned.

C. ORGANIZED LABOR

The work force of El Salvador is largely agricultural, while the number of workers in manufacturing, construction and service industries has declined steadily over the past five years. Organized labor has devoted much of its time reacting to the effects of the economic decline, the armed conflict, a continuing high rate of layoffs, missed government salary payments, and the high rate of unemployment. These problems have strengthened union cohesion. The resolution of several public and private sector strikes since January and the end of the wage freeze decree in December 1983 have led to rising expectations of wage increases among workers in all sectors, and pressures for wage increases have become one of the most serious challenges that the new government faces. One of the government's first priorities was to negotiate the wage strike of the nation's postal workers.

Total union membership peaked in 1977, with over 76,000 registered members and dropped to a low of 55,200 the following year. Membership climbed back to 71,000 by 1980, and to 74,000 by 1983.

There are three major political umbrella groups for labor. Largest and most important of these is the Popular Democratic Unity (UPD), which brings together independent, democratic federations into a centrist coalition lobby. The moderate, center-left UPD represents urban unions and campesino associations and routinely denounces the right's unwillingness to listen to labor demands and the left's attempt to manipulate the economic grievances of the public and private employee associations. The urban federation members of the UPD have been hard hit by the unemployment crisis, and the UPD campesino associations continue to push vigorously the agrarian reform process. Before the presidential elections of March 25, the UPD pledged to support the Christian Democratic Party (PDC). Subsequently, several UPD representatives were appointed by President Duarte to administration positions related to labor and agrarian affairs.

Further to the right is an informal alliance of the General Confederation of Unions (CGS) and the National Confederation of Workers (CNT). The CGS, much smaller than the UPD, was affiliated with the Inter-American Regional Organization of Workers (ORIT), an arm of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions (ICTFU), until its expulsion in 1979 on charges of corruption and domination by the National Conciliation Party (PCN).

The third umbrella association is the left-leaning Labor Unity Movement of El Salvador (MUSYGES), a loose grouping of unions with an assortment of philosophies on both politics and labor activism. Also operating within the labor left and MUSYGES are groups -- some underground -- with close ties to the armed, violent left. They collectively represent less than 13,000 workers and campesinos. Leadership is often political rather than trade union oriented. A peaceful May Day demonstration organized this year by MUSYGES attracted fewer than 1,000 people.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights

A dialogue concerning the labor code and reform measures was begun and continued among business, labor and government through the tripartite commission of the Ministry of Labor. The discussions center around workers' rights and collective bargaining. The end of the wage freeze law in December 1983 has assisted in labor negotiations. Officials of the Ministry of Labor and labor leaders are hopeful that the labor code commission will strengthen the government's role in protecting labor against offenses and that additional labor code legislation will further guarantee workers' rights.

U.S. Government relations with organized urban and campesino labor in El Salvador are largely indirect: the American Institute for Free Labor Development (AIFLD) is funded jointly by the U.S. Government and the AFL-CIO. Although it has recently devoted increased attention to urban labor, during the past three or four years AIFLD has been primarily engaged in supporting agarian reform and the campesino movement.

President Duarte has announced his support for the free trade unions and has demonstrated it through his relationship with the UPD and recent appointments of union labor leaders to important government posts. The Salvadoran President has named Jorge Camacho of the Association of Cooperatives of Integrated Livestock Products (ACOPAI), a peasant union, as Vice-Minister of Agriculture. Camacho's deputy in ACOPAI, Marco Salazar, holds a key post in the Phase III agrarian reform institution, FINATA. The Salvadoran Communal Union (UCS) Secretary General Samuel Maldonado, another peasant leader, is the new President of the Phase I agrarian reform institution, ISTA. UCS Secretary of Organization, Ramon Mendoza, has been named Vice President of the Agricultural Development Bank (BFA).

In 1984 two union activists have disappeared while no union leaders are known to have been murdered. Fifteen members of the Revolutionary Syndicate Federation (FSR), which is linked to the Popular Liberation Forces (FPL), were arrested in January 1984 while participating in a clandestine meeting. Six were released and nine are now detained in Mariona prison, accused of conspiring against the government.

D. U.S. ECONOMIC ASSISTANCE

El Salvador needs to correct historical imbalances in its economic and social structure. The country's high population density and continued high fertility rates, its dependence on a few export crops, skewed income distribution, and lack of natural resources present a formidable challenge to successful social development.

Economic Support Fund (ESF) assistance has become the single most important element of U.S. economic assistance for El Salvador, accounting for nearly 60 percent of the total in fiscal years 1982 and 1983, with the same planned for FY-1984 and FY-1985. The main purpose of ESF has been to stabilize the economy by arresting the precipitate four-year decline in GDP. Specific short-term macroeconomic goals include achievement of a 1-2 percent real GDP growth rate in 1984 and 3 percent in 1985, and establishment of a basis for long-term, broad-based growth.

The newly elected Duarte government faces serious economic problems and will require continued U.S. economic assistance to enable it to complete the economic stabilization program, undertake policy reforms aimed at sustained and equitable growth, and institutionalize democratic processes. Establishing the fundamental conditions of peace and social stability will have to accompany any major effort to address longer-term development needs. To this end, U.S. financing supports Salvadoran efforts to improve the criminal justice system, expand the free democratic labor unions and strengthen the process of democratic social reform. The development strategy utilizes the experience and assistance of U.S. and local private voluntary organizations. These agencies bring to the development effort technical skills and program approaches well adapted to this society.

U.S. economic assistance will satisfy only part of El Salvador's requirements. Significant positive growth is an achievable goal, but it will require a favorable economic policy environment, increased U.S. support, a new International Monetary Fund arrangement and increased World Bank assistance, better prices for Salvadoran export crops, an improved world economy and, above all, improvement in the security situation and investment climate.

U.S. assistance is essential to extend the coverage and improve the quality of health and education services. The strategy is to deal immediately with the symptoms (e.g., absence of medicines and supplies, closed schools and lack of textbooks) while strengthening the systems (e.g., health logistics, improved training and supervision of health care providers, and education administration).

Salvadoran efforts emphasize reversing the process of economic deterioration and improving the quality of social services. Current humanitarian assistance programs will be expanded and improved, including the restoration of strife-torn areas and assisting the voluntary resettlement of displaced persons. U.S. economic assistance is designed to help the Salvadoran Government:

-- maintain or increase imports which support agricultural and industrial production;

-- guarantee food stocks;

-- restore health and education systems and infrastructure in areas where guerrilla action has destroyed or jeopardized existing systems, and restore the quality and efficiency of those systems throughout the country to pre-conflict levels or better;

-- develop new infrastructure, such as small irrigation systems and access roads, needed to improve yields and market access for new landowners;

-- support public sector efforts in employment, maternal health services and humanitarian assistance for displaced persons.

- improve housing and community services for people with limited access to start-up capital; and -- provide financial and technical support for the land reform program;

-- encourage development of exports and expanded production of private businesses, both small and large, emphasizing enterprises which contribute to foreign exchange earnings and generate employment;

-- support credit programs which provide capital to small farmers and businessmen who are participating, often for the first time, as full partners in the private enterprise economy;

-- improve marketing efficiency so that local producers are more competitive.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

-- strengthen democratic institutions, such as the Central Elections Council; and

-- utilize the special opportunities presented by the Caribbean Basin Initiative.

The Caribbean Basin Economic Recovery Act, also known as the Carribean Basin Initiative (CBI), came into effect on January 1, 1984, and eliminates duties on most U.S. imports if they originate in designated Caribbean Basin countries. The President designated El Salvador as a CBI beneficiary on December 29, 1983.

The immediate benefits of the Act for El Salvador will be modest. The CBI should have a longer term effect, however, in that it will encourage changes in Salvadoran production and marketing strategies. Salvadoran producers of previously dutiable exports to the U.S. will receive higher revenues as a result of the duty elimination.

REFUGEES AND DISPLACED PERSONS

Large numbers of Salvadorans have fled to neighboring nations in order to avoid military strife. An estimated 58,000-67,000 Salvadorans have taken refuge in Mexico and other Central American states. Approximately 18,000-20,000 Salvadorans have crossed the border to take refuge in Honduras; 10,000-12,000 are in Mexico; 15,000-18,000 are in Costa Rica; and 15,000-17,000 are in Nicaragua. Recently, large numbers of Salvadoran civilians have begun transitting through Honduras to reach government-controlled areas of El Salvador. Their primary reasons for leaving their homes is to avoid forced impressment into service for the guerrillas.

An estimated 450,000-500,000 Salvadorans are internally displaced. In general, displaced persons prefer to reside away from the conflict with friends and relatives, if possible. Otherwise they build temporary settlements on unoccupied land or live in special camps administered by organizations such as the Roman Catholic Church. Approximately 75 percent of the displaced population receives assistance from the Government of El Salvador through its National Commission for Displaced Persons (CONADES). Additional support comes from private local and international contributors. The International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) assists displaced persons in areas inaccessible to other relief organizations because of the conflict.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

Living conditions of displaced persons depend upon factors such as their willingness to accept assistance from CONADES, their economic well-being prior to displacement, and the public infrastructure in the areas they have settled. Similarly, living conditions in camps administered by the same organization differ because of infrastructure and available management.

The United States contributed $10.5 million for displaced persons in El Salvador during fiscal years 1982 and 1983. Congress earmarked $10 million of FY 1984 funds for the displaced persons of El Salvador. The Agency for International Development has projected $20 million per year for the next three years for the continued assistance to displaced persons in El Salvador.

The principal U.S. humanitarian assistance effort has been the Emergency Health and Jobs for Displaced Persons Project, which provides preventative health, other medical assistance and employment in community and camp improvement projects. Increased emphasis will be given to the improvement of sanitation facilities in the displaced persons camps and to a nutrition program for children and nursing mothers. P.L. 480 commodity assistance will continue to provide basic food supplements to displaced persons participating in the work programs and to other displaced persons through the U.N.'s World Food Program and CARITAS.

Displaced persons not registered with CONADES have access to U.S. provided medical assistance and nutritional supplements through CARITAS. Displaced persons residing in areas of conflict are reached through the ICRC. In addition to regular payment to the world-wide operating costs of the ICRC, the U.S. has given $2 million of FY 1984 funds for the ICRC to use in its program to assist displaced persons in El Salvador.

The goal of U.S. policy remains the speedy voluntary return of refugees and displaced persons to their homes. Democratization and the ending of the guerrilla threat are important requirements for the establishment of a climate of peace and development in those areas from which the displaced and the refugees have fled.

In the shorter term, initiatives currently pursued by the U.S. to assist the displaced persons are to improve the effectiveness of the program to assist displaced persons in El Salvador and to encourage improved coordination among the approximately two dozen groups providing assistance to displaced Salvadorans. (A local Private Voluntary Organization Coordination Committee meets regularly to discuss coordination issues.)

JOINT COMMUNIQUE

President Ronald Reagan and President-elect Jose Napoleon Duarte have undertaken consultations together, May 21, 1984, in recognition that a new chapter in the history of El Salvador as a democratic nation is about to be enacted.

During the past three years, Salvadorans of widely differing political views have joined together in a process of building democracy which has moved successfully through the stages of elections for a Constituent Assembly in March 1982, approval of a new constitution and the presidential elections, just completed. The United States applauds this historic process and proudly welcomes President-elect Duarte as the first freely and directly elected leader of democratic El Salvador.

The two Presidents, having reviewed the problems of Central America, which are of concern to free people throughout our hemisphere, hereby express their joint views and conclusions regarding the future basis of understanding and collaboration between their two nations. We agree on three major objectives for Central America and El Salvador:

[1] The strengthening of democratic institutions;

[2] The improvement of living standards and expanded economic development;

[3] The need for an increased level of U.S. assistance to obtain peace and to defend against Communist-supported guerrillas of the extreme left and the violence of the extreme right.

The peoples of both nations look forward to the coming five year term of elected government in El Salvador as a period of consolidation of bilateral relations in a spirit of deep friendship as close neighbors in our hemisphere. Both nations will take into account their common interests and problems, maintaining the fullest respect for each other's sovereignty.

Both nations share with other countries of the Americas a fundamental interest in the strengthening of democracy and the firm rejection in this hemisphere of any form of totalitarianism or outside interference in the affairs of sovereign nations. Democracy enhances their individual and collective security. Democratic neighbors are peaceful neighbors, capable of regulating their relations in a framework of cooperation, consultation, mutual respect and peaceful settlement of differences.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

It is a fundamental objective of the Duarte administration to broaden and strengthen El Salvador's democratic institutions. And it is the intention of the United States to provide support and assistance to help achieve that objective.

Both Presidents proclaim that democracy, justice and the rule of law require the participation and commitment of all sectors in the political and economic mainstream of the nation. The rule of law requires protection for all against violence and criminal actions. It requires full confidence that the judicial process will produce punishment of the guilty and timely justice with due process for all. Both Presidents reaffirm their staunch commitment to the promotion of human rights, which are central to the democratic process and our freedoms. They believe that there should be greater support for genuinely democratic organizations from public and private sources in the major democracies, such as in the U.S. National Endowment for Democracy.

The two Presidents pledge to work for the achievement of economic development and growth, and increased regional cooperation, to improve the standard of living of the people of El Salvador and throughout the hemisphere. President-elect Duarte joins President Reagan in support of the comprehensive legislative proposal now before the U.S. Congress which will contribute so greatly, once enacted, to Central American peace and prosperity. The two Presidents express the view that a continuing and healthy economic assistance relationship between the two countries will be needed over the years immediately ahead. Such a relationship will complement broader initiatives, such as the Caribbean Basin Initiative and the National Bipartisan Commission Report, so that El Salvador's interdependent economic and social objectives can be met.

The protection and promotion of a strong private sector, with opportunities for small, medium and large entrepreneurs, is an indispensable means of expanding wealth and creating employment. Close collaboration between the public and private sectors will enhance the revitalization of production, improvement in public health and education, reintegration of displaced persons, and national reconstruction. This collaboration is a basis for stimulating domestic confidence, ensuring access to international credit and attracting new international investment.

The consolidation of democracy requires social peace and the protection and improvement of basic reforms begun in El Salvador in the 1980's, including the finding of new ways to stimulate production, ensure clear titles to land, pay adequate compensation and guarantee land reform beneficiaries permanence and tranquility in their new ownership.

Democracy cannot survive or thrive without security. Military assistance and the existence of a strong, well-equipped national armed force is essential to shield democratic development. All governments have the obligation to guarantee their peoples full political participation and must have the means to protect democratic institutions against those who would subvert them, be they Marxist guerrillas and their external allies or violent internal extremist groups.

The two Presidents share the view that the armed conflict in El Salvador must be resolved through national reconciliation based on the full integration of all its people into the political processes of the country. This participation should take place within the democratic rule which establishes that the only access to power is in accordance with the will of the people expressed through free elections. They particularly welcome the efforts to achieve regional peace undertaken within the Contadora process and reaffirm their full commitment to the principles of the Contadora Document of Objectives.

The two Presidents reaffirm strongly that abandonment of El Salvador and Central America in the midst of a continuing armed struggle serves neither the interests of their two nations, nor those of the community of free countries. They support the development of strong democracies in all parts of Central America, the democratic forces in Nicaragua, and the objective of holding free, fair and democratic elections in each of the countries of the region. On the basis of common national interests and common belief in the principles of democracy and freedom, they pledge to work together toward peace with security and toward human betterment with freedom, for El Salvador and for all of Central America.

To achieve these objectives, the two Presidents have decided to maintain regular and frequent contact to carry out these joint principles, assuring that their relations are guided by considerations of dignity, equality, friendship and mutual respect.

Excerpts From the Inaugural Address Delivered by President Jose Napoleon Duarte, June 1, 1984, In San Salvador

President Magana; President of the honorable Legislative Assembly; President of the honorable Supreme Court; Vice Presidents of the Republic; Your Excellency, the President of Guatemala; Your Excellency, the Argentine Vice President and Senate President and wife; Your Excellency, the Vice President of Costa Rica and wife; Your Excellencies, Messrs. Foreign Ministers; Your Excellencies, chiefs and members of special missions; Ministers and Deputy Ministers; Deputies of the honorable Legislative Assembly; Magistrates of the honorable Supreme Court of Justice; Your Excellency and Reverend Archbishop of San Salvador; Your Excellencies and Reverend Bishops; Messrs. representatives of the Armed Forces; honorable special guests; ladies and gentlemen, Salvadoran people:

Salvadorans, all Salvadorans, those who hear me here or are outside and especially the 5 million Salvadorans who await a better destiny for our fatherland with faith. In the face of the immense responsibility that has been given to the government that begins today, I want to start this first address to the nation by imploring divine help, with humility and recognition, in facing the many problems that overwhelm us, asking God for the necessary wisdom and strength to permit us to find the just reply that our fatherland's problems demand and success in our search for justice and happiness.

The significance of this unique, unprecedented, and new historic moment in our fatherland is that it is the product of the unmistakable and iron will of all of the Salvadoran people, who on two consecutive occasions -- 26 March and 6 May 1984 -- went massively to the polls to freely elect their legitimate rulers.

Today, hope is strengthened in the darkness of despair. Today, a light is lit in the long night of horror being experienced by El Salvador. Today, the loud shout of happiness is heard amid tears and sorrow. The delicate plant of democracy is being born in our fatherland today. The seed of democracy was planted by the Salvadoran people with extraordinary effort. It was watered with their tears and blood and fertilized with Spartan heroism. This seed began to successfully germinate under the firm decision of the revolutionary government junta in the March 1982 elections for deputies. Today, when it has been born, it is up to us to protect it, surrounding it with all possible faith, so that it will flower with the wonders of all colors and so that we will permanently harvest the fruits that we all desire. Today, a great national effort culminates and the path to a gigantic undertaking begins.

El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

The achievement of democracy has never been easy for any people throughout mankind's history. El Salvador, all of its people, have paid a high price for it. This is why our first recognition must go to the people of yesterday and today, especially all who were persecuted, deprived of their freedom, exiled from the homeland, or lost their lives. My deep recognition goes out to all of them.

In a very particular way I wish to address all who kept their faith in democracy in the most adverse conditions, and who went to vote in the three democratic elections that we have held in the 80's.

The Armed Forces -- The people's determination and faith would never have been enough to ensure that their will would be respected without the firm and determined position taken by our Armed Forces. On 15 October 1979, the Armed Forces chose their course in accordance with the responsibilities and functions that the political Constitution specifies for them, and initiated the nation's democratic development on three different occasions. Overcoming all obstacles and temptations, they have guaranteed the free exercise of suffrage. Our civilians have seen with increasing admiration how the immense majority of the soldiers, guards, and policemen protected and cared for the voters and guaranteed the results of the elections. On behalf of the civilian sector, my deepest recognition goes out to the Armed Forces for this marvelous epic.

Why did we vote? When over 80 percent of the Salvadoran people turned out to vote, it was not only because of their profound faith in the democratic system and in freedom. At the bottom of their hearts, each Salvadoran has also expressed, in voting, his profound desire to achieve peace and to create the necessary conditions for all of us to have work, the means for a decent life, and access to products in accordance with the potentials of each of us.

Salvadorans, we must bravely, frankly, and realistically acknowledge the fact that our homeland is immersed in an armed conflict that affects each and every one of us; that this armed conflict has gone beyond our borders and has become a focal point in the struggle between the big world power blocs. With the aid of Marxist governments like Nicaragua, Cuba, and the Soviet Union, an army has been trained and armed and has invaded our homeland.

Its actions are directed from abroad. Armed with the most sophisticated weapons, the Marxist forces harass our Armed Forces and constantly carry out actions intended to destroy our economy, with the loss of countless human lives and the suffering of hundreds of thousands of Salvadorans. For its part, our Army has been considerably enlarged, it has received better training, and it is imbued with a profound patriotic commitment to defend the people and to keep us from falling into the hands of Marxist subversion, which seeks to establish a totalitarian dictatorship in our homeland.

El Salvador: Human Rights

For its part, my government will make efforts to promote a climate of security and confidence that will permit us, as a prior step, to begin as soon as possible a national dialogue among all democratic forces and majority sectors so that no one can doubt that such a formula is a genuine decision and an expression of the will of all of the people and that should be turned into a common, energetic, and supreme effort capable of overcoming all obstacles and of achieving the great objective of peace. For this purpose, we will appeal to the law, international solidarity, patriotic responsibility and, when circumstances demand, to the legitimate right of defense.

The structural crisis. The crisis we currently face has its origins in the unequal structures that have characterized our political, economic, and social process. But we have also recognized our weaknesses and errors so as to implement adequate reforms and begin to build democracy, social justice, and respect for human rights, and to achieve the peace that we need and desire so much. In the face of this reality, El Salvador does not need foreign ideologies. It does not need to hear the deafening language of sophisticated weapons or the materialistic clamor of an alleged specific destiny. It does not need to be an area of international dispute.

However, we need to build a new fatherland, free of an unjust past and in whose foundations there will be a predominant place for human development and freedom within a context of participatory institutions that will guarantee respect for the rights of all individuals without regard to their political position, economic condition, or social situation.

In the face of this panorama of crisis at the national, regional, and international level in which the Salvadoran and Central American society finds itself, the wise and just decisions that history demands cannot be postponed. These must be based on confidence about what we are capable of doing for our people and not on an absurd, irresponsible, and useless challenge. For this reason and fully aware of what leading all my people to their own miracle of liberation means, I called for God's assistance, and after having placed my life and will under his care I accepted the challenge that this huge responsibility represents, one that with the legitimate pride of being a Salvadoran I fully reiterate.

At the regional level, we now have the moral solvency to endorse and give our support to the Contadora Group's efforts in the search for a political solution leading to levels of detente which smooth the way to peace, democracy, and social transformations with all the forces seeking these objectives.

Economy and development. Our major commitment is the promotion of our domestic development and economic recovery. This will permit the qualitative and quantitative strengthening of necessary and undelayable economic changes that will generate greater production, will increase the national wealth, and will diversify its distribution, raising the living standard of the Salvadoran people so they may live with the dignity and decorum they deserve as human beings. We must readjust our country's productive mechanisms in a just and balanced way that makes it possible to permanently integrate the vast majority of our people in the process of development and national recovery. Along with the just and balanced integration of the various sectors in the productive process, we will strengthen the existing mechanisms for production, commercialization, and service to generate greater wealth and more jobs. This coordinated action between the public and private sectors and between the management and labor sectors will increase efficiency and productivity, will strengthen the capacity for demand, and will create more markets, thus helping the balance of payments and improving not only the terms of trade but, naturally, our national production in general.

We are certain that, with general cooperation, the correct strengthening of the reforms already begun will permit, in the shortest time possible, an economic breakthrough that will fight unemployment and our country's lack of foreign exchange.

One of our great objectives will be to strengthen the national cooperative movement, because we feel that it is one of the most efficient mechanisms for giving participation and opportunity to all the majority sectors and for achieving economic democracy and political stability in the country. We believe that along with the qualitative changes initiated in our economic structure, a necessary and unavoidable way to increase wealth and create new jobs in accordance with the social model that we plan to establish is to protect and encourage a strong private sector with opportunities for small, medium-sized, and big businessmen, within the framework of harmonious relations and cooperation with the public sector. We are sure this will revitalize production and will help us substantially improve our objectives. Achievement of the above will be the basis for restoring and encouraging national confidence and trust, thus guaranteeing a greater attraction for foreign investment and a wider opening to international cooperation.

I have begun knocking on the doors of friendly nations, and I am sure that they will not leave us alone in the battle to attain the democratic destiny that awaits El Salvador and which it deserves.

Justice and integrity. The establishment, enforcement, and overall respect for human rights is inherent in the pacification and democratization of our homeland. It is for this reason that my government will endorse all the actions, initiatives, and mechanisms needed to achieve the overall betterment of our citizens so that, through the activities of the state, the individual is recognized as the origin and end of the common good. For this reason I will fight openly and tirelessly to control abuses of authority and violence of the extremes. I will fight tirelessly to eradicate from our homeland the death squads and all the problems of injustice and arrogance. No one -- because I shall not permit it -- will be able to say that this administration has violated the fundamental rights of my people. And whoever tries it will feel the full weight of the law.

Another important aspect included in my government plan is the fight to forcefully eradicate corruption, wherever it may be, especially corruption in public administration and in the administration of justice, as no one can place himself above the law or administer it in a biased or discriminatory way. The law will have to be defined and applied clearly as a means to strengthen the independence of the judicial branch.

We are aware that justice, democracy, and the legal groundwork here in El Salvador demand the participation of all the social and economic sectors of this nation and that the exercise and implementation of the law in our country must be both general and effective so that each and every Salvadoran can be sure of his rights. The legal processes must be geared toward a clear trial of the suspect and guaranteeing respect of the innocent.

Salvadoran people, in the election my party won 54 percent of the vote; in my government, in my administration, I intend to obtain the support of all, especially those who have not yet joined the democratic process. However, I will not disappoint my people to gain the support of the extremists on either side. Neither will I negotiate the mandate of my people to accept international assistance or the cooperation of any one country.

In five years, when I turn the Presidency over to my successor, I aspire to have him receive a different country. I request your support and aid in these five years, which will be crucial. I ask you not to judge my government in advance or to deprive me of the chance to confront problems, because any delay may mean the death of a human being, the suffering of a mother, or the hunger of a child. The poverty and the problems are real, but together we can resolve them. The people's will elected me; their hope and faith will sustain me. When my people demand that I put an end to the death squads, to the violence, and to the foreign intervention, these demands are a challenge for me. I ask you to give me your support and strengthen our decision to work together, not apart. Let us all join the social pact. Let us seek the common points, let us plant the seed of faith, and we will harvest the fruits of democracy.

My friends, the Salvadoran Indians in the (UPD) have asked me to end this message by invoking God again with the Our Father, using the Nahua language of our ancestors as a testimony of the cultural tradition of our race and our belief, which is the basis of both our history and our future [Says prayer in Indian language] With this prayer I invoke God so He may guide and help us, so the people will understand us and will have faith, and so the peoples of the world can hear the clamor of this nation, which is asking for peace. Onward Salvadorans, the future is ours. Thank you very much.

APPENDIX C

EL SALVADOR ELECTION OBSERVERS' COMMENTS

El Sol (Mexico): A decisive stage in the difficult path that El Salvador is traveling . . . The guerrillas failed in their attempts to discourage participation and the determination and courage of the Salvadoran people to attain peace and political stability are impressive.

The Christian Science Monitor: ...a victory for peace and moderation. For the election's promise to be realized, Salvadorans must rally around Duarte. Ultimately this, and not US influence or aid, is needed to build a democratic consensus within El Salvador.

The New York Times: ...an elected President could begin to demonstrate that democratic institutions can take root in El Salvador. In a country that has known little but tyranny, the rule of law and civilian control over the military are truly radical ideas.

If there is a center in El Salvador, Mr. Duarte alone seems able still to define it. And if Sunday's balloting gave him that chance, he will need the energetic encouragement of Americans and democrats everywhere.

The Washington Post: In Jose Napoleon Duarte, the US has a Central American leader worth betting on. A good man has won as valid an election as a realistic person can imagine in a country torn by war and social revolution. Now American policy should focus on what will help Mr. Duarte hold off the guerrillas' expected "final offensive," control his military and move toward dialogue.

US Observer Delegation to Salvadoran Election: When all is said and done, the strong message of this election is that the Salvadoran people have declared their own political solution to the crisis that challenges this country. Three successful elections in two years, are a clear repudiation of the insurgency. The people of this country have declared themselves in favor of the democratic process. The delegation calls upon all Salvadorans, including the members of the armed opposition, to heed the message of this election. It also calls upon fellow Americans and all members of the international community to provide increased support for the democratically elected government of El Salvador.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

Jornal Do Brasil (Rio): The guerrillas say that the elections are not legitimate. The fury they unleashed against the voters, however, indicates much more than a divergence of principles. The truth is that the radical left does not like to test its voting power because it knows it will lose.

Havana Domestic Service: The FMLN could not remain indifferent to this political event, behind which hides imperialism's armed aggression and the continuation of genocide.

El Pais (Madrid): There is no doubt that considerable masses of the Salvadoran people have manifested a will to express their preference for the government of the country by means of a vote.

ABC (Madrid): The country has rejected the path of armed belligerence and of violence from the extreme right as well as the extreme left. The voting urns have broken violent bipolarization.

Havana International Service: . . . yet another farce.

El Tiempo (Bogota): . . . impartial observers -- not all of them sympathizers with the Salvadoran regime -- have expressed their admiration for the elections. Again and this time with greater order, long lines of citizens cast their votes against the guerrillas.

The Australian (Canberra): (Duarte's) success is a victory for the democratic values which he has represented for so long and with such courage. It is a defeat for the assassins of the far right and for the gunmen of the Farabundo Marti Liberation Front. It marks a step forward in the process of helping the people of Central America to achieve a just society within the framework of free institutions.

Baltimore Sun: President-elect Duarte deserves a chance to bring peace to El Salvador. He deserves this country's support in demonstrating that a viable democratic society can be built despite the dead weight of an oligarchic past and the violence of an on-going civil war. This is no time for Congress to throttle El Salvador's desperate bid for genuine democracy. If Central America becomes a consuming election-year issue, the one Salvadoran leader who will suffer most is Jose Napoleon Duarte. That hardly should be a U.S. objective.

O Estado De Sao Paulo (Brazil) . . . (El Salvador's) people, right in the middle of a bloody civil war spurred by leftist guerrillas and fomented from abroad . . . had to choose between the left, which intends to build up the regime by the force of arms, the right, which falls prey to the dialectics of

REFS: A) GENEVA 1973 B) 83 GUATEMALA 3871 (NOTAL)
C) 83 GUATEMALA 8868 (NOTAL)

1. (U) DR. RUTH GRAVIOLA BROOKS, CONVICTED IN APRIL 1983 BY THE SPECIAL TRIBUNALS OF ILLEGAL POSSESSION OF WEAPONS, WAS GRANTED AN UNCONDITIONAL PARDON AND RELEASED FROM PRISON ON JULY 18, 1984. THE PARDON CAME AS A RESULT OF A NEW DECREE LAW, NO. 74-84, IN WHICH A FULL PARDON WAS GRANTED TO ANY PERSON CONVICTED BY THE SPECIAL TRIBUNALS. DR. BROOKS IMMEDIATELY LEFT GUATEMALA, ALLEGEDLY FOR SECURITY REASONS. SHE REPORTEDLY TOLD REPORTERS AS SHE LEFT GUATEMALA THAT SHE FEARED FOR HER LIFE, SINCE HER INITIAL CONVICTION WAS ON "THE WHIM OF SECURITY FORCES".

2. (U) THE NEW LAW, WHICH WAS PROMULGATED WITHOUT ANY PRIOR NOTICE, GRANTS FULL PARDON FROM CRIMINAL CHARGES, BUT RETAINS CIVIL PENALTIES (FINANCIAL RESTITUTION TO VICTIMS OR RELATIVES IF SUIT HAS BEEN BROUGHT IN COURT) ASSESSED AGAINST SPECIAL TRIBUNAL PRISONERS. IT IS EXPECTED THAT ALL PRISONERS CONVICTED BY THE SPECIAL TRIBUNALS WILL BE RELEASED DURING THE COURSE OF THE NEXT FEW DAYS. SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE CHIEF OF STATE'S STAFF GIRON SANCHEZ STATED THAT JUSTICE MAY HAVE BEEN CIRCUMVENTED IN SOME CASES BY THE SPECIAL TRIBUNALS, AND SO, TO RESTORE JUSTICE IN GUATEMALA, ISSUED THE PARDON.

3. (U) EMBASSY RECOMMENDED THAT DEPARTMENT ADVISE CONGRESSIONAL OFFICES WHICH HAVE IN THE PAST, WRITTEN ON BEHALF OF DR. BROOKS, OF HER RELEASE AND DEPARTURE FROM GUATEMALA. EMBASSY RECORD INDICATE RECEIPT OF A TELEGRAM FROM 45 MEMBERS OF CONGRESS AND LETTERS FROM SENATOR ALLAN CRANSTON AND REPRESENTATIVE JAMES SLATTERY.

4. (C) COMMENT - ISSUANCE OF A DECREE GRANTING PARDON TO PERSONS CONVICTED BY THE NON-DEFUNCT SPECIAL COURTS CAME WITHOUT FOREWARNING, AND IS A WELCOME SURPRISE. DR. BROOKS HAS BEEN THE SUBJECT OF MANY INTERNATIONAL INQUIRIES. HERE IS ONE OF THE FEW CASES OF THE GOG TAKING NOTE OF INTERNATIONAL OPINION ON AN INDIVIDUAL PRISONER.

5. (C) THE DECREE ALSO COMPLIES WITH AN ACTION URGED BY THE UNHRC AT ITS 1984 SESSION, AS STATED IN THE COMMISSION RESOLUTION ON GUATEMALA CALLING ON THE GOG TO ALLOW NEW TRIALS FOR PERSONS CONVICTED BY THE SPECIAL COURTS.

6. (U) EMBASSY WILL EVALUATE DECREE LAW AND SIGNIFICANCE OF TIMING OF ITS ISSUANCE. END COMMENT.

Dear Senator Hart:

Thank you for your inquiry of July 13 concerning the problems [redacted] have encountered in trying to adopt a baby from El Salvador. b6

Please be advised that the American Embassy at San Salvador has no information about [redacted] Apparently their I-600 petition for an adoption visa has not yet been approved by the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) in Denver. You may wish to contact INS Denver for information regarding the [redacted] b6 Their address and telephone number is 1787 Federal Building, 1961 Stout Street, Denver, Colorado 80202, (303) 837-3525.

According to our information a new INS policy effective May 18, 1984 requires an INS field investigation in adoption cases from Mexico, El Salvador, Guatemala and Ecuador. INS Mexico will conduct and coordinate field investigations at the request of INS offices in the United States only in orphan cases involving certain problems. If an overseas investigation is requested, the petitioners are advised not to travel until they are contacted by the consular officer.

Please note that the Immigration and Naturalization Service works closely with American Embassies abroad to protect American citizens from fraudulent adoption practices. The Service is concerned with the problem of infant smuggling and fraudulent adoption practices. Investigations have begun regarding a number of schemes in several states and in foreign countries, including El Salvador. Such schemes have left the victims bereft, with neither the child they had been promised nor the money they spent in good faith. We appreciate that any delays may inconvenience anxious adopting parents. The investigations are carefully carried out, however, in their interests as well as the U.S. Government's to ensure that the child is not the victim of kidnapping or other illegal activities. In this way the interests of the child as well as those of the adopting and natural parents will be protected.

SUBJECT: THE LAS HOJAS CASE

1. (C) SUMMARY: ON JULY 18 ANIS LEADERS RELEASED AN OPEN LETTER TO PRESIDENT DUARTE AND OTHER GOES OFFICIALS IN WHICH THEY CONDEMNED THE FAILURE OF THE GOES TO ACHIEVE JUSTICE IN THE CASE OF THE MURDERED LAS HOJAS COOPERATIVE MEMBERS. EMBOFFS VISITED ANIS LEADER ESQUINO LIZCO IN SONSONATE ON JULY 27 AND WERE TOLD THAT ONLY THREE OF TEN SUSPECTS FOR WHOM ARREST WARRANTS HAVE BEEN ISSUED HAVE ACTUALLY BEEN ARRESTED. ESQUINO APPEALED FOR U.S. ASSISTANCE IN CONVINCING THE GOES TO KEEP ITS PROMISES TO PROSECUTE THIS CASE. THE JUDGE IN THE CASE TOLD EMBOFFS ON JULY 27 THAT HIS HANDS ARE TIED AND THAT THE DECISIONS NECESSARY TO MOVE THE CASE FORWARD MUST COME FROM SAN SALVADOR. ON AUGUST 1 AN ANIS LEADER TOLD LABOFF THAT SIX OF THE ORIGINAL TEN SUSPECTS ARE NO LONGER IMPLICATED IN THE CASE AS A RESULT OF PRESSURE FROM THE MILITARY TO REDUCE THE NUMBER OF SUSPECTS. HE ALSO SAID THAT ESQUINO LIZCO IS NOW THE SUBJECT OF FALSE ACCUSATIONS BY THE MILITARY THAT HE HAS LINKS TO THE GUERRILLAS. END SUMMARY.

2. (U) ON JULY 18 THE NATIONAL SALVADORAN INDIGENOUS ASSOCIATION (ANIS) RELEASED AN OPEN LETTER ON THE LAS HOJAS MASSACRE TO PRESIDENT DUARTE, THE MINISTER OF DEFENSE, THE PRESIDENT OF THE SUPREME COURT, THE FISCAL GENERAL AND THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY. THE LETTER STATES THAT ON FEBRUARY 22, 1983, 74 INDIGENOUS CAMPESINOS WERE BRUTALLY MURDERED DURING A "SEARCH OPERATION" ON THE ANIS COOPERATIVE IN LAS HOJAS. THE LETTER STATES THAT SINCE THE MASSACRE ANIS HAS SOUGHT JUSTICE IN THIS CASE BY INSISTING THAT BOTH THE INTELLECTUAL AND MATERIAL AUTHORS OF THE CRIME BE JUDGED ACCORDING TO THE LAW. THOSE PETITIONS HAVE BEEN IGNORED. THE LETTER CONTRASTS THE PROMISES MADE BY GOES OFFICIALS, PARTICULARLY THOSE MADE BY THE THEN MINISTER OF THE PRESIDENCY (I.E., DR. FRANCISCO GUERRERO, NOW SUPREME COURT PRESIDENT) WITH THE REALITY OF CONTINUED PERSECUTION OF ANIS COOPERATIVE MEMBERS BY CIVIL DEFENSE MEMBERS AND THE FAILURE TO PRESECUTE THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE MURDERS. THIS, ACCORDING TO THE LETTER, FLYS IN THE FACE OF PRESIDENT DUARTE'S EXPRESSED DESIRE TO SEE JUSTICE DONE. THE ANIS STATEMENT GOES ON TO DEMAND THAT THE LAW BE APPLIED AGAINST THOSE RESPONSIBLE WITHOUT FURTHER DELAYS AND THAT THE SUPREME COURT, THE FISCAL GENERAL AND THE ARMY ABIDE BY THEIR WORD TO RESPECT HUMAN RIGHTS AND SEE JUSTICE DONE IRRESPECTIVE OF WHETHER THOSE INVOLVED ARE CIVILIANS OR UNIFORMED PERSONNEL. THE LETTER ALSO DEMANDS THAT THE MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY BE AWARE OF THESE GRAVE CASES AND HELP THE PEOPLE WHO ELECTED THEM. THE ANIS LEADERSHIP CONCLUDES WITH AN APPEAL FOR HELP TO ALL THOSE WHO ARE INTERESTED IN PURSUING HUMAN RIGHTS.

3. (C) ON JULY 27 LEGAL AND LABOR OFFICERS TRAVELLED TO SONSONATE AND LAS HOJAS. EMBOFFS SPOKE WITH ADRIAN ESQUINO LIZCO AND OTHER ANIS OFFICIALS, FIRST INSTANCE JUDGE SOMOZA AND MEMBERS OF THE LAS HOJAS COOPERATIVE WHO LOST RELATIVES IN THE FEBRUARY 22 MASSACRE. ESQUINO LIZCO WAS INDIGNANT OVER THE FAILURE OF THE GOES TO TAKE ACTION ON THIS CASE. HE SAID THAT HE HAD SPOKEN EARLIER IN THE MONTH WITH PRESIDENT DUARTE, SUPREME COURT PRESIDENT GUERRERO AND OTHER GOES OFFICIALS IN AN EFFORT TO SPUR SOME ACTION ON THE PROSECUTION OF THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE KILLINGS. ESQUINO IDENTIFIED COL. GONZALEZ ARAUJO AND CAPTAIN FIGUEROA MORALES AS THE INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS OF THE CRIME AND DECRIED THE INDIFFERENCE OF THE AUTHORITIES TO THEIR PARTICIPATION. GUERRERO, HE SAID, TOLD THE ANIS LEADERS TO "FORGET ABOUT" PROSECUTING EITHER GONZALEZ OR FIGUEROA. ESQUINO ALSO CONDEMNED THE INACTION OF THE GOES IN CARRYING OUT A SATISFACTORY INVESTIGATION OF THE CRIME OR COMPLYING WITH THE ARREST WARRANT ISSUED FOR TEN SUSPECTS IN THE CASE. SO FAR, HE SAID, ONLY THREE OF THOSE ON THE WARRANT HAVE BEEN ARRESTED EVEN THOUGH SEVERAL OTHERS HAVE BEEN SEEN IN AND AROUND LAS HOJAS. SOME SUSPECTS AND THEIR FRIENDS HAVE RECENTLY RENEWED THEIR PERSECUTION OF THE COOPERATIVE MEMBERS. ESQUINO APPEALED FOR U.S. ASSISTANCE IN PROMPTING A GOES DECISION TO TAKE ACTION IN THIS CASE BY ARRESTING THE SUSPECTS WHO ARE STILL AT LARGE AND BY INDICTING FIGUEROA MORALES. HE ADDED THAT FRUSTRATION AND ANGER AMONG THE ANIS MEMBERSHIP ARE MOUNTING AND HIS ASSURANCES THAT THE GOES WILL ACT TO PROSECUTE THOSE INVOLVED IN THE KILLINGS ARE INCREASINGLY THREADBARE AND DISBELIEVED BY HIS FOLLOWERS. LAS HOJAS RESIDENTS, AMONG THEM A WOMAN WHOSE TWO SONS WERE MURDERED, REFLECTED THAT FRUSTRATION. 4. (C) JUDGE SOMOZA EVADED RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE LACK OF PROGRESS IN THE CASE BY CLAIMING THAT HIS HANDS ARE TIED. SOMOZA CONFIRMED THAT ONLY THREE OF THE TEN SUSPECTS FOR WHOM WARRANTS HAVE BEEN ISSUED HAVE ACTUALLY BEEN ARRESTED. RECONSTRUCTION OF THE EVENTS OF THE DAY OF THE KILLINGS BUT INSISTED THAT AN ORDER FROM THE FISCAL GENERAL WAS NECESSARY IN ORDER TO TAKE THAT STEP. SOMOZA ALSO SAID THAT THE DECISION TO ARREST THE OUTSTANDING SUSPECTS MUST COME FROM THE CENTRAL GOVERNMENT. EVERYTHING MUST COME FROM SAN SALVADOR, THE JUDGE STATED COMPLACENTLY.

5. (C) ON AUGUST 1 ANDRES REFUGIO SANCHEZ OF ANIS VISITED LABOFF. SANCHEZ SAID THAT THE FISCAL IN CHARGE OF THE CASE HAS TOLD ANIS LEADERS THAT ONLY FOUR OF THE ORIGINAL TEN SUSPECTS REMAIN IMPLICATED IN THE CRIME AT THIS POINT. ACCORDING TO THE FISCAL, SANCHEZ SAID, THE PRESSURE TO REDUCE THE NUMBER OF DEFENDANTS CAME FROM THE MINISTRY OF DEFENSE. AMONG THE NAMES DROPPED ARE NASIO PEREZ AND JUAN SERMENO, BOTH OF WHOM ARE CONSIDERED BY ANIS TO BEAR A LARGE PORTION OF THE RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE CRIME. PEREZ WAS IDENTIFIED BY LAS HOJAS RESIDENTS ON THE DAY OF THE MURDERS WHEN HE RAISED HIS HOOD AND REVEALED HIS FACE. IN ADDITION, SANCHEZ SAID THAT ESQUINO LIZCO HAS NOW BECOME THE TARGET OF INVESTIGATION FOR ALLEGED LINKS TO THE GUERRILLAS, THIS IN RETALIATION FOR THE ANIS PUBLIC STATEMENT OF JULY 18. SANCHEZ CONDEMNED THE BACKSLIDING WHICH IS UNDERWAY IN THIS CASE UNDER AN ADMINISTRATION WHICH ANIS HELPED TO ELECT.

6. (C) COMMENT: LAS HOJAS CASE RISKS BECOMING A DISASTER FOR THE GOES. PRESIDENT DUARTE IS FULLY AWARE OF THE PROBLEMS INVOLVED IN IT AND WE ARE ALSO EXPLORING WAYS TO GET ARRESTS AND PROSECUTION BACK ON TRACK.

1. (C) SUMMARY: ON JULY 18 ANIS LEADERS RELEASED AN OPEN LETTER TO PRESIDENT DUARTE AND OTHER GOES OFFICIALS IN WHICH THEY CONDEMNED THE FAILURE OF THE GOES TO ACHIEVE JUSTICE IN THE CASE OF THE MURDERED LAS HOJAS COOPERATIVE MEMBERS. EMBOFFS VISITED ANIS LEADER ESQUINO LIZCO IN SONSONATE ON JULY 27 AND WERE TOLD THAT ONLY THREE OF TEN SUSPECTS FOR WHOM ARREST WARRANTS HAVE BEEN ISSUED HAVE ACTUALLY BEEN ARRESTED. ESQUINO APPEALED FOR U.S. ASSISTANCE IN CONVINCING THE GOES TO KEEP ITS PROMISES TO PROSECUTE THIS CASE.

HANDS ARE TIED AND THAT THE DECISIONS NECESSARY TO MOVE THE CASE FORWARD MUST COME FROM SAN SALVADOR). ON AUGUST 1 AN ANIS LEADER TOLD LABOFF THAT SIX OF THE ORIGINAL TEN SUSPECTS ARE NO LONGER IMPLICATED IN THE CASE AS A RESULT OF PRESSURE FROM THE MILITARY TO REDUCE THE NUMBER OF SUSPECTS. HE ALSO SAID THAT ESQUINO LIZCO IS NOW THE SUBJECT OF FALSE ACCUSATIONS BY THE MILITARY THAT HE HAS LINKS TO THE GUERRILLAS. END SUMMARY.

2. (U) ON JULY 18 THE NATIONAL SALVADORAN INDIGENOUS ASSOCIATION (ANIS) RELEASED AN OPEN LETTER ON THE LAS HOJAS MASSACRE TO PRESIDENT DUARTE, THE MINISTER OF DEFENSE, THE PRESIDENT OF THE SUPREME COURT, THE FISCAL GENERAL AND THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY. THE LETTER STATES THAT ON FEBRUARY 22, 1983, 74 INDIGENOUS CAMPESINOS WERE BRUTALLY MURDERED DURING A "SEARCH OPERATION" ON THE ANIS COOPERATIVE IN LAS HOJAS. THE LETTER STATES THAT SINCE THE MASSACRE ANIS HAS SOUGHT JUSTICE IN THIS CASE BY INSISTING THAT BOTH THE INTELLECTUAL AND MATERIAL AUTHORS OF THE CRIME BE JUDGED ACCORDING TO THE LAW. THOSE PETITIONS HAVE BEEN IGNORED. THE LETTER CONTRASTS THE PROMISES MADE BY GOES OFFICIALS, PARTICULARLY THOSE MADE BY THE THEN MINISTER OF THE PRESIDENCY (I.E., DR. FRANCISCO GUERRERO, NOW SUPREME COURT PRESIDENT) WITH THE REALITY OF CONTINUED PERSECUTION OF ANIS COOPERATIVE MEMBERS BY CIVIL DEFENSE MEMBERS AND THE FAILURE TO PRESECUTE THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE MURDERS. THIS, ACCORDING TO THE LETTER, FLYS IN THE FACE OF PRESIDENT DUARTE'S EXPRESSED DESIRE TO SEE JUSTICE DONE. THE ANIS STATEMENT GOES ON TO DEMAND THAT THE LAW BE APPLIED

AGAINST THOSE RESPONSIBLE WITHOUT FURTHER DELAYS AND THAT THE SUPREME COURT, THE FISCAL GENERAL AND THE ARMY ABIDE BY THEIR WORD TO RESPECT HUMAN RIGHTS AND SEE JUSTICE DONE IRRESPECTIVE OF WHETHER THOSE INVOLVED ARE CIVILIANS OR UNIFORMED PERSONNEL. THE LETTER ALSO DEMANDS THAT THE MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY BE AWARE OF THESE GRAVE CASES AND HELP THE PEOPLE WHO ELECTED THEM. THE ANIS LEADERSHIP CONCLUDES WITH AN APPEAL FOR HELP TO ALL THOSE WHO ARE INTERESTED IN PURSUING HUMAN RIGHTS.

CHIEF CESTONI, REVEALED NO TRACE OF THE CLAIMED BOMBING ACTIVITY. FAS MISSION LOGS PREVIOUSLY MADE AVAILABLE TO US INSTEAD REPORTED THE BOMBING TO HAVE TAKEN PLACE NEAR LA PALMA AT A PLACE CALLED MIRAMUNDO, AS URIOSTE SUBSEQUENTLY REPORTED IN THE HOMILY. WE HAD CONCLUDED THAT THE FAS LOG WAS IN ERROR, SINCE THE ONLY MIRAMUNDO IN THE DMA GAZZETTEER IS A MOUNTAIN IN SANTA ANA DEPARTMENT 15 KMS WEST AND NORTH OF LA PALMA. WE THEN, ON AUGUST 22, DISCOVERED ONLY BY MINUTE INSPECTION OF A PROVISIONAL DMA MAP THAT THERE IS A TINY CLUSTER OF DWELLINGS BY THAT NAME ABOUT 10 KILOMETERS NORTH EAST OF LA PALMA, PRACTICALLY ASTRIDE THE DISPUTED SALVADORAN-HONDURAN BORDER OF BOLSON "B". WE DO NOT CONSIDER THAT AREA, WHICH IS SIMON-PURE GUERRILLA TERRITORY, TO BE SAFE FOR OVERFLIGHT INSPECTION. WE WILL, HOWEVER, SEEK TO DETERMINE WHETHER THE ARCHBISHOP LOOKED INTO THE MATTER HIMSELF AT LA PALMA AND WHAT HIS FINDINGS MIGHT HAVE BEEN.

PIC[redacted]NG MET WITH THEIR REPRESENT[redacted]ES AND THOSE OF FEDEFAM AUGUST 16. THE COMMITTEE REQUESTED THE AMBASSADOR'S ASSISTANCE IN PRESSURING THE GOES FOR PROGRESS ON HUMAN RIGHTS AND URGED AN END TO US MILITARY AID TO EL SALVADOR. THE AMBASSADOR REITERATED US SUPPORT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS AND OUR CONFIDENCE IN THE DUARTE GOVERNMENT'S DEDICATION TO CHANGE. THE MEETING WAS ENTIRELY CORDIAL. END SUMMARY.

3. IN A LETTER PUBLISHED IN A PAID AD ON AUGUST 9, THE COMMITTEE OF MOTHERS AND RELATIVES OF POLITICAL PRISONERS AND THE DISAPPEARED DEMANDED AN INTERVIEW WITH AMBASSADOR PICKERING AT 10 AM MONDAY AUGUST 13 TO DISCUSS THE RELEASE OF POLITICAL PRISONERS, THE WHEREABOUTS OF THE DISAPPEARED, PROSECUTION OF DEATH SQUAD MEMBERS, AND SAFETY OF THEIR OWN MEMBERS. ON AUGUST 10 THEY ANNOUNCED A DEMONSTRATION TO BE HELD AT THE EMBASSY IN CONJUNCTION WITH THEIR MEETING WITH THE AMBASSADOR. CHARGE REPLIED BY LETTER THAT THE AMBASSADOR'S PRIOR COMMITMENTS MADE AN AUGUST 10 MEETING IMPOSSIBLE, BUT OFFERED A LATER MEETING AT A MUTUALLY CONVENIENT TIME.

4. ON 13 AUGUST THE AMBASSADOR RECEIVED A SOLICITATION FOR AN INTERVIEW FROM THE LATIN AMERICAN FEDERATION OF ASSOCIATIONS OF RELATIVES OF DETAINEES AND THE DISAPPEARED (FEDEFAM). THIS IS AN UMBRELLA ORGANIZATION BASED IN VENEZUELA, OF WHICH THE MOTHERS' COMMITTEE IS A MEMBER. THE AMBASSADOR RESPONDED BY INVITING BOTH GROUPS TO A JOINT MEETING. THEY ACCEPTED AND CAME TO THE EMBASSY AUGUST 16 AS AGREED.

5. AT THE MEETING THE MOTHERS' COMMITTEE WAS [redacted]

SRA. LOYOLA GUZMAN'S BACKGROUND IS NOT KNOWN, BUT FATHER RICE IS REPORTEDLY AN IRISH PRIEST WHO RUNS FEDEFAM (REF B).

6. DURING THE MEETING, THE COMMITTEE AND FEDEFAM REPRESENTATIVES REQUESTED THAT THE AMBASSADOR USE HIS INFLUENCE TO PRESSURE THE GOES TO HASTEN PROGRESS ON HUMAN RIGHTS. SPECIFICALLY, THEY REQUESTED HIS ASSISTANCE IN SECURING ANSWERS ABOUT THE FATE OF THE DISAPPEARED, PROSECUTION OF DEATH SQUAD MEMBERS, FREEDOM FOR ALL POLITICAL PRISONERS, AND GUARANTEES OF SAFETY FOR MEMBERS OF THE COMMITTEE. THEY ALSO URGED AN END TO US ARMS SHIPMENTS TO THE GOES: "DON'T MAKE MORE MEMBERS OF OUR FAMILIES DISAPPEAR."

7. THE MOTHERS' COMMITTEE AND FEDEFAM BOTH CHARGED THAT DISAPPEARANCES CONTINUE UNDER DUARTE'S ADMINISTRATION. THEY ASK HOW THE PEOPLE SHOULD COPE WITH A THREAT "FROM PEOPLE WHO ARE SUPPOSED TO PROTECT THEM," AND SAY THAT IF A GOVERNMENT CANNOT ANSWER FOR ITS SECURITY FORCES, IT SHOWS THAT IT IS INCAPABLE OF GOVERNING. THEY TOLD THE AMBASSADOR THAT THE RESPONSE WAS INADEQUATE AND THAT US PRESSURE WAS REQUIRED FOR A RESOLUTION OF THE PROBLEM.

8. THE AMBASSADOR ASSURED THEM OF US SUPPORT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS IN EL SALVADOR, AND STRESSED HIS CONFIDENCE IN THE DUARTE ADMINISTRATION'S DEDICATION TO PROGRESS IN THIS AREA. HE SAID THAT ALTHOUGH GREAT STRIDES HAD ALREADY BEEN MADE, DUARTE WOULD NEED MORE TIME TO MAKE ALL THE CHANGES NEEDED. THE AMBASSADOR SAID

THAT HE WOULD FORWARD THE COMMITTEE'S LETTER TO DUARTE AND TO THE DEPARTMENT. AS PART OF OUR PROGRAM

OF SUPPORT FOR PROGRESS IN HUMAN RIGHTS THE AMBASSADOR MENTIONED OUR SUPPORT FOR JUDICIAL REFORM, INCLUDING THE POSSIBILITY OF CREATING A SPECIAL COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE DISAPPEARANCES AND DEATH SQUAD ACTIVITIES. HE ASSURED THEM THAT THE US IS IN EL SALVADOR "FOR THE LONG RUN" AND THAT WE ARE DEDICATED TO IMPROVING HUMAN RIGHTS CONDITIONS AND SOLVING PROBLEMS HERE. TO THEIR SURPRISE AND OBVIOUS PLEASURE, THE AMBASSADOR OFFERED TO MEET WITH THE MOTHERS AGAIN TO CONTINUE THEIR DISCUSSION. THE MEETING RECEIVED WIDE PRESS COVERAGE.

9. TEXT OF THE MOTHERS' COMMITTEE LETTER:

HONORED AMBASSADOR OF THE US
THOMAS R. PICKERING

RESPECTED SIR:

BY THIS LETTER THE MOTHERS' COMMITTEE "MONS. OSCAR ARNULFO ROMERO" AND "MARIANELLA GARCIA VILLAS" PRESENT THEIR GREETINGS TO YOU PERSONALLY AND AS THE REPRESENTATIVE OF SUCH AN IMPORTANT NATION.

THE OBJECT OF OUR PRESENTATION IS OUR DESIRE TO ESTABLISH A DIALOGUE WITH YOU DEALING WITH THE POINTS STATED IN OUR REQUEST FOR AN INTERVIEW AND REPEATED HERE:

--UNCONDITIONAL LIBERTY FOR ALL POLITICAL PRISONERS IN THE PENITENTIARIES AND IN THE CUSTODY OF THE SECURITY FORCES.

--AN ACCEPTABLE AND IMMEDIATE ANSWER ON THE FATE OF THE DISAPPEARED--THEY TOOK THEM AWAY ALIVE, WE WANT THEM BACK ALIVE.

--PROSECUTION OF THOSE GUILTY OF ASSASSINATIONS WHO ARE PROTECTED BY ORGANIZATIONS LIKE DEATH SQUADS--THOSE WHO MASTERMIND THE OPERATIONS AS WELL AS THOSE WHO CARRY THEM OUT.

--GUARANTEES OF SECURITY FROM THE AUTHORITIES FOR

COMMITTEE MEMBERS: WE ARE CONSTANTLY WATCHED AS IF WE WERE COMMON CRIMINALS: THEY EVEN ARRESTED, INTERROGATED, AND BEAT ONE OF OUR MEMBERS (SEE COMMENT AT END). WITH THIS TREATMENT THEY RETARD OUR HUMANITARIAN WORK WHICH WE HAVE DETERMINED TO CARRY FORWARD--WE KNOW THAT REASON IS WITH US AND WE WILL NOT YIELD BEFORE REACHING OUR OBJECTIVES.

WE ARE SURE THAT BY MAKING THIS ENCOUNTER POSSIBLE YOU ARE DEMONSTRATING THE DISPOSITION ON YOUR PART TO INITIATE AN UNDERSTANDING: THIS IS THE SECOND ATTEMPT WE HAVE MADE TO SPEAK WITH YOU, AND HAVE THE OPPORTUNITY TO CONVEY TO YOU OUR CONCERNS AND ANXIETIES.

WE BELIEVE THAT IN EXCHANGING HONEST AND SINCERE OPINIONS, AS WE ARE WITH YOUR GOVERNMENT, IT IS VERY IMPORTANT TO ESTABLISH A SERIOUS UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN YOUR GOVERNMENT AND US, IN THESE DAYS OF A NEWLY INSTALLED GOVERNMENT IN OUR COUNTRY IN WHICH THE CONFLICT AND VIOLENCE OF WAR SHARPENS.

WE NEED TO BE ABLE TO INFORM THE THOUSANDS OF RELATIVES OF THE VICTIMS ABOUT THE GAINS OBTAINED IN THIS INTERVIEW, WHICH WE HAVE FAITH COULD BE ENOUGH

10. COMMENT: WHILE SOME OF THE "MOTHERS" HAVE IN FACT LOST FAMILY MEMBERS, OTHERS HAVE NOT. THE GROUP DOES NOT HIDE ITS PRO-LEFT SYMPATHIES AND MAY HAVE TIES TO THE FMLN/FDR. IT ADVOCATES NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE FMLN AND THE END OF US ASSISTANCE. THE GOES HAS BEEN REASONABLY RESPONSIVE TO THE COMMITTEE'S DEMANDS. THE GROUP HAS BEEN RECEIVED BY DUARTE HIMSELF, WHO ARRANGED A SUBSEQUENT MEETING WITH REY PRENDES, AND SO HAS HAD ACCESS TO THE HIGHEST REACHES OF THE SALVADORAN GOVERNMENT. ONE MEMBER OF THE COMMITTEE RECENTLY CHARGED THAT A POLICIA NATIONAL MAN ABUSED HER. COL. REYELO ORDERED A FULL INVESTIGATION AND COULD NOT SUBSTANTIATE THE CHARGE. HE DID, HOWEVER, TAKE HER DEPOSITION AND SOLICITED TESTIMONY FROM THE EMBASSY AS WELL. IT WAS THE FIRST TIME THE PN TOOK A MOTHERS' COMMITTEE MEMBER'S COMPLAINT SERIOUSLY. END COMMENT.

Mrs. Shelton:

We are writing to you with the purpose to offer to you our solidarity and to inform you that the CDHG (Commission of Human Rights of Guatemala) has been concerned with the investigation into the disappearance of your son, Jack Shelton, in our country. At this time we are preparing a Habeas Corpus in favor (name) of your son that we will present before the Supreme Court of Justice of Guatemala(City).

We are attaching a copy of an anonymous letter that arrived at our central office in which your son is mentioned. We believe that the orders of execution have been arranged but the content of the letter may give new indications for the investigation.

With hopes that you may obtain some positive results, we write to show you are a great concern.

3. (U) AS WAS PREVIOUSLY THE CASE, TL LISTS ALL MILITARY CASUALTIES SEPARATELY IN ITS REPORT; THEY ARE THUS, UNLIKE GUERRILLA COMBATANT DEATHS INCLUDED IN CATEGORIES B AND C, NOT INCLUDED AMONG THE VICTIMS OF "POLITICAL VIOLENCE."

4. (U) EXAMING THE TL NUMBERS PER CATEGORY, WE NOTE THAT:

-- OF THE 11 UNQUALIFIED CIVILIAN DEAD IN CATEGORY A, ONLY TWO ARE ATTRIBUTED TO THE MILITARY, BOTH TO THE AIR FORCE. THIS IS THE ONLY SUGGESTION OF OR REFERENCE TO A BOMBING INCIDENT FOR THE MONTH OF JUNE IN THE TUTELA REPORT.

-- IN EACH CASE, INDISCRIMINATE ARMY ATTACKS ARE CITED AS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE 68 DEATHS IN CATEGORY "B" ("MAJORITY POSSIBLY CIVILIANS"). THE ONLY THREE CIVILIAN BATTLE DEATHS ATTRIBUTED TO THE GUERRILLAS, LISTED UNDER "D", ARE THE WOMAN AND CHILDREN KILLED AT

CERRON GRANDE. (THE FACT OF THEIR DEATH WAS UNIVERSALLY OBSERVED AND COULD HARDLY HAVE GONE UNMENTIONED IN THE TL REPORT.)

-- IN EACH CASE, THE FIFTY VICTIMS ("MAJORITY POSSIBLY (GUERRILLA) COMBATANTS") OF CATEGORY "C" ARE LISTED AS KILLED BY ARMY OR SECURITY FORCE GUNSHOT WOUNDS. THUS, ALL BOMBING VICTIMS APART FROM THE TWO MENTIONED IN CATEGORY A, IF ANY, MUST BE SUBSUMED INTO THE NON-COMBATANT GROUP IN "B". IN OTHER WORDS, ACCORDING TO THE TL REPORT, THE ESAF'S PENCHANT FOR "INDISCRIMINATE BOMBINGS" RESULTED ONLY IN THE DEATHS OF TWO PEOPLE IN JUNE.

5. (U) THE TUTELA REPORT FOR THE FIRST TIME ESTABLISHES SEPARATE REPORTING CATEGORIES FOR ALLEGED DEATHS INFORMED TO TL IN JUNE, BUT WHICH OCCURRED ON EARLIER DATES. THIS CORRESPONDS TO ONE OF OUR CRITICISMS OF THEIR METHOD, WHICH TENDED TO INFLATE PRESENT ALLEGED VIOLENCE LEVELS. THE JUNE REPORT THUS CLAIMS THAT 43 UNKNOWN CIVILIANS WERE KILLED IN FOUR "INDISCRIMINATE ATTACKS" PRIOR TO THE MONTH OF JUNE. NO DETAILS ON THE NATURE OF THE ATTACKS IS PROVIDED.

6. (U) TUTELA HAS MAINTAINED THE SEPARATE CATEGORY OF INCIDENTS FOR WHICH NEITHER NAMES NOR NUMBERS OF VICTIMS ARE KNOWN. THE JUNE REPORT LISTS 19 INCIDENTS IN WHICH AN UNDETERMINED NUMBER OF VICTIMS WERE KILLED BY THE ARMY IN "SWEEPS OR CLASHES." NONE ARE LISTED AS RESPONSIBILITY OF THE GUERRILLAS.

7. (U) TO SUM UP, THE NEW FORMAT LAUNCHED WITH THE JUNE REPORT LEADS TO THE FOLLOWING CONCLUSIONS:

A. GUERRILLAS WHO ARE KILLED ARE DEEMED TO BE AND COUNTED AMONG VICTIMS OF POLITICAL VIOLENCE (CATEGORY B AND C OF TUTELA REPORT); THE ESAF DEAD ARE NOT;

B. THIS CONSTITUTES AN ADMISSION BY ITS OWN METHODOLOGY THAT A LARGE PORTION OF THE MONTHLY TOTAL OF VICTIMS OF POLITICAL VIOLENCE ARE IN FACT GUERRILLA COMBATANTS;

C. INCREDIBLY, THE MILITARY CONTINUES TO BE HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR VIRTUALLY ALL DEATHS ARISING FROM COMBAT SITUATIONS, MANY OF WHICH ARE INITIATED BY THE GUERRILLAS;

D. TL CITES ONLY ONE SPECIFIC INCIDENT IN WHICH CIVILIANS (2) WERE KILLED BY AERIAL BOMBARDMENT.

E. TL CONTINUES TO DRAW HEAVILY ON PRESS REPORTS FOR ITS FIGURES, DATES AND LOCATIONS OF ITS ALLEGED INCIDENTS (SEE PARA 9 BELOW). WHEREAS PREVIOUSLY TL SIMPLY CONVERTED REPORTED GUERRILLA DEAD INTO CIVILIAN VICTIMS OF THE ARMED FORCES, THESE ARE NOW CLASSIFIED AS "MAJORITY POSSIBLY CIVILIAN" "OR MAJORITY POSSIBLY GUERRILLA."

F. A VERY SMALL PORTION OF TUTELA'S NUMBERS ARE BACKED UP BY TESTIMONY OF ANY SORT. TESTIMONY WAS PROVIDED REGARDING ONLY 1 CASE (2 DEATHS) OF THE 68 IN CATEGORY "B," AND FOR 6 OF THE DEATHS OF THE 43 UNKNOWN PEOPLE ALLEGED KILLED BY THE ARMY ON DATES EARLIER THAN JUNE [redacted]

8. (C) COMMENT: IT IS CLEAR THAT TL HAS RELABELED ITS REPORTING CATEGORIES BUT CHANGED NEITHER ITS RESEARCH METHODOLOGY NOR ITS INTENTIONS, WHICH APPEAR -- REGRETTABLY-- TO REMAIN THE DISCREDITING OF US POLICY AND OF THE ELECTED DUARTE GOVERNMENT. THE ABSOLUTE NUMBER OF KILLINGS IS NOT IN ANY WAY HEDGED, NOR THEIR PURPORTED AUTHORSHIP. A GRUDGING LACK OF CERTAINTY IS NOW ADMITTED ONLY ABOUT THE STATUS OF THE DEAD AS GUERRILLAS OR CIVILIANS. STITUTES AN ADMISSION THAT TL CANNOT DOCUMENT THE VAST PREPONDERANCE OF ALLEGED ABUSES. AS A PROPAGANDA ELEMENT, THEREFORE, THE TL MONTHLY NUMBER IS NOW LESS VALUABLE AND TL'S EDGE HAS BEEN BLUNTED AS A POLITICAL TOOL. REGRETTABLY, IT IS STILL NO SHARPER AS AN INSTRUMENT THAT CAN EFFECTIVELY CONTRIBUTE TO THE USEFUL DEFINITION AND EFFECTIVE SOLUTION OF THE REAL HUMAN RIGHTS PROBLEMS THAT MUST BE RESOLVED IN EL SALVADOR. SHUM-1

2. (U) TUTELA LEGAL'S JUNE REPORT HAS JUST NOW BEEN ISSUED, OVER A MONTH LATE, AND REFLECTS THE CHANGES IN STATISTICAL CATEGORIES WE WERE TOLD TO EXPECT IN RESPONSE TO OUR CRITIQUE. IN FACT, THE REPORT DOES NOT SUGGEST THAT REPORTS OF DEATHS ARE THEMSELVES IN DOUBT; THE ONLY SIGNIFICANT CHANGE IS IN THE INTRODUCTION OF A SLIM MEASURE OF DOUBT AS TO WHETHER THE DEAD REPORTED ARE GUERRILLA "COMBATANTS, NON-COMBATANTS (PRESUMABLY MASAS) OR CIVILIANS." NAMES, SEX AND AGES OF VICTIMS, AS BEFORE, ARE NORMALLY NOT OFFERED.

3. (U) THE KEY CATEGORIES ON DEATHS IN THE TUTELA REPORT, WITH JUNE FIGURES, ARE AS FOLLOWS:

A. "CIVILIAN DEAD":

- BY DEATH SQUAD 8
- BY THE CIVIL DEFENSE 1
- BY THE ARMY (AIR FORCE) 2
- TOTAL 11

B. "VICTIMS OF POLITICAL VIOLENCE IN MILITARY ACTIONS, INCLUDING (GUERRILLA) COMBATANTS, NON-COMBATANTS AND CIVILIANS, WHOSE ACTUAL CATEGORY CANNOT BE DETERMINED FOR LACK OF ON SITE INSPECTION AND OF WHOM THE MAJORITY MAY POSSIBLY BE CIVILIANS.": 58 (NAMES, SEX, AGES NOT PROVIDED)

C. "DEAD IN AMBUSHES, CLASHES AND PATROLS, OF WHOM THE MAJORITY MAY POSSIBLY BE (GUERRILLA) COMBATANTS BUT WHOSE CATEGORY CANNOT BE DETERMINED FOR LACK OF ON SITE INSPECTION.": 58 (NAMES, SEX, AGES NOT PROVIDED)

D. "CIVILIAN DEATHS CAUSED BY THE GUERRILLAS":

E.O. 12356: DECL: OADR
TAGS: SHUM, ES, PINT
SUBJECT: TUTELA LEGAL LAUNCHES NEW REPORTING FORMAT

- MURDERS BY GUERRILLAS 1
- DEATHS ATTRIBUTABLE TO THE
- GUERRILLAS IN MILITARY
- OPERATIONS 3
- ---
- TOTAL 134 -- TL'S LOWEST FIGURE
- EVER (E.G. MARCH 214, APRIL 232, MAY 177)

3. (U) AS WAS PREVIOUSLY THE CASE, TL LISTS ALL MILITARY CASUALTIES SEPARATELY IN ITS REPORT; THEY ARE THUS, UNLIKE GUERRILLA COMBATANT DEATHS INCLUDED IN CATEGORIES B AND C, NOT INCLUDED AMONG THE VICTIMS OF "POLITICAL VIOLENCE."

4. (U) EXAMINING THE TL NUMBERS PER CATEGORY, WE NOTE THAT:

-- OF THE 11 UNQUALIFIED CIVILIAN DEAD IN CATEGORY A, ONLY TWO ARE ATTRIBUTED TO THE MILITARY, BOTH TO THE AIR FORCE. THIS IS THE ONLY SUGGESTION OF OR REFERENCE TO A BOMBING INCIDENT FOR THE MONTH OF JUNE IN THE TUTELA REPORT.

-- IN EACH CASE, INDISCRIMINATE ARMY ATTACKS ARE CITED

AS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE 68 DEATHS IN CATEGORY "B" ("MAJORITY POSSIBLY CIVILIANS"). THE ONLY THREE CIVILIAN BATTLE DEATHS ATTRIBUTED TO THE GUERRILLAS, LISTED UNDER "D", ARE THE WOMAN AND CHILDREN KILLED AT CERRON GRANDE. (THE FACT OF THEIR DEATH WAS UNIVERSALLY OBSERVED AND COULD HARDLY HAVE GONE UNMENTIONED IN THE TL REPORT.)

-- IN EACH CASE, THE FIFTY VICTIMS ("MAJORITY POSSIBLY GUERRILLA COMBATANTS") OF CATEGORY "C" ARE LISTED AS KILLED BY ARMY OR SECURITY FORCE GUNSHOT WOUNDS. THUS, ALL BOMBING VICTIMS APART FROM THE TWO MENTIONED IN CATEGORY A, IF ANY, MUST BE SUBSUMED INTO THE NON-COMBATANT GROUP IN "B". IN OTHER WORDS, ACCORDING TO THE TL REPORT, THE ESAF'S PENCHANT FOR "INDISCRIMINATE BOMBINGS" RESULTED ONLY IN THE DEATHS OF TWO PEOPLE IN JUNE.

5. (U) THE TUTELA REPORT FOR THE FIRST TIME ESTABLISHES SEPARATE REPORTING CATEGORIES FOR ALLEGED DEATHS INFORMED TO TL IN JUNE, BUT WHICH OCCURRED ON EARLIER DATES. THIS CORRESPONDS TO ONE OF OUR CRITICISMS OF THEIR METHOD, WHICH TENDED TO INFLATE PRESENT ALLEGED VIOLENCE LEVELS. THE JUNE REPORT THUS CLAIMS THAT 41 UNKNOWN CIVILIANS WERE KILLED IN FOUR "INDISCRIMINATE ATTACKS" PRIOR TO THE MONTH OF JUNE. NO DETAILS ON THE NATURE OF THE ATTACKS IS PROVIDED.

6. (U) TUTELA HAS MAINTAINED THE SEPARATE CATEGORY OF INCIDENTS FOR WHICH NEITHER NAMES NOR NUMBERS OF VICTIMS ARE KNOWN. THE JUNE REPORT LISTS 15 INCIDENTS IN WHICH AN UNDETERMINED NUMBER OF VICTIMS WERE KILLED BY THE ARMY IN "SWEEPS OR CLASHES." NONE ARE LISTED AS RESPONSIBILITY OF THE GUERRILLAS.

7. (U) TO SUM UP, THE NEW FORMAT LAUNCHED WITH THE JUNE REPORT LEADS TO THE FOLLOWING CONCLUSIONS:

SUBJECT: TUTELA LEGAL LAUNCHES NEW REPORTING FORMAT

A. GUERRILLAS WHO ARE KILLED ARE DEEMED TO BE AND COUNTED AMONG VICTIMS OF POLITICAL VIOLENCE (CATEGORY B AND C OF TUTELA REPORT); THE ESAF DEAD ARE NOT;

B. THIS CONSTITUTES AN ADMISSION BY ITS OWN METHODOLOGY THAT A LARGE PORTION OF THE MONTHLY TOTAL OF VICTIMS OF POLITICAL VIOLENCE ARE IN FACT GUERRILLA COMBATANTS;

C. INCREDIBLY, THE MILITARY CONTINUES TO BE HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR VIRTUALLY ALL DEATHS ARISING FROM COMBAT SITUATIONS, MANY OF WHICH ARE INITIATED BY THE GUERRILLAS;

D. TL CITES ONLY ONE SPECIFIC INCIDENT IN WHICH CIVILIANS (2) WERE KILLED BY AERIAL BOMBARDMENT.

E. TL CONTINUES TO DRAW HEAVILY ON PRESS REPORTS FOR ITS FIGURES, DATES AND LOCATIONS OF ITS ALLEGED INCIDENTS (SEE PARA 9 BELOW). WHEREAS PREVIOUSLY TL SIMPLY CONVERTED REPORTED GUERRILLA DEAD INTO CIVILIAN VICTIMS OF THE ARMED FORCES, THESE ARE NOW CLASSIFIED AS "MAJORITY POSSIBLY CIVILIAN" OR MAJORITY POSSIBLY GUERRILLA."

F. A VERY SMALL PORTION OF TUTELA'S NUMBERS ARE BACKED

UP BY TESTIMONY OF ANY SORT. TESTIMONY WAS PROVIDED REGARDING ONLY 1 CASE (2 DEATHS) OF THE 68 IN CATEGORY "B," AND FOR 6 OF THE DEATHS OF THE 43 UNKNOWN PEOPLE ALLEGED KILLED BY THE ARMY ON DATES EARLIER THAN JUNE 1984.

9. (U) COMPARISON OF TL AND PRESS REPORTING FOR JUNE 1984:

7. REGARDING THE POLITICAL PROCESS, AMBASSADOR MIDDENDORF NOTED THAT THE U.S. APPLAUDS THE STEPS CHILE IS TAKING TOWARD THE RESTORATION OF DEMOCRACY. JARPA SAID CHILE IS INTENT ON MOVING FORWARD TOWARD FULL DEMOCRACY IN SPITE OF THE COMMUNISTS AND ECONOMIC SITUATION. MIDDENDORF ASKED IF THERE IS ANTYING THE U.S. CAN DO TO HELP CHILE JARPA REPLIED THAT AMBASSADOR THEBERGE IS A GOOD FRIEND AND HAS HELPED CHILE A GREAT DEAL. HE ADDED THAT CHILE'S PRINCIPAL POLITICAL PROBLEM IS THE PCCH, LED BY THE USSR, WHO DO EVERYTHING THEY CAN DO TO MAKE CHILE'S PROGRESS DIFFICULT. JARPA ACCUSED THE COMMUNISTS OF INFILTRATING THE UNIVERSITIES, INTELLECTUAL AND PROFESSIONAL GROUPS, SLUMS AND THE CHURCH, PARTICULARLY THE LABOR VICARIATE ("VICARIA OBRERA") AND THE VICARIATE OF SOLIDARITY.

REF: (A) SANTIAGO 5509, B) SANTIAGO 5637

1. (C) SUMMARY: THE ACTIONS OF THE CNI DURING THE AUGUST 23 SHOOT-OUT IN CONCEPCION (REFTELS) ARE COMING UNDER NCREASING SCRUTINY. ARCHBISHOP SANTOS MADE A REQUEST TO THE SUPREME COURT THAT A SPECIAL PROSECUTOR BE NAMED TO NVESTIGATE THE SHOOT-OUT. AT THE SAME TIME, THE CHILEAN HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION AND THE BISHOP OF TEMUCO CALLED FOR AN INQUIRY. IN A RELATED EVENT, SANTIAGO JUDGE MARIA MANRIQUEZ FILED A WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS ON BEHALF OF HER SON, IGNACIO VIDAURRAZAGA,

OF THE CASES THUS FAR IS THE UNPRECEDENTED DEGREE OF COOPERATION BY THE CNI WITH THE COURTS. END SUMMARY.
2. (U) ON SEPT 3 ARCHBISHOP JOSE MANUEL SANTOS PETITNED THE SUPREME COURT TO PROVIDE A SPECIAL PROSECUTOR TO INVESTIAGE THE SHOOT-OUT WHICH OCCURRED ON AUGUST 23 (REF A). PRIOR TO APPEARING BEFORE THE SUPREME COURT SANTOS SPOKE WITH RAFAEL RETAMAL, PRESIDENT OF THE SUPREME COURT. IN A STATEMENT TO REPORTERS, SANTOS CLAIMED THAT THERE WAS "SUFFICIENT EVIDENCE, Z INCLUDING PHOTOGRAPHS TAKEN BY REPORTERS AND WITNESSES AT THE SCENE, TO SHOW THERE WAS NOT A CONFRONTTION AS STATED BY THE CNI.
3. (U) ON SEPT 1, THE CHILEAN HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION ISSUED A STATEMENT THAT THE COURTS SHOULD INVESTIGATE THE CONTRADICTORY VERSIONS OF THE EVENTS OF AUG 23. AT THE SAME TIME, EX-PARLIAMENTARIANS FROM THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATS ISSUED A DECLARATION SUPPORTING THE CALL FOR AN INVESTIGATION, ADDING THAT THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM SHOULD INVESTIGATE, NOT THE SECURITY SERVICES. A THIRD CALL FOR AN INVESTIGATION CAME FROM THE BISHOP OF TEMUCO, SERGIO CONTRERAS NAVIA, WHO IS ALSO THE SECRETARY OF THE BISHOPS' CONFERENCE.
4. (U) ON SEPT 1, JUDGE MARIA YOLANDA MANRIQUEZ SEPULVEDA, OF THE ELEVENTH COURT IN SANTIAGO, SUBMITTED A WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS ON BEHALF OF HER SON IGNACIO ENRIQUE VIDAURRAZAGA MANRIQUEZ TO THE COURT. IGNACIO VIDAURRAZAGA WAS ARRESTED BY OFFICIALS OF CNI ON

AUGUST 23 IN CONCEPCION. ACCORDING TO MARIA MANRIQUEZ, HER SON WAS DETAINED WITHOUT CHARGES AND WAS BEING HELD INCOMMUNICADO. IN THE WRIT, MARIA MANRIQUEZ REQUESTED THAT AN OBSERVER FROM THE COURT INVESTIGATE THE HEALTH OF HER SON, WHOM SHE BELIEVED TO BE IN "BAD PHYSICAL CONDITION." ON SEPTEMBER 2, LOCAL NEWSPAPERS REPORTED THAT A COURT OBSERVER HAD, IN FACT VISITED THE CNI DETENTION CENTER, DEMANDED CENTER RECORDS, AN INTERVIEW WITH THE DIRECTOR AND AN INTERVIEW WITH VIDAURRAZAGAM THE COURT RECORD SHOWED THAT VIDAURRAZAGA CAME INTO THE COURT ROOM FOR HIS ARRAIGNMENT ESCORTED BY TWO MEN WHO WERE SUPPORTING HIM BY HIS ARMS AND "HE HAD TROUBLE WALKING." BASED ON THESE OBSERVATIONS, THE COURT APPOINTED A DOCTOR TO EXAMINE VIDAURRAZAGA AND REPORT HIS CONDTION. THE COURT ALSO ORDERED THE DIRECTOR OF THE CNI TO COOPERATE WITH THE DOCTORS. THE COURT ANNOUNCED THAT A DECISION ON THE WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS MIGHT BE FORTHCOMING WITHIN ONE WEEK. ON SEPTEMBER 6, THE INTENDENT OF THE EIGHT REGION ANNOUNCED THAT

VIDAURRAZAGA HAD BEEN PLACED IN THE CARE OF THE SECOND MILITARY HOSPITAL ON CONCEPCION. THE ANNOUNCEMENT ALSO SAID THAT VIDAUURRAZAGA HAD FALSE DOCUMENTS WITH HIM AT THE TIME OF HIS ARREST AND EXPLOSIVES, A RADIO AND SUBVERSIVE DOCUMENTS WERE FOUND IN HIS HOME.
6. (U) ON SEPT 2, A SANTIAGO NEWSPAPER CARRIED A STATEMENT FROM THE MIR ADMITTNG THAT GOC SECURITY FORCES HAD DEALT THEM A "HARD BLOW" DURING THE ACTIONS FO AUGUST 23. TWO DAYS LATER, AN ALLEGED SPOKESMAN FOR THE MANUAL RODRIGUEZ PATRIOTIC FRONT, MRPF, SAID THAT HIS GROUP HAD ENDED ITS BOMBING CAMPAIGN FOR THE TIME BEING, ALTHOUGH THE MRPF STATEMENT MAY NOT BE RELATED TO THE AUGUST 23 INCIDENTS.
7. (C) COMMENTS: AN UNUSUAL FEATURE OF THE VIDAURRAZAGA CASE THUS FAR IS THE UNPRECEDENTED DEGREE OF COOPERATION PROVIDED BY THE CNI TO THE COURTS. THE STATEMENTS BY THE MIR SUGGESTS THAT RECENT GOVERNMENT ACTIONS AGAINST

THESE NINE CIVILIANS. WE CONCLUDE THAT THE FPL DELIBERATELY PLANTED THE STORY WITH THE ARCHBISHOPRIC'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE, TUTELA LEGAL, AS PART OF A CAMPAIGN TO DISCREDIT THE SALVADORAN ARMED FORCES. WE SUSPECT STRONGLY THERE HAVE BEEN OTHER SIMILAR GUERRILLA ATTEMPTS AT DISINFORMATION, USING TL AS WITTING OR UNWITTING TOOL. BUT THE MARCH 9 BOMBING INCIDENT IS THE FIRST OPEN AND SHUT SUCH CASE WE HAVE SEEN OF A DELIBERATE FALSIFICATION BEING PERPETRATED UNDER TL'S MANTLE. WE ARE CONCERNED THAT SUCH CASES, TOGETHER WITH TL'S CONTINUING VERY QUESTIONABLE METHODOLOGY IN COMPILING HUMAN RIGHTS STATISTICS, WILL UNDERMINE THE EFFECTIVENESS OF THE CHURCH'S CRUCIALLY IMPORTANT ROLE AND MISSION HERE IN STIMULATING CONTINUED PROGRESS ON THE HUMAN RIGHTS FRONT. END SUMMARY.

2. (U) THE HANDWRITTEN GUERRILLA DOCUMENT CAPTURED BY JULY 29 IN SAN VICENTE DEPARTMENT BY THE ATLACATL IMMEDIATE REACTION BATTALION, DESCRIBED A FAS BOMBING ATTACK WHICH ALLEGEDLY OCCURRED ON MARCH 3, IN MIRANDILLA AND EL ZAPOTE, IN THE VICINITY OF GUAZAPA VOLCANO (REF A). THE DOCUMENT WAS IN THE FORM OF A DIARY, AND THE ENTRY FOR MARCH 9 INCLUDED A LIST OF THE NAMES OF THE GUERRILLAS KILLED IN THE BOMBING OF MARCH 3, APPARENTLY WHILE ATTENDING A MEETING OF FPL LEADERS IN THE AREA. THIS LIST GIVES THE NAMES OF NINE GUERRILLAS KILLED AND TWO WOUNDED IN THE ACTION, WHICH OCCURRED IN NORTHERN CUSCATLAN DEPARTMENT NEAR EL ZAPOTE AND MIRANDILLA (AN AREA REFERRED TO BY THE FPL AS THE GUAZAPA FRONT), ALONG WITH THEIR POSITIONS WITHIN THE RANKS OF THE GUERRILLAS. THE DOCUMENT GOES ON TO [redacted]

DESCRIBE OTHER GUERRILLA OPERATIONS SUCH AS PLACING BOOBY TRAPS AND MINES, RECONNAISSANCE MISSIONS, AND KIDNAPPING. IT ALSO MENTIONS THREE FPL BATTALIONS BY NAME.

3. (U) WHEN WE COMPARED THE INFORMATION IN THE FPL DOCUMENT TO TUTELA LEGAL'S MARCH 1984 REPORT, WE DISCOVERED THAT TUTELA HAD PRINTED AN EYEWITNESS REPORT OF THE EXACT SAME BOMBING INCIDENT, INCLUDING A LIST OF NINE ALLEGED "CIVILIANS" KILLED IN THE ATTACK.

THE TUTELA LIST CONTAINED 7 OF THE 9 NAMES ON THE CAPTURED GUERRILLA LIST, MANY OF THEM IN THE SAME ORDER. TUTELA EVEN MISTAKENLY REPORTED THAT THE ATTACK OCCURRED ON THE 9TH OF MARCH, WHICH WAS THE DATE THE INCIDENT WAS PHYSICALLY RECORDED IN THE GUERRILLA JOURNAL, RATHER THAN THE DATE OF THE ACTUAL FAS BOMBING ATTACK, WHICH WAS CORRECTLY NOTED ELSEWHERE IN THE GUERRILLA DOCUMENT AS MARCH 3. TUTELA'S WITNESS WAS PURPORTEDLY A 40 YEAR OLD WIDOW WHO GAVE HER TESTIMONY OF THE BOMBING ON MARCH 30, 1984. A COMPARISON OF THE NAMES ON THE TWO LISTS FOLLOWS:

DO NOT LIE TO THE CHURCH." UNFORTUNATELY, ALTHOUGH "THE PEOPLE" MAY NOT LIE TO THE CHURCH, THE GUERRILLAS APPARENTLY HAVE NO SUCH QUALMS.

7. (C) WITH INTERNATIONAL PRESS INCREASINGLY SKEPTICAL OF THE ACCURACY OF MEDIA DIRECTLY CONTROLLED BY THE GUERRILLAS (MOST NOTABLY RADIO FARABUNDO MARTI AND RADIO VENCEREMOS), WE BELIEVE THAT GUERRILLA ATTEMPTS TO USE AN OVERLY CREDULOUS TUTELA LEGAL AS A CONDUIT TO "AUTHENTICATE" AND SPREAD DISINFORMATION AGAINST THE SALVADORAN ARMED FORCES WILL INCREASE. ALTHOUGH TUTELA'S RECENTLY-ALTERED FORMAT FINALLY ACKNOWLEDGES THE POSSI-BILITY THAT SOME OF THOSE KILLED IN MILITARY OPERATIONS MAY BE GUERRILLAS, IT STILL INSISTS THAT VIRTUALLY ALL "CIVILIAN" DEATHS ARE CAUSED BY THE MILITARY. AND AS LONG AS TL IS WILLING TO UNCRITICALLY ACCEPT SWORN STATEMENTS AS "FACT," IT CAN BE DUPED BY A GUERRILLA MOVEMENT DETERMINED TO SEND IN OSTENSIBLE "EYEWITNESSES" WILLING TO TESTIFYTO THE "INNOCENT CIVILIAN" STATUS OF A LARGE PROPORTION OF ANY NON-ESAF PERSONNEL KILLED IN SUCH OPERATIONS. TL MUST BE PERSUADED TO TAKE STEPS TO CHECK AND FILTER MORE CAREFULLY ITS SOURCES OF HUMAN RIGHTS INFORMATION, OR IT WILL LOSE CREDIBILITY AS A REPORTER ON HUMAN RIGHTS PRACTICES IN EL SALVADOR. THIS WOULD BE A TRAGEDY, BECAUSE IT WOULD UNDERMINE THE CHURCH AS A CONSTRUCTIVE VOICE FOR CONTINUED HUMAN RIGHTS PROGRESS. THIS WAS THE MESSAGE THE AMBASSADOR LEFT WITH THE ARCHBISHOP THIS WEEK (SAN SALVADOR 10737). PICKERING

4. (C) THE ALMOST EXACT CORRESPONDENCE OF THE NAMES IN THE TWO REPORTS LEADS US TO CONCLUDE THAT (1) THE VICTIMS OF THE BOMBING WERE IN FACT LOCAL FPL GUERRILLA LEADERS, AND NOT CIVILIANS AS REPORTED BY TUTELA LEGAL, AND (2) THAT THE FLP DELIBERATELY PLANTED WITH TL THE STORY THAT THE VICTIMS WERE ALL CIVILIANS WITH THE OBJECTIVE OF DISCREDITING THE SALVADORAN ARMEDFORCES.

5. (U) THE TEXT OF THE CAPTURED GUERRILLA DOCUMENT'S REFERENCES TO THE BOMBING OF MARCH 3 IS TRANSLATED BELOW:

QUOTE THREE A-37 DRAGONFLY PLANES AND TWO PUSH-AND-PULL (FORWARD AIR CONTROLLER) PLANES APPEARED AND CONCENTRATED FIRE OVER MIRANDIA (SIC) AND ZAPOTE. THEY SHOT OFF 24 BOMBS (SIC). DURING THE COURSE OF THE DAY THEY DROPPED 60-70 BOMBS AND ROCKETS. THE "CARRE" (ARMED FORCES?) FOUND THOSE ATTENDING A COURSE(CURSILLISTAS) AT MEAL TIME AND (DURING) OTHER MOVEMENTS, AND PLACED A BOMB 5 METERS FROM THE KITCHEN. RESULTS: 9 COMRADES DEAD, AMONG THEM:

6. (C) CONCLUSION: WE REMAIN CONCERNED ABOUT TUTELA LEGAL'S APPARENT ACCEPTANCE OF INFORMATION ON ALLEGED ARMED FORCES ABUSES FROM "WITNESSES", FRIENDS OR FAMILY MEMBERS. TUTELA DOES NOT HAVE THE MEANS TO INVESTIGATE EVERY REPORT IT RECEIVES, BUT RELIES PRIMARILY ON THE GOOD FAITH OF ITS INTERLOCUTORS. 1. ON 31 AUGUST HAVANA RADIO BROADCAST A REPORT CLAIMING THAT REBECA GIRAL (SIC), AN OFFICIAL AT THE BENJAMIN BLOOM NATIONAL CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL, HAD SAID THAT "THE NUMBER OF CHILDREN SUFFERING KNIFE INJURIES, BEATINGS, AND RAPES COMMITTED BY ARMY TROOPS IN RURAL AREAS INCREASES DAILY."

2. ON SEPTEMBER 7 AN EMBASSY FSN EXPERIENCED IN HUMAN RIGHTS WORK INTERVIEWED LICENCIADA REBECA GIRALT, THE HEAD OF THE HOSPITAL'S DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL WORK, ABOUT THE STATEMENTS ATTRIBUTED TO HER BY RADIO HAVANA. LIC.
UNCLASSIFIED

GIRALT LABELED THE HAVANA RADIO STORY A COMPLETE FABRICATION AND DENIED CATEGORICALLY HAVING MADE SUCH STATEMENTS REGARDING ARMY CULPABILITY.

3. LIC GIRALT SAID THAT SHE HAD GIVEN AN INTERVIEW TO PACO ROMERO, A REPORTER FOR THE CONSERVATIVE DAILY DIARIO DE HOY DURING THE LAST WEEK OF AUGUST. IN THAT INTERVIEW, SHE EXPRESSED THE HOSPITAL'S DEEP CONCERN WITH THE SERIOUS PROBLEM OF CHILD ABUSE IN EL SALVADOR, AND DENOUNCED THE "ALARMING INCREASE" OF CASES OF CHILD ABUSE THE HOSPITAL HAD SEEN IN RECENT DAYS. IN HIS SUBSEQUENT ARTICLE, ROMERO HAD QUOTED HER CORRECTLY AND COMPREHENSIVELY, AND NOWHERE CHARGED THAT THESE ABUSES WERE TO BE IMPUTED TO THE SALVADORAN ARMED FORCES. ON THE CONTRARY, ACCORDING TO GIRALT, THE GREAT MAJORITY OF THE CASES CONCERN CHILD ABUSE WITHIN THE HOME OR LOCAL COMMUNITY.

4. GIRALT STATED THAT SHE KNEW OF ONLY ONE CASE INVOLVING A SOLDIER, AND THAT HAD OCCURRED SOME FOUR YEARS AGO. IN THAT CASE, A SOLDIER WAS ACCUSED OF RAPING AND WOUNDING (WITH A FIREARM) AN 11 YEAR-OLD GIRL IN CANTON EL TABLON, NEAR SUCHITOTO. THE GIRL'S FATHER WAS KILLED AND HER MOTHER RAPED AS WELL. GIRALT CATEGORICALLY DENIED HAVING STATED THAT SUCH INCIDENTS WERE INCREASING, OR THAT SUCH INCIDENTS WERE A MAJOR CONCERN AT THE HOSPITAL. SHE HAD NOT HAD A SINGLE CASE OF A SOLDIER BEING INVOLVED IN AN ASSAULT OR RAPE OF A MINOR THIS YEAR.

5. WE CONCLUDE THAT THIS HAVANA RADIO REPORT IS JUST ONE MORE EFFORT BY THE LEFT TO DISCREDIT THE ESAF AND ADD FUEL TO THE HUMAN RIGHTS PYRE IN EL SALVADOR.

2. SUMMARY: ON THIS HIS FOURTH ANNUAL MISSION TO SALVADOR, UN SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR DR. PASTOR RIDRUEJO CONSULTED WITH THE KEY SALVADORAN GOVERNMENT AND MILITARY FIGURES, ARCHBISHOP RIVERA Y DAMAS, TUTELA LEGAL AND OTHER HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS, AND WITH AMBASSADOR PICKERING. PASTOR EXTENDED HIS VISIT AN EXTRA DAY TO CALL ON PRESIDENT DUARTE ON SEPT. 23RD. HIS OVERALL VIEW WAS THAT THERE HAD BEEN A SIGNIFICANT IMPROVEMENT OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN EL SALVADOR OVER THE PAST YEAR. HE WAS ALSO OPTIMISTIC ABOUT THE FUTURE. ALTHOUGH HIS REPORT TO THE UN WILL REFLECT THIS VIEW, HE SUSPECTS THE EASTERN BLOCK/THIRD WORLD MAJORITY WILL IGNORE HIS REPORT AND CONTINUE TO USE A HARD LINE APPROACH IN AN EFFORT TO OPPOSE U.S. POLICY IN EL SALVADOR. END SUMMARY.

3. PASTOR'S GENERAL ASSESSMENT: DR. PASTOR'S OVERALL IMPRESSION IN COMPARISON TO HIS PREVIOUS VISITS IS THAT THE HUMAN RIGHTS AND GENERAL SITUATION HAS SIGNIFICANTLY IMPROVED. HE NOTED THAT SAN SALVADOR, WITH ITS SHOPS FILLED WITH GOODS AND BUSTLING POPULATION, DOES NOT APPEAR TO BE THE CAPITAL OF A COUNTRY AT WAR. ALTHOUGH HE WAS PLEASED AT THE LOWER LEVEL OF VIOLENCE IN THE CITY IN COMPARISON WITH PREVIOUS VISITS, HE OBSERVED SOME "CONFUSION" OVER DEATH STATISTICS IN THE RURAL AREAS. PASTOR, HOWEVER, APPEARED TO BE IN AGREEMENT WITH THE EMBASSY'S CRITICAL ASSESSMENT OF TUTELA LEGAL'S METHODOLOGY FOR COMPILING HUMAN RIGHTS STATISTICS AS DOCUMENTED IN THE EXTENSIVE BRIEFING BOOK POLOFFS GAVE TO PASTOR FOR HIS USE.

4. IN HIS CALL ON PRESIDENT DUARTE, PASTOR WAS IMPRESSED BY THE SINCERITY OF THE PRESIDENT'S UNQUALIFIED COMMITMENT TO ACHIEVE FURTHER HUMAN RIGHTS [redacted]

GAINS. EQUALLY STRIKING, PASTOR SAID, WAS THE VIVID CONTRAST BETWEEN THE CONFIDENCE AND COMMAND THAT DUARTE EXUDED THIS TIME AS CONSTITUTIONALLY ELECTED PRESIDENT, AND HIS RESERVED AND CIRCUMSCRIBED DEMEANOR THREE YEARS AGO (AS JUNTA PRESIDENT) WHEN PASTOR HAD LAST SEEN HIM.

5. JUDICIAL REFORM: AREA OF CRITICISM: PASTOR STATED THAT ALTHOUGH JUDICIAL REFORM BY ITS VERY NATURE WILL BE A SLOW PROCESS, IT MUST BE [redacted] AREA OF CONCENTRATION

AS THE INABILITY TO BRING THE GUILTY TO JUSTICE IS CAUSING THE POPULATION TO TAKE THE LAW INTO ITS OWN HANDS. HE BELIEVES THE "CLIMATE OF IMPUNITY BREEDS CRIME." HE COMMENTED THAT THE JUDICIAL REFORM WILL BE MADE MORE DIFFICULT BY THE LOW MORAL STANDARDS OF THE JUDGES AND POLITIZATION OF MEMBERS OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE (FISCALIA) AND SUPREME COURT, THE FORMER IN PARTICULAR WHICH HE VIEWS AS HIGHLY ANTAGONISTIC TO PRESIDENT DUARTE. HE COMMENTED THAT ARENA ATTORNEY GENERAL JOSE "PATO" GUERRERO IS VERY JEALOUS OF HIS PREROGATIVES WHILE THE PRESIDENT OF THE SUPREME COURT DR. FRANCISCO "CHACHI" GUERRERO IS MORE FLEXIBLE.

6. VISITS TO SECURITY FORCES: DR. PASTOR VISITED COL. GOLCHER, HEAD OF THE TREASURY POLICE, COL. REVELO, DIRECTOR OF THE NATIONAL POLICE AND GENERAL VIDES CASANOVA, MINISTER OF DEFENSE. HE WAS FAVORABLY IMPRESSED BY THEIR EFFORTS IN THE AREA OF HUMAN RIGHTS. THESE VISITS ALSO PROVIDED AMPLE DOCUMENTATION OF GUERRILLA ATROCITIES AND FORCED RECRUITMENT OF CHILDREN. GENERAL VIDES CASANOVA AND CHIEF OF STAFF COL. BLANDON DISCUSSED THE GOES STAND ON TREATMENT OF GUERRILLA "MASAS" AND OUTLINED ESAF PLANS TO ADD MILITARY CHAPLAINS TO THE OFFICER CORPS TO ASSIST IN EFFORTS TO RAISE HUMAN RIGHTS

Democracy in Latin America and the Caribbean

by Langhorne A. Motley

Based on oral and written testimony re the Subcommittee on Western Hemisphere Affairs of the House Foreign Affairs Committee on July 31, 1984. Ambassador Motley is Assistant Secretary for Inter-American Affairs.[1]

Support for democracy is one of the cardinal points of U.S. foreign policy in the Caribbean and in Latin America as a whole. Ambassador Motley's testimony discusses the status of democratic politics in the region. It concludes that democracy is proving to be a practical path to stability as well as to freedom. This conclusion, with the data that support it, parallels the finding of the National Bipartisan Commission on Central America that recent events have "destroyed the argument of the old dictators that a strong hand is essential to avoid anarchy and communism, and that order and progress can only be achieved through authoritarianism."

THE BEST MEASURE OF FREEDOM

Since November 1980, when the United States last went to the polls to elect a president, our southern neighbors have cast some 150 million votes in 33 elections in 24 countries. That is more votes in more elections in more countries than in any previous 4 years in the history of Latin America and the Caribbean.

In Latin America, voter participation has increased, sometimes dramatically. In fact, recent turnouts, in some cases, have doubled those of 20 years ago in relative as well as absolute terms.

- More than 15 million Argentine voters went to the polls last fall. In the hotly contested election that ended nearly a decade of military rule, 9 out of every 10 adults voted. Raul Alfonsin became president with the largest vote in Argentine history, exceeding even Juan Peron's highest tally.
- In Brazil's 1982 congressional and municipal elections, 48.4 million Brazilians voted. This was more than three times the 14.8 million who voted in the 1962 legislative elections; the percentage of adults voting rose from 45% in 1962 to 81% in 1982.
- In May of this year, an absolute majority of all adult Salvadorans, some 1.5 million men and women, defied guerrilla violence to choose between Napoleon Duarte and Roberto D'Aubuisson. In the 1962 presidential elections, only 400,000 voters, roughly one-third of adult Salvadorans, had participated in an election dominated by an official military candidate.
- Two Constituent Assembly elections in Guatemala 20 years apart reveal a similar evolution: in May 1964, 337,000 votes were cast, 40% of those registered; in July 1984, the voters numbered 1,856,000, or 73% of those registered.

What lies behind this region-wide upsurge in democratic politics? Long-term development—including the revolutions in communications and expectations—is clearly, if slowly, making itself felt. A more immediate factor—one that has impressed many observers at recent elections—is voter desire to repudiate both dictators and guerrillas. To most Latin Americans, the uncertainties of democracy are preferable to the violence and abuse of leftist and rightist extremes.

The force of the democratic tide and e rejection of extremism can also be en in what has not happened. Not a ngle country that was democractic 4 ars ago has lost its freedom. The ilitary coups predicted for El Salvador d Honduras did not take place. Bolivn democracy has not fallen. Not one errilla movement has taken power nce 1979, when the Sandinistas reaced Somoza and abandoned their romises to hold free elections. And to ast[illegible] frustration and surprise, ren[illegible]s Marxist-Leninist dictators did ot prove immune to their own abuses f power and were replaced by constitunal authorities committed to holding ee elections by the end of 1984.

Elections by themselves cannot make society or solve every problem. ut competitive elections are, as ecretary Shultz has noted, "a practical ardstick of democracy. They are an inscapable test of public accountability." t is, therefore, U.S. policy to support ree elections without reservation, seeng in them assurances that human ights will be protected, that reconciliaion will reflect the work of people and ot d[illegible]ns, and that U.S. aid and ooperation will have firm local foundaions.

The English-speaking Caribbean, Costa Rica, Colombia, and Venezuela re solidly based democracies of long standing. Over the last 5 years, elected civilian presidents have replaced military rulers in Argentina, Bolivia, Ecuador, El Salvador, Honduras, Panama, and Peru. Additional countries as different as Brazil and Uruguay, Guatemala and Grenada are now also moving toward greater democracy.

The result is that more than 90% of the people of Latin America and the Cari[illegible]an are now living in countries with[illegible]vernments that are either democractic or heading there. For a part of the world often identified with dictatorship, this is something to cheer about.

As recently as 1979, two-thirds of our neighbors lived under military or military-dominated governments of both left and right. Any shift so striking invites skepticism. But measured in voter participation and in competition at the polling booth, today's democractic resurgence is astonishingly deep.

Our neighbors deserve the credit for the progress they are making. We can, in t[illegible]be proud that we are cooperatin[illegible]th them. Freedom is not a zero-sum game. Everyone wins when democracy is strengthened.

The Military and Democracy

Essential to the survival of democracy is an apolitical military establishment—one which seeks not to defend one partisan interest or another but rather one committed to institutional democratic government. Significantly, the recent history of hemispheric democratic advance has been that of a transformation in which the military itself has taken an active part.

An example of this difficult process is today's El Salvador, which owes its agrarian reform to military support. After decades as defenders of the status quo, since 1979 El Salvador's security forces have made considerable progress toward improved field performance, greater respect for human rights, and an apolitical role in society.

Training and organizational changes are largely responsible. Merit promotion has been implemented. President Duarte has appointed a Vice Minister of Defense responsible for the three police forces, as well as new, able commanders to head each. Officers associated with human rights abuses have been removed and a unit suspected of human rights abuse disbanded.

This increased professionalism was reflected in the performance of the armed forces during this year's presidential elections and inauguration. The Salvadoran military, once considered an impediment to the establishment of political democracy, is today defending the future rather than the past.

THREATS TO DEMOCRACY

Despite this extraordinary pattern of progress, democracy in Latin America still faces many problems.

Competitive elections can help measure success or failure in dealing with particular problems; the problems themselves do not automatically disappear at the ballot box, regardless of who wins. Democracy requires elections; but elections alone are not enough.

Democracies must establish a track record as problem-solving mechanisms. If democratic institutions cannot solve problems, they cannot survive. If we are interested in the survival of democracy, we must help democratic governments deal with their problems—even though it is they, not we, who must solve them.

Internal problems include unequal access to education, justice, and employment; the clash of indigenous and immigrant cultures; great disparities in wealth; government inefficiency and corruption; civilian caudillismo and military intervention. These problems do not, of course, all exist in every country. But they do persist in varying degrees in the region as a whole.

External problems include increased costs for imported oil; the decline in the global economy accompanied by reductions in export earnings and forced reliance on increasingly expensive borrowed capital; and active efforts by hostile powers outside the hemisphere to exploit local grievances and economic hardship. Again, the mix can vary greatly from country to country, but these external pressures are felt throughout the hemisphere.

These problems combine to create two immediate threats to democracy in Latin America today: political extremism and economic recession. To them must be added the growing international trade in illicit drugs, which degrades the rule of law as well as human dignity.

Political Extremism. The enemies of democracy often point to underdevelopment and economic hardship to justify violence and dictatorship. The problem with their argument is that neither left nor right extremes are stable or productive.

Marxist-Leninist regimes have tended to perpetuate both the political and the economic backwardness out of which they grew. When feuding Marxist-Leninists plunged Grenada into murderous disorder, the United States, Barbados, Jamaica, and Grenada's eastern Caribbean neighbors came to the rescue. The result was restoration of legal order. This was a major defeat for the extremists and their Cuban and Soviet supporters, who nonetheless still support totalitarianism in Nicaragua and oppose the consolidation of democracy in El Salvador.

Like leftwing extremism, extremism of the right is weakened by economic development. Unlike leftwing extremism, it has few reliable external sources of support. But the consolidation of democratic politics and reform has, nonetheless, been hindered by such phenomena as death squads and denials of elemental equity.

A Precedent for 1984?

In 1972–74, Anastasio Somoza stepped aside from the presidency of Nicaragua, continuing as commander of the National Guard, and, after the 1972 earthquake, as President of the National Emergency Committee.

In 1974, disregarding the advice of friends who thought the time had come for the family to withdraw from active politics, Somoza decided to become president again. To do so, he had the Constitution amended and barred 9 out of 10 opposition parties from the presidential election. Nicaragua's Roman Catholic bishops warned in a pastoral letter that these electoral manipulations amounted to "legal war."

Under those conditions, Somoza received a smashing 95% of the vote: 216,158 votes to 11,997 for Edmundo Paguaga Irias of the Conservative Party. But the victory was Pyrrhic. Many Nicaraguans, including former close associates of Somoza, became convinced a democratic end to the Somoza dynasty had become impossible.

Economic Recession. During the last 8–10 years, economic mismanagement and pressures for reform contributed to the decline of several unrepresentative regimes. Yet if democratic governments cannot produce economic recovery, then they, too, can lose their mandate. Today, many democracies need to restructure their economies at a time when living standards have already declined.

The countries of Latin America and the Caribbean constitute the developing world's most indebted region. External debt exceeded $330 billion at the end of 1983. In 1982 and 1983, interest payments alone added up to more than $40 billion per year. These payments were equivalent to more than 35% of the value of the region's exports of goods and services—the world's highest debt service ratio. In some individual countries the ratio exceeded 100% before debt rescheduling.

The region's real per capita gross domestic product (GDP) has dropped by over 10% from its 1980 level (by far more in some countries), and there is little doubt that per capita real economic growth will again be negative in 1984. In nearly all countries, unemployment and underemployment are at levels not seen since the Great Depression.

It hardly needs to be pointed out how dangerous such conditions are to any government that has to face elections.

The Drug Trade. Illicit narcotics trafficking and consumption also threaten democratic development by fostering disregard for the law and corrupting institutions as well as individuals. In some remote valleys, the lure of extraordinary profits and the absence of productive alternatives have broken down social and political order; lawlessness prevails and drug kings hold sway, sometimes in symbiosis with guerrillas.

In the past, many Latin Americans considered illicit drugs a "U.S. problem." Some even welcomed the increased employment and foreign exchange earnings brought by the drug trade. Today, they are increasingly aware of the enormous threat narcotics pose to the moral fiber of their own societies and to the legitimacy of their own political institutions. Democracy requires a collective victory over the traffickers and their allies.

U.S. POLICY IS TO SUPPORT DEMOCRACY

It is U.S. Government policy to support democracy and democratic institutions. This approach is neither interventionist nor a mindless export of ideology. It is legitimate, it is in our enlightened self-interest, and it works—not overnight or in 6-month increments but over time.

- Democracy is the best guarantor of human rights. A government responsible to its people cannot abuse them with impunity.
- Democracy is also the best long-term guarantor of stability. Democratic governments do not drive their people into armed opposition nor do they threaten or attack their neighbors.

American officials from the President on down have made clear our unequivocal support for democratic processes. During his trip to Latin America in 1982, President Reagan insisted that:

> The future challenges our imagination, but the roots of law and democracy and our inter-American system provide the answers. . . . Together, we will work toward the economic growth and opportunity that can only be achieved by free men and women. We will promote the democracy that is the foundation of our freedom and stand together to assure the security of our peoples, their governments, and our way of life.

Support for democracy can mean everything from a public embrace for a new president of Argentina to sending qualified election observers requested by a government in Central America. It can mean encouragement of political dialogue and communication, technical exchange programs, specialized conferences, and even analytical publications. It can mean support for a strengthened administration of justice.

Rule of Law is Key

A judicial system that is independent and fair, accessible and effective is essential to democracy.

Working with the UN-affiliated Latin American Institute for the Prevention of Crime and the Treatment of Offenders, the U.S. Government is developing a program to assist efforts by governments and private groups in Latin America and the Caribbean to strengthen legal institutions and improve the administration of justice.

During the last 4 years, it has meant all of these things—and more. We encouraged the open and competitive elections that took place in Honduras, El Salvador, and Guatemala. We urged the Sandinistas to honor the democratic promises they have abandoned and betrayed. We welcomed the return to democratic rule in Argentina. We made clear that we would favor a restoration of democracy in Chile and Uruguay. We showed our support for democratic legitimacy when President Siles was kidnaped in Bolivia. We let the Government of Paraguay know we were unhappy with the closing of the independent newspaper ABC Color. We let the Government of Haiti know of our conern at the arrest and mistreatment of opposition leaders.

In country after country in Latin America and the Caribbean, U.S. Embassies are today correctly perceived as supporting democracy. Local officials and citizens recognize in growing numbers that our representatives are patiently fostering democratic dialogue, constitutional procedures, and respect for political diversity.

We also have recognized that government officials are not alone in having a role to play in promoting democratic values and traditions. Private citizens are ultimately the backbone of democracy, and we have attempted to catalyze broader private cooperation. The West German political foundations, the political internationals, our own American Institute for Free Labor Development, and many individual leaders have long proven that political cooperation among like-minded people and groups gets results.

The democratic tide has made it easier to build on these experiences. We have strengthened the ability of the U.S. Information Agency (USIA) to sponsor private exchanges. The National Endowment for Democracy and its constituent institutes are strengthening our national capacity to develop mutual support networks among democratic leaders and parties throughout the world.

Citizens: the Backbone of Democracy

U.S. Government contributions to the National Endowment for Democracy support private sector initiatives to encourage free and democratic institutions throughout the world. These initiatives involve U.S. business and labor as well as political parties. They include cooperation and organizational activities that promote the pluralism, individual freedoms, and internationally recognized human rights essential to the functioning of democratic institutions.

The new Center for Electoral Advice and Promotion in San Jose, Costa Rica, is an example of how a regional institution can help nations translate democratic theory into the nuts, bolts, and ballot boxes of an open political system.

Democratic countries have a particular obligation to reach out and assist each other and those on the path to democracy. If they do not, they leave the field to those who are opposed to democracy. As President Eisenhower said on return from his 1960 South American trip:

> . . . all nations—large or small, powerful or weak—should assume some responsibility for the advancement of humankind. . . . Cooperation among free nations is the key to common progress.

Economic Growth and Adjustment

With economic recession challenging social and political stability in several hemisphere countries, economic adjustment is not a matter of choice but of necessity. If economies are to grow, they must do so in accordance with market forces, not in opposition to them. Stable and equitable growth in the future requires economic adjustment now.

We in the United States have learned that lesson ourselves. The decisions we took to foster the resurgence of the American economy were not easy. Costs were incurred. At the height of the adjustment process, unemployment reached painfully high levels and industrial production declined markedly. But we are now reaping the benefits of the hard decisions we made earlier. Industrial production is expanding. Inflation is down and personal income is up. And in the past two quarters, our gross national product (GNP) grew much faster than anticipated.

Direct parallels cannot be drawn between the situation in the heavily indebted developing countries of Latin America and in the United States. But there is a lesson to be learned from our experience. It is clear that to achieve sustained noninflationary growth countries need policies that reflect economic realities and release the productive forces of their people.

Governments often face agonizing choices in the political management of adjustment. They must distribute the burdens of that adjustment. And they often must decide between taking hard measures at once or trying to postpone economic shocks—with the risk that those shocks will be more severe and violent later on. These are real dilemmas for which there is no simple or universal answer.

Democratic governments, with broad popular participation and support, are especially well positioned to deal with these tough decisions. As Costa Rican President Luis Alberto Monge told the International Labor Organization in Geneva on June 12, 1984:

> We have drawn back from the gulf [by adopting] some very bitter and harsh decisions in order to improve a sick economy. . . . Democracy works as a means of settling the problems of production and to win battles in the struggle against under-development and poverty.

We are acutely aware of the scope and seriousness of the economic problems confronting the hemisphere. We are concerned, and we are helping.

Costa Rica's Constitution

After the short 1948 civil war, a coalition of Costa Ricans looked at their own and their neighbors' political experiences and set out to create a legal framework to prevent abuses and assure a democratic future for the country. The document they wrote has been religiously followed since. Among other things, the Constitution of 1949:

- Permanently eliminated the army (not as an expression of "neutralism"—the civil war resulted partly in the explicit choice of democracy over communism—but to end any institutionalized military threat to elected civilian government);
- Created an independent "Supreme Electoral Tribunal," a fourth branch of government co-equal with the traditional three and with remarkably independent powers designed to assure scrupulously clean elections;
- Elaborated a complex system of checks, balances, and independent financing aimed at preventing undue concentration of power anywhere in the government; and
- Prohibited presidential reelection (not only of the incumbent, but of anyone in his/her cabinet or immediate family).

The United States and the other industrialized countries will continue to respond constructively to external debt and other economic problems. It would be a disservice to all nations to weaken the very international instruments that can help troubled economies adapt to new economic realities. But it would be an equal disservice not to recognize the need for flexibility and understanding.

The June economic summit in London carefully considered debt-related issues. The summit leaders confirmed a basic strategy centered on adjustment, growth, and support and agreed to develop it flexibly, case by case. They also agreed on measures to strengthen and broaden that strategy over time.

The summit leaders also pledged to maintain and, where possible, increase bilateral and multilateral assistance, particularly to the poorest countries. They encouraged the International Monetary Fund (IMF) to continue its key role of helping debtor countries make necessary policy changes. And they asked the World Bank to strengthen its role in fostering economic development, urging closer cooperation between the IMF and the Bank.

This approach has been successful in avoiding systematic crisis. Indeed, we have come a long way since August 1982, when Mexico's acute lack of liquidity raised fears that the international financial system might sudddenly topple.

We and other creditor governments quickly provided temporary bridge financing to deal with immediate liquidity problems and began developing continuing measures to support Mexico's economic adjustment program. We have since collaborated on the official credits involved in financial support packages for a variety of debtor countries.

The responses of the United States, other creditor governments, commercial banks, the IMF, and other institutions reflect a more activist and creative approach to the hemisphere's economic problems.

Some countries, notably Mexico and Brazil, have made significant progress in adjusting their economies. Almost no country—from Jamaica to Peru, from the Dominican Republic to Costa Rica—has escaped the crisis or has failed to act to meet it. It is important that they be able to service their debt and bring about a resumption of sustainable, non-inflationary growth.

To help make that possible, and to support democratic processes throughout the hemisphere, U.S. policy has sought to provide assistance to help governments implement adjustment measures conducive to long-term political and economic stability.

• The United States has made unprecedented use of Commodity Credit Corporation guarantees and special Export-Import Bank guarantee and insurance programs as specific debt management tools. We and our Paris Club colleagues have been flexible in rescheduling debt on a case-by-case basis. The debts of more countries are being rescheduled, including principal and interest, with longer repayment terms and grace periods.

• Our approach includes encouraging commercial bankers to maintain prudent involvement in lending and rescheduling. Commercial bank rescheduling and lending terms have improved over the past 18 months for countries which have successful adjustment programs—lower rescheduling and other fees, a drop in "spreads," lengthening repayment periods, and the rescheduling of maturities over multiyear periods.

• Adequate funding for the international financial institutions is an integral part of the solution. We have encouraged the evolution of the role of the IMF and other international financial institutions over the past 18 months. Working with the Congress last year, we secured a major increase in IMF resources. The IMF is increasingly sensitive to political and social strains accompanying painful economic adjustment programs. The Fund, for example, has been innovative in defining the public sector deficit targets for Peru and Brazil and has negotiated more liberal targets for Mexico and Chile.

• We have worked for the favorable evolution of World Bank operations, encouraging such innovations as structural adjustment loans, which offer financial support over the medium term to countries undertaking economic reforms. And we are examining development bottlenecks resulting from inadequate counterpart or local currency funds under World Bank lending.

• An important part of our strategy, and one that depends heavily on the Congress for support, is to prevent protectionist measures from inhibiting Latin American access to the U.S. market. The hemisphere's share of U.S. imports has grown from 13% ($23 billion) in 1978 to 16% in 1983 ($41.7 billion)—notwithstanding recessions, debt crises, and competition from other regions. The outlook for hemisphere exports to the United States is positive. U.S. imports from Latin America and the Caribbean in 1983 were up by 11% over 1982. And preliminary data for 1984—first quarter figures—show an increase of 31% over the first quarter of 1983.

• The Caribbean Basin Initiative (CBI) is a milestone. The CBI opens up new opportunities for trade, investment, employment, and broad-based growth in the region. Its 12-year life represents a long-term U.S. political commitment with incentives beyond its immediate trade objectives. Countries with the policy framework to promote investment and innovation will best be able to seize trade opportunities, increasing very significantly the payoff for appropriate economic policies.

• Another significant step is the trade credit guarantee program recommended for Central America by the National Bipartisan Commission on Central America, included in the foreign aid authorization bill, which passed the House in May.

Opinion Polling in Latin America

Thomas Jefferson wrote that "it is rare that the public sentiment decides immorally or unwisely, and the individual who differs from it ought to distrust and examine well his own opinion." Scientific polling is a modern reflection of that sentiment—a common practice in democratic states, including in Latin America and the Caribbean.

Several dozen respected public opinion firms, from Mexico to Argentina, engage in a wide range of political polling, from in-depth inquiries into citizen concerns to candidate popularity polls. Some are associated with well-known companies like Gallup, and internationally accepted survey methods are the rule.

Individual companies have demonstrated the validity and usefulness of polling even in disturbed areas. In Central America, for example, pollsters have elicited public attitudes on such diverse themes as regional peace talks, the impact of U.S. policies, and the effects of economic adjustment.

Special Project (1993)

[illegible] these efforts, we are keenly aware that our programs and policies, however supportive, cannot be decisive. The main responsibility for economic development lies with the developing countries themselves. The flow of new lending from the industrialized countries is likely to remain below recent levels for an extended period of time. Yet developing countries continue to need more capital for development than they can generate internally.

Foreign direct investment is, therefore, likely to grow in importance as an engine of development in Latin America. Direct investment, particularly new equity capital, offers the recipient country many advantages over external debt.

- Equity investment is cheaper to service, especially in hard times. Although interest must be paid regardless, profits are remitted only when they are earned.
- Equity brings with it technology, jobs, and management skills that are hard to acquire in other ways.
- Direct investment encourages integration into the world system, fostering a more open trading system where protectionist pressures can be resisted more readily.

[illegible] United States is the source of nearly 60% of all foreign direct investment in Latin America and the Caribbean. Investment flows respond to economic conditions and to fiscal, trade, and exchange-rate policies in the recipient countries. Nations that choose to create an attractive climate for foreign investors can expect to attract an increased portion of the available funds. They will thus reduce their dependence on debt for growth. We encourage this.

But we recognize that the debtor countries alone, even with wise policies, cannot surmount the current crisis. Our assistance is necessary—and we will continue [illegible] provide it. The cooperation of other lending countries is vital—and it has been forthcoming. The international financial institutions have an essential role to play—and they are playing it. With this support, we believe the responsible and democratic governments of the hemisphere can meet the economic challenges that confront them.

Security

The export of violence by Cuba and Nicaragua with Soviet backing is the principal external security threat to democracy in the hemisphere. U.S. security assistance and training are essential to help our neighbors defend themselves against this threat. As a demonstration of our resolve and to improve the capability of our own and regional forces, we continue to conduct joint exercises and maneuvers in the area.

At the same time, our diplomats are working actively to contain the threat posed by Nicaragua's military ties to Cuba and the Soviet bloc, its subversive activities, militarization, and internal repression. We believe the Contadora process provides the means to negotiate a comprehensive, verifiable, and durable regional solution.

The leaders of the Caribbean understand well the vital importance of collective effort. Pioneers of economic and political cooperation in CARICOM, they helped inspire the Caribbean Basin Initiative to broaden that cooperation to include both Central America and the industrialized world. Similarly, faced with what one Caribbean leader called "an ideology of violence whose aim is to undo democracy," the democracies of the eastern Caribbean, in particular, and the Caribbean as a whole did not vacillate in cooperating to restore order in Grenada in 1983.

Defense against the illicit narcotics trade entails cooperation of a similar kind among those in the region who recognize the threat and seek our active help—primarily in helping to fund what is, after all, a war against a well-armed and ruthless enemy.

Democracy in the Caribbean

The constitutions of the English-speaking nations of the Caribbean build on the British or "Westminster" model which has been followed in the region for over 300 years. Generally speaking, each nation elects a lower house or assembly roughly equivalent to the House of Commons, based on single member constituencies for a term of no more than 5 years. The leader of the majority party or coalition becomes Prime Minister, names a cabinet, and is responsible for governing during the term. An appointed Senate with minority representation sits for the duration of the term of the lower house. In those states whose constitution provides for it, a Governor-General represents the Queen. But this connection is only with the monarch, not at all with the Government or Prime Minister of Great Britain. The tradition of career, nonpartisan public service also runs deep in the Caribbean.

AN END TO INDIFFERENCE?

Although its mandate was confined to Central America, the National Bipartisan Commission on Central America could not avoid a broader conclusion in its report to the President:

> Powerful forces are on the march in nearly every country of the hemisphere, testing how nations shall be organized and by what process authority shall be established and legitimized. Who shall govern and under what forms are the central issues in the process of change now under way in country after country throughout Latin America and the Caribbean.

The United States is powerful enough to make a difference in favor of democracy. But successive U.S. Administrations and Congresses, Republicans and Democrats, have learned that our own democratic example and national power are not enough to make a decisive difference in the face of indifference abroad.

The important thing—the key to understanding how the United States should be conducting itself in this hemisphere—is that today indifference toward democracy is disappearing in Latin America and the Caribbean. Recent experience demonstrates this remarkable truth—in Central America, in the Andean countries, in Brazil, in the Caribbean, and in the Southern Cone. The voting statistics, the personal testimony of election observers, the palpable solidarity felt by anyone who has attended a Latin or Caribbean inauguration over the last 5 years—all evidence the growing sense of participation in national political life.

In international political cooperation today, the Contadora process is a critical experiment. It says a great deal about the invigorated power of the democratic idea that this group of countries has reached the "revolutionary" conclusion

Contadora on Democracy in Central America

On September 9, 1983, all nine participants in the Contadora peace process* agreed on a 21-point "Document of Objectives"—a framework for addressing obstacles to peace in the region. Two of those objectives dealt specifically with internal democracy:

> To adopt measures conducive to the establishment and, where appropriate, improvement of democratic, representative and pluralistic systems that will guarantee effective popular participation in the decision-making process and ensure that the various currents of opinion have free access to fair and regular elections based on the full observance of citizens' rights;
> To promote national reconciliation efforts wherever deep divisions have taken place within society, with a view to fostering participation in democratic processes in accordance with the law. . . .

*Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, Colombia, Mexico, Panama, and Venezuela.

that democracy is absolutely essential for peace and development in Central America (see above).

Are these—and the more specific benchmarks elaborated within the process since then—not standards which we can all support? Don't they reveal both an understanding of democracy and a rejection of indifference?

Can there be any question of the results of any comparative application of these same benchmarks to the two Central American countries most often in the news: El Salvador and Nicaragua? Whose election experience or plans meet the standard? In which country is there "free access"? In which country are there "fair and regular elections"? Which country is promoting "national reconciliation efforts" on the basis of "fostering participation in democratic processes"? The answer in each case is El Salvador.

Those inclined to answer differently might ponder what Peruvian novelist Mario Vargas Llosa wrote in 1983:

> When an American or European intellectual—or liberal newspaper or institution—advocates for Latin American countries political options and methods he would never countenance in his own society, he is betraying a fundamental doubt about the capacity of the Latin American countries to achieve the liberty and the respect for the rights of others that prevail in the Western democracies. In most cases, the problem is an unconscious prejudice, an inchoate sentiment, a sort of visceral racism, which these persons—who generally have unimpeachable liberal and democratic credentials—would sharply disavow if they were suddenly made aware of it.

Vargas Llosa is right. Too many of us have not looked at what is happening in Latin America closely enough to get beyond the stereotypes.

It is time to bury the canard that Latin Americans are "incapable of democracy." The United States cannot afford ignorance, indifference, or inaction.

Our policy must be a program of understanding, of action, and of democratic solidarity. Recent history proclaims the strength of Latin America's drive for democracy. By encouraging it and supporting it, we are not "exporting" our own ideology or "imposing" something "made only in USA." We are helping our neighbors fulfill their own aspirations. And in doing so we are confirming our own deepest and most hopeful convictions.

The "Coordinadora" Nine Points

Following, in translation, is a summary of the nine points first made in December 1983 by the opposition Nicaraguan Democratic Coordinating Board (made up of three political parties, two labor unions, and the umbrella private sector organization) as a basis for free elections in Nicaragua.

1. Separation of State and Party. The army, the militia, the police, the Sandinista Television Service, and others must be part of the state and not of the FSLN [Sandinista National Liberation Front].

2. Repeal of Laws That Violate Human Rights. The code that restricts freedom of expression in the press, radio, and television must be abrogated. The laws that violate private ownership and others must be abolished.

3. Suspension of the State of Emergency. Suspension of the state of emergency and full exercise of freedom of expression and information.

4. Amnesty Law. A general amnesty law that will permit the participation of all Nicaraguan citizens in the electoral process.

5. Respect for Freedom of Worship. Freedom for priests, pastors, and the faithful to perform their religious ceremonies.

6. Union Freedom. The full exercise of workers' rights, including the right to strike, to organize, and to bargain collectively.

7. Autonomy of the Judicial Branch. The judicial branch to have true independence from the government party and from the legislative and executive branches.

8. Protective Law With Recourse to Unconstitutionality. Recognition of the Fundamental Statute and the Statute of Rights and Guarantees as the Supreme Law until a new constitution is enacted, so that these will not be changed at the whim of the government.

9. National Dialogue To Hold Elections in the Presence of the Contadora Group or the OAS. All political parties and movements, including those in arms, should negotiate on the elections.

Opposing arties are the Dominica Labour Party, he Democratic Labour Party of Dominica, and a leftist grouping called Dominica Liberation Movement Alliance.

Dominican Republic

President, Congress	May 1982	May 1986

The Dominican Republic turned to democratic institutions after a long period of dictatorship and social and political upheaval. In spite of destabilizing economic problems, democracy continues to gain strength there, as evidenced by strongly contested elections in 1978 and 1982. Suffrage is universal and compulsory for those over 18 or married.

Three major parties contested the 1982 presidential elections in which 1.7 million citizens elected Salvador Jorge Blanco of the Dominican Revolutionary Party as president. The opposition parties, the Reformist Party and the Dominican Liberation Party, have representation at all levels of the government—federal, state, and local.

esident Leon Febres-Cordero was inaugurated on August 10, 1984, marking first transition in 24 years from one cted democratic government to ther. President Febres-Cordero, a sinessman, is a member of the Social Christian Party (PSC), which allied itself with several other parties in a coalition called the National Reconstruction Front to oppose Rodrigo Borja Cevallos, the candidate of the Democratic Left (ID), also supported by a coalition of political parties, some of which supported the outgoing government of President Osvaldo Hurtado.

El Salvador

Legislative Assembly, Municipal	Mar. 1982	1985
President	May 1984 (2d round)	1989

El Salvador's political structure is established by a constitution that entered into force in December 1983. The Constitution was written by a constituent assembly elected in a direct popular vote in 1982. The 1982 elections for the assembly were part of a program of democratization agreed to among the military officers responsible for the coup in 1979 and the Christian Democratic Party. Automatic registration for the elections was offered to the political parties allied with the guerrilla umbrella organization, the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front (FMLN), but rejected by them.

Jose Napoleon Duarte was elected president on May 6, 1984. International observers attested to the fairness of the 1984 presidential elections. Eight candidates representing a broad political spectrum competed in the first round. Jose Napoleon Duarte, a founder of the Christian Democratic Party, won 54% of the votes in a run-off against ARENA [National Republican Alliance] candidate Roberto D'Aubuisson. Over 80% of the electorate went to the polls.

Despite communist subversion, rightwing terrorism, crushing economic difficulties, and a history of repression, the people of El Salvador have persevered in constructing democratic institutions. The legislative and municipal elections to be held in the spring of 1985 will provide a further opportunity for political parties associated with the guerrillas to compete democratically for power. The United States strongly supports President Duarte's efforts to bring about such a national reconciliation through democratic procedures.

Grenada

Parliament	Dec. 1976	By the end of 1984

The erratic rule of Sir Eric Gairy was forcibly ended on March 13, 1979, by Maurice Bishop and the New JEWEL [Joint Endeavor for Welfare, Education, and Liberation] Movement. The Constitution was suspended, elections postponed indefinitely, and an extraordinary military buildup begun under Cuban and Soviet advisers.

In October 1983, Grenada's eastern Caribbean neighbors proved their democratic mettle when they acted—without hesitation and with the support of other democratic nations, including the United States—to restore order in Grenada after the country had fallen prey to a bloody power struggle among its Marxist-Leninist leaders. Their collective action made it possible for Grenadians to resume their democratic heritage. An interim government was appointed by Governor-General Paul Scoon in November 1983. Parliamentary elections are expected to take place before the end of 1984.

Guatemala

President	Mar. 1982	1985
Constituent Assembly	July 1984	Not applicable

On March 23, 1982, Efrain Rios Montt was named president after Gen. Lucas Garcia was ousted in a bloodless coup. On August 8, 1983, Gen. Oscar Humberto Mejia Victores seized power from Rios Montt and pledged a prompt return to democracy. International observers invited to witness the Constitutent Assembly elections, held July 1, 1984, were favorably impressed by their

SUBJECT: FORTIN MAGANA ON LA PALMA

REF: SAN SALVADOR 12241

1. [redacted] -ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY: SECOND DESIGNATE TO THE PRESIDENCY (AND ACCION DEMOCRATICA LEADER) RENE FORTIN MAGANA, WHO WAS ONE OF THE GOES REPRESENTATIVES WHO PARTICIPATED WITH PRESIDENT DUARTE IN THE LA PALMA TALKS WITH THE FMLN/FDR, GAVE POLOFFS A READ OUT OF THE TALKS OCTOBER 16. ACCORDING TO FORTIN MAGANA, THE GOES TEAM FOUND THE FMLN/FDR REPRESENTATIVES UNEXPECTEDLY CORDIAL AND NON-CONFRONTATIONAL, AND, IN CONTRAST TO THE GOES SIDE, APPARENTLY NOT WELL PREPARED. PRESIDENT DUARTE HAD LED OFF THE MEETING BY MAKING CLEAR THAT HE COULD NOT EXCEED IN THE DISCUSSIONS THE LIMITS OF THE SALVADORAN CONSTITUTION. FOR THEIR PART, THE FMLN/FDR REPRESENTATIVES DID NOT PRESS THEIR TRADITIONAL DEMANDS FOR POWER SHARING, INTEGRATION OF THE GUERRILLA FORCES WITH THE ARMY, ABOLITION OF THE SECURITY FORCES OR ANY OTHER STRUCTURAL CHANGES. (NOTE: WE SEE AS ANOTHER POSSIBILITY THAT THE LEFT DID NOT WISH TO GIVE DUARTE ANY PRETEXT FOR BREAKING OFF THE TALKS AS THEY DID WITH THE GOES PEACE COMMISSION IN BOGOTA IN SEPTEMBER OF LAST YEAR. END COMMENT.) FORTIN MAGANA ADDED THAT THE LEFT'S TRUE MOTIVATIONS WOULD PROBABLY BECOME CLEARER DURING THE NEXT MEETING IN NOVEMBER. END SUMMARY.

3. FORTIN MAGANA SAID THE GOES WAS IMMEASURABLY BETTER PREPARED FOR THE LA PALMA MEETING THAN THE FMLN/FDR REPRESENTATIVES. THE GOES TEAM, DUARTE, MIN. PRESIDENCY REY PRENDES, FIRST PRESIDENTIAL DESIGNATE ABRAHAM RODRIGUEZ, SECOND PRESIDENTIAL DESIGNATE RENE FORTIN MAGANA AND DEFMIN GEN. EUGENIO VIDES CASANOVA, GET ALONG WELL PERSONALLY AND HAD WORKED OUT THEIR POSITIONS WELL IN ADVANCE OF THE MEETING. THE FMLN/FDR, ON THE OTHER HAND, SEEMED TO HAVE HAD VERY LITTLE TIME TO PREPARE AND DID NOT EXHIBIT THE SAME DEGREE OF COORDINATION.

4. ATMOSPHERE: FORTIN MAGANA SAID THAT THE GOES NEGOTIATING TEAM HAD EXPECTED THAT THE LEFT WOULD ENGAGE IN A HIGHLY POLEMICAL AND HOSTILE DEBATE AND WENT TO THE MEETING PREPARED TO RESPOND IN KIND. THEY WERE SURPRISED TO FIND THE LEFT COURTEOUS AND RELATIVELY UNDEMANDING. FORTIN MAGANA CHARACTERIZED THE MEETING AS CORDIAL AND SAID THAT THE LEFTISTS WERE NON-COMBATIVE IN THEIR ATTITUDES THROUGHOUT THE DAY.

5. OPENING THE MEETING: PRESIDENT DUARTE OPENED THE [redacted]

MEETING BY HANDING THE FDR/FMLN REPRESENTATIVES A COPY OF THE SALVADORAN CONSTITUTION, SAYING THAT THE CONSTITUTION WAS HIS FRAMEWORK FOR THE DISCUSSIONS, AND THAT HE COULD NOT GO BEYOND THE POWERS DELEGATED TO HIM IN THAT DOCUMENT. WITH THIS STATEMENT OF HIS LIMITS, DUARTE LAUNCHED INTO HIS PRESENTATION OF HIS PEACE OFFER FOR GUERRILLA REINCORPORATION INTO THE EXISTING CONSTITUTIONAL AND DEMOCRATIC SYSTEM WITH GUARANTEES AND PRESENTED THE OTHER SIDE WITH THE GOES POSITION PAPER (REFTEL), SINCE MADE PUBLIC. IN SHARP CONTRAST TO THE SEPTEMBER 29, 1983 GOES PEACE COMMISSION MEETING WITH FMLN/FDR REPRESENTATIVES IN BOGOTA, THE LEFT PRESENTED NO DOCUMENT OF THEIR OWN TO COUNTER GOES POSITIONS AND FORMULATIONS, LEAVING THEM IN A WEAK TACTICAL POSITION TO NEGOTIATE, ACCORDING TO FORTIN MAGANA.

6. CHANGE IN EL SALVADOR: GUILLERMO UNGO DID REJECT DUARTE' STATEMENT THAT CONDITIONS HAD CHANGED CONSIDERABLY IN EL SALVADOR SINCE 1979. RUBEN ZAMORA, HOWEVER, WAS WILLING TO AGREE THAT ALTHOUGH THE STRUCTURE OF POWER IN THE COUNTRY HAD NOT SIGNIFICANTLY CHANGED, THE NUMBERS OF DEATH SQUAD KILLINGS HAD DROPPED DRAMATICALLY AND HUMAN RIGHTS CONDITIONS HAD INDEED IMPROVED, IF ONLY QUANTITATIVELY. FORTIN MAGANA SAID THAT FARN LEADER FERMAN CIENFUEGOS AGREED TO ZAMORA'S

BOGOTA MEETING. THE LEFT MADE NO PROPOSALS TO CHANGE THE STRUCTURE OF POWER IN EL SALVADOR WHATSOEVER. THEY DID NOT REPEAT THEIR TRADITIONAL DEMANDS FOR POWER-SHARING, DID NOT DEMAND A PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT TO ALLOW THEM ENTRY INTO THE SYSTEM, AND DID NOT EVEN MENTION INTEGRATION OF THEIR FORCES INTO A PURGED ESAF. AS MENTIONED ABOVE, THE LEFT HAD NO LIST OF DEMANDS AS IS THE USUAL PRACTICE, AND IN FACT HAD NO DOCUMENT OF ANY KIND.

B. FDR-FMLN PROPOSALS: IN THEIR ORAL PRESENTATION, THE LEFT DID NOT ASK FOR A CEASE-FIRE AS THE GOES HAD THOUGHT THEY MIGHT (COMMENT: IN A LATER PUBLIC STATEMENT, UNGO SAID THEY HAD, AND THAT DUARTE HAD AT THE LA PALMA MEETING REFUSED TO STUDY SUCH A PROPOSAL). BUT DID ASK FOR THE FORMATION OF A "FORO AMPLIO" OR A POPULAR FORUM FOR THE DISCUSSION OF THE SITUATION IN EL SALVADOR. FORTIN MAGANA UNDERSTOOD THIS TO BE A LARGE COLLOQUIUM, IN WHICH THE PRINCIPAL NATIONAL SECTORS (E.G. CAMPESINOS, WORKERS, EMPRESARIOS, ACADEMICS) ARE TO BE REPRESENTED. THE LEFT'S OTHER PROPOSAL WAS FOR MEASURES TO "HUMANIZE" THE CONFLICT. THIS IDEA, HE SAID, HAS BEEN A POPULAR THEME OF THE CATHOLIC CHURCH, AND ESPECIALLY OF ARCHBISHOP RIVERA Y [redacted]

DAMAS IN HIS WEEKLY HOMILIES, BUT FORTIN MAGANA FELT THAT THE LEFT HAD TAKEN THE IDEA TO HEART AND INCORPORATED IT INTO THEIR PLATFORM WILLINGLY. FORTIN MAGANA SURMISED THAT THE LEFT UNDERSTOOD THE TERM "HUMANIZE THE CONFLICT" TO MEAN AN END TO FAS BOMBING "OF CIVILIANS". HE ALSO SAID THAT THIS CONCEPT MIGHT BE EXPANDED LATER TO INCLUDE A CEASE-FIRE, BUT THAT NEITHER SIDE REQUESTED THIS.

9. REINTEGRATION OF THE FMLN/FDR: WHEN THE DISCUSSION TURNED TO THE PROCESS OF REINTEGRATING THE LEFT INTO EL SALVADOR'S POLITICAL LIFE, DUARTE ASKED IF THE LEFT WAS WILLING TO REJOIN THE COUNTRY UNDER CONDITIONS IMPOSED BY THE CONSTITUTION, WITH PLURALISM AND DEMOCRACY AS THEIR GOALS. ACCORDING TO FORTIN MAGANA, THIS QUESTION EVOLVED INTO A DISCUSSION OF THE LEGITIMACY OF DUARTE'S ELECTION AND POWER, FROM THE LEFT'S POINT OF VIEW. FORTIN MAGANA ASSERTED THAT THE LEFT HELD THAT, WHILE THEY RESPECTED DUARTE'S POSITION AS PRESIDENT, THEY WOULD NOT SWEAR TO OR BE BOUND IN ANY WAY BY THE CURRENT CONSTITUTION BECAUSE THEY HAD NOT BEEN INCLUDED IN THE PROCESS OF WRITING IT. FOR THIS REASON, WHEN THE MEETING TURNED TO A DISCUSSION OF THE LANGUAGE OF THE JOINT COMMUNIQUE, THE GOES DID NOT PUSH TO INCLUDE THE FORD "CONSTITUTION" IN THE COMMUNIQUE'S CALL FOR PEACE "WITHIN A FRAMEWORK OF PLURALISM, DEMOCRACY AND SOCIAL JUSTICE." FORTIN MAGANA ASSERTED THAT THE LEFT HAD INDEED UNDERSTOOD "PLURALISM" TO BE THE SAME AS THE GOES. HE ADDED THAT HE DID NOT BELIEVE THE LEFT WOULD PARTICIPATE IN THE MARCH ELECTIONS FOR THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY AND MUNICIPAL COUNCILS BECAUSE THE LEFT WOULD NOT HAVE ENOUGH TIME TO ORGANIZE THEMSELVES IN THAT REGARD.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

HE THOUGHT IT UNFORTUNATE THAT THE DATE FOR THE CAMPAIGN AND ELECTION WAS LOCKED IN BY THE CONSTITUTIONAL REQUIREMENT THAT OFFICE HOLDERS TAKE THEIR POSTS MAY 1.

10. ATMOSPHERICS: FORTIN MAGANA ALSO GAVE US HIS IMPRESSIONS OF THE ATMOSPHERICS OF THE MEETING. HE FELT THAT THE FDR-FMLN REPS WERE EMBARRASSINGLY UNPREPARED FOR THE MEETING, MOST PROBABLY, HE ASSERTED, BECAUSE THEY WERE TAKEN BY SURPRISE BY DUARTE'S OFFER TO TALK, AND HAD NOT HAD ENOUGH TIME TO MEET AND COORDINATE THEIR RESPONSE. (COMMENT: TO THE BEST OF OUR KNOWLEDGE, THE FDR-FMLN REPRESENTATIVES WERE NOT ABLE PHYSICALLY TO GET TOGETHER FOR MEETINGS UNTIL THE EVENING OF OCTOBER 14.) FORTIN MAGANA SAID THAT UNGO AND ZAMORA WERE BY FAR THE MOST ARTICULATE OF THE FDR/FMLN TEAM, ALTHOUGH THEY DEFERRED TO CIENFUEGOS TO A CERTAIN EXTENT. FORTIN MAGANA COMMENTED THAT HE WAS UNIMPRESSED WITH THE MENTAL AGILITY OR DEPTH OF ANY OF THE FOUR FMLN COMANDANTES PRESENT, INCLUDING CIENFUEGOS. ACCORDING TO FORTIN MAGANA, TWO OF THEM, NIDIA DIAZ AND LUCIO RIVERA, SAID NOTHING DURING THE ENTIRE MEETING.

UNCLASSIFIED

11. FDR-FMLN MOTIVES FOR ATTENDING THE MEETING: FORTIN MAGANA SAID IT WAS HIS OPINION THAT THE LEFT HAD LEAPED AT DUARTE'S OFFER TO TALK BECAUSE THEY ARE

THE LEFT LOSING STRENGTH BOTH POLITICALLY AND MILITARILY. HE SAID THAT DUARTE'S ELECTION AND THE LEGITIMACY IT GAVE TO THE GOVERNMENT OF EL SALVADOR HAD DIMINISHED WORLDWIDE SUPPORT FOR THE FDR/FMLN. HE SAID THAT THE INCREASE IN WESTERN EUROPEAN SUPPORT FOR THE GOES AND THE CORRESPONDING DECREASE IN SUPPORT FOR THE GUERRILLAS WAS EXACTLY WHAT HE WAS REFERRING TO AND WAS A DIRECT RESULT OF DUARTE'S ELECTION AND HIS SUBSEQUENT TRIPS TO EUROPE. FORTIN MAGANA SAID THAT THE LEFT WAS ALSO BEING PRESSED HARD MILITARILY. HE CITED THE IMPROVED PERFORMANCE OF THE ESAF AND THE CONTINUATION OF US SUPPORT AS CRUCIAL FACTORS.

12. THE NEXT STEP: FORTIN MAGANA NOTED THAT IT WAS THE FMLN/FDR THAT HAD ASKED THAT THE NEXT MEETING NOT TAKE PLACE UNTIL THE SECOND HALF OF NOVEMBER. HE SPECULATED THAT THIS TIMING WAS MOTIVATED BY THE LEFT'S DESIRE TO WAIT FOR THE RESULTS OF THE US ELECTIONS IN THE HOPE THAT THEIR PROSPECT MIGHT IMPROVE WITH A DEMOCRATIC PARTY VICTORY. FORTIN MAGANA REPEATED HIS IMPRESSION THAT THE FDR-FMLN WERE LOOKING FOR A "PUENTE DE PLATA" OR AN HONORABLE SOLUTION TO THEIR DILEMMA, BUT CAUTIONED THAT THERE WAS ALWAYS THE POSSIBILITY THAT THIS FIRST MEETING WOULD PROVE [redacted]

UNCHARACTERISTIC OF THE PROCESS OF DIALOGUE, AND THAT THE LEFT COULD ALWAYS "UNSHEATHE THEIR CLAWS" IN FUTURE MEETINGS.

13. NOVEMBER MEETING: FORTIN MAGANA EXPECTED THE GOES TO BE REPRESENTED BY THE SAME TEAM IN ANY FUTURE MEETINGS. HE DECLINED TO SPECULATE, HOWEVER, ON WHERE THE NEXT MEETING MIGHT TAKE PLACE. WHEN ASKED, HE SAID THAT HE PERSONALLY HAD NO OBJECTIONS TO HOLDING

THE MEETING IN SAN SALVADOR, BUT THAT FOR SECURITY REASONS IT WAS TOO EARLY TO ANNOUNCE THE VENUE OF THE NOVEMBER MEETING.

14. COMMENT: WE FIND IT SIGNIFICANT THAT AT LA PALMA OCTOBER 15 AND IN RADIO VENCEREMOS BROADCAST ON FDR-FMLN "MAXIMUM DEMANDS TO ACHIEVE PEACE" THE FOLLOWING DAY (SEPTEL), THE LEFT DID NOT CALL FOR ANY STRUCTURAL CHANGES IN THE GOVERNMENT WHATSOEVER. BY CONTRAST, THE FMLN/FDR IN THE BOGOTA MEETING WITH THE GOES PEACE COMMISSION IN BOGOTA SEPTEMBER 19, 1983, AND IN THEIR MEXICO CITY PRESS CONFERENCE FEBRUARY 9, 1984, THE FMLN/FDR DEMANDED INTER ALIA THE DISSOLUTION OF THE ARENA PARTY, POWER-SHARING AS A RESULT OF NEGOTIATIONS, AN INTERIM GOVERNMENT, PURGE OF THE ESAF AND THE INTEGRATION OF FMLN FIGHTERS WITH WHAT WAS LEFT OF THE ARMED FORCES. IN THIS INSTANCE, FEW IF ANY OF THESE DEMANDS FOR FUNDAMENTAL AND STRUCTURAL CHANGES WERE REPEATED.

15. WE DO NOT KNOW ALL THE REASONS WHY THE LEFT LACKED A PREPARED DOCUMENT OR AT LEAST A SLATE OF DEMANDS. THEIR BEHAVIOR IN THE LA PALMA MEETING SEEMS INCONSISTENT WITH PAST BEHAVIOR AND WITH NORMAL LEFTIST [redacted]

NEGOTIATING PROCEDURES. WE POSIT THREE POSSIBLE EXPLANATIONS FOR THIS: 1) THE ABOVE-MENTIONED LOGISTICAL PROBLEM--THE GUERRILLAS WERE TAKEN BY SURPRISE AND HAD INADEQUATE TIME TO PREPARE A RESPONSE; 2) FEARING A REPEAT OF THE PEACE COMMISSION PERFORMANCE IN BOGOTA, THE GUERRILLAS DID NOT WANT TO PROVIDE DUARTE WITH ANY PRETEXT FOR BREAKING OFF THE TALKS; 3) THE GUERRILLAS ARE ENOUGH HARD-PRESSED TO ACCEPT MUCH LESS NOW THAN EVER BEFORE. THERE MAY WELL BE ELEMENTS OF ALL THREE IN THE RATIONALE. THE NOVEMBER MEETING WILL DO MUCH TO CLARIFY THIS. END COMMENT.

PRESIDENT DUARTE HAS SOME STRONG MEMBERS ON HIS TEAM, INCLUDING MINISTER OF THE PRESIDENCY REY PRENDES, MINISTER OF PLANNING CHAVEZ MENA, AND MINISTER OF DEFENSE VIDES CASANOVA. HOWEVER, THE REMAINDER OF HIS TEAM, WHILE HONEST, IS INEXPERIENCED. THIS IS PARTICULARLY EVIDENT IN THE ECONOMIC/AGRICULTURAL AREA. DUARTE HAS BEEN UNWILLING TO GO OUTSIDE OF THE CIRCLE OF PARTY REGULARS TO ATTRACT PRIVATE SECTOR TALENT AND IS LIKELY TO COME UNDER INCREASING CRITICISM FOR THIS. IT IS ALSO CLEAR THAT HE CONTINUES TO WANT TO MAKE ALL THE KEY DECISIONS HIMSELF AND OVERSEE THE IMPLEMENTATION PERSONALLY OF KEY ISSUES. THIS IS A FORMIDABLE CHALLENGE, EVEN FOR SOMEONE AS ENERGETIC AND THOUGHTFUL AS DUARTE. WE CONCLUDE THAT HIS GOVERNMENT IS EMERGING AS ONE WHICH IS BETTER THAN COULD BE EXPECTED GIVEN THE SIZE, LEVEL OF DEVELOPMENT,

1. CONFIDENTIAL - ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY: PRESIDENT DUARTE'S PROPOSED OFFER OF AMNESTY TO THE GUERRILLAS HAS CAUSED A WIDE DIVERGENCE OF OPINION EVEN WITHIN THE PDC AS TO THE FORM AN AMNESTY PROGRAM SHOULD TAKE. AT THIS TIME THERE IS NO DRAFT [redacted]

LEGISLATION BEING CONSIDERED WHICH WOULD IMPLEMENT THE AMNESTY. MOREOVER, IT IS UNLIKELY THAT ANY SPECIFIC AMNESTY PROGRAM WILL BE CONSIDERED BY THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY UNTIL AFTER THE NOVEMBER MEETING BETWEEN THE GOES AND THE GUERRILLAS. JUDGING THE STRENGTH OF THE RIGHT IN THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY AND THE APPARENT FLEXIBILITY OF SOME ELEMENTS OF THE PDC, ANY FINAL PROPOSAL FOR AMNESTY LEGISLATION WILL PROBABLY APPLY TO SOME RIGHT WING PERPETRATORS OF POLITICAL VIOLENCE, IN ADDITION TO THOSE OF THE LEFT. END SUMMARY.

3. GROUPS SUCH AS THE (PRO-LEFT) NON-GOVERNMENTAL SALVADORAN HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION AND THE GUERRILLA RADIO VENCEREMOS HAVE DENOUNCED DUARTE'S AMNESTY PROPOSAL AS A PLOY TO PARDON THE DEATH SQUAD MEMBERS AND OTHERS INVOLVED IN THE KILLING OF ARCHBISHOP ROMERO AND THE SHERATON MURDERS. IN SPITE OF THOSE CLAIMS, NO DECISION HAS ACTUALLY BEEN REACHED ON THE SCOPE OF THE AMNESTY PROGRAM, SHOULD IT GET OFF THE GROUND.

4. THERE ARE DIFFERENCES OF OPINION WITHIN THE PDC REGARDING THE PROPOSED AMNESTY. POLOFF SPOKE WITH ANTONIO MORALES ERLICH, PDC SECRETARY GENERAL, WHO STATED THAT ANY AMNESTY WOULD ONLY PARDON POLITICAL CRIMES, NOT REGULAR CRIMES. MORALES ERLICH COMMENTED THAT ACTS OF VIOLENCE COMMITTED BY THE RIGHT WERE CRIMINAL NOT POLITICAL CRIMES, AND SHOULD BE PROSECUTED BY THE JUDICIAL BRANCH. HOWEVER, HE PREDICTED THAT, SINCE THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY WAS "CONTROLLED BY THE RIGHT," SOME FORM OF PARDON FOR THE RIGHT WOULD UNDOUBTEDLY BE INCLUDED IN THE LEGISLATIVE PROPOSAL.

5. POLOFF ALSO SPOKE WITH ANTONIO GUEVARA LACAYO, [redacted]

VICE-PRESIDENT OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY AND MEMBER OF THE PDC POLITICAL COMMITTEE. (SEE REFTEL) HE COMMENTED THAT ANY AMNESTY WOULD HAVE TO PARDON BOTH THE RIGHT AND LEFT TO BE JUST. NEVERTHELESS, HE STATED THAT THE MORE NOTORIOUS CASES OF LAS HOJAS, THE ASSASSINATION OF MONSIGNOR ROMERO, THE SHERATON MURDERS, AND THE KILLING OF THE DAUGHTER OF THE PDC MAYOR OF QUEZALTEPEQUE, COULD NOT BE INCLUDED IN THE AMNESTY. 7. THE DIVISION WITHIN THE PDC ABOUT THE AMNESTY IS INDICATIVE OF THE DIVISIONS THROUGHOUT THE SOCIETY. ALTHOUGH MOST SECTORS SUPPORT THE IDEA OF AN AMNESTY PROGRAM, THE MYRIAD CONCEPTIONS OF THE SPECIFIC SHAPE THAT THE AMNESTY SHOULD TAKE MAKE IT IMPOSSIBLE TO PREDICT THE AMNESTY'S FINAL PROVISIONS. HOWEVER, THE STRENGTH OF THE RIGHT IN THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY AND THE APPARENT FLEXIBILITY OF SOME ELEMENTS OF THE PDC MAKES IT PREDICTABLE THAT SOME EFFORTS WILL BE MADE TO BLANKET RIGHT WING VIOLENCE IN BROADER AMNESTY PROVISIONS. ELOOT

Father Stanley Rother: Father Stanley Rother, a Catholic priest, was killed on July 28, 1981, at his parish in Santiago de Atitlan by three unidentified assailants. At the time of his murder, there was considerable guerrilla activity in the area south of Lake Atitlan. In May 1980, ORPA guerrillas had briefly occupied Santiago. Subsequently, Guatemalan Government forces stepped up their operations in the area.

From November 1980, Father Rother had been in contact with the United States Embassy in Guatemala. At first he viewed the situation in Santiago as quiet. On January 14, 1981, however, he advised the Embassy that 17 unarmed peasants had been killed by soldiers in the area, that his catechist had been abducted, and that he had received two death threats. Despite the death threats, Father Rother said he was more concerned for the safety of his Indian assistant than for himself. On January 20, 1981, Father Rother advised the Embassy of his plans to depart Guatemala with his assistant, and did so on January 28. He returned to Guatemala later in the spring.

On the night of July 28, 1981, three assailants went to Father Rother's residence and forced the gardener to lead them to the priest's rooms where they shot Father Rother. The National Police report of their investigation included reference to the victim's ransacked room and open safe. Statements were taken from the gardener and a Mexican nun who also saw the assailants. The witnesses described the three men as Ladinos (that is, of mixed Indian and European ancestry, as opposed to Indians).

On August ~~1,~~ 1981, three Indians, who were acquaintances of Father Rother, were arrested and charged with robbery and murder. The police stated that the arrests were based upon statements provided by the Mexican nun. Guatemalan newspapers reported that the three men had confessed to the crime. Doubt persisted, however, regarding the guilt of the three men. The Mexican nun returned to Mexico where her order released a statement saying that the Guatemalan police had used her name to make false statements. The physical descriptions of the assailants did not match those of the arrested men. Robbery in the poor parish was considered an unlikely motive. The U.S. Embassy, which had obtained the slug and casing from the scene of the murder, delivered this evidence to the Guatemalan Government with an offer by the FBI to assist in examining them. The Guatemalan Government never requested U.S. assistance and no reports of the government's own findings have ever been made available to the U.S. or presented to the Court.

In September 1981, the U.S. Ambassador discussed this case with the Guatemalan Interior Minister, who stated his opinion that the arrested men were not guilty. The Ambassador expressed U.S. concern that there not be a miscarriage of justice. In January 1982, the three men were found guilty of murder and condemned to 8 years imprisonment and payment of a fine. After the change of government in March 1982, and at the request of the U.S. Ambassador, the Chief Justice of the Guatemalan Supreme Court agreed to review the lower court decision. On May 17, 1982, an appellate court reversed the conviction and the men were released.

Since that time, the Embassy has made numerous requests to the Guatemalan Government for the results of its investigation into the murder of Father Rother. On July 19, 1983, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs advised the Embassy that the case is of great concern to the government of Guatemala and an effort was being made to investigate it. The Ministry's note referred to the difficulty in investigating the case after the passage of so much time and the fact that people who might have been able to give testimony have not come forth for fear of reprisal. The latest communication the Embassy received on the case was dated November 8, 1983, and provides no further information.

Elements of the Guatemalan security forces could have been involved in the murder of Father Rother. Certainly, government officials, either through ineptness or intention, failed to provide evidence to the Court or others investigating the case. The arrest of the three Indians stopped any active investigation for more than six months. It is unlikely that any further information will be developed at this point, more than 30 months after the murder.

Reverend John David Troyer: Mennonite Pastor John David Troyer was shot to death on September 14, 1981, in the village of Palama, Department of Chimaltenango. According to eyewitness accounts provided by his wife, Mary Troyer, and a Mennonite missionary, Gary Miller, 10 armed men attacked the Troyer house at about 2300 hours on September 13. After ransacking the house for two hours, and burning the Mennonite mission vehicle,

THE ELECTION REPRESENTED THE NEXT LOGICAL STEP IN EL SALVADOR'S FIVE-YEAR EVOLUTION AS A DEMOCRATIC NATION. EL SALVADOR NOW ENJOYS A POPULARLY-ELECTED GOVERNMENT CHOSEN IN POLLS WITNESSED BY OVER 200 OBSERVERS FROM MORE THAN 35 COUNTRIES; 1,400,000 PEOPLE VOTED OUT OF A NATIONAL POPULATION OF 4,900,000 AND AN ESTIMATED TOTAL NUMBER OF 1,800,000 ELIGIBLE VOTERS. THE NEW CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC PRESIDENT FACES FORMIDABLE CHALLENGES: THE COUNTRY'S VIOLENT HISTORY, A DEDICATED MARXIST INSURGENCY WITH STRONG TIES TO AND MATERIAL SUPPORT FROM NICARAGUA AND THE CUBAN/SOVIET BLOC, A SEVERELY DEPRESSED ECONOMY AND STILL WEAK INSTITUTIONS FOR PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION AND THE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE. ALTHOUGH SHARPLY DIVIDED ON NUMEROUS ISSUES, THE POLITICAL PARTIES HAVE BEEN CONDUCTING THEMSELVES IN THE LEGISLATIVE PROCESS WITH A SENSE OF GROWING LOYALTY TO THE CONSTITUTIONAL SYSTEM AND HAVE GENERALLY ACTED IN A SPIRIT OF COMPROMISE RATHER THAN OUTRIGHT CONFRONTATION. THE GREATEST TEST FOR THE COHESIVENESS OF THE SYSTEM CAME IN OCTOBER, WHEN PRESIDENT DUARTE ANNOUNCED HIS HISTORIC LA PALMA INITIATIVE FOR DIALOGUE WITH THE LEFT IN HIS UNGA SPEECH. THE ISSUE HAS BEEN OPENLY DEBATED, AND CRITICIZED OR EMBRACED, BUT DUARTE'S AUTHORITY TO CONDUCT THE DIALOGUE, AS LONG AS IT DOES NOT VIOLATE THE CONSTITUTION BY LEADING TO POWER SHARING WITH THE ARMED INSURGENTS ON ANY BASIS OTHER THAN ELECTORAL, HAS BEEN UNCHALLENGED.

5. THE COUNTRY CONTINUES TO SUFFER FROM AN ACTIVE INSURGENCY WITH AN ESTIMATED 9,000 - 11,000 GUERRILLAS OF THE FARABUNDO MARTI NATIONAL LIBERATION FRONT (FMLN) AND DEMOCRATIC REVOLUTIONARY FRONT (FDR), A COALITION OF ORGANIZATIONS LEAD BY MARXIST-LENINISTS. THE INSURGENT FORCES HAVE AN EXCELLENT NETWORK WHICH ENABLES THEM TO CONDUCT HIT-AND-RUN OPERATIONS AND ECONOMIC SABOTAGE IN AREAS OF THE COUNTRY WHERE THE SALVADORAN ARMED FORCES LACK THE RESOURCES TO MAINTAIN A PERMANENT SECURITY PRESENCE. THE FDR-FMLN REMAINS COMMITTED TO TERRORISM AGAINST BOTH ECONOMIC AND HUMAN TARGETS. THE LOW LEVEL OF POPULAR SUPPORT EXTENDED TO THE GUERRILLAS, HOWEVER, COUPLED WITH DECLINING MORALE, DESERTIONS, AND LACK OF VOLUNTEERS, HAVE INDUCED THE GUERRILLAS TO RESORT TO FORCED RECRUITMENT TO AUGMENT THEIR RANKS, ON OCCASION SUPPLEMENTED BY TERRORIST TACTICS AND DESTRUCTION OF CIVILIAN TARGETS, HOUSING, AND INFRASTRUCTURE EVIDENTLY DESIGNED TO COERCE VILLAGERS INTO LENDING SUPPORT TO THE FMLN/FDR OR, AS A MINIMUM, INTIMIDATING THE PEOPLE INTO NOT REPORTING A GUERRILLA PRESENCE TO GOVERNMENT AUTHORITIES.

BEEN DISRUPTED BY GUERRILLA AND MILITARY OPERATIONS, PARTISAN HATREDS, ACTS OF REVENGE, THE SATISFACTION OF PERSONAL GRUDGES, FEAR, AND A PREVAILING UNCERTAINTY CHARACTERIZED BY VIOLENCE. THIS SITUATION CONTRIBUTED TO, AND IS COMPLICATED BY, THE NEAR-PARALYSIS OF THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM, WHICH IS CAUSED IN PART BY CORRUPTION AND INTIMIDATION. THE GOES HAS BEEN WORKING TO UNCLOG THE COURT SYSTEM, HOWEVER, AND HAS BEEN AT LEAST PARTLY SUCCESSFUL IN ITS EFFORT TO ELIMINATE THE BACKLOG OF STATE OF EMERGENCY CASES.

7. HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES THUS STILL REMAIN A CENTRAL ISSUE IN EL SALVADOR. HOWEVER, THERE HAS BEEN SUBSTANTIAL PROGRESS IN THE PAST YEAR AND THERE IS AMPLE REASON FOR OPTIMISM FOR CONTINUING IMPROVEMENT. THE SECURITY FORCES ARE NOW PROVIDING HUMAN RIGHTS INSTRUCTION TO THEIR TRAINEES AND A CHAPLAIN CORPS IS BEING ESTABLISHED FOR SOLDIERS IN THE FIELD. DESPITE OCCASIONAL VIOLATIONS, THE ARREST AND DETENTION RULES ISSUED IN DECEMBER 1983 BY THE MINISTER OF DEFENSE ARE BY AND LARGE BEING FOLLOWED. ACCOUNTABILITY FOR AND TREATMENT OF ARRESTEES IS THUS GREATLY IMPROVED; CREDIBLE ALLEGATIONS OF TORTURE ARE MUCH DIMINISHED IF NOT ELIMINATED. THE RULES REQUIRE THAT THE ARRESTING OFFICERS MUST BE IN UNIFORM OR PROPERLY IDENTIFIED, AND THE FOLLOWING MUST BE NOTIFIED WITHIN 24 HOURS: THE DETAINEES'S FAMILY; THE OFFICIAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION, AND THE INTERNATIONAL RED CROSS.

8. PROCEDURES FOR DEALING WITH STATE OF EMERGENCY CRIMES WERE DEFINED BY LEGISLATIVE DECREE 507 UNTIL
UNCLASSIFIED

FEBRUARY, 1984, WHEN THE LATTER WAS SUPPLANTED BY DECREE 50, WHICH IS INTENDED TO PROVIDE INCREASED PROTECTION FOR THOSE ARRESTED. FOR EXAMPLE, DECREE 50 CUT IN HALF THE ALLOWABLE PERIOD OF DETENTION AN ARRESTEE MAY BE HELD BEFORE BEING FORMALLY CHARGED. MEANWHILE, THE BACKLOG OF CASES AWAITING ACTION UNDER DECREE 507 HAS BEEN PROCESSED AND COMPLETELY ELIMINATED AT THE INVESTIGATIVE PHASE, WITH A VAST NUMBER OF CASES DISMISSED OUTRIGHT, USING THE DECREE 50 MECHANISM. SOME 2000 ARRESTS HAVE BEEN MADE UNDER DECREE 507/50 PROVISIONS.

9. THE MILITARY APPEARS TO HAVE ACCEPTED THAT THE ARMED FORCES ARE BOUND BY THE CONSTITUTION AND MUST REMAIN STRICTLY APOLITICAL AND NON-PARTISAN. DURING THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS AND IN THEIR RELATIONS WITH THE NEW CIVILIAN GOVERNMENT UNDER PRESIDENT DUARTE, THE MILITARY HAS MAINTAINED ITS NEUTRALITY AND HAS DEFERRED TO CIVIL AUTHORITY IN UNPRECEDENTED FASHION.

10. HOWEVER, THE ARMY CONTINUES TO BE THE FOCUS OF NUMEROUS ACCUSATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES, CHIEFLY SUCH AS ALLEGATIONS OF SYSTEMATIC KILLING OF NON-COMBATANTS BY GUNFIRE OR AERIAL BOMBARDMENT. MOST OF THESE ACCUSATIONS COME, UNFORTUNATELY, FROM THE LEFT ITSELF OR FROM SOURCES CLOSE TO AND SYMPATHETIC TO THE GUERRILLAS AND ARE CLEARLY BOGUS. WE ARE SATISFIED FROM OUR OWN INVESTIGATIONS OF THESE CHARGES, THAT CIVILIAN BATTLE DEATHS TAKE PLACE ALMOST EXCLUSIVELY IN CONNECTION WITH OPERATIONS AGAINST LEGITIMATE MILITARY TARGETS WHERE "MASAS" (THE GUERRILLAS' TERM FOR THEIR UNARMED LOGISTICAL SUPPORT APPARATUS) ARE PRESENT. THIS REFLECTS THE COMMON GUERRILLA PRACTICE OF DELIBERATELY AND SYSTEMATICALLY INTERMINGLING ARMED AND UNARMED PERSONNEL, A PRACTICE DECRIED BOTH BY PRESIDENT DUARTE AND THE SALVADORAN CATHOLIC CHURCH. ARE, HOWEVER, MORE EQUIVOCAL. THE DUARTE ADMINISTRATION AND THE MILITARY HIGH COMMAND HAVE BOTH SERVED NOTICE THAT THEY EXPECT ALL REASONABLE PRECAUTIONS TO BE TAKEN TO AVOID THE DEATH OR INJURY OF INNOCENT CIVILIANS. PRESIDENT DUARTE HAS ISSUED CLEAR GUIDELINES CONCERNING THE USE OF AERIAL BOMBARDMENT TO CODIFY AND STRENGTHEN EXISTING RULES OF ENGAGEMENT.

11. THE BRUTAL PHENOMENON KNOWN AS "DEATH SQUAD" ASSASSINATION ACTIVITY HAS NOT BEEN COMPLETELY EXTIRPATED BUT HAS DECLINED DRAMATICALLY ALONG WITH THE OVERALL LEVEL OF CIVIL VIOLENCE DESPITE ASSERTIONS TO THE CONTRARY BY THE LEFT. THE RIGHTIST MAXIMILIANO MARTINEZ BRIGADE HAS BEEN SILENT AND INACTIVE IN THE PAST YEAR; THE ESA (SECRET ANTICOMMUNIST ARMY) HAS ISSUED OCCASIONAL THREATENING BULLETINS, BUT HAS CLAIMED AUTHORSHIP OF ONLY ONE KILLING AND ONE BOMBING (NO INJURIES) IN ALL OF 1984. ALL INDICATORS AND STATISTICS FROM WHATEVER SOURCE, REFLECT THE DRAMATIC DROP IN KILLINGS PRESUMED TO COME FROM "DEATH SQUAD" ACTIVITY.

12. A PRIME CONTRIBUTING FACTOR TO HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES IS A SOMETIMES CORRUPT, GENERALLY INADEQUATE AND OFTEN INTIMIDATED JUDICIAL SYSTEM. LACK OF CONFIDENCE IN THE AVAILABILITY OF JUSTICE PROMPTS THE POPULACE TO TAKE THE LAW INTO THEIR OWN HANDS. THE DUARTE ADMINISTRATION IS MOVING TO REMEDY THIS PROBLEM BY STRENGTHENING THE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE AND IS IMPLEMENTING SEVERAL INITIATIVES BEGUN UNDER THE PREVIOUS GOVERNMENT. THESE INCLUDE A REVISORY COMMISSION TO REVIEW THE JUSTICE SYSTEM, A SPECIAL INVESTIGATIVE UNIT FOR POLITICAL CRIMES AND ESPECIALLY SIGNIFICANT OR NOTORIOUS CRIMINAL CASES, A FORENSIC LABORATORY, AND A JUDICIAL PROTECTION UNIT TO SHIELD PARTICIPANTS IN THE JUDICIAL PROCESS FROM INTIMIDATION OR INJURY. THIS UNIT COMPLETED ITS FIRST MISSION WHEN IT PROVIDED PROTECTION IN THE CHURCHWOMEN'S MURDER TRIAL, ALLOWING JUSTICE FINALLY TO BE DONE IN THAT NOTORIOUS CASE THIS YEAR.

13. THE UNITED STATES AGENCY FOR INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT IS PROVIDING FUNDS FOR THE REVISORY COMMISSION, WHOSE MANDATE IS TO IDENTIFY THE LEGISLATIVE, PROCEDURAL OR ADMINISTRATIVE PROBLEMS THAT PREVENT THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM FROM FUNCTIONING EFFECTIVELY AND TO IDENTIFY, DESIGN, PROPOSE AND OVERSEE THE IMPLEMENTATION OF SOLUTIONS TO THOSE PROBLEMS.

14. ON AUGUST 27, PRESIDENT DUARTE ISSUED AN EXECUTIVE DECREE ESTABLISHING AN INTERIM FIVE-MAN COMMISSION WHICH WILL INVESTIGATE SEVERAL OF THE MOST NOTORIOUS CRIMES OF

THIS COMMISSION, AS SUCH, HAS NO ARREST POWERS BUT MAY SEEK JUDICIAL ORDERS FOR THE ARREST OF PERSONS THEY INVESTIGATE AND PROVE GUILTY OF CRIMINAL CONDUCT. AS CURRENTLY ESTABLISHED, THE COMMISSION REPORTS DIRECTLY TO PRESIDENT DUARTE. FOR A VARIETY OF REASONS, INCLUDING THE ARMED CONFLICT, LOW WORLD PRICES FOR EL SALVADOR'S EXPORT PRODUCTS, HIGH FUEL COSTS AND THE VIRTUAL COLLAPSE OF THE CENTRAL AMERICAN COMMON MARKET, THE ECONOMY HAS SUFFERED A 25 DECLINE OVER THE PAST FIVE YEARS. THIS DECLINE TERMINATED IN 1983, AND A SMALL INCREASE IN GDP IS PROJECTED FOR 1984. HOWEVER, FOREIGN INVESTMENT HAS YET TO RESUME, DOMESTIC PRIVATE SECTOR CONFIDENCE HAS NOT YET RECOVERED TO THE POINT WHERE MAJOR NEW INVESTMENTS ARE UNDER WAY, AND THE ECONOMY REMAINS DEPENDENT ON EXTERNAL ASSISTANCE, SUPPLIED CHIEFLY BY THE US. INDIVIDUALS REMAIN FREE TO PURSUE PRIVATE INTERESTS AND HOLD PRIVATE PROPERTY WITH THE EXCEPTIONS IMPOSED BY THE REFORMS IN LIMITING PRIVATE AGRICULTURAL LAND HOLDINGS, OPERATING PRIVATE BANKS, OR PRIVATE EXPORT OF COFFEE AND SUGAR.

DRAMATIC DECREASE IN POLITICAL VIOLENCE. THE EMBASSY'S FIGURES FOR DEATHS POSSIBLY ATTRIBUTABLE TO POLITICAL VIOLENCE REFLECT A STEADY DECLINE. 17. MANY DEATHS IN EL SALVADOR GO UNEXPLAINED; IT IS OFTEN IMPOSSIBLE TO DISTINGUISH THOSE THAT ARE POLITICALLY MOTIVATED (FROM EITHER EXTREME) FROM THOSE WHICH ARE DISGUISED AS SUCH IN ORDER TO EVADE CRIMINAL DETECTION. BE DETERMINED, IT IS SAFE TO CONCLUDE THAT THOSE NUMBERS RISE OR FALL CORRESPONDINGLY WITH THE LEVEL OF OVERALL FIGURES FOR VIOLENT DEATHS. DEATH FIGURES USED BY THE EMBASSY FROM ALL PRESS REPORTS AS VIOLENCE LEVEL INDICATORS SINCE 1980 SUGGEST POLITICAL KILLING TO BE AT AN ALL TIME LOW: 1980 - OVER 800 PER MONTH; 1981 - 444 PER MONTH; 1982 - 298 PER MONTH; 1983 - 139 PER MONTH; JANUARY - SEPTEMBER 1984 - 73 PER MONTH.

18. THE DUARTE GOVERNMENT HAS TAKEN STEPS TO TIGHTEN DISCIPLINE AND CONTROL IN ORDER TO DEAL WITH POLITICAL CRIMINALITY WITHIN THE MILITARY AND OTHER SECURITY FORCES. OFFICERS SUSPECTED OF DEATH SQUAD TYPE ACTIVITY HAVE BEEN REMOVED FROM THEIR COMMANDS; A KEY NEW POSITION, VICE MINISTER OF DEFENSE FOR PUBLIC SECURITY, HAS BEEN CREATED TO SUPERVISE AND COORDINATE THE OPERATIONS OF THE SECURITY FORCES; TWO OFFICERS WITH IMPECCABLE REPUTATIONS NOW HEAD THE NATIONAL AND TREASURY POLICE, WHICH ARE CONTINUING TO IMPROVE STEADILY IN THEIR RESPECT FOR CIVIL AND HUMAN RIGHTS. THE NEW DIRECTOR OF THE TREASURY POLICE QUICKLY DISBANDED ITS 110 MEMBER INTELLIGENCE UNIT, LONG CONSIDERED THE SOURCE OF MANY ABUSES. IT IS NOT POSSIBLE TODAY TO SAY WHETHER, OR, IF SO, HOW MUCH RESIDUAL VIOLENCE ORIGINATES FROM INDIVIDUALS WHO ARE COLLATERALLY MEMBERS OF THE GOVERNMENT OR ITS SECURITY FORCES.

19. IN 1984, THERE HAS BEEN A SHARP DECLINE IN TERRORIST ACTIONS FOR WHICH DEATH SQUADS HAVE CLAIMED RESPONSIBILITY OR WHICH CAN BE ATTRIBUTED TO THEM. THE
UNCLASSIFIED
UNCLASSIFIED

SECRET ANTI-COMMUNIST ARMY (ESA)HAS BEEN FAR LESS ACTIVE IN 1984 THAN IN LATE 1983, HAVING CLAIMED RESPONSIBILITY FOR ONLY ONE MURDER. IT HAS, HOWEVER, ISSUED SEVERAL THREATENING COMMUNIQUES AND TAKEN CREDIT FOR SEVERAL VICTIMLESS BOMBINGS. THE OTHER KNOWN DEATH SQUAD, THE "MAXIMILIANO HERNANDEZ MARTINEZ BRIGADE," WAS INACTIVE IN 1984.

20. CHARGES CONTINUE TO BE LEVELED ALMOST DAILY AT THE SALVADORAN ARMED FORCES FOR INDISCRIMINATE BOMBING ATTACKS AND GRATUITOUS VIOLENCE AGAINST INNOCENT

CIVILIANS. PRESIDENT DUARTE HAS INVESTIGATED SOME OF THE MORE SENSATIONAL CHARGES OF MASSACRES AND FOUND THEM BASELESS. HE HAS MADE IT CLEAR, HOWEVER, THAT HE WILL NOT TOLERATE THE WANTON USE OF VIOLENCE AGAINST NONCOMBATANT CIVILIANS.

21. WE HAVE SEEN NO CREDIBLE EVIDENCE TO SUGGEST THAT VIOLENCE AGAINST CIVILIANS IS EVEN TACIT GOES/ESAF POLICY, NOR THAT ITS SCALE IN ANY WAY APPROACHES THE DAILY CLAIMS OF FMLN PROPAGANDA OR THE REPORTS OF SOME HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS. AS FAR AS WE CAN DETERMINE, THE VAST NUMBER OF ALLEGED CIVILIAN DEATHS STEMMING FROM MILITARY OPERATIONS WERE ACTUALLY GUERRILLA COMBATANTS. MOST OF THE REMAINDER WERE AMONG THE SO-CALLED "MASAS", THE GUERRILLA TERM FOR THEIR UNARMED SUPPORTERS WHO COMPRISE THE FMLN LOGISTICAL SUPPORT APPARATUS. THESE COMBAT SUPPORT PERSONNEL, ALTHOUGH THEMSELVES NOT USUALLY ARMED, ARE OFTEN PRESENT WITH OR NEAR THE GUERRILLAS DURING COMBAT OPERATIONS, AND IN GUERRILLA INSTALLATIONS WHICH REPRESENT LEGITIMATE MILITARY TARGETS AND PERIODICALLY COME UNDER ESAF ATTACK. NON-COMBATANT CIVILIAN CASUALTIES FROM AERIAL BOMBARDMENT ARE ALMOST UNIVERSALLY "MASAS" PRESENT WITH OR NEAR ARMED GUERRILLAS WHO ARE LEGITIMATE MILITARY TARGETS. PRESIDENT DUARTE AND THE MILITARY COMMAND HAVE MODIFIED AND STRENGTHENED THE RULES OF AERIAL ENGAGEMENT TO ENSURE AGAINST ITS ACCIDENTAL OR INTENTIONAL MISUSE AGAINST CIVILIANS. WE HAVE INVESTIGATED MANY REPORTS, AND KNOW OF NO CONFIRMED INSTANCE IN WHICH MASAS HAVE BEEN ATTACKED WHEN NOT ACCOMPANIED BY ARMED GUERRILLAS.

22. THE FMLN-FDR CONTINUES TO COMMIT SIGNIFICANT HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. IN JANUARY AN AMERICAN CITIZEN WAS SHOT AND KILLED WHEN THE VEHICLE IN WHICH SHE WAS RIDING WITH HER TWO SMALL CHILDREN AND HUSBAND FAILED TO STOP AT A GUERRILLA CHECK POINT. FMLN MINING OF THE RUNWAY OF A CIVILIAN AIRPORT CAUSED THREE DEATHS. IN FEBRUARY, WITNESSES CLAIM, GUERRILLA FORCES MASSACRED 29 CAPTURED SOLDIERS IN WESTERN EL SALVADOR. AN UNARMED MILITARY JUDGE WAS KILLED BY WOULD-BE KIDNAPPERS WHEN HE RESISTED ABDUCTION. GUERRILLAS KILLED TWO LOCAL RED CROSS WORKERS WHO WERE TRAVELING IN A RED CROSS AMBULANCE. A

SALVADORAN SECURITY EMPLOYEE OF THE US EMBASSY WAS FATALLY SHOT ON THE WAY TO WORK BY MEN WHO ANNOUNCED

THEMSELVES TO BE FPL ASSASSINS. THE LEFT WAS PRESUMABLY RESPONSIBLE FOR THE SHOOTING OF A STRIKE-BREAKING SCHOOL DIRECTOR IN SEPTEMBER. THE ARMED FORCES OF NATIONAL LIBERATION (FAL) SEIZED A SAN SALVADOR BANK IN AUGUST, KILLING A CIVILIAN GUARD. IN 1984, THE LEFT KILLED THREE RETIRED ARMY OFFICERS AND ANOTHER THREE CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY DEPUTIES. THEY ATTEMPTED THE MURDER OF A FOURTH, WOUNDING HIM BADLY. ACCORDING TO PRESS REPORTS, THE LEFT CARRIED OUT 63 POLITICAL KILLINGS IN THE FIRST HALF OF 1984.

23. SOURCES OF INFORMATION ON POLITICAL VIOLENCE INCLUDE NEWSPAPERS, THE ARMED FORCES, COURT RECORDS, HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS, LEFTIST ORGANIZATIONS, AND PERSONAL TESTIMONIES. EACH OF THESE IS SUBJECT TO LIMITATIONS AND/OR BIASES. GOVERNMENT INFORMATION ON GUERRILLA CASUALTIES, HOWEVER, IS SUBJECT TO EXAGGERATION. COURT RECORDS LIST VICTIMS OF VIOLENCE IDENTIFIED BY JUSTICES OF THE PEACE THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY. MOST REPORTS YIELD LITTLE INFORMATION ON POLITICAL VIOLENCE BUT ARE USEFUL TO DETERMINE TRENDS.

24. ORGANIZATIONS WHICH REPORT ON VIOLENCE, BESIDES THE GOVERNMENT HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION, INCLUDE THE LEGAL AID OFFICE OF THE ARCHDIOCESE (TUTELA LEGAL), CHRISTIAN LEGAL AID (SOCORRO JURIDICO CRISTIANO), AND THE UNOFFICIAL EL SALVADOR HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION. IN ADDITION, THE CENTER OF INVESTIGATION AND DOCUMENTATION OF THE JESUIT-RUN UNIVERSITY OF CENTRAL AMERICA IS A HUMAN RIGHTS INFORMATION CLEARING HOUSE. 25. WHILE ALL STATISTICS ON CIVILIAN DEATHS IN EL SALVADOR ARE UNRELIABLE EXCEPT AS INDICATORS OF TRENDS, THE U.S. EMBASSY IN SAN SALVADOR HAS KEPT SYSTEMATIC RECORDS ON PUBLISHED REPORTS OF POLITICAL VIOLENCE IN EL SALVADOR SINCE SEPTEMBER OF 1980. OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

OFFER STATISTICS WHICH DIFFER AMONG THEMSELVES AND WITH THE EMBASSY'S ESTIMATES. TUTELA LEGAL, FOR EXAMPLE, REPORTED AN AVERAGE OF 270 POLITICAL KILLINGS OF CIVILIANS PER MONTH FOR THE FIRST FIVE MONTHS OF 1984. IN JUNE, TUTELA LEGAL CHANGED ITS REPORTING FORMAT AND BEGAN LISTING DEATHS AS "POSSIBLY GUERRILLA" OR "POSSIBLY CIVILIAN." THUS, ITS LISTING FOR JUNE IS 11 "CONFIRMED" CIVILIAN DEATHS, PLUS 68 WHO POSSIBLY WERE CIVILIANS AND 50 WHO WERE POSSIBLY GUERRILLAS, FOR A TOTAL OF 129. FOR JULY, TUTELA LEGAL REPORTED 75 "CONFIRMED" CIVILIAN DEATHS PLUS 37 POSSIBLE CIVILIANS AND 73 POSSIBLE GUERRILLAS, A TOTAL OF 185; AND FOR AUGUST, 53 "CONFIRMED" CIVILIAN DEATHS PLUS 64 POSSIBLE CIVILIANS, AND 75 POSSIBLE GUERRILLAS, A TOTAL OF 192.

OCCUR UNDER A VARIETY OF CIRCUMSTANCES. NEWSPAPER AND EYEWITNESS ACCOUNTS OFTEN DESCRIBE "ARMED MEN IN CIVILIAN DRESS" AS PERPETRATORS OF SEIZURES. SOME PERSONS REPORTED TO HAVE DISAPPEARED ARE LATER FOUND ASSASSINATED; OTHERS MAY ACTUALLY BE IN HIDING. STILL OTHERS SUBSEQUENTLY ARE FOUND TO HAVE BEEN ARRESTED AND REAPPEAR IN THE CRIMINAL ENFORCEMENT SYSTEM. UNDER THE ARREST AND DETENTION PROCEDURAL GUIDELINES IN FORCE SINCE DECEMBER, 1983, THIS LATTER PROBLEM HAS BEEN REDUCED.

27. THE ORDER REQUIRES SECURITY FORCE MEMBERS TO BE IN UNIFORM IN MOST CASES AND IDENTIFY THEMSELVES WHILE MAKING ARRESTS, AND TO NOTIFY THE ARMED FORCES CHIEFS OF STAFF, THE INTERNATIONAL COMMITTEE OF THE RED CROSS (ICRS), THE GOVERNMENT'S HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION AND THE DETAINEES' RELATIVES. THE ORDER PERMITS INCARCERATION ONLY IN OFFICIAL PRISONS AND PROHIBITS THE USE OF TORTURE.

28. GUERRILLA UNITS STAGE KIDNAPPINGS FOR RANSOM OR

PRISONER EXCHANGES. THEY, OF COURSE, OBSERVE NO HUMAN RIGHTS PROCEDURES OR STANDARDS FOR CONDUCT OR DETAINMENT. BECAUSE THE FAMILIES OF KIDNAP VICTIMS GENERALLY TRY TO AVOID PUBLICITY IN ORDER TO NEGOTIATE THEIR RELEASE, THESE KIDNAPPINGS RECEIVE LITTLE MEDIA COVERAGE. THE GUERRILLAS LAUNCHED A SYSTEMATIC FORCED RECRUITMENT CAMPAIGN IN THE SPRING, IN WHICH SOME 1500 YOUNG PEOPLE OF BOTH SEXES WERE ABDUCTED. THE HUMAN RIGHTS COMMUNITY HAS BEEN SLOW TO PROTEST, ALTHOUGH THE CHURCH HAS TAKEN PUBLIC NOTE OF THE EVENTS.

29. ALTHOUGH MOST DISAPPEARANCES ARE ROUTINELY ATTRIBUTED TO THE POLICE FORCES, IN THE MAJORITY OF CASES THERE IS NO OBVIOUS CONNECTION BETWEEN THE POLICE OR SECURITY FORCES AND THE BACKGROUND OF THE DISAPPEARED PERSON, OR MOTIVES FOR HIS DISAPPEARANCE WHICH WOULD SUBSTANTIATE AN ASSERTION OF INVOLVEMENT BY SECURITY OR MILITARY FORCES IN THE DISAPPEARANCE. SIMILARLY, IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO TELL HOW MANY DISAPPEARANCES ARE ACTUALLY DESERTIONS OF FAMILY, CRIMINAL ACTS, ILLEGAL EMIGRATION (TYPICALLY TO THE U.S. OR NEIGHBORING COUNTRIES), OR ENLISTMENTS INTO GUERRILLA RANKS. GOES POLICY, TO WHICH THE CHIEFS OF THE SECURITY SERVICES ARE PUBLICLY COMMITTED, CONDEMNS VIOLATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS VIA THE DISAPPEARANCE OF SUSPECTED SUBVERSIVES. PRESIDENT DUARTE, WHO HAS LONG DEMANDED THAT THE SECURITY SERVICES ACT WITH COMPLETE LEGALITY, PERSONALLY BELIEVES THE DISAPPEARANCE PROBLEM TO BE VASTLY OVERSTATED.

30. ALTHOUGH IT IS DIFFICULT TO GATHER HARD EVIDENCE IN TORTURE CASES, IT APPEARS THAT TORTURE AND LESSER FORMS OF MISTREATMENT HAVE FALLEN CONSISTENTLY AND THAT THIS DOWNWARD TREND CONTINUES.

31. THE CATHOLIC CHURCH'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE, TUTELA LEGAL, ASSERTS THAT WHILE THE INCIDENCE OF TORTURE HAS SIGNIFICANTLY DECLINED, THE METHODS ARE MORE REFINED

WITH USE OF ELECTRIC SHOCK, PSYCHOLOGICAL TORTURE AND METHODS THAT DO NOT LEAVE MARKS. THERE HAVE BEEN REPEATED ACCUSATIONS OF RAPE BY CAPTORS.

32. INTERVIEWS WITH JAILED LEFTISTS PRODUCE NUMEROUS CLAIMS OF TORTURE ESPECIALLY DURING THE INITIAL STAGES OF DETENTION TO EXTRACT CONFESSIONS. THE VERACITY OF THESE ASCUSATIONS CANNOT BE CONFIRMED. THE NEW DIRECTORS OF THE NATIONAL AND TREASURY POLICE AND NATIONAL GUARD HAVE LAUNCHED ACTIVE CAMPAIGNS TO EDUCATE THEIR POLICE AGENTS ABOUT THE GOVERNMENT'S POLICY AGAINST TORTURE AND CRUEL AND DEGRADING TREATMENT. WE CANNOT HOWEVER DISCOUNT ALLEGATIONS THAT THIS POLICY IS IN SOME CASES VIOLATED BY INDIVIDUAL SECURITY OFFICIALS. US MILITARY TRAINERS ARE OCCASIONALLY PRESENT DURING DEBRIEFINGS OF CAPTURED GUERRILLA FIGHTERS. NONE HAS OBSERVED ANY MISTREATMENT DURING THESE SESSIONS, NOR DO WE HAVE ANY INDICATION THAT IT OCCURS DURING INTERROGATIONS AT WHICH THEY ARE NOT PRESENT.

33. THE GUERRILLAS HAVE ESTABLISHED A POOR RECORD FOR TREATMENT OF CAPTURED MEMBERS OF THE ARMED FORCES, WHILE ORDINARY SOLDIERS ARE MOST OFTEN RELEASED WITHIN A

- SECTION I - PART D

- ARBITRARY ARREST, DETENTION OR EXILE

34. ARRESTS IN EL SALVADOR CAN BE MADE BY THE SECURITY FORCES ON THEIR OWN DETERMINATION THAT THEY HAVE PROBABLE CAUSE. THE DISPOSITION OF ARRESTED PERSONS IS DETERMINED BY AN INSTRUCTIONAL MAGISTRATE WHO, LIKE TRIAL MAGISTRATES AT VARIOUS LEVELS OF THE JUDICIAL PROCESS, MAY DECIDE ON THE RELEASE OR CONTINUED DETENTION OF A SUSPECT FOR ADDITIONAL INVESTIGATION

BEFORE CHARGES ARE BROUGHT OR TRIAL BEGINS. THIS PRINCIPLE APPLIES TO "POLITICAL" AND COMMON CRIMES

ALIKE. POLICE IN EL SALVADOR WHO ABUSE THEIR POWER OF ARREST MAY BE PROSECUTED FOR ILLEGAL DETENTION AND ARREST. IN PRACTICE, IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO SAY HOW MANY ARRESTS ARE NOT BASED ON REASONABLE PROBABLE CAUSE, AS EVEN DISMISSAL OF CHARGES AT THE INSTRUCTIONAL LEVEL OFTEN REFLECT EITHER INEFFECTIVE INVESTIGATION OR ARE A MATTER OF CONVENIENCE IN AN OVERBURDENED JUDICIAL SYSTEM.

35. THE SALVADORAN CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR THE SUSPENSION OF CONSTITUTIONAL GUARANTEES IN TIMES OF EMERGENCY. SPECIAL LEGISLATION PROVIDES FOR SEPARATE PROCEDURES AND JUDICIAL HANDLING OF CRIMES INCLUDING TREASON, SABOTAGE, AND REBELLION AND PARTICIPATION IN ORGANIZED GROUPS DEDICATED TO THE OVERTHROW OF THE GOVERNMENT BY USE OF FORCE. ARREST FOR POLITICAL BELIEFS, AS SUCH, IS NOT CONTEMPLATED IN LAW AND WE HAVE NO REASON TO BELIEVE IT TAKES PLACE. SOME 2000 ARRESTS HAVE BEEN MADE UNDER STATE OF EMERGENCY LEGISLATION.

36. UNTIL FEBRUARY, 1984, JUDICIAL DISPOSITION OF THESE CRIMES WAS REGULATED BY DECREE 507. THIS LEGISLATION WAS REPLACED BY DECREE 50, WHICH WAS DESIGNED TO PROVIDE INCREASED PROTECTION FOR PERSONS ARRESTED FOR STATE OF EMERGENCY CRIMES. THE DECREE HALVED THE PERIODS OF PERMISSIBLE DETENTION BEFORE A DEFENDANT MUST BE CHARGED AND BROUGHT TO TRIAL. IF SECURITY FORCES HOLD A SUSPECT FOR MORE THAN 15 DAYS FOLLOWING ARREST WITHOUT CONSIGNING HIM TO AN INSTRUCTIONAL JUDGE, THEY ARE IN VIOLATION OF DECREE 50, AND MAY BE PROSECUTED FOR IMPROPER IMPRISONMENT. PERSONS ARRESTED UNDER DECREE 50 ONCE CONSIGNED TO A JUDGE MAY NOT BE HELD WITHOUT CHARGE

FOR MORE THAN 15 DAYS UNLESS FURTHER INVESTIGATION IS ORDERED BY THE INVESTIGATING JUDGE. PERSONS ARRESTED HAVE NO RIGHT TO COUNSEL BEFORE CHARGES ARE BROUGHT, BUT MAY RETAIN COUNSEL AS SOON AS CHARGED OR REMANDED TO DETENTION PENDING FURTHER INVESTIGATION. ELEVATION OF A CASE TO TRIAL ORDINARILY MUST OCCUR NO LATER THAN 75 DAYS FROM THE DATE OF ARREST BY THE SECURITY FORCES. ANY DELAY BEYOND THIS PERIOD MUST BE BASED UPON A JUDICIAL DECREE THAT ORDERS FURTHER INVESTIGATION ALONG SPECIFIED LINES.

37. SPECIAL DECREE 50 COURTS WERE ESTABLISHED

AT PRESENT, 270 PERSONS ARE CHARGED AND AWAITING TRIAL. THE DECREE 50 SYSTEM DOES NOT SAFEGUARD AGAINST ARBITRARY ARREST, BUT IT DOES PRECLUDE PROLONGED ARBITRARY DETENTION IN "POLITICAL" CASES AND PROVIDES A THEORETICAL FRAMEWORK FOR REASONABLE DUE PROCESS.

38. IN COMMON CRIMINAL CASES, BAIL IS AVAILABLE UNTIL SENTENCING PROVIDED THE OFFENSE INVOLVED IS NOT PUNISHABLE BY MORE THAN THREE YEARS' IMPRISONMENT. AFTER ARREST, THE POLICE MAY DETAIN A PERSON FOR UP TO 72 HOURS BEFORE BRINGING THE CASE BEFORE AN INVESTIGATING MAGISTRATE FOR DISMISSAL OR PROVISIONAL DETENTION PENDING CRIMINAL INVESTIGATION. IN THEORY, THE INVESTIGATIONAL PHASE MAY NOT LAST MORE THAN 87 DAYS, AFTER WHICH THE TRIAL STAGE MUST BEGIN OR CHARGES BE DISMISSED. LEGAL DETENTION MAY, HOWEVER, BE

CRIMINAL JUSTICE. ITS OBJECTIVE IS TO REVISE THE PENAL CODE SO THAT IT IS CONSISTENT WITH THE NEW CONSTITUTION AND WILL THUS EXAMINE EXISTING LEGISLATION GOVERNING ARREST AND DETENTION PROCEDURES AND PROPOSE THEIR MODIFICATION. THE COMMISSION IS MADE UP OF DISTINGUISHED MEMBERS OF THE BAR AND PROFESSORS OF LAW, ALL OF WHOM HAVE A BROAD COMPREHENSION OF BOTH LATIN AMERICAN JURISPRUDENCE AND OTHER SYSTEMS OF LAW, SUCH AS THAT OF THE UNITED STATES. FUNDING FOR THIS PROCESS IS BEING PROVIDED BY THE U.S. GOVERNMENT: $ 3.5 MILLION HAS BEEN ALLOCATED FOR FY 1984.

40. IN THE PAST, CLANDESTINE JAILS WERE KNOWN TO EXIST, BUT IN 1984 THE SECURITY FORCES CLAIM THEY HAVE BEEN TOTALLY ELIMINATED. THERE IS LITTLE EVIDENCE TO THE CONTRARY. REPORTS OF TEMPORARY DETENTION AT UNKNOWN LOCATIONS ARE EXTREMELY RARE BUT STILL OCCUR. MOST ARRESTS ARE MADE BY THE NATIONAL POLICE WHICH HOLDS PRISONERS IN GROUP CELLS BEFORE THEY ARE EITHER RELEASED BY THE INVESTIGATING MAGISTRATE OR TRANSFERRED TO REGULAR PRISON PENDING INVESTIGATION OF THE ACCUSATIONS AGAINST THEM.

41. CONDITIONS IN THE PENAL CENTERS ARE GENERALLY GOOD. VISITORS CONFIRM THAT THESE FACILITIES ARE CLEAN AND WELL-RUN AND PROVIDE THE BASIC NECESSITIES. THERE HAVE BEEN NO RECENT COMPLAINTS OF ILL-TREATMENT BY PRISONERS ONCE THEY ARE CONFINED WITHIN THESE PRISONS. THE NATIONAL POLICE ALLOW REPRESENTATIVES FROM THE ICRC UNIMPEDED ACCESS TO THEIR DETENTION FACILITIES.

DENIAL OF FAIR PUBLIC TRIAL

43. TRIALS OF COMMON OR POLITICAL CRIMINALS IN EL SALVADOR ARE NEITHER DENIED NOR UNFAIRLY CONDUCTED AS MATTERS OF GOVERNMENT POLICY, BUT THE INEFFICIENCY OF THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM OFTEN PREVENTS SPEEDY TRIAL.

44. INCARCERATED PERSONS NORMALLY WAIT FROM 6 TO 18

MONTHS BEFORE COMING TO TRIAL WHILE THEIR CASES REMAIN OPEN, THEORETICALLY UNDER INSTRUCTIONAL INVESTIGATION. IN FACT, OF A PRISON POPULATION THAT FLUCTUATES BETWEEN 3,500 AND 4,000 INMATES, ONLY 10 TO 15 PERCENT ARE ACTUALLY SERVING SENTENCES AS OPPOSED TO AWAITING TRIAL. WHEN FINALLY TRIED, HOWEVER, MOST CAN EXPECT TO HAVE CHARGES DISMISSED AT THE TRIAL STAGE OR TO BE ACQUITTED, VERY OFTEN DUE SIMPLY TO THE POOR INVESTIGATIVE CAPACITY OF THE POLICE AND MAGISTRATE.

45. AT THIS TIME, THERE IS ONLY ONE PERSON ACTUALLY SERVING A SENTENCE FOR A STATE OF EMERGENCY CRIME, A COSTA RICAN PILOT CONVICTED OF RUNNING GUNS FOR THE FDR-FMLN. SOME 40 - 50 OTHER PERSONS HAVE BEEN CONVICTED OF CRIMES UNDER DECREE 507/50 PROVISIONS. THESE PERSONS ARE NORMALLY ACCUSED OF MULTIPLE OFFENSES, USUALLY SABOTAGE OR ABETTING GUERRILLA ACTIVITIES AS WELL AS MEMBERSHIP IN A SUBVERSIVE (FDR-FMLN) ORGANIZATION. IN PRACTICE, THE INSTRUCTIONAL PHASE NORMALLY FAILS TO MEET THE REQUIREMENTS FOR PROOF FOR CONVICTION OF THE GREATER OFFENSES, SUCH AS SABOTAGE. THUS, DECREE 507/50 CONVICTIONS HAVE BEEN LIMITED TO MEMBERSHIP IN A SUBVERSIVE ORGANIZATION, PUNISHABLE BY IMPRISONMENT FOR NOT MORE THAN ONE YEAR. SINCE TIME

SERVED IN PRE-TRIAL DETENTION IS SUBTRACTED FROM THE SENTENCE IMPOSED, THE EFFECT THUS FAR HAS BEEN THE DISMISSAL OF ALL DEFENDANTS.

46. OVER THE PAST TEN YEARS, THE OVERALL CONVICTION RATE HAS NEVER EXCEEDED 20 PERCENT, AND IN 1983 IT WAS ONLY 14 PERCENT. A FEW PRISONERS WAIT FAR LONGER THAN NORMAL TO COME TO TRIAL. THESE ARE USUALLY SENSATIONAL OR SENSITIVE CASES WHICH REMAIN UNDER MORE OR LESS ACTIVE INVESTIGATION IN AN EFFORT TO PRODUCE EVIDENCE FOR CONVICTION. A GOOD EXAMPLE IS THE CASE OF EX-MAJOR ROEDER, A NOTORIOUS KIDNAPPER AND EXTORTIONIST WHO SPENT TWO YEARS IN DETENTION AWAITING TRIAL. WHEN TRIED, HOWEVER (AND TO WIDESPREAD OUTRAGE) HE WAS AQUITTED AMID SUSPICION THAT HE HAD BOUGHT OR INTIMIDATED THE JURY. ANOTHER EXAMPLE IS THE CASE OF THE STECEL WORKERS, FREED IN OCTOBER 1984 AFTER FOUR YEARS OF DETENTION PROLONGED IN PART BECAUSE OF PROBLEMS IN OBTAINING ADEQUATE LEGAL CONVICTION WAS UNLIKELY.

47. AN EFFORT TO GRAPPLE WITH INTIMIDATION THROUGH THE JUDICIAL PROTECTION UNIT IS UNDER STUDY BY THE MINISTRY OF JUSTICE. IT IS INTENDED TO PROVIDE PROTECTION TO JURIES AND OFFICERS OF THE COURTS IN THOSE HARD OR SENSITIVE CASES IN WHICH INTIMIDATION COULD BE EXPECTED TO COME INTO PLAY. ALTHOUGH NOT YET OFFICIALLY CONSTITUTED, THE MINISTRY OF JUSTICE HAS COMPLETED THE PREPARATION OF REGULATIONS THAT WILL GOVERN ITS ACTIVITY AND THE UNIT SHOULD BE ACTIVATED IN THE NEAR FUTURE. RECRUITED FROM THE MOJ'S PRISON GUARDS CORPS, ITS NUCLEUS OF 60 AGENTS HAS RECEIVED US TRAINING AT GLYNCOE, GEORGIA, AND MUCH OF ITS EQUIPMENT (RADIOS, VEHICLES, UNIFORMS, ETC.) HAS ALREADY BEEN PURCHASED. THE JUDICIAL PROTECTION UNIT HAD ITS TRIAL RUN WHEN IT WAS TEMPORARILY ACTIVATED TO PROVIDE PROTECTION IN THE TRIAL OF THE MURDERERS OF THE US CHURCHWOMEN, WHICH IT DID EFFECTIVELY.

48. ONE CRUCIAL COMPONENT OF THE WORK OF THE REVISORY COMMISSION FOR JUDICIAL REFORM IS THE STUDY OF TRIAL PROCEDURES, INCLUDING RULES OF EVIDENCE. IT WILL LOOK HARD AT SUCH ELEMENTS AS THE EXTRA-JUDICIAL CONFESSION. MANY MEMBERS OF THE SALVADORAN BAR CONSIDER IT INHERENTLY UNRELIABLE, AND FAVOR OUTRIGHT ELIMINATION OF CONFESSIONS AS EVIDENCE OR AT LEAST STRICT MEASURES TO ENSURE THE VALIDITY OF CONFESSIONS.

50. THE JUDICIARY IS INDEPENDENT IN THEORY AND, FOR THE GREATEST PART, IN PRACTICE. HOWEVER, SUPREME COURT

MAGISTRATES AND THE ATTORNEY GENERAL ARE CHOSEN BY VOTE IN THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY AFTER THEIR CANDIDACIES ARE PRESENTED BY THE POLITICAL PARTIES. THE NOMINATIONS THUS TAKE ON A HIGH POLITICAL COLORATION. THIS HAS LITTLE PRACTICAL EFFECT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE AS A WHOLE, BUT DOES COME INTO PLAY AT THE FINAL APPELLATE LEVEL. A GREATER THREAT TO LACK OF JUDICIAL INDEPENDENCE HAS HISTORICALLY BEEN THE ROLE OF THE MILITARY. ALTHOUGH IT MAKES NO EFFORT TO COERCE CONVICTIONS IN EITHER CRIMINAL CASES (I.E. ROEDER) OR STATE OF EMERGENCY CASES (LIKE STECEL), THE ARMED FORCES

HAVE YET TO EMBRACE FULLY THE PRINCIPLE THAT THEY ARE EQUAL TO OTHER CITIZENS BEFORE THE LAW. MAGISTRATES ARE RELUCTANT TO TAKE ON THE RESPONSIBILITY OF BRINGING CHARGES AGAINST MILITARY OFFICERS OR THE POLICE FORCES, THE MEMBERS OF WHICH CANNOT BE RELIED UPON TO TESTIFY OR TO OTHERWISE COOPERATE IN PROSECUTING CRIMES ALLEGEDLY COMMITTED BY BROTHER OFFICERS.

51. THE GOVERNMENT OF EL SALVADOR DOES NOT INTERFERE IN PERSONAL LIFE EXCEPT IN MATTERS IT CONSIDERS RELATED TO THE ARMED CONFLICT. BOTH GOVERNMENT AND GUERRILLAS USE NETWORKS OF INFORMERS. PHONE NUMBERS FOR MAKING DENUNCIATIONS TO THE ARMED FORCES HAVE BEEN PUBLICIZED (ALTHOUGH LITTLE USED) AND SECURITY FORCES RELY ON INFORMERS AND ANONYMOUS DENUNCIATIONS ABOUT ALLEGED CRIMINAL AND SUBVERSIVE ACTIVITIES. ON THE OTHER HAND, THERE IS NO PUBLIC CAMPAIGN TO ENCOURAGE THE PUBLIC TO ACT AS INFORMANTS.

62. SALVADORAN UNIONS ARE FREE AND INDEPENDENT FROM GOVERNMENT CONTROL. THERE IS NO GOVERNMENT-SPONSORED LABOR FEDERATION. THE POPULAR DEMOCRATIC UNITY (UPD), A LOOSE ASSOCIATION OF CAMPESINO ORGANIZATIONS AND LABOR UNIONS (INCLUDING EL SALVADOR'S LARGEST, SUTC), JOINED THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC PARTY (PDC) IN AN ELECTORAL AGREEMENT DURING THE 1984 PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS. THIS AGREEMENT, KNOWN IN EL SALVADOR AS THE "SOCIAL PACT," INCLUDED A PROMISE BY THE PDC TO NAME UPD CAMPESINO LEADERS TO TOP POSITIONS IN ALL OF THE LAND REFORM INSTITUTIONS. THUS FAR, HOWEVER, THE UPD'S PRESENCE IN THE DUARTE GOVERNMENT DOES NOT SEEM TO HAVE COMPROMISED THE INDEPENDENCE OF THE UPD MEMBER ORGANIZATIONS. RATHER, IT HAS ALLOWED THOSE MOST AFFECTED BY THE AGRARIAN REFORM TO EXERCISE DIRECT CONTROL OVER AGRARIAN REFORM INSTITUTIONS. THIS IS PROBABLY A UNIQUE PRECEDENT FOR CENTRAL AMERICA.

63. THE SALVADORAN LABOR CODE IS BEING AMENDED TO REFLECT CHANGES PERTAINING TO LABOR IN THE 1983 CONSTITUTION AND WILL RECOGNIZE THE RIGHT OF CAMPESINOS TO ORGANIZE IN LABOR UNIONS. THE STRUCTURE OF EL SALVADOR'S FIRST AGRARIAN WORKERS' UNION IS BEING STUDIED BY THE UPD, WHO EXPECT TO FLESH IT OUT BY THE TIME THE AMENDED CODE IS APPROVED BY THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY IN LATE 1984.

THE FOUR LARGEST LEFTIST-LED MEMBERS OF MUSYGES (FENASTRAS, THE FSR, FUSS AND FESTIAVTSCES) ALL ENJOY OFFICIAL LEGAL RECOGNITION BY THE GOVERNMENT OF EL SALVADOR.

ALTHOUGH THE GOVERNMENT DISPLAYED EVIDENCE OF THEIR PROBABLE GUILT, MOST OF THE FSR DETAINEES WERE EVENTUALLY RELEASED FROM PRISON LATER THAT YEAR. REQUESTING PERMISSION TO HOLD A MARCH OR DEMONSTRATION
CAN DEMONSTRATE THAT THEY HAVE A LEGITIMATE "PARTICULAR INTEREST" TO REPRESENT. THE MINISTRY OF THE INTERIOR ISSUES PERMITS FOR THESE MARCHES ALMOST AS A MATTER OF COURSE, ALTHOUGH IT HAS THE LEGAL PREROGATIVE TO TURN DOWN ANY SUCH REQUEST. DEMOCRATIC UNIONS, LEFTIST LABOR GROUPS AND ANTI-GOVERNMENT DEMONSTRATORS HAVE DEMONSTRATED FREELY WITH NATIONAL POLICE PROTECTION.

SECTION II - PART C

FREEDOM OF RELIGION

68. COMPLETE FREEDOM OF RELIGION IS CONSTITUTIONALLY GUARANTEED IN EL SALVADOR AND RESPECTED IN PRACTICE. ALTHOUGH HISTORICALLY CATHOLIC, EL SALVADOR HAS BECOME INCREASINGLY MULTICONFESSIONAL, CHIEFLY THROUGH THE FREELY AND WITHOUT HARRASSMENT.

69. THE CATHOLIC CHURCH CONTINUES TO BE ONE OF THE MOST INFLUENTIAL AND RESPECTED INSTITUTIONS IN THE COUNTRY. IT USES ITS INFLUENCE AMONG THE HUGE NUMBER OF PRACTICING CATHOLICS TO SPEAK OUT FORCEFULLY ON SOCIAL ISSUES, MOST NOTABLY ON HUMAN RIGHTS MATTERS, WHETHER FROM THE PULPIT OR IN ITS CHURCH PUBLICATIONS. THREATS BY THE EXTREME RIGHT AGAINST THE ARCHBISHOP AND AUXILIARY BISHOP IN 1983 HAVE NOT BEEN REPEATED.

70. OVER THE PAST YEAR, RELATIONS BETWEEN THE CHURCH AND THE SALVADORAN GOVERNMENT, INCLUDING THE MILITARY AND SECURITY FORCES HAVE BECOME CLOSER. ALTHOUGH THE CHURCH CONTINUES TO DECRY HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, IT HAS ON NUMEROUS OCCASIONS RECOGNIZED THE MAJOR IMPROVEMENTS IN THE OVERALL HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION. THE CHURCH'S PRESTIGE WAS UNDERSCORED WHEN IT WAS ASKED TO COORDINATE AND PRESIDE AT THE LA PALMA MEETING BETWEEN THE GOES AND LEADERS OF THE FDR-FMLN.

SECTION II - PART D

-FREEDOM OF MOVEMENT WITHIN THE COUNTRY, FOREIGN TRAVEL, - EMIGRATION, AND REPATRIATION

71. ALTHOUGH THE STATE OF SIEGE DECREE FORMALLY SUSPENDS THE CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHT TO FREE MOVEMENT, THIS SUSPENSION IS NOT INVOKED IN PRACTICE. THE CONTINUING ARMED CONFLICT HAS DISPLACED AN ESTIMATED 450,000 PERSONS WITHIN EL SALVADOR, PRIMARILY IN THE NORTHERN

AND EASTERN DEPARTMENTS. ANOTHER 18,000 DISPLACED SALVADORANS LIVE IN CAMPS OUTSIDE EL SALVADOR, PRIMARILY IN HONDURAS. THOUSANDS MORE ARE THOUGHT TO BE LIVING IN MEXICO ELSEWHERE IN CENTRAL AMERICA. GOVERNMENTS (INCLUDING THE SALVADORAN), INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS AND PRIVATE VOLUNTARY OGANIZATIONS ASSIST THE DISPLACED. THE GOVERNMENT HAS IMPOSED NO CONTROL ON EMIGRATION AND HAS ASSISTED AMNESTY BENEFICIARIES AND DETAINEES WHO WISH TO SETTLE ELSEWHERE AFTER RELEASE.

INTERFERENCE OR INFLUENCE OF THE ARMED FORCES, WHO ADOPTED POLITICAL NEUTRALITY, SOUGHT TO SAFEGUARD THE PROCESS AND RENOUNCED THEIR RIGHT TO VOTE IN THE ELECTION. THE MILITARY HAS EXPLICITLY RECOGNIZED THE PRESIDENT'S CONSTITUTIONAL POSITION AS COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF THE ARMED FORCES.

75. SIX PARTIES HAVE BEEN REPRESENTED IN THE LEGISLATURE SINCE THE 1982 ELECTIONS. THEY WILL RUN AGAIN IN MARCH, 1985, WHEN MAYORS WILL ALSO FOR THE FIRST TIME BE DIRECTLY ELECTED. SEVERAL TINY POLITICAL PARTIES ARE NOT REPRESENTED IN THE LEGISLATURE BUT HAVE LEGAL STATUS AND FREELY ORGANIZE AND PUBLISH. RIGHT TO MEMBERSHIP IN ANY LEGALLY RECOGNIZED PARTY IS UNRESTRICTED.

76. TWO OPPOSITION PARTIES OF THE LEFT ARE LEGALLY RECOGNIZED BUT HAVE CHOSEN NOT TO PARTICIPATE IN THE SYSTEM: THE MNR (NATIONAL REVOLUTIONARY MOVEMENT) AND THE UDN (NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC UNION, ORTHODOX COMMUNIST). BOTH ARE MEMBER PARTIES OF THE FDR-FMLN. THE CONSTITUTION NOW PERMITS THE LEGALIZATION OF ALL POLITICAL PARTIES THAT DO NOT ADVOCATE ARMED OPPOSITION, PROVIDED THEY MEET THE REQUIRED MINIMUM MEMBERSHIP STANDARDS. THE GOES AND THE VAST MAJORITY OF THE CONSTITUTIONAL OPPOSITION SUPPORT THE INTEGRATION OF THE CURRENTLY ARMED LEFTIST GROUPS INTO THE SYSTEM AS DISARMED, LEGAL POLITICAL PARTIES.

77. EIGHT PARTIES CONTESTED THE FIRST ROUND OF ELECTIONS HELD ON MARCH 25, 1984, FOLLOWING A PROLONGED AND ACTIVE PERIOD OF CAMPAIGNING. DESPITE ADMINISTRATIVE PROBLEMS AND GUERRILLA INTERFERENCE SOME 1.4 MILLION VOTES WERE CAST, REPRESENTING MORE THAN 75 PERCENT OF THE ELECTORATE OF 1.8 MILLION. AS NO PARTY OBTAINED AN ABSOLUTE MAJORITY OF THE VOTES, A SECOND ROUND BETWEEN THE TWO MOST SUCCESSFUL PARTIES, THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATS (PDC) LED BY JOSE NAPOLEON DUARTE AND THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN ALLIANCE (ARENA) OF ROBERTO D'AUBUISSON, WAS SCHEDULED FOR MAY 6, 1984. ON MAY 6, OVER 1.5 MILLION SALVADORANS, MORE THAN 80 PERCENT OF THE ELECTORATE, TURNED OUT TO VOTE AGAIN DESPITE GUERRILLA THREATS AND CALLS FOR A BOYCOTT. PROCEDURALLY, THE ELECTION WENT MORE SMOOTHLY THAN THE FIRST ROUND; JOSE NAPOLEON DUARTE, WITH 54 PERCENT OF THE POPULAR VOTE, EMERGED AS THE VICTOR.

78. THE SALVADORAN GOVERNMENT INVITED MORE THAN SIXTY NATIONS AND INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS TO OBSERVE THE MARCH 25 ELECTIONS AND VERIFY THEIR HONESTY, AND APPROXIMATELY THIRTY NATIONS RETURNED TO EL SALVADOR TO OBSERVE THE SECOND ROUND. THE U.S. SENT AN OFFICIAL DELEGATION COMPOSED OF MEMBERS OF CONGRESS, ADMINISTRATION OFFICIALS AND PROMINENT PRIVATE CITIZENS TO EACH ROUND. MOST OBSERVERS NOTED ADMINISTRATIVE PROBLEMS IN THE MARCH 25TH ROUND, BUT ALL ENDORSED THE FAIRNESS OF THE ELECTIONS.

79. IN BOTH ELECTION ROUNDS, GUERRILLAS SOUGHT TO DISRUPT THE VOTE. BEFORE THE FIRST ROUND, THEY ASSASSINATED POLITICAL LEADERS, MADE THREATS AND PROPAGANDIZED AGAINST THE ELECTION. DURING THE FIRST ROUND, GUERRILLAS SUCCESSFULLY BLOCKED DELIVERY OF ELECTORAL MATERIALS TO SOME VOTING LOCATIONS, STOLE THOUSANDS OF IDENTITY DOCUMENTS TO PREVENT CITIZENS FROM VOTING, AND CAUSED A MAJOR POWER FAILURE ON ELECTION EVE. IN SOME CASES, ELECTORAL MATERIALS HAD TO BE DELIVERED IN THE DARK, RESULTING IN MISSING REGISTRY PAGES AND OTHER PROBLEMS. GUERRILLA ACTIONS PREVENTED VOTING IN 58 OF EL SALVADOR'S 261 MUNICIPALITIES, BUT MOST WERE VERY SMALL OR PARTIALLY ABANDONED. OVERALL, THE GUERRILLA EFFORT HAD LITTLE EFFECT ON THE TURNOUT.

80. DURING THE SECOND ROUND, THE GUERRILLAS SET OFF BOMBS IN SAN SALVADOR, AGAIN STOLE IDENTITY DOCUMENTS AND LAUNCHED AN ATTACK ON SAN MIGUEL, THE COUNTRY'S THIRD LARGEST CITY. THE SALVADORAN ARMY THWARTED THE ATTACK AND VOTING PROCEEDED NORMALLY IN MOST OF THE COUNTRY. IN THE SECOND ROUND, 46 SMALL MUNICIPALITIES WERE UNABLE TO VOTE BECAUSE OF GUERRILLA ACTIVITY.

81. THERE WERE A FEW CHARGES OF POLITICAL FAVORITISM BY LOCAL MILITARY COMMANDERS. HOWEVER, MOST PROVED FALSE AND THE MILITARY IN FACT LIVED UP TO ITS PROMISE OF NON-INTERFERENCE AND NEUTRALITY WITH ONLY NEGLIGIBLE EXCEPTIONS. EXTENSIVE OFFENSIVE OPERATIONS TO PREVENT A MAJOR GUERRILLA DISRUPTION WERE CONDUCTED DURING BOTH EXACTED A TOLL OF OVER 100 DEATHS OF MILITARY PERSONNEL.

82. PARTICIPATION IN THE POLITICAL SYSTEM IS NOT SUBJECT TO STANDARDS OF CLASS, RELIGION, ETHNIC BACKGROUND OR SEX. THE MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATURE AND THE MEMBERSHIPS OF THE PARTIES REPRESENT A FULLY HETEROGENEOUS MIXTURE OF SALVADORAN SOCIETY. THE PRESIDENT OF THE ASSEMBLY IS A WOMAN AND MEMBER OF A SMALL PARTY IN OPPOSITION TO THE GOES.

83. THE GOVERNMENT FACES CLEAR CUT POLITICAL OPPOSITION FROM THE PARTIES WHO LOST IN THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION. AT PRESENT, THESE PARTIES CONSTITUTE A MAJORITY WITHIN THE LEGISLATURE. NO COALITION HAS EMERGED TO DOMINATE THE POLITICAL PROCESS FROM EITHER SIDE; MANY KEY VOTES NOW SEE AD HOC MAJORITIES DEVELOP FOR OR AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT.

- INVESTIGATION OF ALLEGED VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS

84. THE NEW SALVADORAN GOVERNMENT OF PRESIDENT JOSE NAPOLEON DUARTE HAS BEEN VERY FORTHCOMING WITH VISITING HUMAN RIGHTS MISSIONS, PROVIDING INFORMATION, MAKING ITS OFFICIALS AVAILABLE FOR DISCUSSION, AND PERMITTING THE INSPECTION OF DETENTION CENTERS.

85. HUMAN RIGHTS DELEGATIONS WHO VISITED IN 1984 INCLUDE THE LAWYERS' COMMITTEE ON HUMAN RIGHTS, FACULTY COMMITTEE ON HUMAN RIGHTS IN EL SALVADOR AND CENTRAL AMERICA, LUTHERAN CHURCH DELEGATIONS, THE UNITED NATIONS SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR ON HUMAN RIGHTS, AMERICAS' WATCH, MEDICAL AID FOR EL SALVADOR, AND THE UNITARIAN UNIVERSALIST SERVICE COMMITTEE. NUMEROUS US CONGRESSIONAL AND STAFF DELEGATIONS HAVE ALSO LOOKED CLOSELY INTO HUMAN RIGHTS MATTERS.

86. PRISONERS ARE INTERVIEWED ON A SYSTEMATIC BASIS BY REPRESENTATIVES OF THE ICRC AND THE OFFICIAL GOVERNMENTAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION. BOTH ORGANIZATIONS ARE NOTIFIED OF ARRESTS OF POLITICAL DETAINEES. THE UNITED NATIONS SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR FOR HUMAN RIGHTS VISITED EL SALVADOR IN SEPTEMBER ON A FACT-FINDING TOUR IN PREPARATION FOR HIS ANNUAL REPORT. AS IN PREVIOUS YEARS, HE HAD ACCESS TO HIGH LEVEL SALVADORAN OFFICIALS, INCLUDING PRESIDENT DUARTE AND RANKING MEMBERS OF THE MILITARY AND SECURITY FORCES. HE HAD FREE EXCHANGES WITH LOCAL HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS, VISITED MARIONA AND ILOPANGO PRISONS AND WAS PERMITTED TO INTERVIEW DETAINEES.

87. VARIOUS OTHER GROUPS HAVE HAVE ALSO VISITED, BEEN GRANTED INTERVIEWS WITH GOES OFFICIALS, AND ALLOWED ENTRY INTO THE PRISONS. ONE NOTABLE CASE WAS AN UNOFFICIAL HUMAN RIGHTS GROUP FROM SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA WHICH DEMANDED THE RIGHT TO INSPECT THE PRISONS AND TO BE ALLOWED A SPUR-OF-THE-MOMENT AND UNANNOUNCED INSPECTION OF "SECRET BASEMENT CELLS" IN THE NATIONAL POLICE HEADQUARTERS JAIL. THE NATIONAL POLICE DIRECTOR INSTRUCTED THE JAIL STAFF ON THE SPOT TO UNLOCK AND OPEN

ALL DOORS FOR THE GROUP SO THAT THEY COULD INSPECT ANY AREA THEY WISHED FROM THE BASEMENT TO THE TOP FLOOR OF THE JAIL. THEY WERE ALSO ALLOWED TO WANDER THROUGH THE JAIL INTERVIEWING PRISONERS WITHOUT POLICE ESCORT.

88. SEVERAL GROUPS HAVE PRODUCED REPORTS ON THE FINDINGS OF THEIR VISIT. A REPORT WAS PUBLISHED APRIL 1984 BY THE LAWYERS COMMITTEE FOR INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS WAS ENTITLED "EL SALVADOR'S OTHER VICTIMS: THE WAR ON THE DISPLACED". THIS REPORT ASSERTED THAT FORCING PERSONS TO LEAVE THEIR HOMES SHOULD ALSO BE CONSIDERED A HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, AND NOT JUST POLITICAL KILLINGS. IT ACCUSED THE THEN GOVERNMENT OF PRESIDENT MAGANA OF INDISCRIMINATE BOMBING ATTACKS AND HARASSMENT DIRECTED AGAINST DISPLACED PERSONS. IT CITED ALLEGED CASES OF ARREST AND TORTURE OF RELIEF WORKERS AND DEPLORED THE ALLEGED KILLING OF CIVILIAN NONCOMBATANTS.

89. ANOTHER REPORT FROM AMERICAS WATCH ENTITLED "PROTECTION OF THE WEAK AND UNARMED: THE DISPUTE OVER COUNTING HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS IN EL SALVADOR" WAS CRITICAL OF THE US EMBASSY METHODOLOGY OF COLLECTING DATA FROM PRESS REPORTS AND SUPPORTED TUTELA LEGAL'S

VIOLENCE STATISTICS. ON THE ISSUE OF INJURY TO GUERRILLA "MASAS", THE REPORT STATED THAT DEATHS OF CIVILIAN NONCOMBATANTS WHO ARE KILLED WHILE DIRECTLY PARTICIPATING IN HOSTILITIES, AND CIVILIAN NONCOMBATANTS WHO, BECAUSE OF THEIR INTERMINGLING WITH INSURGENT FORCES OR PRESENCE AT OTHER LEGITIMATE MILITARY OBJECTIVES ARE KILLED DURING MILITARY ATTACKS ON SUCH OBJECTIVES, SHOULD BE CLASSIFIED AS COMBAT RELATED CASUALTIES. HOWEVER, IT MAINTAINED THAT IN MOST CASES CIVILIAN CASUALITIES WERE THE RESULT OF INDISCRIMINATE OR GRATUITOUS ARMED FORCES VIOLENCE.

90. THE AMERICAS WATCH PRELIMINARY REPORT ON THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN EL SALVADOR DURING THE FIRST SIX MONTHS OF 1984 PUBLISHED JULY 19, 1984 STATES THAT ALTHOUGH THERE HAVE BEEN SIGNIFICANT REDUCTIONS IN CERTAIN KINDS OF MAJOR ABUSES SUCH AS DEATH SQUAD KILLINGS AND DISAPPEARANCES, A MODEST DECLINE IN THE

NUMBER OF POLITICAL PRISONERS, AND IN THE USE OF TORTURE -- ALL DUE TO ADMINISTRATIVE CHANGES BY THE GOVERNMENT.

THERE REMAINS NO SIGNIFICANT REDUCTION IN INDISCRIMINATE ATTACKS UPON CIVILIAN NONCOMBATANTS. AMERICAS WATCH ATTRIBUTES THE REDUCTIONS IN DEATH SQUAD KILLINGS AND DISAPPEARANCES TO PRESSURE EXERTED BY THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT, ESPECIALLY DURING VICE-PRESIDENT BUSH'S DECEMBER 1983 VISIT TO EL SALVADOR.

91. AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL ISSUED A REPORT IN MAY 1984 ON EXTRAJUDICIAL EXECUTIONS IN EL SALVADOR BASED ON A VISIT TO EL SALVADOR BY THAT ORGANIZATION IN JULY 1983. THE REPORT, BASED ON 1983 EVIDENCE, FOUND THAT THE HISTORICAL INCIDENCE OF SUCH EXECUTIONS AT THAT TIME WAS MASSIVE. IT ALSO FOUND THE SALVADORAN PROCEDURES OF RECORDING AND INVESTIGATING VIOLENT DEATHS IN 1983 WAS DEFECTIVE AND URGED THAT SALVADORAN AUTHORITIES ENSURE THAT FORENSIC EVIDENCE BE SYSTEMATICALLY COLLECTED.

92. WITHIN EL SALVADOR, THERE ARE SEVERAL NONGOVERNMENTAL HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS: THE ARCHDIOCESE'S OFICINA DE TUTELA LEGAL (THE LEGAL PROTECTION OFFICE); SOCORRO JURIDICO CRISTIANO (CHRISTIAN LEGAL AID); THE EL SALVADOR HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION; AND OTHERS. THESE ORGANIZATIONS COLLECT AND PUBLISH HUMAN RIGHTS STATISTICS FROM PRESS REPORTS AND STATEMENTS MADE BY VICTIMS FAMILIES. TUTELA LEGAL STATISTICS ARE QUOTED WEEKLY BY THE ARCHBISHOP IN HIS HOMILY. THE COMMITTEE OF MOTHERS USES PAID ADVERTISEMENTS IN THE PRESS TO EXPRESS THEIR CONCERNS, AND REGULARLY STAGES DEMONSTRATIONS AT THE CATHEDRAL, SUPREME COURT, U.S. EMBASSY AND OTHER LOCALES TO PROMOTE THEIR POLITICAL VIEWS.

93. THE OFFICAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION WAS ESTABLISHED BY THE MAGANA GOVERNMENT TO REPRESENT INDIVIDUAL CITIZENS' INTERESTS BEFORE THE SECURITY FORCES AND JUSTICE SYSTEM. THE COMMISSION HAS EXCELLENT RELATIONS WITH THE DUARTE GOVERNMENT AND THE MILITARY SECURITY SERVICES. ALTHOUGH IT CONTINUES TO SUFFER FROM INSUFFICIENT PERSONNEL AND FINANCIAL RESOURCES, IT IS BECOMING AN INCREASINGLY EFFECTIVE AND CREDIBLE ORGANIZATION.

94. DURING THE FIRST SIX MONTHS OF 1984, THE COMMISSION DEALT WITH 1,535 CASES, INCLUDING COMPLAINTS AND INQUIRIES ABOUT DISAPPEARANCES, REASONS FOR ARRESTS, INTERVIEWS WITH DETAINEES, ETC. THE COMMISSION FOUND THAT 594 PERSONS ALLEGED TO BE "MISSING" WERE ACTUALLY UNDER ARREST IN THE INSTRUCTIONAL OR TRIAL PHASE OF THEIR CASES; 142 PERSONS THOUGHT TO BE UNDER ARREST HAD ALREADY BEEN FREED; 52 CASES WERE PROVIDED URGENT FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE WHILE UNDER DETENTION; 24 PERSONS ALLEGED TO BE "MISSING" WERE ACTUALLY CASES OF FOR-FMLN ABDUCTIONS; IN ONLY 2 CASES, PERSONS REPORTED AS MISSING WERE FOUND DEAD.

96. NEVERTHELESS, MANY YEARS OF NEGLECT OF THE COUNTRY'S RAPIDLY GROWING POOR POPULATION, PROFOUND SOCIAL INEQUITIES, AND AN INABILITY OF THE COUNTRY'S PUBLIC AND PRIVATE INSTITUTIONS TO ADDRESS STRUCTURAL DISPARITIES PRODUCED INCREASING POLITICAL VIOLENCE AND TERRORISM DURING THE 1970S. DESPITE A MILITARY COUP IN 1979, WHICH BROUGHT TO POWER A GOVERNMENT THAT IMPLEMENTED A SERIES OF SWEEPING ECONOMIC REFORMS, POLITICAL VIOLENCE INCREASED. THE VIOLENCE, IN TURN, CONTRIBUTED TO FURTHER DECLINES IN LIVING CONDITIONS FOR THE MAJORITY OF SALVADORANS. THOUSANDS WERE DRIVEN FROM THEIR HOMES AND THOSE WHO REMAINED SUFFERED FROM A DECREASE IN PUBLIC SERVICES DUE TO THE VIOLENCE AND THE GOVERNMENT'S FINANCIAL SHORTFALLS.

97. EXACERBATING ECONOMIC PROBLEMS BROUGHT ON BY

INTERNAL VIOLENCE WERE EXTERNAL FACTORS SUCH AS THE WORLD RECESSION, DECLINING PRICES FOR THE COUNTRY'S MAIN EXPORTS, AND SHARPLY REDUCED DEMAND FROM EL SALVADOR'S TRADING PARTNERS IN THE CACM. THE COMBINED RESULTS PRODUCED AN ECONOMIC CRISIS. BETWEEN 1979 AND 1983, THE COUNTRY EXPERIENCED A 25 PERCENT REDUCTION IN REAL GDP, A 33 PERCENT DECLINE IN EXPORTS, A SUBSTANTIAL INCREASE IN UNEMPLOYMENT, LARGE-SCALE CAPITAL FLIGHTS, AND A 75 PERCENT REDUCTION IN PRIVATE INVESTMENT. ONLY IN 1983 WAS THIS DECLINE HALTED. THE TECHNOLOGICALLY UNIMPROVED SUBSISTENCE AGRICULTURAL SECTOR, AFFECTED BY THE HIGH LEVELS OF VIOLENCE IN CERTAIN PARTS OF THE COUNTRY, RECENTLY HAS BEEN UNABLE TO PRODUCE ALL OF THE BASIC FOODSTUFFS REQUIRED BY THE POPULATION. AS A RESULT, THERE IS A GROWING DEPENDENCE ON IMPORTS. A 2.8 PERCENT ANNUAL RATE OF POPULATION GROWTH COMBINED WITH THE HIGHEST POPULATION DENSITY IN THE WESTERN HEMISPHERE (589 PEOPLE PER SQUARE MILE IN 1983) ALSO LIMITS ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITY FOR A LARGE PART OF THE POPULATION. THE ADULT LITERACY RATE IS ABOUT 62 PERCENT, AND ABOUT 83 PERCENT OF THE PRIMARY SCHOOL-AGE POPULATION IS ENROLLED IN SCHOOL. IN 1984, THERE ARE 69 INFANT DEATHS PER 1000 LIVE BIRTHS. LIFE EXPECTANCY IS 64.5 YEARS. THE PER CAPITA CALORIE INTAKE IS ABOUT 89 PERCENT OF NUTRITIONAL REQUIREMENTS. THOUGH MOST OF THESE CONDITIONS LIMITED ACCESS TO EDUCATION, HEALTH SERVICES, IMPROVED SHELTER, AND A HIGHLY SKEWED DISTRIBUTION OF INCOME AND WEALTH AFFECT DRAMATICALLY THE NATURE OF EL SALVADOR'S DEVELOPMENT.

THE MAJORITY OF ELEMENTARY TEACHERS, NURSES, AND SECRETARIES ARE WOMEN, AS WELL AS APPROXIMATELY FIFTY PERCENT OF THE TEACHERS ON THE HIGH SCHOOL LEVEL AND BETWEEN 30 TO 40 PERCENT OF THE UNIVERSITY PROFESSORS, AND SEVERAL DEANS.

102. WOMEN ALSO PLAY A ROLE IN PRIVATE INDUSTRY, ESPECIALLY AS OWNERS OF SMALL CONCERNS. THERE ARE WOMEN SERVING AT HIGHER LEVELS, AND SEVERAL MAJOR COMPANIES ARE OWNED AND OPERATED BY WOMEN. WOMEN ARE WELL REPRESENTED IN THE PROFESSIONS. APPROXIMATELY 30 PERCENT OF THE PHYSICIANS, 50 PERCENT OF THE DENTISTS AND MORE THAN 30 PERCENT OF THE ATTORNEYS ARE WOMEN. WOMEN ARE MEMBERS OF THE ARMED FORCES AS NURSES, IN ADMINISTRATIVE AREAS, AND IN INTELLIGENCE. SOME WOMEN HAVE BEEN TRAINED FOR COMBAT, BUT NO DECISION HAS BEEN REACHED AS TO WHETHER THEY WILL BE USED IN THAT ROLE. THE NATIONAL POLICE IS TRAINING WOMEN AS DETECTIVES AND HAS A CORPS OF POLICEWOMEN.

103. A HIGH PROPORTION OF WOMAN IN THE LOWER ECONOMIC STRATA ARE HEADS OF SINGLE FAMILY HOUSEHOLDS, OFTEN FENDING FOR LARGE FAMILIES. SEVENTY PERCENT OF THE CHILDREN IN EL SALVADOR ARE BORN OUT OF WEDLOCK AND MOST ARE NOT LEGALLY RECOGNIZED BY THEIR FATHERS EVEN WHEN OCCUPYING THE SAME DOMICILE.

A) FREEDOM OF SPEECH AND PRESS

54. STATE OF SEIGE DECREES SUSPEND THE CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS OF FREEDOM OF SPEECH AND PRESS, BUT IN DAY-TO-DAY LIFE ARE SELDOM INVOKED. SELF CENSORSHIP, OUT OF FEAR OF VIOLENT REPRISAL, BOTH IN THE MEDIA AS WELL AS INDIVIDUAL, IS THE LEADING CONSTRAINT ON FREE EXPRESSION IN EL SALVADOR. FEAR OF REPRISAL IS ALSO THE REASON FOR PUBLICATION OF STATEMENTS BY THE EXTREME LEFT AND RIGHT.

55. THE TWO LEADING NEWSPAPERS IN THE CAPITAL ARE CONSERVATIVE, AND CRITICISM OF THE GOVERNMENT FROM A RIGHTIST PERSPECTIVE IS VIGOROUS AND FREQUENT. THE PAPERS FREQUENTLY RUN INTERNATIONAL WIRE SERVICE ACCOUNTS OF CONTROVERSIAL LOCAL EVENTS RATHER THAN RELY ON THEIR OWN REPORTERS, THUS PUTTING SOME DISTANCE BETWEEN THEMSELVES AND ANY HEAT WHICH MIGHT BE GENERATED. IN FACT, THIS PRACTICE RESULTS IN MORE BALANCED NEWS COVERAGE THAN WOULD OTHERWISE BE THE CASE.

56. RADIO STATIONS ARE MUCH MORE VIGOROUS IN THEIR PURSUIT OF NEWS, RUNNING A WIDER VARIETY OF STORIES THAN THE NEWSPAPERS. RADIO NOT ONLY HAS THE BEST QUALITY NEWS, IT HAS THE BROADEST REACH IN SALVADORAN SOCIETY. TELEVISION DEVOTES LITTLE TIME TO NEWS, BUT ITS INDEPENDENCE AND QUALITY FALL SOMEWHERE BETWEEN THE NEWSPAPERS AND RADIO STATIONS.

57. THE GOVERNMENT HAS RECENTLY BEGUN TO TRY TO ENFORCE AGAIN A FIVE-YEAR-OLD DECREE FORBIDDING THE PUBLICATION OF ANONYMOUS COMMUNIQUES AND STATEMENTS. THIS WAS PROVOKED BY AN ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SECRET ANTI-COMMUNIST ARMY DECLARING WAR ON THE LA PALMA DIALOGUE PROCESS. ADDITIONALLY, THE GOVERNMENT HAS WITHHELD ADVERTISEMENTS BY GOVERNMENT AGENCIES FROM ONE ULTRA-CONSERVATIVE PAPER BECAUSE OF ITS EXTREMELY ANTI-GOVERNMENT EDITORIAL POSITIONS.

58. THE PUBLICATIONS OF THE JESUIT-RUN CENTRAL AMERICAN UNIVERSITY CONTINUE TO ATTACK THE GOVERNMENT FROM A LEFTIST PERSPECTIVE. THEIR BI-WEEKLY NEWSPAPER AND BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL, AS WELL AS OTHER OCCASIONAL

PUBLICATIONS, HAVE MADE NO SECRET OF THEIR PHILOSOPHICAL SUPPORT FOR THE POLITICAL LEADERS OF THE INSURRECTION. IN GENERAL THEIR CRITICISM FALLS SHY ONLY AT SUPPORTING THE VIOLENT OVERTHROW OF THE GOVERNMENT. THE PRESS (INCLUDING THE CONSERVATIVE PRESS) ROUTINELY ACCEPTS PAID ADS FROM LEFTIST ORGANIZATIONS EXPRESSING ANTI-GOES VIEWS.

59. ACADEMIC FREEDOM IS GUARANTEED BY THE CONSTITUTION, AND IS, IN PRINCIPLE, CONSIDERED TO BE MUCH MORE BROAD HERE THAN IN THE U.S. FOR EXAMPLE, IN EL SALVADOR (AS IN MANY OTHER LATIN AMERICAN COUNTRIES), UNIVERSITY AUTHORITIES ROUTINELY ASSERT THAT LOCAL POLICE HAVE NO JURISDICTION ON CAMPUS. AFTER HAVING BEEN CLOSED FOR FOUR YEARS FOLLOWING VIOLENT CLASHES BETWEEN "STUDENTS" AND THE ARMY, THE MAIN CAMPUS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF EL SALVADOR WAS RECENTLY REOPENED. THE RECTOR HAS SAID IN INTERVIEWS THAT HE CONSIDERS POLITICAL ACTIVISM TO BE THE DUTY OF EVERY STUDENT AND HAS SAID THAT STUDENTS ARE NOT FREE MERELY TO STUDY AT THE UNIVERSITY, BUT MUST ALSO MAKE A POLITICAL COMMITMENT. WE KNOW OF NO ARRESTS OR PENALTIES EXACTED ON THE BASIS OF VIOLATIONS OF LIMITS ON FREEDOM OF SPEECH AND PRESS.

CARDAMONE, Circuit Judge:

The critical question posed on this appeal is whether the assets of a foreign state's wholly owned airline are subject to execution to satisfy a default judgment obtained against the foreign state. The district court, believing that Congress under the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act of 1976, 28 U.S.C. §§ 1602-11 (1982) (FSIA or the Act), would not have established a right to jurisdiction over the foreign state without also providing a remedy, ordered execution. We reverse although we recognize that our decision may preclude the plaintiffs from collecting on their judgment. How one wishes to decide a case comes lightly to mind, on a wing; but often how one must decide it comes arduously, weighed down by somber thought. To rule otherwise here would only illustrate once again that hard cases make bad law.

FACTS

Orlando Letelier, the former Chilean Ambassador to the United States, his aide, Michael Moffitt, and Moffitt's wife, Ronni, were riding to work in Washington, D.C. in September, 1976 when an explosive device planted under the driver's seat in their car was detonated killing both Letelier and Ronni Moffitt and seriously injuring Michael Moffitt. That assassination gives rise to the present appeal.

Investigation by agencies of the United States government into these murders revealed the identity of nine assassins and their alleged connection to the government of Chile. Of the nine only Michael Vernon Townley, an American citizen working for Chilean intelligence, was convicted of a criminal offense. Three of those indicted were members of the Cuban Nationalist Movement who, although found guilty in the trial court, had their convictions reversed on appeal. See United States v. Sampol, 636 F.2d 621, 684 (D.C. Cir. 1980). Of the other five individuals indicted, none were brought to trial: three were Chilean nationals that Chile refused to extradite, and two remain at large.

In August 1978 the personal representatives of Letelier and Moffit instituted a civil tort action in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia against the indicted individuals and the Republic of Chile. The complaint asserted five causes of action: (1) a conspiracy to deprive Letelier and Moffitt of their civil rights under 42 U.S.C. § 1985; (2) assault and battery; (3) reckless transportation and detonation of explosives; (4) violation of the "law of nations" (international law); and (5) murder of an internationally protected person under 18 U.S.C. § 1116. The complaint alleged that the noncommercial tort exception of § 1605(a)(5) of the FSIA applied and that Chile was not entitled to sovereign immunity in the tort action.

All defendants defaulted, although Chile sent two Diplomatic Notes to the United States Department of State asserting its sovereign immunity and that the allegations against it were false. The State Department forwarded these Notes to the clerk of the district court. In August 1978 the trial court granted default judgments against the individual defendants. During 1979 and 1980 the district court heard plaintiffs' motion for a default judgment against Chile, see Letelier v. Republic of Chile, 488 F. Supp. 665 (D.D.C. 1980), and finally resolved that motion. See Letelier v. Republic of Chile, 502 F. Supp. 259 (D.D.C. 1980). In the former case, the court ruled that it had subject matter jurisdiction pursuant to the exception to immunity found in § 1605(a)(5) of the Act. In the latter case the trial court relying on Townley's testimony at the criminal trial, where he had pled guilty and testified for the prosecution, granted a default judgment against the Republic of Chile and awarded plaintiffs over five million dollars including interest, compensatory and punitive damages, counsel fees and out of pocket expenses. The Republic of Chile did not take an appeal from either of these judgments.

The resulting judgment against the Republic of Chile was entered in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia. Plaintiffs subsequently filed the judgment in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York, see 28 U.S.C. § 1963 (1982), for the purpose of executing on the property interests that The Republic of Chile has in the Chilean national airline, Lineas Aereas Nacional-Chile or LAN, which is located in New York, and for the appointment of Michael Moffitt as a receiver of those interests to satisfy the judgment against Chile pursuant to New York's CPLR 5228 and Fed. R. Civ. P. 69. The application for execution against LAN's assets came before District Court Judge Morris E. Lasker. LAN moved to dismiss claiming that it should not be held to answer for Chilean debts and that its assets were immune from execution. Relying upon a recent decision of the United States Supreme Court, First National City Bank v. Banco Para El Comercio Exterior de Cuba (Bancec), 103 S. Ct. 2591 (1983), which based a decision to disregard separate corporate identities on "international equitable principles," Judge Lasker first held in an opinion and order dated July 28, 1983 that, were the facts as asserted, LAN's role in the assassination was commercial activity under the Act. He further held that to adhere to LAN's separate corporate identity would, as in Bancec, violate equitable principles. Letelier v. Republic of Chile, 567 F. Supp. 1490, 1496 (S.D.N.Y. 1983).

Having concluded that LAN's assets were subject to execution to satisfy a judgment against Chile, the district court concluded that the language of § 1610(a)(2) did not limit execution only to commercial assets used for commercial purposes, as LAN claimed, but also permitted execution to satisfy tort judgments "so long as the assets on which the judgment creditor seeks to execute were also used commercially in the activity giving rise to the claim." Id. at 1499. The rationale for this reading of the statute was that a statute should not be interpreted to create a right without a remedy. The court reasoned that if jurisdictional immunity is lifted, the presumption is that there will be a right to execute. Id. at 1500 & n.7.

Plaintiffs later sought discovery against The Republic of Chile by serving it with interrogatories and requests to produce documents and admit facts. Chile refused to comply and again filed Diplomatic Notes asserting its refusal to recognize either the validity of the default judgment or the district court's jurisdiction in the supplementary proceedings for enforcement. Judge Lasker in an order dated December 20, 1983 granted plaintiff's motions for Rule 37 sanctions against LAN consisting of adverse findings of fact that provided a basis to disregard LAN's juridical separateness, and appointed Moffitt as a receiver of LAN's assets in the United States. From the rulings of July 28 and December 20, 1983 LAN has appealed and raised a number of issues.

DISCUSSION

The principal issue is whether LAN's assets may be executed upon to satisfy the judgment obtained in the District of Columbia against Chile. This discussion necessarily focuses on the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act of 1976, which is the exclusive source of subject matter jurisdiction over all suits involving foreign states or their instrumentalities. Rex v. CIA Peruana de Vapores, S.A., 660 F.2d 61, 62 (3d Cir. 1981), cert. denied, 456 U.S. 926 (1982). According to § 1604, foreign states are immune from suit in our courts unless the conduct complained of comes within the exceptions set forth in §§ 1605 to 1607 of the Act. Similarly, under § 1609 foreign states are immune from execution upon judgments obtained against them, unless an exception set forth in §§ 1610 or 1611 of the FSIA applies.

The judgment creditors claim that § 1610(a)(2) allows them to execute upon LAN's assets in this case. Section 1610(a)(2) provides:

> The property in the United States of a foreign state ... used for a commercial activity in the United States, shall not be immune from attachment in aid of execution, or from execution ... if ... the property is or was used for the commercial activity upon which the claim is based....

We consider first whether LAN's separate juridical existence may be ignored, thereby making its assets "[t]he property in the United States of a foreign state."

I Separate Juridical Existence

In Bancec the Supreme Court determined whether a claim of a foreign agency plaintiff was subject to a set-off for the debts of its parent government. Bancec deserves close scrutiny because it provides a conceptual framework for resolving plaintiffs' assertion that LAN's assets should be treated as assets of Chile and because the district court relied on it to reach that conclusion.

In Bancec, the Cuban bank of the same name brought suit against Citibank to collect on a letter of credit issued in its favor in 1960. Citibank counterclaimed arguing that it was entitled to set-off amounts as compensation due it for the Cuban government's expropriation of Citibank's assets in Cuba. We ruled that as Bancec was not the alter ego of the Cuban government, it could not be held to account for Cuban debts. The Supreme Court reversed. Relying on the Act's legislative history, the Court noted that it was not intended to effect the substantive law of liability of a foreign state or the attribution of liability among its entities and proceeded to resolve the appeal on "equitable principles." The Bancec Court recognized that "government instrumentalities established as juridical entities distinct and independent from their sovereign should normally be treated as such." 103 S. Ct. at 2600. FSIA's legislative history provided support for that conclusion:

> Section 1610(b) will not permit execution against the property of one agency or instrumentality to satisfy a judgment against another, unrelated agency or instrumentality. There are compelling reasons for this, if U.S. law did not respect the separate juridical identities of different agencies or instrumentalities, it might encourage foreign jurisdictions to disregard the juridical divisions between different U.S. corporations or between a U.S. corporation and its independent subsidiary. However, a court might find that property held by one agency is really the property of another. H.R. Rep. No. 94-1487, pp. 29-30 (citation omitted.)

The Supreme Court concluded in Bancec that the presumption of separateness had been overcome. It reasoned that the real beneficiary of any recovery would be the Cuban government, and that Cuba should not be permitted to obtain relief in American courts without answering for its seizure of Citibank's assets. The Court commented that "Cuba cannot escape liability for acts in violation of international law simply by retransferring the assets to separate juridical entities." 103 S. Ct. at 2603.

Thus, Bancec rests primarily on two propositions. First, Courts may use set-off as a unique, equitable remedy to prevent a foreign government from eluding liability for its own acts when it affirmatively seeks recovery in an American judicial proceeding. See National City Bank v. Republic of China, 348 U.S. 356 (1955). The broader message is that foreign states cannot avoid their obligations by engaging in abuses of corporate form. The Bancec Court held that a foreign state instrumentality is answerable just as its sovereign parent would be if the foreign state has abused the corporate form, or where recognizing the instrumentality's separate status works a fraud or an injustice.

The district court analyzed the present case in light of Bancec and ruled that Chile's alleged use of LAN to transport Townley and explosives to the United States were "significant steps in the conspiracy" that if proven "would constitute a gross abuse of the corporate form." 567 F. Supp. at 1496. Accordingly, it held, "If Chile ignored LAN's separate existence in accomplishing the wrong, it may not invoke that separate existence in order to deny the injured a remedy." Id. at 1496.

The district judge "found" the following facts based "on the record" and "established" by evidentiary sanctions imposed pursuant to Rule 37(b)(A): From January 1975 through January 1979 LAN's assets and facilities were under the direct control of Chile, which had the power to use them; Chile could have decreed LAN's dissolution and taken over property interests held in LAN's name; Chile, through its agencies, officers, and employees, intentionally used facilities and personnel of LAN to plan and carry out its conspiracy to assassinate Orlando Letelier by (a) transporting Michael Vernon Townley between Chile and the United States, (b) transporting explosives on several occasions, (c) assisting with currency transactions involved in paying off the co-conspirators in the assassination, (d) providing a meeting place for the co-conspirators, (e) arranging for Townley to exit the United States under an alias after the assassination. By using LAN in these endeavors, the district court found, Chile ignored LAN's separate existence and abused the corporate form.

In our view this is not the sort of "abuse" that overcomes the presumption of separateness established by Bancec. Joint participation in a tort is not the "classic" abuse of corporate form to which the Supreme Court referred. In Bancec the Court relied by analogy on the domestic law of private corporations that ignores separate juridical status

"where a corporate entity is so extensively controlled by its owner that a relationship of principal and agent is created," where "the corporate form . . . is interposed to defeat legislative policies," or where recognition of corporate form "'would work fraud or injustice.'" 103 S. Ct. at 2601. The facts that the district court "found" here do not add up to anything that resembles the abuses in the decisions cited in Bancec. None of these facts show that Chile ignored LAN's separate status. Instead, they simply demonstrate that Micheal Townley was able to enlist the cooperation of certain LAN pilots and officials with whom he had a pre-existing social relationship in pursuing his sinister goal. There was no finding that LAN's separate status was established to shield its owners from liability for their torts or that Chile ignored ordinary corporate formalities. See Establissement Tomis v. Shearson Hayden Stone, 459 F. Supp. 1355, 1365 (S.D.N.Y. 1978); Brunswick Corp. v. Waxman, 459 F. Supp. 1222, 1229 (E.D.N.Y. 1978).1/

Plaintiffs had the burden of proving that LAN was not entitled to separate recognition. A creditor seeking execution against an apparently separate entity must prove "the property to be attached is subject to execution." Palmiter v. Action, Inc., 548 F. Supp. 1166, 1172 (N.D. Ind. 1982). See In re Beck Indus., 479 F.2d 410, 417 (2d Cir. 1973); Mission Bay Campland v. Sumner Financial Corp., 71

F.R.D. 432, 435 (M.D. Fla. 1976). The evidence submitted by the judgment creditors does not reveal abuse of corporate form of the nature or degree that Bancec found sufficient to overcome the presumption of separate existance. As both Bancec and the FSIA legislative history caution against too easily overcoming the presumption of separateness, we decline to extend the Bancec holding to do so in this case.[2/]

II Commercial Activity

Even assuming the district court was correct in disregarding LAN's corporate form and finding that LAN's assets were Chile's property in the United States, § 1610(a)(2) also requires that the property be "used for the commercial activity upon which the claim is based." In permitting execution against LAN's assets the court below essentially concluded that LAN's activities aided Townley in the assassination and constituted the "commercial activities" that § 1610(a)(2) requires. We cannot agree because a consistent application of the Act, analysis of the background of its enactment, its language and legislative history, and the case law construing it compel the opposite conclusion.

We first note that the district court for the District of Columbia found that Chile lost its immunity from jurisdiction pursuant to § 1605(a)(5), the "tortious activity" exception to jurisdictional immunity. Section 1605(a)(5) specifically states that it applies to situations "not otherwise encompassed in paragraph (2)." Section 1605(a)(2) is the commercial activity exception. This language suggests that the commercial activity exception to jurisdictional immunity under (2) and the tort exception under (5) are mutually exclusive. If the district court in the District of Columbia lifted jurisdictional immunity based on its finding that the activities complained of were tortious, not commercial, it is inconsistent for this court to lift execution immunity based on a finding that the activities were commercial.

Our disagreement with the finding that LAN's activities were commercial rests on more than the resulting lack of symmetry in application of the FSIA. If LAN, as the trial court found, acted in complicity with the Chilean secret police in the assassination, its activities had nothing to do with its place in commerce. The nature of its course of conduct could not have been as a merchant in the marketplace. Its activities would have been those of the foreign state: governmental, not private or commercial.

Chief Justice Marshall with his decision in The Schooner Exchange v. McFaddon, 11 U.S. (7 Cranch) 116 (1812) upheld France's plea of sovereign immunity. In that case American citizens claimed ownership of a French vessel of war berthed in Philadelphia. The executive department recommended to the Supreme Court that it dismiss the plain and the Supreme Court complied with that suggestion. After The Schooner Exchange it became the rule that American courts would exercise jurisdiction over foreign states unless the matter was intimately connected with foreign policy and the executive department charged with the conduct of foreign policy asked for judical abstention. In 1976 Congress, acting pursuant to its Article I powers, changed that practice by enacting the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act. The Act assigns the task of deciding whether a foreign sovereign is immune solely to federal and state courts sitting without juries.

The FSIA adopts a restrictive view of sovereign immunity. The absolutist view, which found foreign sovereigns immune from suit for any activity, fell into disfavor in other countries and a more restrictive rule succeeded it. In 1952 the United States Department of State signalled with its Tate Letter, 26 Dep't of State Bull. 984, that it embraced the new rule. See National City Bank of New York v. Republic of China, 384 U.S. 356 (1955). This restrictive view grants immunity for "governmental" acts of a foreign state and denies it for acts of a "private" nature. This translates into the "commercial activity" exceptions in the FSIA.

FSIA § 1602 contains the findings and declaration of purpose for the Act. That section states:

> Under international law, states are not immune from the jurisdiction of foreign courts insofar as their commercial activities are concerned, and their commercial property may be levied upon for the satisfaction of judgments rendered against them in connection with their commercial activities. (emphasis furnished).

Under § 1603(d) commercial activity is defined as "either a regular course of commercial conduct or a particular commercial transaction or act." S. Rep. No. 94-1310, 94th Cong., 2d Sess. (1976) (Senate Report) recognizes that activities fall along a "spectrum" bounded by "commercial" behavior on one end of the spectrum and "governmental" activity on the other:

> Certainly, if an activity is customarily carried on for profit, its commercial nature could readily be assumed. At the other end of the spectrum, a single contract, if of the same character as a contract which might be made by a private person, could constitute a "particular transaction or act."

Id. at 15. The Senate Report contains examples of commercial activities:

> "Activities such as a foreign government's sale of a service or product, its leasing of property, its borrowing of money, its employment or engagement of laborers, clerical staff or public relations or marketing agents or its investment in a security of an American corporation, would be among those included within the definition.

Id. at 16. Congress specifically designed the execution immunity rules to "conform" to the jurisdictional immunity provisions of § 1605. H.R. Rep. No. 94-1487, 94th Cong. 2d Sess. (1976), reprinted in 1976 U.S. Code Cong. & Ad. News 6604, 6626 (House Report).

Congress intended the "essential nature" of given behavior to determine its status for purposes of the commercial activities exception, and gave the courts a "great deal of latitude" to decide this issue. Id. at 6615. The legislative history makes clear that courts should not deem activity "commercial" as a whole simply because certain aspects of it are commercial. The example given is that the AID programs remain governmental even though they involve behavior traditionally performed by private persons.

The district court correctly noted that under § 1603(d) the court must inquire into the nature of conduct, not its purpose, to determine if it is "commercial." See Texas Trading & Milling Corp. v. Federal Republic of Nigeria, 647 F.2d 300, 310 (2d Cir. 1981), cert. denied, 454 U.S. 1148 (1982) (Nigerian government's purchase of cement was a commercial activity irrespective of its purposes for so doing). The commercial activity exception of § 1605(a)(2) has been interpreted broadly, In re Rio Grande Transport, 516 F. Supp. 1155, 1162 (S.D.N.Y. 1981). "The determination of whether particular behavior is 'commercial' is perhaps the most important decision a court faces in an FSIA suit." Texas Trading, 647 F.2d at 308. As with any statutory term, the "commercial activity" requirement must be given a logical and reasonable interpretation. Inquiry therefore ordinarily focuses on whether the specific acts are those that private persons normally perform. See Texas Trading & Milling Corp., supra, 647 F.2d at 309; Rios v. Marshall, 530 F. Supp. 351, 371-72 (S.D.N.Y. 1981); cf. Gibbons v. Udaras na Gaeltachta, 549 F. Supp. 1084, 1110-11 (S.D.N.Y. 1982) (joint venture agreement with private corporation is "commercial activity").

UNCLASSIFIED

AO 72
(Rev. 8/82)

UNCLASSIFIED

Yet, not every act of a foreign state that could be done by a private citizen in the United States is 'commercial activity,' see In re Sedco, Inc., 543 F. Supp. 561, 565 (S.D. Tex. 1982) (holding that the Mexican national oil company's drilling of the infamous IXTOC I well in the Gulf of Mexico was not "commercial activity"). The court must inquire whether the activity is of the type an individual would customarily carry on for profit. Gibbons, 549 F. Supp. at 1110. One of the few decisions that has construed § 1610(a)(2) also searched for evidence of a profit motive on the foreign sovereign's part. United States v. County of Arlington, Va., 702 F.2d 485, 488 (4th Cir. 1983). See also, Frolova v. U.S.S.R., 558 F. Supp. 358 (N.D. Ill. 1983) (refusal to allow immigration is public, not commercial, activity).

A case that involved facts analogous to those before us is Arango v. Guzman Travel Advisors Corp., 621 F.2d 1371 (5th Cir. 1980), which was decided under § 1605, not § 1610. In Arango, the plaintiffs sued the wholly owned, national airline of the Dominican Republic after being expelled from a flight because that country's officials would not permit them entry. Although the Court dismissed the appeal because it was taken from a non-appealable order, it discussed (in dicta) whether the "commercial activity" exception of § 1605(a)(2) would allow plaintiffs to bring their tort action against the airline. The Arango court considered the airline's actions in rerouting plaintiffs noncommercial because it concluded that the airline acted merely as the agent of the Dominican government. Id. at 1370.

We agree with the Arango analysis. The Arango court found that alleged "kidnapping" by a foreign state is not "commercial activity" under the FSIA because a private person cannot lawfully engage in that activity. 567 F. Supp. at 1501. A private person cannot lawfully engage in murder any more than he can in kidnapping or criminal assault. Carriage of passengers and packages is an activity in which a private person could engage. But it is not for those activities that LAN's assets are being executed against. Rather, plaintiffs assert that LAN itself participated in the assassination and essentially accuse LAN of being a co-conspirator or joint tortfeasor.[3] In other words, LAN is accused of engaging in state-sponsored terrorism the purpose of which, irrelevant under the FSIA, was to assassinate an opponent of the Chilean government. Politically motivated assassinations are not traditionally the function of private individuals. They can scarcely be considered commercial activity. Viewed in this light, LAN's participation, if any, in the assassination is not commercial activity that falls within the § 1610(a)(2) exception and its assets therefore are not stripped of immunity.

III. Right Without a Remedy

The district court's principle concern with finding LAN immune from execution on its assets was that "[h]aving determined to grant jurisdiction in both commercial and tort claims, it appears out of joint to conclude that Congress intended the surprising result of allowing only commercial creditors to execute on their judgments," 567 F. Supp. at 1499-1500. Hence, it concluded that Congress would not create a right without a remedy. Few would take issue with the district judge's comment as an abstract principle of statutory interpretation. Nevertheless, when drafting the FSIA Congress took into account the international community's view of sovereign immunity. That makes a world of difference in the Act's interpretation. The Act's history and the contemporaneous passage of similar European legislation strongly supports the conclusion that under the circumstances at issue in this case Congress did in fact create a right without a remedy. Congress wanted the execution provisions of the FSIA to "remedy, in part, the [pre-FSIA] predicament of a plaintiff who has obtained a judgment against a foreign state." House Report, supra, at 6605-06 (emphasis added). It is to that pre-FSIA plaintiff's predicament that we now turn.

To put the execution immunity provisions of the 1976 Act in proper perspective it is helpful to examine them in light of the European Convention on State Immunity and Additional Protocol adopted in 1972 and the United Kingdom's enactment of The State Immunity Act of 1978. Although these two codifications contain vastly different approaches to execution of judgments, they are relevant to this discussion in that neither Act ensures that a party may execute on a judgment against a foreign state by attaching property, even if it may validly assert jurisdiction over that foreign state. See Note, The International Law Association Draft Convention on Foreign Sovereign Immunity: A Comparative Approach, 23 Va. J. Int'l L. 635, 658 (1983).

The European Convention, because of its members' conflicting views, decided not to provide machinery for the enforcement of judgments by execution. The Convention relied instead on the obligation of an individual State to honor judgments taken against it. A judgment creditor must ordinarily obtain satisfaction through executive or administrative channels, though when both States involved have made certain declarations the European Court of Human Rights provides a judicial remedy. ILA Draft Convention at 662-63. In effect, the European Convention leaves execution by judgment creditors at the mercy of the defendant State's policies. This is scarcely surprising as Article 2, paragraph 7 of the Charter of the United Nations declared the same rule 37 years earlier. Paragraph 7 prohibits the United Nations from intervening "in matters which are essentially within the domestic jurisdiction of any state." S. Goodrich & E. Hambro, Charter of the United Nations, Commentary and Documents 65 (1946).

The State Immunity Act like the FSIA grants general immunity from execution over a foreign states' property except that, unlike the FSIA, which permits execution only on property upon which the claim is based, courts in England may execute on property in use or intended to be used for commercial purposes. ILA Draft Convention at 661. Hence, The State Immunity Act restricts immunity from execution more than the FSIA and subjects any property of the foreign state used for commercial purposes to execution.

The FSIA distinguishes between execution against property of an agency or instrumentality of a foreign state, which may be executed against regardless of whether the property was used for the activity on which the claim is based under § 1610(b)(2), and the property of the foreign state itself, which may be executed against only when the property was used for the commercial activity on which the claim is based under § 1610(a)(2). In so distinguishing, Congress sharply restricted immunity from execution against agencies and instrumentalities, but was more cautious when lifting immunity from execution against property owned by the State itself. Congress passed the FSIA on the background of the views of sovereignty expressed in the 1945 charter of the United Nations and the 1972 enactment of the European Convention, which left the availability of execution totally up to the debtor state, and its own understanding as the legislative history demonstrates, that prior to 1976 property of foreign states was absolutely immune from execution. House Report at 6606. It is plain then that Congress planned to and did lift execution immunity "in part." Yet, since it was not Congress' purpose to lift execution immunity wholly and completely, a right without a remedy does exist in the circumstances here. Our task must be to read the Act as it is expressed, and apply it according to its expressions. See Berger v. United States, 255 U.S. 22, 35 (1921).

CONCLUSION

We hold therefore that the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act does not allow execution against the assets of LAN, the Chilean National Airlines.4/ The court below improperly ignored defendant LAN's separate juridical status from the Republic of Chile. Ordinarily, we would remand for further evidentiary hearings on the separateness issue, but we are further persuaded, even were LAN and Chile found to be alter egos, that Congress did not provide for execution against a foreign state's property under the circumstances of this case. Congress provided for execution against property used in commercial activity upon which the claim is based. An act of political terrorism is not the kind of commercial activity that Congress contemplated.

Accordingly, we reverse the orders appealed from and dismiss the supplementary proceedings.

1/ Further, an "injustice" might be inflicted on third parties were LAN's separate status so easily ignored. Here, plaintiffs are attempting to obtain an affirmative recovery against a foreign agency; no equitable set-off is involved. Under these circumstances abuse of corporate form must be clearly demonstrated to justify holding the "subsidiary" liable for the debts of its sovereign "parent," particularly, where, as here, LAN apparently has non-party private bank creditors. Concern for these non-party creditors is stronger in this case as the net result will be an out-of-pocket loss to LAN. To adopt a rule facilitating an easy piercing of the corporate veil threatens the interests of such unsuspecting third parties.

2/ Our conclusions regarding LAN's separate juridical status are strengthened by our finding that in its December 20 order the district court incorrectly determined evidentiary issues adversely to LAN based solely on Chile's failure to comply with discovery requests. Rule 37 sanctions ensure that a party will not benefit from non-compliance with discovery orders. Yet, one party to litigation will not be subjected to those sanctions because of the failure of another to comply with discovery, absent a showing that the other party controlled the actions of the non-complying party.

4/ Although tenuous, other remedies may still be possible. Chile itself may decide as an act of international good-will to honor the judgment of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia. Alternatively, the United States may be persuaded to bring this claim before some international tribunal as it did in Z & F Assets Realization Corp. v. Hull, 311 U.S. 470, 487 (1940), or there may be a forum in South America or elsewhere equivalent to the European Court of Human Rights that will provide a judicial remedy.

SUBJECT: MERINO CRITICIZES BEAGLE ACCORD BUT IS CENSORED BY GOVERNMENT

1. (U) DURING AN IMPROMPTU ENCOUNTER WITH THE PRESS AFTER A JUNTA MEETING, NAVY COMMANDER AND JUNTA MEMBER ADMIRAL MERINO RESPONDED TO QUESTIONS ON SEVERAL TOPICS INCLUDING THE BEAGLE ACCORD. HE SAID THE ACCORD "HAS SOME OBSERVATIONS THAT REQUIRE CORRECTING, CRETAIN REFINEMENTS." ("PRECISIONES")
Q: "BUT THE TREATY WILL BE SIGNED IN ROME ON THE 29TH, NO?"
A: "WELL,...THE JUNTA HAS TO APPROVE IT FOR IT TO BECOME A LAW OF THE REPUBLIC."..."REFINEMENTS IN THE TREATY HAVE TO BE APPROVED BEFORE (IT) IS FORWARDED TO THE LEGISLATIVE POWER (JUNTA). THOSE REFINEMENTS (PRECISIONES) CONCERN THE MOUTH OF THE STRAIT (MAGELLAN) AND PASSAGE OF THIRD COUNTRY SHIPS THROUGH INTERNAL CHILEAN CANALS (PRESUMABLY THE WATERS LYING BETWEEN THE ISLANDS IN THE AREA OF DISPUTE) WHICH THERE IS NO REASON WHY IT (PASSAGE OF SUCH SHIPS) SHOULD OCCUR." HE EXPLAINED THAT THE CHILEAN NAVY HAD MADE ITS OBSERVATIONS KNOW PREVIOUSLY TO THE FOREIGN MINISTRY AND THE PRESIDENT, BUT THE NAVY'S OBSERVATINS HAD NOT ALWAYS BEEN TAKEN INTO ACCOUNT. FOR THESE REASONS, HE WENT ON, REFINEMENTS NEED TO BE MADE IN THE ACCORD, BECAUSE IN ITS CURRENT FORM THE TREATY IS NOT ABSOLUTELY FAVORABLE TO CHILE.

2. (U) THE GOVERNMENT MEDIA CZAR, DINACOS, CALLED THE NEWS MEDIA SHORTLY AFTER MERINO'S STATEMENTS ORDERING THEM NOT TO BE DISSEMINATED.

3. (C) ALTHOUGH THERE HAVE BEEN RUMORS FOR MONTHS ABOUT NAVY UNHAPPINESS WITH THE TERMS OF THE ACCORD, THIS IS THE FIRST TIME MERINO OR ANY OTHER NAVY OFFICER HAS PUBLICLY NOTED DISSATISFACTION SINCE AGREEMENT ON IT TEXT. INDEED, MERINO ONLY A FEW WEEKS AGO VIGOROUSLY DEFENDED THE ACCORD DURING A PRESS INTERVIEW. IT IS WORTH NOTING THAT MERINO HAS SUCCESSFULLY BLOCKED LEGISLATION DEALING WITH SOME OTHER SUBJECTS, PRESENTED TO THE JUNTA BY THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH. WE WONDER WHETHER MERINO DELIBERATELY TIMED HIS REMARKS TO CAST A SHADOW OVER THE FORTHCOMING ARGENTINE PLEBISCITE, WHICH FROM MERINO'S POINT OF VIEW IS A REFERENDUM ON A DOCUMENT THAT IS STILL SUBJECT TO REVISION.

4. (C) FINALLY, THIS IS THE FIRST TIME INOUR MEMORY THAT THE GOVERNMENT HAS CENSORED MERINO. THE PRESIDENT APPEARS TO BE FEELING UNCHALLENGEABLE. THE MUZZLING OF MERINO COMES ONTHE HEELS OF CENSORING ALL THE MEDIA; THE ARCHBISHOP OF SANTIAGO MON. FRESNO; THE PRESIDENT OF THE COUNCIL OF BISHOPS, ARCHBISHOP PINERA OF LA SERENA, WHO WAS PROHIBITED FROM SPEAKING AT A CHURCH-ORGANIZED SEMINAR ON DEMOCRACY; THE COUNCIL OF BISHOPS ITSELF, WHOSE PASTORAL LETTER HAS BEERED FROM THE MEDIA; AND AIR FORCE CHIEF AND JUNTA MEMBER GENERAL MATTHEI, WHOSE REMARKS OF LAST SEPTEMBER ABOUT THE TRANSITION WERE PARTIALLY CENSORED. IT REMAINS TO BE SEEN WHAT REACTION MERINO WILL HAVE. MATTHEI HAS NOT SPOKEN IN PUBLIC FOR MORE THAN A MONTH AND HE APPEARS TO BE DELIBERTATELY MAINTAINING A LW PROFILE. THE BISHOPS, OF COURSE, ARE AIRING THEIR CRITICAL VIEWS FROM THE PULPITS. FRESNO'S PASTORAL LETTER WAS PUBLISHED BY THE CHURCH IN AT LEAST 200,000 COPIES, THEN READ AT MASS ON NOVEMBER 18, AND HE HAS SCHEDULED SPECIAL MASSES ON NOVEMBER 23 (THE "DAY OF

SUBJECT: MOTHERS STRIKE BACK

REF: FBIS CHIYA CHIYA R 290321 Z 1984

1. REFTEL IS THE FULL TEXT OF A LENGTHY, VITRIOLIC PAID AD TAKEN OUT BY THE MOTHERS COMMITTEE IN A LOCAL DAILY NOVEMBER 23. ALTHOUGH PRINCIPALLY DEVOTED TO SELF-PRAISE FOR THEIR GOOD WORKS AND SELF-PITY FOR THEIR PERSECUTION BY THE US, THE AD ALSO CLAIMS THAT US DENIAL OF VISAS TO FOUR WOMEN TO RECEIVE THE RFK MEMORIAL "HUMAN RIGHTS" AWARD HAS ENDANGERED THE LIVES OF THE COMMITTEE MEMBERS AND HOLDS THE US RESPONSIBLE

2. IN ADDITION, THE AD MAKES THREE SENSATIONAL DIRECT OR INDIRECT CHARGES AGAINST THE US:

--THAT ON 22 JANUARY 1980 DURING A PROTEST MARCH, TWO UNIVERSITY STUDENTS (FRANCISCO VENTURA AND ONE "CHEPE") WERE SEIZED BY NATIONAL GUARDSMEN, TAKEN INSIDE THE US EMBASSY, AND NEVER SEEN AGAIN. VIOLATION OF THE TWO MEN'S "HUMAN RIGHTS" ALLEGEDLY TOOK PLACE INSIDE THE EMBASSY.

--THAT "EMBASSY OFFICIALS ADMIT THAT CHEMICAL WEAPONS TESTS" HAVE BEEN CARRIED OUT INSIDE THE EMBASSY. THE EFFECTS OF THESE WEAPONS, AS DESCRIBED, ACCORDS WITH REACTION TO TEAR GAS EXPOSURE. ACCORDING TO THE AD, THESE EFFECTS WERE FELT EVEN OUTSIDE THE EMBASSY.

--THAT AN UNIDENTIFIED DOCTOR TOLD VOICE OF AMERICA OF HAVING SEEN AN UNIDENTIFIED WOMAN AND CHILD BURNED BY NAPALM; "AMBASSADOR PICKERING HAS ADMITTED THAT THE SALVADORAN ARMY HAS NAPALM BOMBS."

THE AD DESCRIBES THESE CHARGES AS HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS AND STATES THAT THE VISA DENIAL IS PROOF THAT THE US FEARS THAT THE "REAGAN ADMINISTRATION'S INVOLVEMENT IN THE BRUTALITY AND PERVERSITY THAT HAS ENGULFED" EL SALVADOR WILL BE EXPOSED. THE MOTHERS STATE IT IS NOT UP TO THEM TO DETERMINE WHETHER THE CHARGES ARE TRUE; THEY INVITE "INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS TO VISIT EL SALVADOR TO FIND OUT HOW THE US GOVERNMENT IS (INVOLVED) IN THE TERRORIST ACTIVITIES IN OUR COUNTRY."

3. THE AD IS ANOTHER CLASSIC EXAMPLE OF THE MOTHERS COMMITTEE'S GROSS CONTEMPT FOR THE TRUTH AND TOTAL PREOCCUPATION WITH POLITICAL AGITATION. WE WILL NOT DIGNIFY IT BY VOLUNTEERING A RESPONSE. IF ASKED, WE WOULD REPLY THAT THE ALLEGATION OF OUR HAVING "DISAPPEARED" TWO STUDENTS IS A SHOPWORN, CALCULATED LIE THAT THE MOTHERS HAVE UNSUCCESSFULLY PEDDLED FOR

THE US EMBASSY AND NO EMBASSY OFFICIALS HAVE EVER "ADMITTED" TO ANY SUCH THING. THIS IS ANOTHER CALCULATED LIE. FINALLY, WE CONSIDER IT A DISGUSTING HYPOCRISY FOR A GROUP KNOWN TO ACTIVELY SUPPORT TERRORISM AND ARMED COMMUNIST INSURRECTION AGAINST A LEGITIMATELY CONSTITUTED GOVERNMENT TO LINK AMBASSADOR PICKERING'S PUBLIC STATEMENTS ABOUT ESAF NAPALM STOCKS--A CONTRIBUTION TO THE TRUTH--WITH THE IMPLICATION OF US INVOLVEMENT IN ITS USE AND PROCUREMENT, WHICH IS A PURE AND CYNICAL PROPAGANDA EXERCISE.

4. FYI: WE KNOW OF ONE ACCIDENTAL DISCHARGE OF A TEAR GAS CANNISTER DURING A SECURITY DRILL BY MARINE SECURITY GUARDS AFTER HOURS IN THE EMBASSY, IN JANUARY, 1984.

SUBJECT: 39TH UNGA THIRD COMMITTEE: RESOLUTION ADOPTED ON HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN EL SALVADOR UNDER AGENDA ITEM 12: EXPLANATION OF VOTE

REF: (A) USUN 3609, (B) USUN 3568

PORTION OF EXPLANATION OF VOTE ON EL SALVADOR WAS OMITTED IN PARAGRAPH 3 OF REF A. FOLLOWING IS CORRECT TEXT OF EXPLANATION:

BEGIN TEXT:

MR. CHAIRMAN, EVERYONE WHO HAS FOLLOWED POLITICAL DEVELOPMENTS IN EL SALVADOR OVER THE LAST YEAR HAS HAD REASON TO BE IMPRESSED BY THE MOST ENCOURAGING PROGRESS DURING THAT PERIOD. DEMOCRATIC ELECTIONS HAVE BEEN HELD. A PRESIDENT WAS CHOSEN BY MAJORITY VOTE. THAT PRESIDENT HAS TAKEN OFFICE AND HAS, IN A MOST EFFECTIVE WAY, TAKEN SIGNIFICANT STEPS TO ADVANCE THE CAUSE OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN HIS COUNTRY. HE HAS ALSO REACHED OUT TO THE GUERRILLA FORCES OPERATING IN HIS COUNTRY IN AN EFFORT TO ESTABLISH CIVIL PEACE THROUGH NEGOTIATIONS. IN REVIEWING THE DRAFT RESOLUTION BEFORE US, WE SEE THAT SOME OF THE IMPROVEMENTS EFFECTED UNDER PRESIDENT DUARTE HAVE BEEN DULY NOTED AND RECOGNIZED. IN ITS TOTALITY, HOWEVER, WE DEEM THE DRAFT RESOLUTION INAPPROPRIATE IN LIGHT OF THE NEW STATE OF AFFAIRS IN EL SALVADOR. IT SEEKS TO TELL A DEMOCRATICALLY-ELECTED CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT, WHICH IS MAKING EVERY EFFORT TO IMPROVE HUMAN RIGHTS CONDITIONS, HOW TO HANDLE ITS DOMESTIC AFFAIRS IN

A VARIETY OF FIELDS. THE RESOLUTION THUS REACHES IN SIGNIFICANT PARTS BEYOND THE SCOPE OF AUTHORITY OF THE UNITED NATIONS IN GENERAL AND MORE PARTICULARLY OF THIS COMMITTEE. IN OUR OPINION, IT DOES NOT GIVE PRESIDENT DUARTE THE RECOGNITION AND SUPPORT HE DESERVES FOR HIS ADMINISTRATION'S FINE CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE ADVANCEMENT OF THE CAUSE OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN EL SALVADOR. FOR ALL THESE REASONS, WE SHALL VOTE "NO" ON DRAFT RESOLUTION L.43/REV.2, AS ORALLY REVISED.
THANK YOU, MR. CHAIRMAN.

2. SUMMARY: IN 12 HOURS OF TALKS, GOES/LEFT DIALOGUE

UNCLASSIFIED

HAS REACHED A SEEMING DEAD END. JOINT COMMUNIQUE READ BY ARCHBISHOP CONTAINED ONLY AGREEMENT ON PROCEDURES FOR SPECIAL COMMISSION, ACCEPTANCE OF A PARTIAL HOLIDAY TRUCE LIMITED TO NON-INTERFERENCE WITH CIVIL FREEDOM OF MOVEMENT ON HIGHWAYS, AND AGREEMENT TO MEET AGAIN AT AN UNDERTERMINED FUTURE DATE. INDIVIDUAL STATEMENTS BY THE TWO SIDES CONTRASTED RESTRAINED REMARKS BY REY PRENDES WITH STRIDENT, PROVOCATIVE COMMENTS BY FDR'S ZAMORA AND FMLN'S GUARDADO. THESE WERE ALL OVERSHADOWED BY DUARTE'S OWN PRESS CONFERENCE, WITH REMARKS BY EACH MEMBER OF HIS TEAM AT AYAGUALO, WHICH FLATLY REJECTED THE LEFT'S PROPOSAL (REFTEL) AS UNCONSTITUTIONAL AND INDICATIVE OF COMMITMENT TO SEEK POWER BY VIOLENCE. DUARTE REJECTED FURTHER PARTICIPATION IN A TACTICAL DIALOGUE AS CLEARLY BEING PURSUED BY THE LEFT BUT SAID HE WAS OPEN TO FURTHER TALKS IF THE LEFT RETHOUGHT ITS POSITION AND PRESENTED A REASONABLE PROPOSAL OR EMBRACED HIS OWN. END SUMMARY.

- ----------------

ARCHBISHOP RIVERA Y DAMAS, MODERATOR OF THE ENCOUNTER, EMERGED FROM THE MEETING TO DESCRIBE THE COURSE OF THE TALKS AND READ THE JOINT COMMUNIQUE. HE NOTED THE MEETING BEGAN WITH PRAYER AND HIS OWN INTRODUCTORY COMMENTS. THEN FOLLOWED AN EXAMINATION OF PROCEDURAL QUESTIONS AND AN AGENDA FOR THE DAY'S TALKS, TO INCLUDE THE REVIEW OF ACCORDS REACHED AT LA PALMA, DISCUSSION OF THE DUARTE PEACE PROPOSAL DELIVERED AT LA PALMA, AND THE PRESENTATION OF THE LEFT'S OWN PROPOSAL. HUMANIZATION OF THE WAR, HE NOTED, WAS ALSO DISCUSSED.

4. AT THE END OF THE TALKS, THE ARCHBISHOP REPORTED, THE TWO SIDES HAD AGREED TO ANNOUNCE:

-- AGREEMENT ON PROCEDURES FOR THE MIXED COMMISSION
- (NOW CALLED SPECIAL COMMISSION);

- THAT AT THE REQUEST OF THE CHURCH, AND IN RECOGNITION OF THE NEED TO PROVIDE THE PEOPLE WITH A RESPITE FROM VIOLENCE, THERE WOULD BE COMPLETE FREEDOM OF MOVEMENT

5. GOVERNMENT DELEGATION REMARKS
- ----------

PRESIDENCY MINISTER REY PRENDES, LEADER OF THE GOES DELEGATION, THEN TOOK THE MICROPHONE AS PREVIOUSLY ARRANGED. HE NOTED THERE HAD BEEN TWELVE HOURS OF DISCUSSION OF FUNDAMENTAL ISSUES THAT DEMONSTRATED THE ROAD TO PEACE WOULD BE LONG AND HARD BUT THE GOES WAS FULLY PREPARED TO REACH A PEACEFUL SOLUTION.

6. REY REPORTED THAT THERE HAD BEEN ACCORD ON THE RULES GOVERNING THE SPECIAL COMMISSION AND NOTED THAT EXAMINATION OF THE DUARTE PEACE OFFER HAD OCCUPIED THE GREATEST PORTION OF THE DAY'S DISCUSSION.

7. THE GOES SIDE, REY SAID, HEARD OUT THE LEFT'S RESPONSE TO DUARTE'S PEACE OFFER, THE LATTER WHICH HE RECALLED WAS BASED ON THE CONSTITUTION AND ON THE WILL OF THE PEOPLE AS EXPRESSED IN THE FREE ELECTORAL

DISCUSSED. IN THE SEARCH FOR CONCRETE MEASURES TO SIGNAL PROGRESS TO THE PEOPLE, THERE WAS DISCUSSED A CHURCH PROPOSAL FOR AN END TO VIOLENCE DURING THE CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS. THE GOES ACCEPTED THIS PROPOSAL AND THE TWO SIDES AGREED TO A PERIOD OF FREE CIVIL TRANSIT. THE TWO SIDES ALSO AGREED TO CONTINUE DIALOGUE AT A DATE TO BE SELECTED ON THE BASIS OF PROPOSALS FROM EACH.

9. LEFT DELEGATION REMARKS

THERE THEN FOLLOWED REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVES OF BOTH THE FDR AND FMLN. SPEAKING FIRST, RUBEN ZAMORA SAID THE LEFT HAD SOUGHT TO MAKE ANOTHER STEP TOWARDS PEACE AND SO FIRST HAD AGREED TO THE AGENDA FOR THE DAY'S TALKS. THERE THEN FOLLOWED AGREEMENT ON PROCEDURES FOR THE SPECIAL COMMISSION, BASED ON PROPOSALS BY THE TWO SIDES.

10. ZAMORA SAID DISCUSSIONS MOVED ON TO PROPOSALS TABLED BY THE GOES AT LA PALMA, WHICH THE LEFT CONSIDERED TOO SIMPLISTIC FOR THE COMPLEX NATIONAL SITUATION AND WHICH NEEDED TO BE CONCEPTUALLY EXPANDED. HE NOTED THE LEFT HAD PRESENTED AND EXPLAINED ITS PROPOSAL WITH THE VIEW THAT ANY SOLUTION HAD TO BE BASED ON CONCRETE AND COMPLEX REALITY AND MUST BE ADDRESSED IN A PHASED MANNER. THE OBJECTIVE WAS A PEACE WHICH WOULD MEAN NO MORE TORTURE OR DISAPPEARANCES, A TRUE ARMS MORATORIUM, SUSPENSION OF SABOTAGE, CEASEFIRE, AND (FMLN/FDR) PARTICIPATION IN THE GOVERNMENT THAT COULD ENSURE COMPLIANCE WITH ACCORDS. A TRUE ELECTORAL PROCESS COULD THEN FOLLOW. ZAMORA NOTED THE PARTIAL HOLIDAY TRUCE ARRANGEMENTS, DESCRIBING THEM AS MORE IMPORTANT AN ACCORD THAN THEY MIGHT SEEM TO BE.

11. FACUNDO GUARDADO FOLLOWED ZAMORA ON THE PLATFORM WITH A STRIDENTLY ANTI-AMERICAN PRESENTATION WHICH WAS ALSO HIGHLY CONTEMPTUOUS OF THE GOES. SPEAKING ENTIRELY IN TERMS OF CONTINUING STRUGGLE, HE REPEATEDLY DEMANDED AN END TO REAGAN ADMINISTRATION INTERVENTION AND EFFORT TO IMPOSE A MILITARY SOLUTION. GUARDADO REJECTED DUARTE'S VIEW THAT THERE HAVE BEEN MASSIVE

CREATION OF ONE ARMY FROM TWO, STRESSING THAT THERE WAS ONLY ONE ARMED FORCE IN EL SALVADOR -- THE ESAF. THE LEFT'S PROPOSAL WAS IMPOSSIBLE TO ACCEPT.

14. REY PRENDES BEGAN HIS SUBSEQUENT REMARKS BY REVEALING THAT THE LEFT HAD ATTEMPTED TO AVOID A REPLY TO DUARTE'S PEACE OFFER AND HAD SOUGHT ONLY TO DISCUSS THEIR OWN UNACCEPTABLE PROPOSAL. HE ACCUSED THE LEFT OF EXPLOITING THE NOTION OF A CEASEFIRE FOR PUBLIC CONSUMPTION, REPORTING THAT THE LEFT HAD NEVER MENTIONED IT IN THE MEETING OTHER THAN AS SOMETHING TO BE ATTAINED AFTER EVISCERATION OF THE CONSTITUTION. HE DESCRIBED THE LEFT'S POSITION AS A RETREAT TO 1980 FROM MORE MODERATE RECENT VIEWS AND STRESSED THE LEFT'S OBJECTIVE OF ACHIEVING PARTICIPATION IN GOVERNMENT THROUGH THE USE OF FORCE.

15. THERE FOLLOWED REMARKS BY VICE DEFENSE MINISTER LOPEZ NUILA WHO SAID THE LEFT MUST ACCEPT THE NEW SALVADORAN REALITY DESCRIBED BY DUARTE AT THE UN. THE PRESIDENT HAD MADE AN EXTREMELY GENEROUS PEACE OFFER AND THE GOES CONSIDERED HUMANIZATION OF THE CONFLICT A KEY POINT. LOPEZ CALLED ON THE LEFT TO REFLECT, TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THE POLITICAL SPACE OPEN TO THEM, AND TO ABANDON VIOLENCE. HE DEMANDED THAT THEY END MURDERS, ABDUCTIONS, THREATS, ATTACKS ON THE POPULATION, PRODUCTION AND INFRASTRUCTURE AND ACCEPT PEACE WITHIN THE LEGAL FRAMEWORK PROVIDED BY THE CONSTITUTION. THE GENEVA CONVENTIONS, HE REMINDED THE LEFT, STRESS THAT CIVILIANS ARE NOT LEGITIMATE MILITARY TARGETS AND CALLED ON THE LEFT TO REFRAIN FROM CARRYING

THE WAR TO THE CIVIL POPULATION.

16. FIDEL CHAVEZ MENA, MINISTER OF PLANNING, FOLLOWED WITH EMPHASIS ON THE LEFT'S EXTENSIVE INTRANSIGENCE AND DISTORTED DESCRIPTION OF NATIONAL REALITY. THE LEFT'S OFFER, HE STATED, WAS TOTALLY UNACCEPTABLE AND UNCONSTITUTIONAL; THE LEFT HAD DEMONSTRATED NOT EVEN MINIMAL DISPOSITION TO ADOPT MEASURES FOR HUMANIZATION OF THE WAR OR THEIR EVENTUAL INCORPORATION INTO THE DEMOCRATIC PROCESS.

17. FIRST SUBSTITUTE PRESIDENT DESIGNATE ABRAHAM RODRIGUEZ WAS NEXT WITH A HIGHLY PRINCIPLED AND PERSUASIVE APPEAL FOR PEACE THROUGH REASON RATHER THAN BLOOD AND VIOLENCE. HE NOTED THE NEW CONDITIONS THAT OBTAINED IN EL SALVADOR AND ATTRIBUTED THE PRESENT NATIONAL CRISIS TO THE LEFT'S EFFORT TO DESTROY THE COUNTRY. RODRIGUEZ SAID THE GOES SIDE HAD BEEN VERY NEGATIVELY AFFECTED BY THE LEFT'S PROPOSAL, WHICH REJECTED CONSTITUTIONALITY AND SIMPLY PRETENDED TO THE FORMATION OF A NEW GOVERNMENT AND INTEGRATION OF MILITARY FORCES. ANALYZING THE LEFT'S PROPOSAL, HE STRONGLY ENDORSED DUARTE'S REFUSAL TO DISCUSS IT. HE NOTED ITS OBNOXIOUS ASPECTS, INCLUDING CEASEFIRE ONLY AFTER SEVERANCE OF TIES WITH THE US AND FORMATION OF A NEW GOVERNMENT AS WELL AS TERRITORIAL DEMARCATIONS. HE DESCRIBED THE LEFT'S PROPOSAL AS NOTHING MORE THAN A DEMAND FOR SURRENDER BY THE ARMY, THE GOVERNMENT AND THE NATION. UNDER THOSE CIRCUMSTANCES, RODRIGUEZ SAID, THE OBJECTIVE CONDITIONS FOR SOLUTION VIA DIALOGUE DID NOT EXIST. THE LEFT WAS ATTEMPTING TO USE THE DIALOGUE TO GAIN THE OPPORTUNITY TO AGITATE IN THE CITY WHILE FIGHTING IN THE COUNTRY.

18. RODRIGUEZ WAS SADDENED THAT DESPITE STRENUOUS EFFORTS, THE GOES SIDE HAD BEEN ABLE TO DETECT NO

19. IN HIS CLOSING REMARKS, DUARTE POINTED OUT THAT THE LEFT HAD TOTALLY REJECTED THE PROPOSAL FOR HUMANIZATION OF THE CONFLICT, NOTABLY AN END TO THE WAR AGAINST THE ECONOMY THAT WOULD DIRECTLY BENEFIT THE SALVADORAN PEOPLE. THE LEFT, HE SAID, HAD EVEN REJECTED OUT OF HAND THE ARCHBISHOP'S PROPOSAL FOR A FULL CHRISTMAS TRUCE WHICH, HE EMPHASIZED, THE GOES HAD ACCEPTED IN TOTO. IN DUARTE'S VIEW, THE LEFT CONSIDERED HUMANIZATION OF THE CONFLICT OR A TRUCE IRRECONCILABLE WITH ITS STRATEGY OF PROLONGED WAR AS THEY WOULD PROVIDE A RESPITE FOR THE PEOPLE.

20. DUARTE SAID THE LEFT WAS CONTINUING TO PURSUE ONLY A TACTICAL DIALOGUE, TO WHICH HE WOULD REFUSE TO LEND HIMSELF. HE CALLED ON THE LEFT AGAIN TO REFLECT, RECONSIDER AND PRESENT A FAIR PROPOSAL. DUARTE SAID HE WANTED TO MAKE CLEAR THAT HE COULD NOT OTHERWISE CONTINUE IN A TACTICAL DIALOGUE. IF THE LEFT WAS READY TO ACCEPT HIS PEACE OFFER, HE WAS READY TO CONTINUE TALKING. HE STRESSED HE WOULD CONTINUE STRIVING TO ACHIEVE PEACE AND TO EXPLAIN THAT VIOLENCE NO LONGER HAD A PLACE IN THE STRUGGLE FOR POWER BECAUSE THE SALVADORAN PEOPLE HAD OPTED FOR DEMOCRACY.

21. COMMENT: DUARTE NO DOUBT CONSIDERED IT IMPERATIVE TO SPEAK OUT WITH IMMEDIATE REJECTION OF THE LEFT'S PROPOSAL TO REASSURE HIS DOMESTIC CONSTITUENCY. SERIATIM PRESENTATIONS BY THE FOUR DELEGATION MEMBERS WERE PRESUMABLY DESIGNED TO UNDERSCORE ABSOLUTE UNANIMITY ON THE GOES SIDE VIS A VIS POWER SHARING.
[redacted]

SUPPORT FOR THE ESAF, AND REFUSAL TO DEVIATE FROM THE CONSTITUTION.

22. DUARTE LEFT THE DOOR AJAR, AT LEAST RHETORICALLY, TO CONTINUED DIALOGUE. AS A PRACTICAL MATTER, HOWEVER, IT WILL BE DIFFICULT FOR THE GOES TO MOVE AHEAD GIVEN THE LEFT'S COMPLETELY OPEN INSISTENCE ON POWER SHARING AND DISMANTLING OF THE STATE AND ECONOMY.

23. IT WAS CLEAR THROUGHOUT THE DAY THAT THE SALVADORAN CATHOLIC CHURCH, DEEPLY [illegible]

THE PROSPECTS OF FRUITFUL DIALOGUE ALIVE, WAS ATTEMPTING TO PUT THE BEST POSSIBLE FACE ON WHAT WAS EVIDENTLY A STERILE AND DISILLUSIONING ENCOUNTER. WE NOTE THAT RODRIGUEZ AND DUARTE BOTH URGED ALL SALVADORANS (AND NO DOUBT THE CHURCH) TO STUDY THE FMLN PROPOSAL IN DETAIL OVER THE DAYS AHEAD TO SEE FOR THEMSELVES WHAT THE GUERRILLAS ARE DEMANDING: SURRENDER OF THE ARMY, DERROGATION OF THE CONSTITUTION, AND ABDICATION OF THE GOVERNMENT'S RESPONSIBILITY TO THE PEOPLE.

24. AS REY PRENDES CORRECTLY POINTED OUT, THE FDR/FMLN LINE AT AYAGUALO REPRESENTS A GIANT STEP BACKWARDS FROM THE APPARENT FLEXIBILITY OF MORE RECENT POSITIONS SUCH AS THOSE ADOPTED BY UNGO IN WASHIGTON, THOSE ATTRIBUTED TO ZAMORA RECENTLY IN LONDON, AND THE LINE TAKEN BY THE FDR REPRESENTATIVES IN THE LOS ANGELES DEBATE. IT MAY WELL BE THAT SERIOUS DIVISIONS AMONG THE LEFT ON WHAT ROAD TO FOLLOW ON DIALOGUE HAVE CONSPIRED TO PRODUCE A MUCH HARDER LINE AT AYAGUALO THAN AT LA PALMA. END COMMENT.

RECALLING ALSO THE RESOLUTIONS OF THE COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS RELATING TO THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN CHILE, ESPECIALLY RESOLUTION 1984/63 OF 15 MARCH 1984 IN WHICH THE COMMISSION DECIDED, INTER ALIA, TO EXTEND FOR A YEAR THE MANDATE OF THE SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR ON THE SITUATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN CHILE,

DEPLORING ONCE AGAIN THE FACT THAT THE REPEATED APPEALS OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY, THE COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS AND OTHER INTERNATIONAL ORGANS TO RE-ESTABLISH HUMAN RIGHTS AND FUNDAMENTAL FREEDOMS HAVE BEEN IGNORED BY THE CHILEAN AUTHORITIES, WHICH CONTINUE TO REFUSE TO CO-OPERATE WITH THE COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS AND ITS SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR,

ONCE AGAIN EXPRESSING ITS GRAVE CONCERN AT THE GENERAL PERSISTENCE OF THE SERIOUS SITUATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN CHILE, WHICH, AS ESTABLISHED, BY THE SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR, HAS CONTINUED TO DETERIORATE, AND THAT THE CHILEAN AUTHORITIES HAVE NOT BEEN RESPONSIVE TO THE CONCERNS OF THE INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY, AS EXPRESSED IN RESOLUTIONS OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY AND THE COMMISSION OF HUMAN

OBSERVING THAT, ACCORDING TO THE SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR, THE RIGHT TO ENTER AND LEAVE ONE'S COUNTRY FREELY IS SERIOUSLY RESTRICTED FOR CHILEAN CITIZENS AND THAT THIS SITUATION HAS BEEN AGGRAVATED BY THE ISSUANCE OF A LIST CONTAINING THE NAMES OF THOUSANDS OF CHILEAN NATIONALS WHO ARE NOT ALLOWED TO ENTER THEIR COUNTRY WITHOUT CONDITIONS,

TAKING NOTE WITH UTMOST CONCERN OF THE RE-ESTABLISHMENT

OF THE STATE OF SIEGE ON NOVEMBER 6, 1984, WHICH HAS AGGRAVATED THE SITUATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS AND FUNDAMENTAL FREEDOMS IN CHILE, PARTICULARLY BY THE INCREASE IN THE NUMBER OF ARBITRARY MASSIVE ARRESTS, OF PERSONS SENT TO INTERNAL EXILE AND THE PRACTICE OF TORTURE AND OTHER FORMS OF INHUMAN AND DEGRADING TREATMENT AS WELL AS THE ADDITIONAL RESTRICTIONS ON THE FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION AND INFORMATION, ASSEMBLY AND ASSOCIATION,

- 1. COMMENDS THE SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR FOR HIS REPORT ON THE SITUATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN CHILE, PREPARED IN ACCORDANCE WITH RESOLUTION 1984/63 OF 15 MARCH 1984 OF THE COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS;

- 2. EXPRESSES ITS PROFOUND DISTRESS AT THE PERSISTENCE OF AND INCREASE IN SERIOUS AND SYSTEMATIC VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN CHILE, AS DESCRIBED IN THE REPORT OF THE SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR, AND, IN PARTICULAR AT THE VIOLENT SUPRESSION OF OF POPULAR PROTEST IN THE FACE OF THE REFUSAL TO RESTORE THE DEMOCRATIC ORDER AND HUMAN RIGHTS AND FUNDAMENTAL FREEDOMS ON THE PART OF THE AUTHORITIES, WHICH HAVE IN FACT COMMITTED FURTHER SERIOUS AND FLAGRANT VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS, WITH MASS ARRESTS AND NUMEROUS DEATHS;

SUBJ: DAS MICHEL CONVERSATION WITH BRIG GENERAL SANTIAGO SINCLAIR NOV 30, 1984

1. (C) ENTIRE TEXT.

2. ON NOVEMBER 19, DAS MICHEL, ACCOMPANIED BY AMBASSADOR AND ARA/SC DIRECTOR, MORELEY, MET WITH BRIGADIER GENERAL SANTIAGO SINCLAIR IN HIS OFFICE FOR ONE HOUR AND A HALF. MEMORANDUM OF CONVERSATION BY ARA/SC DIRECTOR MORLEY ON SUBJECT IS BEING POUCHED TO THE DEPARTMENT.THE FOLLOWING IS A SUMMARY OF THAT MEMCON:

--DETUTY ASSISTANT SECRETARY MICHEL SAID THAT HE WAS IN SANTIAGO TO GET FIRST HAND INFORMATION ON WHAT WAS GOING ON AND TO EXPRESS CONCERN ABOUT THE IMPACT OF RECENT DEVELOPMENTS INCLUDING THE STATE OF SIEGE ON BOTH THE TRANSITION PROCESS IN CHILE AND U.S. INTERESTS IN THIS COUNTRY. HE EXPLAINED THAT WE HAD LEGITIMATE CONCERN BOUT WHAT WAS HAPPENING HERE AND WANTED TO CONVEY OUR CONCERN TO THE APPRORRIATE PEOPLE.

--GENERAL SINCLAIR REVIEWED EVENTS LEADING UP TO THE CURRENT SITUATION IN CHILE. HE EXPLAINED THAT THE ARMED FORCES IN CHILE WERE OBEDIENT TO THE POLITICAL POWER IN THIS COUNTRY AND HONOR BOUND TO SUPPORT THE CONSTITUTION WHCH WAS APPROVED IN 1980 BY 66 PERCENT OF THE CHILEAN VOTERS. THUS THEY ENJOYED THE SUPPORT OF THE CHILEAN PEOPLE. AS IN 1973, THEIR OBJECTIVES WERE TO RESTORE DEMOCRACY AND AND TO DEAL WITH THE THREAT OF COMMUNISM IN THIS COUNTRY.

--THOSE WHO SAY THE MILITARY WANTS TO STAY IN POWER INDEFINITELY, IN VIOLATION OF THE CONSTITUTION, OFFEND THE HONOR OF THE ARMED FORCES, SAID SINCLAIR. THE GOVERNMENT OF CHLE HAD BEEN LIBERAL IN ITS INTERPRETATIONS OF THE CONSTITUTION AND HAD UNDERTAKEN INITIATIVES TO UNDERSCORE ITS COMMITMENT TO THE RESTORATION OF DEMOCRACY. FOR EXAMPLE, ALTHOUGH THERE WAS NO POLITICAL PARTIES LAW PROMULGATED AT THE TIME, THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT VOLUNTARILY INITIATED A DIALOGUE AND PERMITTED REPRESENTATIVES OF POLITICAL GROUPS TO PARTICIPATE IN THAT DIALOGUE LAST YEAR. THE RESULT O F THAT EXPERIMENT WAS DISAPPOINTING. ONE YEAR LATER, BOTH THE OGOVERNMENT OF CHILE AND THE POOLITICAL PARTIE S WERE WORSE OFF THAN BEFORE THAT 1983 DIALOGUE BEGAN. THE PARTIES WERE DIVIDED AMONG THEMSELVES AND SOME POLITICIANS HAD TAKEN ADVANTAGE OF THE SITUATION TO WORK WITH COMMUNISTS AND LEFTIST GROUPS TO DISRUPT THE DIALOGUE AND PROMOTE DISORDER.

--THE OPPOSITION ALSO MADE UNREASONABLE DEMANDS. THE DEMOCRATIC ALLIANCE WANTED IMMEDIATE ELECTIONS FOR A CONSTITUTIONAL ASSEMBLY AND THEY REFUSED TO RECOGNIZE THE LEGITIMACY OF THE GOVERNMENT OF CHILE AND THE 1980 CONSITUTION. MEANWHILE, THEY ORGANIZED PROTESTS; AND TERRORIST INCIDENTS RESULTED IN THE KILLING OF POLICE OFFICERS. NEVERTHELESS, INTERIOR MINISTER JARPA MADE AN EFFORT TO CONTINUE THE DIALOGUE AND PROMOTE THE STUDY OF THE POLITICAL LAWS ESSENTIAL TO THE TRANSITION.

--THE GOVERNMENT'S WORK ON THE POLITICAL PARTIES LAW WAS PRACTICALLY COMPLETE. ONLY TWO ISSUES REMAIN TO BE RESOLVED: THE NUMBER OF SIGNATURES NEEDED TO ESTABLISH A PARTY UNDER THE LAW, AND THE ISSUE OF REGIONAL PARTIES. NEITHER THE OPPOSITION DEMOCRATIC ALLIANCE NOR THE COMMUNISTS SUPPORTED THE DRAFT LAW IN ORDER TO AVOID THE INFERENCE THAT THEY ARE THE OFFICIAL OPPOSITION TO A LEGITIMATE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT. IN ADDITION, THE COMMUNISTS WERE DEDICATED TO A STRATEGY OF VIOLENCE TO PROVOKE CRISIS LEADING TO THE FALL OF THE GOVERNMENT AND SOME ELEMENTS OF THE DEMOCRATIC ALLIANCE SUPPORTED THIS STRATEGY.

--THE GOVERNMENT DECLARED A STATE OF SIEGE, AN ACT PERMITTED BY THE CONSTITUTION, TO DEFEAT THE COMMUNIST THREAT WHICH HAD EMERGED AFTER TEN YEARS. DELINQUENTS IN THE SHANTY TOWNS WERE BEING USED BY THE COMMUNISTS TO ROB AND CREATE AN UNSTABLE SITUATION. FOR THIS REASON THE GOVERNMENT DETAINED DELINQUENTS AND SENT THEM TO CAMPS OUTSIDE SANTIAGO WHERE THEY WILL REMAIN FOR 90 DAYS SINCLAIR SAID HE REALIZED THE STATE OF SIEGE WAS CREATING IMAGE PROBLEMS. FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF CHILE BOTH INTERNALLY AND ABROAD. THE GOVERNMENT WAS PERCEIVED TO BE A BRUTAL DICTATOR-SHIP AND THE OPPOSTION WAS USING THESE PERCEPTIONS TO GAIN SYMPATHY AND SUPPORT FOR THEIR CAMPAIGN AGAINT THE GOVERNMENT.

--MUCH OF THE OPPOSITION'S EFFORT, ACCORDING TO SINCLAIR, WAS BEING DIRECTED FROM MOSCOW BY A SPECIAL GROUP INCLUDING CHILEANS, CUBANS, AND SOVIETS.

--THE STATE OF SIEGE WAS NOT WITHOUT COST TO THE GOVERNMENT BECAUSE IT ERODES THE AUTHORITY OF THE POLICE AND THE ARMY, DETRACTED FROM THE IMAGE OF THE PRESIDENT AND IMPEDED THE TRANSITION. IT ALSO HAD ECONOMIC COSTS, INCLUDING THE INTERNATIONAL BANKS

WHO THOUGHT THERE WAS CHAOS WITHIN CHILE.

--THE GOVERNMENT OF CHILE WANTED TO LIFT THE STATE OF SIEGE BUT THIS DEPENDED ON TWO THINGS, THE GOVERNMENT'S SUCCESS IN DEALING WITH THE COMMUNIST THREAT AND WILLINGNESS OF THE POLITICAL OPPOSITION LEADERSIP TO COLLABORATE IN THE TRANSITION PROCESS.

--THE POSSIBILITY OF EARLIER CONGRESSIONAL ELECTONS THAN IN 1989 AS CALLED FOR BY THE 1980 CONSTITUTION HAD BEEN STUDIED BUT NO DEFINITE DECISION HAD BEEN REACHED BECAUSE ESSENTIAL CONDITIONS FOR ELECTIONS HAD NOT BEEN MET. SINCLAIR EXPLAINED THAT EARLIER ELECTIONS WOLD REQUIRE A MODIFICATION OF THE CONSTITUTION.

SINCLAIR SAID THE CONSTITUTION WAS SUPPORTED BY THE MAJORITY OF THE CHILEANS. HE ASKED FOR OUR SUPPORT IN EFFORTS TO COMPLETE THE TRANSITION PROCESS.

--SINCLAIR SAID THT THE ARMED FORCES WOULD NOT ACCEPT COMMUNIST INFLEUNCE IN CHILEAN POLITICAL LIFE. IN THAT SENSE THEY WERE IN COMPLETE ACCORD WITH THE U.S. GOVERNMENT.

WE HAD TRIED TO KEEP OUR STATEMENTS MODERATE WHILE EXPRESSING THESE CONCERNS AND INSURING THAT OUR POLICY WAS UNDERSTOOD. PRESSURES WERE BEING CREATED FOR THE U.S. TO DISTANCE ITSELF FROM THE GOVERNMENT OF CHILE. WE DID NOT WANT TO FOLOW THAT COURSE; INSTEAD WE WANTED A COOPERATIVE RELATIONSHIP. WE WANTED TO FOSTER THE TRANSITION IN ANY APPROPRIATE WAY WE COULD. IN OUR STATEMENTS, THEREFORE, WE HAD CALLED FOR A RECONCILIATION TO AVOID AN IMPASSE AMONG CONTENDING GROUPS.

--SINCLAIR SAID THERE WAS MOVEMENT ON THE TRANSITION PROCESS EVEN NOW. JARPA REMAINED IN THE CABINET AND WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE RECONCILIATION AND FOR DVANCING THE TRANSITION PROCESS. JARPA HAD INSTRUCTION TO SEEK A CONSENSUS WITH THE OPPOSITION AND TO LAY THE LEGAL FOUNDATION FOR A POLITICAL TRANSITION WITH THE GREATEST PARTCIPATION POSSIBLE. IN HIS LATEST SPEECH, THE PRESIDENT HAD PROMISED THE INSTITUTIONAL PROCESS WOULD GO FORWARD BUT THE PACE OF EVENTS DURING THE NEXT FOUR YEARS DEPENDED ON THE WILLINGNESS OF THE OPPOSITION TO COLLABORATE AND ON INTERNAL DEVELOPMENTS IN CHILE.

SOME OPPOSITION PEOPLE, HE COMPLAINED, HAD BETTER CONTACT WITH THE U.S. GOVERNMENT THAN DID THE GOVERNMENT OF CHILE. HE REITERATED HIS GOVERNMENT'S DESIRE TO MOVE AS QUICKLY AS POSSIBLE ON THE TRANSITION.

RETAIN ITS FLEXIBILITY ON TIMING FOR POLITICAL REASONS. HE ASSURED MR. MICHEL, HOWEVER, THAT THERE WAS A FLEXIBLE PLAN, ONE WHICH COULD NOT BE MADE PUBLIC.

--MR. MICHEL SAID THE ADMINISTRATION HAD TRIED TO BE UNDERSTANDING BUT IT WOULD BE TOUGHER TO PROTECT A COOPERATIVE RELATIONSHIP UNLESS MOVEMNT WAS APPARENT ON THE TRANSITION.

--SINCLAIR REITERATED HIS BELIEF THAT THERE WAS PERCEPTIBLE MOVEMENT AFTER 11 YEARS; THERE WAS EVIDENCE OF PROGRESS TOWARD DEMOCRACY. MANY THAT WERE IN EXILE HAD BEEN ALLOWED TO RETURN. THERE WAS MORE FREEDOM IN THE AREA OF POLITICAL ACTIVITY. HE SAID THERE WERE TWO PARTS TO THE OPPOSITION, ONE INTRANSIGENT, THE OTHER WILLING TO COOPERATE. HE WANTED TO WORK WITH THE SECOND GROUP, THE DEMOCRATIC GROUP; HOWEVER, HE UNDERSCORED THAT IF NO OPPOSITION GROUPS WANTED TO COLLABORATE, THE THEORY THAT, IN FACT, POLAND AND CHILE HAVE MUCH IN COMMON, AND THAT WOULD BE OF GREAT INTEREST TO THE HOLY FATHER. AFTER ALL, SAYS THE CARDINAL, BOTH COUNTRIES ARE DICTATORSHIPS, UNDER TOTALITARIAN REGIMES, AND IN EACH CASE THE CHURCH IS SUFFERING FROM CONFRONTATION WITH THE GOVERNMENT. OBVIOUSLY, SAYS THE AMBASSADOR, THE CARDINAL IS A VERY LIBERAL - EVEN RADICAL - SOCIALIST, COMPLETELY AGAINST THE PINOCHET GOVERNMENT. RIESLE DOES NOT BELIEVE THE HOLY FATHER HAS BEEN TAKEN IN BY THIS RHETORIC BUT, NEVERTHELESS, HE IS TAKING NO CHANCES. RIESLE IS PREPARING A NON-PAPER FOR PRESENTATION TO THE POPE ON THIS MATTER. RIESLE MENTIONED THAT THE CARDINAL IS EXPOUNDING OTHER RADICAL THEORIES ON WHICH THE AMBASSADOR WILL ALSO PREPARE COUNTERARGUMENTS FOR THE VATICAN.

4. RIESLE WENT ON TO DISCUSS THE CURRENT "STATE OF SIEGE" IN CHILE AND THE REASON FOR IT. HE NOTED THAT FOR MANY MONTHS PRIOR TO THE DECLARATION OF THE STATE OF SIEGE THERE WERE ANYWHERE FROM 8 TO 11 KILLINGS PER MONTH. SINCE THE STATE OF SIEGE WAS DECLARED, THERE HAVE BEEN NONE, SAYS HE. HE EXPRESSED THE HOPE OF HIMSELF AND HIS GOVERNMENT THAT THIS CONDITION WILL SOON BE LIFTED.

5. THE AMBASSADOR MENTIONED THE RECENT DETENTION OF TWO PRIESTS, A DEACON AND THE DEPORTATION OF A JOURNALIST. THE PRIESTS AND THE DEACON WERE REMANDED TO THE CUSTODY OF THE NUNCIO, WHO IN TURN SENT THEM TO THEIR HOMES. RIESLE ~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

EXPRESSED THE OPINION THAT THEY WERE ALL EITHER LIBERAL OR RADICAL AND WERE APPREHENDED IN THE ACT OF DISTURBING THE PEACE AND FOMENTING PUBLIC DISTURBANCES. THE JOURNALIST WAS DEPORTED FOR DELIBERATELY FABRICATING A STORY CONCERNING THE KILLING OF TWO AND THE INJURY OF ONE PERSON BY THE FEDERAL AUTHORITIES. COMMENT. THIS ALL SQUARES WITH SANTIAGO 7728. END COMMENT.

6. AND FINALLY THE AMBASSADOR MENTIONED THAT THE ECONOMIC SITUATION OF CHILE IS GRIM, BUT THE FEELING IS THAT IT IS BEGINNING TO IMPROVE. THERE ARE RECENT STORIES ABOUT A CALIFORNIA FIRM SHOWING THE INTENTION TO INVEST HEAVILY IN A LIQUIFIED PETROLEUM COMPLEX IN SOUTHERN CHILE. THIS PROJECT WOULD BE APPROXIMATELY 18 CHILEAN WITH THE BALANCE TO BE U.S. INVESTORS. THE METHANE (OR PROPANE) WOULD BE SHIPPED TO CALIFORNIA. THE AMBASSADOR NOTED THAT PRESIDENT PINOCHET IS BASICALLY A BELIEVER IN THE FREE ENTERPRISE SYSTEM AND SUPPLY-SIDE ECONOMICS AS THE BEST WAY TO CREATE JOBS - SOMETHING THAT IS SORELY NEEDED IN CHILE. RIESLE EXPRESSED THE THOUGHT THAT, GIVEN THE FACT THAT CHILE WAS "BANKRUPT" WHEN ALLENDE WAS DEPOSED, THE COUNTRY HAS RECOVERED REMARKABLY IN A RELATIVELY SHORT TIME UNDER PINOCHET'S DIRECTION.

7. RIESLE PROMISED TO GIVE ME COPIES OF THE NON-PAPERS THAT HE IS PREPARING FOR THE VATICAN SECRETARY OF STATE. HE APPEARS TO HAVE MORE TIME FOR SUCH MATTERS NOW THAT THE BEAGLE CHANNEL ACCORD HAS BEEN SIGNED. HE NOTED THAT THE ACCORD MUST BE RATIFIED BY A UNANIMOUS VOTE OF THE FOUR MEMBERS OF THE MILITARY JUNTA, BUT HE SPECULATED THAT, DESPITE THE PUBLIC STATEMENTS OF THE SECRETARY OF THE NAVY JUST PRIOR TO THE ARGENTINE REFERENDUM, THERE WILL BE

SUBJ: DAS MICHEL CONVERSATION WITH ARCHBISHOP FRESNO, NOV 30

1. (C)-ENTIRE TEXT.

2. MEMORANDUM OF CONVERSATION BY ARA/SC DIRECTOR MORLEY ON SUBJECT I SBEING POUCHED TO THE DEPARTMENT. THE FOLLOWING IS A SUMMARY OF THAT MEMCON:

--DEPUTY ASSISTANT SECRETARY MICHEL EXPRESSING HIS CONCERN ABOUT CHILE, SAID HE WANTED TO HAVE A BETTER UNDERSTANDING OF RECENT DEVELOPMENTS SO THAT HE WOULD BE IN A BETTER POSITION TO EVALUATE THE IMPACT ON U.S. INTERESTS AND ON THE PEOPLE OF CHILE. HE SAID U.S. POLICIES WERE AS FOLLOWS: WE FAVORED THE PROCESS OF TRANSITION TO A DEMOCRACY. WE WERE ENCOURAGED WHEN THE DIALOGUE BEGAN LAST YEAR AND WERE DISAPPOINTED WHEN IT BROKE DOWN; WE SENSED THAT THERE WAS NOW A MUTUAL SENSE OF FRUSTRATION BETWEEN THE GOVERNMENT OF CHILE AND THE OPPOSITION. WE FEARED THAT A POLARIZATION PROCESS COULD BE UNDERWAY. ~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

--THE ARCHBISHOP SAID THAT HE WAS CONCERNED THAT TENSION WILL BECOME WORSE AND THAT THERE WILL BE MORE BLOODSHED. THE RESPONSIBLE OPPOSITION SHARED THIS CONCERN AND WANTED TO GET THIS MESSAGE TO THE GOVERNMENT OF CHILE. HE HAD SPOKEN TO VARIOUS PEOPLE IN CHILE ABOUT ORGANIZING A BROAD GROUP TO DEVELOP

IDEAS ON WAYS OUT OF THE CURRENT DILEMNA. THE ONLY WINNERS FROM THE CURRENT SITUATION WERE THE COMMUNISTS, TERRORISTS, AND OTHER EXTREMISTS. A WAY OUT OF THE IMPASSE MIGHT POSSIBLY INVOLVE A NATIONAL CONGRESS.

--FRESNO WAS DISTURBED ABOUT CURRENT TRENDS AND SIGNS THAT THE REGIME WAS BECOMING HARDER AND MORE REPRESSIVE ESPECIALLY IN DEALING WITH THE COMMUNISTS. THIS VICIOUS CYCLE HAD TO BE BROKEN.

--MR. MICHEL SAID THAT HE HOPED DIFFERENCES BETWEEN THE CHURCH AND THE GOC DOULBE RESOLVED SO THAT THE CHURCH COULD ACT AS AN INTERLOCUTOR.

--ARCHBISHOP FRESNO REPLIED THAT SOME WITHIN THE GOVERNMENT WERE TRYING TO NEUTRALIZE AND DISCREDIT THE CHURCH. TH GOVERNMENT CLAIM THAT THE CABINET CRISIS RESULTED FROM A MEETING IN ROME BY CHURCH REPRESENTATIVES AND EXILE GROUPS DID NOT MAKE SENSE. FRESNO SAID HE TOLD JARPA THAT HE WOULD ACCEPT CRITICISM THAT THE MEETING HAD BEEN AN EXERCISE IN BAD JUDGMENT BUT NOTHING MORE.

--MR. MICHEL REFERRED TO THE PAPAL STATEMENT ABOUT CHILE AND NOTED THAT THE AGREEMENT BETWEEN ARGENTINA AND CHILE HAD BEEN SIGNED AND HOPED THAT THE POPE

HAD USED THE OCCASION TO CONVEY TO THE FOREIGN MINISTRY DEL VALLE HIS CONCERN ABOUT EVENTS IN CHILE. FRESNO AGREED AND NOTED THAT DEL VALLE HAD BEEN RECEIVED PRIVATELY BY THE POPE NOVEMBER 29.

--TURNING TO THE ECONOMIC SITUATION, FRESNO ASKED IF THE USA COULD ENCOURAGE COMPANIES TO INVEST IN CHILE. HE UNDERSTOOD THAT THAT WOULD OCCUR ONLY IF THEY WERE ASSURED THAT THERE WOULD BE NO REVOLUTION OR LONG PERIOD OF INSTABILITY.

--MR. MICHEL SAID THAT COMPANIES INVEST ON THE BASIS OF BUSINESS CONSIDERATIONS; BUT, IT WAS OBVIOUS THAT THE POLITICAL ENVIRONMENT IN CHILE WOULD AFFECT THAT DECISION PROCESS.

--THE ARCHBISHOP ASKED IF THERE WAS NO MIDDLE ROAD BETWEEN COMMUNISM AND CAPITALISM. MR. MICHEL SAID OTHER ALTERNATIVES TO CAPITALISM HAD NOT WORKED. THE CAPITALIST APPROACH EMPHASIZED EFFICIENCY BECAUSE

ECONOMIC DECISIONS WERE MADE ON THE BASIS OF SOUND BUSINESS PRACTICES. ALTERNATIVES, BASED ON POLITICAL CONSIDERATIONS, WERE MORE COSTLY.

--IN CLOSING, MR. MICHEL WONDERED WHETHER IT WOULD BE POSSIBLE FOR THE POPE TO USE THE RATIFICATION CEREMONY OF THE TREATY BETWEEN ARGENTINA AND CHILE TO VISIT CHILE AND APPEAL TO ALL GROUPS IN CHILE FOR POLITICAL RECONCILIATION. ARCHBISHOP FRESNO PERSONALLY THOUGHT THAT SUCH A VISIT WOULD NOT TAKE PLACE FOR AT LEAST A YEAR.

SUBJ: 39TH UNGA: MEXICAN RESOLUTION ON CHILE, AGENDA ITEM 12

REF: A) USUN 3551, B) DLOUHY/KEANE TELCON 12/5/84

1. (C)-ENTIRE TEXT.

2. WE STRONGLY RECOMMEND THAT THE U.S. VOTE AGAINST THE MEXICAN RESOLUTION. SINCE THE BEGINNING OF THIS ADMINISTRATION THE U.S. HAS PROMOTED THE PRINCIPLE, EMBODIED IN THE UNIVERSAL DECLARATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS, THAT HUMAN RIGHTS SHOULD BE DEFENDED AGAINST INFRINGEMENT WITH EQUAL VIGOR IN ALL NATIONS. CONSISTENT WITH THAT POLICY, AND WITH A POLICY OF TRYING TO THWART SOVIET ATTEMPTS TO ISOLATE REGIMES THAT ARE HOSTILE TO THE USSR, THE U.S. HAS OPPOSED SINGLING OUT SPECIFIC COUNTRIES FOR RECRIMINATION WHEN OTHER NATIONS WITH EQUALLY BAD OR GROSSLY WORSE RECORDS OF VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS REMAIN UNSCATHED BECAUSE THEY ARE SOVIET FRIENDS. WE AM CONVINCED THAT U.S. INTERESTS WILL BE BEST SERVED BY CONSTANCY IN ADHERENCE TO THE PRINCIPLE THAT WE DO NOT ACCEPT A DOUBLE STANDARD, IN LATIN AMERICA OR ANYWHERE ELSE.
~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

3. ADMITTEDLY, CHILE HAS SUFFERED REGRESSION IN ITS RESPECT FOR FUNDAMENTAL CIVIL AND POLITICAL RIGHTS, AS IT HAS WITH RESPECT TO THE TRANSITION TO DEMOCRACY, LARGELY DUE TO THE STATE OF SIEGE. IT REMAINS TO BE SEEN HOW LONG THAT REGRESSION LASTS. THERE ARE SIGNS ALREADY OF A RELAXATION IN A FEW

UNCLASSIFIED

INDICATORS (E.G., REDUCTION OF THE CURFEW). WHETHER THE REGRESSION IS FLEETING OR NOT, HOWEVER, NO ONE CAN SERIOUSLY DOUBT THAT THERE ARE MANY NATIONS, PROBABLY HALF THOSE IN THE UN GENERAL ASSEMBLY, WHERE SUCH RIGHTS AND MANY OTHERS WHICH ARE STILL RESPECTED IN CHILE ARE VIOLATED TO A MUCH GREATER EXTENT AND WITH NUMBING CONSTANCY. THOSE NATIONS INCLUDE CUBA, THE USSR, POLAND AND MANY OTHERS. STRIPPED TO ITS ESSENTIALS, IT SIS ON THIS PRINCIPLE THAT THE U.S. HAS BASED ITS OPPOSITION TO SELECTIVE ATTACKS ON EL SALVADOR, ISRAEL AND CHILE, AND WE HAVE CONSISTENTLY OPPOSED A SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR ON CHILE. TO PARAPHRASE FROM THE U.S. DELEGATION STATEMENT IN DECEMBER 1982 TO THE UNGA, WE THINK THAT SINGLING OUT CHILE FOR SUCH TREATMENT IN NO WAY ADVANCES THE CAUSE OF HUMAN RIGHTS. RATHER, IT CHEAPENS THE HUMAN RIGHTS STANDARD BY ARBITRARY AND SELECTIVEINVOCATION.

4. FROM REFTELCON WE UNDERSTAND THAT THE U.S. WILL CO-SPONSOR A RESOLUTION REQUESTING THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR FOR EL SALVADOR IN ORDER TO BRING ATTENTION TO THE IMPROVEMENT IN HUMAN RIGHTS OBSERVANCE IN THAT COUNTRY. WE AGREE THAT EXCEPTIONAL IMRPOVEMENT IN HUMAN RIGHTS OBSERVANCE IN EL SALVADOR SHOULD BE NOTED IN SOME WAY, AS IT SHOULD BE IN OTHER COUNTRIES SUCH AS ARGENTINA, BUT A SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR

DOES NOT APPEAR THE BEST WAY, NOR CONSISTENT WITH THE GENERAL POLICY. WE DO NOT SEE ANY INCONSISTENCY WITH OUR SUPPORT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS OPPOSING THE SINGLING OUT OF THE CLASS OF COUNTRIES, LATIN AMERICAN NATIONS, THAT ARE HOSTILE TO THE USSR, FOR SELECTIVE RECRIMINATION.

5. WE SHOULD ALSO BEAR IN MIND THAT CHILE HAS GENERALLY BEEN SUPPORTIVE OF U.S. POSITIONS IN THE UN AND OTHER INTERNATIONAL FORA, EVEN IN CASES WHERE ITS OWN PERCEIVED INTERESTS WERE NOT AT PLAY. SUPPORT IN SUCH CASES IS NOT NECESSARILY UN-CONDITIONAL.

SUBJECT: U.S. POLICY REVIEW: COOPERATING WITH EUROPEAN GOVERNMENTS

REF: (A) SANTIAGO 7536 (B) SANTIGO 2220

1. CONFIDENTIAL - ENTIRE TEXT.

2. WE HAVE RECEIVED SOUNDING FROM THE FRENCH, UK AND ITALIAN GOVERNMENTS IN THE PAST WEEK OR TWO CONCERNING A JOINT APPROACH TO ENCOURAGING A RETURN TO DEMOCRACY IN CHILE. THE UK AMBASSADOR SAID HE WAS INFORMED THAT DAS LOWELL KILDAY HAD MADE CONTACT WITH THE UK EMBASSY IN WASHINGTON, AND RAISED THE POSSIBILITY O A SENIOR U.S. OFFICIAL'S TRAVEL TO EUROPE TO COORDINATE SOME KIND OF A JOINT ACTION. WE HAVE NOT BEEN INFORMED BY THE DEPARTMENT OF ITS INTENTIONS OR PLANS WITH RESPECT TO SUCH JOINT ACTIN, THE EXACT NATURE OF WHICH IS UNCLEAR BOTH TO THE U.K. AMBASSADOR AND TO THIS EMBASSY. IF THERE HAS BEEN A POLICY ADOPTED ON THIS MATTER,

A SIMILAR COORDINATION OF APPROACH TOWARDS CHILE

THE MIR HAS BEEN RESPONSIBLE FOR THE ASSASSINATION OF CHILEAN OFFICIALS, AND NUMEROUS OTHER TERRORIST INCIDENTS FOR YEARS. ACCORDDING TO A REPORT WE RECEIVED LAST DECEMBER, LOCAL FOREIGN AMBASSADORS, INCLUDING THE AMERICAN AND BRAZILIAN AMBASSADORS, HAVE ALSO BEEN TARGETED. FRANCE'S RELATIONS WITH THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT ARE STRAINED OVER THE ISSUE OF SUPPORT FOR THE MIR AND THE GENERALLY HOSTILE POSTURE ADOPTED TOWARDS THE PINOCHET GOVERNMENT.

3. IN LIGHT OF THE STRONG PUBLIC CONDEMINATION OF INTERNATIONAL TERRORISM BY PRESIDENT REAGAN AND SECRETARY SHULTZ, THE EXTENSIVE DAMAGE DONE BY TERRORIST TO U.S. LIVES AND PROPERTY, AND THE SECRETARY'S COMMITMENT TO TAKING ACTION AGAINST ANTI-U.S. TERRORISTS, IT IS NOT READILY COMPREHENSIBLE WHY THE DPARTMENT IS IN CONTACT WITH THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT CONCERNING SOME KIND OF JOINT APPROACH TO CHILE WHEN THIS SAME FRENCH GOVERNMENT HAS BEEN SUPPORTING (AND LIKELY CONTINUES TO DO SO IN PARIS THOUGH APPARENTLY NOT IN SANTIAGO) THE CUBAN-TRAINED TERRORIST MIR, AT THE VERY MOMENT WHEN THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT IS ENGAGED N AN OPEN WAR AGAINST THE MIR AND OTHER TERRORIST GROUPS. WE ARE IN COMPLETE AGREEMENT WITH THE PRESIDENT AND SECRETARY ON THE NEED FOR ANTI-TERRORIST ACTIOM. IT IS NOT AT ALL APPARENT, HOWEVER, NOW COOPERATION WITH FRANCE, WHOSE RELATIOS WITH CHILE ARE STRAINED, WILL ADVANCE THIS PARTICULAR U.S. INTERST, OR U.S. INTEREST IN FOSTERING A DEMOCRATIC TRANSITION IN CHILE.

4. IN ORDER FOR THIS EMBASSY TO EFFECTIVELY COORDINATE US RELATIONS WITH REPRESENTATIVES OF THE EUROPEAN GOVERNMENTS, IT IS ESSENTIAL THAT THE DEPARTMENT

THE ONLY RELIABLE PARTNERS WITH WHICH WE BELIEVE SOME REASONABLE CONSTRUCTIVE POLICY COORDINATION COULD BE POSSIBLE ARE THE GOVERNMENTS OF THE UNITED KINGDOM AND THE FEDERA GERMAN REPUBLIC.

E.O. 12356: DECL: OADR
TAGS: PREL, SHUM, ECON, CI, US
SUBJECT: ASSISTANT SECRETARY MOTLEY'S NOVEMBER 30 MEETING WITH CHILEAN AMBASSADOR

1. ~~SECRET~~ ENTIRE TEXT.

2. CHILEAN AMBASSADOR HERNAN FELIPE ERRAZURIZ WAS SUMMONED TO DEPARTMENT NOVEMBER 30 TO MEET WITH ARA ASSISTANT SECRETARY MOTLEY. MOTLEY MADE CLEAR TO ERRAZURIZ THAT THE UNITED STATES IS CONCERNED ABOUT THE CURRENT SITUATION IN CHILE AND THAT THIS SITUATION IS IMPACTING ON RELATIONS WITH THE U.S.

3. MOTLEY TOLD ERRAZURIZ THAT, NOTWITHSTANDING THE DETERIORATION OF CONDITIONS IN CHILE, IN THE LAST TWO WEEKS THE UNITED STATES HAD VOTED IN FAVOR OF TWO LOANS

~~SECRET~~

FOR CHILE IN THE INTER-AMERICAN DEVELOPMENT BANK. WE CHOSE DELIBERATELY NOT TO EMULATE THE PRIOR ADMINISTRATION AND TO BASE OUR VOTES ON ECONOMIC CRITERIA.

4. MOTLEY ALSO ADVISED ERRAZURIZ THAT FOLLOWING CONSULTATIONS WITH THE DEPARTMENT, THE EXIMBANK BOARD

~~EXDIS~~
~~SECRET~~

UNCLASSIFIED

APPROVED ONE LOAN GUARANTEE FOR CHILE (32 TRUCKS FOR CODELCO) AND DEFERRED A SECOND LOAN GUARANTEE (MICROWAVE COMMUNICATIONS FOR THE MINISTRY OF DEFENSE).

5. ERRAZURIZ WAS BEING ADVISED OF THIS SITUATION BECAUSE WE WANT THE GOC TO KNOW THAT THE SITUATION THAT HAS BEEN CREATED IS GOING TO HAVE AN IMPACT ON OUR ABILITY TO DEAL WITH THE GOC. FOR EXAMPLE, CHILE IS GOING TO BECOME A MAJOR ISSUE IN THE CONGRESS, UNLESS THERE ARE SIGNIFICANT CHANGES IN CHILE;

THAT CONGRESS IS GOING TO FOCUS MORE AND MORE ON CHILE, WHICH MEANS CONTINUING PROBLEMS FOR CONSTRUCTIVE U.S.-CHILEAN RELATIONS.

6. NEXT, MOTLEY SAID HE WANTED ERRAZURIZ TO KNOW THAT THE GOC WAS MISINFORMED IN EXPELLING UPI BUREAU CHIEF ANTHONY BOADLE. THE UPI STORY THAT WAS SENT OUT WAS SENT TO THEIR DESK, NOT THEIR SUBSCRIBERS, AND THE DRAFT REPORT WAS KILLED IN JUST A FEW MINUTES AFTER THE FACTS WERE ESTABLISHED. MOTLEY SAID THAT CHILE WILL LOSE THE BATTLE IF IT PICKS A FIGHT WITH THE INTERNATIONAL PRESS.

7. MOTLEY THEN ADVISED ERRAZURIZ THAT WE ARE OBLIGATED UNDER U.S. LAW TO CONCERN OURSELVES WITH THE SAFETY OF AMERICAN TRAVELLERS TO CHILE. IN LIGHT OF THE SITUATION CREATRED UNDER THE STATE OF SIEGE, WE WANTED THE GOC TO

~~SECRET~~

KNOW THAT, UNLESS THE STATE OF SIEGE WERE LIFTED VERY SOON, WE WOULD FEEL COMPELLED TO ISSUE A TRAVEL ADVISORY FOR CHILE. WE ARE NOT TRADING OR BARGAINING WITH THE GOC ON THIS POINT. WE DID WANT THE GOC TO KNOW, HOWEVER, THAT OUR FLEXIBILITY HAS BEEN REDUCED.

8. THE GOC SHOULD NOT TAKE THIS STEP AS A THREAT. THE U.S. WANTS TO HELP IMPROVE THE SITUATION, NOT PLACE ADDITIONAL BURDENS ON THOSE WORKING TO ALLEVIATE THE PROBLEMS. ARA PRINCIPAL DEPUTY ASSISTANT SECRETARY MICHEL WAS MEETING WITH GOC OFFICIALS AND OTHERS IN SANTIAGO IN THAT SPIRIT.

9. HOWEVER, WE WANTED THE GOC TO KNOW THAT THE STEPS TAKEN BY THE GOC RECENTLY ARE IN OUR VIEW COUNTERPRODUCTIVE . THEY COULD BE TAKEN STRAIGHT OUT OF A SCRIPT WRITTEN BY CASTRO. THE CUBANS WANT TO PUSH REGIMES INTO TAKING REPRESSIVE COUNTERMEASURES. PINOCHET IS READING FROM CASTRO'S SCRIPT. THE SCENARIO BEING PLAYED OUT IN CHILE IS THE SAME AS WE HAVE SEEN ELSEWHERE IN THE REGION, IN WHICH THE CENTER HAS BEEN SQUEEZED OUT.

10. WE RECOGNIZE THAT EVENTS IN CHILE ARE INTERNAL MATTERS. WE ALSO DO NOT NEED TO EXPLAIN AGAIN TO THE GOC WHERE WE STAND IDEOLOGICALLY. HOWEVER, WE WANTED THE GOC TO HAVE NO DOUBT ABOUT OUR VIEWS.

11. ERRAZURIZ RESPONDED BY DISAVOWING STEPS TAKEN AGAINST THE MEDIA. HE REMINDED MOTLEY THAT DURING THE ENTIRE TIME HE WAS SECRETARY GENERAL OF GOVERNMENT HE DID NOT TOUCH ONE NEWSPAPER OR MAGAZINE. HE RECOUNTED SEVERAL INSTANCES OF PROBLEMS THAT WERE WORKED OUT QUIETLY, BEHIND THE SCENES. THE UPI PROBLEM HE HOPED WOULD BE WORKED OUT DURING THE VISIT DECEMBER 4 OF A UPI REPRESENTATIVE TO SANTIAGO. THE PRESS SITUATION THAT THE GOVERNMENT HAD CREATED WAS A MESS AND STUPID.

~~SECRET~~

12. DESPITE THE NEGATIVE PERSPECTIVE, ERRAZURIZ SAID THAT HE FELT THIS WAS AN AUSPICIOUS MOMENT TO TRY TO MAKE SOMETHING GOOD HAPPEN. AS HE HAD DONE IN THREE PREVIOUS MEETINGS OVER THE PAST THREE WEEKS, ERRAZURIZ ENDORSED THE STATE OF SIEGE AS NECESSARY TO COMBAT THE GROWING TERRORIST PROBLEM. HE AGAIN REFERRED TO VAGUE PLANS BY PRESIDENT PINOCHET FOR A "PLANNED DECOMPRESSION" OVER THE COMING WEEKS. STOPPING THE PROTESTS WILL HELP GET THIS DECOMPRESSION UNDERWAY. ERRAZURIZ REMINDED MOTLEY THAT HE HAD GONE TO SANTIAGO TO GAUGE THE SITUATION FOR HIMSELF AND HAD URGED PINOCHET TO "DECOMPRESS."

13. ERRAZURIZ ACCEPTED THAT IT WAS UP TO THE CHILEANS THEMSELVES TO STRAIGHTEN OUT THE SITUATION. HE ACCEPTED THAT THE CHILEAN COMMUNIST PARTY WANTS THE STATE OF SIEGE MAINTAINED INDEFINITELY AND THAT IT WAS UP TO THE GOC TO DECIDE WHETHER IT WOULD PLAY THIS GAME OR NOT. NEVERTHELESS, ERRAZURIZ FELT THAT THE SECURITY SITUATION WAS BETTER THAN IT WAS TWO YEARS AGO. THE COST HAS BEEN HIGH IN TERMS OF CHILE'S INTERNATIONAL POSITION. THE GOC JUDGED THE OUTCOME WORTH THIS COST.

14. MOTLEY WELCOMED ERRAZURIZ' JUDGEMENT THAT THIS WAS A GOOD TIME FOR SOME POSITIVE STEPS TO BE TAKEN. HE TOLD ERRAZURIZ THAT WE AWAIT FIRM INDICATIONS OF SUCH STEPS. WE FULLY AGREE THAT SOME "DECOMPRESSION" IS NEEDED IN CHI E.

15. WE RECOGNIZED THAT SOME IN THE GOC THINK THINGS ARE

MOVING TOO FAST, WHILE THE OPPOSITION THINKS THINGS ARE MOVING TOO SLOW. WE WERE NOT DICTATING TO THE GOC WHAT IT SHOULD DO. WE WERE, HOWEVER, MAKING CLEAR WHAT IS

~~SECRET~~

LIKELY TO HAPPEN, PARTICULARLY WHEN THE CONGRESS COMES BACK INTO SESSION, UNLESS THERE ARE SOME MAJOR IMPROVEMENTS.

16. ERRAZURIZ SAID THAT HE DID NOT UNDERSTAND WHY WE WOULD ISSUE A TRAVEL ADVISORY AFTER THE PROTESTS HAVE BEEN STOPPED, WITH NO DEATHS FOR THE FIRST TIME IN ALL THE PROTESTS OVER THE PAST YEAR AND A HALF. HE ASKED WHETHER WE WERE GOING TO ISSUE TRAVEL ADVISORIES FOR PERU AND BOLIVIA GIVEN THE STRIKES THERE. MOTLEY RESPONDED THAT THE STATE OF SIEGE IN CHILE WAS AN ACT TAKEN IN A POLITICAL CONTEXT, BUT WHICH HAS REPERCUSSIONS FOR THE SAFETY OF U.S. CITIZENS.

17. ERRAZURIZ ASKED IF THE U.S. WAS IN CONTACT WITH THE CATHOLIC CHURCH ON THE PROBLEM IN CHILE. MOTLEY SAID THAT WE HAD NOTHING TO REPORT TO HIM ON THIS ISSUE AT THIS TIME BUT WE RECOGNIZE THAT THE CHURCH IS A KEY ELEMENT IN THE CURRENT EQUATION.

18. ERRAZURIZ DISPARAGED THE OPPOSITION POLITICAL LEADERSHIP AT LENGTH, SAYING THAT THEY HAVE LEARNED NOTHING IN THE PAST TEN YEARS. THE ISSUES CONFRONTING CHILE TODAY ARE THE SAME AS IN 1970, PRIVATE PROPERTY AND THE ROLE OF THE COMMUNISTS. HE DID NOT EXPECT MUCH FROM THESE PARTY LEADERS, EXCEPT THAT THEY WOULD CONTINUE TO FIGHT WITH EACH OTHER.

19. ERRAZURIZ ENDED THE CONVERSATION BY SAYING THAT EIGHTEEN MONTHS AGO SOME IN THE GOVERNMENT THOUGHT THAT THE ECONOMIC CLIMATE WOULD IMPROVE, PERMITTING POLITICAL MOVEMENT. ALL HAVE NOW CONCLUDED THAT THIS POLITICAL MOVEMENT IS GOING TO HAVE TO TAKE PLACE UNDER DIFFICULT ECONOMIC CIRCUMSTANCES. THE GOC HAD TRIED TO RATIONALIZE THE PRIVATE SECTOR IN ODER TO GIVE THE GENERAL POPULATION

~~SECRET~~

SOME STAKE IN THE SYSTEM WORTH DEFENDING. NOW THEY

CONFRONT A DIFFICULT ECONOMIC SITUATION, MONEY FLOWING FREELY INTO CHILE TO THE COMMUNISTS, 1800 TERRORIST INCIDENTS THIS YEAR AND CONTINUED POVERTY FEEDING BOTH. HE CONCLUDED THAT THE GOC HAD TO DO MORE, BUT THAT THE SITUATION WAS DIFFICULT.

20. MOTLEY URGED THAT THE GOC TAKE STEPS NOW WHICH WOULD BE BENEFICIAL TO OUR COMMON INTERESTS, BEFORE CHILE BECOMES EVEN MORE ISOLATED.

SUBJECT: FIRST HUMAN RIGHTS CONGRESS OF EL SALVADOR, NOVEMBER 21-23, 1984

1. SUMMARY: THE "FIRST HUMAN RIGHTS CONGRESS OF EL SALVADOR" WAS HELD IN SAN SALVADOR FROM NOVEMBER 21-23 AND ATTENDED BY SOME 400 SALVADORAN AND INTERNATIONAL GUESTS. THE THEME OF THIS HIGHLY POLEMICAL AND SUPERBLY ORCHESTRATED PRODUCTION WAS UNYIELDING OPPOSITION TO THE DUARTE GOVERNMENT AND TO U.S. ECONOMIC AND MILITARY [redacted]

SUPPORT TO EL SALVADOR. THE SPEAKERS IGNORED THAT HAVING SUCH A CONGRESS OPENLY AND FREELY IN EL SALVADOR IS IN ITSELF A LANDMARK EVENT. THE FOREIGN DELEGATES WERE TREATED TO 3 DAYS OF INDOCTRINATION BY PRO-FMLN AND FMLN FRONT GROUPS WHOSE SOLE PURPOSE WAS TO USE THE HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUE AS COVER FOR A BLATANTLY POLITICAL AGITATION AND PROPAGANDA EXERCISE.

THE SPEAKERS USED DATED AND GRUESOME VIDEOS TO DRAMATIZE THEIR CLAIMS, (SOME OF THE FOOTAGE WAS FMLN PRODUCED). THEY CHOSE TO IGNORE TOTALLY THE DRAMATIC DECLINE IN POLITICAL KILLINGS FROM 1980 TO THE PRESENT; THE PRAISEWORTHY EFFORTS BY THE SECURITY FORCES TO CONFORM WITH INTERNATIONALLY ACCEPTED STANDARDS OF HUMAN RIGHTS, THE WORK OF THE OFFICIAL SALVADORAN HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION, AND THE EFFORTS THE SALVADORAN MILITARY IS MAKING IN THE HUMAN RIGHTS FIELD. THE REPEATED BITTER ATTACKS AGAINST THE SALVADORAN GOVERNMENT WERE NOT COUNTERBALANCED BY EVEN PASSING REFERENCE TO GUERRILLA ATROCITIES. END SUMMARY.

2. THE "FIRST HUMAN RIGHTS CONGRESS OF EL SALVADOR" WAS HELD IN SAN SALVADOR ON NOVEMBER 21-23, 1984 UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE NON-OFFICIAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION (CDHES-COMISION DE DERECHOS HUMANOS DE EL SALVADOR, NO GUBERNAMENTAL). ACCORDING TO INFORMATION PROVIDED BY CDHES, SOME 350 INTERNATIONAL AND NATIONAL GROUPS WERE REPRESENTED. PRESIDING OVER THE OPENING CEREMONY WERE: DR. FERNANDO AUGUSTO MENDEZ, VICE PRESIDENT OF CDHES; LEON ROLDO, EX-VICE PRESIDENT OF ECUADOR; MARJORIE TUITTE, HUMAN RIGHTS REPRESENTATIVE OF THE US NATIONAL COUNCIL OF CHURCHES AND CHURCHWOMEN; MARIA JULIA HERNANDEZ, REPRESENTATIVE OF THE CATHOLIC [redacted]

SOME OF THE GROUPS REPRESENTED INCLUDED THE NATIONAL LAWYER'S GUILD, THE ORGANIZATION OF VETERANS AGAINST THE WAR, CENTRAL AMERICAN REFUGEE CENTER (WASH DC) EAST BAY SANCTUARY CHURCHES (BERKELEY), EL RESCATE (LOS ANGELES) IFCO,(NEW YORK) CENTRO PASTORAL LATINOAMERICANO, (SAN FRANCISCO), COALITION FOR PUBLIC SANCTUARY (CINCINNATI), ARCHBISHOP ARNULFO ROMERO RELIEF FUND (LOS ANGELES). MEMBERS OF THE LOCAL, U.S. AND EUROPEAN PRESS COVERED THE EVENT.

3. THE VICE PRESIDENT OF COHES, DR. MENDEZ AND MARIA JULIA HERNANDEZ OF THE CHURCH LEGAL AIDE OFFICE (TUTELA LEGAL) WELCOMED THE ATTENDEES TO THE CONFERENCE. DR. MENDEZ SET THE TONE OF THE CONGRESS BY ASSERTING THAT PRESIDENT REAGAN IS RESPONSIBLE FOR DEEPENING THE WAR BY SEEKING A MILITARY SOLUTION RATHER THAN A NEGOTIATED PEACE. ACCORDING TO MENDEZ, COHES WAS MOTIVATED TO ORGANIZE THE CONGRESS BECAUSE OF THE CONTINUING HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS IN EL SALVADOR, THUS ALLOWING THE DELEGATES TO SEE FOR THEMSELVES

EVANGELICAL COMMITTEE FOR JUSTICE, THE CARACAS UNIVERSITY PARISH OF THE EPIPHANY, THE VICE PRESIDENT OF SOCIALIST INTERNATIONAL, AND ED BROADBENT, MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT FROM CANADA.

IN HIS HOMILY OF NOVEMBER 25 ARCHBISHOP RIVERA Y DAMAS BLESSED THE CONGRESS AND WISHED IT EVERY SUCCESS. HE SENT THE FOLLOWING MESSAGE: "SETTING ASIDE THE PROPAGANDA OBJECTIVES THAT SOME MAY HAVE...I CONSIDER THE STAGING OF A HUMAN RIGHTS CONGRESS HERE, TODAY, IN EL SALVADOR AN INDICATION THAT PEACE CAN OVERCOME WAR, THAT THE DIGNITY OF MAN WILL OVERCOME VIOLENCE..I HOPE THAT...HUMAN RIGHTS WILL BE RESPECTED EVERYWHERE, IN EL SALVADOR OR NICARAGUA, IN CHILE OR IN POLAND. THIS IS THE ONLY WAY THAT I SEE THE PROMOTION AND DEFENSE OF HUMAN RIGHTS MAKES SENSE."

5. THE AMBIANCE: THE CONGRESS TOOK PLACE IN THE MODERATELY PRICED HOTEL ALAMEDA LOCATED IN DOWNTOWN SAN SALVADOR. ALL PARTICIPANTS WERE REQUIRED TO HAVE THEIR INVITATIONS IN HAND AND TO REGISTER AT THE DOOR. EACH PERSON WAS GIVEN A PLASTIC IDENTIFICATION TAG, A BANNER AND POSTER, ALL FEATURING THE CONGRESS IN AN EYE CATCHING FLOURESCENT ORANGE. THE PARTICIPANTS WERE SEATED IN THE HOTEL'S BALLROOM, WHICH WAS EQUIPPED WITH AN EXCELLENT SOUND SYSTEM. APPROXIMATELY 300 PEOPLE WERE SEATED BEFORE THE PODIUM, OVER WHICH HUNG A GOLD AND SILVER SIGN STATING "THE FIRST CONGRESS OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN EL SALVADOR." ALL THE ADMINISTRATIVE DETAILS OF THE CONGRESS WERE FIRST CLASS, THE DECOR WAS EXCELLENT AND THE ID CARDS, BANNERS, AND POSTERS

WERE PROFESSIONALLY PRODUCED. EXCELLENT LUNCHES, AND SUPERB COFFEE BREAK PASTRIES WERE AVAILABLE FOR ALL ATTENDEES GRATIS. ALL THE PRESENTATIONS WERE SIMULTANEOUSLY TRANSLATED BY AN AMERICAN REPRESENTATIVE OF RESCATE. THE WRITTEN TEXTS OF EACH TALK WERE ALSO HANDED OUT IN ENGLISH AND SPANISH.

6. THE FEELING WITHIN THE GROUP WAS ELECTRIC. EMOTIONAL SPEECHES, GRISLY VIDEO PRESENTATIONS, PLAINTIVE SONGS, COMBINED WITH GRAPHIC PHOTOGRAPHS OF MUTILATED CADAVERS (THE SAME PHOTOS TUTELA LEGAL HAS FOR YEARS DISPLAYED TO VISITORS), HELPED FOSTER AN INTENSE FEELING OF FEAR AMONG THE PARTICIPANTS. FOREIGN DELEGATES REPORTED THAT DEATH SQUADS WERE CIRCLING THE HOTEL IN VANS WITH DARKENED WINDOWS. (COMMENT: THIS REPORT WAS CLEARLY A FLIGHT OF FANCY ON THE PART OF SOME OF THE US DELEGATES WHO WERE UNACCUSTOMED TO SEEING VEHICLES WITH DARKENED WINDOWS AND ARMED BODYGUARDS IN CITY STREETS. IT IS ENTIRELY POSSIBLE THAT NERVOUS DELEGATES MISTOOK POLOFF'S OWN ARMORED EMBASSY VEHICLE AND GUARD AS A "ROVING DEATH SQUAD". ONE DELEGATE REPORTED SEEING A "MOBILE TORTURE VAN".)

7. THE UNFORTUNATE AND TRAGIC ASSASSINATION AND MUTILATION OF THE LUTHERAN PASTOR DAVID ERNESTO FERNANDEZ ESPINO DURING THE CONGRESS FURTHER FUELED THE ALREADY HIGH LEVEL OF ADRENALIN AMONG THE PARTICIPANTS. ALMOST EVERY PRESENTATION WAS GREETED WITH AN ENTHUSIASTIC STANDING OVATION. (POLOFF WAS CONSPICUOUS AS THE ONLY PERSON WHO REMAINED SEATED.) THE FILM CONTINUES WITH INTERVIEWS OF PEASANTS DESCRIBING CRUEL ATROCITIES PERPETRATED AGAINST THEM BY THE ARMED FORCES. THIS SEGMENT WAS FILMED OUTSIDE OF EL SALVADOR.
EACH NARRATION WAS PUNCTUATED BY SHOTS OF MUTILATED
CORPSES. SWITCH TO FACE OF ARCHBISHOP ROMERO, FOLLOWED BY A SCENE WITH A WOMAN CLAIMING SHE SAW CHEMICAL BURNS AND WOMEN AND CHILDREN SHOT IN THE HEAD AND WITH THEIR THROATS CUT. SWITCH TO A STREET DEMONSTRATION
NOVEMBER 22, 1980, BODIES IN THE STREET, A LINE OF COFFINS, AT A CEMETERY CRYING CHILDREN, AND CHILDREN SURROUNDING A GRAVE. SEVERAL GRUESOME SHOTS WERE INTERPOSED OF THE BODY OF MARIANELLA GARCIA VILLA, WITH THE COMMENTARY THAT SHE WAS KILLED WHILE INVESTIGATING THE USE OF CHEMICAL WARFARE. (COMMENT: IN FACT,

THE CONFERENCE MEMBERS GREETED THE FILM WITH A LOUD AND ENTHUSIASTIC STANDING OVATION. THERE WERE FEW DRY EYES AMONG THE FOREIGN DELEGATES.

9. THIS FILM PRESENTATION WAS FOLLOWED BY ONE ON ARCHBISHOP ROMERO'S DEATH. IT FEATURED EXCERPTS FROM HIS SERMONS AS BACKGROUND TO THE VIDEO SEGMENT WHICH FEATURED CADAVERS IN THE STREETS, THE GRUESOME OLD FOOTAGE OF A STUDENT BEING SHOT AT THE NATIONAL UNIVERSITY BY A PERSON IN UNIFORM. CUT TO AN ARMORED PERSONNEL CARRIER AND WOMEN CRYING--ROMERO'S VOICE IN THE BACKGROUND CALLS AFTER THE NATIONAL POLICE, NATIONAL GUARD AND ARMY NOT TO KILL THEIR OWN COUNTRYMEN.

A PUPPET SHOW WAS PRODUCED BY THE ASSOCIATION OF WORKERS IN ART AND CULTURE IN WHICH A GREEN BIRD SYMBOLIZING THE POC SAID"I'M WEARING THESE DARK GLASSES SO AS NOT TO BE RECOGNIZED, BUT NOW I FEEL AT HOME SEEING SO MANY FAMILIAR FACES." THE BIRD THEN SHOWED OFF HIS RED BEAK AND HANDS. SEVERAL SONGS WERE SUNG WITH EXCELLENT VOICE AND GUITAR. ONE FEATURED THE SAD LIFE OF A POLITICAL PRISONER AND ANOTHER REFERRED TO AN ALLEGED MILITARY MASSACRE OF CIVILIANS.

PROBLEM IS THAT DEMOCRACY DOES NOT EXIST IN EL SALVADOR. IT STATED "..IN ORDER FOR A JUDICIAL POWER TO EXIST IN EL SALVADOR THAT IS JUST...IT IS NECESSARY AND URGENT THAT A GOVERNMENT BE FORMED WHICH REPRESENTS THE POPULAR MAJORITIES, IT IS NECESSARY TO FORM AND CONSOLITATE AN AUTHENTICALLY DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENT." ACCORDING TO COPPES, ALTHOUGH SOME IMPROVEMENTS HAVE BEEN SEEN IN THE NATIONAL POLICE'S FOLLOWING OF ARREST PROCEDURES, THESE IMPROVEMENTS HAVE LOST ALL VALUE IN VIEW OF MASSACRES AND BOMBINGS OF THE CIVILIAN PEASANT POPULATION AND OBLIGATORY DISPLACEMENT OF THE POPULATION. COPPES ADDS THAT ALL IMPROVEMENTS ARE MOMENTARY AND HAVE BROUGHT ABOUT "A CERTAIN TECHNICAL IMPROVEMENT IN THE MEANS OF REPRESSION...WE MUST INTERPRET IN THIS SAME SENSE THE DECISIVE ROLE OF U.S. ADVISERS IN THESE TACTICAL CHANGES...THE LEADERS OF THE REPRESSIVE SALVADORAN APPARATUS HAVE TRADITIONALLY BEEN TRAINED BY U.S. ADVISERS AND MILITARY." THE STATEMENT ENDS WITH A CALL TO PRESIDENT REAGAN TO STOP ALL AID TO THE DUARTE "REGIME" AS IT ONLY SERVES TO MAINTAIN REPRESSION AND THE VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS. COPPES URGED THE REAGAN ADMINISTRATION TO STOP "ALL TYPES OF INTERVENTION IN EL SALVADOR AND CENTRAL AMERICA; (AS IT) ONLY DEEPENS THE CONFLICT AND SERIOUSLY INCREASES THE MASSIVE VIOLATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN THE REGION." THIS FIRST LECTURE SET THE TONE FOR THE ENTIRE CONFERENCE.

11. THE NEXT PRESENTATION, ENTITLED "HOW THE WAR AFFECTS THE PEOPLE'S CULTURE", BY THE NATIONAL UNIVERSITY OF EL SALVADOR CONTAINED AN EXPOSITION OF THE SOCIO-ECONOMIC [redacted]

HISTORY OF EL SALVADOR, THE TONE OF WHICH IS SET FORTH IN THE FOLLOWING QUOTE: "...THE BOURGEOISIE IS CONVERTED INTO A FAITHFUL INTERPRETER OF THE IMPERIALIST INTERESTS THAT DOMINATE THE WORLD CAPITALIST SYSTEM; IN EXCHANGE, THEY ARE GUARANTEED THAT THEIR POWER WILL BE PRESERVED AND THAT THEY CAN MAKE THE GOVERNMENT A FAITHFUL INSTRUMENT OF THEIR INTERESTS." THE REPORT STATED THAT THE WAR WHICH HAS DESTROYED THE PEOPLE'S CULTURE IS A WAR "SHARPENED AND TECHNIFIED BY THE CREOLE BOURGEOISIE AND IMPERIALISM." IN CONTRAST TO THE BOURGEOISIE, THE REPORT CLAIMS, THE POPULAR CULTURE IS CONSIDERED..."TO BE ANTI-DEMOCRATIC, SUBVERSIVE, AND CONTEMPTIBLE..."

12. MEDECINS DU MONDE (DOCTORS OF THE WORLD) MADE A PRESENTATION, STATING THAT IT HAS BEEN IN EL SALVADOR FOR 4 YEARS PROVIDING MEDICAL CARE FOR THE POOR AND DISPLACED. IT ALSO PROVIDES MEDICAL CARE TO THE SALVADORAN REFUGEE CAMPS LOCATED IN HONDURAS NEAR THE SALVADORAN BORDER. THE DOCTORS OF THE WORLD MAINTAIN A CAMP CALLED BETHANIA, NEAR ZARAGOZA, WITH A POPULATION OF 1700. THEY CLAIM TO TREAT APPROXIMATELY 25,000 PERSONS. THE DOCTOR ADDRESSING THE GROUP BEGAN HIS REMARKS BY "REMEMBERING ABOVE ALL THE DEATH OF OUR FRIEND, MARIANELLA GARCIA VILLAS". HE RECOMMENDED THAT A HOSPITAL BE CREATED IN A NEUTRAL ZONE OPEN TO ALL WITHOUT POLITICAL OR MILITARY CONTROL AND STAFFED BY DOCTORS OF THE WORLD PHYSICIANS.

13. FATHER SEGUNDO MONTES, S.J., A DEAN OF THE CENTRAL AMERICAN UNIVERSITY OF EL SALVADOR (UCA), PRESENTED AN ANALYSIS OF THE REFUGEES AND DISPLACED PERSONS SITUATION. 1. SUMMARY: FIRST HUMAN RIGHTS CONGRESS OF EL SALVADOR, HELD ON NOVEMBER 27-29 IN SAN SALVADOR, WAS ATTENDED BY 1,000 PERSONS FROM 20 COUNTRIES. CONGRESS WAS SPONSORED BY NUMEROUS NGO'S AND SINCE ITS PURPOSE WAS TO DENOUNCE HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, IT WILL GAIN SYMPATHY, GRATITUDE AND SUPPORT FOR THE CAUSES WITH WHICH THEY ARE ASSOCIATED. 14. THE REPORT ENTITLED "THE ROLE OF THE U.S. CHURCH IN THE DEFENSE OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN EL SALVADOR AND CENTRAL AMERICA", PRESENTED BY REV. ALAN MCCOY O.F.M., EMPHASIZED THE CHURCH'S ROLE IN PROTESTING OF U.S. "SUPPORT (OF) A PROGRAM OF VIOLATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS." HE STRONGLY OPPOSED THE DEPORTATION OF SALVADORANS TO THEIR COUNTRY ON MORAL AND LEGAL GROUNDS. HE CONDEMNED THE "TERRIBLE PHOBIA" TOWARD COMMUNISM, AND CALLED FOR AN END TO THE "ATROCITIES BEING COMMITTED IN CENTRAL AMERICA. THESE ATROCITIES ARE NOT ALWAYS BEING COMMITTED BY DIRECT COMMAND OF OUR OWN PEOPLE, BUT MANY TIMES THEY ARE COMMITTED WITH THE CONNIVANCE OF THOSE WHO COULD DO SOMETHING ABOUT THE SITUATION." COMMENT: FATHER MCCOY REPRESENTED THE PREVAILING VIEW AMONG THE U.S. CLERGY PRESENT, STRONG SUPPORTERS OF THE SANCTUARY MOVEMENT AND VOLUNTARY EXTENDED DEPARTURE. END COMMENT.

15. A PAPER ENTITLED "THE USE OF MILITARY TECHNOLOGY IN THE WAR IN EL SALVADOR: MILITARY, PSYCHOLOGICAL AND SOCIAL ASPECTS WAS PRESENTED BY THE ASSOCIATION OF SALVADORAN SOCIAL SCIENTISTS (ASACS). THIS GROUP BASED IN MEXICO ADVOCATES AN END TO "INDISCRIMINATE BOMBING OF THE CIVILIAN POPULATION."

EXPLOITATION AND REPRESSION. THE "REJECTION OF PLURALISM" IS CITED AS A MAJOR EXISTING PROBLEM AS THE MOTHERS CONTEND THAT THOSE WHO ARE APART FROM THE MAINSTREAM ARE ACCUSED OF BEING "LEFTIST". THE REPORT CALLS THE MARCH 1984 ELECTIONS A FARCE AND MAINTAINS THAT THE U.S. REALLY CONTROLS EL SALVADOR. ACCORDING TO THE MOTHERS, THE INTERESTS OF THE "EMPIRE" (THE U.S.) ARE THE CAUSE OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS IN EL SALVADOR.

17. COHES PRESENTED A PAPER ENTITLED "THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN EL SALVADOR" WHICH COMMENTS ON THE SOCIO-ECONOMIC SITUATION IN THE COUNTRY ADDING THAT THIS YEAR'S ELECTIONS WERE A FARCE BECAUSE OF U.S. INTERVENTION, AND THAT U.S. MILITARY AID HAS "SERIOUSLY VIOLATED" THE SOVEREIGNTY OF THE COUNTRY. ACCORDING TO COHES, THE IMPORTANT POLITICAL DECISIONS ARE MADE IN THE STATE DEPARTMENT OR WHITE HOUSE AND THE WAR IS CONDUCTED BY US MILITARY ADVISERS. THERE IS THEREFORE AN "INSTITUTIONALIZATION, THROUGH AN UNJUST REGIME, OF SYSTEMATIC HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS."

SUPPORT FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF EL SALVADOR. DEMANDS WERE MADE THAT: THE U.S. CONGRESS END ALL AID TO EL SALVADOR AND ALL CENTRAL AMERICA AS THIS AID "CAUSES A DEEPENING OF THE CONFLICT AND AN INCREASE OF HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS;" THAT DUARTE ELIMINATE ALL DEATH SQUADS AND THAT HE PUNISH BOTH CIVILIANS AND MILITARY FOR THEIR CRIMES; THAT FREE SELF DETERMINATION BE ALLOWED AND U.S. CULTURAL AGRESSION ENDED; THAT ARBITRARY CAPTURES, THE STATE OF SEIGE, AND TORTURE BE ENDED; THAT ABSOLUTE AND UNCONDITIONAL GENERAL AMNESTY FOR ALL POLITICAL PRISONERS BE GRANTED IMMEDIATELY; AND FINALLY THAT INDISCRIMINATE BOMBINGS STOP AT ONCE.

20. THE HOST ORGANIZATION, CDHES, IS BASED LARGELY IN MEXICO BUT SHARES OFFICES IN SAN SALVADOR WITH THE MOTHER'S COMMITTEE AND CODEFAM. IT PUBLISHES HUMAN RIGHTS STATISTICS ON A SPORADIC BASIS AND HAS CLEARLY AND CONSISTENTLY ISSUED REPORTS AND TAKEN POSITIONS THAT ARE BIASED IN FAVOR OF THE GUERRILLAS. MARIANELLA GARCIA VILLAS, AN ACTIVE GUERRILLA, WAS KILLED IN COMBAT WHILE STILL THE COMMISSION PRESIDENT IN MARCH 1983. (REF: SAN SALVADOR AIRGRAM A-53 NOV. 23, 1983). RELIABLE SOURCES HAVE INFORMED THE EMBASSY THAT CDHES IS AN FPL FRONT AND IT IS WIDELY VIEWED AS SUCH BY WELL INFORMED MEMBERS OF THE SALVADORAN PUBLIC. THE VICE PRESIDENT AND BRAIN OF THE ORGANIZATION, DR. MENDEZ, RESIDES IN MEXICO BECAUSE, HE CLAIMS, TWO ATTEMPTS WERE MADE AGAINST HIS LIFE WHILE HE WAS LIVING IN EL SALVADOR. A HIGHLY RELIABLE SOURCE HAS INFORMED POLOFF THAT MENDEZ'S ATTACKS WERE NOT PERCIPITATED

BY HIS POLITICAL VIEWS BUT RATHER BY A PERSONAL MATTER. MENDEZ'S SON HAD KILLED ANOTHER BOY AND THE IRATE FATHER OF THE DEAD CHILD TOOK IT UPON HIMSELF TO SEEK VENGEANCE. MENDEZ WAS A PERSONAL FRIEND OF GUILLERMO UNGO AND A MEMBER OF THE MNR. HE SERVED AS VICE MINISTER OF JUSTICE UNDER THE 1979 JUNTA. ACCORDING TO MENDEZ, THE FUNDS FOR THE CONGRESS WERE OBTAINED FROM "DONATIONS" AND THE INVITATIONS WERE MADE TO THOSE APPEARING ON HUMAN RIGHTS AND CHURCH MAILING LISTS.

BRUNO-KREISKY FOUNDATION PRIZE OF AUSTRIA WAS PRESENTED POSTHUMOUSLY TO MARIANELLA GARCIA VILLAS FOR HER WORK.

COMMENT: THE FIRST HUMAN RIGHTS CONGRESS IN EL SALVADOR WAS NOT SOLELY OR EVEN PRIMARILY CONCERNED WITH HUMAN RIGHTS, AND IT LARGELY IGNORED THE GOES COMMITMENT TO HR IMPROVEMENTS AS WELL AS ANY MENTION OF SUCH OBVIOUS SIGNIFICANT CHANGES AS HAVE - EASILY DOCUMENTABLY - TAKEN PLACE. IT WAS A FAIRLY TRANSPARENT PROPAGANDA SPECTACULAR CLEARLY INTENDED TO DISCREDIT THE DUARTE GOVERNMENT AND TO INCREASE PRESSURE FOR AN END TO U.S. MILITARY AND ECONOMIC AID: AS SUCH, IT WON FAVORABLE REVIEWS ON RADIO HAVANA. IT THUS SERVED ITS PURPOSE EVEN THOUGH NOTHING SAID HAD NOT ALREADY AND REGULARLY BEEN BROADCAST BY GUERRILLA RADIO OR DISSEMINATED BY ITS SYMPATHIZERS IN SAN SALVADOR. CDHES AND ITS ALLIES FOUND EASY PREY IN THE U.S. CITIZENS WHO UNQUESTIONINGLY SWALLOWED THEIR LINE IN TOTO. THE EXERCISE ILLUSTRATES THAT AN ACHILLES HEEL OF THE DUARTE ADMINISTRATION IS

Dear Mrs. Reagan:

Your personal message concerning Raoul Wallenberg, read during ceremonies in Los Angeles on Wallenberg's 72d birthday, is mentioned in the enclosed item from Philadelphia's Jewish Exponent for Aug. 10, 1984 at p. 8. May I please have a copy of this message? I would like to add it to an exhibit on Raoul Wallenberg shown in Philadelphia for five months and now being shown at the Nordic Heritage Museum in Seattle -- the exhibit's inventory list is enclosed.

I also want to let you know of the Wallenberg organizations' concern, not only that nothing has been done to effectively implement the law President Reagan signed in 1981, but also that State Department officials at the policy level have kept President Reagan from knowing about concrete proposals in Wallenberg's behalf for over a year.

Specifically, a proposed Presidential Directive the Wallenberg organizations feel certain President Reagan would authorize if he knew about it (it is modelled on President Reagan's Directive of Mar. 25, 1983) has been kept from his consideration for over a year, despite the efforts of Senator Specter and Representative Fish who requested that it be brought to President Reagan's attention, and despite Representative Fish's support for the directive in discussion at the Aug. 3, 1983 House oversight hearing on PL 97-54.

Enclosed is a copy of my own correspondence (for the Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia) with State Department Counselor Derwinski, which convinces us that no action will be taken in Wallenberg's behalf unless President Reagan himself becomes involved. Also enclosed is a copy of the proposed Presidential Directive with a cover letter from Senator Specter -- such letters have been answered only with form letters. The proposed directive also is printed at pp. 24-25 of the Aug. 3, 1983 House hearing (excerpts enclosed).

President Reagan's expressed intent at the signing ceremony for PL 97-54, "we're going to do everything in our power" to free Wallenberg, is being overridden by subordinates, and President Reagan is being denied the political benefits -- including the approval of future historians -- of public attempts to free Wallenberg.

Even now it can only benefit President Reagan to authorize such a Presidential Directive, perhaps in conjunction with the Sept. 17-19 Righteous Gentiles Conference sponsored by the U.S. Holocaust Memorial Council, or shortly after. This will be a personal effort he can point to not only before the election, but also when media attention begins to focus on Wallenberg: the New York Public Library is reportedly preparing its own exhibit on Wallenberg, the NBC-TV miniseries on Wallenberg starring Richard Chamberlain is to be shown next March, and the Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia has recently begun pressing for a Senate Foreign Relations Committee oversight hearing on PL 97-54, also about March.

It can also only benefit President Reagan to make Wallenberg's repatriation a public issue when State Secretary Shultz meets Soviet

I hope this note will be helpful to you. I'm writing because I know both that you have President Reagan's best interests at heart, and that you and he have demonstrated personal appreciation of the urgent need to repatriate Raoul Wallenberg; he will be freed only if the Soviets believe the price for keeping him will be too high. I enclose selected other material to indicate the strong continuing interest in Wallenberg. Thank you for your attention, and please let me know if I or the Greater Philadelphia Committee may be of service in any other way.

Dear Mr. President:

The tragic story of Raoul Wallenberg is one that has touched the hearts and stirred the souls of all human beings of good will. A man of extraordinary courage, he faced danger constantly in his efforts to save Hungarian Jews from extermination at the hands of the Nazis in 1944.

Wallenberg, at the request of the United States, not only endeavored to rescue them and was successful, but he also provided them with food, shelter and medical care with supplies provided by our government. He is credited with saving the lives of almost 100,000 Jews.

As you know, Wallenberg was taken in custody by the Soviet Union on Jan. 17, 1945, in violation of his Swedish diplomatic immunity. No explanation has ever been given for his arrest and subsequent imprisonment. And while he has not been heard from since then, some former prisoners in the Soviet Union, some as recently as 1981, suggest that he may still be alive.

As the nation primarily responsible for persuading Wallenberg to try to protect the lives of these Hungarian Jews, the United States owes much to this great humanitarian and should make every effort to free him.

Towards this end, I respectfully request that you issue a Presidential Directive which states that it is your policy that all steps be taken to ascertain from the Soviet Union the whereabouts of Raoul Wallenberg and to secure his return to freedom, pursuant to Public Law 97-54. As you know, Public Law 97-54 conferred honorary United States citizenship on Mr. Wallenberg.

Mr. President, I have attached a copy of a proposed Presidential Directive for your review, and urge you to issue it as soon as possible.

Sincerely,

Arlen Specter

This Newsletter is to thank you for your support, to report news to date beginning with the October 5, 1982 Wallenberg Day Proclamation ceremonies and to let you know what you can do to free Raoul Gustav Wallenberg.

First, we thank you for what you have already done, supporting with your membership and interest, your presence at our events, your volunteer work, or your offer of money or other resources; and, we ask you to continue each of these kinds of support.

Through special arrangement with the United States Raoul Wallenberg Committee, our members will also receive their New York newsletter, beginning with the Spring 1983 issue.

Our Committee is in contact with the Raoul Wallenberg Association of Sweden through its Executive Director, Sonja Sonnenfeld. In 1982, Ms. Sonnenfeld visited Philadelphia where local President, Leona Feldman, provided her with media coverage. (See articles from Swedish newspapers and International Herald Tribune sent by S. Sonnenfeld.)

IMPORTANT WALLENBERG DATES: August 4, 1912 - Raoul Gustav Wallenberg's date of birth; July 9, 1944 - the date Wallenberg arrived in Hungary on his rescue mission; January 17, 1945 - the date the Russians took him; October 5, 1981 - the United States of America conferred Honorary Citizenship on him.

MARCH 27, 1983 - Don Johnson, Wilmington, Delaware, a Vice President of The Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia, Inc. and board member of the Delaware Swedish Colonial Society, at its annual business meeting and dinner, Wilmington, Delaware, set up a Wallenberg resource table replete with posters, flyers, pictures, letters, articles, books, and spoke about Wallenberg after dinner, in an all-out campaign to recruit new members for our Wallenberg Committee.

April 10, 1983 (Afternoon) - Elenore Lester, author, Wallenberg: The Man in the Iron Web, spoke to an audience of students and professors at the University of Pennsylvania Christian Association. Other campuses were represented. This event was coordinated by The Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia, Inc. and sponsored by the following campus organizations: Newman Center (Catholic); Hillel (Jewish); Christian Association (Protestant); Connaissance; and unofficially by Amnesty International. The University of Pennsylvania Book Store cooperated with a large display table of several copies of Elenore Lester's book & posters and flyers. Other campus bookstores: Pennsylvania Book Center and Encore Books displayed posters and flyers.

APRIL 10, 1983 (Evening) - The Communications Lodge of B'nai B'rith marked its official change of name to the Raoul Wallenberg Communications Lodge, with a dedication dinner. Speakers were: Dr. Rufus Cornelson; Elenore Lester; Swedish Deputy Consul-General, Hans Andersson; Mark Palmer, U. S. Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for European Affairs. Several Wallenberg Committee Officers attended, and its President, Leona T. Feldman, as well as Josh Kilberg, (Wallenberg Advisory Board), also spoke. Sam Goldstein, Lodge President, and an Editor of The Courier Post in South Jersey is a Wallenberg Committee member, as is the Lodge's Past President, Dr. Aaron R. Wasserman.

APRIL 17, 1983 - Spoke at the Jewish Heritage Week presentation ceremonies of the Raoul Wallenberg Humanitarian Award to Dr. Leon Bass, history teacher at the George School, Bucks County, and retired Principal of Benjamin Franklin High School. This program took place at the Torah Academy, Ardmore, Pa., under the sponsorship of the Association of Orthodox Jewish Teachers.

APRIL 27, 1983 - VISIT TO WASHINGTON, D. C. A group from the Washington, D. C. Planning Committee of the Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia, Inc. visited Washington, D.C. to ask for certain commitments and recommendations from Government officials.
(See this Newsletter for story on Washington Visit and for "Washington Activity - Request")

MAY 20, 1983 - The McKinley Elementary School, Abington School District, held a special assembly which heard guest speaker, Hungarian-born University of Pennsylvania exchange Professor, Andrew Szilard, who, together with his family, was rescued by Wallenberg. This was part of the School's intensive study-program centered around Raoul Gustav Wallenberg under the 1982-1983 theme, "Everyone Can Make A Better World". During several months, the children learned about Wallenberg and his contribution to humankind; were involved in discussions, books, research, reports and signing Petitions for his release from the Soviet Union and his nomination for the Nobel Peace Prize.

JUNE 14, 1983 - FLAG DAY - Amidst elaborate ceremonies celebrating Flag Day and honoring Raoul Gustav Wallenberg as a new citizen representing the ideals symbolized by our Flag, the McKinley Elementary School presented its Annual Citizen's Award for Humanitarianism to Raoul Gustav Wallenberg in Absentia. The Award was accepted on behalf of Mr. Wallenberg by Christer Persson, First Secretary in Political Affairs of the Swedish Embassy. The program took place before an audience of several hundred including school administrators led by Principal, Paul Wilson, teachers, PTA, student body, townspeople, many of whom were involved in the planning and executing of the day's events, and some of whom participated, including the school band and chorus. Don Robinson (Wallenberg Executive Committee) spoke on behalf of the Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia. An equally elaborate reception followed, done in the Swedish theme. Coverage was given by Channel 3 TV and Abington's Today's Spirit. Said Sarah Kops, organizer and coordinator of the affair and the preceding study program, "When we honor Raoul Wallenberg, we honor our Flag. Both represent compassion, love of human beings and self-sacrifice." Ms. Kops, who is librarian and teacher, is also a member of the Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia and was, herself, honored this day. Past recipients of this Award are Hubert Humphrey, Coretta Scott King, Ethel Rosenwald Family and Governor and Mrs. Thornburgh. Sarah Kops is the first librarian in the United States to have received, in the past, the Freedom Foundation Award and an Award of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The McKinley Elementary School has received the Freedom Foundation Award four times.

HONORARY PENNSYLVANIA CITIZENSHIP PENDING - On June 15, 1983, Joseph M. Hoeffel, III, Member of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives, 153rd District of Abington and Rockledge, notified the McKinley Elementary School Principal, Paul Wilson, that Hoeffel introduced a Resolution proclaiming Raoul Wallenberg an Honorary Citizen of the State of Pennsylvania. The latest word from Hoeffel's office is that final action was delayed because of the budget crises. The Legislature is now in Summer recess. Final action will occur some time in the Fall after the Legislature reconvenes.

JUNE 11, 1983 - The Delaware Swedish Colonial Society held its annual Delaware-Swedish Colonial Society's Midsummerfest in Fort Christina Park. There was a table set up by Don Johnson (Wallenberg Committee Vice President) - where people signed petitions to their Congressmen urging the release of Raoul Wallenberg from the Soviet Union.

PHILADELPHIA BAR ASSOCIATION RESOLUTION PENDING - A Resolution calling upon the United States Government to secure the immediate release of Raoul Gustav Wallenberg from the Soviet Union was introduced in May by Glen Morris, Esq., on behalf of The Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia, Inc. (for which he is counsel) to The International Law Committee of the Philadelphia Bar Association. On June 21, 1983, that Committee chaired by Ruth Canister, Esq., met. Those members present, voted unanimously to approve the Resolution which will now be circulated to the other members of that Committee and, if approved by a majority, will go the Board of Governors of the PBA some time in the Fall and, if it passes, will become the position of the Philadelphia Bar Association. Present with Glen Morris and representing The Wallenberg Committee on June 21, were Professor Olan Lowrey, Temple University School of Law, (Wallenberg Executive Committee) and Judge William J. Lederer (Wallenberg Advisory Board).

RESOLUTION SENT TO AMERICAN BAR ASSOCIATION - A Resolution calling upon the President of the United States to take immediate action to secure the freedom of Raoul Gustav Wallenberg from the Soviet Union was presented by Professor Olan Lowrey, Temple University School of Law, (Wallenberg Executive Committee) on behalf of The Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia, Inc. to Michael Posner, Esq., Executive Director of the ABA Lawyers' Committee for International Human Rights. Mr. Posner will introduce this Resolution to the ABA meeting in July or early August 1983. Jerome J. Shestack, Philadelphia lawyer, with whom we are in contact, is Chairman of the ABA Assembly Resolutions Committee and a member of the U. S. Raoul Wallenberg Committee Advisory Board, and has been involved in initiating the Wallenberg issue at the Madrid Conference.

AUGUST 3, 1983 - CONGRESSIONAL OVERSIGHT HEARING - The Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia has been invited to testify before the House Foreign Affairs Sub-Committee on Human Rights chaired by Representative Gus Yatron (D-Pa.) in an Oversight Hearing called as a result of a commitment made to our Committee by Chairman Yatron last April 27 in Washington, D. C. (See Press Release attached to this Newsletter.)

AUGUST 5, 1983 - An officer of the Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia will speak on Wallenberg following Friday evening services at Reform Congregation Rodeph Shalom, Elkins Park, Pa.

WALLENBERG PETITIONS - The Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia is circulating two Petitions (see Petitions attached to this Newsletter): One calls on the Soviet Union to release Wallenberg; the other calls for his nomination for Nobel Peace Prize for Humanitarianism. Wherever we appear, these Petitions are collected. We ask you to fill up these Petitions and return them to us. For more Petitions, feel free to photocopy the blanks in advance of signatures - or contact us. We hope this campaign will spread to all Wallenberg Committees and others across the Country so that we may coordinate our efforts.

WALLENBERG DAY 1983 - On September 27, 1983, at 4:00 P.M., Mayor's Reception Hall, Room 202 City Hall, The Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia in conjunction with the City of Philadelphia, will celebrate the Second Anniversary of Raoul Gustav Wallenberg's Honorary United States Citizenship. On that date this year, the Mayor will issue his annual Proclamation for Wallenberg Day -- October 5, 1983. The featured speaker will be Morris H. Wolff Esq., Professor of International Law at Delaware Law School and a member of The Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia. Professor Wolff has been selected by Mr. Wallenberg's brother, Dr. Guy von Dardel, to file a law suit against the Soviet Union in the Federal District Court. A reception will follow the Proclamation ceremony. This event, as always, is free and open to the public. The advance date of September 27, was chosen this year because of the City's prior commitments during the week of October 5, to the 1983 German-American Tricentennial.

WALLENBERG COMMITTEE BENEFIT CONCERT - April 8, 1984, 2:30 P.M. at Old Swedes Church/Gloria Dei, Philadelphia's famous historic landmark, located at Christian St. and Delaware Ave. Performance will be by the LIBERTY BELL STRING TRIO composed of members of the Philadelphia Orchestra: Morris Shulik, violin; Wolfgang Granat, viola; Marcel Farago, cello. A string trio is rarely heard and is a "gem", explained Mr. Granat who is also a member of The Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia. The program will consist of music by Beethoven and Schubert. Beethoven expresses the spirit of universal freedom and brotherhood which Wallenberg exemplifies, according to Mr. Granat, and he added, "We are playing out of conviction for the liberation of a great humanitarian." This Benefit Concert has two purposes: to honor Raoul Gustav Wallenberg; and to help our Wallenberg Committee raise much needed funds in order that we may be able to continue our work on Mr. Wallenberg's behalf. (Christian Street is some 7 blocks south of Pine Street. Delaware Avenue runs along the Delaware River.) Old Swedes Church seats approximately 300. A champagne reception will follow the concert. Those who are interested in attending, may write or telephone our Committee (215 - 472-0989).

ANNUAL WALLENBERG SABBATH - The Wallenberg Committee will organize a Committee to promote an Annual Wallenberg Sabbath. This project stimulated the most discussion at the May 5, 1983 Meeting of the Executive Committee and Advisory Board, held at Old Pueblo Church.

WALLENBERG IN SCHOOL CURRICULA - - The Wallenberg Committee will devise a unit of study centering around Raoul Gustav Wallenberg for use in school curricula. The Committee to do the job comprises: Dr. Leon Stein, teacher of American History at the George School, Bucks County and retired Principal of Benjamin Franklin High School; Mary Lee, Assistant Principal of Lower Merion High School; Dr. Stanley Newman, Professor of Political Science, Temple University; Sharon Green, SSJ, teacher, Secondary and English, at West Catholic High School for Girls; Don Robinson, Director, Temple University Center City Workshop Program, Division of Continuing Education; Sue Rosenthal, teacher at the High School for Creative and Performing Arts, Philadelphia; Rabbi David E. Wortman, a former Principal, and presently Executive Director of the Board of Rabbis of Greater Philadelphia. Hal Kassley, who is Assistant Director of Social Studies, Curriculum Department, Philadelphia School System, will act as advisor.

PLANS FOR THE ANNE FRANK HOUSE - an interfaith Holocaust-teaching and resource center, named after a German-Jewish teenager who perished in the Nazi Holocaust, and sponsored by the National Institute on the Holocaust - include an area for Remembrance or Honoring of Righteous Gentiles. Raoul Gustav Wallenberg will be among those honored.

THE 1983 NINTH ANNUAL HOLOCAUST CONFERENCE, OCTOBER 23-25, sponsored by the Philadelphia Coordinating Council on the Holocaust (Interfaith), will devote Monday, October 24, largely to Wallenberg. The luncheon will feature a speaker on Wallenberg. Our Committee is invited to man our own Wallenberg resource room and to organize an evening panel on Wallenberg. Our members will be notified. Don Robinson, Director of Temple University Center City Workshop and on our Wallenberg Executive Committee, is one of the organizers and coordinators of this Conference.

An answer on Wallenberg

By George F. Will

WASHINGTON — The game of lies that the Soviet regime wraps around reality has never been thick enough to muffle this question: Where is Raoul Wallenberg?

Now it is asked again, in the wake of the most recent in a long series of tormenting reports. A Russian immigrant in Israel says that when he was hospitalized in 1972 on the way to prison, he met a man who "looked Jewish, so I asked who he was. He answered in accented Russian that he was Swedish and was there because he helped the Jews. He said his name was Raoul Wallenberg." That occurred a quarter of a century after 1947, the year the Kremlin says Wallenberg died.

Last May, when tardily releasing documents about the Wallenberg case, a Swedish official said, "We are working on the supposition that he is still alive." (Sweden's lethargy concerning the case — lethargy born of cowardice — hardly constitutes "working.") If alive, he is 70. It is 38 years since he disappeared from Hungary into the Soviet Union.

On Jan. 17, 1945, he was seized by Soviet forces that were "liberating" Hungary from their former allies, the Nazis. Three weeks later he was in the emblematic institution of the Soviet regime, Moscow's Lubyanka prison.

At 32, representing neutral Sweden, Wallenberg was in Budapest at America's request, working with breathtaking bravery and saving scores of thousands of Jews from Adolf Eichmann's final chapter of the "final solution," the destruction of Hungarian Jews.

He bought buildings and draped them with Swedish flags as diplomatically protected territory. He dressed "Aryan-looking" Jewish men in S.S. uniforms to protect Jewish havens.

Raoul Wallenberg

He distributed fake passports, and used sheer audacity to intimidate Nazi soldiers into opening the doors of cattle cars. Thanks to him, the 120,000 Jews in Budapest were the most substantial Jewish community surviving in Europe when the war ended.

One certainty is that Andrei Gromyko lied in the 1957 memorandum asserting that Wallenberg's "sojourn in the Soviet Union" — Gromyko's words — ended with a heart attack in prison in 1947. This memorandum came after 12 years of Kremlin denials that Wallenberg had ever been in Soviet hands.

There has been a steady trickle of reports about Wallenberg, first from returning German prisoners of war, then from released political prisoners and Jewish emigrants. The reports give dates and places — prisons, cell numbers — that trace a tantalizing trail across the years and through the gulags.

For example, in 1961 a Soviet professor of medicine told a visiting Swedish physician that he had recently examined Wallenberg in a "mental hospital."

In 1977 a Muscovite just released from the gulag called his daughter in Israel and mentioned meeting in a Moscow prison a Swede "who had served 30 years." Two years later the Muscovite was back in prison because, his wife said, he wrote a letter about Wallenberg. Sources in Eastern Europe report that in 1981 Wallenberg was moved to a prison hospital near Leningrad.

Why was he arrested in the first place? The Soviet machinery of brutality operates so automatically it leaves little room for, and certainly does not require, much mind. But Soviet repressors certainly did not want brave witnesses to the breaking of Eastern Europe. Why was he kept? Perhaps, in part, to show contempt for Western disapproval.

It is prudent that we insistently ask what happened when Wallenberg ended his dance of death with the Third Reich and fell into the hands of its moral twin. When the Soviet Union gets away with such acts — acts that are as contemptuous as they are contemptible — it gets the idea that it can unleash "yellow rain" and can shoot the Pope with little to fear from the West's fitful disapproval.

Besides, if this case is not America's business, what is? On Oct. 5, 1981, Wallenberg became only the second person (Winston Churchill was the first) to be made an honorary American citizen.

Signing the bill conferring this honor, President Reagan said "we're going to do everything in our power" to locate Wallenberg. But we have not done that. So before Reagan agrees to meet with Yuri Andropov, he should receive an answer, beyond the routine pendacities, to this question: Where is Raoul Wallenberg?

Josiah E. DuBois Jr., anti-Nazi activist

Josiah E. DuBois Jr., 70, who served as a prosecutor at Nuremberg and as counsel and troubleshooter for Presidents Franklin Delano Roosevelt and Harry S Truman, died Monday at Underwood Memorial Hospital in Woodbury, N.J. He lived in Pitman, N.J.

An attorney and senior partner in the Camden firm of DuBois, Sheehan, Hamilton & DuBois, he was among those who forced this nation's leaders to face the facts of the Holocaust.

Because he succeeded — his efforts helped save the lives of thousands of Jews imprisoned in Nazi concentration camps — the American Jewish Committee honored Mr. DuBois with its Humanitarian Award in ceremonies here June 1.

The honor came 40 years after the fact. But it was timely, nevertheless. At 70, Mr. DuBois was still as angry over the Allied countries' failure to move in strength to halt the genocide as he had been at 30.

In 1943, he had compiled a report on the plight of Jews in Nazi-occupied countries and presented it to his boss, Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau Jr. He gave Morgenthau a clear understanding that he would take its findings to the world if the White House failed to act.

Morgenthau took the matter to Roosevelt, and FDR responded by creating the Refugee War Board, the first official step toward helping those threatened with slaughter. To ensure that action would follow, Mr. DuBois was named chief counsel to the board.

And action did follow. Mr. DuBois was not a man to sit on his hands.

A graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and of Penn's Law School, he had worked for the Treasury Department during the Depression and returned to its service in 1941 as the probability of war began to mount.

He was named chief counsel for the Treasury's foreign funds control division. That was the title on the door, but his first assignment was a secret one — a mission to Central America, where there was a clear need to gauge sympathies and allegiances.

He was credited with winning Latin American support for the role the United States was then filling as the "Arsenal of Democracy," feeding a steadily increasing supply of arms, munitions and foodstuffs to Britain and the Soviet Union.

Other missions undertaken at presidential directive followed.

He was sent to North Africa as the invasion was being mounted in 1942. [illegible] there were trips in England with Morgenthau and, on the heels of the invasion of Europe, to France.

When Fred M. Vinson succeeded Morgenthau, Mr. DuBois was freed from Treasury Department routine and detached for duty as presidential counsel at the Potsdam Conference.

Truman named him to the Allied Reparations Committee and sent him on missions to the Soviet Union, Germany and Japan. He was a member of the U.S. delegation at the Paris Conference in 1946.

Josiah E. DuBois Jr.

He was involved in the Bretton Woods Monetary Conference, where the World Bank and the Monetary Fund were established under international sponsorship.

In 1947, he was appointed deputy chief counsel for prosecution of war crimes and assigned to handle charges against officials of I.G. Farben Industries, an industrial and chemical cartel — the largest the world had ever seen — that Hitler's aides had forged into an international weapon, using slave labor drawn from bloody camps such as Auschwitz.

Because of his work at the Nuremberg hearings, he was appointed to a United Nations committee that drew up an international code for financial and economic sanctions against aggressor nations, penalties that could be imposed in situations short of actual war crimes.

After prosecuting the Nazi industrialists, Mr. DuBois wrote "The Devil's Chemists," his documented findings on the war criminals.

And, in the days that followed his return to a law practice in Camden, he remained angry at a world that had permitted such slaughter and imposed such light penalties.

He made it plain, last month when he was presented with the AJC award, that his anger had not abated.

"I was furious," he recalled. "I still am."

Surviving are his wife, Dorothy Clement DuBois, a son, Robert C., a daughter, Jean D. Morgan, three grandchildren, three brothers and three sisters.

Services will be at 11:30 a.m. Thursday at the Davis Funeral Home, 171 Delaware St., Woodbury, N.J. Burial will be in Bethel Cemetery, Hurffville, N.J. Memorials may be made to the American Cancer Society.

THE WALLENBERG COMMITTEE OF GREATER PHILADELPHIA announces with sorrow, the recent and untimely demise of its Vice-President representing South Jersey, Josiah E. DuBois Jr., Esq.

He was Organizer and Chairman of the UNITED STATES WAR REFUGEE BOARD during World War Two -- the Agency which sent Raoul Gustav Wallenberg to Budapest in 1944. As such, his presence on the Wallenberg Committee was especially relevant. He was an unremitting fighter on the side of truth and justice and on behalf of the rights and dignity of the Human Being. As a person, he was caring, openhearted and outgoing.

We deeply regret what might have been. His loss is an irreparable one not only to the Wallenberg Committee and its Cause but also to our Community, to the World Community and to our Era.

We extend our heartfelt condolence to his family.

Wallenberg ceremony honors diplomat who protected Jews

By Linda Loyd
Inquirer Staff Writer

Religious and civic leaders, city officials and judges were among 200 Philadelphians who gathered at City Hall yesterday to pay tribute to Raoul Wallenberg, the Swedish diplomat who saved tens of thousands of Jews in World War II and then, in 1945, vanished into the Soviet Union's Gulag Archipelago.

The occasion, sponsored by the Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia, marked the first anniversary of the conferral by Congress of honorary U.S. citizenship on Wallenberg, who some believe to be still in a Soviet prison camp, having been detained without trial for 37 years.

Mayor Green issued a proclamation for Raoul Wallenberg Day that was presented by Deputy Mayor Evelyn White in the mayor's reception room in City Hall.

Elenore Lester, who serves on the national advisory board of the U.S. Committee on Wallenberg and has written the book, Wallenberg: Man in the Iron Web, urged the audience to "keep up the struggle for Raoul Wallenberg."

"He's in danger of becoming an illustrious portrait like the ones on these walls," Miss Lester said. "He is a real and precious human being. He was a wonderful guy."

Wallenberg, young scion of a prominent Swedish Lutheran family, was sent to Budapest in 1944 on a rescue mission under the auspices of the U.S. War Refugee Board. He has been credited with outmaneuvering the Nazis and saving about 100,000 Jews by sheltering them under the flag of Sweden, a neutral country during the war whose rights of diplomatic immunity were honored by the Germans.

Wallenberg was abducted by the Soviets at the end of the war and taken to the Soviet Union. The Soviets for 12 years denied any knowledge of his whereabouts, until they announced in 1957 that he had died in 1947. Many subsequent accounts by individuals freed from Soviet prisons — one report as recent as last year — said he was alive in a Soviet prison.

"We want a groundswell of American voices demanding his release, putting pressure on the United States government" to push for an appeal to the Soviet Union, said Leona T Feldman, president of the Wallenberg Committee in Philadelphia, a group that recently was organized to publicize Wallenberg's story.

She said the Wallenberg Committee here is open to all races, creeds, religions and national origins. The local group is one of a "growing number of Wallenberg committees" mobilized throughout the United States and the world to find out what became of Wallenberg.

"This is a first," Miss Feldman said of yesterday's ceremonies. "We've made a big event of this because we're trying to get this man out. He was 70 on Aug. 4."

WALLENBERG DAY 1982

The story of Raoul Gustav Wallenberg contains several significant dates; but October 5 is uniquely meaningful to the People of the United States because on October 5, 1981, the President of the United States signed into law a joint Congressional bill entitled Public Law 97-54 which proclaimed the Swedish-born Lutheran hero-humanitarian of the 20th century an Honorary Citizen of the United States --- a rare honor conferred only twice before in the history of our Country; therefore, other countries may choose other dates on which to celebrate Wallenberg Day --- ie Sweden observes January 17; but only in the United States would there be reason to select October 5 as the appropriate date for Wallenberg Day.

On October 5, 1982, the Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia, in cooperation with the City of Philadelphia --birthplace of American liberty and in its Tricentennial Year -- celebrated the first Philadelphia Wallenberg Day and the first anniversary of the Presidential Proclamation of Wallenberg's Honorary United States Citizenship,with the resolute hope that he, too, will attain his freedom. On that date, the U.S. Raoul Wallenberg Committee, New York and Wallenberg Groups throughout the Country, celebrated Wallenberg Day.

The forthcoming event received excellent publicity: radio talk-shows WFIL and WUSL 99 Magazine; and in the press: The Legal Intelligencer (Philadelphia Journal for Bench and Bar); The Sea Breeze (Philadelphia Naval Base); The Jewish Times of the Greater Northeast; Chestnut Hill Local; Welcomemat; Office Weekly; Valley Voice (Concerned Citizens of Delaware Valley); Rodeph Shalom Bulletin; Contact (News of the S.E. Penna. Synod, Lutheran Church in America); Swedish Colonial Society (of Pa.) Newsletter; American Swedish Historical Foundation Newsletter; National Institute of the Holocaust Newsletter.

The actual event received excellent on-the-spot coverage by Channel 6 TV; The Philadelphia Inquirer; and The Daily Pennsylvanian (University of Pennsylvania).

The Reception was donated; and to those donors and others, all of whose names were mentioned during the program, the Committee is most grateful.

The United States Raoul Wallenberg Committee sent us our guest speaker, Elenore Lester, author of Wallenberg: The Man In The Iron Web, and a member of their National Board of Advisors.

Allen Lesley (Vice-President) was Chairman of the Day. Yvonne Jackson Walsh, Community Liason on the Staff of Senator Arlen Specter, spoke for the Senator (Board of Advisors). Deputy Mayor Evelyn White presented the Wallenberg Day Proclamation and Citation to the Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia represented by its President, Leona T. Feldman. Following the President's acceptance speech, Donald Robinson (Executive Committee) read Public Law 97-54-October 5, 1981. The Reverend David B. Rivers, Rector,Old Swede's Church (Executive Committee) delivered the Invocation. Prayers were said by Reverend William A. Jenson Jr., Bishop of S.E. Pennsylvania Synod of the Lutheran Church in America, and Reverend Wilfred J. Pashley, Executive Director of the Office for Urban Ministry, Archdiocese of Philadelphia (Board of Advisors.) The Benediction was pronounced by Reverend Dr. David H. Wice, Rabbi Emeritus, Congregation Rodeph Shalom and Codirector, National Conference of Christians and Jews (Board of Advisors).

The City Representative's staff agreed that they had never seen such a turnout for a proclamation and they praised the calibre of those in attendance. Even the police and City Hall guards were impressed with the "fine, large audience in the Mayor's Reception Room".

Elenore Lester returned to New York City with glowing reports of the occasion to the U.S. Wallenberg Committee; Rachel Haspel, President and Agnes Adachi, Vice President telephoned their congratulations and voiced their pride in the Greater Philadelphia Committee.

The October 5 event did much in the area and surroundings to publicize the name of Raoul Gustav Wallenberg.

WASHINGTON D.C. APRIL 27, 1983

When the Russians advanced on Budapest in 1945, they arrested Wallenberg without cause, imprisoned him illegally and, depriving him of his fundamental human rights, have held him incommunicado since 1945, in violation of the rules of Diplomatic Immunity, Swedish Neutrality and International Law.

With the passage of Public Law 97-54- October 5, 1981, conferring Honorary U.S. Citizenship on Raoul Gustav Wallenberg, the Americans officially assume, along with the Swedish, the responsibility of holding the Soviets accountable for the fate of Wallenberg.

This Law also directs the President of the United States to "take all possible steps to ascertain from the Soviet Union the whereabouts of Raoul Wallenberg and to secure his return to freedom", thus entitling the American people to call to account their elected and appointed public officials regarding its implementation; it also gives those Congressional Committees involved in its passage, jurisdiction over its implementation through the inherent watchdog powers of Oversight.

Public Law 97-54 provides the legal basis and raison d'etre for our Washington D. C. Project.

Clearly the Wallenberg Case needs Congressional follow-up in order to assure Executive follow-through; therefore, The Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia calls upon Congress to exercise its authority in this matter by holding oversight hearings in those Committees empowered to do so, namely, the Foreign Affairs and Judiciary Committees of both Houses of Congress whereby pertinent officials of the Executive Branch will be called to testify relative the present status of the Wallenberg Matter and what steps they are taking to carry out the Legislation, and to receive suggestions which they will be expected to carry out, with the understanding that an oversight hearing may be called again at any time thereafter. Our Committee also calls upon the President of the United States to issue a Directive in the Federal Register to all Federal officials to cooperate with all efforts to free Wallenberg. This would have the force of Law. (For further details, see "Washington Activity -- Requests".)

On April 27, 1983, a group from the Wallenberg Washington Planning Committee went to Washington to ask that appropriate action be taken. Those comprising the group were: Leona T. Feldman, President; Josh Eilberg Esq., Executive Director of Brith Sholom National, former Philadelphia Congressman, (Josh, as Member of the Wallenberg Committee Advisory Board, spearheaded this effort); Professor Olan Lowrey, Temple University Law School and member of the Wallenberg Executive Committee; Glen Morris, Counsel for the Wallenberg Committee; and John Fraser who researched and prepared our Washington material.

We met with: Representative Tom Lantos (Cal.), the Congressman most responsible for passage of Law 97-54. He promised to support us all the way; Representative Gus Yatron (Reading, Pa.), who promised to hold Oversight Hearings; Representative William Grey (Phila., Pa) who promised to write to President Reagan regarding the Presidential Directive; Representative Hamilton Fish (New York)- Very supportive. Suggested holding joint oversight hearings (two committees together). Promised to research material regarding violations of Soviet and International Law; Senator Carl Levin (Michigan) promised to study material and help in any way possible. Wants to hear from constituents. Ellen Levin, Legislative Aide in Foreign Affairs to Senator Specter (Wallenberg Committee Advisory Board) will refer material to staff's legal experts; Carl Stevenson, Legislative Aide in Foreign Affairs to Senator Biden (Del) is supportive but first wants to hear from constituents: Judith Buncher, State Department, Bureau of Human Rights, will pass the word on to the Department. Asks for heightened activity by the American Public re the White House, also pressure by Europeans on their Governments. United States prefers to act in conjunction with Western Europe.

UNCLASSIFIED

Bottom Line: Congress and the White House are interested in grass roots support. If the American Public is concerned, so are they. The Philadelphia Committee has laid the groundwork and is following up; but, we need CITIZEN SUPPORT, we need YOU to back us up by writing and telephoning your Senators, Representatives and President Reagan (See "Individual Activities" enclosed). When we say that we want a "groundswell of American voices" (See Wallenber Flyer) we mean just that.

Missing Swede honored

The Russians announced he was dead in 1957 and have maintained that position ever since.

The Swedish government for which he once worked has refused to accept that, maintaining hope that he is still alive — imprisoned behind the Iron Curtain.

The United States has bestowed honorary citizenship upon him, and Tuesday morning yet another honor was given to Raoul Wallenberg.

Students, teachers and administrators at Abington's McKinley Elementary School, in a special ceremony marking Flag Day, gave Wallenberg the highest honor the school can bestow: The McKinley Citizenship Award.

RELATED STORY, PAGE 2.

The ceremony included remarks by State Rep. Joseph Hoeffel, D-153, Ms. Betty Ellis, who represented the American Swedish Historical Society, Don Robinson, who represented the Raoul Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia and Christer Persson, secretary to the Swedish ambassador to the United States.

Students Abby Eisman and Peter Tux related the story of Wallenberg to the old students gathered in the McKinley gym.

A native Swede, Wallenberg came to the U.S. at the age of 19 to study architecture at the University of Michigan. In 1944 he was sent to Budapest, Hungary by the Swedish government, where during World War II he provided false Swedish passports to thousands of Jews, insisting that they fall under the protection of the neutral Swedish government.

The Nazis wanted because the Russian authorities could not read Swedish or Hungarian," said Tux.

The Russians both harbored suspicions of Wallenberg, and eventually arrested him in 1945 and charged him with espionage.

"What makes the Raoul Wallenberg story so tragic is that it is so little known," said Eisman.

Perrson said that despite the repeated contention of the Soviets that Wallenberg is dead, Sweden remains hopeful.

Letters to the Editor

Sultzpasse

To the Editor:

I read with great interest about the ceremonies at the Mayor's Office honoring Raoul Wallenberg.

My aunt, uncle and myself owe our lives to him. I think it is important for readers to know that the Swedish diplomat not only operated out of Budapest inside Hungary, but his Sultzpasse (protective passes) were honored by the Nazi authorities in Czechoslovakia, particularly in the Slovakian cities of Zilana and Bratislava.

The Sultzpass was a made-up document designed by Raoul Wallenberg, elaborately decorated with the emblems and seals of Sweden that proclaimed that the bearer was under the protection of the crown, awaiting emigration. It had no precedent under international law, yet, for a while, the occupying Germans honored them.

I jumped off a cattle car loaded with deportees to Auschwitz. Battered, bruised and without funds, I made my way to Zilana and the Jewish Community Council there by the aid of two natives I met on the tracks. They issued me a Sultzpass, which satisfied the officials, giving me time to recover and to avoid rearrest for the crime of being a Jew. I called the Jewish Council in Bratislava to inquire as to the whereabouts of my aunt and uncle who lived there. I found that they, too, were under Mr. Wallenberg's protection.

As the war drew to a close and I discovered the Sultzpasse were no longer honored, I found a hiding place in Bratislava. Mr. Wallenberg's clever ruse enabled me to avoid the gas chambers.

Wallenberg Deserved Nobel Prize

Afraid of the Soviets?

The Nobel Peace Prize Committee has always made little secret of its displeasure at the continuation of Russia's jailed but darkly brilliant, Andrei Sakharov, by giving that country's award to Mainstream advocates of liberal and Atlantic Union thinking.

The Nobel Committee is afraid of provoking the Russians," charged one of the Polish dissidents who braved a chilling walk outside the Nobel Institute in Oslo last week, when the announcement was made.

The complaint has obvious merit, but there are people who feel the same way about the committee's failure to honor the most recent nomination of Raoul Wallenberg, whose unique worthiness has been ignored ever since Albert Einstein first recommended him for the prize back in 1949.

"It's sad, but not surprising," notes John Bierman, the British journalist who awakened American consciences last year with his book, Righteous Gentile: The Story of Raoul Wallenberg, Missing Hero of the Holocaust (Viking Press).

"The Nobel people are such a mealy-mouthed lot," says Bierman, "there is no way they would infuriate the Russians by giving the award to Wallenberg."

Raoul Wallenberg was a Swedish diplomat who risked his own life regularly to save many thousands of Jewish lives in Hungary during the final terrible stages of the Holocaust, only to vanish shortly after the Russians "liberated" Budapest on Christmas Eve, 1944.

For years, the Soviets denied any knowledge of Wallenberg's existence, despite repeated reports that he was a prisoner in Russia.

Then, during the so-called "de-Stalinization" period, Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko claimed in February, 1957, that a search of the Lubyanka Prison archives had revealed that "a prisoner named Wallenberg" had died there of a heart attack almost 10 years earlier.

Other than this terse announcement, the Soviets consistently refused to provide any documentation of Wallenberg's death. Nor would they explain why the Swede had been imprisoned in the first place.

But over the years, there have been periodic reports — some as recent as 1980 — that Wallenberg has been seen alive by returnees from the Soviet prison system. According to at least one report, Wallenberg was being held in a government mental hospital — which, as author Bierman points out, is the Soviet equivalent of being "buried alive."

Just a year ago this month, President Reagan signed a resolution making Wallenberg an honorary U.S. citizen. The only other foreigner ever to be granted that distinction was Winston Churchill.

At the signing ceremony, Reagan said Wallenberg's wartime accomplishments were of "biblical proportions." The president also acknowledged that "there is evidence he is still a prisoner" in the USSR.

The U.S. bears a special moral responsibility for Raoul Wallenberg, much of whose rescue work was financed by this country.

In January, 1944, the Roosevelt Administration belatedly reacted to the ongoing annihilation of Jews by forming the War Refugee Board. By then, the Nazis knew defeat was inevitable, but Hitler was insanely determined to liquidate Hungary's 900,000 Jews — the largest remaining Jewish population in Europe.

The War Refugee Board asked neutral Sweden to send someone on a rescue mission [illegible] Wallenberg, because of his [illegible] in Germany and his many business contacts in Budapest.

An unlikely hero, Wallenberg was from one of the country's wealthiest families, sometimes referred to as "the Rockefellers of Sweden." He was unassuming personally, and he had no diplomatic background. But once in action, his work was labeled as "biblical proportions," as John Bierman's book said. The testimony of survivors will surely attest.

By January, 1945, Wallenberg had issued passports and Swedish travel documents to at least 20,000 Budapest Jews, having sheltered 11,000 of them in "safe" houses he had personally rented. He also successfully prodded other neutral embassies into stepping up their own efforts to save Jews.

There are accounts of Wallenberg standing atop deportation trains, handing out Swedish passports to as many Jews who could reach them, then demanding they be released from the train. He personally pulled people out of death marches to the border. By night, he smuggled food and medical supplies to deportees.

After the Soviets came, Wallenberg sought their help in dealing with remnants of the pro-Nazi Arrow Cross Party, gangs of armed thugs who were still preying on Jewish survivors. Then, on January 17, 1945, he and his driver, along with two Soviet officers, set out for Debrecen, 120 miles from Budapest, where Wallenberg planned to request added help for Jewish survivors.

Wallenberg and his driver never returned. The most plausible reconstruction is that the Soviets were immediately suspicious of Wallenberg's "capitalist" background. And when other members of the Swedish legation disclosed under intense interrogation that the U.S. had financed Wallenberg's rescue efforts, Soviet intelligence concluded he had to be an American "spy."

Like others who have researched the case, John Bierman was outraged by the "combination of cowardice and naivetie" that long inhibited the Swedish government from aggressively confronting the Soviets about Wallenberg's fate.

"When the Americans tried to help, the Swedes rebuffed them," he says. "Later, the Swedes did get more persistent with the Russians. But if they had shown more guts and determination earlier, before the cover-up became so deep, they might well have succeeded in winning Wallenberg's release."

Raoul Wallenberg's 70th birthday was in August. If he is still alive, the awarding of the Nobel Peace Prize in his name would have put enormous pressure on the USSR to release him.

Yes, the charter of the Nobel Institute rules out posthumous awards, but there has never been a shred of documented evidence that Wallenberg is dead. Indeed, the official position of his own country, which ironically also gave us Nobel, is that Wallenberg is alive.

Even if that is no more than a faint hope, humanity must cling to it.

Jack McKinney's column appears Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia
Washington Activity -- Requests
U.S. Legislative, U.S. Executive

U.S. Legislative

We ask for the Senate's legislative review and the House's oversight of Public Law 97-54 -- Oct. 5, 1981 (whose Section 2 states, "The President is requested to take all possible steps to ascertain from the Soviet Union the whereabouts of Raoul Wallenberg and to secure his return to freedom"). The Senate's legislative review would be pursuant to Rule 26.6a of the Standing Rules of the Senate. The House's oversight would be pursuant to Rule 10, Clause 2 of the House Rules.

The Senate Report (No. 97-169, 1981) shows the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations and Committee on the Judiciary have jurisdiction. The House Report (No. 97-152, Parts 1 and 2, 1981) shows the House Committee on Foreign Affairs' Subcommittee on Human Rights and International Organizations and Subcommittee on Europe and the Middle East, and Committee on the Judiciary's Subcommittee on Immigration, Refugees, and International Law, have jurisdiction.

We ask for hearings by each of the two Senate committees and three House subcommittees.

We ask that, to prepare for such hearings, the members use the Congressional Research Service and other information resources to obtain a directory of all private U.S. and foreign organizations participating in efforts to free Wallenberg (including organization name and address, and a name and telephone number if available), an annotated list of other possible witnesses for the hearings, a chronology of reports concerning Wallenberg's location and condition (with full citations for printed sources when available, and an annotated bibliography) including all official Soviet statements, a detailed review of how the treatment of Wallenberg violates specific provisions of international and Soviet law, and other information as needed.

We ask that the members request continuous review with regular reports from all relevant State Department offices, the International Communication Agency, and other executive officials, on the latest status of U.S. and foreign official and private efforts to free Wallenberg.

We ask for cooperation of all Senators' and Representatives' staffs with all U.S. and foreign official and private efforts to free Wallenberg, and that each member designate one staff member or more to facilitate private contacts with U.S. and foreign government officials including intelligence officials, and to facilitate replies to private requests for information including intelligence information.

We ask that all Senators and Representatives sign a formal request that the President (in the Federal Register) direct all federal officials to cooperate with all U.S. and foreign official and private efforts to free Wallenberg.

We ask that all Senators and Representatives notify the chairman of each committee having jurisdiction of their support for all U.S. and foreign official and private efforts to free Wallenberg.

Department of State:
We ask that the Secretary of State direct all State Department officials to ask in every possible bilateral and multilateral meeting that the Soviet Union free Raoul Wallenberg, and to review all bilateral and multilateral policies for changes to assist U.S. and foreign official and private efforts to free Wallenberg. We ask that this action include requests of, and policy reviews concerning, all countries besides the U.S. and Soviet Union that might influence the Soviet Union to free Wallenberg. We ask specifically for continuous exploration of all possible bilateral and multilateral prisoner exchanges, "spy swaps," and other exchanges to free Wallenberg, as a priority of the State Department.

We ask that the Legal Advisor prepare briefs for U.S. official litigation and official protest in all possible international legal and human rights forums, and make copies available to all U.S. and foreign official and private efforts to free Wallenberg.

International Communication Agency:
We ask that all possible media be used to regularly and repeatedly report the latest status of U.S. and foreign official and private efforts to free Wallenberg.

Individual Activity to Free Raoul Wallenberg

1. Pray for Raoul Gustav Wallenberg and for success in the effort to free him from the Soviet Union.

2. Write a courteous letter to Soviet Chairman Yuri V. Andropov. How: please send the Committee an undated letter, typed with signature in pen, or all in pen, addressed "Dear Chairman Andropov:" asking "Please free Raoul Gustav Wallenberg," and signed "Sincerely," with your name and address. Then the Committee can photocopy the letter, to send the original to Andropov and copies to others (including other Soviet officials), with a copy and the return receipt for Committee files. This will save you the $4.65 postal fee for a one-ounce return receipt letter to the Soviet Union. Please also send the Committee a copy of any reply you receive.

3. Call your Senators' Washington offices. How: for each Senator, please call 1-202-224-3121 (the Capitol Hill Switchboard) on a weekday between 9 A.M. and 5 P.M., and ask for the Senator's office. Then courteously say what city you are calling from, and that you are calling to ask that the Senator send you a written statement of what he has done and plans to do to help free Raoul Gustav Wallenberg from the Soviet Union. Then give your name and address, ask if the person you're speaking to knows when you might expect the statement, and close with a thank-you. Each call is likely to cost about one dollar. When you do get a written statement, please let the Committee know the date you called and the date you received the statement.

4. Call the President's White House Comment Line. How: please call 1-202-456-7639 on a weekday between 9 A.M. and 5 P.M., and courteously say what city you're calling from, and that you'd like to leave a very brief message about Raoul Gustav Wallenberg, asking that the President direct in the Federal Register that all federal officials cooperate with all U.S. and foreign official and private efforts to free Raoul Gustav Wallenberg. The call is likely to cost about one dollar. Please also let the Committee know the date and time you called.

5. Sign a petition, and gather signatures for a petition. How: please let the Committee know whether you want one petition form (for twenty-five signatures) or more, or make your own petition by using a heading such as "We ask that the Soviet Union free Raoul Gustav Wallenberg." Write your name with your city and state, ask others to do the same, and then send the partly or completely filled petition to the Committee. Then the Committee can photocopy the petition when filled, to send the original to Andropov and copies to others (including other Soviet officials), with a copy and the return receipt for Committee files. This will save you the $4.65 postal fee for a one-ounce return receipt letter to the Soviet Union

NEWS UPDATE

HOUSE OVERSIGHT HEARING AUGUST 3, 1983

The Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia Inc. was invited to participate and testify before the Subcommittee on Human Rights and International Organizations of the House Foreign Affairs Committee on August 3, 1983.

The Oversight Hearing entitled "UPDATE ON RAOUL WALLENBERG" was held in the House Foreign Affairs Committee Room 2172, Rayburn House Office Building before a capacity audience including dignitaries and officials. Chairman Gus Yatron (Pa.) presided.

Joshua Eilberg, Esq. who is on the Board of Advisors of the Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia, testified on its behalf. He is also a former member of the United States House of Representatives. Other members of the Philadelphia Committee who accompanied him to the Hearing were Leona Feldman (President), Allen Lesley, Esq. (Vice-President), Sarah Kops (Advisory Board), John Fraser, and Joyce Johnson, wife of our Vice-President from the State of Delaware and President of the Delaware League of Women Voters.

Mr. Eilburg began his testimony by thanking Chairman Yatron "for agreeing to meet with us last April 27th to discuss Raoul Wallenberg; thank you for at that meeting offering to hold oversight hearings on Public Law 97-54 -October 5, 1981; and thank you for now holding such an oversight hearing." He went on to review what the Committee could do to implement our "WASHINGTON ACTIVITIES REQUESTS" (see text of same in this Newsletter).

The panel of witnesses spoke in the following order and were listed as follows:
Hon. Tom Lantos, Member of Congress from the State of California
Annette Lantos, Administrative Assistant to Representative Lantos and Foundor, Chairperson, FREE WALLENBERG COMMITTEE
Hon. Claiborne D. Pell, U.S. Senator from the State of Rhode Island. (Senate Ctte. on Foreign Relations)
Hon. Hamilton Fish, Jr., Member of Congress from the State of New York.

In Chairman Yatron's opening statement, he said, "Wallenberg's own words suggest why our endeavors to rescue him must continue. When he was asked whether he would go to Budapest, he said 'If I can save one life I will go'. It is my greatest desire that the life we may be able to save through our hearing today will be that of Raoul Wallenberg."

The Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia submitted a list of questions to the Subcommittee which Chairman Yatron put to State Department Counsellor Ed Derwinski

Those members of the Subcommittee who paid tribute to Mr. Wallenberg and sat with Chairman Yatron during the Hearing were Representatives Mel Levine (Cal), Ted Weiss (New York), Tom Lantos (Cal), Peter Kostmayer (Pa), Jim Leach (Iowa).

Congressmen from other Committees or Subcommittees who sat that day with the Human Rights Subcommittee and participated in the Hearing were Representatives Harry Reid (Nev), House Foreign Affairs Subcommittee on Africa, Benjamin A Gilman (N.Y.), House Foreign Affairs Subcommittee on International Operations and Hamilton Fish Jr. (N.Y.), House Judiciary Committee. (Representative Fish also testified, see above.) Both the Judiciary and Foreign Affairs Committees were responsible for passage of the Wallenberg Legislation in 1981.

The Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia gave advance notice to media and press in Philadelphia, Reading (Congressman Yatron represents the Reading area.), South Jersey, State of Delaware, New York and Washington DC as well as organizations, Embassies, State Department Officials and Members of Congress.

Coverage of the hearing was given by, among others, the United States Information Agency's Voice of America, Radio Free Europe-Radio Liberty Inc., Cable News Network and CBS Network News.

Prior to the August 3 Oversight Hearing, on August 2, Radio Free Europe - Radio Liberty Inc. and Channel 10 interviewed Wallenberg Committee President Leona T. Feldman by telephone.

On August 2, relative the August 3 Oversight Hearing, Don Johnson (Vice President from the State of Delaware) and Joyce went to Washington DC where they spoke with their Representative Thomas Carper as well as Ann Butterfield and Charlie Stevenson, Staff Assistants in Foreign Affairs respectively for Senators William V. Roth Jr. (Del) and Joseph R. Biden (Del). Don also gave them each a packet of material including Petitions signed by Delawarians, calling for the release of Wallenberg

---

August 6, 1983 -- Senator Arlen Specter (Pa) met in Philadelphia with Josh Eilberg, Allen Lesley, John Fraser and Leona Feldman. The Senator promised to try for a Senate Oversight Hearing in the near future which he himself would chair. He also promised to contact President Reagen regarding the issuance of a Presidential Directive.

August 11, 1983 -- The School Curriculum Committee had its first meeting.

Who said the town closes down?

Bill Frank

NOTES BY a Delaware version of diarist Samuel Pepys.

Let no one ever persuade you that Wilmington shuts down on a mid-June Saturday. As evidence, here is my diary for Saturday, June 11:

● 11 a.m.: Drove to the Delaware Art Museum on the Kentmere Parkway, to discover all streets leading to the center clogged with parked cars. And no wonder! The annual Craft Fair was in progress.

I did find a space and began buying from the many bazaars offering outstanding bargains, particularly books and art magazines.

Later sat in the portico and thought of the late 1930s when the museum was built on ground made available by the Bancroft family.

Introspectively, I decided it was a good thing the Wilmington Society of the Fine Arts did not accept the late N.C. Wyeth's 1937 recommendation to build the center at 14th and Market Streets where Fletcher Brown School was later erected.

Wyeth was not sold on the Kentmere Parkway site, but his hunch turned out all wrong.

● 12:30 p.m. Drove to Fort Christina Park on lower East Seventh St. for the Delaware-Swedish Colonial Society's Midsummerfest.

It was better attended than I had expected.

Everyone wandered down to see the Carl Milles monument but a number deplored the continued presence of vast trash and junk piles on the Christina River bank opposite the monument. Is this really the gateway to Wilmington?

The dancers with their Swedish affiliation were charming.

This was a most significant event, a tribute to the Swedish pioneers who landed here in 1638 and started the history of present Wilmington.

I noted with satisfaction that there was a table where people could sign petitions to our congressmen, urging them to persuade Russia to release the valiant Raoul Wallenberg, courageous Swede who saved many hundreds of men, women and children from the clutches of the Nazi fiends.

● 2:30 p.m. Drove to Eighth and Market streets and strolled the Mall enjoying the Racial Unity Demonstration.

There was one particularly interesting group of Afro-American musicians, in front of the Grand Opera House, who held the attention of scores of people.

The entire event, between Eighth and Ninth Streets, filled the Mall with scores of visitors.

Who said the Market Street Mall closes down on Saturdays?

● 7:45 p.m. Drove to the Wilmington Music School on upper Washington Street for the Honor Awards Program and recital.

A pity more people didn't attend. Also, a pity the News-Journal papers' top music critics don't pay more attention to these young musicians.

In the auditorium waiting for the program to begin, my thoughts went to the 1920s when the Music School was located in the former Young Men's Hebrew Association building at the northwest corner of Third and King, and later at the corner of Eighth and Washington.

The speaker Saturday night was Fredrick Kaufman, dean of the Philadelphia College of the Performing Arts. He was introduced by Stephen Gunzenhauser, artistic director of the Music School.

This was followed by a series of solos by students, a most amazing and delightful array of young musicians with considerable talent.

It was interesting to note the appearance of one of Wilmington's more interesting musical families, Marilyn Haas, a public school music teacher who is skilled in both piano and viola, accompanied on piano each of her daughters — Jennifer on violin and Lianne on viola.

Later in the evening the String Club presented a Mendelssohn work, directed by Leo Abramjian, and among the players were not only the Haas girls but also their brother, Darryn, on cello.

Where was Papa Jack Haas? He's also a musician, strong on the trumpet. On this night, however, he was in the orchestra at the Candlelight Dinner Theater in Arden.

The evening came to a superb ending with the presentation of awards by Gunzenhauser, assisted by Mrs. Peter Flint, president of the Wilmington Music School.

● 10:30 p.m. and so to home to hear the results of the special election in East Wilmington for the State House of Representatives.

Was overjoyed at the terrific victory of Jim Sills, who now succeeds Herman M. Holloway Jr.

It was, as they say, the end of a perfect June day.

The effort of the Holloway clan to force one of their own upon the state has been defeated, at least for the time. Whoever thought up this scheme of pushing the sister of Holloway Jr., into the General Assembly should do public penance for a year or more.

It was not only a foolish idea but smacked of unusual arrogance.

I recall hearing Marlene Dryden, the sister, say her candidacy was an effort to get Lee Marshall and his group "off our backs."

Well, maybe now Sills' victory will get the Holloway clan off our backs.

Prophets: Rock Translated

By Michael Zwerin
International Herald Tribune

PARIS — "Some rock groups are figments of the audience's imagination; The Prophets are figments of our own," explained Norman Landing, a pseudonym. "We are always coming up with hypothetical situations which we cannot incorporate into our other activities, so we decided to create a hypothetical group."

They are two. Both have worked with Amnesty International. Landing is a record producer. Joseph Weil, another false name, resembles the eccentric, absent-minded inventor he is. Both now citizens of European Community countries, they concealed their Eastern European origins to protect relatives when they released their first record, "Back To Siberia" (Hypothetical Records) in 1979.

This single was fabricated with deliberately crude art and synthesizer work to make it look and sound like a smuggled Soviet dissident document.

"It's a minimalist parody of Kraftwerk's 'Trans-Europe Express,' listing stops on the Trans-Siberian Express where more people get off than get on the train," Landing said. "We found a dissident in Paris who had this information. So without shouting any message, we came up with a fairly complete list of Siberian gulags."

The Prophets have an artistic personality somewhere between David Bowie and Laurie Anderson. They deal in motorics with a beat and electronics with a human face. "Electronics are often too impersonal," Weil said. "It is important to maintain the human element. Whenever possible we use a real acoustic instrument rather than a synthesized imitation. The clicking of keys or valves, the player's breathing, hesitations, bum notes, even genuine human failure, is important."

"On the Edge," a track on their recent album "Around the World With The Prophets" (Epic), is another example of artistic exploitation of human failure, as well as their fascination with "found" material. It is a synthesized collage based on a real recorded announcement read by a man with a heavy Brooklyn accent in a Queens subway stop. "Leaning over the edge of the station platform will not make the train come any more quickly. A watched pot almost never boils. If you lean over the edge, you may fall to the tracks. The consequences may be very serious. Please do not lean over the edge of the platform. And when a train does come, step back from the edge. It's much sa — it's much safer [illegible]"

"Nobody took the time to edit out the guy's stutter over 'safer,' or make another take," Landing laughed. "That's New York for you. Time is money, get it done fast, and don't lean over the edge."

"I Like Lead" is based on a study made of children who lived around "Spaghetti Junction," where several motorways meet near Birmingham, England. Landing read one chemist's report that the children up to age 8 suffered brain damage from lead poisoning equivalent to the effect of two whiskeys a day. "Studies seem to prove that heavy doses of lead make these kids unruly at football matches and reduce their attention span," said Landing. "Instead of just crying out about the injustice of it all, we thought it would be more effective and less boring to treat the subject from the hypothetical point of view of kids who object to a cleanup campaign on the ground that they've been getting stoned for free while their parents spend all their money in the local pub for the same purpose."

The most effective and ambitious piece on the album, "Wallenberg," is based on an article by Leopold Unger in the International Herald Tribune (Nov. 9, 1980) about Raoul Wallenberg, the Swedish diplomat who saved many Hungarian Jews from the Nazis and then disappeared into the gulag network. Reading it, Landing thought, "It's the Scarlet Pimpernel all over again."

He applied Brion Gysin's cut-up method to write the song. Gysin's cut-ups influenced the writer William Burroughs and rock star David Bowie, among others. Pages of written text are literally cut up and reassembled to make a new message. For example, Unger's passage: "Andrei Gromyko, at the time deputy foreign minister, admitted . . ." became, "The Time Minister admitted . . ." The text is electronically filtered and chanted over a dirgelike lilt with sustained organ chords and plaintive saxophones.

"Wallenberg" has another hook which, according to Landing, is basic Prophets' thought process.

"My brother is a doctor who works with 'Physicians Against Nuclear War' in Oxford. He told me that one reason SALT treaties never get ratified is because they are translated when each party gets home and the translation is then sent for approval. The Americans read Russian translated into English by Russians and vice versa. Then each party says that such and such a passage is not what they agreed on, so they translate their version again and send it for approval. [illegible] accuse the other of trying to pull a fast one.

"From the premise that many misunderstandings stem from this human failing, we decided to create deliberate misunderstanding in order to attract attention to Raoul Wallenberg's case. We want to translate the song from English to French, French to Italian, Italian to German and so on until the final Japanese version is retranslated back into English. . . .

"Eventually we would like to put all the versions of 'Wallenberg' on one limited-edition LP. Obviously this is never going to make a whole lot of money, but we'll donate it to a library, put it in a vault or something and then forget about it."

(Leopold Unger writes in French, so his Herald Tribune article had already been translated once.)

Västtysk dokumentär om Raoul Wallenberg

Död eller inte död 1947? Mer behöver man nog inte säga för att associationerna skall leta sig till Raoul Wallenberg, den svenske diplomaten som försvann för 38 år sedan, tagen "i förvar" av ryssarna.

På lördagskvällen, kl. 20.00 visar TV 2 en västtysk dokumentär, som huvudsakligen skildrar Wallenbergs kjälpaktioner för att rädda ungerska judar undan nazisternas förföljelse i Budapest 1944.

Wallenberg hade kommit till Ungern sommaren 1944. Tyska War Refuger Board hade gett honom i uppdrag att rädda judar. Under hösten lär han ha räddat livet på någonstans mellan 30 000 och 60 000 personer, bland annat genom att ordna svenska skyddspass.

När han anlände till Budapest drevs den judiska landsbygdsbefolkningen samman för att skickas till koncentrationslägret Auschwitz, en av Tredje rikets många gaskammare.

Till skillnad från andra diplomater i Budapest lämnade Wallenberg sin legation, och sökte upp de förföljda människorna. Han gjorde vad han kunde för att lindra deras akuta nöd, förhandlade med olika myndigheter. När ryssarna erövrade staden i januari 1945 greps svensken av militär och fördes till Röda arméns högkvarter.

Sedan dess har hans öde varit omdebatterat. 1957 fick Tage Erlander höra av Chrustjov, att Wallenberg dött den 17 juli 1947, troligen av hjärtkollaps. Men flera uppgifter har talat för att han varit vid liv vid senare tillfällen.

RAOUL WALLENBERG HONORED IN STOCKHOLM CATHEDRAL ON RAOUL WALLENBERG DAY JANUARY 17, 1983

Raoul Wallenbergs minne hyllades i tal och med sång

18/1-83 Arbetet

STOCKHOLM (TT)

Raoul Wallenbergs insatser för att rädda 100 000 judar i andra världskrigets slutskede uppmärksammades på måndagen på flera håll i västvärlden. I Stockholm skedde det vid en sammankomst i Storkyrkan med tal av landshövding Gunnar Helén.

Storkyrkans kör framförde ett musikprogram på temat fred och frihet. Dirigent var Gustaf Sjökvist. Dessutom medverkade skådespelerskan Gerd Hagman, överrabbin Morton Narrowe, pastor primarius Ludvig Jonsson och Storkyrkans organist Håkan Martinsson.

Raoul Wallenberg-dagen firas för att erinra om att det var 17 januari 1945 som Wallenberg senast sågs i frihet. Han grep då av de ryska trupperna i Budapest.

Vad som sedan hänt honom är höljt i dunkel. De sovjetiska myndigheterna hävdar att han avled 1947.

Det senaste spåret i efterforskningarna efter Raoul Wallenberg är uppgifter från en sovjetisk jude Asjer Hanukajev som utvandrat till Israel. Han hävdar att han i mars 1972 under några dagar träffat den svenske diplomaten i fängelsesjukhuset i Sverdlovsk vid Uralbergen.

Hannukajev, som kom till Israel för fem år sedan framträdde i december första året.

Den svenske ambassadören i Israel Torsten Örn har träffat Hanukajev och betecknat hans uppgifter som trovärdiga. No granskar utrikesdepartementet i detalj vittnesmålet. Det finns dock en viss skepsis inför att Hanukajev vistat så länge med att framträda.

Ge ut ett frimärke med Raoul Wallenbergs porträtt. Det är ett värdigt sätt att för alltid påminna om hans gärningar anser moderate riksdagsledamoten Sven Munke och för fram kraven i en motion under allmänna motionstiden.

Han påpekar att många forskare, konstnärer och andra personligheter hyllas genom frimärksutgivning.

Alla vin- och spritflaskor som säljs av Systembolaget bör beläggas med pant, föreslår Lennart Pettersson m fl (s). Detta skulle minska nedskräpningen i naturen.

Det befarar Sven Henricsson m fl (vpk) och kräver en tidsgräns för dödsbokgande, ändrad skattelagstiftning och skärpt jordförvärvslag.

Rädda våra fjälliskogar, utropar Lars Ernestam och Börje Svensson, båda (fp). Exploateringen av fjälliskogarna innebar att unika naturvärden spolieras och att samernas försörjningsmöjligheter ytterligare beskärs.

NOBEL PEACE PRIZE FOR RAOUL WALLENBERG

WE THE UNDERSIGNED ----------

CALL FOR THE NOMINATION OF RAOUL GUSTAV WALLENBERG, Honorary Citizen of the United States (recently proclaimed), TO RECEIVE THE NOBEL PEACE PRIZE. As 20th Century Hero-Humanitarian, his nomination is long overdue.

In 1944, young Wallenberg, Swedish Lutheran diplomat, went to Hungary under the United States War Refugee Board. His superhuman efforts at the risk of his own life, saved some 100,000 Jewish lives from Nazi extermination, as well as countless anti-Nazi Christians. In 1945, the Russians rewarded his heroism with imprisonment. According to eyewitness testimony, Wallenberg is alive and still a prisoner somewhere in the Soviet Union. The Swedish and United States Governments give this position official credence. Awarding the Nobel Peace Prize to Raoul Gustav Wallenberg, would give recognition to the uniqueness of this man, his mission and its accomplishment and would send a clear signal and universal message to Soviet authorities to reverse their position and to set him free.

Where is Raoul Wallenberg...and why was he abandoned by his country and the world?

In 1944, during World War Two, Raoul Gustav Wallenberg, young Swedish diplomat and scion of an illustrious and aristocratic Lutheran family, went to Nazi-occupied Budapest on a rescue mission under the auspices of the Swedish Government and funded by the United States War Refugee Board. By outmaneuvering the Nazis, he saved some 100,000 Jewish lives slated for torture and extermination and he saved the lives of countless anti-Nazi Christian partisans. In 1945, the advancing Russians arrested Wallenberg without cause, imprisoned him without trial and, depriving him of his fundamental human rights, have held him incommunicado since 1945, in violation of the rules of Swedish Neutrality, Diplomatic Immunity and International Law. Throughout the succeeding years, Wallenberg's attempts to alert those on the Outside, to his existence and whereabouts, met with World indifference.

The United States and Sweden officially maintain that Wallenberg is alive and still a prisoner somewhere in the Soviet Union. Sworn evidence and eyewitness testimony support this position. On October 5, 1981, the United States made him an Honorary Citizen, the third in its history. The Congressional Law 97-54 which thus honors Wallenberg, also directs the President of the United States to take all possible steps to ascertain from the Soviet Union his whereabouts and to secure his return to freedom.

It is ironic that this man, a caring and concerned Christian who risked his life to perform a sincere act of human kindness, should languish in Soviet prisons since 1945, abandoned by a world which could have helped and that in rescuing those doomed by the apathy of others, he fell victim to a similar fate

An international outcry led by a ground swell of American voices must arise to demand the release of Raoul Gustav Wallenberg, Hero of the Twentieth Century. His message is a clarion call to all humanity: he chose to become involved when others were bystanders and did nothing.

Let us all respond to that call and join together as Americans to terminate this long, cruel and appalling injustice. Let us act in behalf of Raoul Gustav Wallenberg, while there is still time, to extricate him from the clutches of his Soviet captors and expedite his return to the Free World.

Nicholas C. went to the Soviet Union in 1947 as a tourist, planning to stay three weeks.

He ended up staying 34 years — in a Siberian prison camp.

Most incredible of all, Nicholas was fortunate, according to evidence compiled by journalist Patrick Meney in a new book just released here, "The Broken Hands of [illegible]."

Although desperate pleas on Nicholas's behalf from the French foreign minister forced his release in 1981, Mr. Meney reports that as many as 600 other Frenchmen continue to be held in Soviet prisons. He says many have been imprisoned since World War II, when they were liberated from German prisoner-of-war camps in Eastern Europe by the Soviet Army.

The plight of other foreigners in the gulag, most of them East Europeans and especially Volga Germans, has long been well known. But this is the first time the Soviets have been accused of holding large numbers of Frenchmen.

The French Foreign Ministry confirms Meney's story of Nicholas C., whose identity is not revealed to protect him. It also hints that the harrowing material in the rest of the book could be true.

"In Russia there are a certain number of Frenchmen imprisoned," a Foreign Ministry official said. "These are usually people who are also Russian citizens — and the Soviet Union does not recognize double nationalities. We are constantly making efforts to help them."

Nicholas's case, as Meney tells it, is unusual because he never was a Soviet citizen. Nor was he a prisoner of war who was liberated, then incarcerated.

Instead, after he traveled through the Caucasus Mountains during the Stalin era, the secret police arrested him on charges of espionage. At his trial, he was acquitted. Nonetheless, the police rearrested and imprisoned him.

'One wonders if keeping these things secret is a good thing. While it seems that Soviet public opinion doesn't count for anything in Soviet internal affairs, international opinion can, to a certain extent, improve things.'

For the next 37 years, Nicholas lived either in a prison camp or confined to a remote village near Gorky. Finally, in 1979 he was able to escape KGB surveillance and head to Moscow. A friend brought his case to the attention of French diplomats — and they arranged for Nicholas to be hidden in the embassy.

Only after two years of arduous negotiations with the Soviet authorities was Nicholas allowed to return home to France.

Meney contends that the French Foreign Ministry has papers on about 300 more Frenchmen trapped in the gulag. Although there are no documents offering proof, he adds that diplomats in Moscow told him as many as 300 more French citizens may be imprisoned.

These figures do not take into account the 15,000 Alsatian soldiers who were enlisted in the German Army during World War II and then imprisoned by the Russians.

The Russians evidently considered these men German, not French, citizens.

Even with Meney's book, not much is known about the fate of these French prisoners. Meney says the Foreign Ministry here remains prudent in commenting on the issue, for fear of upsetting delicate negotiations. And Nicholas was warned before he was liberated not to talk about his experiences.

But two years after returning home, he agreed to be Meney's witness.

"He is worried," Meney explained in an interview with Paris Match.

"One wonders if keeping these things secret is a good thing. While it seems that Soviet public opinion doesn't count for anything in the country's internal affairs, international opinion can, to a certain extent, improve things."

In 1981, for example, Soviet physicist and human rights activist Andrei D. Sakharov and his wife, Yelena G. Bonner, staged a hunger strike when the authorities would not allow Bonner's daughter-in-law, Liza Alekseyeva, to emigrate. After 17 days she was allowed to leave the country.

reignty over Northern Ireland, now vested in London, will be unaffected.

In making his new bid for reducing tension in Ulster, Prior is assuming a thankless task. Even Mrs. Thatcher is reported to be lukewarm about fresh attempts to find a peace formula because of the record of failure.

But, like Prior, she knows that the political atmosphere in Ulster is worsening and that a policy of doing nothing would probably accelerate this process.

Prior's job is made no easier by the failure of Sinn Fein (the political wing of the illegal Irish Republican Army) and the Ulster Unionists to involve themselves in the New Ireland Forum or in the work of the Northern Ireland Assembly.

But he sees the forum report as a possible turning point in Ulster's descent into violence. One section of the document reflected Dublin's alarm at increasing lawlessness in the province.

The Irish prime minister, Garret FitzGerald, is throwing his support behind carefully calculated attempts to reduce sectarian tension. Prior wants to take advantage of the mood in Dublin by attempting to further isolate Sinn Fein in Ulster.

was later expanded to include oil [illegible] migration from certain countries, and foreign loans. The Israeli press and public almost unanimously accept the need for some sort of censorship in view of the perceptible danger of providing enemies with useful military information.

Israeli public accepts censorship

"I feel more comfortable having a knowledgeable censor going over my copy than having to rely on my own sense of what might or might not be useful to the enemy," an Israeli journalist says.

The problem begins when the censor extends his reach to the area of "public morale." Members of parliament charged several years ago, for instance, that the censor had banned publication of the fact that an Army officer had been convicted for murdering Arab prisoners during the 1978 incursion into Lebanon. The fear is that the authorities will extend censorship to the political sphere in the name of the "national interest."

In 1975, the Labor government tried to make censorship applicable to top-secret communications between Israel and foreign governments and to secret meetings between Israeli diplomats and representatives of countries with which Israel has no relations. The Israeli Journal[illegible] made up of representatives of the country's newspapers, to limit its broad powers of censorship and to refrain from closing down papers that violate censorship rules.

Hadashot, which began publishing a few months ago, did not enjoy the protection of this agreement since it was not yet represented on the Editors' Committee.

The anomaly of press censorship in a country that prides itself on being a democracy was addressed by Haim Zadok when he served as justice minister in 1976: "While we are proud that Israel maintains the freedom of its press in its difficult situation," he said, "the government is obliged to limit this basic principle in the face of an even more basic principle — the protection of the most vital interests of the state."

The other side of the coin was expressed in a Jerusalem Post editorial: "There are times when a democratic nation to protect itself must limit the information given to public disclosure." This, the paper declared, was tolerable "only as long as the red pencil strikes strictly at the proper targets and that what the public is told is otherwise complete and credible."

Soviets quash a Hungarian proposal to honor Wallenberg

Plan to reinstate statue draws Soviet displeasure

By Eric Bourne
Special to The Christian Science Monitor

Vienna

A new page has just been added to the "Wallenberg mystery." This is the case of the Swedish diplomat who saved thousands of Hungarian Jews from Hitler's death camps — and then disappeared in Soviet-liberated eastern Hungary.

Although almost 40 years have passed, it still is a sensitive and embarrassing issue for the Soviets. They have coldly brushed off repeated Swedish attempts to learn more about his fate.

In 1957, they asserted that Raoul Wallenberg had died 10 years earlier in Moscow's Lubyanka prison. But reports surfacing periodically since then suggest he lived on at least into the early '70s.

Now, according to recent information from Budapest, the Soviet leadership has vetoed a Hungarian move to restore a statue commemorating Wallenberg to its originally intended site in the Hungarian capital. The statue was commissioned soon after the war, but it disappeared on the eve of its unveiling — to reappear in altered form in the town of Debrecen, in eastern Hungary.

The statue's restoration to its former location in Budapest was first suggested in January in a review of the Hungarian Historical Society, which urged that it be returned next year. That will be the 40th anniversary of Wallenberg's disappearance while on his way in January 1945 to the seat of the newly created Hungarian provisional government at Debrecen, where Soviet Army headquarters were also located.

That journey was the last the outside world was to see of Wallenberg.

Official Hungarian approval of the proposal to restore the statue was evident in Budapest's Magyar Nemzet, the newspaper of the communist-led Patriotic People's Front. The newspaper hailed it as a "worthy gesture" of remembrance.

Official acquiescence may have been encouraged by the recent advance in relations between Budapest and Stockholm, due in part to the growing economic cooperation between Hungary and Western Europe. But there seems to be no doubt about Budapest's genuine regard for Wallenberg and his record.

Apparently, the Hungarians presumed that, since they were in no way responsible for what happened to him in the Soviet Union after the war, there could be no objection from that quarter to their wish to do belated justice to his memory.

Events have proved them wrong. When Magyar Nemzet's article appeared last March, sources in Budapest say, the Russians lost little time in making the Hungarians aware of their disapproval.

They did so not by way of formal diplomatic démarche or protest, but through party channels, i.e., through the contacts maintained between the apparatus of the Soviet Communist Party and all the party committees of Eastern Europe. It is through such channels that Moscow's influence is brought to bear on all decisions made by its allies in sensitive policy questions.

Even official Hungarian accounts still tend to obscure precisely what happened to the original Wallenberg statue — a 90-foot-high bronze in "St. George and the dragon" style on a granite plinth.

It stood briefly in Budapest's St. Stephen's Park — site of the former Jewish ghetto — in the spring of 1949. But on the very eve of the official unveiling, it simply disappeared. Some people who claimed to be eyewitnesses said it was removed by the Russians and badly "damaged" in the process.

The statue stood briefly on the site of Budapest's former Jewish ghetto in the spring of 1949, but on the very eve of the official unveiling, it simply disappeared.

Since 1963, a much-modified version of the statue has stood in the little town of Debrecen, which was Wallenberg's destination when he was picked up by the Russians. The Debrecen statue is a standard anti-Fascist memorial. There is no trace of the character intended in the original sculpture, nor does the original's inscription of "undying gratitude" to Raoul Wallenberg appear.

But however much its meaning might have been lost in this substitute version, the older Hungarian generation's regard for Wallenberg clearly remains.

"It is time to honor him for what he did," an official source commented recently to a Western journalist.

Ever since the 1956 uprising, the Budapest leaders have combined domestic reform with an understandable political prudence in their relations with Moscow and with fellow members of the Warsaw Pact.

For example, Budapest has been careful not to openly identify with either the persistent endeavors of the Swedish government to persuade the Russians to throw light on Raoul Wallenberg's fate or with the support given those efforts by the United States and other Western countries.

(Those latter efforts have included President Reagan's step in 1981 of making Raoul Wallenberg an honorary US citizen — Winston Churchill is the only other foreigner to be so honored. Secretary of State George Shultz also raised the issue with Andrei Gromyko at the opening of the Stockholm conference in January.)

Privately, nonetheless, the Hungarians have left Swedish and other diplomats with little doubt of their feeling for the young diplomat who, for six months in 1944, was responsible for saving the lives of as many as 100,000 Hungarian Jews.

He daily exposed himself to great danger, snatching Jews to safety from under the very noses of the Nazis and their domestic Hungarian Nazi Party. He provided many with Swedish passports and forged documents.

Others he protected in "safe" Swedish houses until they could be taken out of the country.

His activities were supported by funds from the American Joint Relief Organization and other US agencies. In Soviet eyes, this was probably enough to make him suspect of being something more than a humanitarian, neutral diplomat.

It could be that, given the current state of East-West relations, the Russians are going to do nothing that might seem to be a concession to the US or to the West as a whole, even on a humanitarian issue.

In the process, the more generously inclined Hungarians have apparently been snubbed, and the statue of Raoul Wallenberg seems destined to stay in its provincial obscurity at least for some time to come.

LONDON from preceding page

Although he dare not say so, the Ulster secretary also believes the Unionists of Northern Ireland will isolate themselves if they attempt to block all change whatsoever.

That is why he will place the emphasis not on sovereignty but on administrative measures aimed at curbing terrorist activity.

If either Protestants or Catholics oppose, for example, cross-border cooperation on security they will find it difficult to defend their negative stance. Prior is aiming at a subtle shift of mood in Ulster, using London-Dublin cooperation as a lever.

He has been helped by the absence in the forum report of any demand that Britain withdraw its forces from Northern Ireland.

A step by step approach will be used by Prior to launch his new initiative.

He will first place his proposals before the Cabinet in London suggesting, some reports indicate, that if they are not accepted he may resign.

Once his policy is accepted by the Thatcher government, he will open private talks with the political parties in Ulster stressing initially the security implications of the measures he proposes.

Depending on progress, Prior will later arrange talks with the Irish prime minister to enlist Dublin's formal support. British political sceptics are already predicting that Prior's new initiative is doomed to failure, but the Northern Ireland secretary is no doubt right in thinking that the London government cannot simply sit on its hands and watch the Ulster violence worsen.

Momentum is fast becoming the watchword in the Northern Ireland office. Without attempts to move forward, the situation in Ulster will deteriorate.

Government sources say Prior will seek to get his new proposals off the ground within the next eight weeks.

PREPARED STATEMENT OF HON. JOSHUA EILBERG

Mr. Chairman, thank you for inviting our testimony today. We represent the Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia, an independent, non-profit, and ecumenical group from Delaware, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania, organized under the aegis of the Raoul Wallenberg Committee of the United States, to support all U. S. and foreign official and private efforts to free Raoul Wallenberg from the Soviet Union.

Mr. Chairman, thank you for agreeing to meet with us last April 27th to discuss Raoul Wallenberg; thank you for at that meeting offering to hold oversight hearings on Public Law 97-54 of October 5th, 1981; and thank you for now holding just such an oversight hearing.

Our testimony is on proposed U. S. official actions to help free Raoul Wallenberg. These actions are of two types: legislative branch actions and executive branch actions. The legislative branch's Public Law 97-54 of October 5th, 1981 includes a Section 2 which states, "The President is requested to take all possible steps to ascertain from the Soviet Union the whereabouts of Raoul Wallenberg and to secure his return to freedom," and the executive branch's U. S. President's Public Papers for 1981 at page 898 includes President Reagan's statement at the signing ceremony that "we're going to do everything in our power" to free Raoul Wallenberg. Because both the legislative and executive branches already agree it is right "to take all possible steps" and "to do everything in our power," we ask the following U. S. official actions, first mentioning legislative branch actions.

We ask you, and all members of the Sub-Committee, to join us in sending letters to Soviet President Andropov asking that the Soviet Union free Raoul Wallenberg, and to join us in publicizing Raoul Wallenberg by regularly and repeatedly referring to Wallenberg in speeches.

We ask for continuing oversight, including exercise of oversight by the other relevant committees in joint or independent hearings, and we ask that you notify the chairman of each committee having jurisdiction of your support for all U. S. and foreign official and private efforts to free Wallenberg.

We ask that, for such continuing oversight, you use the Congressional Research Service and other information resources to provide information as needed in the various issues raised by the Wallenberg situation; that you request continuous review with regular reports from all relevant State Department officials, International Communication Agency officials, on the latest status of U. S. and foreign official and private efforts to free Wallenberg, and other information relating to Wallenberg.

We ask that you direct your staff to cooperate with all U. S. and foreign official and private efforts to free Wallenberg, and that each member of the Sub-Committee designate a staff member to facilitate private contacts with U. S. and foreign government officials including intelligence officials, and to facilitate replies to private requests for information including intelligence information.

We ask that you request of the President that he designate one or more staff members to facilitate private contacts and to facilitate replies to private requests for information; that you ask the President to regularly and repeatedly refer to Wallenberg in speeches to the public, and that you send a formal request to the President that he direct all federal officials to cooperate with all U. S. and foreign official and private efforts to free Wallenberg, with this directive to appear in the Federal Register. A proposed presidential directive is attached.

We thank you again, Mr. Chairman, for previously meeting with us, inviting us to testify, and holding this hearing. We welcome any questions from the Committee, now and in the future.

Proposed Presidential Directive

It is my policy to take all possible steps to ascertain from the Soviet Union the whereabouts of Raoul Wallenberg and to secure his return to freedom, pursuant to Public Law 97-54.

I direct all Federal officials to cooperate with all U. S. and foreign officials and private efforts to free Raoul Wallenberg.

I further direct:

--all officials of the Department of State to ask in every possible bilateral and multilateral meeting that the Soviet Union free Raoul Wallenberg;

--all officials of the Department of State to continuously review all bilateral and multilateral policies for changes to assist all U. S. and foreign official and private efforts to free Raoul Wallenberg, including requests of, and policy reviews concerning, all countries besides the U. S. and Soviet Union that might influence the Soviet Union to free Raoul Wallenberg, and including on a priority basis continuous exploration of all possible bilateral and multilateral prisoner exchanges and other exchanges to free Raoul Wallenberg;

--the Legal Adviser of the Department of State to prepare briefs on a priority basis for U. S. official visitation and official protest to all possible international legal and human rights forums, and to make copies available to all U. S. and foreign officials and private efforts to free Raoul Wallenberg.

The Secretary of State is assigned the responsibility to formulate detailed instructions for implementation by the Department of State of this directive.

I further direct that all possible media, and specifically Voice of America broadcasts, be used to frequently, regularly, and repeatedly report the latest status of all U. S. and foreign official and private efforts to free Raoul Wallenberg.

The Director of the International Communication Agency is assigned the responsibility to formulate detailed instructions for implementation by the International Communication Agency of this directive.

EXCHANGE OF NOTES REGARDING RECIPROCAL RIGHTS AND IMMUNITIES OF CONSULS

Moscow, February 2, 1937.

(I) Monsieur le Ministre, I have the honor to inform you that U.S.S.R., having judged it useful to determine in an agreement with the Government of Sweden the reciprocal rights, privileges and immunities of consuls general, consuls, vice-consuls, consular agents, as well as chancellors or secretaries of consular institutions, has authorized me to declare as follows:

The consuls general, consuls, vice-consuls, consular agents, as well as chancellors or secretaries of Swedish consular institutions, shall enjoy in U.S.S.R. all exemptions, prerogatives, immunities and privileges which are or will be accorded the agents of the same rank of the most favored nation.

Nevertheless, it is understood that the preceding resolution shall not apply to exemptions, prerogatives, immunities and privileges which the Government of U.S.S.R. has already accorded or should accord, henceforth, to the neighboring states of Asia and to the states whose territory was in every respect an integral part of the former Russian Empire on August 1, 1914. This resolution shall no longer be applicable to the rights of the consuls relative to the vested heritages of the Swedish subjects in U.S.S.R., whose rights shall be regulated by a special agreement.

The establishment of consulates general, consulates, vice-consulates or consular agencies in villages and localities, other than those where consular institutions of one or the other Party have already been established, shall be made the object of a preliminary accord between the two Governments. The consuls general, consuls, vice-consuls and consular agents must be regular career and salaried functionaries of the state naming them. Besides, they shall be obligated to practice no commerce or industry on the territory of the country where they will exercise their duties.

Before appointing a consul general, consul, vice-consul or consular agent, the appointing Government shall ask his approval from the Government of the state on whose territory the respective consular representive is to exercise his duties.

The present Arrangement enters into applicable force from the day of signature of the present Note and shall cease to be effective only at the expiration of three months following its denunciation.

M. LITVINOV.

Moscow, February 2, 1937.

(I) Monsieur le Commissaire du Peuple: In acknowledging the receipt of your Note dated this day, I have the honor to inform you that the Royal Government of Sweden, having judged it useful to determine in an agreement with the Government of U.S.S.R. the reciprocal rights, privileges and immunities of consuls general, consuls, vice-consuls, consular agents, as well as chancellors or secretaries of consular institutions, has authorized me to declare that which follows:

The consuls general, consuls, vice-consuls, consular agents, as well as chancellors or secretaries of consular institutions of U.S.S.R., shall enjoy in Sweden all the exemptions, prerogatives, immunities and privileges which are or shall be accorded to the agents of the same rank of the most favored nations.

Nevertheless it is understood that the preceding resolution shall not apply to exemptions, prerogatives, immunities and privileges that the Royal Government has already accorded or should accord to Denmark, Finland and Norway. This resolution shall no longer be applicable to the rights of the consuls relative to the vested heritages of the citizens of U.S.S.R. in Sweden, whose rights shall be regulated by a special agreement.

Mr. YATRON. Thank you, Congressman Eilberg, for your testimony. I want to say that you can rest assured that the subcommittee will actively consider the recommendations that you have made here today. We thank you.

Would any of the members like to be recognized?

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Chairman, may I introduce for the record Leona Feldman, who is the president of the Greater Philadelphia group, on my left. John Fraser is our research man. Both of them deserve credit for being here with us today and preparing me, in fact.

Mr. YATRON. We want to welcome both of them for being here. I thank all the witnesses for taking the time out to be here today.

Mr. YATRON. Our next witness is Hon. Edward J. Derwinski, Counselor of the Department of State and former Member of Congress from the State of Illinois.

I welcome you, Mr. Derwinski. We are anxious to hear from you today. You may proceed.

STATEMENT OF HON. EDWARD J. DERWINSKI, COUNSELOR OF THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE AND FORMER REPRESENTATIVE IN CONGRESS FROM THE STATE OF ILLINOIS

Mr. DERWINSKI. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

First, since we could be interrupted by a rollcall at any minute, I would ask that my complete statement be inserted in the record. I will summarize it for you, since a good part of it basically is supportive of the comments you have already received this morning.

I first wish to make it as clear as possible, on behalf of the State Department, that we are taking every appropriate opportunity to make our concern known to the Soviet authorities, to make clear to them that the United States will not be satisfied until there is a full and complete accounting of the fate of Mr. Wallenberg.

I see no substitute for steady, constant pressure. The type of thing that you are doing this morning, generating special interest, special concern, eventually worldwide public pressure, may be the vehicle by which the Soviets will finally come forth and tell us what has happened; if Mr. Wallenberg is alive, where he is; if he isn't, under what circumstances he passed away.

The Congress very properly took the step of making him an honorary citizen of the United States. Although honorary citizenship doesn't establish any special rights, I think it does, as a number of witnesses have emphasized to you this morning, create a very important symbolic act.

Unfortunately, the Soviets have not recognized this action of the Congress in the sense of cooperating and acknowledging the special interest. Quite frankly, when you look back at almost 40 years of tragedy that we are speaking of there, refusal to give us the information we want isn't surprising. It is frustrating, disappointing, but not surprising.

I understand Tom Lantos properly made the point, and I wish to reiterate it, that we are going to continue our interest, our special concern until such time as the Soviets provide the full clarification of Wallenberg's fate. That is the stated goal of our constant contacts with Soviet authorities.

At the Madrid meetings, as well as at the U.N. Human Rights Commission meetings, this issue has been raised by our spokesmen. Mr. Michael Novak has made a special point of raising the issue at the U.N. Human Rights Commission, and in this year's session of the Human Rights Commission, our alternate representative, Walter Berns, raised the Wallenberg issue and did so as emphatically as he could under the circumstances of the procedures there.

He made the point, and I wish to quote, that an authorization be adopted for a complete and renewed search and a full report on this case, which he described as "involving the most famous of all disappeared persons."

We continue to and will continue to cooperate fully with the Government of Sweden and all other interested parties, governmental and nongovernmental, in a persistent effort to obtain the information we need until the answers that we seek are obtained.

Mr. Chairman, I commend you and your staff and members of the subcommittee and the members of the full committee who join you. I would think that by your continued special interest you are helping to keep up this pressure, to build the pressure point of world opinion, hopefully to the day when the Soviet authorities will no longer be able to ignore this tragic case.

I thank you for giving me time this morning.

[Mr. Derwinski's prepared statement follows:]

PREPARED STATEMENT OF HON. EDWARD DERWINSKI

It is a pleasure to speak to you today about Raoul Wallenberg.

As you know, when I was a member of the House, I took a very active interest in the fate of Raoul Wallenberg, and now as State Department Counselor, let me begin by stating that the Department of State and the President share with the Congress a strong concern about the fate of Raoul Wallenberg. We are taking every appropriate opportunity to make that concern known to the Soviet authorities and to make clear to them that the United States will be satisfied with nothing less than a full and complete accounting of the fate of Mr. Wallenberg.

As you know, in 1981 President Reagan signed a bill which made Raoul Wallenberg an honorary citizen of the United States. Although honorary citizenship established no rights in international law that would give us any greater legal standing in our inquiries with the Soviet Union, it was an important symbolic act. It let the entire world know how much we admire Raoul Wallenberg's courage, how much we are inspired by his dedication to humanity and humanitarian principles, and how much we deplore his unjust and illegal punishment by the Soviet Union.

Following the signing ceremony which made Raoul Wallenberg an honorary American, the Department of State made the Soviet Government formally and officially aware of our continued dedication to finding out the truth about Raoul Wallenberg's fate.

P65B137.1329 UNCLASSIFIED

To date, we have not received a satisfactory response from the Soviet Government to this or any of our earlier inquiries.

Immediately following the liberation of Budapest by Soviet troops in 1945, Raoul Wallenberg disappeared into Soviet custody. The Soviets have never accounted for their incarceration of Wallenberg, which was in total violation of Wallenberg's immunity as a Swedish diplomat under international law. Although there has been speculation that the Soviets suspected Wallenberg of being an espionage agent for the United States, there is not one shred of documentation to indicate Wallenberg was engaged in anything but a humanitarian effort.

The official Soviet explanations of what happened to Wallenberg have been inconsistent and incomplete. In 1947 the Soviets informed Sweden that Wallenberg died in Hungary in 1945. In 1957, after repeated Swedish inquiries, the Soviets stated that Wallenberg had, in fact, died in a Soviet prison in 1947. In 1980, the Soviets provided this same explanation to us.

Our position has remained consistent and clear. Until the Soviets provide a full clarification of Wallenberg's fate, the United States will not accept as final the Soviet assurances that Wallenberg died in 1947.

We have pressed our efforts to obtain an accounting from the Soviets both on a bilateral basis and at international fora, such as the CSCE Review Conference in Madrid and the U.N. Human Rights Commission. In this regard, last year our representative to the U.N. Human Rights Commission, Mr. Michael Novak, urged the Soviet Union to make "a humanitarian gesture, which would contribute to universal good-feeling, namely, a renewed search and full report, which may lay questions to rest; or else, in the best of all possible outcomes, result in the discovery of the whereabouts of a man who stands among the heroes of our time."

At this year's session of the Commission, on February 22, Alternate Representative Walter Berns again raised the issue of Raoul Wallenberg, whom he termed "one of the genuine heroes of World War II, and one of the war's most noble spirits." Mr. Berns suggested that the UN Human Rights Commission's working group on disappearances be authorized to "make a renewed search and a full report" on the case "involving the most famous of all disappeared persons."

We have also continued to work closely with the Government of Sweden to try to confirm reports that have come to light about Wallenberg. To date, we have been unable to confirm any of the reports suggesting that Wallenberg might still be alive. We intend to continue to cooperate fully with the Government of Sweden and all other interested parties in a persistent effort to obtain information that will clarify the fate of this brave man.

As Ambassador Max Kampelman noted at the CSCE plenary session in Vienna, the Wallenberg case is one that "will not go away": the Soviet failure "to appreciate the human factor which is symbolized by the Wallenberg case only serves to stimulate further interest.

Your colleague, Tom Lantos, has suggested the establishment of a Wallenberg freedom award which would be given to human individuals who have advanced the cause of human rights. This certainly would be a dramatic and practical device for emphasizing the worldwide concern about Raoul Wallenberg. However, since it is our fervent hope that Wallenberg is still alive, and the measure we are working to push that he would eventually be released and returned to freedom, the only question we would have is that there not be any interpretation, which this award might arouse, that we are accepting the fact that he might be dead.

The United States Government will continue to express concern over the Wallenberg case at every appropriate opportunity, both publicly and in diplomatic communications with the Soviet Union. I can assure you categorically that this matter will be raised again in every appropriate forum.

The tragedy of Raoul Wallenberg has attracted the attention of millions of people around the world, and nowhere more forcefully than in the United States. This hearing is an example of the special concern of the United States Congress and the American people, and we appreciate the opportunity it provides to keep this issue at the forefront of world attention.

Mr. YATRON. Thank you very much for being here and for your excellent statement.

Mr. Derwinski, I have one question. I wanted to ask you, to your knowledge, has the subject of Raoul Wallenberg been mentioned in any of the negotiations between the administration and the Soviet officials.

Mr. DERWINSKI. I think it all depends what you mean by negotiations. We have so many ongoing contacts with the Soviet Union, and I think the Wallenberg case stands entirely on its merits. This isn't something where we would want to be swapping let's say the grain agreement for some information on Wallenberg.

This is something that I don't think is subject to negotiations as much as it is to our constant pressure that we finally have the record clear. Maybe we are playing on words here, but I think you would agree with me that there isn't any tradeoff involved.

What we want to know is the truth. What happened? We are entitled to know it. The world is entitled to know it. I think that is the point which we have to make whenever we raise this issue with Soviet authorities at any level or in any international meetings.

Mr. YATRON. Thank you.

Mr. Lantos.

Mr. LANTOS. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Since you came a bit late, let me, if I may, just repeat what I said earlier because I think you need to hear this.

Long before I got to Congress you fought the Wallenberg battle vigorously and courageously and successfully. I want you to know, Ed, that all of us who are involved with this issue are deeply in your debt personally.

Let me also say—because I hope you will carry this back to George Shultz—that it certainly is the view of this member of the Foreign Affairs Committee that under both Secretary Haig and Secretary Shultz, the State Department has pursued this matter diligently. It was not for lack of trying that we are still without information from the Soviets.

I have two specific questions, Mr. Chairman, if I may.

One relates to Mr. Derwinski's view of human rights in the Soviet Union in general under the Andropov regime. Some of us have the impression that contrary to the early hopes, which are very difficult to understand, given the professional background of Mr. Andropov as head of the KGB, there has been a general recognition that the Soviet Union has tightened up in the field of human rights; that there has been a closing down of whatever avenues of emigration had been opened earlier; that there is a systematic and officially sanctioned policy of anti-Semitism, culminating in the establishment of a so-called Anti-Zionist Committee by the Soviet Union; that there is no improvement in the fate of either the well-known individuals, like Shcharansky or Sakharov, or in the fate of the hundreds of others who are less well known but are just as deprived.

I would be grateful if we could get the official State Department appraisal of the status of human rights in the Soviet Union today.

Mr. DERWINSKI. First, Tom, I unfortunately was not prepared to go beyond the issue of the Wallenberg question this morning. Elliott Abrams of our Bureau of Human Rights and Humanitarian

PRESIDENT REAGAN'S REMARKS ON SIGNING A BILL PROCLAIMING HONORARY U.S. CITIZENSHIP FOR RAOUL WALLENBERG OF SWEDEN

Not only a distinguished gathering here on the platform but a distinguished audience out here. Today we're here for—I'm signing the bill to make Raoul Wallenberg an honorary citizen of the United States. But in making him a United States citizen, I think we're the ones that are being honored.

Raoul Wallenberg is the Swedish savior of almost 100,000 Jewish men, women, and children. What he did, what he accomplished was of biblical proportions. Sir Winston Churchill, another man of force and fortitude, is the only other person who has received honorary United States citizenship. And as John F. Kennedy said at the signing ceremony, "Indifferent himself to danger, he wept over the sorrows of others."

That compassion also exemplifies the man we are gathered here for today. In 1944 the United States requested Sweden's cooperation in protecting the lives of Hungarian Jews facing extermination at the hands of the Nazis. In the months that followed, the United States supplied the funds and the directives, and Raoul Wallenberg supplied the courage and the passion. How can we comprehend the moral worth of a man who saved tens and tens of thousands of lives, including those of Congressmen and Mrs. Lantos?

In 1945, in violation of diplomatic immunity and international law, he was seized by the Soviet Union. The Nazis were gone, and the Soviets had come in as an ally. And yet today, there is evidence that he is still imprisoned by the Soviets. Wherever he is, his humanity burns like a torch.

I heard someone say that a man has made at least a start on understanding the meaning of human life when he plants shade trees under which he knows he will never sit. Raoul Wallenberg is just such a man. He nurtured the lives of those he never knew at the risk of his own. And then just recently, I was told that in a special area behind the Holocaust Memorial in Israel, Hungarian Jews, now living in Sweden, planted 10,000 trees in Raoul's honor.

Mrs. Lagergren, Mr. von Dardel, we're going to do everything in our power so that your brother can sit beneath the shade of those trees and enjoy the respect and love that so many hold for him.

NOTE: The President spoke at 2:25 p.m. at the signing ceremony in the Rose Garden at the White House. Participants in the ceremony included the Swedish Ambassador and Mrs. Wilhelm Wachtmeister, Members of the Senate and House of Representatives, representatives of the Jewish community, and Mr. Wallenberg's sister and brother, Nina Lagergren and Guy von Dardel, who came from Sweden for the ceremony. Also in attendance were Representative Tom Lantos of California, the principal sponsor of the resolution in the House of Representatives, and his wife. While a 16-year-old youth working for the Hungarian Underground, Representative Lantos was saved in Budapest by Mr. Wallenberg.

As enacted, S.J. Res. 65 is Public Law 97-54, approved October 5.

APPENDIX 3

STATEMENT OF FRANK J. VAJDA, HEAD OF THE FREE WALLENBERG COMMITTEE, MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA

I was saved from the Nazi murderers in Budapest by the action of Raoul Wallenberg. My family and I were living in a protected house the Alice Weiss Hospital, Bokay Square in Budapest. And, on two occasions Arrow Cross gangs broke into the hospital and on the first occasion, took a group of women and myself, aged nine, to the Albrecht barracks, lined us up in front of the machine guns, and discussed finishing us off. Our "crime" was removing the yellow star the day before on the basis of the Regent's proclamation that Hungary wanted to end the war. We were not shot, but were taken back to the protected house; and the fact that there was such protection is entirely the work of Raoul Wallenberg.

On the second occasion, Arrow Cross terrorists from Ujpest broke into the hospital on December 28, 1944, terrorized patients, staff, and refugees hiding in the hospital. The gunmen of the Arrow Cross ordered everyone to line up for a march to their party house. The director of the hospital negotiated with them, and as a result they decided on a selection of intended victims on the basis of their documents. We did not wait to be selected, but hid in a bathroom and waited for several hours while the selection was made. Thirty-five people were taken away, including three relatives, my teacher, and friends. Only one person survived who returned battered and spoke of torture and execution in the Danube.

My cousin, absolutely distraught, contacted Wallenberg the next morning. Wallenberg was tremendously sympathetic and compassionate, and was bitterly sorry that he could not help any longer because, as he explained, there was already absolute anarchy and people were murdered soon after abduction. My cousin, who spoke of Wallenberg, and told me this story about his contact, was quite overcome mentioning his name. And he said, that in 1961 when he told me this story in detail, this was the first time in 37 years he could ever bear to talk about it. The name of Raoul Wallenberg, among the people of Budapest, was truly legendary. After the war, walking down the street named after him, I regularly felt an immense sadness about his disappearance and although it was said that the Russians took him, it was too painful even to imagine that he was not the victim of our common enemies, the Nazis.

In 1982, the Australian Committee to Free Wallenberg was founded with three aims: (1) to work for the release of Raoul Wallenberg, whom we believe to be alive; (2) to honor his deeds and disseminate information about his heroism and plight, and (3) to promote Holocaust education.

We have contacted the Prime Minister and cabinet ministers of Australia, leaders of political parties and politicians at the State level to try to get recognition of the humanitarian deeds of Wallenberg. The Australian government is sympathetic to the issue, and the matter of honorary citizenship has been referred to the appropriate ministry for further study.

The issue of a commemorative postage stamp was rejected on the basis that it is a policy of the government not to honor a living person in this manner.

Numerous newspaper articles and radio programmes have contained reviews of the Wallenberg mission and his imprisonment. The television film, "The Last Hero," made by the British Broadcasting Corporation was shown twice on the National Network and John Bierman's book, "The Righteous Gentile," was 2d on the best-seller list in 1982. Parks have been named, plaques unveiled, trees planted and rallies have been held. In March 1983, in Sydney, Australia the Wallenberg Committee welcomed Per Anger, Wallenberg's former colleague from Sweden who worked with Raoul Wallenberg in Budapest in 1944. A large rally was held, chaired by Senator Chipp, leader of Australia Democrats, and organized by Erwin Forrester, another man personally saved by Raoul Wallenberg from execution.

A Parliamentary delegation in 1982 on Raoul Wallenberg's birthday accompanied our committee to the Soviet Embassy in Canberra where a petition with 4,000 signatures was presented. I made an appeal demanding to know Wallenberg's whereabouts. The answer was, "We have no such man." Later, the USSR official phoned to say "It was an error, he died in 1947."

Senator Gareth Evans, Attorney General, in January 1983 received a reply from the USSR saying "There is no Mr. Raoul Wallenberg in the Soviet Union."

A third Wallenberg Committee formed in Perth, Western Australia in June 1983, and our Committee has been in close touch whith similar groups in the United States, England, and Sweden. We support in the strongest possible way any approach that may be made to bear pressure on the Soviet Union so they will rectify a mistake which is becoming a factor in seriously disrupting international relations. We believe very strongly Raoul Wallenberg is alive and will continue to fight for his release. We opposed any move which aims only at honoring him. We want him released in the interest of peace and justice

TEXT OF PUBLIC LAW 97-54 PROCLAIMING RAOUL WALLENBERG TO BE AN HONORARY CITIZEN OF THE UNITED STATES

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proclaiming Raoul Wallenberg to be an honorary citizen of the United States and requesting the President to ascertain from the Soviet Union the whereabouts of Raoul Wallenberg and to secure his return to freedom.

Whereas the United States has conferred honorary citizenship on only one occasion in its more than two hundred years, and honorary citizenship is and should remain an extraordinary honor not lightly conferred nor frequently granted;

Whereas during World War II the United States was at war with Hungary, and had no diplomatic relations with that country;

Whereas in 1944 the United States Government through Secretary of State Cordell Hull requested the cooperation of Sweden, as a neutral nation, in protecting the lives of Hungarian Jews facing extermination at the hands of the Nazis;

Whereas Raoul Wallenberg agreed to act at the behest of the United States in Hungary, and went to Hungary in the summer of 1944 as Secretary of the Swedish Legation;

Whereas Raoul Wallenberg, with extraordinary courage and with total disregard for the constant danger to himself, saved the lives of almost one hundred thousand innocent men, women, and children;

Whereas Raoul Wallenberg, with funds and directives supplied by the United States, provided food, shelter, and medical care to those whom he had rescued;

Whereas the Soviet Union, in violation of Wallenberg's Swedish diplomatic immunity and of international law, seized him on January 17, 1945, with no explanation ever given for his detention and subsequent imprisonment;

Whereas Raoul Wallenberg has been a prisoner in the Soviet Union since 1945;

Whereas reports from former prisoners in the Soviet Union, as recent as January 1981, suggest that Raoul Wallenberg is alive;

Whereas history has revealed that heroic acts of salvation were tragically rare during the massacre of millions of innocent human beings during World War II; and

Whereas the significance of this symbol of man's concern for his fellow man has been tainted by the wall of silence that surrounds the fate of Wallenberg: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, SECTION 1. Raoul Wallenberg is proclaimed to be an honorary citizen of the United States of America.

Raoul Wallenberg's story of courage and selflessness

Also on PBS: an inside view of White House, and help with all that high-tech

By Arthur Unger

PBS continues to fill its air time with diverse and diverting programming. Three shows — a special, a pilot for a possible series, and a premiere of a new series — air this week, and all are well worth watching.

One of them — Hitler's No. 1 Enemy: Buried Alive (PBS, Wednesday, 9-10 p.m., check local listings for premiere and re-runs) — is an instant classic, mainly by virtue of its riveting subject matter. The program, which will undoubtedly be repeated many times in the weeks and years ahead, is the story of an almost mythical figure in recent history: Swedish diplomat Raoul Wallenberg.

Toward the end of World War II in Hungary, Wallenberg, scion of a wealthy Protestant Swedish family, risked his life time and time over again to confound Nazi officials Adolf Eichmann and save the lives of thousands of Jews. Wallenberg issued thousands of totally illegal "protection passports," which identified the holders as Swedish emigrants under the protection of the Swedish crown, and boldly snatched doomed Jews from under the eyes of both German and Hungarian troops involved in transporting them to Nazi concentration camps.

When the war ended, Wallenberg was taken into custody by the Russians and never officially seen again, although several former inmates of Russian prison camps say he has been in Soviet prisons. The USSR insists he died in 1947 in prison, although there are many who claim to have seen him after that date. It has never been explained by the Russians why he was in custody at all, although this film makes it clear that the Russians regarded him first as an advocate of a separate peace between the Western Allies and Germany, then as an American spy during the cold war period.

"Hitler's No. 1 Enemy" interviews Wallenberg's family and friends, diplomats on all sides of the conflict, survivors, and firsthand observers. Intercut with a variety of period footage and still photos, the interviews reveal a unique story about an unobtrusive man who chose to risk everything for his fellow man. The film gives a hint as to secondary motivations when his sister explains that as a young man Raoul was much impressed by the "Scarlet Pimpernel" story and later variations of the tale.

Director/producer David Harel considers the film his major mission in life — his father was among those rescued by Wallenburg in Budapest. And he has spent many years tracking the story. Even now, there remains a faint hope that Raoul Wallenberg may still be alive in a Russian prison camp. Recently, President Reagan, with much congressional urging, made Wallenberg an honorary citizen of the United States so that the country may legally demand information about him from the Russians.

Produced by Rubicon Films in Canada, "Hitler's No. 1 Enemy" is an extraordinary film about an extraordinary man. It tells a story of incredible selflessness and compassion — the epitome of humanity. If there are those who may be ashamed to have lived through the era of Hitler without having done more to stop the genocide, they can at least be proud of Raoul Wallenberg, a man who recognized what was happening — and did something about it. One hopes the film will help in the battle to discover once and for all what happened to this modern-day martyr, and, perhaps, even to rescue him from Russia where he has been "buried alive" for more than 38 years.

Wallenberg issued thousands of illegal 'protection passports' and boldly snatched doomed Jews from under the eyes of both German and Hungarian troops involved in transporting them to Nazi concentration camps.

'Inside the White House'

It's just a bit like the Mad Hatter's tea party in "Alice in Wonderland."

Are you ready for four grande dames of the Washington press corps sitting around the living room, gossiping about — well, let's be kind and call it reviewing — the behind-the-scenes White House?

Inside the White House, Wednesday, 10:30-11 p.m., check listings for premiere and repeat broadcasts, has hostess Jo Ann Rooz (Rowe News Service) chatting away with Helen Thomas (UPI), Sarah McClendon (McClendon News Service) and Betty Beale (Beale News Service) about their personal reactions to past and present presidents and their intimate impressions of what they have seen at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue in the years since FDR.

How do they view the mood in the White House now? Says Sarah McClendon: "Confident, arrogant. They think they own Congress." Says Helen Thomas: "High state of belligerence, dedication fever." Says Betty Beale: "Mrs. Reagan is the most influential president we have ever had."

They discuss the possibility of a woman vice-president and USA, even a president in the future, and the only names which come up as possibilities are Lady Bird Johnson and Jean Kirkpatrick. All seem to agree that the past first lady most qualified to have served as

Dear Mr. Fraser:

Thank you for your letter of May 10. I appreciate the continuing support you and the other members of the Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia are providing to the efforts to clarify the fate of Raoul Wallenberg.

The proposed presidential directive is indeed still under consideration. However, I can assure you that with or without a specific directive the Executive Branch will continue to take advantage of any and all opportunities to press this issue.

Sincerely,

Edward J. Derwinski

Dear Sir:

Thank you for your January 30 considerate and courteous reply to my January 4 letter that recommended public humanitarian appeals combined with public offer of prisoner exchange and material exchange negotiations to free Raoul Wallenberg from the Soviet Union.

Although you said "We continue with our efforts, both public and private," the Wallenberg organizations know of no public official U.S. effort since your hearing testimony August 3, 1983 other than, as the New York Times reported January 15 at p. A4, col. 4, Secretary Shultz's "referring" to Wallenberg in Stockholm, and as the New York Times reported January 20 at p. A3, col. 1, Secretary Shultz "refused to say if he had specifically asked about Raoul Wallenberg." This is hardly a public record that allows us to credit assurances of private official U.S. efforts. And it executes neither the expressed intent of Congress in PL 97-54 that the executive "take all possible steps" to free Wallenberg, nor the expressed intent of President Reagan when he signed PL 97-54 that "we're going to do everything in our power" to free Wallenberg.

Public offer of prisoner exchange and material exchange is a form of international pressure for which there are many precedents and which can be combined with other private offers. The merely private offers you mention, if any actually have been made, have led nowhere. After 39 years no one can be impressed with secret plans to free Wallenberg.

Public call for Wallenberg's repatriation is necessary in every bilateral and multilateral international forum whether he is alive or dead. The official U.S. position must be that if he is dead, the Soviets owe Sweden his remains, not just the "explanation" you mention. Another false "explanation" is most convenient for the Soviets whether Wallenberg is alive or dead.

You said the proposed presidential directive is "under consideration." We understood it was under consideration for some time before the August 3, 1983 hearing, and you said at the hearing you would personally review it. Please let us know the following: how much longer is the directive going to be "under consideration"? When will the text be presented to President Reagan for his decision? Is the State Department going to recommend that President Reagan issue it? If the State Department recommends changes, or recommends a directive not be issued, for what reasons?

David Harel's hour-long documentary on Wallenberg is going to be broadcast on hundreds of PBS stations nationwide on May 23 at 8 P.M. E.S.T., and repeated later. When the public, the media, and the Congress consult with the Wallenberg organizations to learn what is being done to free Wallenberg, we would like to be able to praise instead of criticise. But at this moment we can only elaborate what a reviewer of While Six Million Died: A Chronicle of American Apathy stated: "Immediate action was needed, and behold, beautiful verbiage and endless delay were all that came forth."

Please let us have your reply at your earliest convenience. The several enclosures are to indicate the continuing interest in freeing Wallenberg, which can only grow after the documentary broadcast. As said in the January letter, we also will offer this letter and your reply to Senate and House members, other U.S. officials, and the Wallenberg and other private organizations. Please let us know if we can be of service to you or your staff in any way. Thank you for your attention.

THE COUNSELOR
DEPARTMENT OF STATE
WASHINGTON

January 30, 1984

Dear Mr. Fraser:

Thank you for your letter of January 4 about my testimony last August regarding Raoul Wallenberg.

I appreciate the fact that you and the other members of the Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia have devoted so much of your attention and efforts to publicizing the tragic case of Raoul Wallenberg. No one shares your commitment more than I do.

I regret that you found my testimony "unacceptable." We would all like to believe that Mr. Wallenberg is still alive. Unfortunately, there is no recent convincing evidence that Mr. Wallenberg has survived 38 years in the notoriously brutal Soviet Gulag; nor is there convincing evidence that he has in fact died, other than the unsupported statements of the Soviet authorities. What we are left with is a tragic mystery, one that calls out for a solution.

We are dedicated to solving this mystery. We have rejected as inadequate the sole explanation that the Soviets proffer. We continue with our efforts, both public and private, to convince the Soviets to account for Mr. Wallenberg's fate. If Wallenberg is still alive, he must be released forthwith. If he is dead, the Soviet Union owes the world a clear and convincing explanation of exactly what happened to him.

Concerning your specific proposals, I cannot comment publicly on the issue of prisoner exchanges. This is a highly sensitive topic and any initiatives we decide to undertake can be compromised by premature publicity. Finally, the proposed presidential directive you mentioned is under consideration. The ultimate decision on this matter rests with the President.

Sincerely yours,

Edward J. Derwinski

January 4, 1984

Dear Sir:

Thank you for your appearance at the Aug. 3, 1983 hearing on Raoul Wallenberg and PL 97-54, before Chairman Yatron of the House Subcommittee on Human Rights and International Organizations. I'm writing in behalf of the Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia to let you know that the various organizations working to free Wallenberg which offered testimony at the same hearing, met after the hearing and agreed that your testimony was unacceptable. What is to briefly explain the problem and recommend a solution.

The more than 20 different international Wallenberg organizations have one goal: to free Wallenberg -- that is, to repatriate him to Sweden and reunite him with his family. Your written statement ("the pressure we are exerting is such that he would eventually be released and returned to freedom," at p. 40 of the printed hearing) does state this as a goal of the Department of State, but without the necessary emphasis. And this is the problem, that instead of concentrating on freeing Wallenberg and taking action that could accomplish this, the Department of State at the policy level talks about "appropriate opportunity to make our concern known," "accounting of the fate," "tell us what has happened," "where he is," "the information we want," "full clarification of Wallenberg's fate," "a complete and renewed search and full report on this case," "the answers that we seek," "our continued dedication to finding out the truth," "to obtain a meaningful accounting," "discovery of the whereabouts," "confirmation of the reports," "continue to express concern," "some information on Wallenberg," "finally have the record clear," "what we want to know is the truth. What happened?" and "admit what did happen" (pp. 35-44 of the printed hearing). All this the Wallenberg organizations consider worthless, and worse, a distraction and diversion from the urgent need to free Wallenberg, who became 71 in August 1983.

When Wallenberg is free he can furnish his own accounting or information or full report; as you said, "The official Soviet explanations of what happened to Wallenberg have been inconsistent and incomplete." In fact they have been mutually contradictory and contradicted by eyewitness and other reliable testimony. Nobody needs yet another series of lies from the Soviets, which cannot help free Wallenberg.

What can help free Wallenberg is the Department of State's making it a priority to free Wallenberg by frequent, regular, and repeated public humanitarian appeals and other pressures combined with prisoner exchange and perhaps material exchange negotiations as discussed in the attached material; and the Department of State's support for and implementation of the proposed presidential directive (pp. 24-25 of the printed hearing).

We also will offer this letter and attachments to Senate and House members, other U.S. officials, and the Wallenberg and other private organizations. Please let us know if we can be of service to you or your staff in any way. Thank you for your attention.

Sincerely,

John Fraser

Prisoner Exchange Request

We ask for prisoner exchange negotiations to free Raoul Wallenberg from the Soviet Union as a priority of the Department of State. Prisoner exchange negotiations are realistic because we know the Soviets have been willing to exchange and have exchanged prisoners:

1. Soviet exchange overtures toward Sweden for Wallenberg are reported in John Bierman's 1981 biography of Wallenberg, Righteous Gentile, at p. 132; these involved two Soviet defectors and a number of Baltic refugees ("whenever the Wallenberg question has been raised, as a rule there has immediately been a question whether any favorable information has come in about Makarov, the Balts, or Granovsky").

2. Soviet exchanges were made for other World War II prisoners, including diplomatic and consular officials. Per Anger's 1981 biography of Wallenberg, With Raoul Wallenberg in Budapest, at pp. 150-151 and p. 154, describes Soviet exchanges for five Swiss officials, six Italians, and one Dane.

3. Soviet and Soviet-bloc exchanges are a continuing policy. Consistent with the materialism inherent in Marxism, trade in human life can be for commodities (as East Germany frees prisoners in exchange for bananas, coffee, and other goods) as well as for prisoners. When released in 1979, former Soviet prisoner Lajmonis Niedre said a top MVD official had told him that from the Soviet standpoint only exchange for someone else or an external plea on humanitarian grounds would be likely to free him (Per Anger, With Raoul Wallenberg in Budapest, p. 157).

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

So we ask that frequent, regular, and repeated public humanitarian appeals and other pressures be combined with prisoner exchange negotiations (and perhaps material exchange negotiations such as public offer of ransom money or commodities that could internationally embarrass the Soviets into releasing Wallenberg for humanitarian reasons) to free Wallenberg from the Soviet Union and a priority of the Department of State. Wallenberg's age -- 71 in August 1983 -- requires action without delay.

The Sea WALLE

By Francesca Chapman

Raoul Wallenberg vanished from the free world almost 36 years ago, but the legend he fathered remains alive and well. Hundreds of people around the world, including a particularly active group in the Philadelphia area, are working to bring Wallenberg home again.

Wallenberg, a Swedish citizen, was a member of his country's diplomatic corps during World War II when he was sent, at the request of the United States government, to help save the thousands of Hungarian Jews who were bound for the gas chambers as part of Hitler's "final solution to the "Jewish problem."

Wallenberg is credited with saving close to 100,000 lives between July of 1944 and January of 1945. He is a figure of mythic proportions among the survivors of the death camps and deportation trains, who report that Wallenberg would appear and issue Swedish passes to the deportees, then demand that the Nazis release the prisoners. He directed food and medical supplies to them, furnished them in homes he had rented, and working through diplomatic channels, encouraged other countries to take a more active role in saving Hungary's [illegible] Jews.

Toward the end of the war, in early 1945, as the Russian army began to occupy Hungary, Wallenberg was arrested by the Soviet police in Budapest. His many admirers maintain that he was imprisoned without basis. Unexplainedly, in the past 36 years, the Soviet Union has concealed the truth about Wallenberg's whereabouts.

Morris Wolff, who has been a visiting professor of law at the University and who is currently with the Delaware Law School of Widener University, spoke on campus last week about the biggest step yet to establish the truth and to free Wallenberg. Wolff, acting as counsel for Wallenberg's family in Sweden, is about to take the Soviet Union to court for Wallenberg's release.

"This is a moment of great privilege, to be invited by this grieving family to contract such a grandest injustice," Wolff said at a talk sponsored by the International Law Students Association and the Jewish Law Students Association.

"Raoul has only been dead six months and been treated as credibly witness very confidence has been ignored and lies about Wallenberg has been passed into history as if he were dead," said Wolff.

Wolff believes that Wallenberg is still alive despite the fact that he has not been heard from directly since his disappearance in 1945. If Wallenberg is alive today, he is 71 years old but members of the Wallenberg family have lived to greater ages. Numerous reports of his existence have filtered out of the Soviet Union. Survivors of the Soviet prison system have noted since the end of the war Wallenberg's occasional appearances in various cells, camps and prisons within the system and as recently as 1980 ex-Nazi prisoners have claimed that he [illegible] was being held in a government hospital.

"It's important that we believe he is alive, at least until proof to the contrary is presented. Every day I work on this case I believe more and more that he is alive," said Wolff.

The lawsuit seeking Wallenberg's return to his homeland was filed in the Washington D.C. Federal District Court this past February. The Soviet response is still pending.

There are four major aspects of the suit explained Wolff. His "first and foremost thing" is to obtain Wallenberg's immediate release. The suit also demands that the Soviet Union make a "complete and honest report" regarding Wallenberg's treatment, an explanation of the legal basis for his detention and $30 million in damages—$1 million for each year of Wallenberg's captivity.

The Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act of 1976 provides jurisdiction in the United States for a suit to help a Swedish citizen that imprisoned in the Soviet Union. According to the briefs on the trial, Wallenberg's stature and determination as well as the Soviet Union's concealment of the truth "concerning his whereabouts and well-being also violate the law of nations the United Nations Char-or they may try to contest the jurisdiction of the court, arguing that the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act is an inappropriate basis for jurisdiction.

One unknown "wild, long-on-the-odds" card in reason for handing the case back to that Wallenberg is an honorary citizen of the United States, that granted and [illegible] was bestowed upon Wallenberg in October 1981 by Congress, and he is the third man in U.S. history—after Winston Churchill and Bernard Lafayette—to be so honored.

"It's hard to predict what the Soviet Union will do [Wallenberg is] unprecedented] sentiments without any overt indication, our silence will permit them to continue doing what they have done for the past 39 years.

"The case may well provide the Soviets with a method for releasing Wallenberg," Wolf said. "We have to begin by believing he's alive. Then something may arise if we set the dynamics in action."

Raoul Wallenberg and the Penn Connection

The Penn connection to the case of Raoul Wallenberg and its related cause is a strong one. The Wallenberg Committee of Greater Philadelphia was founded and is directed by a University alumna, Leona Feldman (CW '48, SAS '78). It is one of the most active of 16 Wallenberg organizations in 13 countries, and is responsible for annual mayoral proclamations of Wallenberg Day in Philadelphia. The Committee acted as the catalyst for congressional hearings on the case last summer, and generally coordinates local and national efforts to heighten both individual and government awareness of Wallenberg's mission.

Joseph E. DeSeta, Jr., a graduate of Penn and its Law School (Class of 1934), served as a Treasury Department lawyer in the Franklin Delano Roosevelt administration. By writing a paper entitled "A Report to the Secretary on the Responsiveness of the Government in the Murder of Europe's Jews," and threatening to publish it unless the U.S. took action to help save the doomed Jews, he was instrumental in the creation of the War Refugee Board which helped finance Wallenberg's rescue mission to Budapest.

A current exhibit at the Van Pelt Library [illegible] Chestnut Street, features eight display cases filled with documentation and memorabilia on Wallenberg's youth, his heroic work during the war, his imprisonment and the international efforts to free him. The exhibit, which was assembled by Karsten Clark John Fraser, is open to the public Monday-Friday 9 a.m.-5 p.m. until June, when it will move to the Nordic Heritage Museum in Seattle, Washington for the meetings of the Swedish Council of America and their annual presentation of the Raoul Wallenberg Award.

ter, the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and the Vienna Convention, among other regulations regarding human rights and the treatment of diplomats, including both U.S. federal law and Soviet criminal codes.

The suits asserts that since 1945, Wallenberg has been held "incommunicado" and diplomatic inquiries by both government and private organizations have been answered with "false statements, false denials of knowledge, and refusals to provide information" about Wallenberg.

For example, the Soviet government stated falsely in 1957 that Wallenberg had died of natural causes in their country ten years earlier. No complete dossier of Wallenberg's record has ever been released, however, and there does seem to be a lot of evidence that Wallenberg was alive well after 1947.

"It will be a very interesting day in court to see how the Soviet Union deals with this range of issues," speculated Wolf. "Within a few weeks we will have a better idea of how they will move in response to our court papers."

Two possible responses are for the Soviet Union either to maintain the argument that Wallenberg died in 1947,

NBC Doing Wallenberg's Fight for Jews

Mini-series Is Scheduled For March

By ... TEN FARRIS

Special to The New York Times

LOS ANGELES, July 31 — The story of Raoul Wallenberg, the Swedish diplomat who saved thousands of Hungarian Jews from the Nazis during World War II, will be told in a four-hour mini-series on NBC-TV next March.

Several feature-film and television producers have tried to dramatize the story but could not obtain clearance. A few years ago Jack Weston was signed to play Mr. Wallenberg in a movie for CBS Entertainment Films, but the project was canceled after a script was completed. According to one executive with CBS Theatrical Films, the studio did not believe the

The story finally found devoted supporters when the executive producer Herb Brodkin, the head of Hemdale Productions, Mark Lipsky, a long-time associate of Mr. Brodkin's, and the lead producer, Lee Rich, a long-time friend of Mr. Brodkin's, decided that [illegible] Lipsky, with [illegible] Wallenberg and, [illegible] Mr. Brodkin took the project to Herbert Brodkin, an executive at NBC who was fascinated by the story and agreed to have Gerald Green, the author of the nationally syndicated [illegible], to write the script for "Wallenberg." The production is scheduled to be broadcast next March.

Script Spans One Year

Mr. Green's initial contact on the project was in late September of 1980, when Mr. Wallenberg visited Jerusalem for an Israeli-support campaign created by Solomon Lazarus, a Washington lawyer, and was presented by the Israeli Ambassador and the Israeli Consul-General to go to Hungary to look for some or many of the Jews he probably [illegible] were dead by the time he arrived.

Mr. Wallenberg and several colleagues, including Lazarus and [illegible] Jews [illegible]. According to Mr. Berg, "Wallenberg appeared at [illegible] people from [illegible] and threatened Nazi officers

2. SUMMARY: ON DEC 10, FOREIGN MINISTER JAIME DEL VALLE CALLED IN AMBASSADOR THEBERGE. DEL VALLE EXPRESSED GRATITUDE FOR THE RECENT U.S. VOTE AT THE UN DEALING WITH HUMAN RIGHTS IN CHILE, AND INNQUIRED ABOUT THE TRAVEL ADVISORY ISSUED ON DECEMBER 7, INDICATING THAT IT APPARED TO BE AN ATTEMPT TO PRESSURE THE GOC, WHICH THE AMBASSADOR DENIED. AT DEL VALLE'S REQUEST, AMBASSADOR THEBERGE DESCRIBED THE EXTRAORDINARILY NEGATIVE REACTION TO RECENT CHILEAN ACTIONS AMONG THE U.S. PUBLIC, CONGRESS AND THE ADMINISTRATION, AND THE LIKELIHOOD OF PUNITIVE LEGISLATION UNLESS CHILE TAKES CONCRETE STEPS TO PROVE ITS SINCERITY ABOUT MOVING TOWARD DEMOCRATIC RULE. VISIBLY TROUBLED, DEL VALLE ACKNOWLEDGED A SENSE OF "IMPOTENCE", OR RESIGNATION, ABOUT THE PROBABILITY OF U.S. SANCTIONS, AND OFFERED NO ENCOURAGEMENT THAT THE STATE OF SIEGE WOULD BE LIFTED OR THAT A RENEWED POLITICAL OPENING WOULD BE FORTHCOMING. 3. THE FOREIGN MINISTER OPENED BY EXPRESSING HIS GRATITUDE FOR THE U.S. NEGATIVE VOTE IN THE UNITED NATIONS ON THE RECENT RESOLUTION PROPOSING AN EXTENSION OF THE SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR ON HUMAN RIGHTS FOR CHILE. DEL VALLE NOTED THAT OTEHR COUNTRIES WHICH CHILE ALSO CONSIDERS FRIENDS DID NOT VOTE AS THE U.S. HAD, AND FOR THAT REASON CHILE QARTICULARLY VALUES THE U.S. VOTE.

4. DEL VALLE INQUIRED ABOUT THE BACKGROUND OF THE TRAVEL ADVISORY RECENTLY ISSUED ON CHILE. HE QUESTIONED WHETHER IT WAS JUSTIFIED IN THE CASE OF CHILE AND WONDERED WHETHER THERE IS A POLITICAL MOTIVE TO ISSUING THE ADVISORY AT THIS TIME. HE ASKED WHETHER THE U.S. HAD ISSUED AN ADVISORY ON BRAZIL. THE AMBASSADOR REPLIED THAT THE DEPARTMENT MUST ISSUE SUCH ADVISORIES WHENEVER WE BELIEVE THAT SECURITY OR SAFETY CONDITIONS FOR AMERICAN TRAVELERS WARRANT IT, AND CLEARLY THE RISE IN TERRORIST BOMBINGS, THE EXISTENCE OF A CURFEW AND THE SATE OF SIEGE WERE NEW DEVELOPMENTS POTENTIALLY AFFECTING

TRAVELERS SAFETY. AMBASSADOR SIAD HE DID NOT KNOW IF THERE IS AN ADVISORY OUTSTANIDING ON BRAZIL, ALTHOUGH ADVISORIES HAD BEEN ISSUED AT VARIOUS TIMES REGAARDING TRAVEL IN MEXICO, COLOMBIA AND OTHER COUNTRIES. DEL VALLE ASKED IF THE ADVISORY WOULD BE LIFTED WHEN THE STATE OF SIEGE IS REMOVED. AMBASSADOR SIAD THE TWO WERE NOT NECESSARILY LINKED; IT DEPENDED ONLY ON OUR VIEW OF SECURITY CONDITIONS. AMBASSADOR NOTED THAT DEPARTMENT HAS ISSUED ADVISORIES ON OTHER COUNTRIES WHEN NO STATE OF EXCEPTION WAS IN EFFECT.

DANGEROUS FOR AMERICAN TRAVELERS ZHAN CHILE,AND THT THE IMPRESSION IN HIS GOVERNMENT IS THAT THIS IS A FORM OF POLITICAL PRESSURE ON CHILE. HE REQUESTED A LIST OF COUNTRIES IN LATIN AMERICA ON WHICH TRAVEL ADVISORIIES HAVE BEEN ISSUED BY THE DEPARTMENT (REQUEST SENT BY SEPTEL), SO THAT HE CAN EXPLAIN THE SITUATION TO THE PRESIDENT AND OTHER CONCERNED MINISTERS.

6. DEL VALLE TOLD THE AMBASSADOR THAT FINANCE MINISTER LUIS ESCOBAR HAD RELATED TO HIM, DEL VALLE, A CONVERSATION ESCOBAR AND THE AMBASSADOR HAD RECENTLY ABOUT THE POSSIBILITY THAT THE CONGRESS WILL PASS PUNITIVE LEGISLATION AGAINST CHILE. 7. THE AMBASSADOR DESCRIBED HOW RECENT CHILEAN GOVERNMENT ACTIONS AND STATMENTS BY PRESIDENT PINOCHET HAD PRODUCED AN EXTRAORDINARY BACKLASH AGAINST CHILE AMONG U.S. PUBLIC OPINION, IN THE CONGRESS AND IN THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH. THE HARD LINE OF THE GOVERNMENT, THE INTERRUPTION OF THE POLITICAL OPENING AND THE STATE OF SIEGE HAVE PLAYED INTO THE HANDS OF THOSEON THE HILL WHO WOULD LIKE TO PASS TOUGH LEGISLATION AGAINST CHILE. THE AMBASSADOR DESCRIBED THE VARIOUS IDEAS BEING CONSIDERED BY CONGRESSIONAL STAFFMEMBERS, (RESTRICTIONS ON CHILEAN COPPER IMPORTS, ELIMINATION OF RESIDUAL MILITARY COOPERATION INCLUDING UNITAS, A REQUIREMENT TO VOTE AGAINST LOANS IN THE INTERNATIONAL FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS AND PROHBITION ON EXIM BACK ACTIVITIES IN CHILE). HE ADDED THAT THE EXECUTIVE OPPOSES SUCH INITIATIVES, BUT THE BALANCE OF FORCES WITHIN CONGRESS HAS BEEN ALTERED AS A RESULT OF DEVELOPMENTS IN CHILE AND THAT IT NOW SEEMS IMPOSSIBLE TO AVOID SOME SORT OF PUNITIVE LEGISLATION, UNLESS CHILE HELPTS ITSELF BY RETURING TO THE POLITICAL OPENING AND LIFTING THE SATE OF SIEGE, FOR EXAMPLE. SUCH STEPS AND OTHERS ARE NEEDED TO CONVINCE THE OUTSIDE WORLD OF CHILE'S SINCERITY IN MOVING TOWARD DEMOCRATIC RULE.

8. VISIBILY CONCERNED AND FRUSTRATED, DEL VALLE SAID THAT HE HAS A SENSE OF "IMPOTENCE." DEL VALLE REPEATED THE GOC LINE ABOUT TERRORISM JUSTIFYING THE SATE OF SIEGE, AND THAT IT HAS BEEN EFFECTIVE IN SAVING LIVES AND REDUCING CRIME. HE PREDICTED THAT THE STATE OF SIEGE WILL BE MAINTAINED UNTIL THE GOVERNMENT IS SATISFIED THAT TERRORISM IS UNDER CONTROL.

MOREOVER, A RENEWED POLITICAL OPENING IS NOT FEASIBLE UNDER CURRENT UNFAVORABLE ECONOMIC CONDITIONS. NEVERTHELESS, HE SAID, IF THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC PARTY STATES THAT IT IS WILLING TO HAVE PINOCHET CONTINUE IN OFFICE UNTIL 1989, THE GOVERNMENT AND THE OPPOSITION CAN DISCUSS MANY THINGS: THE POLITICAL PARTY LAWS, OPPOSITION PARTICIPATION IN THE COUNCIL OF STATE, AN ANTICIPATED CONGRESS AND MANY OTHER TRANSITION ISSUES.

10. DEL VALLE ADDED THAT HE TOLD THE POPE LAST WEEK IN ROME THAT, IF IT WERE NOT FOR THE PROTESTS, THE LIST OF EXILES WOULD HAVE BEEN REDUCED TO 500 BY NOW. THE OPPOSITION SIMPLY DOES NOT UNDERSTAND PINOCHET; PREOTESTS CAUSE REPRESSION. HE AFFIRMED THAT THE DEMOCRATIC OPPOSITION IS PLAYING INTO THE HANDS OF THE COMMUNISTS AND DOES NOT REALIZE WHO THEY ARE DEALING WITH AND WHERE IT LEADS. ZIF WE HAD ELECTIONS NOW AND MY GOOD FRIEND GABRIEL VALDES WERE ELECTED PRESIDENT, IN TEN MONTHS COMMUNISM WOULD BE INSTALLED IN CHILE". HE REITERATED THAT IT WAS NECESSARY FOR THE REAGAN ADMINISTRATION TO CONVINCE THE CONGRESS AND PREVENT IT FROM MAKING GRAVE ERROFS, CITING THE ACT THAT IRAN, NICARAGUA AND CUBA HAD REPROACHABLE REGIMES PRIOR TO U.S. EFFORTS TO DESTABLIZE THE DICTATORS, BUT THE OUTCOMES WERE EVEN WORSE.

HE POINTED TO AMBIQUITY IN PRESIDENT PINOCHET'S STATEMENTS WHICH LEAVES THE IMPRESSION OF LACK OF A TRANSITION PLAN, OR EVEN DEMOCRATIC INTENTIONS. 12. COMMENT: BY THE CLOSE OF THE MEETING DEL VALLE WAS OBVIOUSLY SOBERED AND CONCERNED. HE UNDERSTOOD FULLY OUR MESSAGE. NOTE: THIRTEEN OF THE CIVILIAN DEATHS CAN BE ATTRIBUTED TO ASSASSINATIONS BY THE GUERRILLAS; OF THOSE, THREE WERE CIVIL DEFENSE MEMBERS FROM EL QUICHE EXECUTED BY GUERRILLAS WHEN VISITING GUATEMALA CITY. TWO OF THE VICTIMS WERE NATIONAL POLICEMEN MURDERED IN GUATEMALA CITY BY GUERRILLAS. ONE WAS THE ADMINISTRATOR OF A FARM IN THE SOUTH COAST, KIDNAPPED AND EXECUTED BY A GUERRILLA GROUP THAT LATER HELD A POLITICAL RALLY. TWO WERE EXECUTED FOR BETRAYING THE GUERRILLAS IN GUATEMALA CITY; AND FIVE MORE OF THE VICTIMS WERE FOUND IN A SECRET CEMETERY. THE LOCATION OF THE BODIES WAS REVEALED IN INFORMATION OBTAINED BY THE ARMY FROM TWO FORMER MEMBERS OF THE GUERRILLAS. A CIVILIAN, WHOSE TORTURED AND BULLET-RIDDEN BODY WAS FOUND IN GUATEMALA CITY, HAD DISAPPEARED AT THE SAME TIME THAT THE POLICE CAPTURED SOME OF THE VICTIM'S RELATIVES AND CHARGED THEM WITH THE KIDNAPPING OF HECTOR MARROQUIN (SEE NOTE IN SECTION 3, ABDUCTIONS).

IN ANOTHER INCIDENT, SIX FARMERS WERE ABDUCTED FROM THEIR HOMES IN A VILLAGE IN THE DEPARTMENT OF SAN MARCOS, BY ARMED MEN IN PICK-UP TRUCKS.

THE FOLLOWING TWO KIDNAP INCIDENTS THAT RECEIVED WIDE COVERAGE BY THE LOCAL MEDIA, ARE NOT INCLUDED IN OUR STATISTICS BECAUSE THEY WERE COMMON CRIMES.

ON NOVEMBER 1, A FOREIGNER, WHO HAD BEEN KIDNAPPED 9 DAYS EARLIER, WAS RESCUED BY POLICE. THE KIDNAPPERS WERE ASKING $45,000 RANSOM FOR THE VICTIM'S RELEASE. ON NOVEMBER 27, HECTOR MARROQUIN WAS ABDUCTED IN THE RESIDENTIAL AREA OF VISTA HERMOSA, ZONE 15. THE KID-

NAPPERS ASKED $100,000 RANSOM FOR HIS RELEASE. HOURS LATER, IN A SHOOT-OUT WITH THE KIDNAPPERS IN A SECTOR OF ZONE 12, POLICE RESCUED THE KIDNAP VICTIM, BUT HE WAS BADLY WOUNDED DURING THE SHOOT-OUT AND DIED LATER. THE KIDNAPPERS FLED, BUT WERE CAPTURED BY THE POLICE THE FOLLOWING DAY.

SUBJECT: RESOLUTION ON HUMAN RIGHTS IN EL SALVADOR: ASSESSMENT

1[redacted] ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY. THE RESOLUTION ON THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN EL SALVADOR WAS ADOPTED DECEMBER 7 AFTER LENGTHY NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN MEXICO AND VENEZUELA BY A VOTE OF 83 (YES), 13 (NO-US), 35 (ABSTENTIONS). ALTHOUGH THE FINAL TEXT WAS CONSIDERABLY IMPROVED OVER THE INITIAL MEXICAN DRAFT, IT STILL HAD DEFICIENCIES, PARTICULARLY REGARDING CONSTRAINTS ON ARMS SHIPMENTS [redacted]

TO EL SALVADOR (SEE REFTELS). WE WERE THUS UNSUCCESSFUL IN EFFORTS TO ADOPT A DRAFT WE COULD SUPPORT, AND THE YES VOTE BY ALL FOUR CONTADORA COUNTRIES WAS DISTURBING. THERE WERE, HOWEVER, CLEARLY POSITIVE RESULTS AS WELL: THE INITIATIVE OF HIGHLY RESPECTED DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENTS TO SPONSOR A DRAFT SUPPORTIVE OF PRESIDENT DUARTE'S REFORM PROGRAM; A CONSIDERABLY IMPROVED FINAL TEXT COMPARED WITH PAST YEARS; AND A MORE BALANCED UNGA DEBATE AND OUTCOME WHICH SHOULD HELP TOWARD FURTHER PROGRESS DURING THE HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION MEETING IN FEBRUARY. A MAJOR STUMBLING BLOCK IN CONSOLIDATING SUPPORT FOR THE VENEZUELAN DRAFT WAS THE SPLIT IN THE CONTADORA AND THE EC IN SPONSORING TWO COMPETING DRAFTS, AND WIDESPREAD PRESSURE, PARTICULARLY IN LATIN AMERICA AND WESTERN EUROPE, TO PUSH MEXICO AND VENEZUELA TOWARD COMPROMISE. TACTICALLY, WE WOULD HAVE DONE BETTER IF VENEZUELA HAD STARTED EARLIER AND LOBBIED MORE WIDELY. END SUMMARY.

3. OUR MAJOR EFFORT IN SUPPORT OF THE VENEZUELAN INITIATIVE TO SPONSOR A DRAFT RESOLUTION ON THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN EL SALVADOR DID NOT FULLY SUCCEED. THE OBJECTIVE WAS EITHER TO OBTAIN A MORE FAVORABLE VOTE ON THE VENEZUELAN DRAFT COMPARED WITH THE UNACCEPTABLE MEXICAN DRAFT, OR TO HAVE THE MEXICAN DRAFT AMENDED SUFFICIENTLY TO BECOME ACCEPTABLE. PROTRACTED NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN VENEZUELA AND MEXICO ENDED, HOWEVER, WITH A JOINTLY AGREED TEXT THAT FELL SHORT OF ACCEPTABILITY. THE PRINCIPAL DEFECT WAS REFERENCE TO ARMS SHIPMENTS, WHICH IN THE OPERATIVE PASSAGE, READS "REQUESTS ALL STATES TO REFRAIN FROM INTERVENING IN THE INTERNAL SITUATION IN EL SALVADOR [redacted]

AND, INSTEAD OF SUPPLYING ARMS OR HELPING IN ANY WAY TO PROLONG AND INTENSIFY THE WAR, TO ENCOURAGE THE CONTINUATION OF THE DIALOGUE UNTIL A JUST AND LASTING PEACE IS ACHIEVED." THE VENEZUELAN PERMREP TRIED TO CONVINCE US THAT THIS LANGUAGE COULD BE INTERPRETED FLEXIBLY, AND STATED IN HIS EXPLANATION OF VOTE, THAT "THE NEW RESOLUTION, WHILE RECOGNIZING THAT ARMS SHIPMENTS ARE A GRAVE DANGER FOR PEACE IN THE REGION, DOES NOT PRESUME TO DICTATE TO ANYONE STRICT FORMULAS FOR DETERMINING THE POSITION OF A COUNTRY IN THE

UNCLASSIFIED

DECLASSIFIED UNCLASSIFIED

NORMAL CONDUCT OF ITS EXTERNAL RELATIONS." WE COULD NOT ACCEPT SUCH LANGUAGE OR INTERPRETATION AND WERE FORCED TO VOTE NO. HOWEVER, IN VIEW OF THE LENGTHY EFFORTS AND VARIOUS MODIFICATIONS MADE IN THE MEXICAN DRAFT (WHICH WENT THROUGH THREE REVISIONS), SEVERAL COUNTRIES THAT MIGHT OTHERWISE HAVE ABSTAINED, VOTED YES. THE FINAL THIRD COMMITTEE VOTE THIS YEAR WAS 83-13(US)-35 COMPARED WITH 78-13(US)-41 IN 1983.

4. THE MOST DISTURBING CONSEQUENCE OF THE OUTCOME IS THE SOLID YES VOTE BY THE FOUR CONTADORA COUNTRIES (COMPARED TO TWO ABSTENTIONS, NON-PARTICIPATION BY VENEZUELA, AND ONE YES BY MEXICO LAST YEAR) FOR A RESOLUTION THAT IS UNSATISFACTORY WITH RESPECT TO ARMS SHIPMENTS. THE LANGUAGE ON ARMS SHIPMENTS CAN BE INTERPRETED AS IN CONFLICT WITH THE CONTADORA OBJECTIVE OF A BALANCED REGIONAL ARRANGEMENT TO THE EXTENT THAT IT CALLS FOR A STOP IN ARMS SHIPMENTS TO EL SALAVADOR WITHOUT CORRESPONDING COMMITMENTS ON ARMS LEVELS AND VERIFICATION BY NICARAGUA. THE ISSUE, HOWEVER, IS OPEN TO INTERPRETATION: WHILE WE SIMPLY VOTED NO, VENEZUELA ADOPTED THE EXPLANATORY LANGUAGE QUOTED ABOVE.

NOTE BY OC/T: NOT PASSED ABOVE ADDRESSEES.

5. THE OUTCOME THIS YEAR ALSO HAD SEVERAL POSITIVE ASPECTS. THE INITIATIVE BY HIGHLY RESPECTED, LONG-DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENTS, SUCH AS VENEZUELA, COSTA RICA, SINGAPORE, BELGIUM, TO SPONSOR A FAIR AND BALANCED RESOLUTION SUPPORTIVE OF PRESIDENT DUARTE'S EFFORTS AND TO THE MORE CRITICAL VIEWS OF MEXICO AND THE CO-SPONSORS OF THE MEXICAN DRAFT ON THE OFFENSIVE. MORE OPEN DISCUSSION TOOK PLACE DURING THE DEBATE WITH WIDESPREAD SUPPORT EXPRESSED FOR PRESIDENT DUARTE. DISSATISFACTION WITH THE FINAL MEXICAN DRAFT WAS EVIDENCED BY A REFUSAL OF TRADITIONAL CO-SPONSORS NETHERLANDS, NORWAY, DENMARK, AND YUGOSLAVIA TO CO-SPONSOR THIS YEAR. CONTRIGHT BEFORE THE VOTE ON THE FINAL COMPROMISE TEXT. WHEN ASKED BUT IF YUGOSLAVIA DID NOT, THERE WAS NO QUESTION THAT THE FINAL TEXT IS CONSIDERABLY MORE BALANCED THAN THE

UNCLASSIFIED DECLASSIFIED

[redacted] DOCUMENT IS LIKELY

DECLASSIFIED

Special Project (1993)

TO THE MEXICAN DRAFT INITIALLY OFFERED BY VENEZUELA, EIGHT WERE INCORPORATED TO A LARGE EXTENT, INCLUDING PROMINENT REFERENCE TO ACHIEVEMENTS THUS FAR BY THE DUARTE GOVERNMENT, A CLEAR DISTINCTION BETWEEN THE LEGITIMATE GOVERNMENT OF EL SALVADOR AND GUERILLA FORCES (COMPARED WITH BASICALLY EQUAL STATUS IN THE FIRST MEXICAN DRAFT), AND DELETION OF MISLEADING STATEMENTS ABOUT CIVILIAN CASUALITIES CAUSED BY BOMBARDMENTS BY GOVERNMENT FORCES. MEXICO WAS SHAKEN FROM ITS NORMAL POSTURE OF DOING WHATEVER IT WANTS ON SUCH RESOLUTIONS AND HAD TO SCRAMBLE IN ACCEPTING MAJOR AMENDMENTS, EVEN INCLUDING REPHRASING OF ITS TRADITIONAL LANGUAGE ON MILITARY ASSISTANCE.

6. THE MOST IMPORTANT POSITIVE ASPECTS OF THE OUTCOME IS THE SETTING IT PROVIDES FOR FURTHER PROGRESS IN THE HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISION DELIBERATIONS IN FEBRUARY IN GENEVA. THE OBJECTIVES THERE SHOULD BE NOT ONLY FURTHER IMPROVEMENTS IN THE SUBSTANCE OF THE RESOLUTION, BUT AGREEMENT TO PHASE OUT THE SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR FOR EL SALAVADOR, BASED ON PROGRESS THAT HAS TAKEN PLACE UNDER THE DUARTE GOVERNMENT. THE MORE BALANCED UNGA DEBATE/RESOLUTION AND THE CONFIRMED WILLINGNESS OF VENEZUELAN PERMREP SUCRE (WHO WILL ALSO BE IN GENEVA) TO AGAIN TAKE THE INITIATIVE, AUGURS WELL FOR A FAVORABLE OUTCOME, WITH A COMMISSION MEMBERSHIP THAT APPEARS MORE FAVORABLY BALANCED THAN THE FULL UN MEMBERSHIP. (FYI PLEASE DO NOT DIVULGE AT THIS TIME VENEZUELAN INTENTIONS AT THE GENEVA MEETING.)

7. THERE WERE SOME TACTICAL WEAKNESSES IN THE

VENEZUELAN INITIATIVE AT THE UNGA THAT MAY HAVE INFLUENCED THE FINAL RESULT. VENEZUELA AND COSTA RICA WERE LATE IN GETTING STARTED, DELAYED FURTHER TO OBTAIN ADDITIONAL COSPONSORS, AND THUS ALLOWED MEXICO TO TABLE ITS DRAFT FIRST. THEY ALSO REMAINED PREOCCUPIED WITH OBTAINING LATIN AMERICAN COSPONSORS INSTEAD OF REACHING OUT TO COUNTRIES IN OTHER REGIONS FAVORABLY DISPOSED TO THE DUARTE GOVERNMENT. WE TRIED TO HELP, BUT AGAIN WITH A LATE START; OUR PRINCIPAL DEMARCHE CABLE (USUN 3568), RECEIVED IN THE DEPARTMENT THE MORNING OF DECEMBER 5, FOR PRESENTATION IN CAPITALS DECEMBER 6 BEFORE THE DECEMBER 7 VOTE, DID NOT GET TRIGGERED BY THE DEPARTMENT CABLE (STATE 360467) UNTIL THE EVENING OF DECEMBER 6, TOO LATE TO INFLUENCE COUNTRY POSITIONS IN NEW YORK.

8. WHETHER AN EARLIER AND MORE EFFECTIVE CAMPAIGN WOULD HAVE SWUNG THE BALANCE IS DIFFICULT TO JUDGE. BOTH THE CONTADORA COUNTRIES AND THE EC WERE SPLIT IN SUPPORTING THE TWO COMPETING DRAFTS (MEXICO/FRANCE VS. VENEZUELA/BELGIUM), AND THERE WAS GREAT PRESSURE FROM MANY LATIN AMERICAN AND WEST EUROPEAN COUNTRIES ON VENEZUELA TO REACH A COMPROMISE WITH MEXICO SO AS TO AVOID A DIFFICULT VOTE. COLOMBIA WAS A CRITICAL COUNTRY, AND WHILE SYMPATHETIC TO THE VENEZUELAN DRAFT, WORKED ENERGETICALLY TO BRING ABOUT A COMPROMISE, INFLUENCED TO SOME EXTENT BY THE CONCURRENT VISIT OF PRESIDENT BETANCUR TO MEXICO. (THIS WAS A SHARP CONTRAST TO THE EARLIER CENTRAL

ALTHOUGH WE DIDN'T GET THE BALANCED RESOLUTION WE WANTED (I.E., THE VENEZUELA DRAFT), WE DID OBTAIN A BETTER RESOLUTION THAN THE MEXICAN/FRENCH DRAFTS OF PAST YEARS, AND THE DEBATE ITSELF SHOWED WIDESPREAD SUPPORT FOR PRESIDENT DUARTE. REF: (A) USUN 3610, (B) USUN 3551

1. RESOLUTION 39/121 ON THE SITUATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS AND FUNDAMENTAL FREEDOMS IN CHILE (AGENDA ITEM 12) WAS ADOPTED IN THE UNGA PLENARY DECEMBER 14 ON THE RECOMMENDATION OF THE THIRD COMMITTEE BY VOTE OF 90-13(U.S.)-40. THE FINAL TEXT IS VIRTUALLY IDENTICAL TO THE PRELIMINARY DRAFT TRANSMITTED IN REF B. THE NUMBER OF NEGATIVE VOTES WAS REDUCED FROM 15 IN THIRD COMMITTEE TO 13 IN PLENARY BECAUSE THE PHILIPPINES SHIFTED FROM "NO" VOTES TO ABSTENTIONS AND ISRAEL SHIFTED FROM "NO" VOTES TO NON-PARTICIPATION ON ALL RESOLUTIONS RELATED TO HUMAN RIGHTS IN LATIN AMERICAN COUNTRIES.A BREAKDOWN OF THE FINAL VOTE IS PROVIDED IN PARA 2.

NOTE: THIRTEEN OF THE CIVILIAN DEATHS CAN BE ATTRIBUTED TO ASSASSINATIONS BY THE GUERRILLAS; OF THOSE, THREE WERE CIVIL DEFENSE MEMBERS FROM EL QUICHE EXECUTED BY GUERRILLAS WHEN VISITING GUATEMALA CITY. TWO OF THE VICTIMS WERE NATIONAL POLICEMEN MURDERED IN GUATEMALA CITY BY GUERRILLAS. ONE WAS THE ADMINISTRATOR OF A FARM IN THE SOUTH COAST, KIDNAPPED AND EXECUTED BY A GUERRILLA GROUP THAT LATER HELD A POLITICAL RALLY. TWO WERE EXECUTED FOR BETRAYING THE GUERRILLAS IN GUATEMALA CITY; AND FIVE MORE OF THE VICTIMS WERE FOUND IN A SECRET CEMETERY. THE LOCATION OF THE BODIES WAS REVEALED IN INFORMATION OBTAINED BY THE ARMY FROM TWO FORMER MEMBERS OF THE GUERRILLAS. A CIVILIAN, WHOSE TORTURED AND BULLET-RIDDEN BODY WAS FOUND IN GUATEMALA CITY, HAD DISAPPEARED AT THE SAME TIME THAT THE POLICE CAPTURED SOME OF THE VICTIM'S RELATIVES AND CHARGED THEM WITH THE KIDNAPPING OF HECTOR MARROQUIN (SEE NOTE IN SECTION 3, ABDUCTIONS).

SUBJECT: MILITARY RUMBLINGS OVER THE CHRISTMAS TRUCE

1. [redacted] - ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY: THE UNILATERAL GUERRILLA ANNOUNCEMENT FOR A SIX-DAY TRUCE, WHICH BEGAN AT 0000 HOURS DECEMBER 24TH AND WILL COVER THE CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S HOLIDAYS, HAS EVOKED CONTRASTING RESPONSES FROM THE GOES CIVILIAN AND MILITARY (ESAF) SECTORS. GOES CIVILIANS HAVE BEEN [redacted]

QUOTED AS "ACCEPTING WITH PLEASURE" THE GUERRILLA TRUCE STATEMENT, WHICH THEY VIEW AS A POSITIVE STEP. THE MILITARY, ON THE OTHER HAND, HAS CALLED THE TRUCE A PROPAGANDA PLOY AND MEANINGLESS. IT ENIGMATICALLY, IF DEFIANTLY, STATED THAT THE ARMED FORCES WOULD ACCEPT A TRUCE ONLY IF ORDERED TO DO SO BY ITS MILITARY HIGH COMMAND AND BY CONSTITUTIONAL AUTHORITY (THE PRESIDENT), AND NOT SIMPLY IN RESPONSE TO A TRUCE/CEASEFIRE CALL FROM THE ARMED LEFT. SHORTLY AFTERWARD, THE ESAF LAUNCHED

A COUNTRY-WIDE OPERATION UNDER WHICH IT HAS ESTABLISHED 40 BASE CAMPS IN AREAS OF KNOWN GUERRILLA CONCENTRATIONS. IT IS ALSO PLANNING A STRONG MILITARY PRESENCE NORTH OF THE TOROLA RIVER DURING THE HOLIDAYS, COMMENCING AFTERNOON OF DECEMBER 24TH. IN A CLEAR CHALLENGE TO GUERRILLA CLAIMS OF CONTROL OVER PORTIONS OF THE NATIONAL TERRITORY, THE ESAF PLANS TO CONDUCT EXTENSIVE PATROLLING DURING THE CEASEFIRE. WHILE THERE HAVE BEEN NO REPORTS OF MILITARY ENCOUNTERS DURING THE FIRST 15 HOURS OF THE GUERRILLA TRUCE, AGGRESSIVE ESAF PATROLLING COUPLED WITH GUERRILLA PROMISES TO LIMIT THEIR ACTIVITIES TO "DEFENSE OF OUR FORCES, THE CIVILIAN POPULATION, AND TERRITORIES UNDER OUR CONTROL" COULD EASILY LEAD TO AN OUTBREAK OF HOSTILITIES AND CHARGES OF CEASEFIRE VIOLATIONS BY BOTH SIDES.

3. THE ESAF TOUGH STANCE ON THE CHRISTMAS TRUCE REFLECTS UNEASINESS OVER AN UNPRODUCTIVE ROUND TWO OF DIALOGUE AND ANGER OVER THE GUERRILLA EXPLOITATION OF THE PRISONER EXCHANGE AT LA JOYA, WHERE THE FMLN ALSO ANNOUNCED THE TRUCE (SEE PARA 8 BELOW). BEYOND THIS, THE ESAF IS A BIT MIFFED THAT PRESIDENT DUARTE WAITED NEARLY THREE WEEKS TO MEET WITH ARMED FORCES COMMANDERS AFTER AYAGUALO. IT WAS NOT UNTIL DECEMBER 19 THAT THE PRESIDENT "FINALLY GOT AROUND TO" MEETING WITH THE ESAF FIELD COMMANDERS [redacted]

TO DISCUSS A VARIETY OF IMPORTANT ISSUES THAT HAD BACKLOGGED, INCLUDING AYAGUALO, THE CEASEFIRE/TRUCE PROPOSAL, AND CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES STEMMING FROM THE INTERNAL POLITICAL DEBATE IN EL SALVADOR. BASIC ESAF SUPPORT FOR THE PRESIDENT'S DIALOGUE INITIATIVE DOES NOT APPEAR TO BE IN DANGER, BUT CLEARLY DUARTE WILL HAVE TO STAY CLOSE TO KEY MILITARY COMMANDERS IN ORDER TO ENSURE THAT THE ARMED FORCES REMAIN ON THE PEACE TRAIN. END SUMMARY.

4. IN STATEMENTS TO THE PRESS, GOES OFFICIALS HAVE SAID THAT THE GOES WILL HONOR THE GUERRILLA CHRISTMAS TRUCE. MIAMI HERALD DECEMBER 15 QUOTED CASA PRESIDENCIAL SPOKESMAN OSCAR REYES AS SAYING "WE ACCEPT WITH PLEASURE THE GUERRILLA TRUCE" AND STATING THAT THE ESAF WOULD LIMIT ITSELF TO "DEFENSIVE ACTIONS." IN A LATIN-REUTER STORY TWO DAYS EARLIER, REYES HAD RESPONDED SLIGHTLY DIFFERENTLY BY SAYING THAT THE GOES WOULD RESPECT THE SIX-DAY TRUCE, BUT ONLY "ACCORDING TO THE GOVERNMENT'S OWN TERMS". HE ALSO SAID THAT THE ESAF WOULD CONTINUE ITS WORK ROUTINE. MINISTER OF THE PRESIDENCY AND CLOSE DUARTE ADVISOR JULIO REY PRENDES TOLD THE PRESS THAT THE GUERRILLA TRUCE ANNOUNCEMENT WAS "A POSITIVE STEP" AND SOUGHT TO CHARACTERIZE THE GUERRILLA DECISION AS AN FMLN ACQUIESCENCE TO THE GOES'S CHRISTMAS CEASEFIRE PROPOSAL AT AYAGUALO.

5. THE ESAF ISSUED ITS OWN PUBLIC STATEMENTS SHORTLY

AFTERWARD. DIFFERING SHARPLY WITH THE EARLIER EXPRESSED GOES STATEMENTS, MILITARY SPOKESMEN, INCLUDING CHIEF OF STAFF COL. BLANDON AND 4TH BRIGADE COMMANDER LTC OCHOA, REJECTED THE GUERRILLAS' SELF-PROCLAIMED "UNILATERAL" TRUCE. BLANDON STATED ON DEC 17TH THAT THE GUERRILLA ANNOUNCEMENT "HAS NO MEANING" EXCEPT AS A PROPAGANDA PIECE AND THAT THE GOES HAD NO INTENTION OF RESPECTING A TRUCE THAT DID NOT EMANATE FROM ITS OWN HIGH COMMAND. HE ADDED THAT WHILE THE ARMED FORCES WOULD OBEY THEIR

6. CIVILIAN GOES AND ESAF DIFFERENCES ON THE GUERRILLA TRUCE HAVE BEEN HEIGHTENED IN SEPARATE PRIVATE CHATS WITH EMBOFFS. OSCAR REYES TOLD POLCOUNS DEC 17TH THAT HIS AND REY PRENDES' STATEMENTS TO THE PRESS CAME IN RESPONSE TO THE GUERRILLA TRUCE ANNOUNCEMENT, WHICH THE TWO GOES

OFFICIALS INTERPRETED AS AN FMLN CAVE-IN TO THE ARCHBISHOP'S CHRISTMAS CEASEFIRE PROPOSAL AT AND AFTER AYAGUALO. IN A DEPARTURE FROM ONE OF HIS PRESS STATEMENTS, REYES SAID THAT THE ESAF HAD BEEN ORDERED NOT TO LAUNCH ANY OFFENSIVE OPERATIONS DURING THE ENTIRE 12-DAY "PERIOD OF TRANQUILITY" AGREED TO BY BOTH SIDES AT AYAGUALO. REYES SAID, HOWEVER, THAT SHOULD THE GUERRILLAS ATTEMPT TO MOVE MATERIEL OR MEN DURING THE ENTIRE PERIOD, INCLUDING ARMS AND SUPPLIES FROM NICARAGUA, THE ESAF

WOULD SHOOT. REYES SAID THAT IN EFFECT WE WOULD HAVE A "DE FACTO" CESSATION OF HOSTILITIES PROVIDED THE GUERRILLAS KEPT LOW AND DID NOT ATTEMPT TO EXTRACT MILITARY ADVANTAGE FROM THE UPCOMING LULL IN THE FIGHTING. THE GOES, HE SAID, WOULD NOT BE ISSUING ANY FORMAL STATEMENT RESPONDING TO THE GUERRILLA TRUCE ANNOUNCEMENT BEYOND HIS AND REY PRENDES' REMARKS TO THE PRESS, SO AS NOT TO ACKNOWLEDGE THE CLAIMS OF FMLN CONTROL OVER CIVILIAN POPULATION AND TERRITORY.

7. ESAF PRESS SPOKESMAN LTC RICARDO CIENFUEGOS TOLD EMBOFF DEC 18TH THAT GOES CIVILIAN STATEMENTS, PARTICULARLY OSCAR REYES', HAD CAUSED SEVERE HEARTBURN WITHIN ESAF. ESAF COMMANDERS BELIEVES, HE SAID, THAT THERE SHOULD BE NO OFFICIAL RESPONSE THAT HINTS THAT THE GUERRILLA TRUCE ANNOUNCEMENT IS A FAVORABLE DEVELOPMENT. HE SAID THE GUERRILLA STATEMENT SHOULD HAVE BEEN REJECTED OUTRIGHT BY ALL GOES AND ESAF OFFICIALS. IT WAS NOT TRUE THAT THE ESAF WOULD STAND DOWN, AS SUGGESTED BY REYES, SAID CIENFUEGOS. FOR THE ESAF, THE COMING DAYS WOULD BE "WAR AS USUAL" AND CERTAIN MILITARY OPERATIONS WOULD BE LAUNCHED IN THE NEXT FEW DAYS. THE OPERATIONS, HOWEVER, WOULD BE PRIMARILY PATROLLING MISSIONS AND ROAD SECURITY OPERATIONS, AS OPPOSED TO SWEEPS. ASKED [redacted]

IF THE PATROLLING OPERATIONS WOULD BE LIMITED TO CERTAIN SPECIFIED AREAS, CIENFUEGOS SAID NO, THAT ESAF PLANNED TO GO INTO AREAS OF KNOWN GUERRILLA ACTIVITY SUCH AS GUAZAPA, THE CERROS DE SAN PEDRO, AND NORTHERN MORAZAN. (COMMENT: THE NEXT DAY, DECEMBER 19TH, ESAF LAUNCHED "OPERATION RELAMPAGO", A NATIONWIDE MILITARY OPERATION SCHEDULED TO RUN THROUGH JANUARY 2. THE ESAF HAS ESTABLISHED APPROXIMATELY 40 STRATEGICALLY LOCATED BASE CAMPS THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY, FROM WHICH IT PLANS TO CONDUCT PATROLLING OPERATIONS. DAO WILL ATTEND AND REPORT ON A HIGH COMMAND BRIEFING ON THE OPERATION ON CHRISTMAS MORNING. ESAF ALSO TOLD US THAT IT WOULD INSERT UNITS FROM THE 3RD BRIGADE NORTH OF THE TOROLA RIVER IN MORAZAN DEPARTMENT ON THE AFTERNOON OF DECEMBER 24TH. A HEAVY IMMEDIATE REACTION BATTALION, POSSIBLY THE ARCE, MAY JOIN THE OPERATION. IN A MEETING ON DECEMBER 19TH, DEFENSE MINISTER VIDES CASANOVA CONFIRMED TO THE AMBASSADOR THAT ESAF WOULD BE CONDUCTING OPERATIONS ALL THROUGH THE "PERIOD OF TRANQUILITY" AGREED TO AT AYAGUALO. END COMMENT.)

8. CIENFUEGOS CLAIMED THAT GOES AND ESAF DIFFERENCES ON THE GUERRILLA TRUCE WERE, IN FACT, MERELY SYMPTOMATIC OF A LARGER PROBLEM: THE ESAF HAS BECOME DISILLUSIONED AND FRUSTRATED WITH DIALOGUE SINCE THE AYAGUALO TALKS, AND THEIR (ESAF'S) INTEREST IS WANING. (COMMENT: IN

REALITY, ESAF HAS NEVER BEEN VERY ENTHUSIASTIC ABOUT DIALOGUE, BUT AGREED TO SUPPORT PRESIDENT DUARTE'S PEACE INITIATIVE AFTER BEING CONVINCED THAT THE PRESIDENT WOULD NOT BARGAIN AWAY THEIR (ESAF'S) INSTITUTIONAL INTERESTS. ACCORDING TO CIENFUEGOS, THE STRIDENT REMARKS BY FMLN GUERRILLA FACUNDO GUARDADO AT AYAGUALO IN PARTICULAR RUBBED THE ESAF THE WRONG WAY, AND HAD LED MANY IN THE ARMED FORCES TO BELIEVE THAT DIALOGUE WITH THE ARMED LEFT IS GOING NOWHERE. IS SEEN AS LOSING IN STATURE BY VIRTUE OF ITS REPRESENTATION ON THE GOES DIALOGUE TEAM, AND SOME COMMANDERS ARE CALLING FOR CESSATION OF ESAF REPRESENTATION AT THE SESSIONS. THESE COMMANDERS BELIEVE, SAID CIENFUEGOS, THAT THE QUESTION OF DIALOGUE HAS BECOME A POLITICAL FOOTBALL GAME AND THE POLITICIANS SHOULD PLAY IT, NOT THE MILITARY. ESAF WAS ALSO STUNG BY HOW THE FPL USED THE 43 ESAF POW'S IN THE HIGHLY PUBLICIZED CEREMONY IN LA JOYA DECEMBER 11TH (REPORTED SEPTEL). THE POW'S, [redacted]

DRESSED IN JOGGING SUITS DONATED BY THE RED CROSS, WERE MADE TO STAND IN FORMATION WHILE FPL COMMANDER MILTON MENDEZ ISSUED THE (OFFENSIVE) TRUCE ANNOUNCEMENT. FILMED AND PHOTOGRAPHED BY THE INTERNATIONAL MEDIA. THE PRISONERS WERE SUBSEQUENTLY HANDED OVER TO THE ARCHBISHOP.

9. THERE IS ANOTHER PROBLEM WITH DIALOGUE, CIENFUEGOS SAID. DUARTE HAD NOT MET WITH ESAF COMMANDERS RIGHT

AFTER AYAGUALO TO FILL THEM IN, AS HE HAD DONE AFTER LA PALMA. IN FACT, WHILE DUARTE DIDN'T MEET WITH ESAF RIGHT AFTER AYAGUALO, HE DIRECTED VICE MINISTER OF DEFENSE COL. LOPEZ NUILA, WHO SAT IN ON THE TALKS, TO BRIEF THE FIELD COMMANDERS. CIENFUEGOS, HOWEVER, IMPLIED THAT THIS WAS NOT THE SAME AS A MEETING WITH THE PRESIDENT (PART OF IT HAVING TO DO WITH THE LOW ESTEEM LOPEZ NUILA, WHO IS NOT A "COMBAT ARMS" OFFICER, IS HELD BY ESAF'S FIELD COMMANDERS). SOME ESAF OFFICERS SUSPECTED THAT THE PRESIDENT DID NOT WANT TO ADMIT TO THE ESAF THAT THE TALKS WERE A "FAILURE" AND THUS AVOIDED MEETING THEM.

10. SUBSEQUENT TO OUR MEETING WITH CIENFUEGOS, PRESIDENT DUARTE MET WITH APPROXIMATELY 300 ESAF FIELD COMMANDERS ON DECEMBER 19TH AND USED THE SESSION TO TREAT SEVERAL ISSUES OF PARTICULAR PAROCHIAL MILITARY INTEREST TO THE ESAF, AND AYAGUALO, THE CEASEFIRE/TRUCE PROPOSAL, AND CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES ARISING FROM THE INTERNAL POLITICAL DEBATE IN EL SALVADOR (ESPECIALLY THE PRESIDENT'S CONTROVERSIAL VETO OF THE NEW ELECTORAL LAW). BY ALL ACCOUNTS, THE MEETING WENT WELL, AND MINDEF VIDES LATER TOLD THE AMBASSADOR THAT HE SENSED ESAF OFFICER CORPS NEURALGIA OVER THE DIALOGUE HAD SUBSIDED QUITE [redacted]

A BIT.

11. COMMENT: WE HAVE HEARD OF NO MILITARY CONFRONTATIONS THUS FAR BETWEEN GUERRILLA AND ESAF FORCES DURING THE FIRST 15 HOURS OF THE GUERRILLA-ANNOUNCED HOLIDAY TRUCE. DAO REPRESENTATIVES WILL ATTEND AND REPORT ON A SPECIAL ESAF HIGH COMMAND BRIEFING ON MILITARY ACTIVITY ON THE MORNING OF DECEMBER 25TH. THE PROJECTED ESAF PATROLS AND OPERATIONS DURING THIS PERIOD, IF CARRIED OUT, WILL TEST THE GUERRILLA PROMISES NOT TO ENGAGE ESAF FORCES "EXCEPT IN DEFENSE OF OUR (FDR/FMLN) FORCES, THE CIVILIAN POPULATION, AND TERRITORIES UNDER OUR (FMLN) CONTROL." IT IS DIFFICULT, THEREFORE, FOR EMBASSY TO ENVISION A COMPLETE PERIOD OF TRANQUILITY DURING THE HOLIDAYS, AND AN OUTBREAK OF HOSTILITIES DURING THE SIX-DAY UNILATERAL GUERRILLA TRUCE REMAINS A STRONG LIKELIHOOD. UNLESS PLACED IN PERSPECTIVE, THE ESAF OPERATIONS COULD (AND DOUBTLESS WILL, BY THE INTERNATIONAL PRESS) BE INTERPRETED AS A GOES VIOLATION OF THE CEASEFIRE (THE ESAF WILL SIMILARLY CHARGE THAT THE FMLN VIOLATED ITS OWN TRUCE), WHICH WILL PROVE GOES HYPOCRISY REGARDING HUMANIZATION OF THE WAR AND A PEACEFUL SOLUTION OF THE CONFLICT.

12. IT WILL NEED TO BE REMEMBERED THAT THE GOES HAS VERY CLEARLY STAKED OUT THE LIMITS OF WHAT IT WILL -- AND WILL NOT -- ACCEPT: IT INTENDS TO CONDUCT ALL NORMAL

IF THE LEFT WISHES A TRANQUIL HOLIDAY, IT WILL BE UP TO THE LEFT NOT TO CREATE A RUCKUS.

SUBJECT: MILITARY RUMBLINGS OVER THE CHRISTMAS TRUCE

SEE THAT PRESIDENT DUARTE'S PEACE INITIATIVE IS IN ANY REAL TROUBLE. KEY ESAF OFFICIALS REMAIN VERY SUPPORTIVE. NEVERTHELESS, THE PRESIDENT WILL DO WELL TO STAY IN CLOSE TOUCH WITH ESAF COMMANDERS AT KEY DIALOGUE INTERVALS IF FOR NO OTHER REASON THAN TO DISPEL MALICIOUS RUMORS AND FALSEHOODS. IT APPEARS THAT HIS MOST RECENT SESSION (DECEMBER 19TH) HAD THE NECESSARY SALUTARY EFFECT.
END COMMENT.

SUBJECT: CODEL RICHARDSON VISIT TO CHILE

REFS: (A) SANTIAGO 8133, B) SANTIAGO 8147, (C) MEXICO 21515

1. (C) - SUMMARY: CODEL RICHARDSON HAD FULL, FAST-PACED SCHEDULED IN CHILE DECEMBER 12-13, 1984. UNEXPECTED MEETING WITH PRESIDENT PINOCHET, WHICH CONGRESSMAN RICHARDSON DESCRIBED TO PRESS AS "BRUTALLY FRANK" REPORTED REF. A. CONGRESSMEN RICHARDSON, LANTOS AND TORRES ELOQUENTLY EXPRESSED CONVICTION TO FOREIGN MINISTER DEL VALLE THAT RECENT DEVELOPMENTS IN CHILE HAVE NEGATIVE IMPACT ON BILATERAL RELATIONS. DEL VALLE EXPLAINED GOC VIEW THAT DIALOGUE WITH THE OPPOSITION ON A TRANSITION TO DEMOCRACY HAD BEEN FRUSTRATED BY THE IRRESPONSIBLE ATTITUDE OF THE OPPOSITION, E.G., DEMANDING THE RESIGNATION OF PINOCHET. HE SAID THAT BOTH PRESS CENSORSHIP AND THE STATE OF SIEGE WERE TEMPOARY MEASURES, AND THAT THE ARMED FORCES WOULD LIVE UP TO THEIR COMMITMENT TO ESTABLISH DEMOCRACY. MEETING WITH INTERIOR MINISTER JARPA COVERED MUCH OF THE SAME GROUND AS THE MEETINGS WITH PRESIDENT PINOCHET AND DEL VALLE. HE REVIEWED THE ONGOING WORK ON THE VARIOUS LAWS CONCERNING THE POLITICAL PROCESS AND INDICATED HIS SYMPATHY FOR

THE COLOMBIAN POWER SHARING FORMULA TO END MILITARY RULE. CONGRESSMAN RICHARDSON HAD BRIEF MEETING WITH A CODELCO OFFICIAL, REQUESTING THAT A CODELCO REPRESENTATIVE VISIT HIS DISTRICT TO EXPLAIN CODELCO'S CASE DIRECTLY TO COPPER MINERS THERE. EMBASSY OFFICERS WERE NOT INVITED TO CODEL MEETINGS WITH THE DEMOCRATIC ALLIANCE (AD) AND THE SOCIALIST

NON ACQUIRED

BLOC (BS). AD LEADERS TOLD CODEL OF THEIR PLAN TO SEND A LETTER TO THE ARMED FORCES (THAT LETTER WAS DISPATCHED) ON DECEMBER 17 - SEE REF. B). MEETING WITH BS WAS ARRANGED AT CODEL'S REQUEST BY PROF. ROETT OF JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY. AN UNAUTHORIZED WEEKLY PUBLICATION FALSELY CHARACTERIZED THAT MEETING AS HAVING OCCURRED IN SPITE OF STRONG RESISTANCE FROM AMBASSADOR THEBERGE. THE CODEL RECEIVED EXTENSIVE PRESS COVERAGE. CONGRESSMAN RICHARDSON TOLD THE PRESS HE HAD ASKED PINOCHET TO CONSIDER A PLEBISCITE BEFORE 1989, TO END THE STATE OF SIEGE, TO END PRESS CENSORSHIP AND TO END HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES. GOVERNMENT SPOKESMAN SUBSEQUENZLY HAVE STRESSED THAT THE PINOCHET CODEL MEETING WAS NOT INTERFERENCE IN THE INTERNAL AFFAIRS OF CHILE, BUT RATHER AN EXCHANGE OF VIEWS. EDITORIAL COMMENT HAS UNDERSCORED THAT CHILEANS WOULD NEVER ACCEPT INTERFERENCE. END SUMMARY.

2. (U) CODEL RICHARDSON VISIT TO CHILE DECEMBER 12-13, 1984 WAS HIGHLIGHTED BY MEETIG WITH PRESIDENT PINOCHET (REF. A) WHICH LITERALLY HAPPENED AT LAST MINUTE. THE THREE MEMBERS OF CONGRESS, BILL RICHARDSON, PETER LANTOS AND ESTEBAN TORRES ACCOMPANIED BY AMBASSADOR THEBERGE, POL COUNSELOR KEANE AND FSO GUERRA-MONDRAGON (ON DETAIL TO THE NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC INSTITUTE) ALSO MET WITH FOREIGN MINISTER JAIME DEL VALLE AND MINISTER OF INTERIOR JARPA.

AND THE OTHER CONGRESSMEN ASKED ABOUT PROSPECTS FOR THE POLITICAL OPENING, THE POSSIBILITY OF A LIFTING OF THE STATE OF SIEGE PRIOR TO ITS EXPIRATION ON FEBRUARY 4 AND LIFTING OF RESTRICTIONS ON PRESS FREEDOM. THE CONGRESSMEN STRONGLY BUT ELOQUENTLY EXPRESSED THE CONVICTION THAT RECENT DEVELOPMENTS IN CHILE WILL AFFECT BILATERAL RELATIONS, SINCE THE AMERICAN PEOPLE FERVENTLY HOPE FOR A RETURN TO DEMOCRACY IN CHILE AND FULL RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIFHTS.

4. (C) DEL ALLE EXPLAINED THAT CHILE HAS A LONG DEMO-CRATIC TRADITION WHICH WAS BROKEN BY THE ALLENDE POPULAR UNITY (UP) GOVERNMENT. THE UP ACTED UNCONSTITUIONALLY AND BROUGHT POLITICAL, JURIDICIAL, SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC CHAOS UPON THE COUNTRY. HE DESCRIBED THE TIMETABLE AND CONTENTS FOR THE DEMOCRATIC TRANSITION OUTLINED IN THE 1980 CONSTITUTION. HE SAID THAT ALL CHILE HAD HOPED THAT THE POLITICAL OPENING IN 1983 WOULD BE TAKEN PROPER ADVANTAGE OF TO AGREE ONA

TIMETABLE FOR THE POLITICAL LAWS AND PERHAPS HOLD A PLEBISCITE TO ALLOW AN EARLY ELECTED CONGRESS. THE IRRESPONSIBLE AND IMMATURE ATTITUDE OF THE OPPOSITION --DEMANDING THE RESIGNATION OF THE PRESIDENT AND SC SCRAPPING OF THE 1980 CONSTITUTION -- FRUSTRATED THE DIALOGUE. DEL VALLE DEFENDED THE STATE OF SIEGE AND CLAIMED IT HAD REDUCED TERRORISM.

5. (C) REFERRING TO OUTSIDE PRESSURE, DEL VALLE SAID THAT OTHER GOVERNMENTS SHOULD PRESSURE THE OPPOSITION TO BE REASONABLE AS WELL. "WE ARE GOING TO HAVE A DEMOCRACY WITHOUT COMMUNISTS. DO NOT PRESSURE US TO SIT DOWN AT THE TABLE WITH COMMUNISTS AND COMMIT THE SAME NAIVE MISTAKE COLOMBIA IS COMMITTING. WE WANT TO BUILD OUR DEMOCRACY SLOWLY, SO THAT IT LASTS. WE DO NOT WANT A DEMOCRACY GLUED TOGETHER WITH SPIT, AS IN BOLIVIA".

6. (C) DEL VALLE TRIED TO JUSTIFY PRESS CENSORSHIP BECAUSE OF ABUSES. HE SAID THE STATE OF SIEGE WILL BE LIFTED ONCE THE SITUATION IN CHILE NORMALIZES; AT THAT TIME THE PRESS WILL AGAIN BE WITHOUT RESTRICTIONS. WHAT IS MORE IMPORTANT, EVERYONE CAN BE ASSURED THAT THE

ARMED FORCES WILL ABIDE BY THEIR SOLEMN OATH TO CARRY OUT A PLEBISCITE IN 1989 AND DEMOCRACY WILL BE ESTABLISHED. HE URGED VISITORS NOT TO BE SO QUICK IN DEMANDING ACTIONS BY THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT. "DO NOT ASK US TO DO THINGS THE WAY AMERICANS DO THEM...WE HAVE A DIFFERENT MENTALITY."

7. (C) MEETING WITH MINISTER OF INTERIOR SERGIO ONEFRE JARPA: THE CONVERSATION WITH JARPA COVERED SOME OF THE SAME GROUND AS THE MEETING HELD WITH PRESIDENT PINOCHET (REFTEL AND WITH DEL VALLE. HOWEVER, INTERESTING POINTS JARPA MADE WERE:

-- PRESIDENT PINOCHET HAS BEEN USING A "HARD HAND" BECAUSE THE CHILEAN PEOPLE ASKED FOR IT; HE WANTS TO ESTABLISH ORDER, SECURITY AND LIBERTY, BUT WITHOUT "LIBERTINAJE" (LICENTIOUSNESS).

-- A PLEBISCITE IS ONLY POSSIBLE ONCE THE NEW ELECTIONS TRIBUNAL IS ESTABLISHED AND THE POLITICAL PARTIES AND ELECTORAL LAWS AREIN PLACE. WORK IS ADVANCING ON ALL THREE.

-- JARPA SUPPORTS THE NOTION OF 60 ELECTORAL DISTRICTS WITH TWO DEPUTIES EACH, IN ORDER TO PROMOTE THE DEVELOPMENT OF TWO STRONG POLITICAL PARTIES. (COMMENT: IF THERE AR ONLY TWO SEATS PER DISTRICT, PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION, A STRONG TRADITION IN CHILE WOULD BE CONFIDENTIAL ABANDONED).

-- THE COLOMBIAN FORMULA FOR ENDING MILITARY RULE (1957) AND ESTABLISHING A STABLE DEMOCRACY APPEALS TO JARPA. AFTER 300,000 PEOPLE DIEDIN THE CIVIL WAR OF 1948-1953 AND SUBSEQUENT MILITARY DICATORSHIP, HE SAID, THE TWO PARTIES CAME TO AN AGREEMENT TO SHARE POWER. THE SAME MIGHT WORK IN CHILE, IF WE CAN GET THE DEMOCRATIC RIGHT AND DEMOCRATIC LEFT TO AGREE ON A BASIC FORMULA. THE FIRST CONDITION FOR SUCH A FORMULA IS AGREEMENT THAT THE COMMUNIST PARTYIS OUTSIDE THE SYSTEM AND THAT NO ONE WILL PACT WITH THE COMMUNISTS.

8. (U) MEETING WITH COPPER INDUSTRY REPRESENTATIVE; CONGRESMAN RICHARDSON MET WITH CODELCO VICE PRESIDENT FOR SALES MARTIN LABORDE TO DISCUSS THE DEPRESSED COPPER MARKET. REGIONAL RESOURCES OFFICER JOEL CASSMAN WAS PRESENT FOR THE SESSION. THE CONGRESSMAN BRIEFLY OUTLINED THE IMPACT OF THE DEPRESSED MARKET ON THE COPPER MINING INDUSTRY IN NEW MEXICO. LABORDE POINTED OUT THAT CODELCO, AS THE WORLD'S LOWEST COST PRODUCER, WAS ABLE TO PRODUCE COPPER PROFITABLY EVEN AT CURRENT PRICESM LABORDE ALSO SAID THAT CODELCO IS A PRICE-TAKER IN WORLD MARKETS, BUT ITS OUTPUT COMMANDS A PREMIUM DUE TO CODELCO'S RELIABILITY FOR DELIVERY AND

QUALITY. IN FACT, SEVERAL U.S. COPPER PRODUCERS (PHELPS DODGE AND AMAX, FOR EXAMPLE) IMPORT CODELCO COPPER CATHODES, ACCORDING TO LABORDE, OWING TO CODELCO'S PRICE COMPETITIVENESS ON THE U.S. EAST COAST OVER SOUTHWESTERN U.S. MINIES. CONGRESSMAN RICHARDSON ASKED LABORDE TO ASSIST IN ARRANGING A TRIP BY A CODELCO REPRESENTATIVE (PRESUMABLY FORM THE NEW WORK SALES OFFICE) TO NEW MEXICO TO QRESENT CODELCO'S CONFIDENTIAL

CASE DIRECTLY TO THE COPPER MINIES IN HIS DISTRICT.

9. (U) DEMOCRATIC ALLIANCE THE UNANTICIPATED AND UNEXPECTEDLY LONG MEETING WITH PRESIDENT PINOCHET FORCED THE CONGRESSMEN TO CANCEL A SCHEDULED MEETING THE REPRESENTATIVES OF THE CATHOLIC CHURCH'S VICARIATE OF SOLIDARITY, BUT CONGRESSIONAL STAFF MEMBERS RECEIVED A BRIEFING ON THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION. CODEL ALSO HAD A LUNCHEON WITH LEADERS OF THE DEMOCRATIC ALLIANCE (AD). EMBASSY OFFICERS WERE NOT INVITED TO THAT LUNCHEON, BUT WE WERE INFORMED THAT AD PRESIDENT RICARDO LAGOS ANNOUNCED THAT THE AD WOULD SEND A LETTER TO THE ARMED FORCES (REF. ?).

10. (U) SOCIALIST BLOC: THE CODEL NEXT HELD A MEETING WITH THE SOC-CALLED SOCIALIST BLOC ("BLOQUE SOCIALISTA" (BS). THAT MEETING WAS ARRANGED BY PROF. RIORDAN ROETT OF JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY (PER REF. C.). EMBASSY OFFICERS WERE NOT INIVTED TO BE PRESENT AT THE MEETING.

11. (C) THE DECEMBER 18 EDITION OF A WEEKLY UNAUTHORIZED BUT TOLERATED PRIVATELY DISTRIVUTED DOCUMENT KNOWN AS "CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION SERVICE" (SERVICIO DEL INFORMACION CONFIDENCIAL - SIC) CLAIMED THAT THE MEMBERS OF CONGRESS LISTENED WITH ARE TO CERTAIN (UNDEFINED) CONCEPTS PLANTED BY THE BS AND THAT THEY IN TURN REVIEWED THEIR MEETING WITH PINOCHET. IN ADDITION, ACCORDING TO SIC, THE BS WAS INVITED TO PARTICIPATE IN A MEETING OF LATIN AMERICAN DEMOCRATIC PARTIES IN THE U.S. ORGANIZED BY THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY (PRESUMABLY THE NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC INSTITUTE) SOMETIME IN 1985. FINALLY, SIC CHARACTERIZED THE MEETING WITH THE BS AS HAVING OCCURRED IN SPITE OF STRONG RESISTANCE FROM AMBASSADOR THEBERGE. WE DO NOT KNOWN THE SOURCE OF THIS CANARD. CODEL RICHARDSON DID NOT ASK THE EMBASSY CONFIDENTIAL

TO ARRANGE A MEETING WITH THE BS. WE DID ADVISE AGAINST A MEETING WITH REPRESENTATIVE OF THE COMMUNIST-FRONT POPULAR DEMOCRATIC MOVEMENT (MDP), SUGGESTED BY FSO GUERRA, WHO, WE ASSUME, WAS UNAWARE THAT THE MDP SUPPORTS TERRORISM.

13. (LOU) PRESS CONFERENCE: COVERAGE AND REACTIONS: THE VISIT RECEIVED EXTENSIVE CONVERAGE BY ALL MEDIA AND THERE WAS APPARENTLY NO GOC CENSORSHIP EFFORT. IN FACT, THE PRESS COVERAGE WAS SO EXTENSIVE AND UNVARNISHED THAT GOC OFFICIALS FELT COMPELLED TO INSIST THAT THE CODEL HAD NOT INTERFERRED IN CHILLEAN INTERNAL AFFAIRS. DURING THE PRESS CONFERENCE,

RICHARDSON AFFIRMED THAT THE CODEL HAD SPECIFICALLY ASKED PINOCHET TO CONSIDER A PLEBISCITE BEFORE 1989, THE LIFTING OF THE STATE OF SIEGE AND AN END TO PRESS CENSORSHIP AND VIOLATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS. ALL THE MEDIA QUOTED RICHARDSON'S DESCRIPTION OF THE CODEL CONVERSATION WITH PINOCHET AS "BRUTALLY FRANK."
14. (C) REACTING TO PRESS STORIES ABOUT THE CODEL'S REQUESTS TO PINOCHET, FORMIN DEL VALLE ON DECEMBER 15 TRIED TO REPAIR THE DAMAGE TO POSSIBLE FUTURE VISITS OF CODELS (AS WELL AS TO HIMSELF FOR HAVING URGED THE PRESIDENT TO RECEIVE THEM). DEL VALLE SAID THAT THE U.S. CONGRESSMEN HAD NOT FORMULATED ANY CONCRETE PETITION, THAT THEY HAD SIMPLY EXPRESSED THEIR OPINION AND THAT "PRESIDENT PINOCHET WILL NEVER ACCEPT, IN HIS OWN OFFICE, ANY INTERFERENCE IN CHILEAN INTERNAL AFFAIRS."

MINISTER SECRETARY GENERAL OF GOVERNMENT, FRANCISCO JAVIER CUADRA, SAID, ON THE OTHER HAND, THAT DURING HIS DIALOGUE WITH THE U.S. CONGRESSMEN PINOCHET HAD REJECTED THEIR PETITIONS "BECAUSE THERE IS A CONSTITUTIONAL TERM, APPROCED BY THE PEOPLE, WHICH MUST BE RESPECTED."
15. (U) INDEPENDENT DAILY "LA TERCERA" EDITORIALIZED DECEMBER 17, THAT "SOME SECTORS HAVE SEEN IN THIS VISIT ...A REAL U.S. INTERVENTION IN CHILEAN INTERNAL AFFAIRS. NOTHING COULD BE LESS TRUE, BECAUSE, ACCORDING TO CLARIFICATIONS BY CHILEAN GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS, CHILE HAS NOT ACCEPTED NOR WILL IT EVER ACCEPT INTERFERENCE OF ANY KIND." SUPPORTING SUCH EXCHANGES DESPITE THE DISCOMFORT THEY CAUSE THE PRESIDENT, MEMBERS OF HIS ADMINISTRATION AND NATIONALISTS, "TERCERA" CONTINUED: "WITH THAT IN MIND, IT IS FITTING TO CELEBRATE THE VISIT OF THE CONGRESSMEN, BECAUSE IT ALLOWS THEM TO BE INFORMED, DIRECTLY, AND NOT BY MEANS OF DISTORTED JOURNALISTIC IMPRESSIONS, OF OUR REAL SITUATION, PARTICULARLY OF THE WAY IN WHICH EXTREMISM AND SUBVERSION, OPERATING WITHIN THE NATIONAL FRONTIERS, VIRTUALLY FORCED THE ESTABLISHMENT OF THE STATE OF SIEGE ... THERE WAS A BRUTALLY FRANK DIALOGUE, YES, BUT ALSO WITHIN A MARGIN OF ABSOLUTE RESPECT. THE CONGRESSMEN EXPRESSED THEIR VIEWPOINTS. THE CHIEF OF STATE EXPRESSED HIS, WHICH REPRESENTS THE REALITY OF A COUNTRY FACING PROBLEMS, BUT ONE WHICH CAN SOLVE THEM WITHOUT NEED OF TUTORS, NOR BIG BROTHERS." INFLUENTIAL, CONSERVATIVE "EL MECURIO" HIGHLIGHTED THE U.S. CONGRESSMEN'S HOPE FOR A RENEWED DIALOGUE BETWEEN THE EXECUTIVE AND THE POLITICAL PARTIES, AND THE FACT THAT THE CHAIRMAN OF THE CODEL, CONGRESSMAN RICHARDSON, REFERRED TO HIS GROUP AS "OPPOSED TO MARXISM AND TERRORISM."

2. (U) REF. PARA FIVE, REFTEL WE UNDERSTAND THAT SINCE MR. SOMMER OFF, U.S. OVERSEAS COOPERATIVE DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEE, WILL MEET MESSRS. GERSHMAN AND AGUILAR AT AIRPORT UPON ARRIVAL JANUARY 6, GERSHMAN DOES NOT DESIRE EMBOFF TO BE AT AIRPORT. PLEASE ADVISE.
3. (C) REF, PARA SIX, REFTEL: RSO CURRENTLY OUT OF COUNTRY. WE ARE ADVISED THT THERE ARE NO SECURITY-TRAINED PRIVATE AUTO CHAUFFEURS IN CHILE. EMBASSY WOULD BE PLEASED TO PROVIDE CAR AND DRIVER. WE APPRECIATE SECURITY CONCERNS. WHILE WE DO NOT WISH TO DOWNPLAY SERIOUSNESS OF SECURITY SITUATION IN CHILE, WE DO NOT WANT TO LAY TOO MUCH EMPHASIS EITHER. WE DO NOT BELIEVE THERE IS ANY REASON PER SE THAT MR. GERSHMAN WOULD BE THE OBJECT OF ANY TERRORIST CONFIDENTIAL

ATTACK. A STATE OF SIEGE HAS BEEN IN EFFECT SINCE NOVEMBER 6 AND WILL ALMOST CERTAINLY BE IN PLACE THROUGHOUT GERSHMAN'S VISIT JANUARY 6 - 10. THAT STATE OF SIEGE WAS IMPLEMENTED, IN PART, IN RESPONSE TO GROWING GOVERNMENT CONCERNS ABOUT TERRORIST ACTS, INCLUDING COAR BOMBS AND BOMBS LEFT IN SACHELS, OBVIOUSLY DESIGNED TO MAIM AND KILL INDISCRIMINATELY. WHILE THE NUMBER OF SUCH INCIDENTS.IS SMALL, THE FACT THT THEY OCCUR AT ALL IS WORRISOME. AS WE WOULD ADVISE ALL EMBASSY PERSONNEL AND VISITORS, WE MUST REMAIN ALERT. SO FAR, FOREIGN, INCLUDING U.S. TRAVELERS TO CHILE HAVE NOT BEEN SINGLED OUT BY TERRORISTS AND WE HAVE NO INDICATION THAT THIS WILL CHANGE. THE METRO (SUBWAY) SYSTEM IS WELL-RUN AND CONVIENT. BOTH FORMS OF TRANSPORTATION ARE ROUTINELY USED BY EMBASSY PERSONNEL. CERFEW IS IMPOSED FROM 0100 TO 0500 WEEKDAYS AND FROM 0200 TO 0500 WEEKENDS (FRIDAY AND SATURDAY NIGHTS). THAT MEANS THAT NEITHER AUTOS NOR PEDESTRIANS ARE ALLOWED TO BE OUT DURING THESE HOURS. EMBASSY SUGGESTS THAT DEPARTMENT PROVIDE GERSHMAN WITH RECENT TRAVEL ADVISORY ON CHILE.

E.O. 12356: N/A
TAGS: ES, SHUM, ELAB, PINS
SUBJECT: NEW YEAR BEGINS WITH SPATE OF POLITICAL VIOLENCE, CHIEFLY FROM THE LEFT

1. SUMMARY: THE FMLN'S CLARA ELIZABETH RAMIREZ FRONT (CERF) DEATH SQUAD HAS CLAIMED AUTHORSHIP OF FOUR POLITICAL MURDERS SINCE THE BEGINNING OF 1985. FOUR OTHER APPARENTLY POLITICAL KILLINGS TOOK PLACE DURING THE PAST TWO WEEKS AND ANOTHER PERSON WAS GRAVELY WOUNDED IN A FIFTH INCIDENT; WE SUSPECT THE LEFT IN AT LEAST THREE OF THESE FIVE CASES. END SUMMARY.

2. CERF: THROUGH COMMUNIQUES TO PRESS AND RADIO, ITS USUAL METHOD, THE CERF HAS CLAIMED AUTHORSHIP OF FOUR MURDERS:

--LT. JULIO CESAR CONTRERAS CASTRO, WHO CERF CLAIMED RESPONSIBLE FOR THE DEATHS OF STUDENTS, WORKERS AND FARMERS.

--MANUEL DE JESUS FLORES MATEO, LABELED THE "INDIO MATEO, THE TORTURER", WHOSE "HUNDREDS OF VICTIMS" ALLEGEDLY INCLUDED SALVADOR CAYETANO CARPIO, DIMAS ALAS (FPL FOUNDER) AND LABOR ACTIVIST ROBERTO SIBRIAN.

--JOSE ANTONIO LUNA PORTILLO, A NATIONAL POLICEMAN ASSASSINATED WHILE ON GUARD DUTY AT A FACTORY.

--ULISES ZUNIGA, ALLEGEDLY THE MEMBER OF A DEATH SQUAD.

3. PROBABLY THE LEFT:

--RAFAEL NAPOLEON PORTILLO PINEDA, ARENA PARTY MEMBER AND LANDOWNER FROM SANTA ANA. PORTILLO WAS KILLED BY 4 UNKNOWN ASSAILANTS ON JANUARY 4. THE VICTIM HAD NUMEROUS SLASHES ON HIS BODY AND WAS FOUND WITH A SIGN ON HIS CHEST STATING "FOR REPRESSION OF THE WORKING CLASS."

--DOMINGO AVILES, CONSERVATIVE PCN MAYOR OF SANTA ELENA (USULUTAN) WAS SHOT IN HIS OFFICE BY THREE GUNMEN JANUARY 8.

--JULIO CESAR CASTRO BELLOSO, FORMER COMMUNIST PARTY CENTRAL COMMITTEE MEMBER AND LEFT LABOR LEADER (USSS) WAS KILLED ON THE STREET NEAR HIS HOME JANUARY 11 (REFTEL). INACTIVE AND INVISIBLE FOR YEARS, CASTRO WAS NOT A LOGICAL PRIORITY TARGET FOR THE RIGHT, WHICH HAS MANY BIGGER AND MORE THREATENING TARGETS EASILY AVAILABLE. WE SUSPECT HIS CONTACTS WITH THE EMBASSY MAY HAVE PROVOKED THE LEFT TO USE HIS DEATH AS AN OBJECT LESSON FOR THEIR OWN KIND.

4. MAYBE THE LEFT:

--JOSE BALBINO ARTEAGA, ARENA CITY TREASURER OF SANTA TECLA, WAS KILLED AT A CROWDED BUS STOP JANUARY 12 BY THREE ASSAILANTS WHO ESCAPED IN THE CONFUSION. A NON-POLITICAL MOTIVE FOR THE KILLING WAS MENTIONED BY THE VICTIM'S SISTER, WHO SAID AN UNNAMED INDIVIDUAL HAD ALREADY THREATENED ARTEAGA'S LIFE OVER UNPAID DEBTS. PRIVATE EMBASSY SOURCE SAYS THIS IS POSSIBLE.

5. PROBABLY NOT THE LEFT:

--SIMON PARADA, MEMBER OF THE UPD POLITICAL COMMITTEE AND SENIOR ACOPAI LEADER, WAS LEFT FOR DEAD BY GUNMEN JANUARY 13 AND IS STILL IN CRITICAL CONDITION. ACCORDING TO THE PRESS, HE RECALLS BEING TOLD BY HIS ASSAILANTS THAT HE WAS BEING KILLED FOR HAVING ENCOURAGED THE EXPROPRIATION OF SMALL PROPERTIES VIA FINATA. HE HAD REPORTEDLY BEEN CONSIDERED FOR THE VICE MINISTERSHIP OF AGRICULTURE RECENTLY VACATED BY FORMER ACOPAI LEADER JORGE CAMACHO. THE ATTEMPT ON HIS LIFE MAY BE THE WORK OF RIGHTISTS OR, LESS POLITICALLY, OF RESENTFUL FORMER LANDOWNERS.

6. COMMENT: CLEARLY OR APPARENTLY POLITICAL VIOLENCE HAS PUT A BLOODY STAMP ON THE NEW YEAR AND THE BEGINNING OF THE ELECTORAL SEASON. CERF HAS STEPPED UP ITS DEATH SQUAD TERRORISM AND OTHER ELEMENTS OF THE LEFT, WE BELIEVE, ARE ONCE AGAIN STRIKING OUT AT CONSERVATIVE POLITICIANS AS THEY DID LAST YEAR. THUS FAR, VIOLENCE LOGICALLY ATTRIBUTABLE TO THE RIGHT REMAINS AT A LOW LEVEL, WITH NO DEATHS CLAIMED BY THE ESTABLISHED DEATH SQUADS. END COMMENT.

AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL is a worldwide movement which is independent of any government, political grouping, ideology, economic interest or religious creed. It plays a specific role within the overall spectrum of human rights work. The activities of the organization focus strictly on prisoners:

- It seeks the release of men and women detained anywhere for their beliefs, colour, sex, ethnic origin, language or religion, provided they have not used or advocated violence. These are termed "prisoners of conscience".
- It advocates fair and early trials for all political prisoners and works on behalf of such persons detained without charge or without trial.
- It opposes the death penalty and torture or other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment of all prisoners without reservation.

AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL acts on the basis of the United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights and other international instruments. Through practical work for prisoners within its mandate, Amnesty International participates in the wider promotion and protection of human rights in the civil, political, economic, social and cultural spheres.

AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL has more than 500,000 members, subscribers and supporters in over 150 countries and territories, with over 3,400 local groups in more than 55 countries in Africa, the Americas, Asia, Europe and the Middle East. Each group works on behalf of at least two prisoners of conscience in countries other than its own. These countries are balanced geographically and politically to ensure impartiality. Information about prisoners and human rights violations emanates from Amnesty International's Research Department in London. No section, group or member is expected to provide information on their own country, and no section, group or member has any responsibility for action taken or statements issued by the international organization concerning their own country.

AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL has formal relations with the United Nations (ECOSOC), UNESCO, the Council of Europe, the Organization of American States and the Organization of African Unity.

AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL is financed by subscriptions and donations from its worldwide membership. To safeguard the independence of the organization, all contributions are strictly controlled by guidelines laid down by the International Council and income and expenditure are made public in an annual financial report.

was concerned by reports from former prisoners that he had been confined to a punishment cell for several weeks.

Amnesty International continued to investigate the case of Gustavo Arcos Bergnes. A former Cuban Ambassador to Belgium, Gustavo Arcos was reportedly arrested in 1981 and sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment for trying to leave Cuba illegally. He had apparently made repeated attempts to obtain permission to leave the country to join his family. One of these attempts was reportedly in 1981 when his son, then living in the USA, was in a coma after an accident.

Amnesty International was seeking confirmation of allegations that several other people were in prison after being convicted of trying to leave Cuba illegally.

The organization was investigating the cases of Elizardo Sánchez Santa Cruz, Edmigio López Castillo, Luis Ruiz and Orestes Bautista González, who were all reportedly imprisoned for voicing opposition to the government.

Amnesty International was unable to confirm reports of executions in 1984, and was concerned by the lack of response from the government to inquiries about the imposition of the death penalty in previous years.

Dominican Republic

Amnesty International was concerned about numerous short-term arrests of individuals, some of whom it believed may have been held on suspicion of non-violent opposition to the government. The organization continued to investigate the cases of two men who "disappeared" following arrest in previous years.

Amnesty International issued urgent appeals following reports that more than 4,000 people had been detained and over 50 killed during demonstrations in various cities between 23 and 25 April in protest at government economic policy, particularly at sharp rises in food prices. The organization called for all those detained solely for exercising their right of peaceful assembly to be released and for the other prisoners to be charged and tried without delay, or released. Reports were subsequently received that all those detained had been released. In view of allegations that some of the deaths arose from deliberate, targeted killings of demonstrators by law enforcement officials, Amnesty International urged an immediate inquiry.

In June there was a series of arrests of trade union leaders and senior members of opposition political parties. Among them were Julio de Peña Valdez, General Secretary of the Central General de Trabajadores (CGT), General Union of Workers, and a former prisoner of conscience, and leading members of the Dominican Communist Party, including Narciso Isa Conde, its General Secretary, Juan Persia and Sully Suneaux. Amnesty International issued urgent appeals for them to be charged or released and for their protection in custody. The government replied that the trade unionists had been suspected of planning "an imminent attack against public order and security" and after investigation had been released. In August and November there were further reports of short-term arrests of trade unionists and opposition leaders.

Two trade union leaders detained on 8 May and held for some days – José Galván Alcántara and Arsenio de la Rosa Garadino – alleged that prisoners were tortured in the custody of the national police. They asserted that more than half the 93 prisoners they saw in detention bore marks of beatings, whippings and other forms of torture. They also denounced the prison conditions in which they were held.

Amnesty International continued to investigate the case of Luis Samuel Roche, a Haitian citizen who had been living in the Dominican Republic since 1963 as a refugee recognized by the UN High Commissioner for Refugees, and who had "disappeared" following arrest on 4 June 1982 (see Amnesty International Report 1983). The authorities maintained that an investigation had been conducted which showed that Luis Samuel Roche had not been arrested but reports continued to be received contradicting this. Amnesty International called for the inquiry to be reopened. The organization also continued to investigate the case of a Dominican citizen, Pablo Liberato Rodríguez, who "disappeared" after arrest in 1974 in San Francisco de Macoris.

El Salvador

Amnesty International continued to be concerned about massive human rights violations, including arbitrary arrest and prolonged detention without trial, torture, "disappearances", and individual and mass extrajudicial executions. Victims of such abuses by government forces, sometimes in uniform, and sometimes in plain clothes in the guise of so-called "death squads", have included people suspected of opposition to the authorities from all sectors of Salvadorian society. Students, university staff, trade unionists, politicians, displaced persons and those assisting them, as well as non-combatant civilians living in contested areas, appeared to have been targets during the year. Human rights workers were also subjected to arrest, short-term detention and harassment, in an apparent effort to obstruct their work and discredit their findings.

Amnesty International was also concerned about the continued apparent inability of the judicial system to investigate and punish violations of human rights. With only two known exceptions (one the case of four US church women killed in December 1980, in which five national guardsmen were eventually convicted in May 1984 after strong international pressure), the perpetrators of the many thousands of abuses which have occurred in recent years have not been brought to justice. In September President Napoleón Duarte – who took office in June – was quoted by the international press as acknowledging that "5,000 people who have disappeared in El Salvador are most probably dead", and that the murders of 40,000 others would go unsolved because "the state is incapable of prosecuting the criminals".

In the context of the continuing political strife and the state of emergency maintained in the country in recent years, Amnesty International has received reports of individual execution-style killings by opposition groups. As a matter of principle, the organization condemns the torture and execution of prisoners by anyone. However, after investigating thousands of killings of non-combatant civilians over the past five years, Amnesty International has concluded that most were extrajudicial executions committed by government forces.

On 5 January an Amnesty International press statement expressed concern at reports that the closing months of 1983 had seen a resurgence in the number of extrajudicial executions and "disappearances" carried out by regular military and security units, as well as by "death squads". Amnesty International believed that in most cases the "death squads" consisted of government security agents or members of the armed forces operating in plain clothes but under orders from their superiors. Amnesty International's statement drew special attention to the abuses directed in preceding months against academics. They included Dr José Guillermo Orellana Osorio, secretary of the Law Faculty of the National University, who was kidnapped from his workplace by men in plain clothes on 4 October 1983, and Dr Juan Francisco Aguirre, also of the Law Faculty, who was kidnapped as he left a class at the University on 23 November 1983. The body of Dr Orellana Osorio was found on 23 October 1983. He had been tortured and strangled. Dr Aguirre remained "disappeared" at the end of 1984. Amnesty International's press statement also reiterated its opposition to military aid which would be used in arbitrary arrests, torture, "disappearances" and extrajudicial executions.

In April Amnesty International submitted to the authorities its report Extrajudicial Executions in El Salvador: Report of an Amnesty International Mission to Examine Post-mortem and Investigative Procedures in Political Killings. The report was made public in May 1984. It found that many of the estimated 40,000 people killed in political violence in the preceding five years had been murdered by government forces who openly dumped mutilated corpses in an apparent effort to terrorize the population. The report included details of a number of reported extrajudicial executions where Amnesty International considered that sufficient information was already available for proceedings to be initiated against military and security force personnel believed to have been implicated, had the authorities the political will to do so. The organization considered that the "blatant failure" of the authorities to investigate these and other killings was one factor that suggested that it was: "the authorities themselves who lie behind the wholesale extrajudicial execution of people from all sectors of Salvadorian society." The report concluded with detailed recommendations regarding government responsibility for military, security and paramilitary units; judicial reform; forensic examinations; protection of independent human rights monitoring groups, and the functioning of the governmental Human Rights Commission. Amnesty International also presented its report and its conclusions to other governments and intergovernmental organizations, and to national and international medical and forensic pathology associations. They were asked to consider ways in which funding agencies might help provide facilities and improve the training of Salvadorian medical and forensic experts, to ensure adequate standards in the collection of data and the forensic examination of bodies after violent death.

In view of the May elections which led to a change of government in June, and as it had not received any response to its report, Amnesty International resubmitted the report to President Napoleón Duarte in November, together with a letter outlining Amnesty International's concerns under the new administration. The letter welcomed the new government's announcement that special investigative commissions were to be appointed to investigate human rights abuses in general, as well as a number of the more notorious cases of apparent extrajudicial execution. These included those of Archbishop Oscar Romero in March 1980, US journalist John Sullivan in December 1980, and 74 peasants reportedly killed by military personnel at Las Hojas, San Antonio del Monte, Sonsonate, in February 1983. However, the organization remained concerned that few details had been made public as to the terms of reference, powers and working methods of the commissions. Nor had information been made public about any findings, either in the specific cases announced by the President, or in those of thousands of Salvadorians who "disappeared" or were apparently executed extrajudicially in recent years, despite assurances by the President to some families that their relatives' cases would be investigated.

Amnesty International's November letter welcomed the disbanding of the intelligence section of the Treasury Police, a unit consistently implicated in reports of the illegal detention, torture and murder of suspected opponents of the government. However, the organization considered that the mere dismissal or transfer to positions abroad of officers implicated in serious human rights violations was a totally inadequate response and unlikely to prevent further abuses. Abuses should be properly investigated and perpetrators brought to justice. The letter also stated that continued reports of individual "death-squad" style extrajudicial executions and "disappearances", as well as of large-scale killings of non-combatant civilians, clearly indicated that the measures taken to improve the human rights situation had not been adequate. Illustrative cases of this nature listed in Amnesty International's letter included the reported killing in July of approximately 70 civilian residents and displaced persons in small villages in Cabañas and Chalatenango by the Atlacatl Battalion and other army units. Some of the victims, half of whom were children, had allegedly been tortured; others were said to have been burned alive.

Attacks were also reported in 1984 on the offices of the firm which handles public relations for the Christian Democrat Party, and on displaced persons in conflict zones who had assembled to obtain medical attention from the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC). Although no casualties were reported in the incident at the offices of the public relations firm – allegedly the work of "death-squads" – a number of non-combatant civilians died in five such attacks on displaced persons reportedly carried out by the armed forces between January and June.

During 1984 Amnesty International called for investigations into numerous reported "disappearances" and apparent extrajudicial executions by the military and security forces. They included Reynaldo Echevarría, a lecturer at the Universidad Católica Salvadoreña, Catholic University of El Salvador, and Reverend David Ernesto Fernández Espino, a Lutheran pastor working with displaced persons. Reynaldo Echevarría was reportedly shot dead as he arrived home on 3 October by a man in plain clothes who emerged from a vehicle of the type frequently used by some Salvadorian security units. Reverend Fernández Espino was allegedly last seen alive in the company of two uniformed men before he was found dead on 22 November near San Miguel. Two men – one a former soldier from the third Army Battalion in San Miguel – have reportedly since been detained in connection with the killing. Reverend Fernández Espino's face was reportedly almost unrecognizable, as he appeared to have been mutilated with a machete and shot in the head.

Amnesty International welcomed the release in October of 10 members of the Sindicato de Trabajadores de Empresa Comisión Ejecutiva Hidroeléctrica del Río Lempa (STECEL), the union of electricity workers at the Río Lempa power station. Amnesty International had taken up their cases for investigation because the legal time limits for hearing cases involving crimes against the state had been greatly exceeded. Although they had been held since 1980, they had never been tried or informed of the charges against them. Amnesty International called for an investigation of the prisoners' assertions that they had been tortured into making statements and signing confessions used as the basis of their detention. It also asked for those responsible to be brought to justice if the allegations were found to be true.

Amnesty International remained concerned at the continued detention of other prisoners without charge or trial under the terms of Decree 507 of December 1980 and Decree 50 of February 1984, both of which created a judicial framework, including a 15-day period of incommunicado detention, which facilitated human rights abuses such as "disappearance" and torture. Among the people held under the decrees for whom Amnesty International issued appeals during 1984 were 14 trade unionists arrested by the National Police at the January congress of a trade union confederation. A Mexican observer who was also arrested testified after her release that she had been blindfolded and subjected to intense psychological pressure during her three-day detention at National Police Headquarters. She said she could hear others being beaten, and that conditions at the unofficial detention centre were deplorable, with some 15 to 20 people packed into cells just 2m by 3m. Following international appeals the Salvadorians were all released by July. They stated that they had been subjected to mental and physical pressure, including torture, to make them confess to being members of an armed opposition group. In response to Amnesty International's initial expressions of concern regarding arrests, the Salvadorian Armed Forces Press Agency issued a news release accusing Amnesty International of conducting a campaign of disinformation against El Salvador. Amnesty International repeated its concerns regarding the arrests in a letter on 25 April to the then President Dr Alvaro Magaña, but received no reply.

In 1984 Amnesty International submitted information concerning reported human rights violations to international organizations, including the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights, the UN Working Group on Disappearances, the UN Special Rapporteur on Summary and Arbitrary Executions, the UN Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) and to the UN Commission on Human Rights (UNCHR) Special Representative on El Salvador.

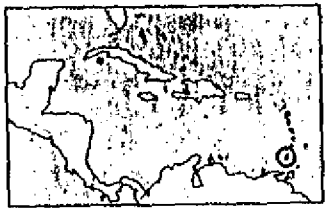
In its September 1984 report, the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights (IACHR) of the Organization of American States (OAS) stated that it had continued to receive complaints since President Duarte took office, although on a lesser scale, and that the Foreign Ministry had categorically rejected allegations that implicated the armed forces.

In his November 1984 report to the UN General Assembly, the UNCHR Special Representative urged the government to increase its control over the armed and security forces, including the "death-squads", in order to eradicate human rights abuses, and to take all necessary steps to prevent, investigate and punish such abuses.

In December 1984 the UN General Assembly deplored the "patently inadequate" capacity of the Salvadorian judicial system to investigate, prosecute and punish continuing serious violations of human rights.



Grenada

Amnesty International was concerned about the detention without charge of former members of the New Jewel Movement (NJM), the political party forming the People's Revolutionary Government (PRG) which governed the country from March 1979 until October 1983. Amnesty International also investigated the fairness of proceedings against 20 former PRG ministers and army officers charged with the murder of Prime Minister Maurice Bishop and others in October 1983. Some of the defendants alleged that they had been ill-treated in custody.

Maurice Bishop and five other PRG members were killed by members of the armed forces on 19 October 1983, following a dispute within the leadership of the NJM. The PRG was dissolved and a Revolutionary Military Council briefly assumed control of the government. This was overthrown after troops from the USA and six other Caribbean countries invaded Grenada on 25 October 1983 (see Amnesty International Report 1984).

By the end of December 1983 all foreign combat troops had been withdrawn from Grenada although some 300 US military personnel, including 150 military police, remained on the island. A Caribbean Peacekeeping Force (CPF) also remained with responsibility for security and policing. The CPF was composed of some 400 soldiers and police from Jamaica and Barbados, with smaller contingents from Antigua, Dominica, St Vincent, St Kitts and St Lucia. The Advisory Council of Grenada, an interim civilian government appointed by the Governor-General in November 1983, stayed in office until elections were held on 3 December 1984. These were won by the New National Party, a coalition of three centre parties led by Herbert Blaize, who had formed a government by the end of the year.

On 6 February Amnesty International wrote to the Chairman of the Advisory Council about the continued detention without charge of some 30 people. The detainees were former NJM members, most of whom had been arrested by US troops shortly after the October 1983 invasion. They were held at Richmond Hill prison under a Preventive Detention Ordinance of November 1983 which gave the Advisory Council the power to detain without charge any person who appeared likely to act in a manner adverse to the interests of public safety, public order or defence. Amnesty International asked if their cases had been considered by the Advisory Tribunal established under the Preventive Detention Ordinance to review cases within one month of detention. This tribunal was empowered to make recommendations only, and its decisions were not binding on the government; in AmnestyInternational's view this did not meet the standards for an independent review of the lawfulness of a detention required under Article 7 of the American Convention on Human Rights. Amnesty International urged the government to ensure that all those in preventive detention were promptly charged with specific offences and brought before the courts, or released.

Amnesty International referred also in its letter to reports that three detainees had lodged an official complaint alleging that they had been beaten by members of the Barbadian police force during interrogation in November 1983; one of the three alleged that he had signed a confession under duress as a result of ill-treatment.

No reply to Amnesty International's letter was received. However, 20 of the detainees were later brought before a court to be charged (see below).

In April Amnesty International appealed on behalf of 18 people still held in preventive detention, calling for them to be promptly charged or released. The detainees included the former manager of Radio Free Grenada, the PRG Commissioner of Prisons and the former PRG Health Minister. Amnesty International expressed concern that their cases had not been reviewed by the Advisory Tribunal, that they reportedly had difficulty gaining access to lawyers and that applications for habeas corpus brought on their behalf had been repeatedly

THE CONVERSATION ADDRESSED ACUTE PROBLEMS CONCERNING CESSATION OF THE ARMS RACE AND REMOVAL OF THE THREAT OF NUCLEAR WAR. THE SOVIET SIDE PARTICULARLY STRESSED THE IMPORTANCE OF PREVENTING THE MILITARIZATION OF OUTER SPACE. CERTAINLY, SINCE ALL THESE PROBLEMS DRASTICALLY AFFECT SOVIET-U.S. RELATIONS, THAT QUESTION RECEIVED

DUE ATTENTION DURING ALL CONVERSATIONS, FOR THE ENTIRE WORLD KNOWS WELL THAT THE SITUATION IN THE WORLD AS A WHOLE LARGELY DEPENDS ON THE STATE OF SOVIET-U.S. RELATIONS. THERE IS NO NEED TO SPEAK AT LENGTH THAT THE TALKS WERE NOT SIMPLE. HOWEVER, A CERTAIN STEP HAS BEEN MADE IN ESTABLISHING A DIALOGUE BETWEEN OUR TWO COUNTRIES, WHICH IS ATTESTED TO BY THE JOINT SOVIET-U.S. STATEMENT. WHAT IS TO BE NOTED IN THIS CONNECTION? THERE WAS AN INDICATION DUARTE TOO HAD BEEN PRESENT. THE MAJOR EFFORT WAS TO INDICATE THAT A NEW MEETING SHOULD TAKE PLACE SOON (MAINLY FROM THE JESUIT ADVISERS). THE VIEW WAS PUT FORWARD THAT THE LEFT HAD MADE ERRORS AT AYAGUALO AND THAT ANOTHER MEETING WAS NEEDED NOW. ONE PROPOSAL WAS TO HAVE A PURELY PROCEDURAL MEETING TO PREPARE FOR A POST-ELECTION SUBSTANTIVE MEETING. 5. A MORE SUBTLE APPROACH WAS TAKEN BY THE MEXICAN CHARGE WHO INVITED CHAVEZ MENA, ABRAHAM RODRIGUEZ AND ARCHBISHOP RIVERA DAMAS TO A DINNER ATTENDED ALSO BY A YOUNG MAN (PRESUMABLY FROM THE MEXICAN FOREIGN MINISTRY) WHO HAS FREQUENT CONTACTS WITH THE FDR/FMLN. WHILE THERE WAS MENTION OF ANOTHER MEETING SOON, ALL INCLUDING THE ARCHBISHOP, WHO CLEARLY UNDERSTANDS THE DUARTE VIEW, AGREED IT WOULD NOT BE LIKELY. STRONG EFFORTS WOULD HAVE TO BE MADE TO KEEP THE DIALOGUE ALIVE AND READY TO GO AFTER THE ELECTIONS. THE MEXICANS PUSHED HARD FOR A SECRET MEETING FOR CHAVEZ MENA AND RODRIGUEZ IN MEXICO CITY WITH UNNAMED FDR/FMLN TYPES. [redacted] SAYS RODRIGUEZ IS INTERESTED; HE SAYS HE IS NOT. [redacted] SUGGESTS THAT DUARTE INSIST THAT THE ERP AND VILLALOBOS (POSSIBLY) MUST BE PRESENT AT THE NEXT MEETING AND THAT DUARTE STICK WITH HIS LINE THAT THE GUERRILLAS HAVE TO BE READY TO AGREE TO SOMETHING ALL MAKE SENSE. [redacted] MADE A PARTICULAR POINT ABOUT THE SCHISM WITHIN THE FMLN REPRESENTED BY WHAT IS APPARENTLY AN ERP REFUSAL TO PARTICIPATE IN THE DIALOGUE. EL SALVADOR

The election of Jose Napoleon Duarte, inaugurated as President on June 1, 1984, represented an important step in El Salvador's five-year evolution as a democratic nation. Virtually the entire country of El Salvador has accepted the results as valid and the new President's authority as legitimate. Preparations are under way for legislative and municipal elections that will be held in March 1985. Although sharply divided on numerous issues, the political parties have respected the constitutional system.

The new Christian Democratic President faces formidable challenges: the country's violent history, a dedicated Marxist insurgency with strong ties to and material support from Nicaragua and the Cuban/Soviet bloc, a severely depressed economy, and still-weak institutions for public administration and the administration of justice. The greatest test to date for the cohesiveness of the new democratic system came in October when President Duarte announced his La Palma initiative for dialogue with the left in his speech at the United Nations General Assembly. The issue has been openly debated, and criticized or embraced, but Duarte's authority to conduct the dialogue, as long as it does not violate the 1983 Constitution by leading to power sharing with the armed insurgents on any basis other than electoral, has been unchallenged.

The new Government is working actively to end violence from both the far right and far left, to strengthen the rule of law and the system of justice, to pursue the dialogue with the armed left within a democratic, constitutional framework, and to restore economic growth while protecting social reforms. The military by and large has accepted that the Armed Forces are bound by the Constitution and must remain apolitical and non-partisan. During the presidential elections and in their relations with the new civilian Government under President Duarte the military has maintained its neutrality and has deferred to civil authority.

The country continues to suffer from an active insurgency with an estimated 9,000 - 11,000 guerrillas of the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front (FMLN), in conjunction with its political counterpart, the Democratic Revolutionary Front (FDR), a coalition of organizations led by Marxist-Leninists. The insurgent forces have the capability to conduct hit-and-run operations in areas of the country where the Salvadoran Armed Forces lack the resources to maintain a permanent security presence. The FMLN-FDR remains actively engaged in terrorism against both human and economic targets and committed to the overthrow of the constitutionally elected Government. The guerrillas' low level of popular support, however, coupled with declining morale, desertions, and lack of volunteers, have induced the guerrillas to resort to forced recruitment to augment their ranks. In addition the guerrillas have used terrorist tactics and destruction of civilian targets and infrastructure evidently in an attempt to coerce villagers into lending support to the FMLN-FDR or, at a minimum, intimidating the people into not reporting a guerrilla presence to government authorities.

Human rights conditions in El Salvador are strongly affected by the ongoing civil strife. The achievement of a stable public order sufficient to protect individual rights has been hatreds, acts of revenge, fear, and a prevailing uncertainty characterized by violence. This situation contributes to, and is complicated by, the ineffective operation of the judicial system, caused in part by corruption and intimidation. The Government has been working to unclog the court system, however, and has been at least partly successful in its effort to eliminate the backlog of state of emergency cases.

The Armed Forces continue to be accused of human rights abuses, but the focus of these allegations has shifted primarily to the killing of non-combatants by gunfire or aerial bombardment. Most of these accusations, however, originate with the guerrillas themselves or from sources close to and sympathetic to the guerrillas and are in most cases either exaggerated or simply baseless. The great majority of civilian battle deaths appear to take place almost exclusively in connection with operations against legitimate military targets where "masas" (the guerrilla term for their unarmed logistical support personnel) are present. Some allegations of gratuitous violence against civilians continue to occur, however. The Duarte Administration and the military High Command have both served notice that they expect all reasonable precautions to be taken to avoid the death or injury of innocent civilians. President Duarte has issued clear guidelines concerning the use of aerial bombardment in order to codify and strengthen existing rules of engagement.

The brutal phenomenon known as "death squad" assassination activity has not been completely extirpated but has declined dramatically, along with the overall level of civil violence. The best indicative data show civilian deaths to have declined from a level of 444 per month in 1981 and 298 per month in 1982, to 139 per month in 1983 and 46 per month for the second half of 1984, since Duarte took office. The far right extremist Maximiliano Hernandez Martinez Brigade has been silent and inactive in the past year; the Secret Anti-Communist Army (ESA) has issued occasional threatening bulletins, but has claimed authorship of only one killing and one bombing (no injuries) in all of 1984. Indicators and statistics from all sources reflect the dramatic drop in killings attributed to "death squad" activity, except those attributed to the far left Clara Elizabeth Ramirez Brigade.

Human rights abuses remain a central issue in El Salvador. However, there has been substantial progress in the past year. The security forces now provide human rights instruction to their trainees and a chaplain corps is being established for soldiers in the field. Despite occasional violations, the arrest and detention rules issued in December 1983 by the Minister of Defense are now by and large being followed. Accountability for and treatment of arrestees is greatly improved; credible allegations of torture are much diminished.

A prime contributing factor in human rights abuses is a generally inadequate judicial system. Lack of confidence in the availability of justice due to inefficiency, corruption and intimidation is a serious problem, prompting some in the populace to take the law into their own hands. The Duarte Administration is attempting to remedy this problem by strengthening the administration of justice and is implementing several initiatives begun under the previous Government. These include a revisory commission to review the justice system, a special investigative unit for political crimes and especially significant or notorious criminal cases, a forensic laboratory, and a judicial protection unit to shield participants in the judicial process from intimidation or injury. The judicial protection unit completed its first mission when it provided protection in May at the trial of the accused murderers of four American churchwomen.

The economic system underwent a dramatic reform in 1980 when the junta decreed land reform, nationalized the banks, and made cotton, sugar and coffee exports a government monopoly. For a variety of reasons, including the armed conflict, low world prices for El Salvador's export products, high fuel costs and the virtual collapse of the Central American Common Market, El Salvador's gross domestic product (GDP) has suffered a 25 percent decline over the past five years. This decline bottomed out in 1983, and a small increase in GDP is projected for 1984, but not in per capita terms. Foreign investment has yet to resume, domestic private sector confidence has not yet recovered to the point where major new investments are under way, and the economy remains dependent on external assistance.

RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS

Section 1 Respect for the Integrity of the Person, Including Freedom from:

a. Political Killing

Many violent deaths in El Salvador go unexplained; it is often impossible to distinguish those that are politically motivated (from either political extreme) from those which are disguised as such in order to evade criminal detection. Nonetheless, a substantial number of unexplained deaths, against the background of prolonged and bitter conflict, can be presumed to be politically related. While absolute numbers for such deaths cannot be determined, it is safe to conclude that those numbers rise or fall correspondingly with the level of overall figures for violent deaths. Death figures compiled from all press reports as violence level indicators since 1980 suggest political killings are now substantially lower than in the past. The trend is clear: late 1980 - over 800 per month; 1981 - 444 per month; 1982 - 298 per month; 1983 - 139 per month; January-June 1984 - 80 per month; and July-November 1984 - 46 per month.

The Duarte Government took steps to tighten discipline and control in order to deal with abuse of authority within the military and other security forces. Officers suspected of death squad type activity were removed from their commands. A key new position, Vice Minister of Defense for Public Security, was created to supervise and coordinate the operations of the security forces; Col. Rodolfo Revelo and Col. Rinaldo Golcher were appointed to head the National and Treasury Police, respectively, and those organizations show improvement in their respect for civil and human rights. The new director of the Treasury Police has disbanded its 110 member intelligence unit, long considered the source of many abuses. It is not possible to state confidently how much residual violence is attributable to individuals who are collaterally officials of the Government or its security

El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

In 1984 there was a sharp decline in terrorist actions for which death squads have claimed responsibility or which can be attributed to them. The Secret Anti-Communist Army apparently was far less active in 1984 than in late 1983, having claimed responsibility for only one murder. However, it did issue several threatening communiques and took responsibility for several victimless bombings. Another identifiable death squad, the "Maximiliano Hernandez Martinez Brigade," was apparently inactive during most of 1984, and a newly formed self-described death squad, "Special Command of the Domingo Monterrosa Barrios Brigade," issued communiques in December threatening to expose and execute leftists in the Government and to demand an explanation for the death of Lt.Col. Monterrosa.

Charges continue to be leveled at the Salvadoran Armed Forces for indiscriminate bombing attacks and gratuitous violence against innocent civilians. President Duarte has investigated some of the more sensational charges of massacres and has stated that he found them to be baseless. He has made it clear, however, that he will not tolerate the wanton use of violence against noncombatant civilians.

In contrast to the situation in the past, there is no credible evidence to suggest that violence against civilians is now even tacit Government policy, nor that its scale in any way approaches the claims of FMLN propaganda or the reports of some human rights groups. As far as can be determined, the majority of alleged civilian deaths stemming from military operations were actually guerrilla combatants. Most of the remainder were among the so-called "masas," the guerrilla term for their supporters who comprise the FMLN logistical support apparatus. These people, although themselves not usually armed, are often present with or near the guerrillas during combat operations, and in guerrilla installations which represent legitimate military targets and periodically come under Armed Forces attack. Sensitive to charges about misuse of air power, however, President Duarte and the military command have modified and strengthened the rules of aerial engagement to help ensure against its accidental or intentional misuse against civilians.

The FMLN-FDR continues to commit significant human rights violations. Some specific examples cited here and in the following section indicate the range of their terrorist activity, which includes kidnappings, killings, forced recruitments, and intimidation of the populace. In January an American citizen was shot and killed when the vehicle in which she was riding with her husband and two small children failed to stop at a guerrilla roadblock. FMLN mining of the runway of a civilian airport in March caused three deaths. According to witnesses, in February guerrilla forces massacred 29 captured soldiers in western El Salvador. An unarmed military judge was killed by would-be kidnappers when he resisted abduction. Two local Red Cross workers who were traveling in a Red Cross ambulance were killed by guerrillas. The Armed Forces of National Liberation (FAL) seized a San Salvador bank in August, killing a civilian guard. In 1984 leftist terrorists killed three retired army officers and three Legislative Assembly deputies; they attempted the murder of a fourth deputy, wounding him badly. According to press

In November and December anti-government terrorism increased dramatically. The left wing death squad "Clara Elizabeth Ramirez Front" claimed responsibility for the assassination of two U.S. Embassy guards, a Ministry of Justice guard and a civilian official of the National Electric company. Another guerrilla group, the "Raphael Antonio Arce Zablah Brigade" shot and killed two policemen on the street.

b. Disappearance

The number of press-reported civilian disappearances averaged 13 per month through November 1984, for a total of 137. This is well below the levels of 39 per month in 1983, 38 per month in 1982, and 160 per month in 1981. By comparison, Tutela Legal (the legal aid office of the Catholic Archdiocese) reported 107 civilian disappearances January - August 1984. Disappearances occur under a variety of circumstances. Newspaper and eyewitness accounts often describe "armed men in civilian dress" as perpetrators of seizures. Some persons reported to have disappeared are later found dead, others may be in hiding, and still others subsequently are found to have been apprehended and held in unacknowledged detention by security forces only to reappear in the criminal justice system. Under the arrest and detention procedural guidelines in force since December 1983, this latter problem has been reduced. This order requires security force members to be in uniform in all but a few cases and identify themselves while making arrests, and to notify the Armed Forces Chiefs of Staff, the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC), the Government's Human Rights Commission and the detainees' relatives within 24 hours of the arrest. The order permits incarceration only in official prisons and prohibits the use of torture.

Guerrilla units stage kidnappings for ransom or prisoner exchanges. Because the families of kidnap victims generally try to avoid publicity in order to negotiate their release, these kidnappings receive little media coverage. The guerrillas launched a systematic forced recruitment campaign in the spring, in which some 1500 young people of both sexes were abducted. The Church has taken public note of the events. In his homily on December 23, Auxiliary Bishop Rosa Chavez lamented the abduction for ransom by the guerrillas of civilians in the eastern part of the country.

Although most disappearances are routinely attributed by human rights monitoring organizations to the police forces, in the majority of cases it is not possible to substantiate an assertion of involvement by security or military forces in the disappearance. Similarly, it is impossible to tell how many disappearances are actually desertions of family, criminal acts, emigration (typically to the U.S. or neighboring countries), or enlistments into guerrilla ranks. Government policy, to which the chiefs of the security services are publicly committed, condemns violation of human rights via the disappearance of suspected subversives. President Duarte, who has long demanded that the security services act with complete legality, has said that he believes the disappearance problem to be vastly overstated.

c. Torture and Cruel, Inhuman, or Degrading Treatment or Punishment

Although it is difficult to gather hard evidence in torture continue to be reported, but they are fewer in number than in previous years. The Catholic Church's human rights office, Tutela Legal, asserts that while the number of cases of torture has significantly declined, the methods are more refined with use of electric shock, psychological torture and other techniques that do not leave marks. There have been repeated accusations of rape by captors.

Interviews with detainees and prisoners produce credible claims of torture or harsh treatment, especially during the initial stages of detention to extract confessions. For example, a university student who was abducted in August later turned up at National Police Headquarters showing clear signs of having been tortured. The policy of notification of families and the Human Rights Commission within 24 hours of arrest should, if adhered to, reduce opportunities for torture to occur. The new directors of the National and Treasury Police and National Guard have launched active campaigns to educate their police agents about the Government's policy against torture and cruel and degrading treatment.

According to the Ministry of Defense, 1168 guerrilla combatants and supporters voluntarily turned themselves in to the Government during 1984. An additional 1853 guerrillas and supporters were captured. After an initial debriefing by the intelligence section of the capturing unit, these guerrillas and supporters are transferred to one of the public security forces within 72 hours of capture by the Army. Once they have arrived at the designated security force headquarters, they are treated in accordance with standard arrest procedures including the notification of a family member, the governmental Human Rights Commission, and the ICRC. The prisoners are usually held in small groups for a 15-day incarceration in the security force headquarters. At the end of this period, the prisoner is assigned to an instructional judge under the provisions of Decree 50 as a person accused of armed subversion of the state.

The guerrillas have established a poor record for treatment of captured members of the Armed Forces. While ordinary soldiers are most often released within a few days of capture, officers and cadets are not, but are held prisoner for prolonged periods in order to be used by the guerrillas for later exchanges. Frequently, prisoners released by the guerrillas have exhibited signs of severe beatings, deprivation of food and similar treatment.

d. Arbitrary Arrest, Detention, or Exile

Arrests in El Salvador can be made by the security forces without a warrant. The disposition of arrested persons is determined by an instructional magistrate who, like trial magistrates at various levels of the judicial process, may decide on the release or continued detention of a suspect for additional investigation before charges are brought or trial begins. This principle applies to "political" and common crimes alike. In practice, it is impossible to say how many arrests are not based on reasonable probable cause, as even dismissal of charges at the instructional level often reflects either ineffective investigation or is a matter of convenience in an overburdened judicial system.

The Constitution provides for the suspension of constitutional guarantees in times of emergency. Special legislation provides for separate procedures and judicial handling of such politically motivated crimes as treason, sabotage, rebellion and participation in organized groups dedicated to the overthrow of the Government by use of force. Arrest for political beliefs, as such, is not contemplated in law and apparently does not occur. Some 2000 arrests have been made under state of emergency legislation.

Until February 1984, judicial disposition of these crimes was regulated by Decree 507. This legislation was replaced by Decree 50, which was designed to provide increased protection for persons arrested for state of emergency crimes. The Decree halved the periods of permissible detention before a defendant must be charged and brought to trial. If security forces hold a suspect for more than 15 days following arrest without consigning him to an instructional judge, they are in violation of Decree 50 and may be prosecuted for improper imprisonment. Persons arrested under Decree 50 once consigned to a judge may not be held without charge for more than 15 days unless further investigation is ordered by the investigating judge. Persons arrested have no right to counsel before charges are brought but may retain counsel as soon as charged or remanded to detention pending further investigation. Elevation of a case to trial ordinarily must occur no later than 75 days from the date of arrest by the security forces. Any delay beyond this period must be based upon a judicial decree that orders further investigation along specified lines.

Special Decree 50 courts were established immediately after the Decree came into effect, but caseloads, lack of resources and bad management of the system prevent their working as well as they should. Nevertheless, the entire backlog of Decree 507 cases in the instructional phase, which automatically fell under the procedural terms of Decree 50, has now been eliminated, by either dismissing charges (in the majority of cases) or elevating the cases to the trial stage. At present, 270 persons are charged and awaiting trial. The Decree 50 system does not safeguard against arbitrary arrest, but it does preclude prolonged arbitrary detention in "political" cases and provides a formal framework for due process.

In common criminal cases bail is available until sentencing, provided the offense involved is not punishable by more than three years' imprisonment. After arrest, the police may detain a person for up to 72 hours before bringing the case before an investigating magistrate for dismissal or provisional detention pending criminal investigation. In theory, the investigational phase may not last more than 87 days, after which the trial stage must begin or charges be dismissed. Legal detention may, however, be continued for further investigation if so decided by the trial judge or the appellate court. Again, the theoretical framework provides for protection of due process following arrest. In practice, violations of the system occur. If these violations constitute illegal detention, they provide the basis for prosecution of responsible persons on those charges. Prolonged detention is ordinarily the result of repeated extensions of the instructional phase, although the difficulty in coping with the backlog of cases confronting investigating and trial magistrates also plays a role in lengthy detentions.

The scope of the judicial reform project now under way w

El Salvador: Human Rights
Specia' Project (1993)

revisory commission in charge of the reform process was formally constituted by a presidential decree issued on August 24, 1984. This commission will undertake a diagnostic examination of the entire legal system, beginning with the area of criminal justice. Its objective is to revise the penal code so that it is consistent with the new Constitution and will thus examine existing legislation governing arrest and detention procedures, and propose its modification. The commission is made up of distinguished members of the bar and professors of law, all of whom have a broad comprehension of both Latin American jurisprudence and other systems of law.

In the past, clandestine jails were known to exist, but in 1984 the security forces claim they have been totally eliminated. Despite such claims, however, there were reports during 1984, of temporary detention at such locations. Most arrests are made by the National Police, which holds prisoners in group cells before they are either released by the investigating magistrate or transferred to a regular prison pending investigation of the accusations against them.

Conditions in the penal centers are generally good. Visitors confirm that these facilities are clean and well-run and provide the basic necessities. There have been no recent complaints of ill-treatment by prisoners once they are confined within these prisons. The National Police allow representatives from the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) unimpeded access to their detention facilities. The 360 male political prisoners at Mariona Prison and the 20 female political prisoners at Ilopango Prison, in fact, enjoy an extraordinary amount of freedom in their own separate section, to organize their own cultural, social and educational programs.

There are no legal provisions for exile nor for the revocation of citizenship.

e. Denial of Fair Public Trial

Trials of common or political criminals in El Salvador are neither denied nor unfairly conducted as matters of government policy. However the obvious inadequacy and inefficiency of the judicial system often prevents speedy and effective justice.

Incarcerated persons normally wait from 6 to 18 months before coming to trial while their cases remain open, theoretically under instructional investigation. In fact, of a prison population that fluctuates between 3,500 and 4,000 inmates, only 10 to 15 percent are actually serving sentences as opposed to awaiting trial. When finally tried, most can expect to have charges dismissed at the trial stage or to be acquitted, very often due simply to the poor investigative capacity of the police and magistrate.

At year's end, there was only one person actually serving a sentence for a state-of-emergency crime, a Costa Rican pilot convicted of running guns for the FMLN-FDR. Some 40 to 50 other persons have been convicted of crimes under Decree 507/50 provisions. These persons are normally accused of multiple offenses, usually sabotage or abetting guerrilla activities as well as membership in a subversive (FMLN-FDR) organization. In practice, the instructional phase normally convictions have been limited to membership in a subversive organization, punishable by imprisonment for not more than one year. Since time served in pre-trial detention is subtracted from the sentence imposed, the effect thus far has been the dismissal of all defendants.

Over the past ten years, the overall conviction rate has never exceeded 20 percent, and in 1983 it was only 14 percent. A few prisoners wait far longer than normal to come to trial. These are usually sensational or sensitive cases which remain under more or less active investigation in an effort to produce evidence for conviction. A good example is the case of ex-Major Roeder, a notorious kidnapper and extortionist who spent two years in detention awaiting trial. When tried, however, (and to widespread outrage) he was acquitted amid suspicion that he had bribed or intimidated the jury. Another example is the case of the STECEL electric union workers, freed in October 1984 after four years of detention prolonged in part because of problems in obtaining adequate legal representation and in part because of wide public opprobrium surrounding their case and the knowledge that a conviction was unlikely.

An effort to grapple with intimidation through the Judicial Protection Unit (JPU) is under study by the Ministry of Justice. It is intended to provide protection to judges, juries and officers of the courts in those difficult or sensitive cases in which intimidation could be expected to come into play. Although the JPU is not yet officially constituted, the Ministry of Justice has completed the preparation of regulations that will govern its activity and the unit should be activated in the near future. The Judicial Protection Unit had its trial run when it was temporarily activated to provide protection in the trial of the murderers of the U.S. churchwomen, which it did effectively.

One crucial component of the work of the Revisory Commission for Judicial Reform is the study of trial procedures, including rules of evidence. It will examine such elements as the extra-judicial confession. Many members of the Salvadoran bar consider such confessions to be inherently unreliable. They favor either outright elimination of confessions as evidence or at least strict measures to ensure the validity of confessions.

The judiciary is independent in theory and, for the greatest part, in practice. However, Supreme Court Magistrates and the Attorney General are chosen by vote in the Legislative Assembly after their candidacies are presented by the political parties. The nominations thus take on a high political coloration. This has had little practical effect on the administration of justice as a whole, but does come into play at the final appellate level. A greater threat to judicial independence has historically been the role of the military. Although it makes no effort to coerce convictions in either criminal cases (i.e. Roeder) or state of emergency cases (like STECEL), the Armed Forces have yet to embrace the principle that they are equal to other citizens before the law. Magistrates are reluctant to take on the responsibility of bringing charges against military officers or the police forces, the members of which cannot be relied upon to testify or otherwise to cooperate in prosecuting crimes allegedly committed by brother officers.

f. Arbitrary Interference with Privacy, Family, Home, or Correspondence

The Government does not interfere in personal life except in matters it considers related to the armed conflict. Both the Government and guerrillas use networks of informers. Phone numbers for making denunciations to the Armed Forces have been publicized (although little used), and security forces rely on informers and anonymous denunciations about alleged criminal and subversive activities. On the other hand, there is no campaign to coerce the public into acting as informants.

Members of the security forces use forced entry to carry out arrests and investigations. The official Human Rights Commission no longer maintains statistics on forced entry; other groups have never done so. The constitutional provision protecting the inviolability of correspondence is suspended under the state of siege. Postal officials have the authority to inspect correspondence and do so on occasion.

These provisions may be revised by the legislature (a representative and independent body) when it wishes. Thus far, they have been routinely extended, usually by unanimous vote, on a monthly basis.

Section 2 Respect for Civil Rights, Including:

a. Freedom of Speech and Press

State of siege decrees suspend the constitutional rights of freedom of speech and press but in day-to-day life are seldom invoked. Self-censorship out of fear of violent reprisal, both in the media as well as by individuals, is the leading constraint on free expression in El Salvador. Salvadoran newspapers publish communiques by the extreme left and right out of fear of reprisal.

The two leading newspapers in the capital are conservative, and criticism of the Government from a rightist perspective is vigorous and frequent. The papers frequently run international wire service accounts of controversial local events rather than rely on their own reporters, thus putting some distance between themselves and any criticism which might be generated.

Radio stations are much more vigorous in their pursuit of news, running a wider variety of stories than the newspapers. Radio not only has the best quality news, but also the broadest reach in Salvadoran society. Television devotes little time to news, but its independence and quality fall somewhere between the newspapers and radio stations.

The Government has recently begun to try again to enforce a 5-year-old decree forbidding the publication of anonymous communiques and statements. This was provoked by an announcement by the extremist organization which calls itself the Secret Anti-Communist Army "declaring war" on the La Palma dialogue process. Additionally, the Government has withheld advertisements by government agencies from one ultra-conservative paper because of its extremely anti-government editorial positions.

The publications of the Jesuit-run Central American University continue to criticize the Government from a leftist perspective. Their bi-weekly newspaper and bi-monthly journal, as well as other occasional publications, have made no secret of their philosophical support for the political leaders of the insurrection. In general their criticism shies only at supporting the violent overthrow of the Government. The press (including the conservative press) routinely accepts paid ads from leftist organizations expressing anti-government views.

Academic freedom is guaranteed by the constitution, and is, in principle, quite broadly interpreted. For example, as is the case in many Latin American countries, university authorities routinely assert that local police have no jurisdiction on campus. After having been closed for four years following violent clashes between "students" and the army, the main campus of the University of El Salvador was recently reopened. The rector has said in interviews that he considers political activism to be the duty of every student and that students are free not merely to study at the university, but must also make a political commitment. Arrests or penalties do not appear to be exacted on the basis of violations of limits on freedom of speech and press.

b. Freedom of Peaceful Assembly and Association

The constitutional right to free assembly and association is suspended under the state of emergency. The Government has reinstated the right of assembly for political parties and peaceful organizations, including church and labor groups, but not for the formal membership organizations of the revolutionary left.

Although now inactive, two FMLN-FDR member organizations are still recognized as legal parties, the MNR (National Revolutionary Movement) and the UDN (National Democratic Union, an explicit communist party front). Pro-left sentiments are also aired through the freedom of expression and assembly accorded to groups that refrain from explicit identification with the armed left. These include the "human rights" organization Committee of Mothers of the Disappeared and the left-dominated Unitarian Labor Movement of El Salvador (MUSYGES).

Salvadoran unions are free and independent from government control. There is no government-sponsored labor federation. The Popular Democratic Unity (UPD), a loose association of peasant organizations and labor unions, joined the Christian Democratic Party (PDC) in an electoral agreement during the 1984 presidential elections. This agreement, known in El Salvador as the "Social Pact," included a promise by the PDC to name UPD peasant leaders to top positions in all of the land reform institutions. Thus far, however, the UPD's presence in the Duarte government does not seem to have compromised the independence of the UPD member organizations. Rather, it has allowed those most affected by the agrarian reform to exercise direct control over agrarian reform institutions.

The Salvadoran labor code is being amended to reflect changes pertaining to labor in the 1983 Constitution and will recognize the right of peasants to organize in labor unions. Although the new Constitution continues to bar public represented by professional associations whose function is similar to that of unions. Wage increase demands by many public employees gave rise in early 1984 to a series of public employee strikes. Public employee strikes are illegal in El Salvador, but the Government adopted a largely conciliatory approach and ultimately enacted a 10 percent wage increase for all government employees.

El Salvador's labor organizations maintain close relations with most of the important international labor movements. FESINCONSTRANS, El Salvador's largest urban labor federation, is an affiliate of the Interamerican Regional Labor Organization (ORIT), the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions' (ICFTU) regional organization. Many of the member organizations in the leftist-led MUSYGES have loose links with the Communist-dominated World Federation of Trade Unions (WFTU) and have sent representatives to WFTU meetings in Prague, Havana and Mexico City in recent years. The four largest leftist-led unions of MUSYGES confederation all enjoy official legal recognition by the Government of El Salvador.

Nine members of the leftist-led Revolutionary Labor Federation (FSR, a member of MUSYGES) were arrested by the National Police in January 1984 for conspiring against the Government. Although the Government displayed evidence against them, most of the FSR detainees were eventually released from prison later that year. Two other leftist labor leaders were detained briefly under suspicion of subversive activities and then released.

There are several complaints against the Government of El Salvador pending before the International Labor Organization's Committee on Freedom of Association. Most concern the arrest of various trade union leaders (for example, the nine FSR members) and the search of trade union premises. All predate the Duarte Government.

Freedom of peaceful assembly is protected in article 560 of the Civil Code as long as the group requesting permission to hold a march or demonstration can demonstrate that it has a legitimate "particular interest" to represent. The Ministry of the Interior issues permits for these marches almost as a matter of course, although it has the legal prerogative to turn down any such request. Democratic unions, leftist labor groups, and anti-government demonstrators have demonstrated freely with National Police protection.

c. Freedom of Religion

Freedom of religion is constitutionally guaranteed in El Salvador and respected in practice. Although historically Roman Catholic, El Salvador has become increasingly multi-denominational, chiefly through the efforts of foreign missionaries now supported by numerous Salvadoran clerics. Although these missionaries generally operate freely and without harassment, some have become victims of violence. In one recent case a Lutheran minister was brutally murdered in eastern El Salvador. The alleged murderers have been arrested and are currently being held for trial.

The Catholic Church continues to be one of the most influential and respected institutions in the country. It [illegible] practicing notably on the need for peace and on human rights matters, from the pulpit and in its church publications.

Over the past year, relations between the Church and the Government, including the military and security forces have become less strained. Although the Church continues to decry human rights violations, it has on numerous occasions recognized the major improvements in the overall human rights situation. The Church's prestige was underscored when it was asked to coordinate and preside at the La Palma meeting between the Government and leaders of the FMLN-FDR. Despite the courageous role of the Catholic Church in moderating the dialogue between the Government and the guerrilla forces, the left and elements of the far right have attacked the Church and the Auxiliary Bishop personally for alleged bias.

d. Freedom of Movement Within the Country, Foreign Travel, Emigration/ and Repatriation

Although the state of siege decree formally suspends the constitutional right to free movement, this suspension is not invoked in practice. The continuing armed conflict has displaced an estimated 450,000 persons within El Salvador, primarily in the northern and eastern departments. Another 10,000 displaced Salvadorans live in camps outside El Salvador, primarily in Honduras. Thousands more are thought to be living in Mexico and elsewhere in Central America. Governments (including the Salvadoran), international organizations and private voluntary organizations assist the displaced. The Government has imposed no control on emigration and has assisted amnesty beneficiaries and detainees who wish to settle elsewhere after release. It assists the displaced persons and other individuals wishing to return to El Salvador to reintegrate into society.

Increased forced recruitment by the guerrillas in the northeastern part of the country has caused increased internal displacement and an exodus of Salvadorans who flee into Honduras and then attempt to re-enter El Salvador into government controlled areas.

Section 3 Respect for Political Rights: The Right of Citizens to Change Their Government

1984 saw El Salvador move further in its transition to an open, more participatory democratic system. It enjoys a directly elected legislature and directly elected presidency which may not constitutionally succeed itself. For the first time, a president was elected without the interference of the armed forces, who adopted political neutrality, sought to safeguard the process and renounced their right to vote in the election. The military has explicitly recognized the President's constitutional position as Commander in Chief of the Armed Forces.

Six parties have been represented in the legislature since the 1982 elections. They will run again in March 1985, when mayors will also for the first time be directly elected. Several small political parties are not represented in the legislature but have legal status and freely organize and publish. Right to membership in any legally recognized party is unrestricted.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Project (1993)

Two opposition parties of the left, the MNR (National Revolutionary Movement) and the communist UDN (National Democratic Union), are legally recognized but have chosen not to participate in the system. Both are member parties of the FMLN-FDR. The Constitution now permits the legalization of all political parties that do not advocate armed opposition, provided they meet the required minimum membership standards. The Government and the majority of the constitutional opposition have expressed support for the integration of the currently armed leftist groups into the system as disarmed, legal political parties.

Eight parties contested the first round of the Presidential elections held on March 25, 1984, following a prolonged and active period of campaigning. Despite administrative problems and guerrilla interference some 1.4 million votes were cast, representing more than 75 percent of the electorate. As no party obtained an absolute majority of the votes, a second round between the two most successful parties, the Christian Democrats (PDC) led by Jose Napoleon Duarte and the National Republican Alliance (ARENA) of Roberto D'Aubuisson, occurred on May 6, when over 1.5 million Salvadorans turned out to vote in the second round despite guerrilla threats and calls for a boycott. Procedurally, the election went more smoothly than the first round; Jose Napoleon Duarte, emerged as the victor with 54 percent of the popular vote.

The Salvadoran Government invited more than sixty nations and international organizations to observe the March 25 elections and verify their honesty, and approximately thirty nations' representatives returned to El Salvador to observe the second round. Most observers noted administrative problems in the March 25th round but all endorsed the fairness of the elections.

In both election rounds, guerrillas sought to disrupt the vote. Before the first round, they assassinated several political leaders, made threats and propagandized against the election. On March 25 guerrillas successfully blocked delivery of electoral materials to some voting locations, stole thousands of identity documents to prevent citizens from voting and caused a major power failure on election eve. In some cases, electoral materials had to be delivered in the dark, resulting in missing registry pages and other problems. This guerrilla effort to disrupt the voting process had little effect on the turnout.

During the second round, the guerrillas set off bombs in San Salvador, again stole identity documents and launched an attack on San Miguel, the country's third largest city. The Salvadoran Army thwarted the attack and voting proceeded normally in most of the country. In the second round, 46 small municipalities were unable to vote because of guerrilla activity.

There were some charges of political favoritism being shown by local military commanders. However, most proved false and the military in fact, with only negligible exceptions, lived up to its promise of non-interference and neutrality. Extensive offensive operations to prevent a major guerrilla disruption were conducted during both rounds. The strategy proved effective, although it exacted a toll of over 100 deaths of military personnel.

EL SALVADOR

Participation in the political system is not restricted on the basis of class, religion, ethnic background or sex. The members of the legislature and the memberships of the parties represent a heterogenous mixture of Salvadoran society. The President of the National Assembly is a woman and a member of a small opposition party in the Government.

The Government faces clearcut political opposition from the parties which lost in the presidential election, but which constitute a potential majority within the legislature. No coalition has emerged to dominate the political process from either side; many key votes now see ad hoc majorities develop for or against the Government.

Section 4 Governmental Attitude Regarding International and Non-governmental Investigation of Alleged Violations of Human Rights

The Duarte Government has been very forthcoming with visiting human rights missions, consistently providing information, making its officials available for discussion, and permitting the inspection of detention centers.

Human rights delegations who visited in 1984 include the Lawyer's Committee on Human Rights, Faculty Committee on Human Rights in El Salvador and Central America, Lutheran Church delegations, the United Nations Special Rapporteur on Human Rights, Americas Watch, Medical Aid for El Salvador, and the Unitarian Universalist Service Committee. Numerous U.S. Congressional and staff delegations have also looked closely into human rights matters.

Prisoners are interviewed on a systematic basis by representatives of the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) and the Government's Human Rights Commission. Both organizations are notified of arrests of political detainees. The United Nations Human Rights Commission's Special Rapporteur for El Salvador visited that country in September on a fact-finding tour in preparation for his annual report. As in previous years, he had access to high-level Salvadoran officials, including President Duarte and ranking members of the military and security forces. He had free exchanges with local human rights groups, visited Mariona and Ilopango prisons and was permitted to interview detainees. In his report to the UN, he noted the improvements in the general human rights situation over last year, praised the Duarte Government for its increased control over death squad activity and the improved criminal justice system, but expressed concern about civilian casualties from aerial bombardment by Salvadoran forces.

Various other groups have also visited, been granted interviews with Government officials and allowed entry into the prisons.

Amnesty International issued a report in May 1984 on extrajudicial executions in El Salvador based on evidence developed during a visit to El Salvador by that organization in July 1983. The report found that the historical incidence of such executions was massive and that Salvadoran procedures

Sources of information on political violence include newspapers, the armed forces, court records, human rights organizations, leftist organizations, and personal testimonies. Each of these is subject to limitations and/or biases. Government information on guerrilla casualties is subject to exaggeration. Court records list victims of violence identified by justices of the peace throughout the country. Most reports yield little information on the nature of political violence but, nevertheless, are useful in determining trends.

The official Human Rights Commission, composed of leaders of the Church, labor, private sector and the National Police, was established by the Magana Government to represent individual citizens' interests before the security forces and justice system. The Commission's relations with the Duarte Government and the military security services are good. During the first six months of 1984, the Commission dealt with 1,535 cases, including complaints and inquiries about disappearances, reasons for arrests, and interviews with detainees. The Commission found that 594 persons alleged to be 'missing' were actually under arrest in the instructional or trial phase of their cases; 142 persons thought to be under arrest had already been freed; 52 cases were provided urgent financial assistance while under detention; 24 persons alleged to be "missing" were actually cases of FMLN abductions; in two cases persons who were reported as missing were found dead.

Other organizations which report on violence, besides the government Human Rights Commission, include the Legal Aid Office of the Archdiocese (Tutela Legal), Christian Legal Aid (Socorro Juridico Cristiano), and the unofficial El Salvador Human Rights Commission (CDHES). In addition, the Center of Investigation and Documentation of the Jesuit-run University of Central America is a human rights information clearing house. These groups rely primarily on newspaper reporting, supplemented by other sources such as announcements by guerrilla groups and personal testimony.

ECONOMIC, SOCIAL, AND CULTURAL SITUATION

El Salvador currently has a per capita gross domestic product (GDP) of approximately $648. In 1983, agriculture accounted for about 21.3 percent and industry 15 percent of GDP. Before 1960, El Salvador's economy was almost completely dependent on a few subsistence crops and coffee. The creation of the Central American Common Market (CACM) in that year stimulated exports of manufactured goods to other Central American countries, and real GDP growth during the 1960's and 1970's exceeded 5 percent per annum.

Nevertheless, many years of neglect of the country's rapidly growing poor population, profound social inequities, and an inability of the country's public and private institutions to address structural disparities produced increasing political violence and terrorism during the 1970's. Despite a military coup in 1979, which brought to power a Government that implemented a series of sweeping economic reforms, political violence increased. The violence, in turn, contributed to further declines in living conditions for the majority of Salvadorans. Thousands were driven from their homes and those who remained suffered from a decrease in public services due to the violence and the Government's financial shortfalls.

Exacerbating economic problems brought on by internal violence were external factors such as the world recession, declining prices for the country's main exports, and sharply reduced demand from El Salvador's trading partners in the CACM. The combined results produced an economic crisis. Between 1979 and 1983, the country experienced a 25 percent reduction in real GDP, a 33 percent decline in exports, a substantial increase in unemployment, large-scale capital flight and a 75 percent reduction in private investment. Only in 1983 was this decline halted. A 2.8 percent annual rate of population growth combined with the highest population density in the western hemisphere (589 people per square mile in 1983) also limits economic opportunity for a large part of the population. The adult literacy rate is about 62 percent, and the primary school enrollment in 1981 was about 83 percent. In 1984, there are 69 infant deaths per 1,000 live births. Life expectancy is 64.5 years. The per capita calorie intake is about 89 percent of nutritional requirements. Limited access to education, health services, improved shelter, and a highly skewed distribution of income and wealth affect dramatically the nature of El Salvador's development.

A dramatic shift in the ownership of over 25 percent of El Salvador's agricultural land brought about under the Agrarian Reform Program has affected El Salvador's social structure. In March 1980, El Salvador instituted sweeping social and economic reforms designed in part to transfer ownership of farmlands from the small number of large landholders to those who worked the land. Under Phase I of the Land Reform Program, all farms of more than 500 hectares (1,235 acres) were converted into worker cooperatives to be managed jointly by their members and the Government Land Reform Institute until the cooperatives are able to manage themselves. The number of beneficiaries under Phase I is 31,359 families. The 1983 Constitution clarified Phase II by establishing a ceiling of 245 hectares (605 acres) that an individual may own, and by giving affected owners three years to sell property in excess of that limit to peasants, small farmers or peasant organizations. The state can expropriate, without prior compensation, any excess land not disposed of during the three-year period. Under Phase III of the Land Reform Process, farms previously rented or sharecropped could be claimed in parcels of up to seven hectares (17.3 acres) by the former renters or sharecroppers. By June 30, 1984, when the opportunity for presentation of claims ended 63,640 persons had filed 79,110 petitions for land under Phase III. Including family members, under Phase III more than 300,000 Salvadorans are now moving towards ownership of the land they work. Landowners affected by Phase III have resisted strongly, often with violence and forced eviction of beneficiaries. Many who have lost land are not wealthy, and there is some evidence that most violence and illegal evictions come from the owners of the smallest, not largest, farms. Many landowners have filed legal protests with the Government, thus contesting the claims and keeping the applicants from the land until the case is resolved. Peasant organizations have complained that the adjudication process takes too long and is too often decided in favor of the landlord.

Although the Government has traditionally supported, and continues to support, private property rights, compensation of former owners has been partial and paid very slowly, mainly because of lack of funds. To date, 256 Phase I properties out of 470 have been compensated.

Under the Constitution women enjoy the same legal rights as men. Women are represented in government in both elected and appointed positions. The President of the Legislative Assembly is a woman, seven women have been elected to the 60-member Assembly as deputies, and two women serve on the city council for San Salvador. Women hold positions of Vice Ministers of Foreign Trade, Public Works, Education, and Justice. Until recently, a woman was president of a major state bank and is currently serving in an equally important financial position. Women serve on the boards of directors of several banks. The majority of elementary teachers, nurses, and secretaries are women, as well as about fifty percent of the teachers on the high school level and between 30 to 40 percent of the university professors, and several deans.

Women also play a role in private industry, especially as owners of small concerns. There are women serving at higher levels, and several major companies are owned and operated by women. Women are well represented in the professions. About 30 percent of the physicians, 50 percent of the dentists and more than 30 percent of the attorneys are women. Women are members of the armed forces as nurses, in administrative areas and in intelligence. Some women have been trained for combat, but no decision has been reached as to whether they will be used in that role. The National Police is training women as detectives and has a corps of policewomen.

A high proportion of women in the lower economic strata are heads of single family households, often fending for large families. Seventy percent of the children in El Salvador are born out of wedlock and most are not legally recognized by their fathers even when occupying the same domicile.

GRENADA

Until December 1984, Grenada was governed by an Interim Advisory Council appointed by Governor General Sir Paul Scoon on November 15, 1983, to fill the vacuum created by events following the bloody internal coup of October 1983. The Advisory Council served as an interim government until national elections were held on December 3, 1984. In those elections, which were free and open and saw a voter turnout estimated at 85 percent, the New National Party of Grenada, led by now Prime Minister Herbert Blaize won 14 of 15 parliamentary seats.

After obtaining independence from the United Kingdom in 1974, Grenada was governed under a Westminster-type parliamentary system. The first prime minister was Sir Eric Gairy. Gairy was accused by his opponents of personal corruption, of rigging the 1976 elections, and of using violence to intimidate his opposition. On March 13, 1979 the New Jewel Movement ousted Sir Eric in a nearly bloodless coup and established the People's Revolutionary Government headed by Prime Minister Maurice Bishop. The People's Revolutionary Government (PRG) under Bishop promised to reestablish an elected parliamentary system and to uphold human rights, but did not fulfill those commitments. A single party government, the Bishop-led PRG suspended the 1974 Constitution, arbitrarily imprisoned political opponents, and curtailed press and other freedoms.

Long-standing divisions within the PRG's ruling elite broke into the open in September 1983 and on October 19 led to the murder of Bishop and a number of his cabinet members as well as an unknown number of other people. Under the titular leadership of army commander Hudson Austin, a new group calling itself the Revolutionary Military Council abolished the PRG and declared a 24-hour, shoot-on-sight curfew.

In the wake of this chaos and recognizing the breakdown in civil order that was taking place, Governor General Sir Paul Scoon, exercising his authority as head of state, appealed for help to other members of the Organization of Eastern Caribbean states, who in turn called on Barbados, Jamaica and the United States for assistance.

U.S. and Caribbean forces landed on Grenada October 25 and, after a brief period of combat, succeeded in restoring order to the island. The Governor General and the Interim Advisory Council he appointed on November 15 reinstated major portions of the 1974 Constitution, including its protection of fundamental freedoms and basic human rights.

During 1984, security in the country was maintained by a combination of Grenadian police personnel and a Caribbean Peace Force (CPF) composed of military and police contingents from neighboring countries, with United States military support. Training programs to create a Grenadian police force capable of maintaining law and order on its own began in 1984.

At the end of 1984, there were no persons detained without charges. The press was free. The political party spectrum included a moderate center, the remnants of the leftist New Jewel Movement and a party led by former Prime Minister Gairy who had been overthrown in 1979. A wide variety of religions

AND TECHNICIANS OF EL SALVADOR, IS AN FDR MEMBER ORGANIZATION WHICH HAS PUBLICLY REEMERGED AFTER A LONG PERIOD OF DORMANCY. REPORTEDLY HEADED BY FDR VICE PRESIDENT EDUARDO CALLES SALGUERRO, MIPTES MEMBERS ARE TOUTED AS THE "THINKERS" OF THE FDR, AND INCLUDED IN THEIR RANKS ARE A FAIRLY SIZEABLE NUMBER OF PROFESSORS AT THE NATIONAL UNIVERSITY AND THE JESUIT-RUN CENTRAL AMERICAN UNIVERSITY (UCA). OVERSEAS MIPTES MEMBERS ACT AS CLANDESTINE "AMBASSADORS" FOR THE FDR/FMLN POSITION. ACCORDING TO A LEFTIST CONTACT WHO HAS REPORTED RELIABLY IN THE PAST, MIPTES HAS APPROXIMATELY 1,000 MEMBERS, ABOUT HALF OF WHOM ARE IN EL SALVADOR AT THE PRESENT TIME. THIS SAME SOURCE ALLEGED THAT POLOFFS KNEW SOME OF THE MEMBERS OF MIPTES PERSONALLY, BUT DID NOT NAME NAMES. A PAIR OF NAMES APPEARED AT THE BOTTOM OF TWO MIPTES ADVERTISEMENTS PUBLISHED IN THE LOCAL PRESS, JORGE GARCIA GOMEZ AND FRANCISCO ANTONIO CANAS; WE ARE ATTEMPTING TO DEVELOP SOME INFORMATION ON THEM.

3. [redacted] AS PART OF ITS RETURN TO THE SALVADORAN POLITICAL SCENE, MIPTES WAS REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN INVOLVED IN AN APPARENTLY UNSUCCESSFUL EFFORT IN EARLY DECEMBER 1984 TO SET UP A CONGRESS OF POLITICAL PARTIES, HUMAN RIGHTS [redacted]

GROUPS, AND UNIONS TO ESTABLISH A WATCH DOG COMMITTEE TO DENOUNCE CORRUPTION, HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES, AND SOCIAL INJUSTICES. ALSO AMONG THE RINGLEADERS OF THIS EFFORT WERE FELLOW FDR COMPONENT GROUPS THE MNR AND THE MPSC (POPULAR SOCIAL CHRISTIAN MOVEMENT). THE LATTER WERE ASSISTING THE MIPTES ORGANIZERS IN THEIR EFFORTS TO ENLIST THE PARTICIPATION OF THE PDC AND AD, ALONG WITH THE USUAL ARRAY OF LEFTIST FRONT GROUPS (THE MOTHERS, CODEFAM, COHES UNOFFICIAL, AND MUSYGES) AS WELL AS DEMOCRATIC LABOR ORGANIZATIONS. THE CONGRESS WAS REPORTEDLY TO BE HEADED BY THREE MEN: RAMON MAYORGA QUIROS, A FORMER RECTOR OF UCA AND A MEMBER OF THE FIRST REVOLUTIONARY JUNTA; ALBERTO ARENE, EXPELLED FROM THE PDC IN MARCH 1980 FOR HIS MARXIST VIEWS AND FOUNDER OF THE MPSC WITH RUBEN ZAMORA; AND ROGELIO RODRIGO MONTERROSA SICILIA.

4. [redacted] WE HEARD THAT MIPTES ENDED THEIR CLANDESTINE STATUS BY OPENING A LEGAL OFFICE IN DOWNTOWN SAN SALVADOR TO HELP THEM ORGANIZE THE CONGRESS DESCRIBED ABOVE. WHEN POLOFFS VISITED THE SITE DESCRIBED TO US, THEY DID FIND A "LEGAL OFFICE" IN THE SENSE THAT THEY FOUND ROGELIO RODRIGO MONTERROSA SICILIA'S LAW OFFICE. IT WAS NOT, HOWEVER, IN THE STRICT SENSE A "MIPTES" OFFICE. IF MIPTES IS TRYING TO ESTABLISH OR RE-ESTABLISH AN IN-COUNTRY POLITICAL BASE FOR THE FDR AND ATTRACT

HAS TAKEN THE LEFT'S POSITION TO THE PUBLIC IN A SERIES OF PROVOCATIVE PAID ADVERTISEMENTS (ALL OF WHICH CLEARLY LABEL MIPTES AS A MEMBER OF THE FDR) PLACED IN THE LOCAL DAILY EL MUNDO SINCE MID-NOVEMBER (REFTEL A). DURING THE NON-GOVERNMENTAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION (CDHES) HUMAN RIGHTS CONGRESS OF 21-23 NOVEMBER (REFTEL B), MIPTES PUBLISHED FOUR ADVERTISEMENTS SUPPORTING THE CONGRESS, PROTESTING "INDISCRIMINATE BOMBINGS", HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, AND FOREIGN INTERFERENCE IN EL SALVADOR. THEY ALSO DEMANDED FREEDOM FOR POLITICAL [redacted]

PRISONERS AND A CLARIFICATION OF THE SITUATION OF THE "DISAPPEARED", QUOTING THE PROPAGANDA PUT OUT BY THE MOTHERS COMMITTEE AND CDHES (NON-GOVERNMENTAL.)

6. (U) ON 27 NOVEMBER, 1984, MIPTES COMMEMORATED THE ASSASSINATION OF FOUR FDR EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEMBERS 27 NOVEMBER 1980 BY PUBLISHING AN ADVERTISEMENT "EXPLAINING" THAT THE FDR/FMLN HAD ALWAYS BEEN SUPPORTIVE OF A NEGOTIATED SOLUTION TO THE CONFLICT, BUT THAT

THE GOES HAD ALWAYS RESPONDED BY ESCALATING THE WAR. THEY CONTINUED THAT IF PRESIDENT DUARTE WANTED TO CONVINCE THEM (MIPTES AND, PRESUMABLY, THE THOUSANDS OF SALVADORANS MIPTES CLAIMS TO REPRESENT) THAT EL SALVADOR HAS INDEED CHANGED, HE SHOULD PROSECUTE THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE ASSASSINATION OF THE FOUR FDR MEMBERS AND ALSO THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE ASSASSINATIONS OF "THOUSANDS OF OTHER SALVADORANS."

7. (U) ON 29 NOVEMBER, THE DAY BEFORE THE SECOND DIALOGUE MEETING TOOK PLACE AT AYAGUALO, MIPTES PUBLISHED A LONG IDEOLOGICAL PIECE OF WHICH THE MAIN THRUST WAS TO QUESTION PRESIDENT DUARTE'S SINCERITY IN HIS CALLS FOR PEACE THROUGH DIALOGUE, AND HIS COMMITMENT TO HELPING THE POOR AND ENDING DEATH SQUADS AND HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. THE AD ALLEGED THAT ONLY FDR/FMLN AND POPULAR PRESSURE "FORCED" DUARTE TO BEGIN THE DIALOGUE, AND THAT ONLY THE CONTINUATION OF THAT PRESSURE WILL MAKE FURTHER PROGRESS POSSIBLE. PRESIDENT DUARTE'S COMMITMENT TO BETTERING THE LOT OF THE POOR WAS QUESTIONED THROUGH A LONG EXPOSITION OF HOW HIS POLICIES HAVE ASSISTED PRIVATE ENTERPRISE THROUGH FISCAL AND OTHER INCENTIVES DESIGNED TO GAIN THE SUPPORT OF THE RICH. THE PRESIDENT'S COMMITMENT TO ABOLISHING [redacted]

THE DEATH SQUADS AND HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS ALSO CAME UNDER FIRE "GIVEN" THE "CONTINUING" BOMBINGS, MASSACRES AND MURDERS PERPETRATED BY THE GOES FORCES THEMSELVES. MIPTES ALSO ASKED HOW DUARTE COULD PORTRAY HIMSELF AS IN FAVOR OF PEACE WHEN HIS DEFENSE BUDGET WAS EVER INCREASING IN SIZE. (COMMENT: THE AD ECHOED THE UCA LINE THAT 40 OF THE GOES EXPENDITURES WENT TOWARDS THE WAR. ACCORDING TO PRESS REPORTS OF THE PROPOSED 1985 BUDGET, HOWEVER, THE MINISTRY OF DEFENSE RECEIVES 21 OF THE BUDGETARY FUNDS. IF THE ALLOTMENT FOR PUBLIC SECURITY IS ADDED TO THE ABOVE, THE TOTAL PERCENTAGE OF THE "WAR BUDGET" IS APPROXIMATELY 27.7 OF THE TOTAL TENTATIVE GOES BUDGET FOR 1985. END COMMENT.)

8. (U) ON 13 DECEMBER, 1984, MIPTES PUBLISHED TWO MORE ADVERTISEMENTS. ONE WAS A SHORT PIECE SUPPORTING THE HUNGER STRIKE SPONSORED BY COPPES, THE POLITICAL PRISONER ORGANIZATION IN MARIONA AND ILOPANGO PRISONS. ACCORDING TO THE AD, COPPES HAD ORGANIZED 25 PRISONERS FOR THE HUNGER STRIKE WHICH BEGAN 30 NOVEMBER. THEIR DEMANDS WERE RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS AND FREEDOM FOR THE "400 POLITICAL PRISONERS" IN EL SALVADOR. THE SECOND MIPTES AD OF 13 DECEMBER WAS A REPRINT OF THE ENTIRE FDR/FMLN PROPOSAL OF 30 NOVEMBER AT AYAGUALO.

THEIR POSITION AFTER THE AYAGUALO TALKS. THEIR EXPOSITION HAD FIVE MAIN POINTS: 1) THE GOES PROPOSAL PRESENTED AT LA PALMA WAS TOO SIMPLISTIC. NOT ONLY DID IT NOT DEAL WITH THE ROOTS OF THE CONFLICT, IT DID NOT ACKNOWLEDGE THAT THE CONDITIONS WHICH CAUSED THE WAR STILL CONTINUE. DUARTE'S PROPOSAL MERELY ASKED THE FDR/FMLN TO SURRENDER SO THAT DUARTE COULD PACIFY

2) THE FDR/FMLN PROPOSAL SPEAKS FOR THE PEOPLE AND ADDRESSES THE "ROOTS OF THE CRISIS:INJUSTICE AND LACK OF DEMOCRACY." THEY REPEATED THAT ONLY FDR/FMLN AND POPULAR PRESSURE HAD BROUGHT ABOUT THE MEETING AT LA PALMA, AND THAT ONLY THE CONTINUATION OF THAT PRESSURE WOULD GUARANTEE PROGRESS. 3) THE FDR/FMLN HAD GIVEN SIGNS OF GOOD FAITH SUCH AS THE AGREEMENT TO ALLOW FREE TRANSIT ON THE ROADS, THE "UNILATERAL" END-OF-YEAR HOLIDAY CEASE-FIRE, AND THE RELEASE OF THE 43 POWS [redacted]

(FOR A CLAIMED TOTAL OF 2,000 POWS RELEASED IN 1984).
4) DUARTE IS NOT SINCERE IN HIS TALK OF PEACE, HE IS ONLY INTERESTED IN GAINING VOTES FOR HIS PARTY IN THE MARCH ELECTIONS, TO BETTER SERVE U.S. INTERESTS.
5) THEY SUPPORT A NEGOTIATED SOLUTION ON THE BASIS OF THE FDR/FMLN PROPOSAL, AND FEEL THAT IT IS ESSENTIAL THAT POPULAR AND FDR/FMLN PRESSURE CONTINUE IN ORDER TO FORCE PROGRESS ON THE DIALOGUE ISSUE.

10. (U) ON 5 JANUARY, 1985, A MIPTES AD CARRIED AN FDR/FMLN COMMUNIQUE ON DIALOGUE. THE COMMUNIQUE CALLED THE MEETING AT AYAGUALO AN ADVANCE, BUT LABELED DUARTE'S REJECTION OF THEIR PROPOSAL "PRECIPITOUS", AND DISMISSED HIS CONTENTION THAT THE PROPOSAL COULD NOT BE RECONCILED WITH THE CONSTITUTION. THE PRESIDENT'S POSITION, THE STATEMENT CONTINUED, "CAST A SHADOW" ON THE POSSIBILITIES FOR PEACE AND "REINFORCED" THE "REACTIONARY SECTORS" OF PRIVATE ENTERPRISE AND THE ARMY. THE COMMUNIQUE LABLED PRESIDENT DUARTE'S REJECTION OF THE CONCEPT OF UNITING THE "TWO ARMIES" AS UNREALISTIC, AND ACCUSED HIM OF TRYING TO IMPOSE HIS PEACE PLAN ON THE "PEOPLE". THE FDR/FMLN ALSO CLAIMED THAT THE OLIGARCHY HAS "UNLEASHED" ITS FORCES AGAINST DIALOGUE, AND CITED D'AUBUISSON'S CONGRATULATIONS TO DUARTE ON HAVING REJECTED THEIR PROPOSAL AS PROOF OF THIS. THE COMMUNIQUE CLOSED BY CLAIMING THAT DUARTE WAS "MAKING A BIG MISTAKE" BY SUBORDINATING THE WILL OF THE PEOPLE FOR DIALOGUE TO THE INTERESTS OF THE OLIGARCHY, AND REAFFIRMED THEIR SERIOUS DESIRE FOR PEACE AS A POINT OF CONTRAST. IN SUPPORT OF THEIR CLAIMS TO BE PEACE LOVING, THE FDR/FMLN CITED THE RELEASE OF THE 42 POWS CAPTURED AT EL SALTO, LA PAZ DEPARTMENT ON 4 DECEMBER 1984, TO THE CATHOLIC CHURCH AND [redacted]

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE INTERNATIONAL RED CROSS ON 11 DECEMBER. THE CONCLUDING PARAGRAPH IS AN EXHORTATION TO ACTION AND PARTICIPATION IN THE DIALOGUE PROCESS. STRONGLY REMINISCENT OF THE FDR/FMLN CALLS FOR PARTICIPATION OF A "FORO POPULAR" IN THE DIALOGUE.

11. (U) COMMENT: THIS LAST SALLY IS A BIT OF A FIRST. HERE MIPTES IS NOT JUST REGURGITATING FDR/FMLN VIEWS, BUT IS PUBLISHING AN FDR/FMLN DOCUMENT, IDENTIFIED AS SUCH, AND INTENDED TO SERVE AS A MEANS OF DIRECT, NON-CLANDESTINE COMMUNICATION BETWEEN THE ARMED LEFT AND THE PUBLIC. MIPTES ACTIVITIES ARE PART AND PARCEL OF THE FDR/FMLN TALK-FIGHT-AGITATE STRATEGY, AND ARE INTENDED TO TEST THE ELBOW ROOM AVAILABLE FOR LEGAL AGITATION AND THE GOES SUSCEPTIBILITY TO PROVOCATION, WITH THE APPARENT OBJECTIVE OF REESTABLISHING AN IN-COUNTRY POLITICAL BASE FOR THE FDR. THEIR ACTIVITIES CONSTITUTE ADDITIONAL EVIDENCE THAT THE LEFT IS ATTEMPTING UNILATERALLY TO IMPLEMENT THE FIRST PHASE OF THE DEMANDS IT PUT ON THE TABLE AT AYAGUALO, WHICH WOULD HAVE PERMITTED THE LEFT TO OPEN A FULL POLITICAL FRONT UNDER THE PROTECTION OF THE GOES, WHILE WAGING WAR AGAINST IT IN THE COUNTRYSIDE. MIPTES IS, IN EFFECT, TAKING ADVANTAGE OF THE PROTECTIONS THE SYSTEM OFFERS TO WORK TO UNDERMINE AND DESTROY THAT SAME SYSTEM. THE GOES HAS CHOSEN TO DISPLAY RESTRAINT, AND APPARENT

SUBJECT: 41ST SESSION UN HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION:
- HUMAN RIGHTS RESOLUTION ON CHILE

REF: GENEVA 1281 (NOTAL)

IN RESPONSE TO REFTEL, DEPT PROVIDING FOLLOWING UNCLASSIFIED INFORMATION ON CURRENT SITUATION IN CHILE:

-- WE SHARE THE CONCERNS OF OTHER DEMOCRACIES OVER RECENT EVENTS IN CHILE. OUR POLICIES MUST BE DESIGNED TO TRY TO IMPROVE BOTH THE IMMEDIATE SITUATION AND THE LONGER TERM PROSPECTS FOR A PEACEFUL TRANSITION TO DEMOCRACY.

-- THE OBJECTIVE OF THE U.S. GOVERNMENT IS TO PROMOTE THE RESTORATION OF DEMOCRACY BY ENCOURAGING PRO-TRANSITION FORCES IN THE GOVERNMENT AND PRO-NEGOTIATION FORCES IN

THE OPPOSITION TO REACH A CONSENSUS ON A TRANSITION TIMETABLE. WE REALIZE THAT WE CANNOT BRING ABOUT A TRANSITION TO DEMOCRACY IN CHILE; OUR APPROPRIATE ROLE IS TO DO WHAT WE CAN TO HELP THE CHILEANS THEMSELVES ACHIEVE THEIR OWN TRANSITION. WE ARE PREPARED TO SUPPORT

n/a
UNCLASSIFIED

WHATEVER ARRANGEMENTS THE GOVERNMENT AND THE VARIOUS PARTIES AGREE UPON.

-- ON THE KEY ISSUE OF THE STATE OF SIEGE, WE HAVE QUESTIONED PUBLICLY AND PRIVATELY WHETHER THE STATE OF SIEGE WAS JUSTIFIED AND CALLED FOR IT TO BE LIFTED. IN THE AREA OF HUMAN RIGHTS PRACTICES, IN ADDITION TO OUR STATEMENTS ON INDIVIDUAL CASES AND EVENTS, OUR REPORT TO OUR CONGRESS ON HUMAN RIGHTS PRACTICES THROUGHOUT THE WORLD IS FRANK IN DETAILING THE DETERIORATION THAT HAS OCCURRED IN CHILE IN RECENT MONTHS AS A RESULT OF ACTIONS BY BOTH THE GOVERNMENT AND THE COMMUNIST PARTY-BACKED TERRORISTS.

-- THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT'S POSITION IS THAT IT MUST FIRST DEFEAT THE TERRORISTS, THEN BEGIN THE TRANSITION PROCESS. WE DISAGREE. IT HAS BEEN OUR EXPERIENCE THAT SUCCESSFUL TRANSITIONS TO DEMOCRACY ARE THOSE WHERE THE TWO ISSUES OF SECURITY AND DEMOCRACY ARE ADDRESSED SIMULTANEOUSLY.

-- BASED ON THIS EXPERIENCE, SUPPORT FOR ESTABLISHMENT OF A DIALOGUE ON TRANSITION IS THE PRIMARY FOCUS OF OUR DIPLOMATIC EFFORTS. THESE EFFORTS ARE DIRECTED AT BOTH THE MILITARY AND THE OPPOSITION.

-- THE PROBLEM IN CHILE IS NOT JUST PINOCHET. IF THERE

WERE A WIDESPREAD CONSENSUS AMONG THE POLITICAL OPPOSITION ON THE TRANSITION, THE CHILEAN MILITARY WOULD PROBABLY HAVE TO ACCOMMODATE THIS PRESSURE. IN THE ABSENCE OF SUCH PRESSURE, THE MILITARY ARE ABLE TO PURSUE THEIR OWN AGENDA AND INSIST ON THEIR OWN TIMETABLE. AT THE SAME TIME, THE COMMUNISTS ARE WORKING TO ENSURE THAT MODERATION BY THE MILITARY AND THE OPPOSITION DOES NOT TAKE PLACE.

-- THE NEXT FEW MONTHS ARE GOING TO BE DIFFICULT. WE BELIEVE THAT THE COMMUNISTS WILL CONTINUE TO ESCALATE TERRORIST ACTIVITY. THEY DO NOT WANT THE STATE OF SIEGE LIFTED. THEY WANT TO POLARIZE THE SITUATION.

- WE HAVE MADE THIS POINT TO THE GOVERNMENT OF CHILE. HOWEVER, THE MILITARY CONTINUES TO BELIEVE THAT ONLY THROUGH TOUGH SECURITY MEASURES CAN THE SITUATION BE CONTROLLED. THEIR INCLINATION IS TO MAINTAIN THE STATE OF SIEGE. THIS INEVITABLY LEADS TO HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES

AND FAILURE TO DISTINGUISH BETWEEN THE LEGITIMATE OPPOSITION AND THE TERRORIST ELEMENT.

-- WE HAVE INDICATED TO THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT THAT DEALING ONLY WITH THE TERRORIST THREAT WITHOUT SIMULTANEOUSLY PROGRESSING TOWARD A POLITICAL TRANSITION IS TO LET THE COMMUNISTS DEFINE THE RULES OF THE GAME. WE HAVE URGED THE GOVERNMENT TO DEFINE THE TRANSITION PROCESS TOGETHER WITH THE DEMOCRATIC POLITICAL GROUPS AND TO MOVE FORWARD REGARDLESS OF HOW HARD THE COMMUNISTS TRY TO DERAIL THE PROCESS.

-- WE URGE OTHER DEMOCRACIES TO USE WHATEVER CONSTRUCTIVE LEVERAGE THEY MAY HAVE TO HELP BRING ABOUT A DIALOGUE LEADING TOWARD RESTORATION OF DEMOCRACY IN CHILE.

INCREASING MEDIA ATTENTION. IN PARTICULAR, SEIZURES OF MARIJUANA ABOARD JAMAICAN AIRLINERS BY U.S. CUSTOMS (AND SUBSEQUENT FINES) HAVE RESULTED IN STRONGLY WORDED EDITORIALS IN BOTH THE DAILY GLEANER OF FEBRUARY 27 AND THE EVENING STAR OF FEBRUARY 26. THESE EDITORIALS CONDEMN THE SELFISHNESS OF THE TRAFFICKERS AND THE HARM THEY ARE DOING TO THE COUNTRY. THEY STRESS THE SERIOUSNESS OF THE U.S. ANTI-DRUG CAMPAIGN AND CALL ON THE GOJ TO ADOPT A SIMILAR STANCE. MOST IMPRESSIVE OF ALL IS AN ARTICLE BY LEADING COLUMNIST CARL STONE IN THE FEBRUARY 27 ISSUE OF THE GLEANER. STONE, WHO WAS ONCE INCLINED TO TAKE A MORE RELAXED VIEW OF THE GANJA (READ MARIJUANA) TRADE, EXPOUNDS ON ITS EVILS AND ITS POTENTIALLY DISASTROUS CONSEQUENCES FOR THE ECONOMY. HIS COMMENTARY, ENTITLED "THE GANJA MENACE" IS COMMENDED TO THE DEPARTMENT'S ATTENTION.

2. BEGIN QUOTE. A NUMBER OF PERSONS (INCLUDING MYSELF) HAVE EXPRESSED SYMPATHY AND SUPPORT IN THE PAST FOR THE GANJA TRADE AND THE GANJA FARMERS. FACED WITH AN ECONOM EXPERIENCING COLLAPSE IN SO MANY AREAS THE EFFORT TO CARVE OUT A NEW (THOUGH ILLEGAL) AREA OF FOREIGN EXCHANGE EARNINGS WAS A CREATIVE RESPONSE TO ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL PRESSURES.

QUOTE. BUT TODAY THE SIDE EFFECTS OF THE MASSIVE GANJA TRADE THREATENS TO STRANGLE THE LEGITIMATE AREAS OF ECONOMIC ACTIVITY IN THE COUNTRY.

UNCLASSIFIED

QUOTE. THE RECENT SEIZURE OF AN AIR JAMAICA 727 JET IN THE U.S. BY CUSTOMS OFFICIALS THERE OVER THE DISCOVERY OF GANJA CARGO AND THE CONSTANT HEAVY FINES IMPOSED ON SHIPPING COMPANIES AND EXPORTERS OVER GANJA CARGO SERVE TO BRING THE ISSUE SHARPLY INTO RELIEF.

QUOTE. FOLLOWING THE MASSIVE U.S. ANTI-DRUG CAMPAIGN DIRECTED AT THE MAJOR SOUTH AMERICAN COCAINE-EXPORTING COUNTRIES (BOLIVIA, COLOMBIA AND PERU), JAMAICA HAS BECOME A TARGET IN TWO SENSES.

QUOTE. MORE TRANSSHIPMENT COKE TRAFFIC IS BEING PASSED THROUGH HERE EN ROUTE TO THE U.S. BECAUSE OF THE U.S.

BLOCKADE OF OTHER ROUTES. SECONDLY U.S. NARCOTICS, U.S. CONGRESSMEN, WASHINGTON GENERALLY AND THE AMERICAN PRESS HAVE BEEN WAGING A MAJOR CAMPAIGN AGAINST THE JAMAICAN DRUG CONNECTION.

QUOTE. ECONOMIC AID IN JEOPARDY

QUOTE. THE LARGE INFLOWS OF ECONOMIC AID THE COUNTRY RECEIVES FROM THE U.S.A. ($U.S. 500 MILLION BETWEEN 1980 AND 1984) IS IN JEOPARDY FROM THREATS OF A TOTAL CUT-OFF OF U.S. AID TO JAMAICA BY THE U.S. CONGRESS UNLESS WE SHOW MORE CONVINCING EVIDENCE OF BRINGING THE GANJA TRADE UNDER TIGHTER CONTROL.

QUOTE. MOST OF THE EARNINGS FROM GANJA ACCUMULATE IN THE HANDS OF THE BIG U.S. DEALERS AND JAMAICAN MR. BIGS WHO KEEP THEIR ASSETS IN CAYMAN BANKS AND IN THE U.S. MOST OF THESE EARNINGS NEVER COME BACK INTO THE ECONOMY. SO ONE HAS TO BE WARY OF THE COSTS THE COUNTRY COULD INCUR IF GANJA TRAFFICKING THREATENS OTHER AREAS OF OUR ECONOMY.

QUOTE. EFFORTS TO SPEED UP CARGO TRAFFIC FOR BOTH AIRLINES AND SHIPPING ARE BEING DISMANTLED TO PERMIT GREATER SECURITY CONTROL OVER THE PORTS, THE AIRPORTS AND CARGO CONTAINERS. PASSES ISSUED TO EXPORTERS TO ENABLE THEM TO EXPEDITE QUICK LOADING OF CARGO AT THE AIRPORTS HAVE HAD TO BE WITHDRAWN TO TIGHTEN AIRPORT SECURITY CHECKS AND SURVEILLANCE.

QUOTE. PERISHABLE EXPORTS

QUOTE. ARRANGEMENTS FOR EXPORTERS TO LOAD CONTAINERS AT OFFICE SITES TO SPEED UP THE PROCESSING OF EXPORT CARGO HAVE TO BE WITHDRAWN TO FACILITATE TIGHTER SECURITY CONTROL OF SHIPPING CARGO.

QUOTE. BECAUSE OF THE HEAVY TRAFFIC OF GANJA INTO THE U.S., DETAILED SEARCHES OF ALL FORMS OF CARGO MEANS INEVITABLE SLOWING DOWN OF CARGO MOVEMENTS, LOSSES OF PERISHABLE EXPORTS AND FAILURES TO MEET DEADLINES FOR CARGO DELIVERY AS WELL AS DAMAGE TO CARGO BEING SEARCHED FOR GANJA STORAGE.

QUOTE. OUR EXPORT DRIVE, ESPECIALLY IN AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS WILL NOT GO ANYWHERE IF WE DO NOT REMOVE THE GANJA MENACE AND RESTORE NORMAL TREATMENT OF U.S.-BOUND EXPORT CARGO FROM JAMAICA.
QUOTE. MASSIVE FINES TO THE EXTENT OF $25 (U.S.) PER OUNCE OF GANJA FOUND ARE BEING IMPOSED BY U.S. CUSTOMS ON ALL AGENCIES RESPONSIBLE FOR CARGO CONTAINING GANJA.

QUOTE. INCREASED SECURITY SURVEILLANCE OF THE PORT HAS LED TO FORTUNATE DISCOVERIES OF LARGE QUANTITIES OF GANJA IN REFRIGERATED CONTAINERS. HAD THESE CONTAINERS UNCLASSIFIED

OF GANJA BEEN DISCOVERED IN THE U.S., THE VESSEL TRANSPORTING IT WOULD CERTAINLY HAVE BEEN SEIZED TO COVER THE HUGE FINE THAT WOULD HAVE BEEN INVOLVED.

QUOTE. BUILD-UP OF PRESSURE

QUOTE. AS U.S. NARCOTICS HAVE STEPPED UP THE PRESSURE ON THE LITTLE PLANES THAT FLY IN AND OUT OF JAMAICA CARRYING GANJA, THERE HAS BEEN A BUILD-UP OF PRESSURE TO FIND ALTERNATIVE OUTLETS. THE SHIPPING COMPANIES AND AIR JAMAICA ARE PAYING A HEAVY PRICE FOR THESE INITIATIVES.

QUOTE. UP UNTIL RECENTLY THE TRADE WAS CENTERED AROUND JAMAICAN GROWERS, SOME JAMAICAN MIDDLEMEN AND U.S. DEALERS. TODAY, U.S. DEALERS ARE OPERATING RIGHT HERE IN JAMAICA. THEY FINANCE THE GROWING WHICH IS FARMED OUT TO WHOLE COMMUNITIES THAT BECOME DEPENDENT ON GANJA INCOME--IN ST. ELIZABETH, WESTMORELAND, TRELAWNY, ST. JAMES AND ST. ANN.

QUOTE. BETWEEN THE U.S. MAFIA NOW IN OUR MIDST, THE JAMAICA GANJA MILLIONAIRES WHO STASH AWAY THEIR MULTIPLE MILLIONS IN OVERSEAS ACCOUNTS AND THE MANY POOR PEOPLE FOR WHOM GANJA INCOME MAKES THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN STARVING OR HAVING MONEY, THE GANJA LOBBY IS GROWING INTO A FORMIDABLE POLITICAL FORCE AT THE LOCAL LEVEL IN VARIOUS COMMUNITIES IN THE WESTERN END OF THE ISLAND.

QUOTE. SOME OF THE LEADERS OF THE GANJA LOBBY HAVE VISIONS OF CHALLENGING BOTH THE JLP AND THE PNP WHEN THE RIGHT TIME COMES.

QUOTE. SAD PATTERNS
QUOTE. TWO SAD PATTERNS HAVE FOLLOWED THE EXPANSION OF THE GANJA INDUSTRY. COCAINE USE HAS MULTIPLIED IN ITS TRAIL. SOME GANJA GROWERS ACCEPT COCAINE IN EXCHANGE FOR GANJA FROM THE U.S. MAFIA DEALERS. THE COKE CAN BE SOLD EASILY FOR BIG BUCKS ON THE NORTH COAST AS COKE IS THE CURRENT HIGH-PRICE DRUG FAD OF THE U.S. UPPER MIDDLE CLASS WHO CAN AFFORD SUCH EXPENSIVE HABITS. SECONDLY, INCREASING COCAINE USE BY PERSONS CONNECTED TO THE LOCAL GANJA TRADE HAS BEEN ANOTHER UNFORTUNATE SIDE EFFECT. SOME END UP AS MENTAL AND PHYSICAL WRECKS WHILE SOME HAVE THEIR LIVES SHORTENED. THE DANGEROUS LINK BETWEEN GANJA AND GUNRUNNING HAS HAD THE EFFECT OF PRODUCING A BREED OF VICIOUS KILLERS ON DRUGS WITH ACCESS TO M-16 WEAPONS AND OTHER DEADLY HIGH-POWERED ARMS.

QUOTE. AGRO-21 AND THE EXPORT DRIVE HAVE NO FUTURE U UNLESS WE BRING THE GANJA TRAFFIC UNDER CONTROL.

QUOTE. THE GANJA MAFIA ARE SKILLFUL POLITICAL OPERATORS THEY HAVE CAREFULLY SPREAD VICIOUS RUMORS LINKING GANJA ACTIVITY TO PROMINENT JLP POLITICIANS, GIVING THE IMPRESSION THAT THE ANTI-GANJA INITIATIVES OF THE JLP GOVERNMENT ARE DESIGNED TO WIPE OUT COMPETITORS AND INCREASE THE CONTROL OF THE GANJA BUSINESS BY JLP

POLITICIANS. IN THE PRESENT
ANTI-GOVERNMENT MOOD ACROSS THE COUNTRY MANY PERSONS ARE BELIEVING THESE RUMORS. THEY HELP TO DISCREDIT THE GOVERNMENT'S STAND AGAINST THE TRADE AND GIVE THOSE DEPENDENT ON IT FOR A LIVELIHOOD A DEEP SENSE OF ANGER.

QUOTE. MORE EFFECTIVE SECURITY MEASURES HAVE TO BE USED AT OUR MAIN PORTS AND AIRLINES. PRIVATE SECURITY FIRMS HAVE TO BE REMOVED AND SOLDIERS BROUGHT IN TO OVERSEE "THE RUNNINGS" AT THESE TARGET OUTLETS FOR GANJA EXPORTS. THOROUGH SEARCHING OF CARGO AND LUGGAGE HAS TO BE DONE SO THAT OVER THE NEXT SIX MONTHS OR SO THE GANJA EXPORTERS WILL BE DISCOURAGED FROM USING LEGITIMATE CARGO ON SHIPS OR PLANES AS THEIR MEANS OF TRAFFICKING THE WEED INTO THE U.S.

QUOTE. IF THEY CONTINUE TO DO WHAT THEY ARE DOING NOW OUR ECONOMY, ALREADY IN A DEEP CRISIS, WILL BE FURTHER AT RISK. END QUOTE.

SUBJECT: CHILE AT THE UNHRC

1. THIS IS HRC-141. (CONFIDENTIAL -- ENTIRE TEXT)

2. SHORTLY BEFORE THE 41ST SESSION OF THE UNITED NATIONS HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION CONVENED, THE OUTGOING CHAIRMAN, PROF. KOOIJMANS, APPOINTED FERNANDO VOLIO JIMENEZ OF COSTA RICA TO THE POSITION OF RAPPORTEUR FOR CHILE, WHICH HAD BEEN VACATED BY JUSTICE LALLAH OF MAURITANIA.

3. IN THE EARLY DAYS OF THE COMMISSION SESSION WORD GOT OUT THAT THE USSR AND MEXICO WERE VERY MUCH UPSET

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

PAGE 02 GENEVA 01840 041856Z

ABOUT THE VOLIO APPOINTMENT AND WOULD TRY TO GET IT CANCELLED. THERE IS, HOWEVER, NO PRACTICAL WAY OF DOING IT. MEXICAN REP MONTANO, IN A CONVERSATION WITH SCHIFTER, CLAIMED THAT HIS OPPOSITION TO VOLIO IS GROUNDED IN VOLIO'S ILL HEALTH. SCHIFTER LATER ASKED VOLIO ABOUT HIS HEALTH AND WAS TOLD THAT WHILE HE DID HAVE A BYPASS OPERATION IN EARLY 1983, HE IS IN PERFECTLY GOOD HEALTH NOW.

4. AT A MEETING WITH A CHILEAN MISOFF, SCHIFTER REPORTED ON SOVIET AND MEXICAN OPPOSITION TO VOLIO AND STATED ALSO THAT AMB. KIRKPATRICK THOUGHT HIGHLY OF VOLIO. VOLIO SUBSEQUENTLY INFORMED SCHIFTER THAT HE HAS HAD A MEETING WITH REPRESENTATIVES OF THE CHILEAN MISSION IN GENEVA AND THAT THEY HAVE INDICATED TO HIM THAT THEY WILL COOPERATE WITH HIM UNOFFICIALLY.

5. IN A LENGTHY DISCUSSION BETWEEN VOLIO AND SCHIFTER ON MARCH 4, VOLIO STATED THAT HE VIEWED HIS JOB AS NOT MERELY ONE TO TAKE INVENTORY OF CHILEAN HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, BUT THAT HE WOULD BE INTERESTED IN ASSISTING WITH THE RESUMPTION OF THE DIALOGUE BETWEEN THE GOC AND THE TRULY DEMOCRATIC OPPOSITION. SPANISH ALT. REP MASFERRER AND AMB. SUCRE OF VENEZUELA HAVE INDICATED THAT THEY WOULD WANT TO SUPPORT SUCH AN EFFORT ON THE PART OF VOLIO. MEXICAN REP MONTANO, BY CONTRAST, HAS SPOKEN DISPARAGINGLY OF THIS IDEA, SUGGESTING THAT VOLIO INTENDS TO GO BEYOND THE PROPER ROLE OF A RAPPORTEUR. (FYI: PAST RAPPORTEURS HAVE MET WITH CHILEAN EXILE GROUPS, HAVE ACCEPTED THEIR MATERIALS, AND THEN HAVE HAD THE STAFF ROUTE A REPORT FOR SUBMISSION TO THE UNHRC, BASED ON THE INFORMATION THUS RECEIVED. END OF FYI.)

6. IN RESPONSE TO SCHIFTER'S SUGGESTION THAT VOLIO VISIT WASHINGTON SOON, VOLIO SAID THAT TO AVOID CRITICISM, HE WOULD PREFER NOT TO VISIT WASHINGTON AT THIS TIME. HOWEVER, HE WOULD BE INTERESTED IN MEETING DEPT. OFFICERS IN NEW YORK. HE IS SCHEDULED TO ARRIVE IN NEW YORK ON MARCH 9 AND IS SCHEDULED TO LEAVE ON MARCH 11 AT 1 P.M. AN APPOINTMENT WITH HIM COULD BE ARRANGED THROUGH AMB. BARRISH AT THE COSTA RICAN MISSION IN NEW YORK.

7. MEXICAN DRAFT RESOLUTION ON CHILE IS BEING TRANSMITTED BY REFTEL. VOLIO HAS EXPRESSED HIS DISSATISFACTION WITH IT TO MEXICAN DEL. WE PLAN TO DO THE SAME. WE DO NOT BELIEVE, HOWEVER, THAT WE CAN EXPECT TO SEE THE RESOLUTION SIGNIFICANTLY IMPROVED AT THIS SESSION. MASFERRER HAS TOLD US, HOWEVER, THAT HIS DELEGATION WILL SEEK A NEW START ON A CHILE RESOLUTION AT THE NEXT UNGA. AS MASFERRER PUT IT, THE UN SYSTEM SHOULD STOP WORKING WITH THE CHILEAN EMIGRES AND CONCENTRATE ON WORK WITH THE DEMOCRATIC OPPOSITION IN CHILE.

REITERATES ITS PROFOUND CONCERN AT THE INEFFECTIVENESS OF THE REMEDIES OF HABEAS CORPUS OR AMPARO AND OF PROTECTION, OWING TO THE FACT THAT THE JUDICIARY DOES NOT FULLY EXERCISE ITS POWERS OF INVESTIGATION, MONITORING AND SUPERVISION IN THIS RESPECT AND IS SUBJECT TO SEVERE RESTRICTIONS WHICH COMPROMISES ITS INDEPENDENCE;

6. INSISTS IN ITS DEMAND THAT THE CHILEAN AUTHORITIES SHOULD RE-ESTABLISH AND RESPECT HUMAN RIGHTS IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE OBLIGATIONS THEY HAVE ASSUMED UNDER VARIOUS INTERNATIONAL AGREEMENTS WITH A VIEW TO THE RESTORATION OF THE PRINCIPLE OF LEGALITY, DEMOCRATIC INSTITUTIONS AND THE EFFECTIVE ENJOYMENT AND EXERCISE OF HUMAN RIGHTS AND FUNDAMENTAL FREEDOMS, AND, IN PARTICULAR,

(A) PUT AN END TO THE REGIME OF EXCEPTION, AND ESPECIALLY THE PRACTICE OF DECLARING "CONSTITUTIONAL STATES OF EMERGENCY" UNDER WHICH SERIOUS AND CONTINUING VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS ARE COMMITTED;

(B) INVESTIGATE AND CLARIFY, WITHOUT DELAY, THE FATE OF THE PERSONS ARRESTED FOR POLITICAL REASONS WHO LATER DISAPPEARED, AID AND INFORM THEIR FAMILIES OF

THE RESULTS OF SUCH INVESTIGATION, AND ENSURE THAT THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR THEIR DISAPPEARANCE ARE BROUGHT TO TRIAL AND PUNISHED;

(C) PUT AN IMMEDIATE END TO INTIMIDATION AND PROSECUTION, AS WELL AS ARBITRARY AND IMPROPER ARRESTS AND IMPRISONMENT IN SECRET PLACES, AND RESPECT THE RIGHT TO LIFE AND TO PHYSICAL AND MORAL INTEGRITY BY HALTING THE USE OF TORTURE AND OTHER CRUEL, INHUMAN OR DEGRADING TREATMENT OR PUNISHMENT, WHICH, IN SOME CASES, HAVE RESULTED IN UNEXPLAINED DEATHS;

(D) RESPECT THE RIGHT OF CHILEAN NATIONALS TO LIVE IN AND FREELY ENTER AND LEAVE THEIR COUNTRY, WITHOUT RESTRICTIONS OR CONDITIONS OF ANY KIND, AND PUT AN END TO THE PRACTICE OF "RELEGATION" (ASSIGNMENT OF FORCED RESIDENCE) AND FORCED EXILE;

(E) RESTORE THE FULL ENJOYMENT AND EXERCISE OF TRADE UNION RIGHTS, INCLUDING THE RIGHT TO ORGANIZE TRADE UNIONS, THE RIGHT TO COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AND THE RIGHT TO STRIKE;

(F) RESPECT AND, WHERE NECESSARY, RESTORE ECONOMIC, SOCIAL AND CULTURAL RIGHTS AND, IN PARTICULAR, THE RIGHTS INTENDED TO PRESERVE THE CULTURAL IDENTITY AND IMPROVE THE SOCIAL STATUS OF INDIGENOUS POPULATIONS, INCLUDING THE RIGHT TO THEIR LAND;

7. CALLS AGAIN UPON THE CHILEAN AUTHORITIES TO COOPERATE WITH THE SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR AND TO SUBMIT THEIR COMMENTS ON HIS REPORT TO THE COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS AT ITS FORTY-SECOND SESSION;

E.O. 12356: DECL: OADR
TAGS: SNAR, JM
SUBJECT: PRIME MINISTER SEAGA DISCUSSES GOJ DRUG STRATEGY

1. [redacted]

2. FOLLOWING A DISCUSSION OF GOJ ECONOMIC PLANS (SEPTEL) MARCH 12, PRIME MINISTER SEAGA TOLD CHARGE HE WAS CONCERNED ABOUT THE IMPACT ON JAMAICAN PUBLIC OPINION OF THE FEB. 22 NARCOTICS REPORT BY A U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES STAFF DELEGATION. HE EXPLAINED THAT THE PROBLEM STEMMED FROM THE REFERENCE IN PARAGRAPH 2, PAGE 28, TO CORRUPTION IN THE "GOVERNMENT OF JAMAICA," WHICH WAS LOCALLY INTERPRETED TO MEAN THE CABINET. THE CHARGE OFFERED TO WORK WITH HIM AND OTHER MINISTERS TO PRODUCE A CLARIFICATION WHICH WOULD EXPLAIN THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN AMERICAN AND COMMONWEALTH USAGE OF THE WORD "GOVERNMENT."

3. LEAVING THIS POINT, SEAGA WENT ON TO LAMENT THE LACK OF APPRECIATION SHOWN FOR THE EFFORTS MADE BY HIS GOVERNMENT IN DRUG CONTROL. HE CONFIRMED THAT HE HAD RECENTLY ORDERED THE JAMAICA DEFENSE FORCE (JDF) AND THE JAMAICA CONSTABULARY FORCE (JCF) TO UNDERTAKE A SUBSTANTIALLY EXPANDED ERADICATION PROGRAM COUPLED WITH [redacted]

INSTRUCTED TO INSPECT THE DESTROYED AIRSTRIPS ON A WEEKLY BASIS TO MAKE SURE THEY HAD NOT BEEN REACTIVATED. SEAGA EVEN VOLUNTEERED INTEREST IN UNDERTAKING A SPRAY ERADICATION PROGRAM ON A TRIAL BASIS IN LARGE MARIJUANA FIELDS WHERE THE DANGER OF CONTAMINATING NEIGHBORING FOOD CROPS WAS SLIGHT. HE ADDED, HOWEVER, THAT ERADICATION WOULD FOCUS ON THE "LARGE FIELDS" AND NOT ON EVERY HILLTOP PATCH.

4. THE CHARGE WELCOMED THESE PLANS AND REPEATED, AS HE HAD TOLD JCF COMMISSIONER HERMAN RICKETTS LAST MONTH, THAT THE USG WAS READY TO PROVIDE FINANCIAL AND MATERIAL SUPPORT FOR AN EXPANDED ERADICATION PROGRAM. WHEN THE CHARGE NOTED THE PAST FRICTION BETWEEN THE JDF AND JCF, SEAGA SAID THAT COMMISSIONER RICKETTS WAS WORKING ON THI PROBLEM BUT THAT COORDINATION BETWEEN THE TWO FORCES ULTIMATELY WAS UP TO WINSTON SPAULDING, MINISTER OF NATIONAL SECURITY AND JUSTICE.

5. COMMENT: ENCOURAGING AS SEAGA'S PRONOUNCEMENT IS, THERE IS A WIDE GULF BETWEEN THE WORD AND THE ACT IN JAMAICA. WE WILL FOLLOW UP IN THE NEXT FEW DAYS WITH RICKETTS AND MAJOR GENERAL NEISH ON THE DETAILS OF AN EXPANDED ERADICATION PROGRAM AND THE ASSISTANCE WE CAN PROVIDE, BUT MARIJUANA WILL NOT DISAPPEAR FROM JAMAICA OVERNIGHT. WE ARE PARTICULARLY HEARTENED, HOWEVER, BY SEAGA'S WILLINGNESS TO EXPERIMENT WITH SPRAYING AND RECOMMEND THAT AN INVITATION NOW BE EXTENDED FOR NEISH AND RICKETTS TO VISIT COLOMBIA AND/OR MEXICO TO SEE A PROGRAM IN OPERATION.

SUBJ: EC DEMARCHE ON CHILEANS IN COUNCIL OF WAR CASE

REF: (A) BRUSSELS 3738, (B) SANTIAGO 840

1. (C)-ENTIRE TEXT

2. SUMMARY: THE ITALIAN CHARGE IN SANTIAGO AND THE ITALIAN FOREIGN MINISTRY IN ROME HAVE PRESENTED A VERBAL EC DEMCRCHE ON THE THREE MEN ACCUSED OF ASSSSINATING SANTIAGO INTENDANT GEN. URZUA. THE DEMARCHE EXPRESSED CONCERN THAT THEY BE TRIED UNDER NORMAL, RATHER THAN EXCEPTIONAL, PROCEEDINGS. A GOC FOREIGN MINISTRY SPOKESMAN REACTED SHARPLY TO THE DEMARCHE, CHARACTERIZING IT AS THE RESULT OF A DISTORTED CAMPAIGN IN EUROPE. IN FACT,. THE THREE MEN HAVE NOT BEEN CONDEMNED TO DEATH, NOR EVEN TRIED YET. RATHER, THE SUPREME COURT RECENTLY RULED THAT A COUNCIL OF WAR TRIAL WAS CONSTITUTIONAL IN THIS CASE AND SHOULD BE HELD SOON. THE MILITARY PROSECUTOR HAS REQUESTED THE DEATH

PENALTY, BUT IN THE ONLY PREVIOUS COUNCIL OF WAR CASE, THE SENTENCE IMPOSED WAS LIFE IMPRISONMENT. END SUMMARY.

3. EC DEMARCHE: ON MARCH 12, SANTIAGO NEWSPAPERS CARRIED BRIEF ARTICLES ABOUT THE EC DEMARCHE ON

THE THREE MEN ACCUSED OF ASSASSINATING SANTIAGO INTENDANT GEN. URZUA (REF A). ACCORDING TO THE ARTICLES, THE ITALIAN CHARGE MADE A VERBAL PRESENTATION OF CONCERN WHILE, IN ROME, A SIMILAR PRESENTATION WAS MADE TO THE CHILEAN CHARGE. NEWSPAPER ARTICLES QUOTE THE ITALIAN CHARGE AS EXPRESSING THE EC DESIRE THAT THE THREE BE TRIED UNDER NORMAL RATHER THAN EXCEPTIONAL PROCEEDINGS "BECAUSE AN EXCEPTIONAL PROCEEDING ELIMINATES ALL LEGAL GUARANTEES OF DEFENSE THAT AN INDIVIDUAL HAS." ITALIAN CHARGE INFORMED AMBASSADOR OF THE SAME. A BRITISH EMBASSY SOURCE TOLD US THAT THE IDEA OF A DEMARCHE ORIGINATED AMONG EC REPRESENTATIVES IN SANTIAGO AND STRESSED THE NEED FOR NORMAL JUDICIAL PROCEEDINGS, RATHER THAN CONCERN OVER A POSSIBLE DEATH PENALTY; BECAUSE THE EC HAD NOT PROTESTED THE RECENT EXECUTION OF TWO CARABINEROS IN VINA DEL MAR FOR RAPE, ROBBERY AND MURDER.

4. GOC RESPONSE: A FOREIGN MINISTRY SPOKESMAN REACTED SHARPLY TO THE DEMARCHE, AS THE GOC ATENDS TO REACT WHENEVER THEY FEEL THERE IS OUTSIDE INTERFERENCE IN CHILE'S INTERNAL AFFAIRS. THE SPOKESMAN DESCRIBED THE THREE MEN AS "CONFESSED TERRORISTS" AND WENT ON TO NOTE THAT THE DEMARCHE "SHOWS HOW A CAMPAIGN OF DISTORTION IN EUROPE BRINGS FRIENDLY COUNTRIES TO CONCERN THEMSELVES WITH TERRORISTS."

5. THE THREE MEN MENTIONED IN REF (A) HAVE NOT BEEN CONDEMNED TO DEATH. RATHER, DEFENSE APPEALS THAT COUNCIL OF WAR PROCEEDINGS (MILITARY TRIAL UNDER WARTIME CONDITIONS) ARE UNCONSTITUTIONAL AND INAPPLICABLE IN THIS CASE HAVE BEEN WENDING THEIR WAY THROUGH THE CHILEAN CIVIL COURT SYSTEM FOR THE PAST YEAR. ON JANUARY 29, 1985, THE SUPREME COURT REJECTED DEFENSE CLAIMS THAT A COUNCIL OF WAR WAS UNCONSTITUTIONAL IN THIS CASE AND ORDERED THE CHIEF MILITARY JUDGE OF SANTIAGO TO CONVENE ONE AAND HOLD THE TRIAL (REF B). A SUBSEQUENT DEFENSE PETITION FOR A REVERSAL OF THAT DECISION WAS UNANIMOUSLY REJECTED BY THE SUPREME COURT ON MARCH 8. WHILE FURTHER DEFENSE APPEALS ARE POSSIBLE, THEY ARE ONLY DELAYING TACTICS AT THIS POINT. THE CASE WILL BE TRIED BEFORE A COUNCIL

OF WAR ACTING UNDER WARTIME PROCEEDINGS AT SOME AFUTURE TIME. THE MILITARY PROSECUTOR HAS DEMANDED THE DEATH PENALTY BUT THE DECISION WILL BE UP TO THE MILITARY COURT. IN THE ONLY CASE TRIED TO DATE UNDER COUNCIL OF WAR PROCEEDINGS (FALL, 1982), THE MILITARY PROSECUTOR ALSO DEMANDED THE DEATH PENALTY BUT THE COUNCIL OF WAR INSTEAD DECIDED FOR LIFE IMPRISONMENT. EMBASSY SANTIAGO IS FOLLOWING THE CASE CLOSELY AND WILL REPORT ANY SIGNIFICANT DEVELOPMENTS. THEBERGE

SUBJECT: SECURITY ASSISTANCE: ANNUAL INTEGRATED ASSESSMENT OF SECURITY ASSISTANCE (AIASA) - COSTA RICA

REF: STATE 014321 (DTG 161105Z JAN 85)

1. SECRET ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY: UNITED STATES SECURITY ASSISTANCE IN THE FORM OF ESF AND MILITARY SECURITY ASSISTANCE (MAP) SHOULD CONTINUE FOR THE PERIOD OF THIS AIASA. ESF SHOULD BE MAINTAINED AT THE LEVELS RECOMMENDED HEREIN, AND MAP SHOULD BE REDUCED FROM THE CURRENT (FY 85) LEVEL TO ONE THAT ALLOWS FOR SUSTAINABILITY OF THE DEFENSE ARTICLES AND SERVICES RECENTLY PURCHASED, AND THE CONTINUING PROFESSIONALIZATION OF THE PUBLIC SECURITY FORCES, THROUGH TRAINING, IN BOTH OPERATIVE AND MAINTENANCE SKILLS. PRINCIPALLY DUE TO UNITED STATES ECONOMIC ASSISTANCE TO DATE, COSTA RICA HAS MADE SIGNIFICANT AND MEASURABLE PROGRESS AWAY FROM THE FINANCIAL MALAISE ENCOUNTERED BY THE CURRENT ADMINISTRATION OF PRESIDENT MONGE IN MAY OF 1982. LIKE PROGRESS HAS BEEN MADE IN THE COUNTRY'S OVERALL SECURITY. COSTA RICA LOOKS TO THE UNITED STATES AS A FRIEND: HAS SUPPORTED OUR INITIATIVES TO BRING PEACE AND ECONOMIC STABILITY TO THE REGION; AND HAS BEEN EXTRAORDINARILY COOPERATIVE IN SUPPORT

OF OUR DEFENSE INITIATIVES GIVEN ITS STRONG AND TRADITIONAL AVERSION TO THINGS MILITARY. WITHOUT OUR ECONOMIC, POLITICAL, AND MILITARY ASSISTANCE, THIS UNIQUE DEMOCRACY WOULD BE SORELY CHALLENGED, PERHAPS BEYOND ITS CAPABILITY, TO MAINTAIN TRADITIONS WE AND THEY CHERISH.

3. THE FOLLOWING IS KEYED TO PARAGRAPH 4 OF REFTEL:

- A. U.S. POLITICAL, MILITARY, AND ECONOMIC INTEREST: IT IS OF SIGNIFICANT AND DIRECT POLITICAL INTEREST TO THE USG TO PRESERVE THE DEMOCRATIC INSTITUTIONS OF COSTA RICA WHICH EXEMPLIFY THE KIND OF DEMOCRATIC DEVELOPMENT THE UNITED STATES PROMOTES IN THE REGION. THE GOCR STRONGLY EMPHASIZES ITS POLITICAL AND IDEOLOGICAL TIES TO THE UNITED STATES AND COMMITMENT TO THE VALUES OF WESTERN DEMOCRACY. WHILE MAINTAINING MILITARY NEUTRALITY, THE MONGE ADMINISTRATION VIGOROUSLY ADVOCATES THOSE VALUES IN THE IDEOLOGICAL STRUGGLE. THE PRESERVATION AND STRENGTHENING OF COSTA RICAN DEMOCRACY IS ESSENTIAL TO COUNTERING FORCES IN CENTRAL AMERICA WHICH WOULD IMPOSE A MARXIST-TOTALITARIAN MODEL FOR DEVELOPMENT.

- IN PURSUIT OF THIS OBJECTIVE, UNITED STATES SECURITY ASSISTANCE IN THE FORM OF GRANT AID SHOULD BE MAINTAINED DURING THE YEARS DISCUSSED IN THIS AIASA (1987-91). MILITARY ASSISTANCE, GIVEN THE PRESENT CIRCUMSTANCES, SHOULD BE REDUCED FROM CURRENT LEVELS TO ONE THAT SUSTAINS EQUIPMENT PURCHASED IN 1984-85, AND MAINTAINS (THROUGH TRAINING) THE PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT OF THE COSTA RICAN PUBLIC SECURITY FORCES (PUBSECFOR). (ESF JUSTIFICATION AND RECOMMENDED FUNDING LEVELS ARE DISCUSSED IN PARAGRAPHS 3.. I.. AND 3.. M.)

- OUR SECURITY ASSISTANCE RELATIONSHIP WITH COSTA RICA SERVES U.S. INTERESTS IN ASSURING THAT THIS EXEMPLARY CENTRAL AMERICAN DEMOCRACY HAS A CAPACITY TO RESIST ANY EFFORT BY ITS EXPANSIONIST MARXIST-LENINIST NEIGHBOR TO UNDERMINE ITS SYSTEM. THE TYPE OF ASSISTANCE PROPOSED, ALTHOUGH LIMITED IN SCOPE, IS DESIGNED TO PROVIDE THE COSTA RICAN GOVERNMENT WITH A LIGHTLY-ARMED MOBILE CONSTABULARY CAPABLE OF FULFILLING ESSENTIAL NATIONAL DEFENSE AND INTERNAL SECURITY FUNCTIONS. ALTHOUGH THERE IS NO SIGNIFICANT SUPPORT FOR CHANGING COSTA RICA'S

CONSTITUTIONAL PROHIBITION AGAINST A STANDING ARMY, THE COUNTRY'S LEADERS ARE FULLY COMMITTED TO DEVELOPING A MODERNIZED PUBLIC SECURITY FORCE WITH THE WHEREWITHAL TO PATROL NATIONAL LAND AND SEABORDERS AND PROVIDE AT LEAST THE FIRST LINE OF DEFENSE FOR THE NATIONAL SOVEREIGNTY.

- IN THE EVENT OF OVERT AGGRESSION AGAINST COSTA RICA, THE GOCR WILL IMMEDIATELY INVOKE THE RIO TREATY WHICH COSTA RICANS REFER TO AS "THEIR ARMY." CONSONANT WITH THE COUNTRY'S CLOSE SECURITY RELATIONSHIP WITH THE UNITED STATES, COSTA RICA WOULD EXPECT U.S. FORCES TO BE IN THE FOREFRONT IN RESPONSE TO ANY SUCH AGGRESSION. HOWEVER, IN THE ABSENCE OF OVERT AGGRESSION, COSTA RICANS' VIEWS REGARDING MILITARY FORCES AND THE GOCR'S NEUTRALITY POLICY PRECLUDE BASING OF U.S. FORCES IN THE COUNTRY, AND THE USG MUST REMAIN ATTUNED TO COSTA RICAN ANTI-MILITARIST SENSIBILITIES. NONETHELESS, DRIVEN IN LARGE PART BY COSTA RICAN FEAR OF NICARAGUA'S UNPRECEDENTED MILITARY BUILD-UP, THE GOCR HAS WELCOMED U.S. SPECIAL FORCES MTT'S (AND OTHER MTT'S), SHIP VISITS, HIGH ALTITUDE HELICOPTER TRAINING, USCG DRUG ENFORCEMENT PATROLS, AND PROVIDED FUELING AND LAYOVER RIGHTS TO NUMEROUS TACTICAL/SERVICE AIRCRAFT AND NAVAL VESSELS. THESE ACTIONS REFLECT COSTA RICAN TRUST AND CONFIDENCE IN THE USG TO HELP REINFORCE THEIR SECURITY WITHOUT PUSHING THEM TO MILITARIZE.

- COSTA RICA'S PRINCIPAL SECURITY THREAT EMANATES FROM THE TROUBLED CENTRAL AMERICAN ISTHMUS AND SPECIFICALLY NICARAGUA. THE INCREASINGLY BELLIGERENT ATTITUDE OF THAT COUNTRY TOWARD COSTA RICA IN THE PAST THREE YEARS HAS BROUGHT THEIR BILATERAL RELATIONS TO THE LOWEST POINT IN RECENT TIMES. COSTA RICA IS OVERWHELMED BY THE THREAT REPRESENTED BY THE NICARAGUAN ARMED FORCES, THEIR INTRANSIGENCE TOWARD REAL PROGRESS IN A PEACEFUL SOLUTION TO THE CENTRAL AMERICAN CRISIS, AND THEIR, THUS FAR, UNWILLINGNESS TO IMPLEMENT THE PROMISES OF THE 1979 REVOLUTION OF A PLURALISTIC NICARAGUAN STATE -- AN OBJECTIVE TO WHICH COSTA RICA CONTRIBUTED CONSIDERABLY IN THE REBELLION AGAINST SOMOZA. THEY ARE GREATLY CONCERNED OVER CUBAN, SOVIET, EAST GERMAN, AND PLO PRESENCE IN NICARAGUA; OVER THE EVER INCREASING NUMBERS OF NICARAGUAN, ET AL, REFUGEES SEEKING HAVEN IN COSTA RICA; OVER THE SCOPE AND INTENSITY OF THE NICARAGUAN-CUBAN PROPAGANDA CAMPAIGN TO DEFAME COSTA RICA WITH THEIR TRADITIONAL WESTERN DEMOCRATIC ALLIES; AND WITH THEIR EFFORTS TO DESTABILIZE THE REGION AND SPECIFICALLY COSTA RICA. A FURTHER COMPLICATION IS THE DE FACTO AND UNEASY ALLIANCE WITH THE NICARAGUAN ANTI-SANDINISTA FORCES ON THE SOUTHERN FRONT. NICARAGUAN POLITICAL OPPOSITION LEADERS OPERATE WITH THE PERMISSION OF THE GOCR IN COSTA RICA AND HAVE BEEN THE TARGET OF AT LEAST TWO ASSASINATION ATTEMPTS. ARMED ANTI-SANDINISTA ELEMENTS OPERATE LARGELY JUST ACROSS THE BORDER IN NICARAGUA, BUT ALSO FREQUENTLY USE COSTA RICAN TERRITORY AS SANCTUARY AND AS A SOURCE OF LOGISTICAL AND MEDICAL SUPPORT. THEIR CROSS-BORDER ACTIVITIES HAVE BEEN THE CATALYST OF SEVERAL BORDER INCIDENTS, SOME SERIOUS. OTHER BORDER INCIDENTS HAVE OCCASIONED DIRECT EPS ATTACKS ON PUBSECFOR ELEMENTS THAT WERE NOT THE RESULT OF IMMEDIATE CONTRA ACTIVITY, BUT ARE BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN IN GENERAL RETRIBUTION FOR PERCEIVED COSTA RICAN COMPLICITY WITH THE ANTI-SANDINISTA MOVEMENT. YET ANOTHER FORM OF NICARAGUAN INCURSION IS BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN FLANKING MANEUVERS USING COSTA RICAN TERRITORY TO DRIVE CONTRA-ELEMENTS INTO EPS BLOCKING FORCES WITHIN NICARAGUA.

- COUNTERING THE FOREGOING IS THE COSTA RICAN PUBSECFOR, ABOUT 8,000 STRONG (COMPRISED OF THE CIVIL

THINGS MILITARY. THE DEBILITATING ECONOMIC SITUATION, AND ITS OWN LACK OF PROFESSIONAL STRUCTURE AND ORGANIZATION. THE GOCR IS CONCERNED ABOUT THE PROBLEM, HAS MADE SIGNIFICANT PROGRESS TOWARD IMPROVEMENT, AND HAS MADE EXCELLENT USE OF OUR MILITARY SECURITY ASSISTANCE PROGRAM TO DATE. THE FUNDAMENTAL IMPEDIMENT TO FORCE DEVELOPMENT HAS BEEN THE WHOLESALE TURNOVER OF THE PUBSECFOR THROUGH POLITICAL PATRONAGE PRACTICED BY SUCCESSIVE ADMINISTRATIONS. WE BELIEVE THAT PRACTICE IS UNDER SERIOUS REVIEW BY THE CURRENT ADMINISTRATION AND THE TWO PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES. WE ARE ENCOURAGED THAT SOME RELIEF IN THAT REGARD IS FORTHCOMING WHICH WILL MOST LIKELY TAKE THE FORM OF CIVIL SERVICE TYPE PROTECTION FOR THE WORKING LEVELS OF THE PUBSECFOR.

- AS PREVIOUSLY MENTIONED COSTA RICA'S DEFENSE SHIELD IS THE RIO TREATY. HOWEVER, INVOKING THE TREATY IN RESPONSE TO SUBVERSION, INSURGENCY, OR INTERNATIONAL TERRORISM IS PROBLEMATIC. (DEVELOPING A DOMESTIC CAPABILITY FOR RESPONDING TO SUCH THREATS IS ESSENTIAL TO THIS COUNTRY'S DEFENSE REQUIREMENTS). U.S. ASSISTANCE IS CRUCIAL TO OUR JOINT EFFORTS TO CONFRONT/CONTAIN THESE THREATS.

- UNFORTUNATELY THE GOCR SIMPLY CANNOT AFFORD THE PRICE OF ENHANCING THE PUBSECFOR. REVIVING THE ECONOMY OF COSTA RICA IS THE MAJOR POLITICAL CHALLENGE TO THE MONGE ADMINISTRATION, AND AUSTERITY BUDGETS ARE THE PRINCIPAL IMPEDIMENT TO A GOCR-FINANCED PROGRAM TO ENHANCE THE PUBSECFOR. USG POLITICAL AND MILITARY INTERESTS ARE IN TURN DIRECTLY RELATED TO THE ECONOMIC STABILITY OF THE COUNTRY.

- B. U.S. OBJECTIVES OF THE SECURITY ASSISTANCE PROGRAM:

THE PRINCIPAL OBJECTIVE IS THE DEFENSE AND PRESERVATION OF THE LONG ESTABLISHED DEMOCRATIC INSTITUTIONS OF COSTA RICA WHICH SERVE AS A MODEL AND IDEOLOGICAL COUNTER-BALANCE TO MARXIST PENETRATION IN THE CENTRAL AMERICAN ISTHMUS. IN TERMS OF MILITARY SECURITY ASSISTANCE THIS IS ACCOMPLISHED B: THE ESTABLISHMENT AND MAINTENANCE OF A VIABLE DEFENSE FORCE WITHIN THE PRESENT STRUCTURE AND SIZE OF THE CIVIL AND RURAL GUARD THAT GIVES THE CAPABILITY TO:

- (1). ADEQUATELY SURVEIL THE LAND/SEA/AIR BORDERS

- (2). MAINTAIN INTERNAL ORDER AND CONTROL AS IT PERTAINS TO OUTSIDE SUPPORTED TERRORISM AND/OR SUBVERSION.

- (3). REACT/REINFORCE AS NECESSARY OTHER LINE ELEMENTS OF THE CIVIL AND RURAL GUARD.

- (4). INITIALLY DEFEND TO THE EXTEND POSSIBLE AGAINST OVER OUTSIDE AGGRESSION UNTIL THE INTER-AMERICAN TREATY OF RECIPROCAL DEFENSE (RIO TREATY) COULD BE INVOKED.

- C. STATEMENT OF THE THREAT:

- (1). EXTERNAL: COSTA RICA'S ONLY EXTERNAL THREAT AT THE PRESENT TIME IS NICARAGUA AND THOSE COUNTRIES (CUBA, SOVIET UNION, EAST GERMANY, NORTH KOREA, LIBYA, ET AL) AND INTERNATIONAL TERRORIST

ORGANIZATIONS (PLO, MONTONEROS, BASQUE ETA, ITALIAN RED BRIGADE, ET AL) WHICH PROVIDE THAT COUNTRY SUSTENANCE AND ADVICE. COSTA RICA BELIEVES THAT AN OVERT DEMONSTRABLE ATTACK AT THIS POINT IS UN-

LIKELY, PRINCIPALLY BECAUSE THE CONTRA SOUTHERN FRONT IS WEAK, DISORGANIZED, AND ITS MILITARY ELEMENTS ARE GENERALLY INSIDE NICARAGUA (ALBEIT DEPENDENT UPON COSTA RICAN TERRORITY AND GOODWILL FOR RESUPPLY AND SAFEHAVEN). WERE THE CONTRAS TO BECOME A MORE SIGNIFICANT THREAT TO THE GON THAN THEY PRESENTLY ARE, AND WERE THE SITUATION GENERALLY TO TURN IN THEIR FAVOR, AN ATTACK UPON COSTA RICA BECOMES A GREATER POSSIBILITY ALTHOUGH WE STILL RATE THE PROBABILITY LOW. COSTA RICA DOES BELIEVE THAT NICARAGUA, WITH THE SUPPORT OF THOSE STATES AND GROUPS MENTIONED ABOVE, ARE NOW PRESENTLY, AND WILL CONTINUE TO BE, INVOLVED IN SUBVERSIVE AND TERRORIST ACTIVITIES, EITHER DIRECTLY, OR IN A SUPPORTING ROLE, WITH LOCAL DISAFFECTED LEFTIST ELEMENTS WITHIN THE GOCR AND THE COUNTRY MISSION AGREES WITH THAT ASSESSMENT.

(2). INTERNAL: INTERNAL INSTABILITY HAS BEEN MOST NOTABLY DEMONSTRATED TO DATE IN TERMS OF LEFTIST LABOR ACTIVITY, WITH THE RECENT STRIKE IN THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC BANANA PRODUCING REGION BEING THE MOST OBVIOUS AND COSTLY. ANOTHER POTENTIALLY EXPLOSIVE AREA IN THAT REGARD IS THE OTHER BANANA PRODUCING REGION ALONG THE ATLANTIC COAST IN LIMON PROVINCE, PARTICULARLY IF BANANA FARMS CONTINUE TO GO OUT OF PRODUCTION. THERE CONTINUES TO BE SOLID EVIDENCE OF ARMS TRAFFICKING FOR INTERNAL USE AND A GROWING NARCOTICS PROBLEM BOTH IN TERMS OF LOCALLY PRODUCED MARIJUANA AND LABORATORY PRODUCTION OF COCAINE. IN REGARDS TO THE LATTER, IT IS BELIEVED THAT GROWING PRESSURE IN COCAINE PRODUCING COUNTRIES TO THE SOUTH OF COSTA RICA IS BEGINNING TO CREATE A GROWING USE OF THIS COUNTRY AS A TRANSSHIPMENT POINT FOR BOTH AIRCRAFT AND SMALL OCEAN GOING VESSELS. A MORE RECENT, AND SIGNIFICANT, EVENT WAS THE ROBBERY OF A BANK IN GUANACASTE BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN CARRIED OUT BY LEFTIST ELEMENTS FOR POLITICAL PURPOSES VICE A TRADITIONAL CRIMINAL ACT FOR PERSONAL GAIN. FINALLY, THERE IS EVIDENCE SUGGESTING THAT FRUSTRATED YOUNGER MEMBERS OF THE COSTA RICAN RADICAL LEFT ARE BECOMING DISENCHANTED WITH TRADITIONAL LEFTIST POLITICAL GROUPS' OVERT LEGAL EFFORTS, AND ARE SHOWING INCREASING INTEREST IN MORE VIOLENT MEANS TO MEET THEIR OBJECTIVES. MISSION AGREES WITH THAT ASSESSMENT.

(3). STRATEGY FOR RESPONDING TO THREAT. IN LARGE PART, THROUGH THE U.S. MILITARY SECURITY ASSISTANCE PROGRAM, THE GOCR IS IMPROVING THE PUBSECTOR CAPABILITY ACROSS THE BOARD IN LAND, SEA, AND ELEMENTS, INTELLIGENCE CAPABILITY, AND COUNTER-TERRORIST CAPABILITY. CONSIDERABLE PROGRESS HAS BEEN MADE OR IS UNDERWAY IN THE LAST TWO YEARS (ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL ASSISTANCE IS ADDRESSED IN FOLLOWING PARAGRAPHS).

(A). LAND FORCES: THE CIVIL AND RURAL GUARD HAVE RECEIVED EXTENSIVE LAND OPERATIONS RELATED TRAINING IN SURVEILLANCE, LEADERSHIP DEVELOP-

MENT, WEAPONS USE, COMMUNICATIONS, AND MAINTENANCE. THE CIVIL GUARDS' 1940'S VINTAGE ARMS AND AMMUNITION ARE BEING REPLACED WITH MODERN SMALL ARMS (RIFLES, MACHINE GUNS, RECOILLESS RIFLES, GRENADE LAUNCHERS, MORTARS, AND ASSOCIATED MUNITIONS). THIS WILL ALLOW THE PASSAGE OF THEIR DATED, BUT GENERALLY SERVICEABLE ARMS, TO THE RURAL GUARD (NOW LARGELY ARMED WITH .38 REVOLVERS) AND TO THE CIVIL GUARD RESERVE (WHICH REPLACES THE ORGANIZATION FOR NATIONAL EMERGENCIES (OPEN) PROPOSED BY PRESIDENT MONGE. THEIR COMMUNICATIONS AND TRANSPORTABILITY SITUATION HAS GREATLY IMPROVED ALTHOUGH IT STILL HAS GAPS. THE MOST SIGNIFICANT IMPROVEMENT IS THE CREATION OF FOUR REACTION-ANTI SUBVERSION COMPANIES PRESENTLY UNDERWAY. THESE COMPANIES WILL BE PROVIDED SUFFICIENT TRAINING, COMMUNICATIONS, TRANSPORTATION, AND FIRE-POWER TO ENABLE THEM TO REINFORCE OR OPERATE

ANYWHERE IN COSTA RICA, EITHER SEPARATELY OR UNDER A BATTALION STRUCTURE THAT HAS NOT BEEN HERETOFORE POSSIBLE, BUT IS SORELY REQUIRED.

(B). SEA ELEMENT. THE COSTA RICAN MARITIME SECTION OF THE CIVIL GUARD (CS MARSEC) HAS RECEIVED EXTENSIVE TRAINING FROM NAV SCIATTS-PANAMA, MTT'S, USCG, AND CONTRACTOR PROVIDED MAINTENANCE TRAINING FROM BOTH SWIFTSHIPS AND MTU MARINE DIESEL. THEY HAVE BEEN PROVIDED 13 EACH BOSTON WHALER RIVER PATROL CRAFT, REPAIR OF THEIR OCEAN-GOING SWIFTSHIP PATROL BOATS, AND A PURCHASE OF TWO ADDITIONAL 34-FOOT OCEAN PATROL CRAFT IS UNDERWAY. THE OCEAN CRAFT ARE ARMED WITH NEW .50 CALIBER MACHINE GUNS, MODERN COMMUNICATIONS (WHICH ENABLE COMMUNICATIONS WITH AIR AND LAND ELEMENTS) AND NAVIGATION EQUIPMENT. THEIR CAPABILITY TO SURVEIL, PATROL, INTERDICT, AND CONDUCT SAR OPERATIONS ARE NOW ENHANCED AND WILL BE SIGNIFICANTLY SO IN SIX TO TEN MONTHS AS ALL OF THE ABOVE COMES TOGETHER IN COUNTRY.

(C). AIR ELEMENT. THE COSTA RICAN AIR SECTION OF THE CIVIL GUARD (CS AIRSEC) HAS RECEIVED EXTENSIVE MAINTENANCE AND OPERATIONS TRAINING FROM IAAFA - PANAMA, MTT'S, AND CONTRACTOR PROVIDED MAINTENANCE FROM HUGHES HELICOPTER (AND WILL SHORTLY RECEIVE SIMILAR TRAINING FROM CESSNA-SOLOY). THEY HAVE BEEN PROVIDED ONE HUGHES 500E HELO AND WILL RECEIVE ANOTHER IN APRIL 1985. THEY WILL RECEIVE TWO EACH CESSNA SOLOY RECCE AIRCRAFT IN JULY 1985 AND A THIRD SHORTLY THEREAFTER. THEY NOW HAVE THE CAPABILITY FOR LONG AND SHORT RANGE COMMUNICATIONS WITH THE PUESECFOR AND MARSEC BOTH FROM THEIR OPERATING BASE AND THEIR AIRCRAFT. THEIR CAPABILITY TO HELILIFT SMALL ELEMENTS, AND CONDUCT BORDER DRUG RECONAISSANCE, AND SAR OPERATIONS HAS BEEN (OR SOON WILL BE) GREATLY ENHANCED.

(D). INTELLIGENCE AND COUNTER-TERRORISM. IN PART THROUGH EFFORTS UNDER MILITARY SECURITY ASSISTANCE, BUT IN LARGER PART THROUGH THE EFFORTS OF OTHER AGENCIES (INCLUDING DEPARTMENT OF STATE ANTI-TERRORISM TRAINING PROGRAMS), THESE TWO AREAS ARE UNDERGOING THE MOST SIGNIFICANT CHANGE IN RECENT TIMES IN COSTA RICA. MOREOVER, THE REQUIREMENT TO INTEGRATE THESE ELEMENTS WITH THOSE OF THE PUBSECFOR IS BETTER UNDERSTOOD AND CARRIED OUT THAN AT ANY OTHER TIME IN RECENT HISTORY.

D. TYPE MILITARY ESTABLISHMENT. THE CS-PUBSECFOR WILL NOT DRASTICALLY CHANGE IN SIZE AND ORGANIZATION. THERE IS A STRONG DESIRE ON THE PART OF THE CURRENT GOCR AND SIMILAR INTEREST FROM THE TWO PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES (ONE OF WHICH WILL TAKE OFFICE IN MAY 1986) TO PROFESSIONALIZE (TRAIN AND EQUIP) AND STABILIZE KEY ELEMENTS OF THE PUBSECFOR. THE PROFESSIONALIZATION AND STABILIZATION OF THE PUBSECFOR ARE KEY TO COSTA RICA'S SECURITY, AND THE PRESENT LACK THEREOF IS THE FUNDAMENTAL BASIS FROM WHICH NEARLY EVERY OTHER SHORTCOMING STEMS. WHAT HAD WORKED WELL IN THE COSTA RICAN POLITICAL CONTEXT REGARDING SECURITY FROM THE ABOLITION OF THEIR ARMY IN 1949 UNTIL THE REVOLUTION IN NICARAGUA IN 1979 DOES NOT WORK WELL NOW. THAT FACT IS BEING MORE WIDELY RECOGNIZED NOW THAN EVER BEFORE AS THEIR BILATERAL RELATIONS WITH NICARAGUA BECOME MORE AND MORE PROBLEMATICAL. INASMUCH AS WE HAVE BEEN ABLE TO MAKE SIGNIFICANT HEADWAY IN EQUIPMENT AND TRAINING, AND HAVE SOME REAL HOPE FOR A POLITICALLY ACCEPTABLE FORMULA TO MAINTAIN KEY ELEMENTS OF THE PUBSECFOR REGARDLESS OF WHICH PARTY TAKES THE REINS, THE GOALS FOR OUR MILITARY ASSISTANCE PROGRAM SHOULD BE CONTINUED MODERNIZATION/UPGRADING OF THE PUBSECFOR THROUGH TRAINING, AND EQUIPMENT SUSTAINABILITY THROUGH

SPARES PURCHASE.

E. ECONOMIC IMPACT:

THE AMOUNT OF MILITARY ASSISTANCE CONTEMPLATED DURING THE PERIOD UNDER CONSIDERATION WILL NOT HAVE A SIGNIFICANT IMPACT ON THE OVERALL ECONOMY, BALANCE OF PAYMENTS SITUATION OR INFLATION. INASMUCH AS WE ARE REQUESTING SUSTAINING SUPPORT VICE NEW EQUIPMENT PURCHASE. HOWEVER, THERE WOULD BE AN APPRECIABLE IMPACT ON THE BUDGETS OF THE MINISTRY OF PUBLIC SECURITY (CIVIL GUARD) AND THE MINISTRY OF GOVERNMENT AND POLICE (RURAL GUARD) WERE THOSE MINISTERIES TO UNDERTAKE FUNDING THE PROPOSED ACTIVITIES THEMSELVES. IN THIS CASE, THE ADDED EXPENSE COULD IMPACT GOCR EFFORTS TO CONSTRAIN THE OVERALL BUDGET DEFICIT TO COMPLY WITH IMF REQUIRMENTS, OR WOULD HAVE TO COME OUT OF THE BUDGETS FOR EXISTING CIVILIAN PROGRAMS.

THE 1985 BUDGETS FOR BOTH MINISTRIES COMBINED TOTAL ABOUT 38 MILLION DOLLARS, REPRESENTING ABOUT ONE PERCENT OF PROJECTED 1985 GDP AND NEARLY SIX PERCENT OF THE TOTAL CENTRAL GOVERNMENT BUDGET. THIS FIGURE REPRESENTS A PER DAY PER CAPITA EXPENDITURE OF 13 DOLLARS FOR EACH MEMBER OF THE PUBSECFOR, WHICH GOES ALMOST ENTIRELY TO SALARIES, FOOD, AND HOUSING. VERY LITTLE, IF ANY, REMAINS FOR EQUIPMENT AND TRAINING. WHILE THE BUDGET FOR EQUIPMENT AND MACHINERY PURCHASES HAS BEEN INCREASED SOMEWHAT, TO APPROXIMATELY 384,000 DOLLARS, ROUGHLY ONE QUARTER OF THE TOTAL BUDGET WILL BE SPENT ON MATERIALS AND SUPPLY PURCHASES. HOWEVER, THE MAJORITY OF

DO [redacted] 14

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

EXPENDITURES FOR EQUIPMENT WILL GO TOWARD UPGRADING COMMUNICATIONS EQUIPMENT. AND THE CATEGORY FOR MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES INCLUDES A NUMBER OF EXPENSES RANGING FROM PETROLEUM PRODUCTS TO OFFICE SUPPLIES TO MEDICINES. WAGES AND SALARIES ARE BY FAR THE LARGEST SINGLE OUTLAY IN THE DEFENSE BUDGET, ROUGHLY TWO-THIRDS. ASSUMPTION OF FUNDING FOR THE MILITARY ASSISTANCE PROGRAM BY THE GOCR WOULD RESULT IN A WHOPPING TEN-FOLD INCREASE IN EXPENDITURES FOR MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT PURCHASES, AND AN EIGHT PERCENT INCREASE IN THE OVERALL DEFENSE BUDGET. IMPACT ON THE TOTAL CENTRAL GOVERNMENT WOULD BE LESS SPECTACULAR, BUT NEVERTHELESS WOULD MAKE GOCR EFFORTS TO MEET IMF LIMITS ON THE CENTRAL GOVERNMENT BUDGET DEFICIT MORE DIFFICULT. IN REALITY, IT IS IMPROBABLE THAT THE DEFENSE-ORIENTED MINISTRIES COULD OR WOULD UNDERTAKE THIS PROGRAM IN THE ABSENCE OF U.S. ASSISTANCE.

F. ARMS CONTROL:

THE PROPOSED SECURITY ASSISTANCE TO COSTA RICA IS ENTIRELY CONSISTENT WITH THE GOCR'S LONG STANDING POLICY OF MAINTAINING A LIMITED PARA-MILITARY CONSTABULARY CAPABLE OF POLICING ITS BORDERS AND MAINTAINING INTERNAL SECURITY. COSTA RICA IS LOCATED GEOGRAPHICALLY IN A REGION BESET WITH SERIOUS CHALLENGES TO THE ESTABLISHED GOVERNMENTS, AND THE GOCR REQUIRES THE MILITARY WHEREWITHAL TO DEFEND ITS DEMOCRATIC SYSTEM FROM THREATS TO PUBLIC ORDER AND ITS TERRITORIAL INTEGRITY. CUBA AND NICARAGUA, AMONG REGIONAL NEIGHBORS, MAY ATTACK THE LIMITED SECURITY ASSISTANCE PROGRAM AS A USG EFFORT TO DISTORT COSTA RICA'S CIVIL TRADITION AND MILITARIZE THE SOCIETY. DOMESTIC ELEMENTS ON THE EXTREME LEFT WILL LIKELY PICK UP THIS THEME AS WELL. OTHER REGIONAL NEIGHBORS AND THE OVERWHELMING MAJORITY OF THE COSTA RICAN PUBLIC AND ALL MAJOR POLITICAL GROUPS WILL INTERPRET IT AS A WELCOME CONTRIBUTION TO THE LEGITIMATE SECURITY NEEDS OF THE COUNTRY.

ECONOMIC SUPPORT FUND ASSISTANCE PROVIDES DOLLAR RESOURCES TO FINANCE THE IMPORTATION FROM THE U.S. OF ESSENTIAL RAW MATERIALS, INTERMEDIATE GOODS, SPARE PARTS, AND OTHER INPUTS NEED TO MAINTAIN AGRICULTURAL AND INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION. ELIMINATION OF THE PLANNED RESOURCE INFLOW ($200 MILLION FOR FY 1987) WOULD ENTAIL APPROXIMATE 15 PERCENT REDUCTION OF REAL INCOMES IN COSTA RICA WITH PROBABLE ADVERSE CONSEQUENCES FOR MAINTENANCE OF DEMOCRATIC PROCESSES AND FOR THE INVESTMENT CLIMATE NEEDED FOR RESUMPTION OF SOUND1Y-BASED ECONOMIC GROWTH. DUE TO THE RELATIVELY ADVANCED LEVEL OF PUBLIC SERVICES AND PHYSICAL INFRASTRUCTURE PRESENTLY ATTAINED BY COSTA RICA AS WELL AS THE AVAILABILITY OF PROJECT-TYPE ASSISTANCE FROM OTHER DONORS, INCLUDING THE IDB, RELIANCE ON THE PROJECT ASSISTANCE ALONE WOULD PRECLUDE THE MAGNITUDE OF RESOURCE INFLOWS NEEDED TO HANDLE COSTA RICA'S PRESENT AND ANTICIPATED BALANCE OF PAYMENT DEFICITS.

DURING THE MONGE ADMINISTRATION (1982-1986) COSTA RICA HAS MADE NOTABLE PROGRESS IN STABILIZATION. THE GOCR NEGOTIATED AND MET AN IMF STABILIZATION PROGRAM IN 1983, AND WHILE SUBSEQUENT NEGOTIATIONS WERE NOT CONCLUDED UNTIL EARLY 1985, TARGETS PROPOSED FOR THE END OF 1984 WERE APPROXIMATED. THE RATE OF INFLATION HAS BEEN REDUCED FROM RATES IN EXCESS OF 100 PERCENT PER ANNUM IN 1981 AND 1982 TO RATES CURRENTLY AT LESS THAN 20 PERCENT PER ANNUM; THE FINANCIAL DEFICIT OF THE NON-FINANCIAL PUBLIC SECTOR HAS BEEN REDUCED FROM 14.3 PERCENT IN 1981 TO 9.0 PERCENT IN 1982 TO 3.4 PERCENT IN 1983, AND AN ESTIMATED 2.5 PERCENT IN 1984; AND ON A PURCHASING POWER PARITY BASIS (VIS-A-VIS THE U.S.) THE EXCHANGE RATE IS NEARLY THE SAME AS A DECADE AGO, I.E. BEFORE THE ECONOMIC CRISIS. IN 1985 THE GOCR HAS MOVED TO THE SECOND PHASE OF ECONOMIC RECOVERY, THAT IS WITH RELATIVE SUCCESS IN THE STABILIZATION EFFORT WHICH BEGAN IN 1982, THE PROGRAM CONTENT AND CONDITIONALITY IS NOW SHIFTING TO ECONOMIC REFORM. AS WELL AS UNDERPINNING COSTA RICA'S BALANCE OF PAYMENTS, THE LOCAL CURRENCY COUNTERPART OF FY 1985 ESF RESOURCES IS ORIENTED TO ASSISTING THE

GOCR WITH THE DIVESTITURE OF CODESA. THE LARGE GOVERNMENT HOLDING COMPANY FOR INDUSTRIAL ENTERPRISES. FINAL APPROVAL OF A STRUCTURAL ADJUSTMENT LOAN FROM THE IBRD TO THE GOCR IS EXPECTED SHORTLY. THIS $80 MILLION SAL IS SLATED TO BE THE FIRST OF THREE SUCH LOANS, WITH CONDITIONALITY REQUIRING THE REDUCTION OF HIGH TARIFF PROTECTION AND OF ELIMINATING PUBLIC SECTOR WASTE. APPROVAL IS ALSO EXPECTED SHORTLY FOR AN IMF STANDBY WHICH IS AN ESSENTIAL PRIOR CONDITION FOR A $75 MILLION LOAN FROM FOREIGN COMMERCIAL BANKS AND FOR 1985 PARIS CLUB DEBT RESCHEDULING.

- WE ANTICIPATE THAT THE NEED FOR BALANCE OF PAYMENT SUPPORT RESOURCES AND FOR DEBT RESCHEDULING WILL CONTINUE THROUGH FY 1987 AND POSSIBLY THROUGH THE REMAINDER OF THE DECADE. HOWEVER, THIS NEED MAY BE TEMPERED BY SEVERAL EVENTS IN COMING YEARS, E.G. IMPROVED WORLD MARKET CONDITIONS FOR COSTA RICA'S MAJOR EXPORTS, COFFEE AND BANANAS, SUCCESS IN EXPANDING EXPORTS OF NONTRADITIONAL GOODS, FAVORABLE INTEREST RATE MOVEMENTS, AND THE RESPONSE OF POTENTIAL FOREIGN INVESTORS TO INVESTMENT IN COSTA RICA. PUBLIC SECTOR EXTERNAL DEBT SERVICE RATIOS PROJECTED BY THE IMF IN 1984 FOR THE PERIOD 1985-1989 EXCEED FIFTY PERCENT OF FOREIGN EXCHANGE EARNINGS FROM EXPORTS OF GOODS AND NON-FACTOR SERVICES. THE RESCHEDULINGS RECENTLY AGREED TO BY FOREIGN COMMERCIAL BANKS AND RESCHEDULING OF OFFICIAL LOANS TO BE DISCUSSED SOON AT THE PARIS CLUB PROVIDE RELIEF FOR 1985 AND 1986 AND WILL INCREASE SERVICE PROJECTED FOR FUTURE YEARS. THEREFORE, WE CONSIDER THAT FURTHER PARIS CLUB AND COMMERCIAL BANK RESCHEDULINGS ARE LIKELY IN 1987. THE DEVELOPMENT STRATEGY WHICH THE INTERNATIONAL LENDERS ARE SUPPORTING IS DESIGNED TO REORIENT COSTA RICA'S ECONOMY FROM ITS PRESENT IMPORT-SUBSTITUTION BIAS TO ONE IN WHICH ECONOMIC GROWTH IS GENERATED THROUGH HIGHER EXPORTS OUTSIDE OTHER CENTRAL AMERICAN REGIONS

-EXPLANATION CONCERNING RESOLUTION ON CHILE

FOLLOWING IS TEXT OF U.S. EXPLANATION OF VOTE MADE BY AMBASSADOR SCHIFTER:

- MR. CHAIRMAN. THE VAST MAJORITY OF CHILEANS WANT TO SEE DEMOCRACY RE-ESTABLISHED IN THEIR COUNTRY. THE UNITED STATES IS IN FULL SYMPATHY WITH THESE DEEPLY-FELT DESIRES OF THE CHILEAN PEOPLE FOR A RETURN TO DEMOCRATIC RULE. WE BELIEVE THAT IN CHILE AS ELSEWHERE IN THE WORLD, DEMOCRACY IS THE BEST GUARANTOR OF HUMAN RIGHTS.

- FOR THAT VERY REASON WE ATTACHED GREAT HOPE TO A POLITICAL DIALOGUE BETWEEN THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT AND THE RESPONSIBLE OPPOSITION PARTIES ON THE TIMING AND PROCEDURES FOR A TRANSITION FROM THE CURRENT POLITICAL STRUCTURE TO A DEMOCRACTIC SYSTEM. TO OUR DEEP REGRET, THAT DIALOGUE ENDED ABRUPTLY. WE URGE THAT DISCUSSIONS BETWEEN THE GOVERNMENT AND THE REPRESENTATIVES OF DEMOCRATIC FORCES BE RESUMED AND SUSTAINED UNTIL THEY PRODUCE A NATIONAL CONSENSUS AND A FIRM COMMITMENT TO A TIMETABLE ON HOW AND WHEN DEMOCRACY WILL BE RESTORED IN CHILE.

- IN VOTING AGAINST SIMILAR RESOLUTIONS AGAINST CHILE OVER THE PAST THREE YEARS, MR. CHAIRMAN, WE WERE ABLE TO CALL ATTENTION TO CONTINUING IMPROVEMENTS

IN THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN THAT COUNTRY. THIS YEAR, AS I HAVE JUST INDICATED, WE MUST EXPRESS OUR DEEP CONCERN ABOUT THE REGRESSION IN HUMAN RIGHTS CONDITIONS IN CHILE OVER THE PAST YEAR. SPECIFICALLY, WE DEPLORE THE PRACTICE OF SUBJECTING PERSONS TO INTERNAL EXILE FOR POLITICAL REASONS; WE DEPLORE THE ABROGATION OF BASIC FREEDOMS AND HARSH REPRESSION UNDER A STATE OF SIEGE.

- MY GOVERNMENT, MR. CHAIRMAN, HAS MADE ITS VIEWS ON THE SUBJECT OF HUMAN RIGHTS CLEARLY KNOWN TO THE GOVERNMENT OF CHILE, BOTH PRIVATELY AND PUBLICLY. WE URGE THE GOVERNMENT OF CHILE TO TAKE IMMEDIATE CORRECTIVE MEASURES, BEGINNING WITH A LIFTING OF THE STATE OF SIEGE. WE CALL FOR AN IMMEDIATE END TO VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS AND REITERATE OUR VIEW REGARDING THE URGENT NECESSITY TO RE-ESTABLISH DEMOCRACY IN CHILE. CHILE HAS A LONG AND TRULY SHINING TRADITION AS A DEMOCRACY. WE STRONGLY BELIEVE IN AN EARLY RETURN TO THE DIALOGUE THAT WILL RE-ESTABLISH THAT TRADITION IN CHILE'S HALLS OF GOVERNMENT.

- HAVING MADE OUR POSITION CLEAR ON THE QUESTIONS OF SUBSTANCE POSED BY THE HUMAN RIGHTRS CONDITIONS IN CHILE, LET ME NOW EXPLAIN OUR VIEW OF THE RESOLUTION BEFORE US. WE HAVE REPEATEDLY CALLED ATTENTION TO THE DOUBLE STANDARD PRACTICED IN THE UNITED NATIONS SYSTEM. THIS DOUBLE STANDARD IS REFLECTED IN THE TEXT OF THIS RESOLUTION, WHICH SEEKS TO APPLY STANDARDS TO CHILE WHICH THIS COMMISSION DOES NOT APPLY TO OTHER STATES, STANDARDS WHICH, IN FACT, ARE NOT ADHERED TO BY MANY MEMBERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS. MANY OF THE CONCERNS EXPRESSED IN THE RESOLUTION, LET ME MAKE IT CLEAR, ARE CONCERNS WHICH WE SHARE AND WHICH WE HAVE, IN FACT, REPEATEDLY SET OUT IN COMMUNICATIONS DIRECTED BY US TO THE GOVERNMENT OF CHILE. BUT, MR. CHAIRMAN, WE SEE A DIFFERENCE BETWEEN WHAT IT IS THAT WE SAY DIRECTLY TO THE CHILEAN AUTHORITIES AND WHAT IT IS THAT WE SUPPORT IN THE UNITED NATIONS CONTEXT IN WHICH CHILE IS SINGLED OUT FOR TREATMENT SIMPLY NOT ACCORDED TO DTHERS. OUR PROBLEM HERE, MR. CHAIRMAN, IS WITH THE INTEGRITY OF THE UNITED NATIONS PROCESS. IN THE CASE OF CHILE WE ARE DEALING WITH A COUNTRY WHICH WE HAVE EVERY REASON TO BELIEVE WILL RETURN TO DEMOCRACY WITHIN THE NEXT FIVE YEARS. MY DWN COUNTRY HOPES THAT THIS PROCESS WILL BE SPEEDED UP. BUT WHAT BASIS, MR. CHAIRMAN, IS THERE FOR THE UNITED NATIONS TO CALL UPON CHILE TO RE-ESTABLISH DEMOCRATIC INSTITUTIONS WHEN IT TAKES NO STEPS WHATEVER TO MAKE SIMILAR CALLS UPDN OTHER MEMBER STATES, MEMBER STATES WITH FAR MORE REPRESSIVE

SYSTEMS, MEMBER STATES THAT HAVE MADE NO COMMITMENT TO A RETURN TO DEMOCRACY?

- TO SUM UP, MR. CHAIRMAN, OUR POSITION ON DEMOCRACY IN CHILE IS CLEAR. WE CANNOT OURSELVES BRING ABOUT AN EARLY TRANSITION TO DEMOCRACY. THAT WILL ULTIMATELY DEPEND ON THE CHILEANS THEMSELVES. BUT WE ARE MAKING EVERY REASONABLE EFFORT TO ENCOURAGE A DIALOGUE ON TRANSITION. THE RESOLUTION BEFORE US, AS NOW WORDED, SO CLEARLY UNDERLINING THE DOUBLE STANDARD, IMPEDES RATHER THAN ASSISTS THAT EFFORT. TO REGISTER OUR OBJECTION, WE SHALL VOTE "NO." LET ME MAKE IT CLEAR, THOUGH, THAT OUR VOTE APPLIES ONLY TO THE SPECIFIC TEXT THAT IS HERE BEING OFFERED. WE DO NOT OBJECT TO THE RAPPORTEUR'S MANDATE AND WOULD VOTE "YES"

REF: MEXICO 5766

1. AFTER CANVASSING SEVERAL U.S. BANK REPRESENTATIVES IN MEXICO CITY IT APPEARS THAT THE GOM DID MAKE AN OFFER TO MEXICO'S FOREIGN COMMERCIAL BANK CREDITORS TO EXCHANGE SHARES IN THE PARASTATAL COMPANIES FOR SOME OF THEIR (THE PARASTATALS) FOREIGN DEBT OBLIGATIONS (SEE REFTEL). THE REPORTED AMOUNT WAS ABOUT $200-300 MILLION. WHILE THE BANKERS TOLD GOM AUTHORITIES THAT THEY WOULD CONSIDER THIS PROPOSAL THEY HAVE GENERALLY GIVEN IT A COOL RECEPTION. MOST OF THE PARASTATAL COMPANIES INVOLVED

ARE SUBSIDIZED BY THE GOVERNMENT AND WOULD OTHERWISE LOSE MONEY. MOREOVER, THE BANKS WOULD NOT WANT TO HOLD THE SHARES FOR THEIR OWN ACCOUNTS AND THEY BELIEVE IT WOULD BE DIFFICULT TO MARKET THEM.

2. IT IS ENCOURAGING THAT THE GOVERNMENT WOULD LIKE TO OBTAIN INCREASED PRIVATE OWNERSHIP IN SOME OF THE STATE COMPANIES. AS PREVIOUSLY REPORTED, THE GOM IS LIQUIDATING OR TRANSFERRING OWNERSHIP OF SOME OF THE PARASTATAL COMPANIES THIS YEAR IN AN EFFORT TO REDUCE THE PUBLIC SECTOR DEFICIT. SHOULD IT MAKE A SERIOUS

EFFORT TO CONTINUE THIS PROCESS, IT COULD CONSTITUTE AN IMPORTANT REVERSAL OF THE TREND TOWARD INCREASING STATE CONTROL OF THE ECONOMY WHICH HAS BECOME PARTICULARLY STRONG OVER THE PAST 15 YEARS. NONETHELESS, IT IS STILL TOO EARLY TO JUDGE WHETHER THIS IS THE CASE AND IT WILL BE INTERESTING TO SEE WHETHER THE GOM'S STATED INTENTIONS BECOME A REALITY OR NOT. DRAFTED BY J.V. SWEENEY. GAVIN

1. EMBASSY HAS LEARNED THAT MINISTRY OF FINANCE DIRECTOR GENERAL FOR CREDIT, ANGEL GURRIA, HAS MADE A PROPOSAL TO MEXICO"S COMMERCIAL BANK CREDITORS WHICH COULD BE INCLUDED AS PART OF THE PUBLIC SECTOR DEBT RESCHEDULING AGREEMENT. ACCORDING TO OUR SOURCES GURRIA MADE A PROPOSAL TO THE BANKS TO EXCHANGE SOME OF THEIR DEBT HOLDINGS FOR SHARES IN MEXICAN PARASTATAL COMPANIES. APPARENTLY THE BANKERS HAVE BEEN GIVEN A LIST OF THESE COMPANIES AND ARE CONSIDERING THE PROPOSAL. WE

DO NOT HAVE A COPY OF THAT LIST BUT UNDERSTAND THAT SOME LARGE AND POTENTIALLY PROFITABLE PARASTATALS SUCH AS ALTOS HORNOS AND FUNDIDORA MONTERREY (STEEL COMPANIES), FOMENTO INDUSTRIA SOMEX (A DIVERSIFIED INDUSTRIAL GROUP), DIESEL NACIONAL (WHICH PRODUCES DIESEL ENGINES), MEXICANA AUTOBUSES (BUS PRODUCER) AND PIPSA (A STATE OWNED PAPER COMPANY) ARE AMONG THOSE ON THE LIST.

2. WE DO NOT YET KNOW ANY OF THE DETAILS BUT FEEL CERTAIN THAT IN ALL CASES BANK OWNERSHIP WOULD BE LIMITED TO A MINORITY POSITION IN THESE PARASTATALS. WE ARE ATTEMPTING TO OBTAIN ADDITIONAL INFORMATION. DRAFTED BY J.V.SWEENEY. GAVIN

SUBJECT: OFFICIAL-INFORMAL NO. 86

THE UNITED STATES, IN A NEW REBUKE TO CHILE FOR ITS HUMANRIGHTS RECORD AND LACK OF PROGRESS TOWARD DEMOCRACY, IS EXPECTED TO ABSTAIN WHEN THE WORLD BANK VOTES LATER THIS WEEK ON AN 11 MILLION DOLS LOAN TO HELP CHILE IMPROVE MANAGEMEN OF ITS STATE-RUN ENTERPRISES.

THE ABSTENTION WOULD CONTINUE THE U.S. STANCE TAKEN LAST MONTH WHEN THE INTER-AMERICAN DEVELOPMENT BANK APPROVED A 130 MILLION DOLS. LOAN TO CHILE.

U.S. OFFICIALS SAID THE PURPOSE IS TO MAKE A DISPLAY OF CONCERN OVER CHILEAN PRESIDENT AUGUSTO PINOCHET'S MAINTENANCE OF A STATE OF SIEGE AND HIS REFUSAL TO NEGOTIATE WITH OPPOSITION PARTIES ABOUT REPLACING CHILE'S 11-YEAR-OLD MILITARY DICTATORSHIP WITH CIVILIAN RULE.

THE DECISION TO ABSTAIN WAS DESCRIBED BY SOME OFFICIALS AS A TILT TOWARD THE TACTICAL APPROACH ADVOCATED BY

UNCLASSIFIED

ELLIOTT ABRAMS, ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS.

HE HAS SAID PUBLICLY THAT BECAUSE "QUIET PERSUASION" HAS FAILED TO BRING ABOUT A CHANGE IN CHILE'S RIGHTS POLICIES, THE REAGAN ADMINISTRATION MUST USE ITS LEVERAGE

TO DEMONSTRATE ITS DISPLEASURE WITH PINOCHET'S HARD-LINE COURSE.

ABRAMS' POSITION PROMPTED SPECULATION ABOUT WHETHER HE AND LANGHORNE A. (TONY) MOTLEY, ASSISTANT SECRETARY FOR INTERAMERICAN AFFAIRS, DISAGREED OVER CHILE. IN THE WAKE OF ABRAMS' REMARKS LAST MONTH ABOUT THE NEED FOR A TOUGHER U.S. POSITION, MOTLEY MET WITH PINOCHET IN SANTIAGO, BUT ACKNOWLEDGED AFTERWARD THAT HE DID NOT PRESS FOR AN EASING OF THE REPRESSION THAT HAS SEEN SIX OPPOSITION NEWSPAPERS CLOSED AND THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE ARRESTED.

THE OUTLINES OS U.S. POLICY ALSO HAVE BEEN BLURRED BY SIGNS THAT SECRETARY OF STATE GEORGE P. SHULTZ MAY ENCOUNTER OPPOSITION TO HIS PLAN TO SEND HARRY G. BARNES, JR., A VETERAN CAREER DIPLOMAT WHO IS AMBASSADOR TO INDIA, TO SANTIAGO TO REPLACE JAMES DANIEL THEBERGE, A POLITICAL APPOINTEE CONSIDERED SYMPATHETIC TO PINOCHET.

STATE DEPARTMENT SOURCES SAID CONGRESSIONAL CONSERVATIVES, SUSPICIOUS THAT BARNES' MOVE MIGHT BE PART OF A DRIVE TO FORCE OUT PINOCHET, HAVE BEEN DIGGING INTO THE AMBASSADOR'S BACKGROUND AND HAVE THREATENED A POSSIBLE FIGHT TO BLOCK HIS CONFIRMATION BY THE SENATE. THE SOURCES SAID THEY CANNOT GAUGE WHETHER THE OPPOSITION TO BARNES' TRANSFER IS SERIOUS.
UNCLASSIFIED

WHILE NOTING THAT SHULTZ HAS SHOWN NO SIGN OF BACKING AWAY FROM HIS DESIRE TO PUT BARNES IN SANTIAGO, SOME SOURCES SAID THE PROCESSING OF HIS NOMINATION PAPERS THROUGH THE WHITE HOUSE APPEARS TO HAVE BEEN HELD UP, AT LEAST TEMPORARILY.

U.S. OFFICIALS ALSO ACKNOWLEDGED THAT ABRAMS AND MOTLEY HAVE WHAT ONE CALLED "DIFFERENT CONSTITUENCIES THAT GIVE THEM DIFFERENT PERSPECTIVES ON THE PROBLEM."

IN CONTRAST TO ABRAMS' CALL FOR A SHOW OF TOUGHNESS, THEY SAID MOTLEY PREFERS TRYING TO STIMULATE DIALOGUE BETWEEN ALL IMPORTANT SECTORS IN CHILE THROUGH MOVES SUCH AS HIS VISIT TO SANTIAGO AND ANOTHER MADE LAST WEEK BY NESTOR D. SANCHEZ, A DEPUTY ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF DEFENSE.

BUT THE OFFICIALS ALSO ASSERTED THAT ABRAMS AND MOTLEY

AGREE THAT THE UNITED STATES, WHICH HAS LITTLE INFLUENCE

ON CHILE'S GOVERNENT, MUST COMBINE PUBLIC AND PRIVATE MEASURES, SOME CRITICAL AND SOME CONCILIATORY, IN ITS EFFORT TO STIMULATE A DIALOGUE.

THEY SAID THE LOAN ABSTENTION WAS PART OF THIS APPROACH, AND THEY ADDED THAT IT IS LIKELY TO BE APPLIED TO ALL CHILEAN LOAN REQUESTS THAT DO NOT INVOLVE "BASIC HUMAN NEEDS." (W.P. 3/13) SHULTZ

1. ACCORDING TO LOCAL PRESS REPORTS THE REACTION OF INTERNATIONAL BANKERS TO THE MEXICAN GOVERNMENT'S OFFER TO TRADE SHARES IN PARASTATAL COMPANIES FOR THEIR DEBT OBLIGATIONS HAS NOT BEEN FAVORABLE. THE BANKERS SAY THAT THE OFFER WAS NOT REALLY A CONCRETE PROPOSAL BUT RATHER AN IDEA FLOATED BY THE MEXICAN GOVERNMENT. ALTHOUGH THE BANKERS NOTE THAT THEY MIGHT BE ABLE TO ACCEPT SPECIFIC PROPOSALS IN A LIMITED NUMBER OF CASES, THE CAPITALIZATION OF DEBT WOULD NOT BE FEASIBLE ON ANY EXTENSIVE BASIS.

2. FINANCE MINISTER SILVA-HERZOG ALSO DENIED THAT THE MEXICAN GOVERNMENT HAD GIVEN THE BANKERS A LIST OF PUBLIC SECTOR COMPANIES WHOSE LIABILITIES CAN BE CAPITALIZED. THE FINANCE MINISTRY WOULD ADMIT, HOWEVER, THAT DURING THE LAST STAGES OF NEGOTIATIONS WITH CREDITOR BANKS A CLAUSE WAS INCLUDED UNDER WHICH DEBT CAN BE CONVERTED INTO EQUITY IN THE STATE COMPANIES IN CERTAIN INSTANCES. NONETHELESS THE MINISTRY WENT ON TO SAY THAT THIS REFERRED TO SOME NON-PRIORITY FEDERALLY OWNED COMPANIES WHICH HAD EXTERNAL DEBT AND WHOSE FINANCIAL SITUATION HAD TO BE STRENGTHENED SO THAT THEY COULD BE SOLD TO THE PRIVATE SECTOR. ALL IN ALL IT IS UNLIKELY THE GOM WOULD BE WILLING TO TRADE SHARES IN ANY LUCERATIVE STATE OWNED COMPANIES (SUCH AS PEMEX OR TELEMEX) FOR THEIR DEBT OBLIGATIONS OR THAT THE BANKS WOULD BE WILLING TO CONSIDER TAKING SHARES IN THE WEAKER PUBLIC ENTERPRISES. 1. SUMMARY: IN VIEW OF PERSISTENT BUT INACCURATE REPORTS THAT OVERALL POLITICAL VIOLENCE HAS BEEN ON THE RISE IN EL SALVADOR, WE HAVE EXAMINED AND RECAPITULATED OUR FIGURES FROM THE BEGINNING OF 1985 IN THIS CABLE. THEY REVEAL A CONTINUED VERY LOW LEVEL OF POSSIBLE POLITICAL MURDERS BY THE RIGHT. AT THE SAME TIME, THEY SHOW A STILL SUBSTANTIALLY HIGHER, BUT OVERALL NOT RISING, LEVEL OF LEFTIST POLITICAL MURDERS. HOWEVER, LEFTIST MURDERS DID GIVE THE APPEARANCE OF HAVING INCREASED DURING THIS PERIOD BECAUSE OF A STEP UP OF ATTACKS ON POLITICIANS, HIGH PROFILE URBAN OR SEMI-URBAN TERRORISM, OR LEFTIST ATTACKS AGAINST THE UNFOLDING ELECTORAL PROCESS, FOR EXAMPLE THE DESTRUCTION OF TOWN HALLS. THUS, FOR JANUARY 1--MARCH 15, WE COUNT [redacted] MURDERS AS CLEARLY OR POSSIBLY ATTRIBUTABLE TO THE LEFT AND [redacted] AS POSSIBLY ATTRIBUTABLE TO [redacted] WE ARE UNABLE TO [redacted] MURDERS TO EITHER GROUP.) APART FROM THE LEFT'S KILLING OF SEVEN POLITICAL FIGURES IN THIS PERIOD, A SUBSTANTIAL INCREASE IN THAT PARTICULAR CATEGORY OF VICTIM, OVERALL LEFT AND RIGHT POLITICAL VIOLENCE FIGURES REMAIN AT HISTORICALLY LOW LEVELS. END SUMMARY.

2. WE ARE SUBMITTING A ROUND-UP ON POLITICAL VIOLENCE

THUS FAR IN 1985 TO HELP DEAL WITH THE AMBIGUOUS BUT WIDELY BRUITED NOTION THAT DEATHS DUE TO POLITICAL VIOLENCE HAVE BEEN ON THE RISE. AS FIGURES CITED BELOW (BASED ON PRESS, GUERRILLA RADIO REPORTS, AND OTHER SOURCES) INDICATE, THIS IS NOT BORNE OUT BY AVAILABLE INFORMATION ON VIOLENCE. MOST CLAIMS OF INCREASED VIOLENCE ALSO FAIL TO DISTINGUISH BETWEEN COMBAT-RELATED DEATHS AND ASSASSINATION-TYPE SLAYINGS THAT HAVE A CLEAR CUT POLITICAL MOTIVE. IT SHOULD BE KEPT IN MIND THAT, AS A PRACTICAL MATTER, IT IS IMPOSSIBLE FOR ANY OBSERVER IN EL SALVADOR TO BE ABSOLUTELY CERTAIN THAT THERE IS A POLITICAL CONNECTION IN MOST REPORTED MURDERS, AND EQUALLY IMPOSSIBLE, IN MOST CASES, TO BE SURE ABOUT WHO IS RESPONSIBLE. THE UNSTATED PREMISE OF MOST OF THOSE WHO CLAIM INCREASED POLITICAL VIOLENCE IS THAT THE GOES IS RESPONSIBLE. BUT THIS PREMISE IS UNSUPPORTED BY THE FACTS.

3. PART OF THE CONFUSION ABOUT POLITICAL VIOLENCE IS THE RESULT OF POOR OR COLORED U.S. PRESS REPORTING, OR BIAS IN THE PRIMARY SOURCES. AN EXCELLENT EXAMPLE OF A COMBINATION OF THESE TOOK PLACE RECENTLY WHEN THE U.S. PRESS REPORTED THAT THE AUXILIARY BISHOP, IN HIS MARCH 3 HOMILY, ANNOUNCED THE DRAMATIC FIGURE OF 86 POLITICAL KILLINGS IN THE PRECEEDING WEEK. IN FACT, AS WE REPORTED, THE BISHOP DID NO SUCH THING. HE NOTED THAT 86 PEOPLE HAD DIED, OF WHICH 5 WERE CIVILIANS KILLED BY THE GUERRILLAS, 8 WERE DEATH SQUAD VICTIMS AND THE REST WERE ESAF CASUALTIES OR PRESUMED GUERRILLA COMBATANTS. THIS CASE ALSO DEMONSTRATES THE TENDENCY AMONG SOME OBSERVERS INACCURATELY TO INCLUDE COMBAT-RELATED DEATHS IN POLITICAL VIOLENCE FIGURES. OUR OWN VIEW IS THAT ACCIDENTAL DEATHS, SUCH AS CIVILIAN CASUALTIES OF ENGAGEMENTS OR CAMPESINOS KILLED BY GUERRILLA OR ESAF MINEFIELDS, SHOULD NOT BE CLASSIFIED AS POLITICAL VIOLENCE DESPITE THEIR CLEAR HUMAN RIGHTS

IMPLICATIONS. HOWEVER, TO BE CONSISTENT WITH OUR PAST REPORTING METHODS, WE CONTINUE TO DO SO IN OUR POLITICAL VIOLENCE REPORTING.

4. OF THE VARIOUS TYPES OF POLITICAL VIOLENCE, THE ONE THAT IS CLEARLY ON THE RISE IS MURDER BY THE LEFT IN CONNECTION WITH URBAN OR SEMI-URBAN (SMALL TOWN) TERRORISM, OR THE WAR ON THE ELECTORAL PROCESS. THESE MURDERS ARE NOT OF THEMSELVES, HOWEVER, STATISTICALLY SIGNIFICANT IN TERMS OF OVERALL VIOLENCE. THE CASES WE CITE BELOW ARE THOSE WHICH, ACCORDING TO OUR PRACTICED JUDGEMENT CAN, WITH REASONABLE CONFIDENCE, BE CLASSED AS POLITICAL MURDERS OF REASONABLY CLEAR AUTHORSHIP. FOR A VARIETY OF REASONS, WE DEDUCE THE VAST MAJORITY TO BE MURDERS BY THE LEFT: STATEMENTS FROM THE LEFT ITSELF; THE TRADITIONAL PRE-ELECTORAL VIOLENCE DIRECTED AGAINST THE POLITICAL PROCESS AND ITS PARTICIPANTS; THE CONTINUED LOW INCIDENCE OF CLEAR-CUT DEATH SQUAD ACTIVITY; THE NEAR TOTAL, WE BELIEVE, CESSATION OF SECURITY FORCE ABUSES; AND EVEN A MEASURE OF INTERNECINE CONFLICT ON THE LEFT.

5. THE MAJORITY OF VIOLENCE CASES THAT WE ARE AWARE OF SEEM TO US OF A CRIMINAL NATURE AND TO FALL OUTSIDE THE CATEGORY OF CLEAR-CUT POLITICAL VIOLENCE BECAUSE OF THE CIRCUMSTANCES OF THE DEATHS, LACK OF ANY EVIDENCE REGARDING RESPONSIBILITY, APPARENT LACK OF MOTIVE, ETC. THERE MAY IN FACT BE A MEASURE OF SUBMERGED POLITICAL VIOLENCE IN THESE CASES. HOWEVER, GIVEN THE RISE IN THE OPEN OR OBVIOUS URBAN ACTIVITY OF THE LEFT, WE HAVE NO REASON TO DOUBT A PARALLEL RISE IN THE LEFT'S RESPONSIBILITY FOR CASES THAT REMAIN MYSTERIOUS TO US. WE SEE, AND HAVE HEARD, NOTHING TO INDICATE THAT THE EXTREME RIGHT HAS STEPPED UP POLITICAL VIOLENCE AT THIS TIME. THE PRE-ELECTORAL FACTOR SEEMS IRRELEVANT

VIS-A-VIS THE RIGHT: FEW VICTIMS HAVE ANY CONNECTION WITH THE PDC, AND WE DOUBT THE EXTREME RIGHT WOULD BE ENGAGING IN POLITICAL VIOLENCE AGAINST OBSCURE LEFTISTS IN ORDER TO PROTECT THE ELECTORAL PROCESS.

7. THUS FAR IN 1985, A TOTAL OF SEVEN, MOSTLY ARENA, POLITICAL FIGURES HAVE BEEN ASSASSINATED: THE PCN MAYOR OF SANTA ELENA WAS KILLED ON JANUARY 8 AND AN ARENA PARTY MAYORESS IN SAN JORGE, SAN MIGUEL DEPARTMENT, WAS GUNNED DOWN ON JANUARY 18. THE ARENA CITY TREASURER OF SANTA TECLA WAS KILLED ON THE STREET ON JANUARY 12. A PROMINENT ARENA PARTY MEMBER AND LANDOWNER WAS ASSASSINATED IN SANTA ANA ON JANUARY 5. ON JANUARY 23, AN ARENA CANDIDATE FOR OFFICE WAS ASSASSINATED. IN LATE FEBRUARY, THE ARENA MAYORAL CANDIDATE IN SOYAPANGO (A SAN SALVADOR SUBURB) WAS KILLED. A VILLAGE MAYOR WAS ASSASSINATED NEAR SANTA ANA IN THE FIRST FEW DAYS OF MARCH.

8. WHILE THE LEFT HAS NOT OPENLY TAKEN CREDIT FOR THESE ATTACKS, A RADIO HAVANA BROADCAST OF FEBRUARY 27 COMMENTED THAT "THUS FAR THIS YEAR, 12 ARENA 'MILITANTS' AND MEMBERS OF THE PDC HAVE BEEN SHOT." ALTHOUGH THE LEFT HAS NOT OPENLY TAKEN CREDIT FOR THE MURDER OF THE POLITICIANS, THE FEBRUARY 27 RADIO BROADCAST CITED ABOVE AND THE GUERRILLA HISTORY OF ATTACKING THE ELECTORAL PROCESS MAKES US CONFIDENT IN CALLING THESE MURDERS VERY POSSIBLY OF GUERRILLA AUTHORSHIP.

ON FEBRUARY 28.

--A RELIEF TRUCK TRANSPORTING POLICEMEN WAS ATTACKED BY GUERRILLAS IN DOWNTOWN SAN SALVADOR. THE TERRORISTS USED FRAGMENTATION GRENADES AND ROCKET PROPELLED GRENADES (RPG-2), WOUNDING 12 POLICE AGENTS AND KILLING TWO.

--ON FEBRUARY 23, RICARDO VALDIVIESO WAS KILLED WHEN GUERRILLAS MACHINE GUNNED HIS CAR WHILE TRAVELLING ON THE TRONCAL DEL NORTE HIGHWAY IN THE DEPARTMENT OF SAN SALVADOR.

--NATIONAL POLICEMAN CAPT. FIDEL LOPEZ MOLASCO WAS MURDERED BY GUERRILLAS ON FEBRUARY 23 WHEN HE GOT OUT OF HIS CAR TO BUY A BIRTHDAY CAKE. A RADIO HAVANA BROADCAST CITED THIS KILLING AS AN "EXECUTION BY URBAN GUERRILLAS".

--PEDRO GARCIA ALAS WAS KILLED FEBRUARY 25 WHEN GUERRILLAS MACHINE GUNNED HIS VEHICLE IN USULUTAN.

--AIR FORCE MECHANIC OSCAR ALEXANDER HERNANDEZ RIVAS WAS SHOT BY GUERRILLAS WHILE IN A CAFE IN SANTA TECLA. A RADIO HAVANA BROADCAST NOTED THAT THE FEBRUARY 25 SLAYING WAS PERPETRATED BY URBAN GUERRILLAS, CLAIMING THAT HERNANDEZ WAS LINKED WITH THE DEATH SQUADS.

--ON FEBRUARY 27 HONDURAN CITIZEN RUBEN RODRIGUEZ WAS KILLED BY GUERRILLAS WHILE TRANSPORTING WATERMELONS TO MARKET.

--A PARTICULARLY VICIOUS ATTACK AGAINST A KEY POLITICAL FIGURE WAS THE ASSAULT AGAINST THE HOME OF CENTRAL ELECTIONS COUNCIL (CCE) PRESIDENT MARIO SAMAYOA ON

FEBRUARY 26 (REFS E AND F). IN ADDITION TO TWO BODYGUARDS, TWO INNOCENT CIVILIANS DIED AS A RESULT OF THE ATTACK. A MARCH 1 RADIO VENCEREMOS BROADCAST TOOK CREDIT FOR THESE KILLINGS.

--IN A RADIO VENCEREMOS BROADCAST THE FMLN TOOK CREDIT FOR THE MARCH 1 MURDER OF CARLOS MARTINEZ CRUZ, A TEXTILE FACTORY SUPERVISOR.

--ON MARCH 7, GUERRILLAS ASSASSINATED THE ARMED FORCES PRESS COMMITTEE (COPREFA) SPOKESMAN LT. COL. RICARDO CIENFUEGOS. IN THIS CASE, THE ASSASSINS ENTERED A POPULAR TENNIS CLUB DRESSED IN APPROPRIATE TENNIS ATTIRE AND GUNNED DOWN THEIR VICTIM AS HE WAS RESTING BETWEEN MATCHES. IN A CALL TO A LOCAL RADIO STATION, A PERSON CLAIMING TO BE A MEMBER OF THE ALLEGED FPL DISSIDENT GROUP CERF STATED THE EXECUTION WAS CARRIED OUT BECAUSE CIENFUEGOS DIRECTED COPREFA, "AN OFFICE USED BY THE YANKEE IMPERIALISM'S PUPPET BOURGEOIS REGIME TO IMPLEMENT A PSYCHOLOGICAL WARFARE AND MISINFORMATION."

--IN SANTA ANA, PEDRO CHACON MENENDEZ, FARMER, AND JOSE CAMPOS COTO, VILLAGE COMMANDANT, WERE KILLED MARCH 8TH BY A GROUP OF 75 GUERRILLAS WHO LEFT FMLN PROPAGANDA AT THE SCENE.

THAT AFTER SHOOTING THE VICTIM, THE ASSASSIN SAID, "YOU ARE A SOLDIER".

--DOMINGO AVILES VARGAS, CONSERVATIVE (PCN) MAYOR OF SANTA ELENA (USULUTAN) WAS SHOT IN HIS OFFICE BY THREE GUNMEN JANUARY 8.

--JULIO CESAR CASTRO BELLOSO, FORMER COMMUNIST PARTY CENTRAL COMMITTEE MEMBER AND LEFT LABOR LEADER (FUSS) WAS KILLED ON THE STREET NEAR HIS HOME JANUARY 11 (REF A). INACTIVE AND INVISIBLE FOR YEARS, CASTRO WAS NOT A LOGICAL PRIORITY TARGET FOR THE RIGHT, WHICH HAS MANY BIGGER AND MORE THREATENING TARGETS EASILY AVAILABLE. ACCORDING TO RELIABLE INFORMATION, HE WAS KILLED BY THE LEFT AS A TURNCOAT.

--JOSE BALBINO ARTEAGA, ARENA CITY TREASURER OF SANTA TECLA, WAS KILLED AT A CROWDED BUS STOP JANUARY 12 BY THREE ASSAILANTS WHO ESCAPED IN THE CONFUSION. A NON-POLITICAL MOTIVE FOR THE KILLING WAS MENTIONED BY THE VICTIM'S SISTER, WHO SAID AN UNNAMED INDIVIDUAL HAD ALREADY THREATENED ARTEAGA'S LIFE OVER UNPAID DEBTS. PRIVATE EMBASSY SOURCE SAYS THIS IS POSSIBLE, BUT WE NOTE IT WOULD HAVE MADE COLLECTION OF THE DEBTS MORE DIFFUCULT.

--SALVADORAN AIR FORCE (FAS) DRIVER ALBERTO MENDEZ HERNANDEZ WAS SHOT DEAD 16 JANUARY WHILE DRIVING A FAS CAR IN THE IMMEDIATE VICINITY OF THE U.S. EMBASSY.

--GRACIELA MONICO PALMA, ARENA MAYOR OF SAN JORGE, IN SAN MIGUEL DEPARTMENT, WAS SHOT TO DEATH BY 2 UNKNOWN ASSAILANTS WHO BURST INTO HER OFFICE 16 JANUARY.

--JOSE EXPECTACION LANDAVERDE, AN EX-SOLDIER, WAS KILLED

IN SAN SALVADOR ON JANUARY 22 BY GUNSHOTS.

--MEDARDO AVELAR BONILLA, A PRE-CANDIDATE FOR THE OFFICE OF SUBSTITUTE FOR ARENA DEPUTY, WAS A PUBLIC ACCOUNTANT WORKING FOR THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE AS AN ADMINISTRATOR. HE WAS SHOT BY UNKNOWN ASSAILANTS AT A BUSY INTERSECTION IN SAN SALVADOR 23 JANUARY.

--ON JANUARY 25, TWO DETECTIVES OF THE NATIONAL POLICE, JUAN ANTONIO MARTINEZ SEGOVIA, AND ALVARO ANTONIO AVILES PEREZ, WHO WERE RIDING IN A PICK UP TRUCK AND WERE DELIVERING MAIL TO AN EMBASSY FROM THE VICE MINISTRY OF DEFENSE, WERE FATALLY SHOT BY UNKNOWN INDIVIDUALS IN THE SURROUNDINGS OF THE POLYTECHNIC UNIVERSITY, SAN SALVADOR. THE TWO AGENTS WERE MEMBERS OF THE PROTECTIVE DETAIL OF COL. CARLOS REYNALDO LOPEZ NUILA, VICE MINISTER OF DEFENSE.

--NATIONAL POLICEMAN VICTOR MANUEL BARRERA WAS MURDERED BY AN UNKNOWN ASSAILANT IN DOWNTOWN SAN SALVADOR ON JANUARY 25.

--ON FEBRUARY 2 PEDRO JUAN SORIANO DURA, FORMER SOLDIER FROM SAN VICENTE, WAS FOUND IN A WELL WITH HIS HEAD MISSING.

--NATIONAL POLICE AGENT CARLOS FRANCISCO CARCAMO CUELLAR WAS MURDERED BY MACHETE WHILE OFF DUTY NEAR SANTA ANA ON FEBRUARY 12.

--RAMON ARIAS WAS KILLED BY MEN WHO IDENTIFIED THEMSELVES AS MEMBERS OF THE FMLN ON FEBRUARY 18 IN SAN MIGUEL.

--ON FEBRUARY 23, CAYETANO ALVARADO RAMIREZ, A FORMER CADET OF THE NATIONAL POLICE, BERNARDO RAMIREZ GARCIA, AND SANTOS ALVARADO WERE TAKEN TO A FOOTBALL FIELD BY MEN WHO CLAIMED TO BE MEMBERS OF THE FMLN/FDR, STABBED AND KILLED BY GUNSHOTS.

1. SUMMARY: IN VIEW OF PERSISTENT BUT INACCURATE REPORTS THAT OVERALL POLITICAL VIOLENCE HAS BEEN ON THE RISE IN EL SALVADOR, WE HAVE EXAMINED AND RECAPITULATED OUR FIGURES FROM THE BEGINNING OF 1985 IN THIS CABLE. THEY REVEAL A CONTINUED VERY LOW LEVEL OF POSSIBLE POLITICAL MURDERS BY THE RIGHT. AT THE SAME TIME, THEY SHOW A STILL SUBSTANTIALLY HIGHER, BUT OVERALL NOT RISING, LEVEL OF LEFTIST POLITICAL MURDERS. HOWEVER, LEFTIST MURDERS DID GIVE THE APPEARANCE OF HAVING INCREASED DURING THIS PERIOD BECAUSE OF A STEP UP OF ATTACKS ON POLITICIANS, HIGH PROFILE URBAN OR SEMI-URBAN TERRORISM, OR LEFTIST ATTACKS AGAINST THE UNFOLDING ELECTORAL PROCESS, FOR EXAMPLE THE DESTRUCTION OF TOWN HALLS. THUS, FOR JANUARY 1--MARCH 15, WE COUNT [redacted] MURDERS AS CLEARLY OR POSSIBLY ATTRIBUTABLE TO THE LEFT AND [redacted] AS POSSIBLY ATTRIBUTABLE TO THE EXTREME RIGHT. [redacted] ARE UNABLE TO ATTRIBUTE 36 MURDERS TO EITHER GROUP.) APART FROM THE LEFT'S KILLING OF SEVEN POLITICAL FIGURES IN THIS PERIOD, A SUBSTANTIAL INCREASE IN THAT PARTICULAR CATEGORY OF VICTIM, OVERALL LEFT AND RIGHT POLITICAL VIOLENCE FIGURES REMAIN AT HISTORICALLY LOW LEVELS. END SUMMARY.

2. WE ARE SUBMITTING A ROUND-UP ON POLITICAL VIOLENCE

SAN SA 03652 01 OF 06 231732Z 2161 ARA5334

THUS FAR IN 1985 TO HELP DEAL WITH THE AMBIGUOUS BUT WIDELY BRUITED NOTION THAT DEATHS DUE TO POLITICAL VIOLENCE HAVE BEEN ON THE RISE. AS FIGURES CITED BELOW (BASED ON PRESS, GUERRILLA RADIO REPORTS, AND OTHER SOURCES) INDICATE, THIS IS NOT BORNE OUT BY AVAILABLE INFORMATION ON VIOLENCE. MOST CLAIMS OF INCREASED VIOLENCE ALSO FAIL TO DISTINGUISH BETWEEN COMBAT-RELATED DEATHS AND ASSASSINATION-TYPE SLAYINGS THAT HAVE A CLEAR CUT POLITICAL MOTIVE. IT SHOULD BE KEPT IN MIND THAT, AS A PRACTICAL MATTER, IT IS IMPOSSIBLE FOR ANY OBSERVER IN EL SALVADOR TO BE ABSOLUTELY CERTAIN THAT THERE IS A POLITICAL CONNECTION IN MOST REPORTED MURDERS, AND EQUALLY IMPOSSIBLE, IN MOST CASES, TO BE SURE ABOUT WHO IS RESPONSIBLE. THE UNSTATED PREMISE OF MOST OF THOSE WHO CLAIM INCREASED POLITICAL VIOLENCE IS THAT THE GOES IS RESPONSIBLE. BUT THIS PREMISE IS UNSUPPORTED BY THE FACTS.

3. PART OF THE CONFUSION ABOUT POLITICAL VIOLENCE IS THE RESULT OF POOR OR COLORED U.S. PRESS REPORTING, OR BIAS IN THE PRIMARY SOURCES. AN EXCELLENT EXAMPLE OF A COMBINATION OF THESE TOOK PLACE RECENTLY WHEN THE U.S. PRESS REPORTED THAT THE AUXILIARY BISHOP, IN HIS MARCH 3 HOMILY, ANNOUNCED THE DRAMATIC FIGURE OF 86 POLITICAL KILLINGS IN THE PRECEEDING WEEK. IN FACT, AS WE REPORTED, THE BISHOP DID NO SUCH THING. HE NOTED THAT 86 PEOPLE HAD DIED, OF WHICH 5 WERE CIVILIANS KILLED BY THE GUERRILLAS, 3 WERE DEATH SQUAD VICTIMS AND THE REST WERE ESAF CASUALTIES OR PRESUMED GUERRILLA COMBATANTS. THIS CASE ALSO DEMONSTRATES THE TENDENCY AMONG SOME OBSERVERS INACCURATELY TO INCLUDE COMBAT-RELATED DEATHS IN POLITICAL VIOLENCE FIGURES. OUR OWN VIEW IS THAT ACCIDENTAL DEATHS, SUCH AS CIVILIAN CASUALTIES OF ENGAGEMENTS OR CAMPESINOS KILLED BY GUERRILLA OR ESAF MINEFIELDS, SHOULD NOT BE CLASSIFIED AS POLITICAL VIOLENCE DESPITE THEIR CLEAR HUMAN RIGHTS

IMPLICATIONS. HOWEVER, TO BE CONSISTENT WITH OUR PAST REPORTING METHODS, WE CONTINUE TO DO SO IN OUR POLITICAL VIOLENCE REPORTING.

4. OF THE VARIOUS TYPES OF POLITICAL VIOLENCE, THE ONE THAT IS CLEARLY ON THE RISE IS MURDER BY THE LEFT IN CONNECTION WITH URBAN OR SEMI-URBAN (SMALL TOWN) TERRORISM, OR THE WAR ON THE ELECTORAL PROCESS. THESE MURDERS ARE NOT OF THEMSELVES, HOWEVER, STATISTICALLY SIGNIFICANT IN TERMS OF OVERALL VIOLENCE. THE CASES WE CITE BELOW ARE THOSE WHICH, ACCORDING TO OUR PRACTICED JUDGEMENT CAN, WITH REASONABLE CONFIDENCE, BE CLASSED AS POLITICAL MURDERS OF REASONABLY CLEAR AUTHORSHIP. FOR A VARIETY OF REASONS, WE DEDUCE THE VAST MAJORITY TO BE MURDERS BY THE LEFT: STATEMENTS FROM THE LEFT ITSELF; THE TRADITIONAL PRE-ELECTORAL VIOLENCE DIRECTED AGAINST THE POLITICAL PROCESS AND ITS PARTICIPANTS; THE CONTINUED LOW INCIDENCE OF CLEAR-CUT DEATH SQUAD ACTIVITY; THE NEAR TOTAL, WE BELIEVE, CESSATION OF SECURITY FORCE ABUSES; AND EVEN A MEASURE OF INTERNECINE CONFLICT ON THE LEFT.

5. THE MAJORITY OF VIOLENCE CASES THAT WE ARE AWARE OF SEEM TO US OF A CRIMINAL NATURE AND TO FALL OUTSIDE THE CATEGORY OF CLEAR-CUT POLITICAL VIOLENCE BECAUSE OF THE CIRCUMSTANCES OF THE DEATHS, LACK OF ANY EVIDENCE REGARDING RESPONSIBILITY, APPARENT LACK OF MOTIVE, ETC. THERE MAY IN FACT BE A MEASURE OF SUBMERGED POLITICAL VIOLENCE IN THESE CASES. HOWEVER, GIVEN THE RISE IN THE OPEN OR OBVIOUS URBAN ACTIVITY OF THE LEFT, WE HAVE NO REASON TO DOUBT A PARALLEL RISE IN THE LEFT'S RESPONSIBILITY FOR CASES THAT REMAIN MYSTERIOUS TO US. WE SEE, AND HAVE HEARD, NOTHING TO INDICATE THAT THE EXTREME RIGHT HAS STEPPED UP POLITICAL VIOLENCE AT THIS TIME. THE PRE-ELECTORAL FACTOR SEEMS IRRELEVANT

VIS-A-VIS THE RIGHT: FEW VICTIMS HAVE ANY CONNECTION WITH THE PDC, AND WE DOUBT THE EXTREME RIGHT WOULD BE ENGAGING IN POLITICAL VIOLENCE AGAINST OBSCURE LEFTISTS IN ORDER TO PROTECT THE ELECTORAL PROCESS.

6. POLITICAL VIOLENCE JANUARY 1--MARCH 15 (FIGURES DERIVED FROM PRESS, GUERRILLA RADIO REPORTS, AND OTHER SOURCES):

TOTAL MURDERS	82
BY UNKNOWN ASSAILANT:	16	BY EXTREME RIGHT:	0

7. THUS FAR IN 1985, A TOTAL OF SEVEN, MOSTLY ARENA, POLITICAL FIGURES HAVE BEEN ASSASSINATED: THE PCN MAYOR OF SANTA ELENA WAS KILLED ON JANUARY 8 AND AN ARENA PARTY MAYORESS IN SAN JORGE, SAN MIGUEL DEPARTMENT, WAS GUNNED DOWN ON JANUARY 16. THE ARENA CITY TREASURER OF SANTA TECLA WAS KILLED ON THE STREET ON JANUARY 12. A PROMINENT ARENA PARTY MEMBER AND LANDOWNER WAS ASSASSINATED IN SANTA ANA ON JANUARY 5. ON JANUARY 23, AN ARENA CANDIDATE FOR OFFICE WAS ASSASSINATED. IN LATE FEBRUARY, THE ARENA MAYORAL CANDIDATE IN SOYAPANGO (A SAN SALVADOR SUBURB) WAS KILLED. A VILLAGE MAYOR WAS ASSASSINATED NEAR SANTA ANA IN THE FIRST FEW DAYS OF MARCH.

8. WHILE THE LEFT HAS NOT OPENLY TAKEN CREDIT FOR THESE ATTACKS, A RADIO HAVANA BROADCAST OF FEBRUARY 27 COMMENTED THAT "THUS FAR THIS YEAR, 12 ARENA 'MILITANTS' AND MEMBERS OF THE PDC HAVE BEEN SHOT." ALTHOUGH THE LEFT HAS NOT OPENLY TAKEN CREDIT FOR THE MURDER OF THE POLITICIANS, THE FEBRUARY 27 RADIO BROADCAST CITED ABOVE AND THE GUERRILLA HISTORY OF ATTACKING THE ELECTORAL PROCESS MAKES US CONFIDENT IN CALLING THESE MURDERS VERY POSSIBLY OF GUERRILLA AUTHORSHIP.

ON FEBRUARY 23.

--A RELIEF TRUCK TRANSPORTING POLICEMEN WAS ATTACKED BY GUERRILLAS IN DOWNTOWN SAN SALVADOR. THE TERRORISTS USED FRAGMENTATION GRENADES AND ROCKET PROPELLED GRENADES (RPG-2), WOUNDING 12 POLICE AGENTS AND KILLING TWO.

--ON FEBRUARY 23, RICARDO VALDIVIESO WAS KILLED WHEN GUERRILLAS MACHINE GUNNED HIS CAR WHILE TRAVELLING ON THE TRONCAL DEL NORTE HIGHWAY IN THE DEPARTMENT OF SAN SALVADOR.

--NATIONAL POLICEMAN CAPT. FIDEL LOPEZ NOLASCO WAS MURDERED BY GUERRILLAS ON FEBRUARY 23 WHEN HE GOT OUT OF HIS CAR TO BUY A BIRTHDAY CAKE. A RADIO HAVANA BROADCAST CITED THIS KILLING AS AN "EXECUTION BY URBAN GUERRILLAS".

--PEDRO GARCIA ALAS WAS KILLED FEBRUARY 25 WHEN GUERRILLAS MACHINE GUNNED HIS VEHICLE IN USULUTAN.

--AIR FORCE MECHANIC OSCAR ALEXANDER HERNANDEZ RIVAS WAS SHOT BY GUERRILLAS WHILE IN A CAFE IN SANTA TECLA. A RADIO HAVANA BROADCAST NOTED THAT THE FEBRUARY 25 SLAYING WAS PERPETRATED BY URBAN GUERRILLAS, CLAIMING THAT HERNANDEZ WAS LINKED WITH THE DEATH SQUADS.

--ON FEBRUARY 27 HONDURAN CITIZEN RUBEN RODRIGUEZ WAS KILLED BY GUERRILLAS WHILE TRANSPORTING WATERMELONS TO MARKET.

--A PARTICULARLY VICIOUS ATTACK AGAINST A KEY POLITICAL FIGURE WAS THE ASSAULT AGAINST THE HOME OF CENTRAL ELECTIONS COUNCIL (CCE) PRESIDENT MARIO SAMAYOA ON

SAN SA 03652 04 OF 06 231735Z 2166 ARA5338

FEBRUARY 25 (REFS'E AND F). IN ADDITION TO TWO BODYGUARDS, TWO INNOCENT CIVILIANS DIED AS A RESULT OF THE ATTACK. A MARCH 1 RADIO VENCEREMOS BROADCAST TOOK CREDIT FOR THESE KILLINGS.

--IN A RADIO VENCEREMOS BROADCAST THE FMLN TOOK CREDIT FOR THE MARCH 1 MURDER OF CARLOS MARTINEZ CRUZ, A TEXTILE FACTORY SUPERVISOR.

--ON MARCH 7, GUERRILLAS ASSASSINATED THE ARMED FORCES PRESS COMMITTEE (COPREFA) SPOKESMAN LT. COL. RICARDO CIENFUEGOS. IN THIS CASE, THE ASSASSINS ENTERED A POPULAR TENNIS CLUB DRESSED IN APPROPRIATE TENNIS ATTIRE AND GUNNED DOWN THEIR VICTIM AS HE WAS RESTING BETWEEN MATCHES. IN A CALL TO A LOCAL RADIO STATION, A PERSON CLAIMING TO BE A MEMBER OF THE ALLEGED FPL DISSIDENT GROUP CERF STATED THE EXECUTION WAS CARRIED OUT BECAUSE CIENFUEGOS DIRECTED COPREFA, "AN OFFICE USED BY THE YANKEE IMPERIALISM'S PUPPET BOURGEOIS REGIME TO IMPLEMENT A PSYCHOLOGICAL WARFARE AND MISINFORMATION."

THAT AFTER SHOOTING THE VICTIM, THE ASSASSIN SAID, "YOU ARE A SOLDIER".

--DOMINGO AVILES VARGAS, CONSERVATIVE (PCN) MAYOR OF SANTA ELENA (USULUTAN) WAS SHOT IN HIS OFFICE BY THREE GUNMEN JANUARY 8.

--JULIO CESAR CASTRO BELLOSO, FORMER COMMUNIST PARTY CENTRAL COMMITTEE MEMBER AND LEFT LABOR LEADER (FUSS) WAS KILLED ON THE STREET NEAR HIS HOME JANUARY 11 (REF A). INACTIVE AND INVISIBLE FOR YEARS, CASTRO WAS NOT A LOGICAL PRIORITY TARGET FOR THE RIGHT, WHICH WAS MANY BIGGER AND MORE THREATENING TARGETS EASILY AVAILABLE. ACCORDING TO RELIABLE INFORMATION, HE WAS KILLED BY THE LEFT AS A TURNCOAT.

--JOSE BALBINO ARTEAGA, ARENA CITY TREASURER OF SANTA TECLA, WAS KILLED AT A CROWDED BUS STOP JANUARY 12 BY THREE ASSAILANTS WHO ESCAPED IN THE CONFUSION. A NON-POLITICAL MOTIVE FOR THE KILLING WAS MENTIONED BY THE VICTIM'S SISTER, WHO SAID AN UNNAMED INDIVIDUAL HAD ALREADY THREATENED ARTEAGA'S LIFE OVER UNPAID DEBTS. PRIVATE EMBASSY SOURCE SAYS THIS IS POSSIBLE, BUT WE NOTE IT WOULD HAVE MADE COLLECTION OF THE DEBTS MORE DIFFUCULT.

--SALVADORAN AIR FORCE (FAS) DRIVER ALBERTO MENDEZ HERNANDEZ WAS SHOT DEAD 16 JANUARY WHILE DRIVING A FAS CAR IN THE IMMEDIATE VICINITY OF THE U.S. EMBASSY.

--GRACIELA MONICO PALMA, ARENA MAYOR OF SAN JORGE, IN SAN MIGUEL DEPARTMENT, WAS SHOT TO DEATH BY 2 UNKNOWN ASSAILANTS WHO BURST INTO HER OFFICE 18 JANUARY.

--JOSE EXPECTACION LANDAVERDE, AN EX-SOLDIER, WAS KILLED

IN SAN SALVADOR ON JANUARY 22 BY GUNSHOTS.

--MEDARDO AVELAR BONILLA, A PRE-CANDIDATE FOR THE OFFICE OF SUBSTITUTE FOR ARENA DEPUTY, WAS A PUBLIC ACCOUNTANT WORKING FOR THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE AS AN ADMINISTRATOR. HE WAS SHOT BY UNKNOWN ASSAILANTS AT A BUSY INTERSECTION IN SAN SALVADOR 23 JANUARY.

--ON JANUARY 25, TWO DETECTIVES OF THE NATIONAL POLICE, JUAN ANTONIO MARTINEZ SEGOVIA, AND ALVARO ANTONIO AVILES PEREZ, WHO WERE RIDING IN A PICK UP TRUCK AND WERE DELIVERING MAIL TO AN EMBASSY FROM THE VICE MINISTRY OF DEFENSE, WERE FATALLY SHOT BY UNKNOWN INDIVIDUALS IN THE SURROUNDINGS OF THE POLYTECHNIC UNIVERSITY, SAN SALVADOR. THE TWO AGENTS WERE MEMBERS OF THE PROTECTIVE DETAIL OF COL. CARLOS REYNALDO LOPEZ NUILA, VICE MINISTER OF DEFENSE.

--NATIONAL POLICEMAN VICTOR MANUEL BARRERA WAS MURDERED BY AN UNKNOWN ASSAILANT IN DOWNTOWN SAN SALVADOR ON JANUARY 25.

--ON FEBRUARY 2 PEDRO JUAN SORIANO DURA, FORMER SOLDIER FROM SAN VICENTE, WAS FOUND IN A WELL WITH HIS HEAD MISSING.

--NATIONAL POLICE AGENT CARLOS FRANCISCO CARCAMO CUELLAR WAS MURDERED BY MACHETE WHILE OFF DUTY NEAR SANTA ANA ON FEBRUARY 12.

--RAMON ARIAS WAS KILLED BY MEN WHO IDENTIFIED THEMSELVES AS MEMBERS OF THE FMLN ON FEBRUARY 16 IN SAN MIGUEL.

--ON FEBRUARY 23, CAYETANO ALVARADO RAMIREZ, A FORMER CADET OF THE NATIONAL POLICE, BERNARDO RAMIREZ GARCIA, AND SANTOS ALVARADO WERE TAKEN TO A FOOTBALL FIELD BY MEN WHO CLAIMED TO BE MEMBERS OF THE FMLN/FDR, STABBED AND KILLED BY GUNSHOTS.

FOR SOYAPANGO, WAS SHOT TO DEATH AS HE ARRIVED AT HIS HOME. IN A FEBRUARY 27 BROADCAST, RADIO HAVANA NOTED THAT "NO ONE HAS YET CLAIMED RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE ASSASSINATION OF THIS ACTIVE MEMBER OF THE PARTY, LINKED TO THE DEATHSQUADS".

--ALEJANDRO MARTINEZ, A VILLAGE MAYOR FROM THE VICINITY OF SANTA ANA, WAS KILLED BY GUNSHOTS IN THE PRESENCE OF HIS CHILDREN ON MARCH 3.

--ON MARCH 4, JOSE ANTONIO VANEGAS AND ANTONIO LINARES WERE FOUND DEAD ON A FARM IN SANTA ANA. FMLN LITERATURE WAS SPREAD AROUND THE SCENE OF THE CRIME.

--JOSE JULIO LOPEZ, A MEMBER OF A VILLAGE CIVIL DEFENSE FORCE, WAS TAKEN FROM HIS HOME IN SAN MIGUEL AND KILLED BY UNKNOWN PERSONS ON [redacted]

--NICOLAS UMANZOR CASTELLANOS, AN EMPLOYEE OF A SAN SALVADOR SPORTS CLUB WITH LEFT LABOR UNION PROBLEMS, WAS MURDERED ON HIS PATIO BY GUNSHOT ON JANUARY 16.

--ON JANUARY 25, TWO STUDENTS OF THE NATIONAL INSTITUTE FRANCISCO MENENDEZ WERE MURDERED BY UNKNOWN INDIVIDUALS IN THE SURROUNDINGS OF THE SCHOOL. THE TWO VICTIMS WERE EMILIO DANILO OTONIEL DUARTE PERAZA, 22, WHO WAS KNOWN AS AN ACTIVIST MEMBER OF THE PDC AND NELSON ENRIQUE ARGUELLO PALACIOS, 17, WHO WAS ACCOMPANYING HIM. AFTER THEY FELL ON THE FLOOR, THE INDIVIDUALS WHO HAD SHOT AT THEM APPROACHED THEM AND SHOT THEM IN THE HEAD AGAIN.

--ON FEBRUARY 2, JOSE AMERICO SOLIS CEBALLOS, A PROFESSOR FROM THE NATIONAL UNIVERISTY BRANCH LOCATED IN SANTA ANA WAS KIDNAPPED. HIS BADLY MUTILATED BODY, WITH HIS ARMS CUT OFF, WAS FOUND SEVERAL DAYS LATER.

--ON FEBRUARY 17, THREE NATIONAL UNIVERSITY LAW STUDENTS WERE KILLED AT A POPULAR PARK. TO DATE, THE MOTIVE OF THIS CRIME IS UNKNOWN. IT IS NOT KNOWN IF THE MURDERS WERE MOTIVATED BY POLITICAL REASONS. WHILE MANY ONES LAW STUDENTS ARE KNOWN FOR THEIR LEFTIST POLITICS, IN THIS CASE ONE OF THE VICTIMS WAS A MEMBER OF THE ESAF'S MILITARY ACTION PROGRAM.

--JULIO ISMAEL RIVAS CERNA, A TEACHER AT THE CHRISTIAN LICEO IN SAN SALVADOR, WAS KILLED BY UNKNOWN ASSAILANTS ON MARCH 18. HIS FAMILY OPINED THAT THE MOTIVE FOR THE CRIME WAS POLITICAL.

1. (LOU) SUMMARY. MEXICO'S NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE IMF OVER THE THIRD AND LAST YEAR OF ITS EFF PROGRAM HAVE FINALLY ENDED. OFFSHORE PESO/DOLLAR EXCHANGE RATES HAVE CONTINUED TO REMAIN HIGH PARTIALLY AS A RESULT OF AN INCREASING DEMAND FOR DOLLARS FOR MEXICANS' EASTER VACATIONS IN THE UNITED STATES. NONETHELESS, THEY HAVE DECLINED SLIGHTLY OVER THE PAST SEVERAL DAYS. INTEREST RATES HAVE INCREASED AS A NATURAL CONSEQUENCE OF CONTINUED HIGH INFLATION AND THE INCREASED DAILY SLIDE IN THE PESO. THE STOCK MARKET INDEX HAS NEARLY RECOVERED

THE SIX PERCENT DROP IT SUFFERED WHEN INTEREST RATES ROSE. THE GOM HAS SENT OUT ITS MULTI-YEAR DEBT-RESTRUCTURING PACKAGE TO ITS CREDITOR BANKS AND ANTICIPATES A MARCH 29 SIGNING. THE GOM APPEARS TO HAVE FLOATED A TRIAL BALLOON TO TRADE EQUITY IN MAJOR PARASTATALS TO COMMERCIAL BANKS IN RETURN FOR THEIR DEBT HOLDINGS IN THOSE ENTITIES, BUT THE GOVERNMENT HAS BACKED AWAY AFTER GETTING A COOL RECEPTION FROM THE BANKS AND AFTER RECEIVING HARSH CRITICISM AT HOME. PRESIDENT DE LA MADRID HAS INDICATED A WILLINGNESS TO CHANGE ELEMENTS OF HIS ECONOMIC PROGRAM. MEXICO HAS MADE A $23 MILLION BRIDGE LOAN TO THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC. THE PLANNING AND BUDGET SECRETARY RELEASED MORE DETAILS ON THE 4 PERCENT REAL INCREASE IN PUBLIC SECTOR INVESTMENT FOR 1985. INTEREST RATES ON PROMOTIONAL FUNDS SUCH AS FOMEX WILL BE ADJUSTED TO REFLECT HIGHER MARKET INTEREST RATES. THE WORLD BANK HAS ISSUED PRELIMINARY FIGURES SHOWING A SLIGHT DECREASE FROM 1983 TO 1984 IN MEXICO'S GDP PER CAPITA.

2. (U) IMF NEGOTIATIONS: AN END AT LAST

ON MARCH 24, THE GOM SENT TO THE IMF ITS LETTER OF INTENT FOR THE THIRD AND FINAL YEAR OF ITS EXTENDED FUND FACILITY ARRANGEMENT. A MORE DETAILED DESCRIPTION WILL FOLLOW VIA SEPTEL BUT THE MOST IMPORTANT CONDITIONS WERE LIMITS OF 4.1 PERCENT ON THE ECONOMIC DEFICIT AND 4.9 PERCENT ON THE FINANCIAL DEFICIT, AN INCREASE OF $500 MILLION IN FOREIGN EXCHANGE RESERVES, AND A LIMIT ON NET EXTERNAL BORROWING OF $1 BILLION.

OFFSHORE EXCHANGE RATES HAVE MOVED UPWARD TO ABOUT 12 PERCENT OVER THE OFFICIAL MARKET RATE. THERE IS GENERAL CONCERN OVER ECONOMIC CONDITIONS (INFLATION, GOVERNMENT SPENDING, INTEREST RATES, INCREASES IN THE DAILY SLIDE, ETC.) IN ADDITION, THE ANNUAL PRESSURE ON THE PESO JUST BEFORE HOLY WEEK IS BEGINNING TO SHOW INFLUENCE. MANY MEXICANS TRAVEL TO THE UNITED STATES FOR EASTER VACATIONS AND INCREASE THE DEMAND FOR DOLLARS. NOTWITHSTANDING THESE FACTORS, HOWEVER, THE EXCHANGE RATE IS THE BORDER AREAS HAS FALLEN SLIGHTLY OVER THE PAST SEVERAL DAYS.

8. (U) SIGNING OF MULTI-YEAR DEBT RESTRUCTURING

THE GOM SENT THE MULTI-YEAR DEBT-RESTRUCTURING PACKAGE TO 500 COMMERCIAL CREDITOR BANKS ON MARCH 9. THE GOVERNMENT ANTICIPATES A MARCH 29 SIGNING. THE AGREEMENT WILL COVER A TOTAL OF $28.7 BILLION OF MEXICAN PUBLIC SECTOR FOREIGN DEBT, OF WHICH $23.7 BILLION REPRESENTED DEBT WHICH FELL DUE BETWEEN 1982 AND 1984 AND $5 BILLION NEW DEBT INCURRED WITH FOREIGN COMMERCIAL BANKS IN 1983. THE REMAINING $20 BILLION MENTIONED IN PREVIOUS ANNOUNCEMENTS TO MAKE A TOTAL OF ABOUT $49 BILLION MATURES BETWEEN 1985 AND 1990 AND WILL BE COVERED IN A SEPARATE AGREEMENT LATER THIS YEAR.

9. (U) DEBT FOR EQUITY

ACCORDING TO PRESS REPORTS AND EMBASSY SOURCES, THE DEBT RESTRUCTURING PACKAGE DISCUSSED IN PARAGRAPH 5 INCLUDED A GOM PROPOSAL TO LET THE CREDITOR BANKS SWAP DEBT FOR EQUITY IN SOME MAJOR MEXICAN PARASTATALS SUCH AS ALTOS HORNOS, SICARTSA, FUNDIDORA MONTERREY, PIPSA, DINA, AND NACIONAL HOTELERA. THIS WAS APPARENTLY A TRIAL BALLOON FLOATED BY THE GOM, WHICH RECEIVED A COOL RECEPTION FROM THE BANKERS, AND THEN WAS DENIED BY THE GOM. WHEN THE PLAN RECEIVED PUBLIC ATTENTION PARTICULARLY AFTER AN ARTICLE IN THE WALL STREET JOURNAL OF MARCH 15, VARIOUS MEXICAN POLITICIANS AND COLUMNISTS LOUDLY CRITICIZED THE PLAN AS "SELLING THE COUNTRY'S SOVEREIGNTY."

10. (U) PRESIDENT'S SPEECH: ECONOMIC UNDERPERFORMANCE

IN A SPEECH TO A LABOR GROUP ON MARCH 15, PRESIDENT DE LA MADRID STATED THAT HIS ADMINISTRATION WAS LESS THAN

[redacted]

SATISFIED WITH THE ECONOMY'S RESPONSE TO MEASURES TAKEN IN HIS ECONOMIC PROGRAM. HE INDICATED HE WAS LOOKING FOR OTHER "FORMULAS FOR ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT." THE PRESIDENT'S SPEECHES ARE CUSTOMARILY HIGHLY POSITIVE AND SELDOM ADMIT TO LACK OF SUCCESS OR DISSATISFACTION WITH CURRENT POLICIES. IN THIS SPEECH, THE PRESIDENT SPECIFICALLY MENTIONED THAT "CERTAIN POLICIES MERIT PROFOUND REVISION." HE WA
S NOT SPECIFIC ON WHAT POLICIES
NEEDED CHANGING. OVERALL, HE SOUNDED LESS POSITIVE AND CONFIDENT THAN IN ANY OTHER SPEECH WITHIN MEMORY.

11. (LOU) EMBASSY SANTO DOMINGO CONFIRMS MEXICAN LOAN

EMBASSY SANTO DOMINGO HAS CONFIRMED A MEXICAN $23 MILLION LOAN TO THE GODR TO MEET IMF REQUIREMENTS. A DOMINICAN REPUBLIC CENTRAL BANK OFFICIAL MENTIONED TO THE REPORTING OFFICER IN THAT EMBASSY THAT MEXICO WAS ADVISING THE GODR IN ITS RESCHEDULING NEGOTIATIONS.

THE TREASURY OFFICIAL IN CHARGE OF THE NATIONALIZED BANKING SYSTEM, CARLOS SALES GUTIERREZ, MENTIONED IN A SPEECH ON MARCH 14 THAT THE RATES OF INTEREST CHARGED TO EXPORTERS, MANUFACTURERS, ETC. BY PROMOTIONAL FUNDS SUCH AS FOMEX WOULD BE ADJUSTED TO REFLECT THE COST OF THE FUNDS. THIS ACTION TO PASS ON AT LEAST PART OF THE COST OF HIGHER INTEREST RATES NOW BEING PAID TO SAVERS AND INVESTORS WOULD "AVOID EXCESSIVE SUBSIDIES" IN SALES' WORDS. SUBJECT: MEXICO'S LETTER OF INTENT AND MAJOR MACRO-
-- ECONOMIC TARGETS WITH THE IMF FOR 1985

1. (S) SUMMARY. ON MARCH 25 THE MEXICAN GOVERNMENT MADE PUBLIC ITS LETTER OF INTENT WITH THE INTERNATIONAL MONETARY FUND FOR 1985. THIS CABLE ANALYZES THE LETTER ALONG WITH THE NARRATIVE PORTION OF THE TECHNICAL MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING WHICH DELINEATES THE MAJOR MACROECONOMIC TARGETS THAT MEXICO MUST ACHIEVE IN ORDER TO MAKE DRAWINGS FROM THE IMF IN 1985. END SUMMARY.

LETTER OF INTENT

2. (U) THE INITIAL PARAGRAPHS OF THE LETTER OF INTENT OUTLINE THE ECONOMIC STRATEGY WHICH THE MEXICAN GOVERNMENT HAS PURSUED DURING THE LAST TWO YEARS AND STRESS THE PROGRESS THE COUNTRY HAS MADE IN REDUCING THE

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

PUBLIC SECTOR DEFICIT AND INFLATION OVER THIS PERIOD. THEY ALSO POINT TO THE SUCCESS MEXICO HAS ACHIEVED IN STRENGTHENING ITS BALANCE OF PAYMENTS, BUILDING UP FOREIGN EXCHANGE RESERVES, AND RESTRUCTURING PUBLIC SECTOR EXTERNAL DEBT. THE LETTER GOES ON TO SAY THAT IN SPITE OF THESE GAINS INFLATION REMAINS TOO HIGH AND THAT IT IS STILL NECESSARY TO IMPROVE ECONOMIC EFFICIENCY AND RAISE LIVING STANDARDS. MOREOVER, THE RECENT WEAKENING OF THE INTERNATIONAL PETROLEUM MARKET UNDERLINES THE IMPORTANCE OF CONTINUED STRICT DISCIPLINE IN CARRYING OUT ECONOMIC POLICY AND CONTINUED IMPLEMENTATION OF THE ADJUSTMENT PROCESS. THE MOST IMPORTANT PRIORITIES FOR 1985 ARE A REDUCTION IN INFLATION, THE MAINTENANCE OF ECONOMIC GROWTH, INCREASED EMPLOYMENT, AND A CONTINUED STRONG PERFORMANCE IN THE BALANCE OF PAYMENTS.

3. (U) THE DOCUMENT INDICATES THAT THE TARGET FOR THE PUBLIC SECTOR DEFICIT IN 1984 WAS EXCEEDED BY A CONSIDERABLE AMOUNT. THE ECONOMIC DEFICIT OF THE PUBLIC SECTOR WAS EQUIVALENT TO 6.2 PERCENT OF GROSS DOMESTIC PRODUCT COMPARED WITH A 5.5 PERCENT TARGET. HOWEVER, ADDING THE FINANCIAL INTERMEDIATION OPERATIONS OF THE DEVELOPMENT BANKS AND TRUST FUNDS, THE DEFICIT IS MUCH LARGER. THE COSTS OF THIS INTERMEDIATION WERE 414 BILLION PESOS AS COMPARED TO AN ORIGINAL TARGET OF 200 BILLION PESOS. ADDING THE 414 BILLION PESO FIGURE INDICATES THAT THE FINANCIAL DEFICIT WAS EQUAL TO 7.6 PERCENT OF GDP COMPARED TO AN ORIGINAL TARGET OF 6.5 PERCENT OF GDP.

4. (U) THE TARGETS FOR THIS YEAR CALL FOR FURTHER DECLINE IN THE REAL LEVELS OF THE PUBLIC SECTOR DEFICIT. THE ECONOMIC DEFICIT IS PROJECTED AT 1,785 BILLION PESOS

PAGE 03 MEXICO 06929 01 OF 06 292001Z

AND FINANCIAL INTERMEDIATION OF DEVELOPMENT BANKS AND TRUST FUNDS AT 350 BILLION PESOS. THUS THE FINANCIAL DEFICIT WOULD TOTAL 2,135 BILLION PESOS, OR 4.9 PERCENT OF PROJECTED GDP. THE ECONOMIC DEFICIT WOULD BE 4.1 PERCENT OF GDP. THESE FIGURES ARE SOMEWHAT LOWER THAN THOSE GIVEN IN THE 1985 BUDGET PRESENTED TO THE MEXICAN CONGRESS LAST NOVEMBER IN WHICH THE FINANCIAL DEFICIT WAS

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

PROJECTED AT 5.1 PERCENT OF GDP AND THE ECONOMIC DEFICIT WAS 4.5 PERCENT OF GDP. FURTHERMORE, EVEN IN NOMINAL TERMS BOTH OF THESE DEFICITS ARE NOW PROJECTED TO DECLINE IN 1985 WHICH WOULD MEAN A SHARP CUT IN REAL TERMS.

5. (U) OTHER IMPORTANT ELEMENTS OF THE LETTER OF INTENT ARE AS FOLLOWS:

-- THE GOM HOPES TO OBTAIN ADDITIONAL INCOME FROM MODIFICATIONS TO THE IMPORT TARIFF STRUCTURE (SUBSTITUTION OF TARIFFS FOR IMPORT LICENSES) AND ADJUSTMENTS TO PRICES OF GOODS AND SERVICES OFFERED BY THE PUBLIC SECTOR. PRICE AND TARIFF ADJUSTMENTS IN 1985 WILL BE SMALLER THAN THOSE OF 1983 AND 1984, ALTHOUGH SUCH ADJUSTMENTS WILL STILL BE SUBSTANTIAL, EQUAL TO ABOUT 1.5 PERCENT OF GDP.

IN FEBRUARY 1985 THE GOM TOOK STEPS TO REDUCE FISCAL OUTLAYS INCLUDING A 4 PERCENT REDUCTION IN TRANSFERS, A 4 PERCENT REDUCTION IN CURRENT EXPENDITURES (EXCLUDING SALARIES AND INTEREST), AND REDUCED EXPENDITURES ON NON-PRIORITY PROGRAMS EQUIVALENT TO 100 BILLION PESOS (ABOUT .2 PERCENT OF GDP). FURTHERMORE, THE GOM HAS INITIALLY IDENTIFIED 236 PARASTATAL COMPANIES OR ENTITIES WHICH WILL BE SOLD, CONSOLIDATED, TRANSFERRED TO THE STATES AND MUNICIPALITIES, OR CLOSED. (THE GOM WILL TRY TO SAVE ABOUT 30 BILLION PESOS THIS YEAR AS A RESULT OF THIS ACTION.)

THE STRONG BUILD UP IN INTERNATIONAL RESERVES. IN 1985 MONETARY POLICY IS TO BE CONSISTENT WITH A SIGNIFICANT REDUCTION IN INFLATION, ACCOMPLISHMENT OF BALANCE OF PAYMENTS OBJECTIVES, AND A MODEST RISE IN INTERNATIONAL RESERVES. TOWARD THIS END THE GOM HAS ALREADY ESTABLISHED LIMITS ON NET CREDIT BY THE BANK OF MEXICO TO THE NON-FINANCIAL PUBLIC SECTOR AND HAS RETIRED 250 BILLION PESOS FROM CIRCULATION BY THE ISSUANCE OF NEW MONETARY REGULATION BONDS. ADDITIONALLY, AS NOTED ABOVE, FINANCIAL INTERMEDIATION BY THE DEVELOPMENT BANKS AND TRUST FUNDS WILL BE LIMITED TO 350 BILLION PESOS AND INTEREST RATES HAVE ALREADY BEEN ELEVATED SHARPLY THIS YEAR (BY AS MUCH AS 8 PERCENTAGE POINTS). FINALLY, COMMERCIAL BANKS WILL NOT BE ALLOWED TO EXTEND CREDIT TO PUBLIC SECTOR ENTITIES WITHOUT PREVIOUS WRITTEN AUTHORIZATION FROM THE MINISTRY OF FINANCE.

-- THE LIBERALIZATION OF PRICE CONTROLS AND THE

RATIONALIZATION OF THE SYSTEM OF PUBLIC SECTOR SUBSIDIES HAVE RESULTED IN SOME PRICE ADJUSTMENTS WHICH HAVE BOOSTED THE PRICE INDICES. HOWEVER, THESE ACTIONS WILL HELP TO STIMULATE SUPPLY AND TEMPER INFLATIONARY PRESSURES OVER THE MEDIUM TERM.

-- THE GOM WILL MAKE A RECOMMENDATION TO EMPLOYERS AND WORKERS THAT REAL SALARIES INCREASE AS A FUNCTION OF RISES IN PRODUCTIVITY.

UNCLASSIFIED

-- THE GOM'S COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL STRATEGISTS RECOGNIZE THAT EXPORT PROMOTION OF NON-PETROLEUM PRODUCTS AND EFFICIENT IMPORT SUBSTITUTION ARE CRITICAL TO THE MEDIUM TERM VIABILITY OF THE BALANCE OF PAYMENTS.

-- THE AUTHORITIES WILL CONTINUE TO IMPLEMENT A FLEXIBLE EXCHANGE RATE SYSTEM TO PROMOTE COMPETITIVENESS IN THE ECONOMY AND TO ASSURE THE VIABILITY OF THE TRADE POLICY MODIFICATIONS NOW IN PROGRESS. SINCE INITIATING THE DUAL EXCHANGE RATE SYSTEM THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THE CONTROLLED AND "FREE MARKET" EXCHANGE RATES HAS PROGRESSIVELY DECLINED. THE DIFFERENCE FELL FROM 13 PERCENT IN SEPTEMBER 1982 TO 9 PERCENT IN SEPTEMBER 1984 (IT IS NOW ABOUT 8 PERCENT).

-- THE GOM HAS UNDERTAKEN A COMPLETE REVISION OF COMMERCIAL POLICY TO IMPROVE THE SYSTEM OF EFFECTIVE PROTECTION. THE OBJECTIVE IS TO REDUCE THE OVERALL LEVEL OF PROTECTION AND DIFFERENCES IN EFFECTIVE PROTECTION LEVELS AMONG THE VARIOUS SECTORS OF THE ECONOMY, AND TO REVERSE THE ANTI-EXPORT BIAS. AN IMPORTANT ELEMENT IN T HIS STRATEGY WILL BE THE SUBSTITUTION OF TARIFFS FOR IMPORT PERMITS AND TARIFFS WILL BECOME THE PRINCIPAL INSTRUMENT OF COMMERCIAL POLICY. SOME PROGRESS WAS ACHIEVED ON THIS FRONT IN 1984. AT THE END OF 1983 ALL IMPORTS WERE SUBJECT TO PRIOR LICENSING BUT BY DECEMBER 1984 THE FIGURE HAD BEEN REDUCED TO 85 PERCENT OF IMPORTS (PRESUMABLY AS MEASURED BY VALUE). THE GOAL FOR 1985 IS TO REDUCE THE FIGURE FURTHER TO BETWEEN 55 AND 65 PERCENT.

-- THE NUMBER OF TARIFF CATEGORIES WILL BE CUT FROM 10 TO 7 AND THE DIFFERENCES IN TARIFF RATES AMONG THE CATEGORIES WILL BE REDUCED. WITH CERTAIN EXCEPTIONS TARIFF LEVELS WILL NOW RANGE FROM 10 TO 50 PERCENT.

-- WHEN INTERNAL PRICES FOR PRIMARY MATERIALS AND REPLACEMENT PARTS ARE MORE THAN 50 PERCENT HIGHER THAN INTERNATIONAL PRICES, IMPORT PERMITS WILL BE

-- DEBT RESCHEDULING HAS BEEN CRITICAL TO THE PROCESS OF OVERCOMING THE 1982 CRISIS AND TO THE NORMALIZATION OF EXTERNAL ECONOMIC RELATIONS. DURING 1985 $48.5 BILLION WILL BE RESTRUCTURED OVER A PERIOD OF 14 YEARS WITH REDUCED INTEREST RATE SPREADS. ADDITIONALLY, ABOUT $5 BILLION OF THE $12 BILLION REGISTERED IN FICORCA HAS BEEN DEFINITIVELY RESCHEDULED.

-- IN LIGHT OF THE ADVANCES ACHIEVED DURING THE PAST TWO YEARS IT MAY SOON BE APPROPRIATE TO RETURN TO VOLUNTARY LENDING CONDITIONS IN THE INTERNATIONAL MARKET. THIS YEAR NET EXTERNAL FINANCING REQUIREMENTS WILL BE SUBSTANTIALLY REDUCED TO ABOUT $1 BILLION (LAST YEAR NET NEW EXTERNAL BORROWING WAS SLIGHTLY MORE THAN $2.1 BILLION).

7. (S) EMBASSY COMMENT. MEXICO'S LETTER OF INTENT AND EFF PROGRAM TARGETS FOR 1985 ARE IMPRESSIVE BUT SEVERAL OBJECTIVES ARE GOING TO BE DIFFICULT TO ACHIEVE, PARTICULARLY THE PUBLIC SECTOR DEFICIT AND OPENING OF THE ECONOMY. ADDITIONALLY, THE OFFICIAL GOM INFLATION OBJECTIVE OF 35 PERCENT WILL LIKELY BE EXCEEDED BY ABOUT 15 PERCENTAGE POINTS AND THE COUNTRY MAY NOT BE ABLE TO MEET ITS FOREIGN EXCHANGE TARGET FOR THE YEAR.

8. (S) ACCORDING TO OFFICIAL FIGURES, LAST YEAR THE PUBLIC SECTOR ECONOMIC DEFICIT WAS THE EQUIVALENT OF 6.2 PERCENT OF GDP AND THE FINANCIAL DEFICIT WAS EQUAL TO 7.4 PERCENT OF GDP. HOWEVER, WE BELIEVE THAT SOME OF THE PUBLIC SECTOR INTEREST WHICH WAS OWED TO THE BANK OF MEXICO AT THE END OF 1984 SHOULD ALSO HAVE BEEN INCLUDED IN THE FINANCIAL DEFICIT AND THIS WOULD HAVE RAISED THE FIGURE TO MORE THAN 8 PERCENT OF GDP. THUS, EFFORTS TO REDUCE THE FINANCIAL DEFICIT/GDP RATIO BY MORE THAN 3 PERCENTAGE POINTS ARE LAUDATORY BUT PROBABLY NOT ACHIEVABLE.

9. (S) PUBLIC SECTOR SPENDING HAS REMAINED HIGH DURING THE FIRST QUARTER OF 1985 AND IS LIKELY TO CONTINUE AT AN ELEVATED LEVEL DURING THE SECOND QUARTER IN ANTICIPATION OF THE JULY MUNICIPAL, STATE AND CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES ELECTIONS. MOREOVER, THE PESO DEFICIT TARGET PROJECTED FOR 1985 IS LOWER IN NOMINAL TERMS THAN THAT ACHIEVED IN 1984 AND IF INFLATION FOR THE YEAR IS ABOUT 50 PERCENT THIS WOULD REPRESENT REAL REDUCTION IN THE DEFICIT SIZE OF APPROXIMATELY ONE-HALF. ONE FACTOR WHICH COULD HELP THE GOM SOMEWHAT IN THIS REGARD IS THAT NOMINAL GDP

UNCLASSIFIED

IS LIKELY TO BE CONSIDERABLY HIGHER THAN PROJECTED, THUS ALLOWING NOMINAL PUBLIC SECTOR OUTLAYS TO BE SOMEWHAT HIGHER. NONETHELESS, IT IS UNLIKELY THAT THE DEFICIT OBJECTIVE, EITHER IN ABSOLUTE TERMS OR AS A RATIO TO GDP, CAN BE MET.

10. (S) THE IMF HAS INCLUDED AS A TARGET FOR THE FIRST TIME THIS YEAR A REDUCTION IN PUBLIC SECTOR ACCRUED INTEREST OWED TO THE BANK OF MEXICO. THIS RECOGNIZES THE FACT THAT THE FIGURE AT THE END OF 1984 WAS MUCH TOO HIGH AND THAT FAILURE TO REPAY SOME OF THE INTEREST WHICH WAS DUE BEFORE THE END OF 1984 CONTRIBUTED TO HIGH GOVERNMENT SPENDING AND THE ACCELERATION OF INFLATION. DURING 1985 PUBLIC SECTOR ENTITIES MUST REDUCE ACCRUED INTEREST BY 623 BILLION PESOS. THIS FIGURE WOULD BE EQUIVALENT TO MORE THAN 1 PERCENT OF GDP AND WOULD REPRESENT A SUBSTANTIAL DRAIN ON PUBLIC SECTOR RESOURCES.

11. (S) IT IS INTERESTING THAT THE GOM IS PROJECTING A 4 PERCENT REAL INCREASE IN PUBLIC SECTOR INVESTMENT DURING 1985. IN PART, THIS INCREASE IS DESIGNED TO HELP THE GOM WITH THE ELECTIONS IN JULY AND IT IS PROBABLE THAT THE BULK OF THESE OUTLAYS WILL OCCUR PRIOR TO THAT TIME. MOREOVER, THE PUBLIC SECTOR DEFICIT IS PROJECTED TO BE ALMOST AS LARGE THE FIRST HALF OF THE YEAR AS DURING THE SECOND HALF. THIS WOULD REPRESENT A REVERSAL OF HISTORICAL GOVERNMENT SPENDING PATTERNS (WHEN FIRST HALF YEAR SPENDING HAS BEEN MUCH LOWER) AND COULD CAUSE SERIOUS PROBLEMS IN THE LAST PART OF 1985 IF THE GOVERNMENT IS FORCED TO SHARPLY CURTAIL ITS OUTLAYS AT THAT TIME. IT APPEARS THAT THE GOM'S STRATEGY IS TO RELY HEAVILY ON A GOOD PERFORMANCE IN THE PRIVATE SECTOR TO KEEP THE ECONOMY MOVING DURING THE SECOND HALF OF THE YEAR. AS BEST WE CAN TELL, PRIVATE SECTOR ACTIVITY WAS STRONG IN THE LAST

QUARTER OF 1984 AND HAS CONTINUED THAT WAY DURING THE FIRST FEW MONTHS OF 1985

12. (S) THE TARGETS FOR THE BUILD-UP IN FOREIGN EXCHANGE RESERVES OVER THE COURSE OF THE YEAR CONFIRMED WHAT WE HAVE SUSPECTED: I.E., THAT RESERVE LEVELS HAVE BEEN DECLINING DURING THE FIRST PART OF 1985. THE IMF PROGRAM ALLOWS A CUMULATIVE DECLINE IN NET RESERVES OF $900 MILLION DURING THE FIRST HALF OF THE YEAR AND A $100 MILLION DECLINE BY THE END OF THE THIRD QUARTER (AS COMPARED WITH DECEMBER 1984). THIS MEANS THAT RESERVE ACCUMULATION DURING THE LAST HALF OF THE YEAR WOULD HAVE TO BE ABOUT $1.4 BILLION IN ORDER TO ACHIEVE THIS YEAR'S TARGET. IN THE ABSENCE OF A STRONGER BALANCE OF PAYMENTS PERFORMANCE THAN WE EXPECT, SUCH AN INCREASE COULD BE QUITE DIFFICULT TO ACHIEVE. MOREOVER, EXPORTS AND OTHER CURRENT ACCOUNT RECEIPTS WILL HAVE TO BE RELIED UPON HEAVILY TO ACHIEVE THIS BUILD-UP SINCE EXTERNAL BORROWING IS LIMITED TO $1 BILLION THIS YEAR. PRELIMINARY GOVERNMENT REPORTS ARE THAT EXPORT PERFORMANCE AND THE OVERALL CURRENT ACCOUNT HAVE BEEN DETERIORATING AND THAT IN FEBRUARY 1985 THERE WAS A SMALL CURRENT ACCOUNT DEFICIT.

13. (S) MONETARY POLICIES APPEAR TO BE TIGHT FOR 1985. THE BANK OF MEXICO INTENDS TO RESTRICT THE RESOURCES AVAILABLE TO THE COMMERCIAL BANKS FOR LENDING AND THIS, COMBINED WITH A SHARP REAL DECLINE IN FINANCIAL INTERMEDIATION BY THE DEVELOPMENT BANKS, WOULD PRODUCE A LIQUIDITY SQUEEZE THIS YEAR, IF IMPLEMENTED. FURTHERMORE, NET CREDIT TO THE NON-FINANCIAL PUBLIC SECTOR BY THE BANK OF MEXICO AND THE COMMERCIAL BANKS WILL BE ONLY 1.16 TRILLION PESOS OR A 31 PERCENT INCREASE OVER NET CREDIT OUTSTANDING AT THE END OF 1984. THIS

WOULD REPRESENT A SUBSTANTIAL CUT IN REAL TERMS. ALL OF THESE FACTORS IMPLY FURTHER RISES IN INTEREST RATES OVER THE COURSE OF THE YEAR.

14. (S) THE MEXICAN GOVERNMENT PROBABLY WILL WANT TO DRAW ALL OF THE $1 BILLION IN NET FOREIGN BORROWING IT IS ALLOWED UNDER THE PROGRAM IN 1985 (AS COMPARED TO ONLY A LITTLE MORE THAN HALF OF ITS PERMITTED LIMIT OF $4 BILLION IN 1984). OUR IMPRESSION IS THAT THESE NEW FUNDS WILL HAVE TO COME EXCLUSIVELY FROM BILATERAL AND MULTILATERAL SOURCES SINCE THE COMMERCIAL BANKS ARE RELUCTANT TO MAKE ANY NET NEW LOANS TO MEXICO THIS YEAR OTHER THAN TRADE CREDITS.

15. (S) THE TRADE LIBERALIZATION MEASURES OUTLINED IN THE LETTER OF INTENT WILL BE DIFFICULT TO IMPLEMENT THIS YEAR. THE INITIAL REACTION OF THE BUSINESS SECTOR TO

OPENING THE ECONOMY HAS BEEN NEGATIVE AND LOCAL OPPOSITION TO FACILITATING IMPORTS WHICH WOULD COMPETE WITH MEXICAN INDUSTRIES IS QUITE STRONG. FURTHERMORE, IN THE ABSENCE OF A STRENGTHENED EXPORT PERFORMANCE IN 1985 THE GOM MAY CONTINUE TO TRY TO CONSTRAIN IMPORTS TO MAINTAIN AN ACCEPTABLE BALANCE OF PAYMENTS POSITION. ALSO, THE LETTER OF INTENT POINTS OUT THAT THE GOM INTENDS TO ALLOW MEXICAN PRODUCERS TO IMPORT WITHOUT PRIOR LICENCES GOODS AND SERVICES EQUAL TO 40 PERCENT OF THE VALUE OF THEIR EXPORTS. HOWEVER, PRIVATELY GOVERNMENT AUTHORITIES HAVE SAID THEY ARE STILL NEGOTIATING THIS WITH THE LOCAL INDUSTRIAL CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE WHERE OPPOSITION IS STRONG.

GENUINE EFFORT WITH THE LETTER OF INTENT BUT WE DO NOT BELIEVE IT CAN BE FULLY IMPLEMENTED. PROGRESS IS LIKELY TO BE SLOWER THAN THE LETTER OF INTENT WOULD IMPLY. THE THREE YEAR EXTENDED FUND FACILITY HAS CERTAINLY BEEN A CRITICAL ELEMENT IN MEXICO'S ECONOMIC SUCCESSES SINCE THE END OF 1982, BUT THE COUNTRY STILL HAS A WAY TO GO IN TERMS OF ADJUSTMENT.

17. (S) IN PARTICULAR TEMPERING THE PUBLIC SECTOR DEFICIT WILL REMAIN A SERIOUS CHALLENGE IN THE FUTURE. THE GOM WILL FIND IT DIFFICULT TO BRING THE DEFICIT LEVEL DOWN TO THE 3.5 PERCENT OF GDP RANGE WHICH MANY OBSERVERS BELIEVE TO BE A SUSTAINABLE FIGURE FOR MEXICO. A REDUCTION TO A FIGURE OF THIS SIZE IMPLIES SOME FURTHER CUTS IN POLITICALLY SENSITIVE PROGRAMS AND IT IS NOT YET CLEAR WHETHER THE GOM WILL BE WILLING TO TAKE THE NECESSARY ACTIONS.

18. (S) AT THE SAME TIME, INFLATION, WHICH HAS ACCELERATED IN RECENT MONTHS, WILL CONTINUE TO BE A PRICKLY PROBLEM AND SOME ANALYSTS BELIEVE THAT POLITICAL AND STRUCTURAL OBSTACLES WILL NOW MAKE PROGRESS CONSIDERABLY MORE DIFFICULT TO ACHIEVE THAN DURING THE PAST TWO YEARS. A WORSENING BALANCE OF PAYMENTS SITUATION, UNCERTAINTIES REGARDING THE INTERNATIONAL PETROLEUM MARKET, AN APPARENT RECENT DECLINE IN INTERNATIONAL RESERVES, UNPREDICTABLE EXCHANGE RATE POLICIES, AND CONTINUING NEGATIVE ATTITUDES TOWARD FOREIGN INVESTMENT ARE ALSO CONTRIBUTING TO AN AIR OF UNCERTAINTY IN THE

COUNTRY. THE SIGNING OF THE LETTER OF INTENT AND OF THE PUBLIC SECTOR DEBT RESCHEDULING AGREEMENT WITH FOREIGN COMMERCIAL BANKS HAVE HELPED SOMEWHAT. NONETHELESS, THE GOM MUST BE WILLING TO PURSUE ACTIVELY AN ECONOMIC ADJUSTMENT STRATEGY IN 1985 AND BEYOND AS WELL AS ACCEPT MORE GRADUAL PROGRESS THAN OVER THE PAST TWO YEARS IF IT HOPES TO PUT THE ECONOMY ON A VIABLE COURSE OVER THE MEDIUM TO LONGER TERM. Democracy and Progress in El Salvador

Since coming to office President Reagan has been committed to structuring a world environment hospitable to our values -- first and foremost, the freedom and dignity of the individual. As Americans, we have enjoyed the benefits of democratic political and economic freedoms. Our policy aims to ensure these freedoms for ourselves and help others who seek to obtain them.

In Berlin last September I stated my own belief that "the democratic revolution, with its proof in the performance of our own societies, is the best hope for human progress. The democracies of the West have a unique privilege -- and a compelling obligation -- to promulgate their own revolutionary doctrine through the world." This does not mean that it is our business to export democracy; but it does mean that it is our moral duty to nurture democracy wherever it has begun to grow.

The democratic revolution is under attack in many areas around the world. But in recent days, one area has been of great concern to Americans: El Salvador. I would like to talk today about what is happening in El Salvador -- from the dramatic voter turn-out of the March elections to the equally revolutionary but less publicized efforts for reform and what this means for U.S. policy.

There can be no doubt of the Salvadoran people's deep longing for democracy. The flood of people who braved guerrilla threats to make their way to vote, March 28, was awe-inspiring -- in the words of Mexican President Lopez Portillo "a beautiful sight." Who can forget the sight of Salvadorans trudging miles to vote after the guerrillas destroyed the nation's bus system? Or the lines of voters waiting for hours when the turnout far exceeded expectations?

Rarely have the inherent power and attraction of the ideals of freedom and government by the people been demonstrated more graphically. In a time of cynicism, the courage and commitment of the Salvadoran people provide a beacon. More than a million Salvadorans -- about 80% of the electorate -- voted, March 28, thereby repudiating the dictatorial Left's attempt to deprive the Salvadoran people of their right to choose their own government.

This affirmation of democracy and the guerrillas' violent effort to suppress it reflect the cross-currents that are lashing Central America and the Caribbean -- the neighborhood in which we live. Democracy is being rejected by those who advocate dictatorship whether for social stability or transformation. Economic problems have provided openings for those advocates of dictatorship. Foreign-supported violent change has threatened both national independence and individual liberty. Yet the Salvadoran people demonstrated deeper truths:

-- People would rather vote and be counted, than hide and be discounted;

-- People would rather control their leaders than be controlled by them;

-- People prefer leaders who develop their country over leaders who would destroy it;

We have seen an historic turning point in El Salvador's democratic revolution. We cannot be certain where events will turn in the coming weeks. But we can be certain that the Salvadoran people have embraced their democratic revolution. The fighting in El Salvador may continue, but we can be certain that we will hear over and over the voice of the people demanding freedom and peace.

The Salvadoran Democratic Revolution

The path toward democracy in El Salvador began in October 1979 when reform-minded military officers seized a government controlled by the landed oligarchy. After initial birth pangs, the new regime finally called Jose Napoleon Duarte -- the victor in El Salvador's 1972 election, a man who had been tortured and exiled because he stood for democracy -- to join the revolutionary government. In the short time since then, with the support first of President Carter and then of President Reagan, substantial progress has been made despite violent attacks from the extreme Right and extreme Left.

Now the Duarte Government has been succeeded by a democratically-elected Constituent Assembly committed to continuation of the Salvadoran democratic opening. Some policies may change, but the commitment to democracy -- to popular validation of the actions of government -- remains.

What has the Salvadoran democratic revolution accomplished? First, there was land reform. Since March of 1980, vast estates have been turned over to the families that once worked them. Measures have been taken to ensure that small farmers get credit. 990,000 acres of land have been turned over to 210,000 formerly landless peasant families. Private property and the free market are offering the people of El Salvador a chance for a better life of their own making.

Not surprisingly, the land reform program has been the target of violent attacks from the extreme Left and Right. Others wish to modify it. But the fundamental program is secure and accepted: Salvadoran land will no longer be the property of only a few.

The second measure of progress within El Salvador's democratic revolution has been free elections. Elections in El Salvador have never been conducted before without military interference. Today, a free and fair electoral process is well underway. Multiple political parties contended for the March 28 elections and 1.2 million people voted despite threats of death from the guerrillas.

As a result of the March 28 elections, the elected Constituent Assembly will decide upon a new provisional government. And the Salvadoran military -- after fifty years of political hegemony -- has already begun its withdrawal from politics. This should make clear to all the difference between the army of land reform and free elections and the army of years ago, coopted by landlords and contemptuous of free elections. The way is now open for a return to Constitutional rule and Presidential and legislative elections -- a democratic order controlled by the Salvadoran people.
